Appeal-Avalanche: There are now 860,000 names on the Government's pension roll, and the list is swelling at the rate of about 200,000 a year. Meantime the national treasury has become exhausted. The only salvation of the country from bankruptcy and anarchy is the ousting of the Republican party from power.

Two years ago Mr. Carnegie and his men were stopping at the best Washington hotels while begging the McKinley committee to give them the most protective tariff schedule ever passed. Mr. Carnegie's agents are now seeking the indictment of the men for murder and the men are reciprocating as to both Mr. Carnegie and his agents. But the tariff has nothing to do with all this. The men must be taught to respect authority and to be obedient unto their masters, for this is right.

If the managers of the Republican clubs connected with American colleges accept the hint of Secretary Elkins, and try to start campaign clubs for the dissemination of high-tariff ideas in the workshops, they will find ample room for their efforts at Pittsburg and its surrounding towns. This is par excellence the home of protection, and something over 50,000 workmen are locked out from the protected workshops in that section because they refused to accept a reduction of wages.

It is a curious fact that the only man that Mr. Harrison could induce to take the management of his canvass is one of his own officeholders. The bread-and-butter brigade is at the front in this campaign. There is a significance here which the public will not be slow to recognize and understand. The nomination of Harrison at Minneapolis was effected through the 130 officeholders who held the balance of power as delegates and turned the convention away from Blaine, whom the Republican masses wanted, to Harrison, whom the officeholders wanted.

There seems a fatality about the selection of an efficient chairman for the Republican national committee. First there was opposition to Clarkson because he was not believed to be loyal to the nominee. Then Mr. Campbell was forced to resign because Mr. Farwell wrote one too many letters repeating one too many tales. Now there is another difficulty because of "Tom" Carter's management of the land office. Republicans would be deserving of pity were they not more worthy of the fate that has befallen them. They have cultivated the very faults they now find incompatible with high public positions.

St. Louis Republic: Under the McKinley bill the wealthy people who travel in Europe can bring home large quantities of wearing apparel for personal use free of duty, while those who are too poor to go to Europe cannot get in clothing without paying taxes from 70 cents to $1.30 on the dollar's worth. This is an outrageous discrimination and the House ought to denounce it by resolution. When the Democratic party has power to correct it, the way to correct it will be to lessen the restrictions imposed by the McKinley bill on the importation of clothing by those who are too poor to go to Europe in person to bring it back.

A Republican journal, considering the possibilities of the Presidential election being thrown into the House, fancies that the House might not be able to decide by March 4, and meantime, the Senate having chosen Mr. Reid, he would become President after March 4 until such time as the House could agree. In such contingency the House votes in the selection of a President by States. It must confine its selection to those candidates who receive votes in the electoral college. There are so few Republican States in the present House that it is not worth while enumerating them, and if anybody fancies that the large majority of Democrats on the floor of the House would so arrange matters as to enable Mr. Reid to become President, his views in the present campaign are not worth considering.

The formation of a club comprising 800 of the men locked out of Mr. Carnegie's works who are pledged to vote for Cleveland is a natural result of the lock-out. The strong aversion to having their wages cut down, which these men share with all other workers for wages is sharpened by the suggestion that their employers are compelled to economize in wages for the sake of promoting the interests of American labor by an enormous contribution to the Republican campaign fund. The loss of 800 or of several times 800 Republican votes in Pennsylvania is not a matter of much moment to the Republican managers. Mr. Carnegie's contribution to the campaign fund, it is to be expected, will be spent in other and more doubtful States, where the cutting down of wages in his works will have only an indirect influence.

NEW TRUSTS FORMING.

TO RAISE PRICES AND CHEAPEN LABOR.

The New York Tribune Is Badly Rattled—A Free-Trade Scare—McKinley Bill Talk—Steel Rails for India—Some Democratic Doctrine.

A Season of Combines.

The Iron Age of July 14, 1892, probably on the strength of the report of a House committee on trusts, said:

"Contrary to the promises usually held out in the organization of trusts, that increased profits were to be derived from economies introduced rather than from any advance in prices, an inquiry into actual results shows that almost universally an advance is made whenever the business is sufficiently consolidated to warrant such a course. The principal reason is that so many decrepit or otherwise unprofitable concerns are necessarily closed and withdrawn from competition."

This conclusion may be news to the New York Tribune and other high-protectionist papers that have been saying with Andrew Carnegie, "the public may regard trusts or combinations with serene confidence," but it is an old story to tariff-reformers who have been studying trusts for several years. Realizing, then, that trusts mean higher prices, closed mills, less work, and therefore lower wages, it is with forebodings that we read in this same journal of the formation in one week of several gigantic trusts in the highly protected iron industry. It is announced that the Michigan Car Company, the Peninsular Car Company, the Detroit Car-Wheel Company, the Michigan Forge and Iron Company, and the Detroit Pipe and Foundry Company have merged their interests, and will henceforth be known as the Michigan-Peninsular Car Company. The Michigan Car Company and the Peninsular Car Company are the largest manufacturers of freight cars in the world, and the capacity of the combined companies will be 100 cars per day. The prospectus of this new and promising trust has occupied two columns in each of the leading metropolitan papers for a week. It says the company will begin business the 1st of September with $8,000,000 capital; that the profits of the individual companies for the last four years and nine months have amounted to $4,334,295.97; that present profits are at the rate of $1,100,000; that this will, "after paying the interest upon the bonds—8 per cent. upon the preferred stock ($5,000,000), 12 per cent. on the common stock, and carrying $80,000 to the surplus fund—leave 14 per cent. applicable to further dividends upon the common stock." It is also estimated that the consolidation will result in an annual saving of more than $100,000. Protected by a 45 per cent. tariff, and with several protectionist members of Congress on its Board of Directors, who understand how to manipulate both tariffs and trusts, a brilliant future may be predicted for this new star in the McKinley firmament. It is now in order for protectionist papers to begin to tell us that freight cars are not an article of daily consumption with common people, and that if prices are advanced the difference will come out of the pockets of rich railroad corporations or will be cheerfully paid by foreigners who ship goods over our railroads.

Another consolidation mentioned in the Iron Age is that of the Enterprise Iron Works and the Youngstown Iron and Steel Company, both of Youngstown, Ohio, with a capital of $1,500,000. These firms have been sharp competitors and it is expected that prices will be better sustained and profits greatly increased by this deal, which virtually includes several other iron mills with identical interests, and which is expected soon to include four or five companies that are expected to join the "Union Iron and Steel Company." Other similar but smaller consolidations are mentioned to gladden the author of the McKinley bill who hates cheapness, and thinks it unamerican.

The Tribune Is "Rattled."

The New York Tribune is doing strange things lately. It undoubtedly thinks itself Republican to the backbone, but it is publishing some good Democratic doctrine. It had a column interview the other day from the Hon. Frank Hurd, of Toledo, Ohio, on the Chicago tariff plank. Perhaps the Tribune imagines that that plank doesn't mean what it says; that the Democrats of the country did not intend to discard "protection" so abruptly and so completely; and that by ventilating the views of the more radical Democrats it can turn public sentiment against this Democratic declaration on protection. If so, it never made a greater mistake. It has never given its readers as wholesome economic food as it is now giving them while it is laboring under this delusion.

Mr. Hurd approves of the Chicago tariff plank, which declares Republican protection to be a fraud, and thinks it goes none too far. Asked about incidental protection, he said: "I do not see where there is any distinction between protection and incidental protection. If the former is declared a fraud, that includes the latter. The best way I can give you an idea of this is by telling you what Sam Cox once said in private conversation. He said that when a man came to rob you of $50, which he knew that you had in your pocket, if he should, incidentally, at the same time, relieve you of your watch and any other valuables that you might have, he did not see but that the latter was just as much robbery as the former."

Mr. Hurd thinks "the wealth and power of Great Britain are directly due to her system of taxation and methods of free trade." The more intelligent portion of the Tribune's readers will soon learn to like this kind of food, and will demand more of it, even if they have to subscribe for Democratic papers to get it.

Free Trade Scare.

A few years ago when the Republicans were certain that protection was a benefit to the wage earner, and Democrats were not certain that it was not a benefit, the cry of "free trade," "Cobdenite," etc., may have had considerable effect upon the unthinking mind. But the campaign of education that has been on since the tariff message of 1887, has caused a great change in the opinion of the people, and especially in those of the working people, whose wages, during the last few years, particularly in the protected industries, have been reduced often. They begin to realize what the Democratic press has been telling them—that protection in no way benefits labor, but on the contrary, as a rule makes less work in many industries and therefore causes lower wages.

The New York Tribune, American Economist and other high tariff papers, have yet to learn of this change in public sentiment, and are still attempting to frighten the people away from Democracy by this old bugaboo cry. It might be well for these protection maniacs to reflect that in three of the four platforms thus far presented to the American voter, no sanction whatever is given to the protective theory. The Democrats, the Prohibitionists and the laborers and farmers have discarded forever this old humbug which has mortgaged farms, reduced wages and robbed consumers to produce the protective millionaires who now alone form the backbone of the protectionist Republican party.

McKinley Bill Talk.

The Republicans tell us that the McKinley bill is doing its own talking. Yes, that's so; it's talking very loudly all over the country, and has large audiences everywhere. At Homestead, Pa., there are 4,000 in the audience, which has been entertained between talks by fireworks from Winchesters and by drums and fifes and bayonets in the hands of the State militia. These men did not leave their work because they were offered higher wages—far from it. They are willing to accept considerably less wages if they can return to work as union men. But the Carnegie Steel Company, itself a combination of a half-dozen of the largest steel mills in this country, does not believe that employes have the same right to organize that employers have, and has concluded to exterminate the Amalgamated Association, which alone has kept wages above the starvation point in the iron and steel industry. There is also an audience of 3,000 at the Cœur d'Alene mines in Idaho, who struck against a reduction of wages last April. The talk here has also been accompanied by shot and shell. Then there's 400 in the audience at the Eureka Iron and Steel Mills at Wyandotte, Mich., now on strike because the manufacturers refuse to pay the old scale or to employ union men. These are but a few of the people now listening to the tariff talk of the McKinley bill.

Steel Rails for India.

We find in the Indiana Sentinel a curious story about an American manufacturer's offer to sell steel rails in India. It is asserted that one Shepherd, a Colonel in the British army, now engaged in constructing a railroad in India, received bids for the supply of rails from manufacturers in England and in America. "The lowest," says the Sentinel, "was from Andrew Carnegie, at $22.50 for seventy-pound steel laid down in India." The Sentinel also says: "The chief engineer of one of the largest English railway syndicates, who is now in this city, confirms the above in full." The ring price of steel rails at the mill in this country, as fixed and maintained for the last year by the steel rail combination, is $30 per ton. According to this story, Mr. Carnegie offered to sell such rails, with freight charges paid to a port in India, for $22.50. It is well known that Trust combinations frequently sell their goods abroad at prices lower than the prices exacted at home, but we are not inclined to accept this story without additional testimony. We presume the Sentinel has seen Col. Shepherd's letter, of which it speaks. We suggest that the publication of it and the testimony of the English engineer would set forth in a convincing way the history of a very significant and interesting transaction.—New York Times.

A Shoddy Challenge.

Sentor Vest said in his speech on the Springer free wool bill that the firm of F. Muhlhauser & Co., manufacturers of shoddies at Cleveland, Ohio, were the largest shoddy manufacturers in the world, and that shoddy is made from many kinds of vile materials. This firm, perhaps to advertise its greatness, makes an offer in the American Economist of July 15 to wager $10,000 with Senator Vest—not that the Senator was mistaken as to the size of their mills or as to the kind of material used, but that they can produce shoddy that the Senator cannot tell from wool. Not being an expert, the Senator will probably not accept the challenge and attempt to beat this company at its own game. This challenge, however, serves to illustrate the great progress that is being made, under the McKinley administration, in the manufacture of shoddy. The manufacturers are confident that they can make this imitation bogus wool so nearly like the genuine article that no one, not even a United States Senator, can detect the difference. The one is shoddy, however, and is a fraud and a deception upon the American people by the authority of McKinley.

This Is Democratic Doctrine.

Andrew Carnegie in Triumphant Democracy: Far be it from me to retard the march of the world toward the free and unrestricted exchange of commodities. When the democracy obtains sway throughout the earth the nations will become friends and brothers, instead of being, as now, the prey of the monarchical and aristocratic ruling classes, and always warring with each other; standing armies and warships will be of the past, and men will then begin to destroy custom houses as relics of a barbarous, monarchical age, not altogether from the low plane of economic gain or loss, but strongly impelled thereto from the higher standpoint of the brotherhood of man. All restrictions upon the products of other lands will then seem unworthy of any member of the race, and the dawn of that day will have come when

Man to man the world o'er
Shall brothers be and a' that.

A Conundrum.

The last Iron Age contains a letter from Belgium on American hardware in Belgium. It appears that we supply nearly all kinds of hardware in that market, and in many kinds of goods, such as hay forks, lawn mowers, mincing and meat-chopping machines, scythes and oilstones, ice-cream freezers, typewriters, axes, locks, wrenches, etc. America takes the lead. Now here is a conundrum for McKinley and the makers of the Republican platform. If our manufacturers of hardware can pay high wages here and ship goods to compete with those made in Europe, where wages are very low, why is a 45 per cent. duty needed on these goods to cover the difference of wages so that the hardware manufacturers of Europe will not drive our manufacturers out of our own markets?

The Carnegie Steel Company authorities say that if all of the men in all of their mills strike it will be an easy matter to get men to fill their places. Perhaps this is so, but what a reflection on McKinley's measure, which was to provide work for all at high wages! There must be a screw loose somewhere when 15,000 or 20,000 men in the highly protected iron industry are so anxious to get work that they will underbid other ironworkers. But perhaps it is due to dull times, which have caused the weekly production of pig iron to decline over 4,000 tons since June 1, and, of course, McKinley cannot be held responsible for everything.

The Iron Age, of July 14, says that "Pennsylvania probably surpasses all other States * * * in the extent and expense of her riot duty since the civil war." It may be pertinent to recall here that high "protection" began during the civil war and that Pennsylvania has probably enjoyed more of this McKinley panacea than any other one State. Possibly there is some connection between these facts.

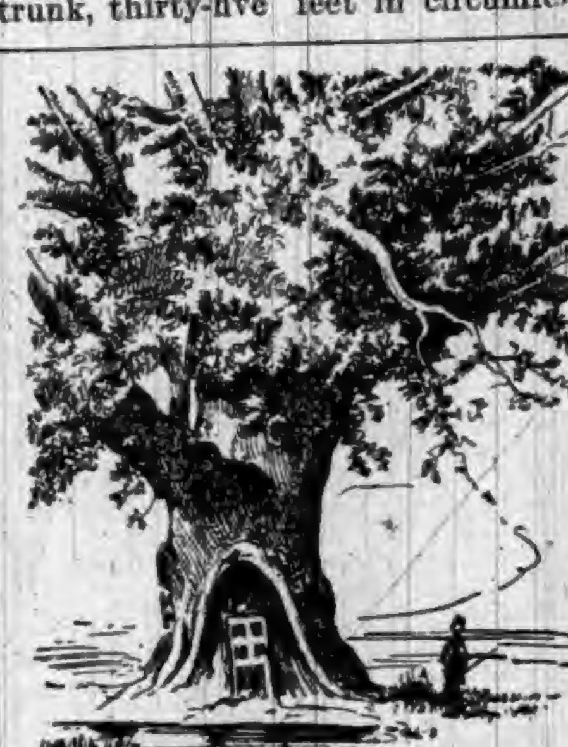
Mr. Frick testified that the Carnegie Company would probably have to go into bankruptcy if wages were not reduced. As the protective tax on steel covers all the pay-roll this is equivalent to saying that the American steel industry is so weak and young an infant that it cannot afford to pay any wages at all.—New York World.

"OUR LADY OF PEACE."

A Remarkable Oak Tree Church in a French Province.

Among the early inhabitants of France and of the British isles oak trees were an object of worship, and much of the Druidical service of those far-off days was connected with the monarchs of the forest. When Christianity was introduced the early teachers of the gospel of the crucified turned these oak trees into temples, and statues of the Divine Son and His mother were erected in them. Many of these trees became places of pilgrimage and Gothic churches now mark their sites.

At Alonville, in Normandy, one of these trees was standing a few years ago and may perhaps still remain. Years ago time hollowed its mighty trunk, thirty-five feet in circumference, and the inside was lined with marble. Within the crypt an altar was erected, and upon it was placed a statue of the Madonna. Here service was often performed, and here, tradition has it, crusanders knelt in worship before and after visiting the Holy Land. When, during the French revolution, the agents of the infidel government were sent to destroy the shrine Alonville, the people flew to its defense and prevented its demolition, and during the terrible reign of terror in France this was the only spot where the old faith was openly practiced. Over the portal of the shrine is the inscription: Notre Dame de la Paix—Our Lady of Peace.

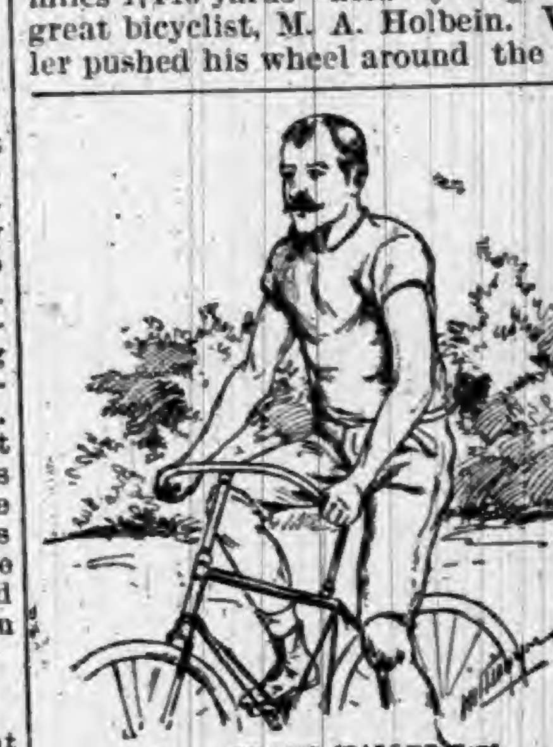


THE REMARKABLE OAK.

THE FLYING DUTCHMAN.

He Is a Wheelman of Renown and He Hails from California.

Frank Waller, a California bicyclist, who is known as the "Flying Dutchman," recently electrified the wheeling world by breaking the best record for twenty-four hours—361 miles 1,446 yards—held by England's great bicyclist, M. A. Holbein. Waller pushed his wheel around the new track of the Alameda Bicycle Club like the wind, and covered 363 miles and 1,590 yards in the twenty-four hours, thus breaking the world's record by over two miles. Waller is a member of the Acme Club of Oakland, and made his record under that club's auspices, but by courtesy of the Alameda Club he used the new Alameda four-lap macadam track, which is a very fast one. During his long ride Waller fed on doughnuts and ginger, but he seemed none the worse for wear at the end of the day's journey. He broke all the Pacific coast records for five miles up, covered nearly twenty miles the first hour, and made fifty miles in 2h. 47m. As his sobriquet indicates, Waller was born in Germany.—San Francisco Examiner.



FRANK WALLER.

Dirty Flower Girls.

If one goes to the Covent Garden market early enough one can see the street flower venders laying in their stock in trade for the day. Girls of 15 or 16 as blase and depraved, begging a copper here and there from some well-to-do visitor in the market, and then bargaining sharply to get its worth from a gardener. There are old women, doddering, blear-eyed old things, who have been standing at the same corner year in and year out for so long they've forgotten when they began; there are crippled men and flippant boys, and the choice of flowers they make is a pretty sure guide to the locality they sell in. They all bargain well, and get a bit of green thrown in if they can, watch like hawks to see a blossom drop from some one's basket, and snap it up eagerly as so much clear profit.

Slovenly wretches they are for the most part, with flower trays under their arms and occasionally a toddler at their heels or in their arms—a little, dirty bundle from which a faint, querulous, hopeless cry comes now and then to let one know there is a human being in it. One of these little bundles was in the girl-mother's way when buying, so she plumped it down upon the damp brick floor, and some careless foot knocked the contents of a watering pot over it. Did she mind it? Not a bit, but she let it lie there, drenched, till she got through with the business in hand, then caught it up and carried it away swung under her arm. All around the market these flower venders squat on the curbstone and arrange the loose flowers into little bouquets with a skill that is wonderful when one looks at their filthy unkempt selves.—Pittsburg Despatch.

What a power is Bismarck! Merely his visit to Vienna to attend his son's marriage is sufficient to disorganize the Austrian diplomatic service.

KIRK'S
DUSKY
DIAMOND
TAR SOAP
Healthful, Agreeable, Cleansing.
Cures
Chapped Hands, Wounds, Burns, Etc.
Removes and Prevents Dandruff.
AMERICAN FAMILY SOAP.
Best for General Household Use.

A Piano SENT on trial
WE PAY FREIGHT
If you do not keep it.
We think you will keep it.
It pleases everybody.
It is an honest piano.
It is the WING Piano.

You may have a preference for some other make. Still you are a reasoning creature, and open to conviction, no doubt.

The question is too important to be settled without due thought. Years of satisfaction or of regret come with a piano. Does it wear well? The WING Piano does. "Look before you leap."

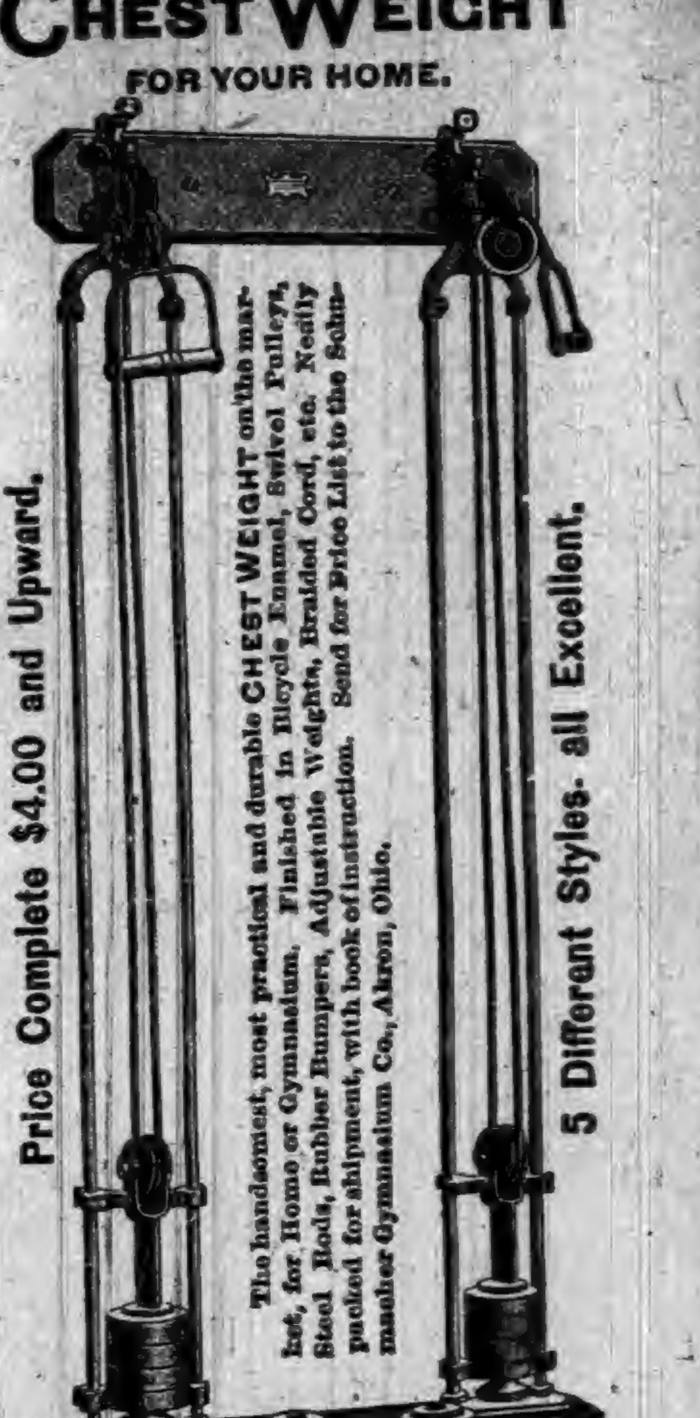
Whatever piano you buy, there are piano secrets you ought to know. Our free book tells them. Send a postal card for it. It may help you to buy a different piano. We take that risk. We also tell you the nearest dealer where you can see a WING Piano. It is worth looking at. So is the price. WING & SON, 245 Broadway, New York.

PATENTS
Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.
OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.
Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.
A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U. S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,
C. A. SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

RUPTURES CURED!
25 years experience in treating all varieties of Rupture enables us to guarantee a positive Cure. Send 4 cents in stamps for particulars and treatment on Hernia.
Volta-Medico Appliance Co.,
115 N. 8th St., ST. LOUIS, MO

DOES YOUR HEAD ACHE
IT WILL NOT IF YOU TAKE KRAUSE'S HeadacheCapsules
$500 Reward for any injurious substance found in these Capsules
Perfectly harmless.
Will Cure any kind of Headache.
Money refunded if not as we say. Sent postpaid on receipt of price,
Twenty-Five Cents.
NORMAN LICHTY MFG. CO.,
DES MOINES, IOWA.
For Sale by

BOSTON
CHEST WEIGHT
FOR YOUR HOME.



Price Complete $4.00 and Upward.
The handsomest, most practical and durable CHEST WEIGHT on the market, for Home or Gymnasium. Finished in Bicycle Enamel, Swivel Pulleys, Steel Rods, Rubber Bumpers, Adjustable Weights, Braided Cord, etc. Neatly packed for shipment, with book of instruction. Send for Price List to the Schumacher Gymnasium Co., Akron, Ohio.
5 Different Styles. all Excellent.
Send Stamp for Illustrated Price List.
The Schumacher Gymnasium Co. AKRON, OHIO.

WEIGHT ONLY 10 OUNCES
PROTECTOR

A NEW 7-SHOT, .32-CAL. REVOLVER.
THE "PROTECTOR,"
QUICK, SAFE, RELIABLE.
Compact, Light, Effective.
The latest and best thing in the revolver line.
Can be carried in the vest pocket as easily as a watch.
50,000 sold in France last year.
A Novelty that sells at sight.
Sample revolver and Cartridges $7. Will be sent C. O. D. by express, with privilege of examination, if 50 cts. accompanies order as a guarantee of good faith.
MINNEAPOLIS FIRE ARMS CO.,
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

PURE STEEL
ROOFING.
Metallic Weather Boarding,
Complete Ceilings,
Corrugated Sheeting,
Roofing Paints,
Iron Roofing,
Eave Troughs, Gutters and Spouting.
All forms of Sheet Metal for Building
(COMPLETE AND READY TO APPLY WHEN SHIPPED.)
WE WANT —AN— AGENT
In this town—an energetic workman to take orders and APPLY our materials in this vicinity.
Correspondence solicited; write for prices and terms.
SCOTT & CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.
ESTABLISHED 1872.

THE OLD DOCTOR'S
Cotton Root Pills
LADIES' FAVORITE.
ALWAYS RELIABLE and perfectly SAFE. The same as used by thousands of women all over the United States, in the OLD DOCTORS private mail practice, for 38 years, and not a single bad result. Money returned if not as represented. Send 4 cents (stamps) for sealed particulars.
Dr. WARD & CO., 117 N. 8th St., St. Louis, Mo.

SWIFT BICYCLES SWIFT
OLDEST AND LARGEST MAKERS IN THE WORLD.
ESTABLISHED 32 YEARS.
IF YOU WANT EASE, COMFORT, RELIABILITY, SPEED, STYLE, QUALITY, AND THE BEST OF EVERYTHING, SEND TO US.

PRODUCT 108,000 BICYCLES
WE GUARANTEE OUR MACHINES SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS AND WARRANT EVERY ONE TO BE PERFECT.
COVENTRY MACHINISTS COMPANY, LTD.
SWIFT CHICAGO, BOSTON, SAN FRANCISCO. SWIFT
SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

FREE TO BOYS AND GIRLS
UNDER 18 YEARS OF AGE, without one cent of money
READ AND WRITE.

ANY boy or girl under 18 wanting an elegant High Grade Safety Bicycle can obtain it FREE without one cent of money. Shall give away, on easy conditions, 1,000 or more. DESCRIPTION OF BICYCLE. The wheels are 26 inches with crescent steel rims and molded rubber tires and run on hardened steel cone bearings, adjustable to wear; geared to 46 inches; detachable cranks, four to five inches throw; frame finely enameled, with nickel trimmings. Each machine is supplied with tool bag, wrench and oiler. Equal to those sold in the market for $45. We have both boys' and girls' styles. We deliver the bicycle FREE of all charges anywhere in the United States.
READ THE TESTIMONY.
413 N. [illegible] St., Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 22, 1892.
Western Pearl Co., Chicago, Ill.
Dear Gentlemen—I received the Safety Bicycle [illegible] Saturday about 5 p. m. I was very much surprised at seeing such an elegant, handsome Safety. It is really nicer than I expected. By trials and testimonials I find your firm is reliable in its dealings and promises. I really cannot express my thanks for the nice Safety. Yours truly, [illegible]
[illegible], March 1st, [illegible].
Western Pearl Co., Chicago, Ill.
Dear Sirs:—The Bicycle came promptly. The boy is overjoyed. He acted like a crazy child for awhile. Over and over he repeated, "It seems as if I were dreaming, but no, there it is"; and then he would go to it and pat it and talk to it. We have found you men of your word. Thanking you for your faithfulness to your word, I remain, Yours respectfully, H. A. Day, for Lee Day.
IF YOU WANT A BICYCLE WRITE AT ONCE.
WESTERN PEARL CO., 228 to 234 Dearborn Street, CHICAGO, ILL.

Dragooning Won't Do

Not with the liver. Violent cholagogues, like calomel and blue pill, administered in "heroic" or excessive doses, as they often are, will not permanently restore the activity of the great hepatic organ, and are productive of much mischief to the system generally. Institute a healthful reform, if inactivity of the liver exists, with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which insures a regular discharge of the secretive function of the liver, and promotes due action of the bowels without griping or weakening them. The discomfort and tenderness in the right side, nausea, fur upon the tongue, yellowness of the skin and eyeballs, sourness of the breath and sick headache, which characterize chronic biliousness, disappear, and digestion—always interfered with by biliousness—resumes its former activity. The Bitters annihilates malarial complaints, rheumatism, kidney trouble, and is a promoter of healthful repose.

A Fish-Catching Dog.

A family living near Newcastle, on the Maine coast, have been eating alewives for breakfast for several weeks past, thanks to their dog. A short distance from the house is a brook that empties into salt water, and which for fifty yards, when the tide is out, spreads its water over a broad bed of pebbles and stones. Several pool-like inclosures have been made, so that when the tide goes out the shallow pools are left writhing with the fish. Then the dog darts into the water and drives the frantic fish before him. When one is stranded he seizes it in his mouth and bears it ashore. The dog never cuts the fish with his teeth, and never eats them.

CONDUCTOR E. D. LOOMIS, Detroit, Mich., says: "The effect of Hall's Catarrh Cure is wonderful." Write him about it. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hairless.

Belle—You say May has a dog to match every one of her toilets. What dog can she possibly get to match her bathing gown?

Blanche—Oh, one of these Mexican pelons.—New York Herald.

FITS.—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila, Pa.

Most men and women become maudlin in moonlight.

When Charlemagne and his "Knights of the Round Table" were making war on the Saracens, in Africa, it frequently happened that Knights on either side would fight in single combat for the honor of their respective armies. The Saracens had been, for many years, the scourge—the dreaded invaders—of Europe, and all waged war against this common enemy.

But in these days the worst scourge that threatens us, is that dread invader, Consumption.

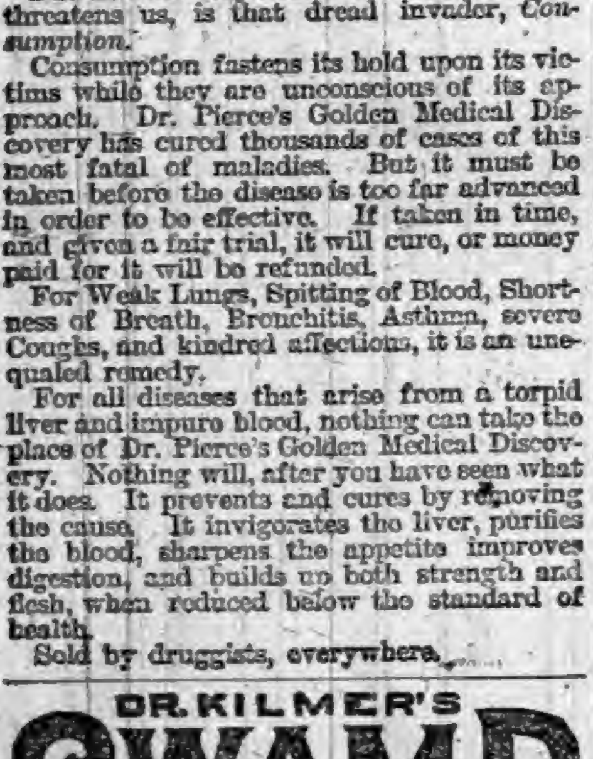
Consumption fastens its hold upon its victims while they are unconscious of its approach. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured thousands of cases of this most fatal of maladies. But it must be taken before the disease is too far advanced in order to be effective. If taken in time, and given a fair trial, it will cure, or money paid for it will be refunded.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Asthma, severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an unequaled remedy.

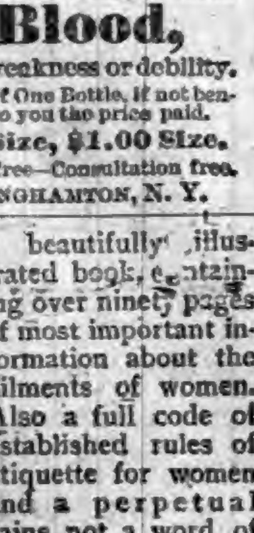
For all diseases that arise from a torpid liver and impure blood, nothing can take the place of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Nothing will, after you have seen what it does. It prevents and cures by removing the cause. It invigorates the liver, purifies the blood, sharpens the appetite improves digestion, and builds up both strength and flesh, when reduced below the standard of health.

Sold by druggists, everywhere.

DR. KILMER'S
SWAMP-



ROOT
Kidney, Liver and Bladder Cure.
Rheumatism,
Lumbago, pain in joints or back, brick dust in urine, frequent calls, irritation, inflamation, gravel, ulceration or catarrh of bladder.
Disordered Liver,
Impaired digestion, gout, billious-headache. SWAMP-ROOT cures kidney difficulties, La Grippe, urinary trouble, bright's disease.
Impure Blood,
Scrofula, malaria, gen'l weakness or debility.
Guarantee—Use contents of One Bottle, if not benefited, Druggists will refund to you the price paid.
At Druggists, 50c. Size, $1.00 Size.
"Invalids' Guide to Health" free—Consultation free.
DR. KILMER & Co., BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

Free, by Mail, to Ladies a beautifully illustrated book, containing over ninety pages of most important information about the ailments of women. Also a full code of established rules of etiquette for women and a perpetual ladies' calendar. Contains not a word of objectionable matter, and is crowded from cover to cover with information which every woman, young or old, should become familiar with, and advice which has restored many and many a suffering woman to perfect health and happiness. No woman should live without a copy of "Guide to Health and Etiquette," by Lydia E. Pinkham. Send 2 two-cent stamps to cover postage and packing when you write.
LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. Co., Lynn, Mass.


Yours for Health Lydia E. Pinkham

BEST POLISH IN THE WORLD.
RISING SUN STOVE POLISH
DO NOT BE DECEIVED with Pastes, Enamels, and Paints which stain the hands, injure the iron, and burn off. The Rising Sun Stove Polish is Brilliant, Odorless, Durable, and the consumer pays for no tin or glass package with every purchase.
HAS AN ANNUAL SALE OF 3,000 TONS.

LITTLE BOYS AND GIRLS.

THIS IS THEIR DEPARTMENT OF THE PAPER.

Quaint Sayings and Doings of Little Ones Gathered and Printed Here for Other Little Folks to Read.

Playing School.

My dollies dear, please listen now
To what I have to say,
I'm going to put you all in school
And teach you every day.

There—my children, take your seats;
Don't you hear the bell?
All ready? Now I shall begin
To teach you how to spell.

Lily, will you please spell cat?
An easy word, you know.
C-A-T, cat; that's very well;
Now, Marjorie, spell crow.

You can't? What is the matter, dear?
Next may spell the same;
You too? Why do you hang your heads?
As though you were in shame?

Why, Daisy Deane, you naughty child,
To go to sleep in school;
Don't you know that such a thing
Is quite against the rule?

No? Then I'll tell you that it's true.
What? tired, do you say?
Well, guess I'm tired a bit myself,
So run along and play.
—Henry Eastman Lower, in Our Country.

The Broken Saw.

A boy went to live with a man who was accounted a hard master. He never kept his boys—they ran away, or gave notice they meant to quit, so he was half his time without or in search of a boy. The work was not very hard—opening and sweeping out the shop, chopping wood, going errands, and helping round. At last Sam Fisher went to live with him.

"Sam's a good boy," said his mother.

"I should like to see a boy nowadays that had a spark of goodness in him," growled the new master.

It is always bad to begin with a man who has no confidence in you, because, do your best, you are likely to have little credit for it. However, Sam thought he would try. The wages were good, and his mother wanted him to go. Sam had been there but three days before, in sawing a cross-grained stick of wood, he broke the saw. He was a little frightened. He knew he was careful, and he knew he was a pretty good sawyer, too, for a boy of his age; nevertheless, the saw broke in his hands.

"Mr. Jones will thrash you for it," said another boy, who was in the wood house with him.

"Why, of course I didn't mean it, and accidents will happen to the best of folks," said Sam, looking with a very sorrowful air on the broken saw.

"Mr. Jones never makes allowances," said the other boy. "I never saw any thing like him. That Bill might have stayed, only he jumped into a hen's nest and broke her eggs. He daren't tell of it; but Mr. Jones kept suspecting, and suspecting, and laid everything out of the way to Bill, whether Bill was to blame or not, till Bill couldn't stand it, and wouldn't."

"Did he tell Mr. Jones about the eggs?" asked Sam.

"No," said the boy, "he was afraid. Mr. Jones has got such a temper."

"I think he'd have better owned up at once," said Sam.

"I suspect you'll find it better to preach than to practice," said the boy. "I'd run away before I'd tell him." And he soon turned on his heel and left poor Sam alone with his broken saw.

The poor boy did not feel very comfortable or happy. He shut up the woodhouse, walked out into the garden and went up to his little chamber under the eaves. He wished he could tell Mrs. Jones, but she wasn't sociable.

When Mr. Jones came into the house the boy heard him. He got up, crept down stairs, and met Mr. Jones in the kitchen. "Sir," said Sam, "I broke your saw, and I thought I'd come and tell you before you saw it in the morning."

"What did you get up to tell me for?" asked Mr. Jones. "I should think morning would be time enough to tell of your carelessness."

"Because," said Sam, "I was afraid if I put it off I might be tempted to lie about it. I am sorry I broke it, but I tried to be careful."

Mr. Jones looked at the boy from head to foot, then, stretching out his hand: "There, Sam," he said, heartily, "give me your hand; shake hands. I'll trust you, Sam. That's right, that's right. Go to bed, boy. Never fear. I'm glad the saw broke; it shows the mettle's in you. Go to bed."

Mr. Jones was fairly won. Never were better friends after that than Sam and he. Sam thinks justice had not been done Mr. Jones. If the boys had treated him honestly and "above-board," he would have been a good man to deal with. It was their conduct which soured and made him suspicious. I do not know how that is. I only know that Sam Fisher finds in Mr. Jones a kind master and a faithful friend.—Scotch tract.

A Wicked Little Brother.

It was verging toward 10 o'clock and the devoted young people had enjoyed the exclusive use of the front parlor for a matter of two hours, when suddenly there was a sound as of the hurried movement of feet below-stairs.

"What's that?" he exclaimed, palpably alarmed.

The sound grew rapidly louder and more confused.

"Mercy!" gasped she, the roses on her cheek fading noticeably.

His arm no longer rested lightly about her waist; his eyes no longer looked softly into hers. He was scared. Rising hastily, he stood listening to the increasing uproar. An instant later a puff of smoke shot through the keyhole of the door and the next they knew the small boy of the family burst into the room, pale and speechless with fright. The acute mind of the lover quickly divined the situation.

"Fire!" he yelled.

The boy nodded and pointed to the door.

"George!" wailed the tender girl in an agony of terror.

She tottered forward and sank upon the sofa. The sighing swain heeded her not.

"Run for your lives," shrieked he, and was gone.

Like a madman he rushed from his sweetheart, ran swiftly through the corridors and away. As his fleeing footsteps sounded on the front piazza the small boy laughed scornfully.

"Mame," he observed, "there ain't no fire."

The fainting girl promptly resumed an upright posture upon the word and glared fiercely.

"No," proceeded the flower of the family, "I just had cook make a big noise downstairs while I blew smoke through the key-hole."

"You little imp!"

The boy looked triumphantly haughty.

"Mame, do you remember last night?"

She gasped.

"When that feller told you it would be the pride of his life to protect you in a real danger?"

Her lips parted but no sound came.

"Oh, I heard him, all right."

Flushed with anger she frantically clutched the chair.

"Mame, that feller's no good. He's a bluffer. I thought so all——"

It was by a very narrow margin that he escaped and only temporarily at that. The next day he was subjected to violence and contumely, but through it all he had the comfortable consciousness of having been indorsed. —Detroit Tribune.

Bel's Little Adventure.

One morning little Bel was sent by her mamma to the "button store" to match a spool of silk, says the Doll's Dressmaker. She had often been trusted on such errands though only 4 years old, and very proud she used to feel as she trugged along "helping mamma." "Be sure and get just that shade of blue and come right back, little daughter," said mamma, as she kissed her good-by. "Yes, ma'am," was the sturdy answer. Now on the way to the "button store" there was a fruit stand, and Bel often used to look at it with longing eyes. This morning she saw something she had not seen for a long time—great, beautiful red bananas. If Bel liked anything in the world it was a banana. She wondered how much they would cost. Then she thought she would ask. "Five cents." Why, she had just 5 cents in her fat fingers that very minute! Before you could think, she hadn't 5 cents at all, but had the banana instead. Do you think she went right home? Not she. She marched straight to the button store, and standing on tiptoe reached her sample above the counter, saying:

"My mother wants a spool of silk like this."

The lady smiled down at the mite, matched the silk carefully, and handed it to her.

"Fank you," said Bel. She never forgets her manners.

"But, little girl," called the lady, "didn't your mamma send any money for the silk?"

"Yes'm; but I buyed a banana."

And before the lady could stop laughing she was on the street, hurrying home. If you will believe it, it was a long time before mamma could convince her little girl that she had been naughty.

The Finding of the Grave of Aristotle.

Soon again there was the glimmer of gold; and carefully clearing away the earth, I began to pull at the portion that became visible, which at once appeared to me thicker and more solid than a leaf, expecting, however, to find a leaf similar to the one that filled the grave we first found. But the leaf would not give, and so I had to cut away the earth further in, and still further, until at last I was able to extract a broad diadem, or fillet, of pure gold, such as was worn round the brow.

We now pushed on with renewed eagerness and caution, and there came another broader band of gold with repousse pattern, and then still another, and another, until we found six; and finally reaching the point where the head lay, and where a small fragment of the skull was still preserved, there came another, a seventh band of gold, with leaves like a wreath attached to it, which crowned the person here interred. There were several smaller vases and bronzes and a knife; and then came two styli. Now, with two complete styli and fragments of a third, we also found a metal pen shaped very much like our own, the only specimen hitherto found in Greece proper, though there have been found boxes which contained these pens and inkstands. It was now evident that the person here interred, for whom the inclosure was made, was not only a man of great distinction, but a man or letters.

We had found several interesting terra-cotta figures of mythological or ideal character in this grave, but at the head we finally discovered a terra-cotta, distinctly a portrait, of the style of portrait-statue well known from the fourth century B.C., of a man draped in his cloak, with both hands folded at the side. Now, this attitude corresponds to the description we have by a certain Christodoros of the statue of Aristotle which he saw at Constantinople.

On the next day we disclosed the grave next to this one toward the interior, built at a different angle, and, from the various stones used in its structure, distinctly of a later date. At the foot of this grave, carefully placed on the center of a large slab which had before served some architectural purpose, was a smaller marble slab upon which in clear-cut letters was the inscription, in Greek, Biote Aristotelou, namely, Biote, the daughter of Aristotle. The only male name which we found connected with the tombs, and referring to the family which had made this inclosure its last resting-place, was the name of Aristotle.—Century.

THERE ought to be an amendment to the constitution so that Presidential nominations can be made in cool weather, even if the voting has to be done when it is hot. The people could stand one day better than the delegates can the three or four they have to spend in trying at the same time to escape sunstroke and nominate a President.

THE movement that has sprung up all over the country for good roads is now taking the shape of a demand that there be a road-making exhibit of some kind at the World's Fair. If it is merely frightful examples that are needed Illinois can furnish all of them.

A DETROIT MIRACLE.

A GREAT TRIUMPH FOR CANADIAN MEDICAL SCIENCE.

Particulars of One of the Most Remarkable Cures on Record Described by the Detroit News—A Story Worth a Careful Perusal.

[Detroit News.]

The following paragraph, which appeared in the News a short time ago, furnished the basis of this information —a case that was so wonderfully remarkable that it demanded further explanation. It is of sufficient importance to the News' readers to report it to them fully. It was so important then that it attracted considerable attention at the time. The following is the paragraph in question:

"C. B. Northrop, for twenty-eight years one of the best known merchants on Woodward avenue, who was supposed to be dying last spring of locomotor ataxia, or creeping paralysis, has secured a new lease of life and returned to work at his store. The disease has always been supposed to be incurable, but Mr. Northrop's condition is greatly improved, and it looks now as if the grave would be cheated of its prey."

Since that time Mr. Northrop has steadily improved not only in looks but in condition, till he has regained his old-time strength.

It has been hinted to the writer of this article, who was acquainted with Mr. Northrop, that this miraculous change had been wrought by a very simple remedy called Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. When asked about it, Mr. Northrop fully verified the statement, and not only so but he had taken pains to inform any one who was suffering in a similar manner when he heard of any such case. Mr. Northrop was enthusiastic at the result in his own case of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It was a remedy that he had heard of after he had tried everything he could hope to give him relief. He had been in the care of the best physicians, who did all they could to alleviate this terrible malady, but without any avail. He had given up hope, when a friend in Lockport, N. Y., wrote him of the case of a person there who had been cured in similar circumstances by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The person cured at Lockport had obtained his information respecting Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from an article published in the Hamilton, Ont., Times. The case was called "The Hamilton Miracle," and told the story of a man in that city who, after almost incredible suffering, was pronounced by the most eminent physicians to be incurable and permanently disabled. He had spent hundred of dollars in all sorts of treatment and appliances only to be told in the end that there was no hope for him, and that cure was impossible. The person alluded to (Mr. John Marshall, of 25 Little William street, Hamilton, Ont.,) was a member of the Royal Templars of Temperance, and after having been pronounced permanently disabled and incurable by the physicians, was paid the $1,000 disability insurance provided by the order for its members in such cases. For years Mr. Marshall had been utterly helpless, and was barely able to drag himself around his house with the aid of crutches. His agonies were almost unbearable and life was a burden to him, when at last relief came. Some months after he had been paid the disability claim he heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and was induced to try them. The result was miraculous; almost from the outset an improvement was noticed, and in a few months the man that medical experts had said was incurable, was going about the city healthier and stronger than before. Mr. Marshall was so well known in Hamilton that all the city newspapers wrote up his wonderful recovery in detail, and it was thus, as before stated, that Mr. Northrop came into possession of the information that led to his equally marvelous recovery. One could scarcely conceive a case more hopeless than that of Mr. Northrop. His injury came about in this way: One day, nearly four years ago, he stumbled and fell the complete length of a steep flight of stairs which were at the rear of his store. His head and spine were severely injured. He was picked up and taken to his home. Creeping paralysis very soon developed itself, and in spite of the most strenuous efforts of friends and physicians the terrible affliction fastened itself upon him. For nearly two years he was perfectly helpless. He could do nothing to support his strength in the least effort. He had to be wheeled about in an invalid's chair. He was weak, pale, and fast sinking when this timely information came that veritably snatched his life from the jaws of death. Those, who at that time saw a feeble old man wheeled into his store on an invalid's chair, would not recognize the man now, so great is the change that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have wrought. When Mr. Northrop learned of the remedy that had cured Mr. Marshall in Hamilton, and the person in Lockport, he procured a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through Messrs. Bassett & L'Hommedieu, 95 Woodward avenue, and from the outset found improvement. He faithfully adhered to the use of the remedy until now he is completely restored. Mr. Northrop declares that there can be no doubt as to Pink Pills being the cause of his restoration to health, as all other remedies and medical treatment left him in a condition rapidly going from bad to worse, until at last it was declared there was no hope for him and he was pronounced incurable. He was in this terrible condition when he began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they have restored him to health.

Mr. Northrop was asked what was claimed for this wonderful remedy, and replied that he understood the proprietors claim it to be a blood builder and nerve restorer; supplying in a condensed form all the elements necessary to enrich the blood, restore shattered nerves and drive out disease. It is claimed by the proprietors that Pink Pills will cure paralysis, rheumatism, sciatica, palpitation of the heart, headache, and all diseases peculiar to females, loss of appetite, dizziness, sleeplessness, loss of memory, and all diseases arising from overwork, mental worry, loss of vital force, etc.

"I want to say," said Mr. Northrop, "that I don't have much faith in patent medicines, but I cannot say too much in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The proprietors, however, claim that they are not a patent medicine in the sense in which that term is used, but a highly scientific preparation, the result of years of careful study and experiment on the part of the proprietors, and the pills were successfully used in private practice for years before being placed for general sale." Mr. Northrop declares that he is a living example that there is nothing to equal these pills as a cure for nerve diseases. On inquiry the writer found that these pills were manufactured by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., and Brockville, Ont., and the pills are sold in boxes (never in bulk by the hundred), at 50 cents a box, and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams Medicine Co., from either above addresses. The price at which these pills are sold makes a course of treatment with them comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment. This case is one of the most remarkable on record, and as it is one right here in Detroit and not a thousand miles away, it can be easily verified. Mr. Northrop is very well known to the people of Detroit, and he says he is only too glad to testify of the marvelous good wrought in his case. He says he considers it his duty to help all, who are similarly afflicted by any word he can say in behalf of the wonderful efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Exit Stanley.

Henry M. Stanley has had as lively a time in his race for Parliament as he ever had in forcing his unwelcome way across African territory against the vigorous protests of natives who naturally objected to his lawless invasion of their homes. Many of the electors of North Lambeth clearly did not like him or his pretensions, and when speaking he was often interrupted with such questions as: "How many niggers did you kill in Africa?" "Who hired you to conduct your marauding expeditions against innocent people, and for what purpose?" "Who killed King Coffee?" "Where are you from, anyway?" etc. In his political venture Stanley has all along seemed aware of the fate in store for him. Boys daily roared after his carriage and yelled after him. The workingmen of Lambeth have shown him little consideration, and have exhibited an embarrassing familiarity with his exploits in Africa, where, according to his books, he indulged in a very large amount of promiscuous shooting of inoffensive "niggers," appropriate enough, no doubt, to his character of traveler and explorer, but hardly in keeping with his attitude before the radical electors of Lambeth as a humanitarian who has conferred the blessings of civilization upon the dark continent. With a Bible in one hand and a Winchester rifle in the other, his self-recorded piety and heroism in wiping out "niggers" and their homes have clearly not made a favorable impression upon the workingmen of Lambeth.

Stanley posing as an aristocrat and attempting to break into Parliament is one of the absurdities of the political world. That he should be defeated is perfectly natural.

Proving His Identity.

Nathaniel Hawthorne was a kind-hearted man as well as a great novelist. While he was consul at Liverpool a young Yankee walked into his office. The boy had left home to seek his fortune, but evidently hadn't found it yet, although he had crossed the sea in his search. Homesick, friendless, nearly penniless, he wanted a passage home. The clerk said Mr. Hawthorne could not be seen, and intimated that the boy was no American, but was trying to steal a passage.

The boy stuck to his point, and the clerk at last went to the little room and said to Mr. Hawthorne:

"Here's a boy insists upon seeing you. He says he's an American, but I know he isn't."

Hawthorne came out of the room and looked keenly at the eager, ruddy face of the boy.

"You want a passage to America?"

"Yes, sir."

"And you say you're an American?"

"Yes, sir."

"From what part of America?"

"United States, sir."

"What State?"

"New Hampshire, sir."

"Town?"

"Exeter, sir."

Hawthorne looked at him a minute before asking the next question.

"Who sold the best apples in your town?"

"Skim-milk Folsom, sir," said the boy with glistening eyes, as the old familiar byword brought up the dear old scenes of home.

"It's all right," said Hawthorne to the clerk, "give him a passage."

Law Against Hypnotism.

Belgium is the first country to make hypnotizing an offense against the law of the land. The law recently approved by the Parliament in Brussels is as follows:

1. Whoever exhibits an individual hypnotized by him or by another shall be punished by imprisonment for from two weeks to six months, and by a fine of $5 to $200.

2. Any person, not a physician, having hypnotized an individual under 21 years, or one not in full possession of his mental powers, shall be punished by a fine of $5 to $200, even when the hypnotized individual has not been exhibited publicly.

3. With imprisonment shall be punished, moreover, every person who, with the intention of cheating, or otherwise injuring, causes a hypnotized individual to sign a paper containing a contract, disposition, obligation, release, or declaration or intention. The same punishment shall be inflicted, also, upon the person deriving benefit from such a paper.

The Sea-Horse.

Only three or four inches in length, the sea-horse is more dignified than many large fishes, and, in addition to the distinction conferred upon it by its graceful stateliness, possesses the unique power of looking two ways at once. It is a dainty, pretty creature, with head shaped much like a horse. In color it is pale gray, dotted with tiny, scarcely visible, spots of blue, and small silver spangles. The dorsal fins are bordered and fringed with gold, and the strong little prehensile tail, wound around some fixed object selected by the owner, supports him in an erect position in the most wonderful manner.

Some Signs of Rain.

When flies sting sharply, and ants may be seen making haste with their tiny burdens; when the donkeys bray unusually, and the cows cluster in corners of the fields before milking time; when the pigs pick up straws and carry them about with lively interest, as if they had some business with them, or wished to learn if straws really do show the way the wind blows; when the dog is heavy with sleep, and the cat seems possessed to wash her face; when all or any of these signs are seen they are not in vain, for it is sure not to be a dry time and rain is on the way.

A NEW carpet fastener consists of a pin woven in the under side of the carpet near the edge, and a hook or catch secured to the floor. A twist of the wrist is all that is necessary to secure the carpet to the hook, thereby rendering the use of tacks unnecessary.

The Banana.

The banana is only now beginning to be appreciated and will be much better liked when people learn to cook this delicious fruit and prepare it for food as it is used in countries where the plant grows. In the South, in Mexico and in the West Indies the banana is fried like the sweet potato, is made into pies, is mashed up into paste and dried, is preserved and in any and every way is good. There is more nourishment in the banana than in the potato. The same land that will grow 1,000 pounds of potatoes has been proven by actual experiment capable of growing 44,000 pounds of bananas. Even now this fruit is cheap, but ten years from now bananas will be universally eaten in the United States and will furnish a delicious substitute on the family table for the potato.—The Housekeeper.

A Famous Rocking Stone.

In England "rocking stones" are called "loggans" or "logganstones," and have been known since early times. One of the most remarkable of these poised stones in the world is now lying evenly balanced on top of Tandil Mountain, in South America. It is twenty-four feet high, thirty feet long, and weighs twenty-five tons. A man can move it with one finger; even the wind is said to sway it to and fro.

JOHN A. SMITH, Ligonier, Ind., had been suffering from severe backache caused, physicians told him, by chronic kidney trouble, and was all broken down in health. He began using Swamp-Root and is now able to do a good day's work and considers himself a well man again. Swamp-Root did the business. He considers it by far the best remedy he has ever used for Kidney Disease.

Simeon Duck's Sevens.

Mr. Simeon Duck, of Victoria, B. C., is a seventh son of a seventh son. In 1867 he left London on the seventh day of the seventh month and arrived in this country on the seventh day of the following month at 7 o'clock in the morning. When he put up his name for member of the British Columbian Parliament he was elected by a majority of exactly seven votes. At the election following he was defeated by the same mythical number.

Are You in Poor Health? Write To-Day.

The INDIANA MINERAL SPRINGS, near Attica, Warren County, Indiana, on the main line of the great Wabash Railroad, offers seekers after health combined with pleasure, everything that the heart could wish. A $150,000 hotel, a bath-house, steam-heated, electric-lighted, elegantly furnished, intelligently managed, and the use of the wonderful MAGNETIC MINERAL MUD and WATER BATHS, are a few of the attractions at a small expense. The surroundings are delightful and great physical benefit is sure to be derived from a visit to this noted resort. WRITE TO-DAY for a beautifully illustrated book, that will tell you all about it. It will be mailed free to any person, who will mention the name of this paper and send their address to F. Chandler, Gen. Pass. Agt. Wabash Railroad, St. Louis, Mo.

A Mistaken Idea.

"That cat made an awful noise in the back garden last night."

"Yes, father. I think that since he ate the canary he thinks he can sing."—London Tid-Bits.

OUR readers will remember the particulars of some remarkable cures published some weeks ago in these columns. These articles attracted widespread attention, for the reason that medical science had hitherto held that the diseases in question were incurable. In this issue will be found the particulars of another equally remarkable case, the person who thus miraculously recovered being one of the best-known merchants of Detroit, Mich. The article appears under the heading "A Detroit Miracle," and is worth a careful perusal.

AS LONG as a man is kept busy for God, the devil never knows just how to get at him.

THE man who lives to help other people will soon have other people living to help him.

An Important Difference.

To make it apparent to thousands, who think themselves ill, that they are not affected with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleansing, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a costive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

Confidence.

Owner—Now, Jack, remember, I want you to win that race at any cost.

Jockey—Count on me, boss. I'll cross the finish a winner if I have got to get off an' carry the horse myself.

THE evils of malarial disorders, fever, weakness, lassitude, debility and prostration are avoided by taking Beecham's Pills.

Real Imitation.

Perdita—Is that imitation lace?

Penelope—Yes, real imitation. Mamma brought it from abroad.—New York Herald.

THE DEADLY GRIP OF PNEUMONIA may be warded off with HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR.

PIKE'S TOOTHACHE DROPS Cure in one Minute.

IF we had to be judged by one another the gates of Heaven would remain closed forever.

Wm. A. Lehr.
King Of Medicines is what I consider Hood's Sarsaparilla. For 6 years I was confined to my bed with white swellings and scrofula sores. To my great joy, when I began with HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA the sores soon decreased. I kept taking it for a year, when I was so well that I went to work, and since then have not lost one day on account of sickness. I am always well and have a good appetite." WM. A. LEHR, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.
HOOD'S PILLS are the best after-dinner Pills, assist digestion, cure headache and biliousness.

AT BEDTIME I TAKE A PLEASANT HERB DRINK
THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.
My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called
LANE'S MEDICINE
All druggists sell it at 50c and $1 per package. If you cannot get it, send your address for a free sample. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary. Address ORATOR F. WOODWARD, LeRoy, N. Y.

FOR SUMMER COMPLAINTS
PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER
BEST MEDICINE IN THE WORLD.

HEMORDIA FOR PILES.
THE ONLY SURE CURE. Price $1.00 by mail.
HEMORDIA CO., 110 Fulton St., New York.

TEXAS Wheat region. All crops splendid. For folder giving general information (give name and P. O.) E. S. GRAHAM, Graham, Texas.

"August Flower"
I had been troubled five months with Dyspepsia. I had a fullness after eating, and a heavy load in the pit of my stomach. Sometimes a deathly sickness would overtake me. I was working for Thomas McHenry, Druggist, Allegheny City, Pa., in whose employ I had been for seven years. I used August Flower for two weeks. I was relieved of all trouble. I can now eat things I dared not touch before. I have gained twenty pounds since my recovery. J. D. Cox, Allegheny, Pa.

ULCERS,
CANCERS,
SCROFULA,
SALT RHEUM,
RHEUMATISM,
BLOOD POISON.
these and every kindred disease arising from impure blood successfully treated by that never-failing and best of all tonics and medicines,
SWIFT'S SPECIFIC SSS
Books on Blood and Skin Diseases free.
Printed testimonials sent on application. Address
The Swift Specific Co.,
ATLANTA, GA.

Young Mothers!
We Offer You a Remedy which Insures Safety to Life of Mother and Child.
"MOTHER'S FRIEND"
Robs Confinement of its Pain, Horror and Risk.
After using one bottle of "Mother's Friend" I suffered but little pain, and did not experience that weakness afterward usual in such cases.—MRS. ANNIE GAGE, Lamar, Mo., Jan. 15th, 1891.
Sent by express, charges prepaid, on receipt of price, $1.50 per bottle. Book to Mothers mailed free.
BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO.,
ATLANTA, GA.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Burlington Route
Harvest Excursions
August 30th and Sept. 27th,
FROM
Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis
to the Cities and Farm Districts throughout the WEST
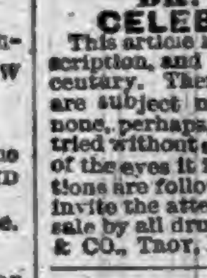
Southwest and Northwest
Round trip tickets will be sold by your local ticket agent on these dates at
HALF RATES!
See that they read over the Burlington Route from Chicago, Peoria or St. Louis. It is the direct line to the territory in question. Send for pamphlet with map and complete information to P. S. EUSTIS, G. P. A.,
CHICAGO, ILL.



LEWIS' 98 % LYE
Powdered and Perfumed.
(PATENTED.)
The strongest and purest Lye made. Unlike other Lye, it being a fine powder and packed in a can with removable lid, the contents are always ready for use. Will make the best perfumed Hard Soap in 20 minutes without boiling. It is the best for cleansing waste-pipes, disinfecting sinks, closets, washing bottles, paints, trees, etc.
PENNA. SALT M'F'G CO.,
Gen. Agts., Phila., Pa.

Tutt's Tiny Pills
The dyspeptic, the debilitated, whether from excess of work of mind or body or exposure in malarial regions, will find Tutt's Pills the most genial restorative ever offered the invalid.

The Oldest Medicine in the World is probably
DR. ISAAC THOMPSON'S
CELEBRATED EYE-WATER.
This article is a carefully prepared physician's prescription, and has been in constant use for nearly a century. There are few diseases to which mankind are subject more distressing than sore eyes, and none, perhaps, for which more remedies have been tried without success. For all external inflammation of the eyes it is an infallible remedy. If the directions are followed it will never fail. We particularly invite the attention of physicians to its merits. For sale by all druggists. JOHN L. THOMPSON, SONS & CO., TROY, N. Y. Established 1797.

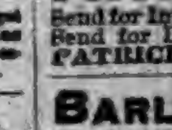
"OSGOOD" SCALES
U. S. STANDARD Fully Warranted.
Best and Cheapest on the Market.
Live AGENTS Wanted in this County.
OSGOOD & THOMPSON, Binghamton, N. Y.

RIPANS TABULES regulate the stomach, liver and bowels, purify the blood, are safe and effectual; the best medicine known for biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia, foul breath, headache, mental depression, painful digestion, bad complexion, and all diseases caused by failure of the stomach, liver or bowels to perform their proper functions. Persons given to over-eating are benefited by taking one after each meal. Price, $2; sample, 15c. At Druggists, or sent by mail. RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

$40,000,000
Earned by the Bell Telephone Patent in 1891. Your invention may be valuable. You should protect it by patent. Address for full and intelligent advice, free of charge, W. W. DUDLEY & CO.,
Solicitors of Patents,
Pacific Bldg., 622 F St. N. W., Washington, D. C.
Mention this paper.

LYON & HEALY,
53 Monroe St., Chicago.
Will Mail Free their newly enlarged Catalogue of Band Instruments, Uniforms and Equipments, 400 Fine Illustrations, describing every article required by Bands or Drum Corps. Contains Instructions for Amateur Bands, Exercises and Drum Major's Tactics, By-Laws and a Selected List of Band Music.

GARFIELD TEA Overcomes results of bad eating; cures Sick Headache; restores Complexion; cures Constipation. Send for Free Sample to 319 West 45th Street, New York City.



FAT FOLKS REDUCED
Mrs. Alice Maple, Oregon, Mo., writes "My weight was 320 pounds, now it is 195, a reduction of 125 lbs." For circulars address, with 6c., Dr. O. W. F. SNYDER, McVicker's Theatre, Chicago, Ill.

PATENTS! PENSIONS!
Send for Inventor's Guide, or How to Obtain a Patent. Send for Digest of Pension and Bounty Laws.
PATRICK O'FARRELL, Washington, D. C.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE.
The Family Wash Blue, for sale by Grocers.

F. W. N. U.....................No. 32—92

When Writing to Advertisers, say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.
CATARRH
Sold by druggists or sent by mail, 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren, Pa.

This is a Picture From Real Life, showing, as it were, how anxiously the mother seeks to afford her child the innocent and harmless amusements so necessary to its growth and development; which, if impossible to secure at home, would be sought elsswhere.

So it is With Us!

We are anxiously and earnestly endeavoring to make it possible for our customers to get the comforts and necessaries of life at the

FAMILY GROCERY,

where is to be found a complete stock of groceries, general produce, notions, confectionery, tobacco nnd cigars.

Mason Fruit Jars $1.05 per Doz.

IRA BRANDON.

ISLAND . . PARK . . . ASSEMBLY.

The First Western Chautauqua.

Near Rome City, Ind.

JULY 26 to AUG. 11.

14th Annual Session.

GRANDEST OF PROGRAMS. EVERY DAY GOOD.

For Detailed Programs, address Rev. L. J. Naftzger, Secretary, Richmond, Indiana.

PATTON'S

STRICTLY PURE

LIQUID COLORS

AN ABSOLUTELY PURE PAINT.

FORMULATED ON SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLES AND GROUND WITH THE MOST IMPROVED MACHINERY.

A PURE ARTICLE AT A FAIR PRICE.

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE, COLOR CARD AND PRICES

JAS. E. PATTON & CO. MILWAUKEE, WIS.

Notice of Hearing of Ditch Petition

In the matter of the petition of Henry Frick, and others, notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed with the Auditor of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, and viewers have been appointed who have viewed and reported said view which is on file in my office. The hearing of said petition upon its merits will be on Tuesday the 6th day of September, 1892, the same being the second day of their September term, 1892, of Commissioners' Court.

The prayer of said petition is that a ditch be constructed on the following route, to-wit:

Beginning 3[illegible]0 feet north of of the east and west half section line, of section 34, Smithfield township, DeKalb county, state of Indiana, and from thence as follows:

No.	Course.	Distance.
1	north 68 degrees west	100 feet
	north 78 degrees west	100 feet
3	south 73 degrees 30 min. west	300 feet
4	south 62 degrees west	100 feet
5	south 30 degrees west	100 feet
6	south 28 degrees west	100 feet
7	south 11 degrees west	100 feet
8	south 33 degrees west	500 feet
9	south 11 degrees west	100 feet
10	south 25 degrees east	300 feet
11	south 11 degrees east	475 feet
12	south 13 degrees west	125 feet
13	south 15 degrees 30 min. east	700 feet
14	south	100 feet
15	south 13 degrees west	100 feet
	On curve	100 feet
16	south 53 degrees west	200 feet
17	south 30 degrees west	300 feet

Ending 612 feet south and 848 feet east of the northwest corner of section three (3) Grant township, DeKalb county, state of Indiana.

This proposed work will affect the lands of the following persons:

David Seety, DeKalb County, William Getts and Mary Getts, Henry Frick, Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw Rail Road Company, now leased and operated by the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Rail Road, Albert J. and S. Beard, Malinda and Jacob Hebel.

H. N. COFFINBERRY,
Auditor DeKalb County

Administrator's Sale.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned, administrator with the will annexed of the estate of Mary A. Gragg, by virtue of an order of the DeKalb Circuit Court, will sell at private sale the following premises in DeKalb County, State of Indiana, to wit:

A part of lot number thirteen (13) in block number nineteen (19) in the original plat of the town of Garrett; bounded by a line commencing at the northeast corner of said lot, and running thence to the southeast corner of said lot, thence west on the south boundary line of said lot, to a point on said line seventy three (73) feet west of the southeast corner, thence north to the north boundary line of said lot, thence east seventy three (73) feet to the place of beginning.

Said Administrator will receive proposals for the purchase of said premises, at his residence in Jackson township, in said county, or at the office of James E. Rose, in the town of Auburn, Indiana, until the 13th day of August, 1892, at 1 o clock p. m., at which time said premises will be sold to the person making the highest and best offer therefor, provided the same is equal to or exceeds the appraisement.

TERMS: One third cash, one-third in nine months, and one-third in eighteen months from day of sale; the purchaser securing the deferred payments to the satisfaction of the administrator.

WILSON S DANCER, Administrator.
J. E. & J. H. ROSE, Att'ys. for Estate.
uly 13, 1892.

Notice to Non-Residents.

State of Indiana, DeKalb County, ss

In the DeKalb circuit court. October term, 1892, Frank Dudley is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said court, for divorce and custody of child by Clara M. Dudley, and that the same will be heard and determined on the first juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3rd, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 20th day of July, 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk.
JOHN W. BAXTER, Att'y.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, of the State of Indiana, administrator, with the will annexed, of the estate of Lydia M. Hubbell, deceased, late of said county. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

WILLIAM H. LEAS, Administrator.
July 8th, 1892.

EVERY DEMOCRAT

Is Interested in the National Ticket

To arm himself against the sophistries of the Republican party, every Democrat should read FRAUDS AND FALSEHOODS OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, the latest and largest and most authentic campaign document issued. It shows the FALLACY OF PROTECTION, the WEAKNESS OF RECIPROCITY, the BAD FINANCIAL management and WASTEFUL expenditures of the Republican party. The comparison of the MILLS and MCKINLEY bills is an EYE-OPENER to Farmers, Mechanics and Laborers. Complete Biographies of CLEVELAND and STEPHENSON, a full Report of the Convention, the Party Platform and an Exposition of Democratic Principles. Nearly 600 pages. Price only $1.50. Special Terms to Democratic Clubs. BIG PAY to WORKING AGENTS. Canvassing book FREE. Send 10 cts for postage. Address

UNION PUBLISHING HOUSE,
358 Dearborn St., CHICAGO, ILL.

B. & O. Low Rates to Helena, Mont.

On August 2nd to 7th, 1892, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will sell Excursion Tickets to Helena, Mont., at a rate of one fare for the round trip, on account of the Knights Templar Excursion, and tickets will be good for return passage to and including October 10th, 1892. For further information call on or address any B. & O. Ticket Agent, or L. S. Allen, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Chicago.

Save Your Eyes.

Don't ruin your eyes, by wearing improper glasses, or those not properly fitted. Get an experienced and skillful man to fit them to your eyes. So wait till C. J. Porter, the Waterloo optician, comes to Auburn. He will be at the Hollister House, the first Tuesday in each month. Don't forget the date.

THE OLD MILL OF MYSTERY,

is now in operation and grinding out Summer Goods, at

REDUCED PRICES.

Challies, ginghams, satteens and tissues, all must go

THIS HARVEST!

Come and bring Grain Sacks. If you haven't got as many as you need, we can furnish the America at 20 cents, Stark A., 22 cents.

Come One, Come All

To The

HEADQUARTERS,

at the popular store of

MRS. M. JONES & SON.

COME AND SEE.

In Men's and Boys' shirts, pants, overalls, socks, etc, we have a splendid stock.

ALL WE ASK,

is, that you call and examine our goods and get our prices, and they will

CONVINCE YOU.

We sell for cash, and thus are enabled to give you

LOWEST PRICES.

W. J. OLDS,

SEBRING B'ld'g. AUBURN.

WALTER'S METALLIC SHINGLES are made from the best grades of roofing Tin plate, and steel sheets galvanized. You can buy them painted or not. Our Galvanized Shingles are rain and rust proof, without the necessity of painting. Our painted Tin Shingles are more durable and ornamental than it is possible to make a tin roof, put on in the old-fashioned style. Write for price list R.

THE NATIONAL SHEET METAL ROOFING Co
9 Cliff St., New York.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

CORRESPONDENCE

WATERLOO.

Rev. Mr. Taylor went to Butler, Monday.

J. B. Taylor, of Kendallville, was here, Tuesday.

Phil Morell and wife were at Lakeside, last week.

Miss Lulu Rempis went to Niagara Falls, last week.

Ernest Williamson has returned to his home from Toledo.

Miss Ada Williamson, who has been visiting friends at Monroe, Ind., has returned.

Tuesday, Warren Southworth returned to his home in Lester, Mich., after a visit here.

On Friday, August 5th, the Presbyterian Sunday school has arranged for a picnic at Hamilton.

Mrs. W. A. Fisher, accompanied by her sister from Seattle, Wash., visited Ft. Wayne, last week.

Miss Ida Patterson, daughter of John Patterson, of Marion, Iowa, is here, visiting friends and relatives.

Mrs Winslow is putting a new roof on her residence, and making extensive changes and improvements.

Master Harold Blair, who has been visiting his grandparents returned, Sunday, to his home at Laporte.

Mrs. Moody and son, John, went to Canada, Thursday, where they expect to remain quite a length of time with friends.

Mr and Mrs. S. P. Klotz, Mrs. O. H. Taylor, Mrs. Dell Locke and Mrs H. K. Leas, were at Niagara Falls, but have returned.

Rev. Mr. Albertson's family expect to return from Warsaw, where they have been attending the Assembly, the latter part of this week.

Mrs. Eva L. Sellers and daughter Mellie, of Sheffield, Alabama, made a visit here, on her way to Lester, Mich. She is a sister of Mrs. Dr. Carpenter.

Marion Bemenderfer and family, John Meek and wife and John Beidler and family, went to Hamilton, Wednesday, to camp out the rest of the week.

The Cadets have returned home. We understand everything is not (unfortunately) lovely for all. One of their number, named Zigler, is sick; and a son of Prof. Myers is suffering from a broken limb.

A number of men have been boarding in Uniontown, for a few days, whose business it is to set the poles for the new long distance telephone. They went from here to Kendallville, and will be followed by the wire men.

The press of the "People's Advocate" was loaded on the dray, Tuesday, for shipment. It was taken, we are told, on a claim of the Chicago firm from whom it was first purchased. We understand the claim was sent to Attorney W. H. Leas for collection, and he took the press for want of something more cash-like.

BUTLER.

A wedding on West North street is an event in the near future.

Mrs. J. A. Campbell was on the sick list the first of the week.

Jonathan Hazlett has so far recovered as to ride about town. His recovery is fairly well assured.

Mrs. Nicholas Noel, is dangerously ill at this writing. I. D. Daily is also reported on the sick list.

Rev. D. C. Woolpert, M. E. presiding elder for Goshen district, held quarterly meeting at the M. E church last Sunday.

Martin Bowman carries his arm in a sling, the result of a fall in attempting to board a moving locomotive. He suffered a dislocation or fracture of his collar bone.

A big show is billed for Butler the last of this week. If the people would refrain from attending these worthless and demoralizing shows much good would be accomplished.

Mrs Esther Showalter, living on West Depot street is reported in a dying condition at this writing. She removed from her farm in Franklin township to Butler about two years ago.

The Wabash extension is pushing track laying at the rate of of nearly two miles a day, westward from the state line They will have reached and passed Hamilton before this appears in print.

We learn that a couple of disorderly women, living in the north part of town have been forcibly placed in Sheriff Plum's boarding house. A few more of the same class could be spared from our community.

Mr. Culley, a former newspaper man, of Chicago, formerly of Dalton, Wayne county, Ohio, now on the World's Fair Magazine, of Chicago, Sundayed in Butler. He speaks very hopefully of the success of his enterprise.

The water work are in operation and are all that the most sanguine hoped for them to be. They will readily throw a large stream of water over our highest building. The electric light plant is also in active operation, so now we have both electric lights and water works.

SUMMIT.

N. Elliott went to Waterloo last Friday on business.

Henry Snowberger and wife visited L Colton and family last Sunday.

Daniel Ling and Lloyd Hamilton, of Hudson, were on our streets last Tuesday.

Henry Heckathorn and wife were the guests of Wm. Heckathorn and wife last Sunday.

Catherine Zimmerman, Betsy Yethers and Jennie Zimmerman were guests of Sylvene Clark's last Monday.

The children's meeting at Barker's church was a grand success, last Sabbath evening. The children did well.

There will be an ice cream festival at Barker's Chapel Saturday evening Aug. 6. All are invited to come and have a good time.

DEKALB.

A wedding in town last week.

Mr. King is visiting his son here.

Mrs. John Rice has the rheumatism.

Butler Center will soon have a new school house.

The whistle and hum of the threshers can be heard again.

Lawrence Monroe has returned from the west and reports good crops.

Elmer Myers and his wife will go to housekeeping in our city next week.

Graves & Zirkle, of St. Johns are in the drive well business. They are prepared to do all kinds of well work and repairing. Give them a call.

A Pretty Surprise.

A beautifully illustrated and charmingly bound edition of Longfellow's "Evangeline," the most popular long poem ever published by an American author, and one of the most famous poems in the language, just published, is a pretty surprise for book-lovers. It is in large type, numerous and excellent illustrations, very fine and heavy paper, gilt edges, remarkably handsome cloth binding, with gilt title and ornaments. No illustrated edition has ever before been published at less cost than $1.50, and that is about what you might "guess" the price of this to be, but it isn't—it sells for only 19 cents! plus 6 cents for postage, if by mail. This covers only about the actual cost of manufacture by the 100,000, the publisher's object being, not profit, but to show the book loving millions what he can do. His publications are not sold by dealers, but only direct; catalogue, over 100 pages, a literary curiosity in its way, is sent for a 2-cent stamp. Every home in the land ought to have a copy of this Evangeline, so charmingly beautiful, as a poem, as a collection of artistic illustration, and as a product of the bookmaking art. Address, JOHN B. ALDEN, Publisher, 57 Rose St, New York.

An Important New Publication

The issue of "King's United States of To-Day; a Handbook of all the States and Territories," marks the completion of a great enterprise. It is a marvelous summary of every fact covering the beginning, the growth and especially the present development and resources of each state and territory. Prof. Greenwood, a prominent educator, says it is "the most complete, compact, solidified, instructive and useful mass of information of all the states and territories that has ever been published." It is commended in similar terms by such men as Pres. Dwight of Yale, Pres. Adams of Cornell, Pres. Patton of Princeton, Wm. M Evarts, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Cardinal Gibbons, and many others It contains complete maps of every state and territory, and about 3,000 fine engravings, showing the chief objects of interest, including grand scenery, chief cities, public buildings, educational institutions manufactories, etc, etc. These with the array of statistics and vivid, concise narrative, present a glowing picture with pen and pencil of the greatness and glory of our Republic, while the mass of information given is just what is needed for quick reference in every office, store, factory, shop and home in the land. It is sold by subscription, and as the price is only $3.00 it must meet with an immense sale. Agency may be secured by addressing W. H. Kerman & Co, Napoleon, Ohio.

FRANK LESLIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY

For August.

The Midsummer (August) number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly has an appropriately breezy and outdoor tone throughout. The leading article, "Summer Outing by the Midnight Sun," by Anna M. Reed, is admirably written in this spirit, and occupies fresh fields by describing the voyage to Norway's Wonderland and the North Cape. In another charming descriptive article, "The Tuscan Coast" is visited. This paper with its rich and profuse illustrations, has a peculiar timeliness, inasmuch as it was off this same Tuscan shore, between Leghorn and Spezzia, that the poet Shelley (the centennial anniversary of whose birth is being celebrated in England this summer) was drowned, in July, 1822 "Some French Women of Letters," including Mme. Adam, Severine' "Gypt," "Carmen Sylva," Judith Gauthier, and others, are interestingly characterized by Arthur Hornblow. Other notable illustrated articles are: "Domes, Towers and Spires," by Peter Macqueen; "Oxford in the Long Vacation," by N. W. Metcalfe; "Canal-boat Life, and the Coal Traffic," by Thomas Murphy, and "Crane Culture" (Notes from Sugarland) by W. Jennings Warington. A new serial story, of the detective type, entitled "The Great Gauntry Diamonds," by Daniel Dane, begins in this number.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria

PILES Rectal Ulcer, Fistula, Fissure, Etc., permanently cured. Piles of years standing cured in one PAINLESS treatment without knife, Ligature or clamp. No loss of time from business. Office treatment only. Consultation free. Call or write DR. BUSH OFFICE. 800 PINE ST., ST. LOUIS, MO.

TWO KINGS.

One was a king of ruthless power
Who spurned his people's trust,
All whiteness from his soul erased
By tyranny and lust.

One was a monarch just to all
Within his kingdom's reach,
His creed of charity and love
Flowered in act and speech.

The tyrant on a sumptuous couch
Outbreathed his final breath,
And his life lapsed all unconsciously
From tranquil sleep to death.

The king beloved by grateful hearts
Throughout his prosperous land,
While issuing some benign decree
Died from a murderer's hand!
—William H. Hayne in Century.

The Scents of Flowers.

In popular acceptation, the soul of the flower resides in its perfume. But certain loveliest flower souls sometimes exercise singular repellences for individuals of the human family. There have been those even who could not endure the fragrance of the rose. To my knowledge one observer finds in the scent of lilacs an unpleasant reminder of the odor of escaping gas. Another makes no distinction between the breath of mignonette and the smell of fresh cornmeal. To me the scent of the thistle is identical with that of the bumblebee sprawling luxuriously among its purple filaments, and the first time the delicate, feathery flower of the beach plum were brought me, surely their odor was the same I had noted in downy chicks and nestling birds.

Besides the gratification which flowers provide for the sense of sight and the sense of smell, there is another and quite distinct pleasure—that which is conveyed in the contact of a flower; as in a subtle spray of lilacs brushing against your face, the dabbling touches of the snowball, the tender coolness of apple blossoms dashed with rain, the refined sleekness of the lily, which gave an old time poet countenance in describing his lady's hand; so smooth, so white, so soft it was, "as it had worn a lily for a glove." Further tactile differentiation is to be found in the warm, vital and airy touch of the rose (so unlike the quality of the lily petal), in the viscid sultriness of the poppy and the petunia, in the tissuey thinness and dryness of the larkspur blossom.—Edith M. Thomas in Atlantic.

Earthworms and Salt Water.

A very important fact in the economy of earthworms is their susceptibility to salt water; they are for the most part soon killed by an immersion in salt water, and it appears that their eggs are also incapable of withstanding its influence for a prolonged period. However, the eggs are not deposited singly, but are inclosed in large numbers in an egg case of a leathery consistence, which may be, for a time at least, impermeable to sea water. It is therefore just conceivable that the cocoons might cross in safety a narrow sea inclosed in a ball of earth upon the roots of a floating tree.

But it seems certain that a very long time does not elapse before the eggs in the cocoon are fatally injured by the sea-water. The only exception at present known is an earthworm which is found in heaps of cast up seaweed on the seashores of the Mediterranean and North sea.—Chambers' Journal.

People Who Have No Time to Read.

It is rather remarkable how the thousands who patronize the postoffice lack eyes. A little while ago there were signs and notices enough about the building to give any one who looked all the information necessary about the arrival and the departure of mails and the other matters about which those who used the building would naturally want to know. But the clerks had to answer so many questions that the postmaster established a Bureau of Information, where all questions should be cheerfully answered by a clerk with nothing else to do. And now, although the stamp windows are conspicuously placed and plainly marked, it has been found necessary to put up over the window of the inquiry bureau, in addition to its sign as such, a sign reading: "No stamps sold here." The clerk had as many requests for stamps as he did for information.—New York Times.

Earthworms in the New World.

It is a remarkable fact that in two kinds of earthworms, inhabitants of the New World, the little bristles, which are the locomotive appendages, are greatly enlarged in the tail segments. In one of these, the Diachaeta windlei, the bristles in question are enormously enlarged and of a hooklike form, so that the creature must be able to retain a very firm grip upon the soil. These facts are surprising, as an earthworm is perhaps an animal in which we should not expect much manifestation of intellect; but, on the other hand, Mr. Romanes' discoveries about the intellectual possibilities of Sally, the chimpanzee, may be regarded as having moved the whole animal creation up a peg or two in mental caliber.—Chambers' Journal.

Knowledge Wins.

Two farmers recently laid a wager that one could hold a wasp longer in his hand than the other. The man who rubbed chloroform on his hands expected to win, but the other happened to know that male wasps do not sting, and accordingly got one of that sex. They sat and smiled at each other, while the crowd wondered, until the chloroform evaporated, and then the man who used it suddenly let go his wasp. The other man got the money.—London Tit-Bits.

The number of immigrants into the United States during the year 1890 was rather more than 495,000—that is more than the population of St. Louis, Baltimore or Boston. Sixteen thousand more immigrants arrived during the first three months of 1891 than during the corresponding months of 1890.

It is known that wasps' nests often take fire, supposed to be caused by the chemical action of the wax upon the paper material of the nest itself. May this not account for many mysterious fires in barns and outbuildings?

Grand Prohibition Rally.

There will be a grand prohibition rally at Auburn on Friday, Aug. 5, speaking to begin at 2 p.m. The principal address will be by Hon. J. S. Hughes of Chicago, Let all come out and hear this able and earnest advocate of prohibition principles. Keep your eye on the date.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

DO YOU COUGH DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles, 50 cents and $1.00.

SULPHUR BITTERS

Will cure
The worst cases
Of Skin
Disease
From a
Common Pimple
On the Face
To that awful
Disease
Scrofula.
Try a bottle
To-day.

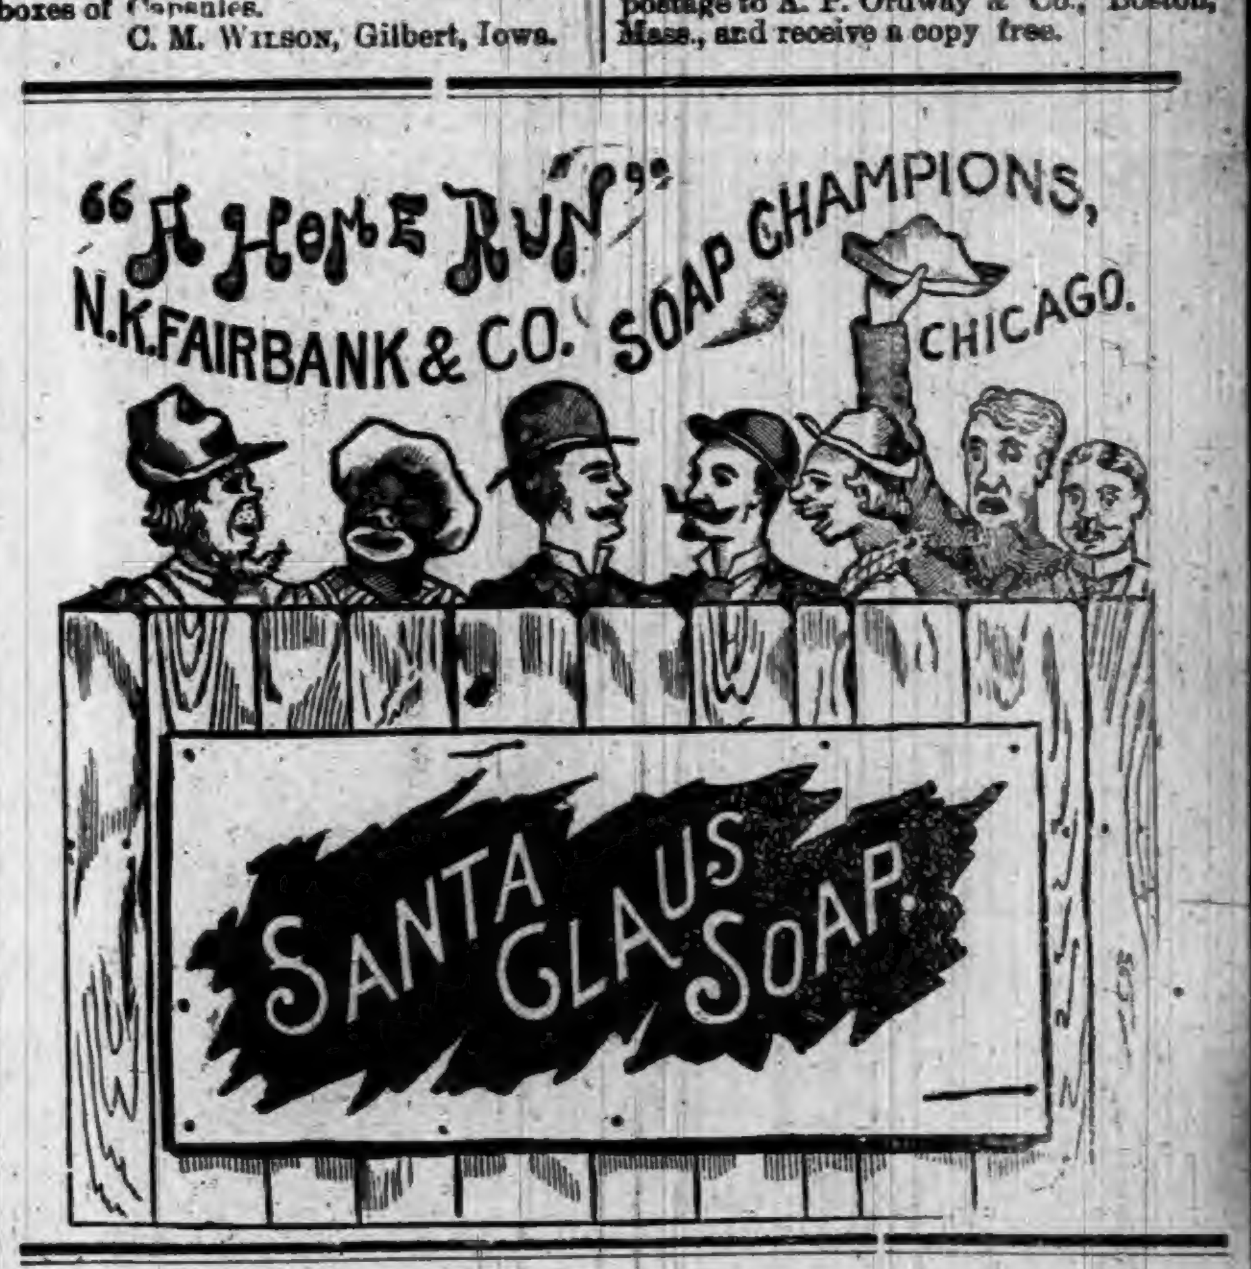
Send 3 2-cent stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., for best medical work published

The railroads of America get $22,000,000 for carrying the mail-bags of the nation.

Iowa State Fair.

Dear Sir:—While at the State Fair my wife tried your Krause's Headache Capsules, with good results. We have mentioned them to some of our neighbors and they want to give them a trial. They prove to be all that they are recommended. Please find enclosed express order for $1.00, for which send four boxes of Capsules.

C. M. WILSON, Gilbert, Iowa.



What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY, Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Mrs. Abrams—An' so your poor husband ees det. Vas he resignet?

Mrs. Isaacs—Yah, he vas villings to go. He said dere vas no money in der cloding pesiness nowadays.—Puck.

Mothers and Daughters.

Over twelve years I was afflicted with a very serious female difficulty, and for the last sixteen months was under treatment of three of the very best physicians that money could employ. Under their skillful treatment I gradually grew worse, until they decided they could render me no permanent help. One of my friends persuaded me to try a bottle of Dullam's Great German Uterine Tonic, and after taking three bottles, can say I am in better health than I have been for twenty years, and am now sixty years old but feel as young as at thirty.—$1 a bottle.

June 2, 1890. Mrs. S. E CARPENTER, Lanse, Mich.

For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Scientific authority asserts a cubic inch of soil contains from 600 000 to 2,250,000 minute organisms.

A Contractor's Advice.

MESSRS. DULLAM BROS.,—Gentlemen:—I take great pleasure in testifying in behalf of Dullam's Great German Blood, Liver, Stomach and Kidney Cure. I can safely say that I never took such medicine as that to cleanse the liver, stomach and kidneys. I was suffering for years with biliousness, indigestion, and loss of appetite and sleep. One bottle did for me more good than six month's other treatment, and I feel it my duty to testify in its behalf, so others may try it and get cured. Yours truly.

WARREN E. RUSSELL, Contractor and builder. Flint, Mich.

For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Typesetting is a popular industry among the women of England, of whom 4,500 make a living thereby.

For Twenty Years.

Mr. Geo. Frank, ex-commissioner of Adams Co., Ind., says: I have had a bronchial cough for two years and used all the different cough medicines, and found nothing that has given me so much relief as Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup. I can heartily recommend it to all of those that are affected with a chronic cough, and guarantee that it will give entire satisfaction. Yours,

GEO. FRANK,

Sold by all druggists.

It is said that 127,000,000 boots and shoes are yearly manufactured in the United Kingdom.

Barb Wire Cuts

are without a doubt the most painful and the worst looking cuts or bruises an animal receives. A man is not wise or thoughtful who does not have a bottle of Krause's German Oil. Only 25 cts., and good for man and beast.—

"Early to bed and early to rise
Will all be in vain if you don't advertise."

Worth Ten Dollars

to any family, is Dr. Kaufmann's book on deseases; finely illustrated plates from life; don't be humbugged, but cure yourself. Send 3 2-cent stamps for postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy free.

This is a Picture From Real Life, showing, as it were, how anxiously the mother seeks to afford her child the innocent and harmless amusements so necessary to its growth and development; which, if impossible to secure at home, would be sought elsswhere.

So it is With Us!

We are anxiously and earnestly endeavoring to make it possible for our customers to get the comforts and necessaries of life at the

FAMILY CROCERY,

where is to be found a complete stock of groceries, general produce, notions, confectionery, tobacco nnd cigars.

Mason Fruit Jars $1.05 per Doz.

IRA BRANDON.

ISLAND PARK ASSEMBLY. The First Western Chautauqua.

Near Rome City, Ind.
JULY 26 to AUG. 11.
14th Annual Session.

GRANDEST OF PROGRAMS.
EVERY DAY GOOD.

For Detailed Programs, address Rev. L. J. Naftzger, Secretary, Richmond, Indiana.

PATTON'S

STRICTLY PURE

LIQUID COLORS

AN ABSOLUTELY

PURE PAINT.

FORMULATED ON SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLES AND GROUND WITH THE MOST IMPROVED MACHINERY.

A PURE ARTICLE

AT A FAIR PRICE.

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE, COLOR CARD AND PRICES

JAS. E. PATTON & CO.
MILWAUKEE, WIS.

Notice of Hearing of Ditch Petition

In the matter of the petition of Henry Frick, and others, notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed with the Auditor of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, and viewers have been appointed who have viewed and reported said view which is on file in my office. The hearing of said petition upon its merits will be on Tuesday the 6th day of September, 1892, the same being the second day of their September term, 1892, of Commissioners' Court.

The prayer of said petition is that a ditch be constructed on the following route, to-wit:

Beginning 300 feet north of of the east and west half section line, of section 34, Smithfield township, DeKalb county, state of Indiana, and from thence as follows:

No.	Course.	Distance.
1	north 68 degrees west	100 feet
	north 78 degrees west	100 feet
3	south 73 degress 30 min. west	300 feet
4	south 52 degrees west	100 feet
5	south 39 degrees west	100 feet
6	south 28 degrees west	100 feet
7	south 11 degrees west	100 feet
8	south 33 degrees west	500 feet
9	south 11 degrees west	100 feet
10	south 25 degrees east	300 feet
11	south 11 degrees east	475 feet
12	south 13 degrees west	125 feet
13	south 15 degrees 30 min. east	700 feet
14	south	100 feet
15	south 13 degrees west	100 feet
	On curve	100 feet
16	south 53 degrees west	200 feet
17	south 30 degrees west	300 feet

Ending 612 feet south and 848 feet east of the northwest corner of section three (3) Grant township, DeKalb county, state of Indiana.

This proposed work will affect the lands of the following persons:

David Seery, DeKalb County, William Getts and Mary Getts, Henry Frick, Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw Rail Road Company, now leased and operated by the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Rail Road, Albert J. and S. Beard, Malinda and Jacob Hebel

H. N. COFFINBERRY,
Auditor DeKalb County

Administrator's Sale.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned, administrator with the will annexed of the estate of Mary A. Gragg, by virtue of an order of the DeKalb Circuit Court, will sell at private sale the following premises in DeKalb County, State of Indiana, to wit:

A part of lot number thirteen (13) in block number nineteen (19) in the original plat of the town of Garrett; bounded by a line commencing at the northeast corner of said lot, and running thence to the southeast corner of said lot, thence west on the south boundary line of said lot, to a point on said line seventy three (73) feet west of the southeast corner, thence north to the north boundary line of said lot, thence east seventy three (73) feet to the place of beginning.

Said Administrator will receive proposals for the purchase of said premises, at his residence in Jackson township, in said county, or at the office of James E. Rose, in the town of Auburn, Indiana, until the 13th day of August, 1892, at 1 o'clock p. m., at which time said premises will be sold to the person making the highest and best offer therefor, provided the same is equal to or exceeds the appraisement.

TERMS: One-third cash, one-third in nine months, and one-third in eighteen months from day of sale; the purchaser securing the deferred payments to the satisfaction of the administrator.

WILSON S DANCER, Administrator.
J. E. & J. H. ROSE, Att'ys. for Estate.
uly 13, 1892.

Notice to Non-Residents.

State of Indiana, DeKalb County, ss

In the DeKalb circuit court. October term, 1892, Frank Dudley is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said court, for divorce and custody of child by Clara M. Dudley, and that the same will be heard and determined on the first juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3rd, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 30th day of July, 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk.
JOHN W. BAXTER, Att'y.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, of the State of Indiana, administrator, with the will annexed, of the estate of Lydia M. Habbell, deceased, late of said county. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

WILLIAM H. LEAS, Administrator.
July 8th, 1892.

EVERY DEMOCRAT

Is Interested in the National Ticket

To arm himself against the sophistries of the Republican party, every Democrat should read FRAUDS AND FALSEHOODS OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, the latest and largest and most authentic campaign document issued. It shows the FALLACY OF PROTECTION, the WEAKNESS OF RECIPROCITY, the BAD FINANCIAL management and WASTEFUL expenditures of the Republican party. The comparison of the MILLS and MCKINLEY bills is an EYE-OPENER to Farmers, Mechanics and Laborers. Complete Biographies of CLEVELAND and STEPHENSON, a full Report of the Convention, the Party Platform and an Exposition of Democratic Principles. Nearly 600 pages. Price only $1.50. Special Terms to Democratic Clubs. BIG PAY to WORKING AGENTS. Canvassing book FREE. Send 10 cts for postage. Address

UNION PUBLISHING HOUSE,
358 Dearborn St., CHICAGO, ILL.

B. & O. Low Rates to Helena, Mont.

On August 2nd to 7th. 1892, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will sell Excursion Tickets to Helena, Mont., at a rate of one fare for the round trip, on account of the Knights Templar Excursion, and tickets will be good for return passage to and including October 10th, 1892. For further information call on or address any B. & O. Ticket Agent, or L. S. Allen, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Chicago.

Save Your Eyes.

Don't ruin your eyes, by wearing improper glasses, or those not properly fitted. Get an experienced and skillful man to fit them to your eyes. So wait till C. J. Porter, the Waterloo optician, comes to Auburn. He will be at the Hollister House, the first Tuesday in each month. Don't forget the date.

THE OLD MILL OF MYSTERY,

is now in operation and grinding out Summer Goods, at

REDUCED PRICES.

Challies, ginghams, satteens and tissues, all must go

THIS HARVEST!

Come and bring Grain Sacks. If you haven't got as many as you need, we can furnish the America at 20 cents, Stark A., 22 cents.

Come One, Come All

To The

HEADQUARTERS,

at the popular store of

MRS. M. JONES & SON.

COME AND SEE.

In Men's and Boys' shirts, pants, overalls, socks, etc, we have a splendid stock.

ALL WE ASK,

is, that you call and examine our goods and get our prices, and they will

CONVINCE YOU.

We sell for cash, and thus are enabled to give you

LOWEST PRICES.

W. J. OLDS,

SEBRING B'ld'g, AUBURN.

WALTER'S METALLIC SHINGLES are made from the best grades of roofing Tin plate, and steel sheets galvanized. You can buy them painted or not. Our Galvanized Shingles are rain and rust proof, without the necessity of painting. Our painted Tin Shingles are more durable and ornamental than it is possible to make a tin roof, put on in the old-fashioned style. Write for price list R.

THE NATIONAL SHEET METAL ROOFING CO
9 Cliff St., New York.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

CORRESPONDENCE

WATERLOO.

Rev. Mr. Taylor went to Butler, Monday.

J. B. Taylor, of Kendallville, was here, Tuesday.

Phil Morell and wife were at Lakeside, last week.

Miss Lulu Rempis went to Niagara Falls, last week.

Ernest Williamson has returned to his home from Toledo.

Miss Ada Williamson, who has been visiting friends at Monroe. Ind., has returned.

Tuesday, Warren Southworth returned to his home in Lester, Mich, after a visit here.

On Friday, August 5th, the Presbyterian Sunday school has arranged for a picnic at Hamilton.

Mrs. W. A. Fisher, accompanied by her sister from Seattle, Wash., visited Ft. Wayne, last week.

Miss Ida Patterson, daughter of John Patterson, of Marion, Iowa, is here, visiting friends and relatives.

Mrs Winslow is putting a new roof on her residence, and making extensive changes and improvements.

Master Harold Blair, who has been visiting his grandparents returned, Sunday, to his home at Laporte.

Mrs. Moody and son, John, went to Canada, Thursday, where they expect to remain quite a length of time with friends.

Mr and Mrs. S. P. Klotz, Mrs. O. H. Taylor, Mrs. Dell Locke and Mrs H. K. Leas, were at Niagara Falls, but have returned.

Rev. Mr. Albertson's family expect to return from Warsaw, where they have been attending the Assembly, the latter part of this week.

Mrs. Eva L. Sellers and daughter Mellie, of Sheffield, Alabama, made a visit here, on her way to Lester, Mich. She is a sister of Mrs. Dr. Carpenter.

Marion Bemenderfer and family, John Meek and wife and John Beidler and family, went to Hamilton, Wednesday, to camp out the rest of the week.

The Cadets have returned home. We understand everything is not (unfortunately) lovely for all. One of their number, named Zigler, is sick; and a son of Prof. Myers is suffering from a broken limb.

A number of men have been boarding in Uniontown, for a few days, whose business it is to set the poles for the new long distance telephone. They went from here to Kendallville, and will be followed by the wire men.

The press of the "People's Advocate" was loaded on the dray, Tuesday, for shipment. It was taken, we are told, on a claim of the Chicago firm from whom it was first purchased. We understand the claim was sent to Attorney W. H. Leas for collection, and he took the press for want of something more cash-like.

BUTLER.

A wedding on West North street is an event in the near future.

Mrs. J. A. Campbell was on the sick list the first of the week.

Jonathan Hazlett has so far recovered as to ride about town. His recovery is fairly well assured.

Mrs. Nicholas Noel, is dangerously ill at this writing. I. D. Daily is also reported on the sick list.

Rev. D. C. Woolpert, M. E, presiding elder for Goshen district, held quarterly meeting at the M. E church last Sunday.

Martin Bowman carries his arm in a sling, the result of a fall in attempting to board a moving locomotive. He suffered a dislocation or fracture of his collar bone.

A big show is billed for Butler the last of this week. If the people would refrain from attending these worthless and demoralizing shows much good would be accomplished.

Mrs Esther Showalter, living on West Depot street is reported in a dying condition at this writing. She removed from her farm in Franklin township to Butler about two years ago.

The Wabash extension is pushing track laying at the rate of of nearly two miles a day, westward from the state line They will have reached and passed Hamilton before this appears in print.

We learn that a couple of disorderly women, living in the north part of town have been forcibly placed in Sheriff Plum's boarding house. A few more of the same class could be spared from our community.

Mr. Culley, a former newspaper man, of Chicago, formerly of Dalton, Wayne county, Ohio, now on the World's Fair Magazine, of Chicago, Sundayed in Butler. He speaks very hopefully of the success of his enterprise.

The water work are in operation and are all that the most sanguine hoped for them to be. They will readily throw a large stream of water over our highest building. The electric light plant is also in active operation, so now we have both electric lights and water works.

SUMMIT.

N. Elliott went to Waterloo last Friday on business.

Henry Snowberger and wife visited L. Colton and family last Sunday.

Daniel Ling and Lloyd Hamilton, of Hudson, were on our streets last Tuesday.

Henry Heckathorn and wife were the guests of Wm. Heckathorn and wife last Sunday.

Catherine Zimmerman, Betsy Yethers and Jennie Zimmerman were guests of Sylvene Clark's last Monday.

The children's meeting at Barker's church was a grand success, last Sabbath evening. The children did well.

There will be an ice cream festival at Barker's Chapel Saturday evening Aug. 6. All are invited to come and have a good time.

DEKALB.

A wedding in town last week.

Mr. King is visiting his son here.

Mrs. John Rice has the rheumatism.

Butler Center will soon have a new school house.

The whistle and hum of the threshers can be heard again.

Lawrence Monroe has returned from the west and reports good crops.

Elmer Myers and his wife will go to housekeeping in our city next week.

Graves & Zirkle, of St. Johns are in the drive well business. They are prepared to do all kinds of well work and repairing. Give them a call.

A Pretty Surprise.

A beautifully illustrated and charmingly bound edition of Longfellow's "Evangeline," the most popular long poem ever published by an American author, and one of the most famous poems in the language, just published, is a pretty surprise for book-lovers. It is in large type, numerous and excellent illustrations, very fine and heavy paper, gilt edges, remarkably handsome cloth binding, with gilt title and ornaments. No illustrated edition has ever before been published at less cost than $1.50, and that is about what you might "guess" the price of this to be, but it isn't—it sells for only 19 cents! plus 6 cents for postage, if by mail. This covers only about the actual cost of manufacture by the 100,000, the publisher's object being, not profit, but to show the book loving millions what he can do. His publications are not sold by dealers, but only direct; catalogue, over 100 pages, a literary curiosity in its way, is sent for a 2-cent stamp. Every home in the land ought to have a copy of this Evangeline, so charmingly beautiful, as a poem, as a collection of artistic illustration, and as a product of the book-making art. Address, JOHN B ALDEN, Publisher, 57 Rose St., New York.

An Important New Publication

The issue of "King's United States of To-Day; a Handbook of all the States and Territories," marks the completion of a great enterprise. It is a marvelous summary of every fact covering the beginning, the growth and especially the present development and resources of each state and territory. Prof. Greenwood, a prominent educator, says it is "the most complete, compact, solidified, instructive and useful mass of information of all the states and territories that has ever been published." It is commended in similar terms by such men as Pres. Dwight of Yale, Pres. Adams of Cornell, Pres. Patton of Princeton, Wm. M Evarts, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Cardinal Gibbons, and many others It contains complete maps of every state and territory, and about 3,000 fine engravings, showing the chief objects of interest, including grand scenery, chief cities, public buildings, educational institutions manufactories, etc, etc. These with the array of statistics and vivid, concise narrative, present a glowing picture with pen and pencil of the greatness and glory of our Republic, while the mass of information given is just what is needed for quick reference in every office, store, factory, shop and home in the land. It is sold by subscription, and as the price is only $3.00 it must meet with an immense sale. Agency may be secured by addressing W. H. Kerman & Co, Napoleon, Ohio.

FRANK LESLIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY

For August.

The Midsummer (August) number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly has an appropriately breezy and outdoor tone throughout. The leading article, "Summer Outing by the Midnight Sun," by Anna M. Reed, is admirably written in this spirit, and occupies fresh fields by describing the voyage to Norway's Wonderland and the North Cape. In another charming descriptive article, "The Tuscan Coast" is visited. This paper with its rich and profuse illustrations, has a peculiar timeliness, inasmuch as it was off this same Tuscan shore, between Leghorn and Spezzia, that the poet Shelley (the centennial anniversary of whose birth is being celebrated in England this summer) was drowned, in July, 1822 "Some French Women of Letters," including Mme. Adam, Severine' "Gypt," "Carmen Sylva," Judith Gauthier, and others, are interestingly characterized by Arthur Hornblow. Other notable illustrated articles are: "Domes, Towers and Spires," by Peter Macqueen; "Oxford in the Long Vacation," by N. W. Metcalfe; "Canal-boat Life, and the Coal Traffic," by Thomas Murphy, and "Crane Culture" (Notes from Sugarland) by W. Jennings Warrington. A new serial story, of the detective type, entitled "The Great Gaantry Diamonds," by Daniel Dane, begins in this number.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria

PILES Rectal Ulcer, Fistula, Fissure, Etc., permanently cured. Piles of years standing cured in one PAINLESS treatment without Knife, Ligature or clamp. No loss of time from business. Office treatment only. Consultation free. Call or write DR. BURR OFFICE, 800 PINE ST., ST. LOUIS, MO.

TWO KINGS.

One was a king of ruthless power
Who spurned his people's trust,
All whiteness from his soul erased
By tyranny and lust.

One was a monarch just to all
Within his kingdom's reach,
His creed of charity and love
Flowered in act and speech.

The tyrant on a sumptuous couch
Outbreathed his final breath,
And his life lapsed all unconsciously
From tranquil sleep to death.

The king beloved by grateful hearts
Throughout his prosperous land,
While issuing some benign decree
Died from a murderer's hand!
—William H. Hayne in Century.

The Scents of Flowers.

In popular acceptation, the soul of the flower resides in its perfume. But certain loveliest flower souls sometimes exercise singular repellences for individuals of the human family. There have been those even who could not endure the fragrance of the rose. To my knowledge one observer finds in the scent of lilacs an unpleasant reminder of the odor of escaping gas. Another makes no distinction between the breath of mignonette and the smell of fresh cornmeal. To me the scent of the thistle is identical with that of the bumblebee sprawling luxuriously among its purple filaments, and the first time the delicate, feathery flower of the beach plum were brought me, surely their odor was the same I had noted in downy chicks and nestling birds.

Besides the gratification which flowers provide for the sense of sight and the sense of smell, there is another and quite distinct pleasure—that which is conveyed in the contact of a flower; as in a subtle spray of lilacs brushing against your face, the dabbling touches of the snowball, the tender coolness of apple blossoms dashed with rain, the refined sleekness of the lily, which gave an old time poet countenance in describing his lady's hand; so smooth, so white, so soft it was, "as it had worn a lily for a glove." Further tactile differentiation is to be found in the warm, vital and airy touch of the rose (so unlike the quality of the lily petal), in the viscid sultriness of the poppy and the petunia, in the tissuey thinness and dryness of the larkspur blossom.—Edith M. Thomas in Atlantic.

Earthworms and Salt Water.

A very important fact in the economy of earthworms is their susceptibility to salt water; they are for the most part soon killed by an immersion in salt water, and it appears that their eggs are also incapable of withstanding its influence for a prolonged period. However, the eggs are not deposited singly, but are inclosed in large numbers in an egg case of a leathery consistence, which may be, for a time at least, impermeable to sea water. It is therefore just conceivable that the cocoons might cross in safety a narrow sea inclosed in a ball of earth upon the roots of a floating tree.

But it seems certain that a very long time does not elapse before the eggs in the cocoon are fatally injured by the sea-water. The only exception at present known is an earthworm which is found in heaps of cast up seaweed on the seashores of the Mediterranean and North sea.—Chambers' Journal.

People Who Have No Time to Read.

It is rather remarkable how the thousands who patronize the postoffice lack eyes. A little while ago there were signs and notices enough about the building to give any one who looked all the information necessary about the arrival and the departure of mails and the other matters about which those who used the building would naturally want to know. But the clerks had to answer so many questions that the postmaster established a Bureau of Information, where all questions should be cheerfully answered by a clerk with nothing else to do. And now, although the stamp windows are conspicuously placed and plainly marked, it has been found necessary to put up over the window of the inquiry bureau, in addition to its sign as such, a sign reading: "No stamps sold here." The clerk had as many requests for stamps as he did for information.—New York Times.

Earthworms in the New World.

It is a remarkable fact that in two kinds of earthworms, inhabitants of the New World, the little bristles, which are the locomotive appendages, are greatly enlarged in the tail segments. In one of these, the Diachæta windlei, the bristles in question are enormously enlarged and of a hooklike form, so that the creature must be able to retain a very firm grip upon the soil. These facts are surprising, as an earthworm is perhaps an animal in which we should not expect much manifestation of intellect; but, on the other hand, Mr. Romanes' discoveries about the intellectual possibilities of Sally, the chimpanzee, may be regarded as having moved the whole animal creation up a peg or two in mental caliber.—Chambers' Journal.

Knowledge Wins.

Two farmers recently laid a wager that one could hold a wasp longer in his hand than the other. The man who rubbed chloroform on his hands expected to win, but the other happened to know that male wasps do not sting, and accordingly got one of that sex. They sat and smiled at each other, while the crowd wondered, until the chloroform evaporated, and then the man who used it suddenly let go his wasp. The other man got the money.—London Tit-Bits.

The number of immigrants into the United States during the year 1890 was rather more than 495,000—that is more than the population of St. Louis, Baltimore or Boston. Sixteen thousand more immigrants arrived during the first three months of 1891 than during the corresponding months of 1890.

It is known that wasps' nests often take fire, supposed to be caused by the chemical action of the wax upon the paper material of the nest itself. May this not account for many mysterious fires in barns and outbuildings?

Grand Prohibition Rally.

There will be a grand prohibition rally at Auburn on Friday, Aug. 5, speaking to begin at 2 p.m. The principal address will be by Hon. J. S. Hughes of Chicago, Let all come out and hear this able and earnest advocate of prohibition principles. Keep your eye on the date.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

DO YOU COUGH

DON'T DELAY TAKE

KEMP'S BALSAM

THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles, 50 cents and $1.00.

SULPHUR BITTERS

Will cure
The worst cases
Of Skin
Disease
From a
Common Pimple
On the Face
To that awful
Disease
Scrofula.
Try a bottle
To-day.

Send 3 2-cent stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., for best medical work published

The railroads of America get $22,000,000 for carrying the mail-bags of the nation.

Iowa State Fair.

Dear Sir:—While at the State Fair my wife tried your Krause's Headache Capsules, with good results. We have mentioned them to some of our neighbors and they want to give them a trial. They prove to be all that they are recommended. Please find enclosed express order for $1.00, for which send four boxes of Capsules.

C. M. WILSON, Gilbert, Iowa.

Mrs Abrams—An' so your poor husband ees det. Vas he resignet?

Mrs. Isaacs—Yah, he vas villings to go. He said dere vas no money in der cloding pessiness nowadays.—Puck.

Mothers and Daughters.

Over twelve years I was afflicted with a very serious female difficulty, and for the last sixteen months was under treatment of three of the very best physicians that money could employ. Under their skillful treatment I gradually grew worse, until they decided they could render me no permanent help. One of my friends persuaded me to try a bottle of Dullam's Great German Uterine Tonic, and after taking three bottles, can say I am in better health than I have been for twenty years, and am now sixty years old but feel as young as at thirty.—$1 a bottle.

June 2, 1890. Mrs. S. E CARPENTER, Lapeer, Mich.

For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Scientific authority asserts a cubic inch of soil contains from 600,000 to 2,250,000 minute organisms.

A Contractor's Advice.

MESSRS. DULLAM BROS.,—Gentlemen:—I take great pleasure in testifying in behalf of Dullam's Great German Blood, Liver, Stomach and Kidney Cure. I can safely say that I never took such medicine as that to cleanse the liver, stomach and kidneys. I was suffering for years with biliousness, indigestion, and loss of appetite and sleep. One bottle did for me more good than six month's other treatment, and I feel it my duty to testify in its behalf, so others may try it and get cured. Yours truly.

WARREN E. RUSSELL, Contractor and builder, Flint, Mich.

For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Typesetting is a popular industry among the women of England, of whom 4,500 make a living thereby.

For Twenty Years.

Mr. Geo. Frank, ex-commisioner of Adams Co., Ind., says: I have had a bronchial cough for two years and used all the different cough medicines, and found nothing that has given me so much relief as Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup. I can heartily recommend it to all of those that are affected with a chronic cough, and guarantee that it will give entire satisfaction. Yours,

GEO. FRANK,

Sold by all druggists.

It is said that 127,000,000 boots and shoes are yearly manufactured in the United Kingdom.

Barb Wire Cuts

are without a doubt the most painful and the worst looking cuts or bruises an animal receives. A man is not wise or thoughtful who does not have a bottle of Krause's German Oil. Only 25 cts., and good for man and beast.—

"Early to bed and early to rise,
Will all be in vain if you don't advertise."

Worth Ten Dollars

to any family, is Dr. Kaufmann's book on deseases; finely illustrated plates from life; don't be humbugged, but cure yourself. Send 3 2-cent stamps for postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy free.

"A HOME RUN"
N.K.FAIRBANK & CO.
SOAP CHAMPIONS,
CHICAGO.
SANTA CLAUS SOAP.

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.

ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Recorder's Office

THE AUBURN COURIER.

VOLUME XXII. AUBURN, DE KALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY AUGUST 11, 1892. NUMBER 32.

YOU WANT

Screen doors, window screens, screen wire, spring hinges, refrigerators, gasolene stoves, oil stoves, lawn mowers, ice cream freezers, leather fly nets, cord fly nets, lap dusters, horse sheets, buggy whips, grass scythes, scythe snaths, scythe stones, lawn rakes, wood rakes, horse hay forks, ropes and pulleys, hammocks, hammock ropes, hammock spreaders, hammock hooks,

BICYCLES,

tricycles, velocipedes, Builders's Hardware, paints, oils, brushes,

SEWING MACHINES,

and ANYTHING and EVERYTHING to be found in a first-class

HARDWARE.

You can fiind all of these at

W. H. KIBLINGER'S,

AUBURN, IND.

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE--In Effect May 15 1892

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations—	Mail.	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne.....dp	11 50 am	4 40 pm	6 40 am
New Era	12 18 pm	5 15	7 27
Auburn Junc.	12 28	5 27	7 18
Auburn	12 32	5 36	8 32
Waterloo	12 43	5 41	9 24
Summit	12 56	5 53	9 45
Pleasant Lake	1 05	6 06	10 12
Angola	1 14	6 16	10 50
Jackson	3 30	8 40	5 00

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations—	Freight	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson.......dp	6 45 am	11 15 am	6 30 am
Angola	12 25 pm	2 08 pm	8 51
Pleasant Lake	1 04	2 20	9 01
Summit	1 25	2 32	9 11
Waterloo	2 30	2 53	9 24
Auburn	3 07	3 07	9 34
Auburn Junc.	3 38	3 11	9 38
New Era	4 05	3 22	9 50
Fort Wayne	5 25	3 53	10 25

For rates on tickets or freight to all points, call on or address E. T. DELAPP, Agent at Auburn

TIME TABLE

THE WABASH
LINE

TRAINS CARRYING PASSENGERS LEAVE

GOING EAST.

Atlantic Express	4:03 am—Daily
Boston Express	5:41 pm—Daily
Detroit Accom'n	2:30 pm—ex Su
New York Limited	8:04 pm—Daily

GOING WEST.

Pacific Express	1:32 am—Daily
Peru Accommodation	6:33 am—ex Sun
Mail and Express	12:38 pm—ex Su
Chicago & St. Louis Lim(53)	5:12 pm—Daily

All these trains stop for passengers.

For rates, Tickets, Time Table, etc., apply to
I. M. ZENT, Agent,
Auburn, Ind.
T. H. SPROTT, City Ticke Agent.
CHAS. M. HAYS. Gen'l Manager.
F. CHANDLER, Gen''l Pass and Ticket Agent

Administrator's Sale.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned, administrator with the will annexed of the estate of Mary A. Gragg, by virtue of an order of the DeKalb Circuit Court, will sell at private sale the following premises in DeKalb County, State of Indiana, to wit:

A part of lot number thirteen (13) in block number nineteen (19) in the original plat of the town of Garrett: bounded by a line commencing at the northeast corner of said lot, and running thence to the southeast corner of said lot, thence west on the south boundary line of said lot, to a point on said line seventy three (73) feet west of the southeast corner, thence north to the north boundary line of said lot, thence east seventy three (73) feet to the place of beginning.

Said Administrator will receive proposals for the purchase of said premises, at his residence in Jackson township, in said county, or at the office of James E. Rose, in the town of Auburn, Indiana, until the 13th day of August, 1892, at 1 o clock p. m., at which time said premises will be sold to the person making the highest and best offer therefor, provided the same is equal to or exceeds the appraisement.

TERMS: One third cash, one-third in nine months, and one-third in eighteen months from day of sale; the purchaser securing the deferred payments to the satisfaction of the administrator.

WILSON S. DANCER, Administrator.
J. E. & J. H. ROSE, Att'ys. for Estate.
uly 13, 1892.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, of the state of Indiana, administrator, of the estate of Anson Hall, deceased, late of said county. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

JOHN L. WIL[illegible]SON, Administrator.
July 7, 1892

The Czar of Russia has recently found time to become interested in the game of cricket, and has organized two elevens among the young men of his court.

Good Looks.

Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the liver be inactive, you have a bilious look, if your stomach be disordered you have a dyspeptic look and if your kidneys be affected you have a pinched look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters is the great alternative and tonic acts directly on these vital organs. Cures pimples, blotches boils and gives a good complexion Sold at Robbins & McCords drugstore 50c. per bottle. 4

Indiana has more Germans than any other state. They constitute 55 per cent of the population.

Sleep on Left Side.

Many persons are unable to sleep on their left side. The cause has long been a puzzle to physicians. Metropolitan papers speak with great interest of Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent Indiana specialist in nervous and heart diseases, who has proven that this habit arises from a diseased heart. He has examined and kept on record thousands of cases. His New Heart Cure, a wonderful remedy is sold at F. E. Davenport. Thousands testify to its value as a cure for heart diseases. Mrs. Chas. Benoy, Loveland, Col., says its effects on her were marvelous. Elegant book on heart disease free. 4

The great cantilever bridge at Niagara Falls is entirely composed of steel. It is 810 feet in length, weighs 3,000 tons and cost $8,000,000.

A Mute Recovers Speech.

Alphonce Hempbling, of Summit township, Butler Co. Penn made an affidavit that his twelve-year-son, who had had St. Vitus dance for twelve years, lost his speech, was completely cured after using three bottles of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and also recovered his speech. Thousands testify to wonderful cures from using it for nervous diseases, dyspepsia, nervous debility, dullness, confusion of mind, headache, etc. Four doses of this Nervine cured Mrs. W. E. Burns, South Bend, Ind., who had been suffering with constant headache for 3 months. Trial bottle and elegant book free at F. E. Davenport's. 4

The flavoring used under the name of vanilla is obtained from the fruit of an orchid.

Next Sunday Morning

at ten o'clock or any day this week, you can buy at any drug store, a bottle of Dr. Marshall,s Lung Syrup for your cough as it is guaranteed to cure and relieve all chronic and acute coughs for less money than any other, as the price is only 25 cents. It enables all to give this great medicine a trial. A fresh supply at all drug stores.

A Philadelpha tobacco dealer sells a grade of Turkish smoking tobacco for $14 per pound.

I Am Proud

to say from personal experience that Sulphur Bitters, which advertisement will be seen in another column, is the best spring and blood medicine to be found. It is prepared by an honest firm, who scorn to use cheap and worthless medicines, but use the best that money can buy.

Philadelphia is the greatest carpet manufacturing center in the world.

JOLLY UNCLE JOSH.

HIS WEDDING GIFT TO POLLY.

A Realistic Romance of Auburn, With Names of Prominent Business Men.

"Miss Summers—Polly—I—er—dare—I—"

But the speaker took a header over bashfulness, only to hear a sweet:

"Yes Charley."

"Can I aspire to—er—to—that is—"

Again a lapse into silence, followed by an encouraging:

"Yes Charley."

"Oh, if I might only hope to—er—to—"

Another failure of language. It was seemingly a hopeless case, and it might have been, only for a demure:

"Charley, I've said 'yes' twice, and if you mean it, too, and—and—"

And to this day that young man will insist that he popped the question.

All this happened away "down east," and it wasn't long before there was a wedding. Not much longer before there came a letter from Polly's Uncle Josh out in Indiana, who wrote effusively of his delight at her exhibition of what he he called "grit," and he proposed that if the young couple would locate in Auburn he would start them up in life as a wedding gift.

Of course they accepted, and were soon bidding their friends adieu.

* * * * * * * *

A few weeks subsequent to the above conversation a travel-stained party arrived at Auburn. Our friend Uncle Josh was in charge, and he led the party straightway to his home.

"After breakfast," remarked the old man, "we'll go out and buy your outfit. To expedite matters I will order a rig from H. E. Trout's livery stable." The carriage arrived, and as Polly viewed the stylish turnout with prancing horses, elaborate trappings, and a neatly dressed driver at the reins, she expressed great delight. "The Trout stable," remarked Uncle Josh, "is one of the best outfitted livery establishments that I know of—the three "S's"—Speed, Safty, Style—is its coat-of-arms. If you ever have to run to an off railroad town, be sure to go there for a rig."

"Having provided you with a cage for your bird," said Uncle Josh, "the first thing we'll look after will be the furnishings for it." Hereupon Polly energetically declared that she had heard so much about C. C. Shaffer that she desired to go there. The result was that they were ushered into such a bewildering display that the girl was puzzled at first how to select. But she soon yielded to the seductiveness of a magnificent parlor suit, a bedroom set in oak (antique finish) that would have done credit to old Antiquity herself. To these she added a dining-room set with all accessories, a complete kitchen outfit, and didn't forget a most convenient and ornamental writing desk for "Hubby" Charles. "And," said Uncle Josh, "not that we expect you to die soon, but you can also find a line of undertaking goods there, too, when you need them."

"A pretty good start," said the old man, "and now we'll go to John L. Davis' hardware store." Here Polly's housewifely instincts had full play in marvels of kitchen apparatus. There is not an establishment in the West that carries a more comprehensive stock of household furnishings. Every possible piece of kitchen furniture, from a tin dipper to a stove range, is here in all styles and variety. If Polly fails to accomplish wonders in the culinary art, it will not be for fault of superior cooking utensils. Her purchases included one of the very best cooking stoves on the market, a gasolene stove, a refrigrator, a washing machine and a supply of tinware, while Charles invested in a large quantity of Sherwin-William's paints, to paint his new house.

"Let's see—I promised you a gold watch didn't I?" queried Uncle Josh of Polly, "The place of all places in town is F. J. Yesbera's, so we'll go there." Entering the popular jewelry store, the old man gallantly acquitted himself of his promise, and then directed Polly's attention to the superior stock of silverware carried by the house. "There is no other such stock in Auburn," said the old man, "and I will guarantee the quality to be of the very best. Pick out your family clock while here," he added, "Mr. Yesbera carries a magnificent line. "Don't forget another fact," he continued, "if ever you unfortunately need optical goods this is the place to come. They have everything required to improve affected eyes and to determine the required treatment."

"The house-fixings remind me," said the old gentleman, "that you havn't got your dishes yet. The most famous stock in extent, quality and completness is at Hebel Bros. But the average Auburn reader need not be told what an array of tableware Polly had to select from. There isn't, positively, a thing in the line of china, crockery, glass or porcelain needed for use or ornament in any part of the house that cannot be found there in infinite variety and at wonderfully low prices. They also have a splendid stock of lamps of every description, and silverware in abundance. Polly's order suggested her thorough appreciation. "This firm also carries the finest line of groceries in the city; and it wont do to neglect your larder, for that necessary adjunct of housekeeping controls masculine temper," said Uncle Josh.

"By the way, Uncle," exclaimed Polly, "where can I go for dry goods, this dress of mine is hardly suitable, I must admit." "Well, my girl, if you want to select from one of the most extensively stocked establishments in Auburn, I will direct you to W. P. Harter, who carries a line of dress goods that for variety and real value, is seldom seen outside the largest metropolitan cities. He carries all the latest weaves in fashionable dress goods and you are sure to be guided right in your selections. You will find him pleasant to deal with and his employers polite and expert, while their prices cannot be duplicated. They also carry a superior stock of millinery," said Uncle Josh, "and when you want to purchase new carpets or get you a new cloak this is the very place to go."

"As you are going to farming," remarked Uncle Josh, "you will need harness. The boss horse milliner in this section is Wm. Sheffer. He employs only first-class workmen and gives personal supervision to the minutest detail of manufacture. There is nothing in his line that cannot be had of him—heavy and light, single or double, plain and fancy, work and buggy harness, he has them in stock. He carries everything else that is found in a complete stock—saddles, whips, fly nets, dusters, lap robes, everything that a farmer or genman horse owner can possibly desire, and as to prices, well, he can't be undersold."

"Oh!" exclaimed Polly, as they halted before a show window, "what a perfectly lovely slipper." "Yes," said Uncle Josh, "the Mammouth Shoe Store stock can't be equaled in style or extent in this section; come in and look it over." It might have been good policy not to have extended that invitation, had not Uncle Josh known how wise economy it is to trade at the Mammoth Shoe Store, for Polly found goods and prices so seductive that she purchased an outfit from satin slippers to a handsome walking boot. Charles invested in a stout farm boot. No one needing footwear can resist the styles and prices at the Mammoth Shoe Store.

"By the way," exclaimed Uncle Josh with a parental air, "the next thing to after is the lumber for those improvements which will be absolutely necessary. Come with me and I will introduce you to A. Lewis & Co., who is the principal dealer in that line here. They carry the most complete line of builders' material in the county—everything from the sills for a foundation to the shingles for the roof, including lime, hair, cement, door and window screens.

"Now," cried the old gentleman, "now for a picture of this crowd. In good old country fashion we'll go to the photograph gallery, and Auburn has a first-class one, that of my friend J. A. Landis. His pictures are wonderful in fidelity and finish. I want one full-sized photo for my study and some small ones for friends. Mr. Landis is famous for successful enlarging, and I want to give you a life-size representation of 'yours truly.' Mr. Landis has the soul of a true artist. All his work is a labor of love in which he will not stop short of perfection."

Enroute to their home the gentleman called at the COURIER office. "You'll want the news every week," said Uncle Josh, "and as this is the favorite paper here in Auburn I'll subscribe for it."

Upon rejoining Polly she began to volubly express her thanks. "You have bought us everything," she exclaimed.

"Only one thing," remarked Uncle Josh reflectively, "but I can remedy that. Shaffer always has a fine lot of them and you can get one whenever you want it; I'll pay for the best."

"W-h-y," exclaimed Polly with great curiosity, "What ever is it?"

"Well, its—a—a baby wagon, and—" But Polly had fainted.

July Subsciptions.

The following friends have credit for various amounts paid on subscription during July; J. W. Sherwood, J. P. Gœtschius, Wm. Ensley, E. Berry, W. F. Wise, M. C. Jones, T. J. Baxter, Rosa Saxton, F. A. Hoff, Chas. Hoff, Moses Zerkle, John Gall, Herman Groscop, Jacob Sonder, Geo. Quince, Geo. Barney, Eli Bryan, Mrs. S. E. Rhodes, A. J. Halderman, J. A. Potter, Albert Guilford, R. O. Talbert, B. Goodman, E. C. Krontz, H. A. Sawyers, Mrs. Sarah High, Geo. S. Earlston, Sadie J. Earlston, J. Swander, H. L. Fulks, Eli Miers, Mary Humes, H. C. Shull, J. S. Olinger, A. C. Kœppe, M. Wiesel, C. M. Merica, and F. W. Ketel.

DR PRICE'S
Cream Baking Powder.
Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

SYMPTOMS OF LIVER DISEASE: Loss of appetite; bad breath; bad taste in the mouth; tongue coated; pain under the shoulder-blade; in the back or side—often mistaken for rheumatism; sour stomach with flatulency and water-brash; indigestion; bowels lax and costive by turns; headache, with dull, heavy sensation; restlessness, with sensation of having left something undone which ought to have been done; fullness after eating; bad temper; blues; tired feeling; yellow appearance of skin and eyes; dizziness, etc. Not all, but always some of these indicate want of action of the Liver. For

A Safe, Reliable Remedy that can do no harm and has never been known to fail to do good

Take Simmons Liver Regulator

—AN EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC FOR—

Malaria, Bowel Complaints, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Biliousness, Kidney Affections, Jaundice, Mental Depression, Colic.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectually move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."
L. M. HINTON, M.D., Washington, Ark.

ONLY GENUINE
Has our Z Stamp in red on front of wrapper.
J. H. Zeilin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

As to That Temescal Tin.

We have received a friendly letter from D. P. Hale, a former resident of this place and of Waterloo, in which he calls attention to the letter of J. E. Haines, which we published July 14, having copied it from the Ft. Wayne Journal of July 1. Haines had written a number of letters stating that no tin was produced at the Temescal mines in California. He was so certain of this that he offered $100 a pound for all the tin produced there, and gave good references as to his ability to pay. He is still writing letters and says that the so-called tin mines are "salted" with foreign tin. It has opened up a wide discussion. The San Francisco Examiner has an article that seems to deny the existence of tin ore, although it admits that it had a specimen of the tin in its own office for some months. Other papers took it up and insisted that there is a fair quantity of tin. A clipping of one of these (the San Diego Sun), Mr. Hale sends us. It is the same article we have already seen. It gives, on what appears good authority, a statement that the Temescal has produced 161,560 lbs of pig tin since Jan. 1—six months—and there is a prospect that it will keep up, and even increase. The mine is not over 100 miles from San Diego, and about twelve from South Riverside. Now, we have given both side of the controversy, and as both seem so certain that they are right, it is hard to decide between them. Our own opinion is that some tin has been produced, though not enough to seriously benefit the market, as the amount stated is not 2 per cent of what we use in the United States. It is also likely that the trouble has been caused by the foolish and false statements, greatly exaggerated, made by the Republican newspapers and speakers. They have been reporting such great results in the tin mining, in the to carry the idea that the McKinley law or some other Republican legislation had been the cause. Even if they do not utter a thing so absurd they talk in such a way, that one is led to believe that they mean that. And to give it more of a political turn they have paraded "American tin" at speeches, conventions, etc., and on such occasions boldly proclaimed it as the result of republican legislation. All this makes thinking people doubt the reality of anything they say about tin, and makes them ready to accept all they say as mere buncombe. The development of tin mine, or the manufacture of tin plates, would be welcomed by every democrat, as readily as by the Republicans. What democrats object to is political tin, just as they would object to political gold, or political building stone. This we have already asserted. The sensible thing to do would be to talk about our tin mines and tin plate factories in the same way we talk about our other minerals and other industries. Speak the truth about them. Say we have found small quantities of the ore, and hope to find more of it; say we have established a few small factories for making tin plates, and hope to develop the industry in time, so it will be valuable. That would be sensible, and would not be an attempt to deceive. If republican papers and speakers had dealt honestly with the people, then people would not have been so ready to cast doubts over this new industry. It can thank its pretended friends for any distrust or doubt as to its extent, and even as to its existence. In the meantime, let us hope that there is tin and that in time there will be more, and that interested republican politicians will be sensible enough not to damn it in its infancy by claiming it is already grown, and that McKinley is its creator.

A FEW weeks ago, we showed that the state authorities had been Republican more than half the time since the war, and therefore, they were more to blame for any financial mistakes, than were the Democrats. We gave facts and figures, and to date, not a Republican editor between here and Indianapolis has uttered a word of denial.

We Are Offering

AN ESPECIALLY FINE ASSORTMENT OF

WASH DRESS GOODS,

Hosiery, Underwear, Corsets, Flannel Coats and Vests, and Straw Hats;---Articles necessary to have this warm weather.

The Styles Are Elegant!

Prices Reasonable!

Our clothing stock is filled with all the

LATEST SPRING NOVELTIES!

We
Have Sold
More Carpets, Curtains
and Portieres, this Spring, than
We have ever before
Sold in one
Season.

It Will Pay You

to trade with us. We will do everything to

PLEASE YOU.

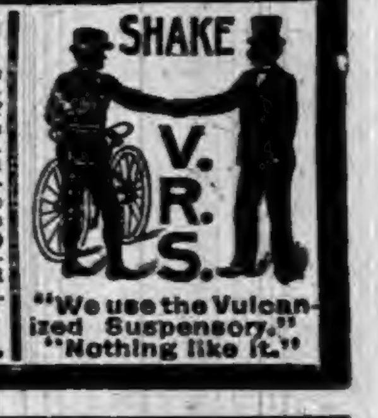
SCHAAB & BRO.

YOUNG, OLD and MIDDLE AGED MEN CURED. ATHLETES, BICYCLISTS, HORSEMEN, R. R. MEN. A protection to the Generative Organs. For sale by druggists. TAKE NO OTHER.

A BOON TO MEN

Suffering from the follies of youth. A positive cure for Varicocele [enlarged veins], Lost Manhood, Impotency and Nocturnal Emissions without the aid of drugs. Our Suspensory is endorsed by physicians and fully protected by U. S. patents, dated Dec. 8th, 1891. The best, surest, cleanest, cheapest and most comfortable remedy on the market. Affords absolute relief; easily applied; no inconvenience to the wearer; prevents chafing in hot weather; prevents injury from sudden jar or strain. Price, $3.00 by mail, or by express C. O. D., with privilege of examination. Circulars and information free. Send orders and communications to wholesale department.

V. R. S. CO. 25 Buhl Block, DETROIT, MICH.



"We use the Vulcanized Suspensory." "Nothing like it."

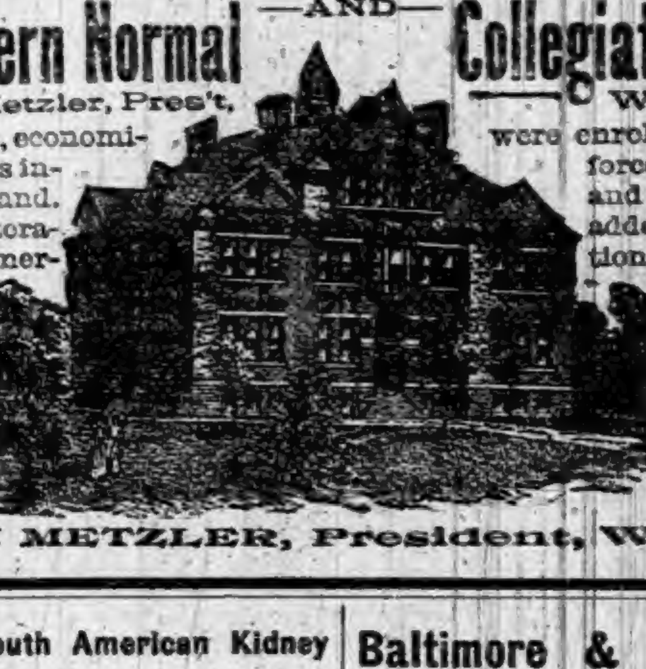
Northwestern Normal —AND— Collegiate Institute.

Solomon Metzler, Pres't. Wauseon, Ohio.

The most popular, economical and prosperous institution in the land. Preparatory, Literary, Musical, Commercial, and numerous other Courses. Last year was the most successful in the history of the school: 345 students were enrolled. The teaching force has been increased and many new features added. Healthful location, good society, advantages the best and expenses the lowest.

Fall term begins Monday, August 29, 1892.
Winter term begins Monday, Nov. 7, 1892.
Send for catalogue and particulars to

SOLOMON METZLER, President, Wauseon, O.



The New Great South American Kidney Cure.

The acknowledged superior cure and immediate relief for all derangements, painfulness and decay of the kidneys or bladder, Bright's disease, diabetes or any complaint that hurts or despoils either of these delicate organs. This new remedy has been thoroughly tested by learned physicians and found far superior to any medicine yet discovered for quickly relieving all weaknesses, aches, pains and distresses arising from disease of any part of the urinary passages. It is a great relief for the old, middle aged and children, male or female. It relieves at once retention and pain in passing water, and it is very effective in relieving prostatic troubles in the old, and for nightly incontinence of water in children, or others, caused by weakness of the bladder. It may be worth to many a hundred times its cost. This is a remedy of great value to ladies, because they are very liable to weakness and pain peculiar to their sex. Sold by Robbins & McCord, druggists, Auburn, Ind. tf

There are 46,000 oil wells in the United States, and their daily output is 130,000 barrels.

Pronounced Hopeless, Yet Saved.

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Hurd, of Groton, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. I gave it a trial, took in all, eight bottles; it has cured me, and thank God I am now a well and hearty woman." Trial bottle free at Robbins & McCords' drugstore, regular size, 50c. and $1.00. 4

The diving aparatus is one of the latest objects to which the telephone has been applied.

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The only line running through solid Vestibuled Trains between Chicago and Philadelphia via Washington and Baltimore.

Time Card in Effect June 12 1892.

Stations—	WEST-BOUND.
Bellaire.......lv	a m *7.13	p m *10.13	......	a m *9.38	p m *2.58
Zanesville	9.43	a m 12.40	a m †6.30	p m 12.21	6.11
Newark.......ar	10.25	1.23	7.25	1.10	7.07
Columbus.....ar	p m 1.35	2.55	8.35	2.50	9.30
Mansfield.....lv	12.19	3.13	10.38	3.40	9.54
Deshler	2.50	5.43	10.15	9.30	a m 1.10
Defiance	3.32	6.20	11.10	10.45	2.05
Auburn Jc.	4.39	7.19	p m 12.25	a m 12.54	......
Chicago.......ar	9.30	11.55	6.40	9.20	8.30

Stations—	EAST-BOUND.
Chicago.......lv	a m *10.10	p m *2.55	a m †6.05	p m *10.25	p m *8.40
Auburn Jc.	......	7.27	p m 12.25	3.31	a m 11.51
Defiance	p m 3.32	8.22	1.40	a m 4.45	1.05
Deshler	4.10	8.59	2.50	5.43	1.54
Mansfield	6.40	11.37	3.50	9.45	4.44
Newark.......ar	8.17	a m 1.10	5.50	12.01	p m 6.20
Columbus	9.30	2.55	7.00	2.15	8.35
Zanesville.....lv	9.11	2.03	......	1.22	7.22
Bellaire.......ar (EASTERN TIME.)	11.40	4.32	......	4.22	10.31
Wheeling.......ar	a m 1.35	6.10	......	5.55	p m 12.05
Pittsburg	......	6.50	......	p m 8.50	4.15
Washington D.C	11.51	p m 4.55	......	a m 7.40	......
Baltimore	p m 12.50	5.50	......	8.45	......
Philadelphia	3.25	8.13	......	11.10	......
New York	6.00	10.40	......	p m 1.45	......

*Trains run daily. †Daily except Sunday. Sleeping and dining cars on all through trains. For further information call on B. & O. Ticket Agent or address L. S. Allen, Ass't G. P. Ag't, Chicago. City Office, Auburn, Ind.

WANTED.

$15 A WEEK. ANY LADY, employed or unemployed, can make this for a few hours work each day. Salary or com. $10 samples free. [illegible]

Auburn Courier.
AUBURN, INDIANA.
JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

HISTORY OF A WEEK.

PEOPLE, PLACES, AND THINGS OF THE WORLD.

Parade of the Knights Templar at Denver, Col.—Passenger Train Wrecked—A Ferry Boat Swamped—Measures Being Taken to Enforce the Chinese Exclusion Act.

PARADE OF THE KNIGHTS.

Thirty-five Thousand Templars March Through the Streets of Denver

A special from Denver Col., dated the 10 inst., says: The welcome rain of Monday afternoon, while it rather spoiled the beauty of some of the decorations, cooled the air greatly and made life more pleasant for the thousands of visitors in the city. Shortly after noon the showers commenced and by 7 p. m. all was cool and pleasant where before it had been hot, dry and very uncomfortable. Preparations were going on all the time for the grand parade yesterday. Orders were issued to be in place at 9 o'clock and at the time they were all ready.

After waiting an hour three guns were fired and the head of the procession began to move. Just at the same time, Grand Master Gobin and his escort, St. John's commandry of Philadelphia, started from the Brown Palace Hotel for the official reviewing stand at Sixteenth street and Logan avenue. The line of march of the procession began on Fourteenth street, crossing over Court place to Sixteenth street, then up Sixteenth street past the reviewing stand to Race street, and then returning to the business section again. After several miles of marching the parade broke up at the Masonic Temple. The fourteen divisions formed on as many sides and took their places as the line moved along. As the start was made at 10 o'clock, with 35,000 men in line, the rear was hardly in motion two hours later.

PASSENGER TRAIN WRECKED.

A Collision on the Santa Fe, Near Denver.

Right in the shadow of Pikes Peak occurred a horrible railroad accident recently. The Colorado Springs special on the Denver and Rio Grande railroad was going up grade at a high rate of speed and winding around the base of the foothills when it met in a shallow cut an incoming passenger train, due to some unfortunate confusion of orders.

The trains met with a crash and the wrecked cars piled up over each other, mangling at least a score of persons. It is reported that five persons were killed outright. Cries and shrieks rent the air, and after the shock was over the uninjured people recovered enough from their fright to go to the rescue of those imprisoned in the debris.

The nearest station was Broadway, from which telephone calls were sent to all the physicians in Denver, and ambulances were hurriedly dispatched to the scene. It is rumored that some prominent Denver people and visiting Knights Templar are among the killed and wounded.

King Will Not Hang.

Memphis special: Governor Buchanan has commuted the death sentence of H. Clay King to imprisonment for life. Houghton King, a son of the condemned, received the glad tidings from a telegram sent by his mother, who has been in Nashville for the past week, pleading with the Governor for the life of her husband. Houghton King immediately went to the county jail and gave the welcome news to his father. Col. King did not seem to be affected by the intelligence.

A Ferry Boat Swamped.

Charleston (S. C.) special: A ferry boat plying between the main land and Sullivan's island was swamped recently. The captain of the vessel and seven of his passengers were drowned. Four passengers were rescued. The boat was a batteau sloop, used in transporting vegetables and hucksters to and from the island, which is a summer resort. The accident was caused by the boat being overloaded. Seven of the drowned were negroes.

Measures Being Taken to Enforce the Chinese Exclusion Act.

The Collector of Internal Revenue at New Orleans has received notification that Chinese resident laborers must make application for resident certificates before May 5, 1893, or they will be sent back to China. Each applicant must furnish three photographs of himself. This is to prevent the entrance of contraband Chinese.

The President Denies That Mrs. Harrison's Condition Is Alarming.

Private Secretary Halford is in receipt of telegrams from the president saying that the sensational stories in circulation regarding Mrs. Harrison's health are entirely unfounded. Her condition is steadily becoming more favorable and no doubt is entertained as to her ultimate recovery.

Gave Up the Chase.

Reedly (Cal.) special: Nothing further has been learned concerning the train robbers who are supposed to have made their escape into the mountains. Many of the officers and deputies have given up the chase and returned to their homes.

Tilden Heirs Pay a Big Tax.

The heirs of Samuel J. Tilden have paid into the New York State treasury the sum of $147,233, the total amount of taxes under the collateral inheritance law which was imposed on the Tilden estate.

Schaefer Challenges Ives.

Schaefer has challenged Ives to a three nights contest, 800 points up, balk line, to be played in any billiard room in Paris designated by Ives, stakes to be $500 a side.

Diphtheria Epidemic.

Diphtheria is raging at Dellroy and Sherodsville, two mining towns near Carrollton, Ohio. Fifteen deaths have already resulted and twenty new cases reported. The State Board of Health has been notified.

Death of a Prominent Odd Fellow.

William White, aged 76 years, Grand Secretary of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, died of heart disease at his home at Louisville, Ky.

Iron Hall Yields to Clamor.

At Indianapolis, the popular demand for a thorough overhauling of the books of the Order of the Iron Hall has constrained the Executive Board to appoint a subcommittee for that purpose, and a careful investigation of the books of all the officers, covering a period of four years, is now in progress.

Johnston Island Annexed.

Letters from Honolulu declare that the British cruiser Champion arrived there July 25 from her trip to Johnston Island. The island was formally annexed, the British flag being run up. Captain Roberts who is part owner of the island, lives in San Francisco.

JOHN W. EWING FOR GOVERNOR.

Result of the People's Party Convention in Michigan.

There did not seem to be the enthusiasm in the People' State Convention that was expected. There were 585 delegates present and perhaps half as many visitors and alternates at the People's State Convention at Jackson, Mich. The Committee on Resolutions reported the Omaha platform as that for the State. In addition it demands the separation of church and state, that there shall be no appropriation of the public funds for sectarian schools, denounces the Pinkertons, demands the abolishment of penal labor which competes with free labor, demands that the names of manufacturers be placed on their goods, makes election days legal holidays, demands that mine inspectors be elected by the people, that all land sold for taxes be bought and held by the State for actual settlers, and declares opposition to all trusts and combines in every form. John W. Ewing was nominated for Governor on the first ballot. The balance of the ticket was selected as follows: Lieutenant Governor, George H. Sherman of Wayne; Secretary of State, Frank M. Vandercook of Gratiot; Treasurer, Joseph W. Welton of Kent; Superintendent of Public Instruction, O. M. Graves of Emmet; Commissioner of State Land Office, William L. Hayden of Houghton; member State Board of Education, Wilber H. Clute of Bay City.

DEACON WHITE PAYING HIS DEBTS.

Successful Ventures with Keene on Wall Street Make Him Solvent.

Just about a year ago S. V. White, of New York, became entangled in an effort to corner corn. Because of the Chicago manipulation of that cereal he was forced to suspend payments, owing a couple of millions. He handed over to his creditors everything he had left, and said that if they would give him time and take his word he would pay dollar for dollar. They all took his word, and did not ask for even a scrap of paper in acknowledgment of the debts. He joined hands with James R. Keene, another gentleman who had met misfortune, and who, since 1884, has squared a couple of millions of debts. Mr. Keene and Mr. White became personally and jointly interested in the industrial securities of Wall street, particularly Cordage, Sugar, General Electric and similar properties. The success of the ventures has been so pronounced that on Friday Mr. White spent most of the time in calling upon the friends of a year ago and handing out to them checks of the amount due them. In all, Mr. White settled $400,000 of debts. He is now pretty well clear of the old trouble.

PILOT KNOB'S GHOST

Proves to Be a White Bear Which Had Escaped from a Circus.

The people living about Pilot Knob, a suburb of Leavenworth, Kan., have been under a nervous strain for a week. In the thickets on top of the hill is a deserted graveyard, and a strange figure in gleaming white which crawled noiselessly on its hands and knees has been seen among the tombstones every night by some one. The other night a party of men and boys laid for the ghost. It appeared at 10 o'clock, its form resembling a Newfoundland dog, though it was much larger and white. Silently it moved along the headstones as if searching for something. The dogs cowered and whined and refused to attack the white object, and in fear and trembling the party retreated. The next day boys in the brush nearly stumbled over a big white bear, which, it is presumed, escaped from a circus in a wreck on the Central branch.

BOLD BANK ROBBERS.

Four Masked Men Hold Up a Cashier at Benton, Mo., in Broad Daylight.

Four masked men rode up to the bank in Benton, Mo., Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock, and two of them dismounted, while the others remained outside. The men on entering the bank presented revolvers at the head of Cashier Smith and ordered him to hand over the cash. The Cashier gave the men about $1,200, which they placed in a bag, and, after cautioning Smith to remain inside the building, took their departure. The men had hardly left the building when Cashier Smith gave the alarm, but before a posse could be gathered they had a good start. The men were well mounted and performed their work in a professional manner.

FARMER SMITH'S MISTAKE.

Out $3,000 by His Deal with Three Strange Men.

Three strangers have buncoed William D. Smith of Clinton County, Iowa, out of $3,000. They came to his place inquiring if there were any farms for sale, and agreed to pay him $10 a day to show them around. Then they borrowed $3,000 of him to clinch the bargain on a farm they bought, and after placing the money in a locked tin box, which they gave the victim to keep, they pretended to have received a dispatch calling them to another town to meet some one, and asked Smith to await their return. He waited for a time, then forced open the box and found it filled with brown paper. Smith is 75 years old.

Victims of a Mistake.

In the belief that they were drinking whisky three men in East Chicago swallowed enough carbolic acid Saturday night to have killed a dozen persons. One of the men paid the penalty with his life and the other two narrowly escaped death. The three men were C. S. Ingram, superintendent of the Chicago Horseshoe Company, dead; Louis Brunig, foreman at the horseshoe works, and Dr. Vincent Cole.

These Are Laws Now.

The President has signed the act changing the date for the dedication of the buildings of the World's Columbian Exposition; the act to authorize the entry of lands chiefly valuable for building stone under the placer mining laws; and the joint resolution extending the provisions of the sundry civil appropriation bill; also the bill to pension army nurses of the late war.

Deadly Explosion of Naphtha.

Five workmen were seriously burned by an explosion of naphtha at the chemical works of H. W. Jayne & Co., Frankford, Pa. Thomas Reach, aged 16 years, and W. C. Beal, 16 years, will die. The sheet-iron building in which the explosion occurred was gutted by fire. The loss amounts to $5,000; insured.

North Dakota Republicans.

North Dakota Republican State ticket: Governor, A. H. Burke; Lieutenant Governor, R. H. Hankinson; Secretary of State, C. M. Dall; Auditor, Mr. Walker; Treasurer, L. E. Booker; Superintendent of Public Instruction, M. Devine; Commissioner of Agriculture, D. H. McMillan; Attorney General, P. H. Bourke.

Committed Suicide by Mistake.

George Harris, of Avoca, Pa., while at the Fairview Excusion Resort, carelessly pointed a revolver toward himself while examining it. He accidentally pulled the trigger and was shot dead.

Got Half a Loaf.

The House has finally passed the Durborow World's Fair bill by a vote of 131 yeas to 83 nays. According to the provisions of the bill the Exposition will receive $2,500,000 as an appropriation outright.

New Parliament in Session.

The new British Parliament assembled Thursday. The proceedings were merely formal. Rt. Hon. Arthur Wellesley Peel, Speaker of the last Parliament, was elected Speaker.

P. J. Sheridan Comes to Light.

P. J. Sheridan, a farmer living eight miles south of Monte Vista, Colo., while driving through his gate with a hay rack was crushed between the post and hay rack. Several ribs were broken and it is thought he cannot live. Mr. Sheridan gained a world-wide reputation a few years ago as being a man who was supposed to know something about the Phoenix Park murder. He has been offered large sums of money to go to England to testify as to what he knew of that celebrated murder.

DR. COLE'S BAD MISTAKE.

Gives Carbolic Acid Instead of Whisky to Friends and a Death Follows.

In East Chicago, Ind., at 9:30 o'clock last Saturday night, Dr. Vincent Cole, who is a young man about 23 years old, invited C. S. Ingram, the superintendent, and Louis Brunig, the foreman of the Chicago Horseshoe Company works, into his office to take a drink of whisky. He divided what whisky there was in his bottle into three drinks, and then added to each drink from a vial which he took from his case, and which he supposed also contained whisky. It turned out, however, that the vial contained carbolic acid. In a moment the men were in a frightful agony. Dr. Cole instructed them to drink all the water they could, and they drank all in the office. Brunig pouring down his throat a basin of sloppy water from the sink. Dr. Cole then dashed across the street to a drug store, and. returning with a jug of whisky, gave and took doses of it, which aggravated the evil. The result was that Ingram died within ten minutes. Cole is not yet out of danger, and Brunig saved his life by drinking the soapsuds.

SONS OF VETERANS.

Thousands of Visitors at the Opening of the National Convention at Helena.

Helena, Mont., special: The doors of the new Auditorium were thrown open Monday morning to welcome the third national convention that has now assembled within its walls since its completion in June, the occasion being the annual gathering of the Sons of Veterans. The convention proper consists of about 503 members, delegated from the different branches of the organization throughout the country, and as has always been the case at the previous gatherings of the order several thousand visitors are present, and the new structure was taxed to its utmost to accommodate the crowd. The citizens of Helena have contributed liberally for the entertainment of the visitors and the city is elaborately decorated throughout. The sittings of the convention will continue for four days and numerous excursions and receptions have been arranged to take place during this period.

WIPED OUT BY A STORM.

A Tornado Accompanied by Hail in Southwestern Minnesota.

A destructive tornado and hailstorm occurred in Southwest Minnesota between 4 and 5 o'clock Monday morning. The storm covered portions of Lincoln and Yellow Medicine Counties and the northern half of Lyon County. Reports show a loss in Lyon County of not less than $500,000. The tornado struck Marshall and passed over the same course as the blow of last Friday, when Mr. Cummings' house and other buildings were demolished. That day twenty-five carpenters rebuilt Cummings' house from foundation to ridgepole, and all his household effects were moved in. Monday morning the new house was crushed like an eggshell and all the contents ruined. The family was in another building.

FLAMES IN A DRUG HOUSE.

Tarrant & Co., of New York, Sustain a Loss of $100,000.

An explosion occurred on the third floor of the large wholesale drug warehouse of Tarrant & Co., 278, 280, and 282 Greenwich street, New York City, Monday morning. The explosion was quickly followed by flames which gained such speedy headway that by the time the firemen arrived the whole center part of the building seemed on fire. By 10:30 the fire was under control, and a careful but hasty estimate places the loss at $100,000, fully insured. A fire which started in the furniture factory of Chatterton & Co., in Baltimore, Md., on the same morning, damaged property to the extent of $200,000.

STOLE RARE BOOKS.

Rev. William A. Carr Confesses to Looting Wooster University Library.

A great sensation has been stirred up at Wooster (Ohio) University over the discovery that several thousand dollars' worth of rare books have been stolen from the university library and that over two hundred of the missing volumes have been found in the possession of a former student who is now a licentiate and as such has been preaching for some time. The offender is Rev. William A. Carr, of Lithopolis. He has confessed his guilt and the books have been returned. His name has been removed from the list of applicants for license to preach. It is thought revelations may follow implicating others.

BANDITS IN THE TOILS.

The California Train Robbers Are Caught by the Officers.

The two men who robbed Wells, Fargo & Co.'s safe, after blowing open the express car with dynamite bombs near Fresno, Cal., are now in the hands of the officers of the law. The robbers were captured near Visalia, Cal., after an exciting chase, during which Deputy Sheriff Whitty was shot in the neck by the fleeing criminals. The men were tracked from near the scene of the robbery into Visalia and to the ranch-house of Chris Evans.

The Queen's Speech Read.

The Queen's speech, which was read in Parliament, was purely formal, and foreshadows an early adjournment.

All Gave Bail.

All the Carnegie officials who were arrested on the charge of murder have been released under bonds of $10,000 each.

MARKET QUOTATIONS.

CHICAGO.
CATTLE—Common to Prime	$3.50	@ 5.50
HOGS—Shipping Grades	3.50	@ 6.25
SHEEP—Fair to Choice	4.00	@ 5.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.77½	@ .78½
CORN—No. 2, new	.50	@ .51
OATS—No. 2	.33	@ .34
RYE—No. 2	.65	@ .67
BUTTER—Choice Creamery	.21	@ .22
CHEESE—Full Cream	.09	@ .10
EGGS—Fresh	.16	@ .17
POTATOES—New, per bbl	1.25	@ 2.25
INDIANAPOLIS.
CATTLE—Shipping	3.25	@ 4.75
HOGS—Choice Light	3.50	@ 6.00
SHEEP—Common to Prime	3.00	@ 4.50
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.74	@ .74½
CORN—No. 1 White	.51	@ .53
OATS—No. 2 White	.34	@ .35
ST. LOUIS.
CATTLE	3.00	@ 5.00
HOGS	3.50	@ 6.00
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.73½	@ .74½
CORN—No. 2	.47	@ .48
OATS—No. 2	.31	@ .32
RYE—No. 2	.60	@ .63
CINCINNATI
CATTLE	3.00	@ 4.75
HOGS	3.00	@ 6.00
SHEEP	3.00	@ 5.25
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.74½	@ .75½
CORN—No. 2	.53	@ .55
OATS—No. 2 Mixed	.34	@ .35
DETROIT.
CATTLE	3.00	@ 4.50
HOGS	3.00	@ 5.50
SHEEP	3.00	@ 4.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.79½	@ .80½
CORN—No. 2 Yellow	.51	@ .51½
OATS—No. 2 White	.36	@ .37
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—No. 2	.80	@ .81
CORN—No. 2 White	.49	@ .51
OATS—No. 2 White	.33	@ .34
RYE	.67	@ .68
BUFFALO.
CATTLE—Common to Prime	4.00	@ 6.00
HOGS—Best Grades	4.00	@ 6.50
WHEAT—No. 1 Hard	.91½	@ .92
CORN—No. 2	.52	@ .53
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.75	@ .77
CORN—No. 3	.49	@ .50
OATS—No. 2 White	.34½	@ .35½
RYE—No. 1	.68	@ .70
BARLEY—No. 2	.56	@ .58
PORK—Mess	12.50	@13.00
NEW YORK.
CATTLE	3.50	@ 5.25
HOGS	3.00	@ 6.00
SHEEP	3.50	@ 6.00
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.85	@ .86
CORN—No. 2	.60	@ .62
OATS—Mixed Western	.38	@ .39
BUTTER—Creamery	.17	@ .24
PORK—Old Mess	12.75	@13.25

PASSED THE FAIR BILL.

THE HOUSE DISPOSES OF THE MATTER EFFECTUALLY.

A Motion to Reconsider Made and Easily Defeated—Colonel Fellows Talks for the Exposition—The Vote Stood 131 Yeas 83 Nays.

Voted the $2,500,000.

The House has passed the amended Durborow World's Fair bill by a vote of 131 yeas to 83 nays. The bill was signed by the Speaker as soon as the result was announced and was immediately sent over to the Senate. As passed the bill gives outright to the Columbian Exposition $2,500,000 on condition that the doors be closed on Sundays. The pledges made to the friends of the Fair were kept in every instance.

At noon Friday the House resumed, in committee of the whole, the consideration of the bill. Mr. Cummings, of New York, opened the opposition with a bitter speech against a proposition which he characterized as one which was intended to loot the Treasury. The World's Fair proposition had so mixed itself up with the Government that it was difficult to tell which was the World's Fair and which was the Government. The remnants of former Congresses had covered the floor so that it could hardly be told whether the present Congress or the heel-taps of former Congresses ran the House. It was a matter of pride with him that he had filibustered against this looting appropriation.

Mr. Fellows of New York eloquently supported the bill. The work, he said, was a Governmental one. The idea of the fair had been born in Congress; it had its inception here. From the start to the finish it was a Governmental work.

The debate continued until 1 o'clock. Much of it was entirely foreign to the question pending and referred to the Commissioner of Pensions. Precisely at 1 o'clock the Chairman of the committee of the whole stated that under the order of the House the committee must rise. Having arisen, the Durborow bill was reported to the House. The pending amendment (and the only one) was a substitute offered by Mr. De Armond, of Missouri, for the first section of the bill. It provides that if the World's Columbian Exposition shall deposit at a mint of the United States a sufficient quantity of silver bullion it shall be coined and delivered to the exposition in half dollar coins in amount not exceeding $5,000,000. The substitute was rejected; yeas, 76; nays, 139.

The roll was then called for the vote on the final passage of the Durborow bill and the result was—yeas, 114; nays, 75. A second call was ordered and the bill was passed by a vote of 131 to 83.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table after a futile effort to filibuster was made by Mr. Bailey of Texas. This passes the bill finally in the House.

NEW CURE FOR PNEUMONIA.

Blood of a Convalescent Injected Into the Sufferer's System.

A novel operation was performed at the Philadelphia hospital by Visiting Physician W. E. Hughes in the presence of the resident staff and nurses, and the result has been so favorable that it is now the opinion of the medical men interested that a new and immediate cure for pneumonia has been discovered.

The operation consisted in a patient who was recovering from the disease being bled, and his blood being infused into the arm of the sufferer. The patient on whom the operation was performed was a white man who had been brought in by the district surgeons. The convalescent from whom blood was extracted was a colored man.

An incision was made in the white man's upper arm, and one of the veins was isolated for about half an inch. After it had been bound and the natural flow of blood stopped, a slit was made in it and a glass tube with a wide aperture was inserted. Then about a pint of blood, extracted from the arm of the colored man, was poured in. Gravity carried it into the veins, and soon the blood was coursing through the man's body. In order that the body should not be supercharged with blood a similar amount was extracted previous to the operation. This was black and unhealthy-looking, while the blood infused was of a bright-red color.

After the operation the man's temperature rose, and symptoms similar to those that were noticed after the Koch lymph injections followed. In a few hours, however, a change for the better set in, and the next morning the man's temperature was normal, and apparently he is a well man.

According to the theory acted upon the system of a convalescent is full of the pneumonia bacteria antidote, and when the blood charged with this is infused into a sufferer it works a cure immediately.

FIGHT FOR LIFE.

A Policeman's Struggle with a Man Who Tried to Kill His Wife and Step daughter.

Charles Daley, a baker 27 years old, who lived with his family at 433 Twelfth street, Detroit, is locked up at the police station in that city on a charge of attempting to murder his wife and the latter's daughter. Mrs. Daley luckily and almost miraculously escaped with her life, but the stepdaughter lies very low at Harper hospital. The shooting attracted the attention of Patrolman Snooks, a neighbor of the Daleys. As soon as Daley saw him he started to run. Snooks followed. The officer was slowly gaining on his man, when the latter whirled around and sent a bullet in close proximity to Snooks' head. The next instant the men met and clinched. It was a fight for life. As Daley saw he was being worsted, he pressed the weapon to the officer's breast and was about to pull the trigger when Snooks succeeded in shoving the weapon down. A terrific struggle followed. Snooks wrested the weapon from Daley and pounded him into submission. He then marched him into the station. Mr. and Mrs. Daley had had frequent quarrels, and the shooting was the result of one of them.

DEPOSITORS DISGUSTED.

Discouraging Result of the Examination of the Bank of El Reno.

The committee appointed by C. L. Severy, assignee of the defunct Bank of El Reno, O. T., has just made a partial statement of the condition of the bank's books and the financial standing of the president of the concern, S. W. Sawyer. The deposits of the bank, as far as the committee has progressed, are shown to be a little over $7,000, but such vehement protests were made by the citizens, that the expert accountants have refused to act further as examiners. Sawyer figured his assets on the books at $20,000, but this amount represents city property, which is nearly all contested and is really of no value at all. The partial statements of the committee have intensified the feeling against Sawyer, and one of the most prominent attorneys in the city said that unless Sawyer or his wife made a speedy settlement with his depositors he would be prosecuted for larceny.

MARS IS A MYSTERY.

ASTRONOMERS HAVE YET PROVED NOTHING.

Prof. Edward S. Holden Tells of the Character of the Work Being Done at the Lick Observatory—Other Observations Being Made.

Fiery Mars in Review.

Lick Observatory has replied to many inquiries received during the present opposition of Mars, by telegraph and by letter, said Prof. Holden the other day. These inquiries indicate widespread interest, but in very many cases, at least, they appear to be based on misapprehension of the kind of work which is now being done on the planet here and elsewhere. The case is not as if astronomers were pushing out on an unknown ocean expecting to find an unknown continent. In such a case the mere announcement of discovery would be all that was needed and expected. The actual circumstances are very different. It is as if some one had undertaken to make a new survey of the State of Arkansas. For example, he would begin by measuring the base lines and by setting stakes and by observing angles and distances. At the end of weeks and months he would have his note-books filled with figures, and after a long season of calculation he would be able to issue a new and accurate map of the region, more accurate, that is, than any preceding one. This is precisely the immediate object of the observations of Mars which are now being made. The circumstances are very favorable in that the planet is unusually near to us. They are rather unfavorable in that the planet is very far south and therefore low down in the sky and subject to atmospheric disturbances. Future oppositions, in which the planet will be seen at greater altitude, will be more favorable, even if the planet be then considerably more distant.

The immediate object of our work is to make the map in question, and we already have enough material to be sure that we can considerably improve existing maps, although some of them are very fine, especially that made by Prof. Schiaparelli, for example. Of course, the ultimate object of all observations is to determine every possible physical peculiarity of the object to be investigated. If it is a planet, we wish to know how nearly it resembles the earth and whether it is fit to be inhabited by beings like ourselves.

With respect to Mars it has been proposed by certain very enthusiastic astronomers to determine the question, Is the planet actually inhabited? and this is a more difficult as well as important question than the mere inquiry as to whether it is fit to be so inhabited. In my opinion the time has not yet come to even speculate on the larger question, and my reason for saying this is that I think it very doubtful if all observations yet made, numerous as they are, are at all sufficient to enable us to pronounce even the lesser inquiry.

There is very little doubt that by and by science will be able to interpret all or nearly all of the phenomena now seen and to arrive at certainties. Just now it must be confessed that only a few things are certainly known with respect to our nearest planetary neighbors. I may say that I observed the planet at the opposition of 1875 and at every opposition since that time, and that my colleagues at Mount Hamilton and myself have faithfully followed the planet at the oppositions of 1888, 1890, and 1892. In fact, we are now giving nearly all the time of the great telescope to this work.

The Lick telescope has a magnifying power of 2,000, which would bring Mars and its moons within an apparent distance of 17,500 miles from the earth at the time of the nearest approach. But Mars hangs at a declination of 22 degrees, and the greatest magnifying power that can be brought to bear upon him will not be over 700, it is thought. That means that Mars can be brought apparently within 50,000 miles of the earth, and will appear through the telescope as if it were an object 50,000 miles away viewed by the naked eye.

WORK FOR TEMPERANCE.

Total Abstinence Union Holding an Interesting Session at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis special: About 1,000 prominent Catholics from all parts of the country are attending the meeting of the National Catholic Total Abstinence Union. To-day's proceedings began with high mass at St. John's. Among the leaders in the Catholic temperance movement who are present at the convention is Father Doyle of New York, who is well known throughout the United States as the leading missionary worker of the Paulus order of New York City. It is likely that he will be selected to superintend the total abstinence literary bureau, as he is considered one of the most energetic workers in that branch.

Father Hanagan, of Philadelphia, is another delegate. He has the honor of being the president of four temperance societies and is noted for his earnest efforts in building up total abstinence unions throughout Pennsylvania.

The most striking delegate in appearance is Father Garland, of Ohio, whose white, wavy hair and finely cut features give him a distinguished appearance.

John O'Brien, the millionaire Catholic of St. Paul, is also present. He was chairman of the St. Paul committee that made the handsome contribution recently of $25,000 toward the endowment of the Father Mathew chair in the University at Washington. One of the interesting addresses was by Father Elliott, of New York, who advocated total abstinence in all the Catholic churches. To-night a mass meeting attended by several thousand Catholics was held in Masonic Hall.

Scientific Drops.

A MAN with a mind for statistics has computed that over sixty-five quadrillions of people have lived on the earth since the beginning of time.

A CONNECTICUT man has patented a new method of plating spoons whereby they are re-enforced at the wearing parts. The method consists in electroplating such points in the blank form when the spoon is made, and then subjecting the surface to pressure. After shaping the article, it is plated and finished in the usual way.

THE ordinary, commonplace soap bubble has recently been playing an important part in experiments on the magnetic qualities of gases, and has proved itself to be one of the toughest and most elastic membranes known. The soap bubble, as a scientific tool in electrical researches, is destined for a useful future.

THE necessary equipment for six miles of electric tramway is now on its way from this country to Siam. Six generators, two complete steam plants, twenty car equipments, and extra parts to last for six months, making up the order. The road is to be installed in Bangkok, and will be the first electric tramway in Siam.

ADVICES from Japan are to the effect that two new forms of insulation for wires have been introduced in that country. One is made of Japanese paper and some kind of vegetable oil, and the other of Japanese wax and chemical compounds. Very high insulation is claimed and the process is said to be remarkably cheap.

THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

WORK OF OUR NATIONAL LAWMAKERS.

Proceedings of the Senate and House of Representatives—Important Measures Discussed and Acted Upon—Gist of the Business.

The National Solons.

The House committee on the 2d finished investigating Mr. Watson's charges of drunkenness and a not guilty majority report will be presented. Another deadlock day was passed in the House, but the friends of the Fair promise to take a more aggressive stand. In the Senate a select committee of seven was appointed to investigate and report the facts in relation to the employment of armed bodies for private purpose.

On the 3d, President Harrison vetoed the bill to give the Court of Claims jurisdiction over land-patent cases. In the House nothing was done except filibustering and making motions to kill time. At a caucus of the Democratic members of the House it was decided to take the motion to reconsider the World's Fair appropriation, send the sundry civil bill to the Senate in conference and in the meantime take up in the House the Durborow bill amended so as to make a $2,500,000 gift to the World's Fair. In the Senate a resolution was introduced and referred to have all the courts martial of the last ten years reported to the Senate.

In the Senate, on the 4th, the appropriation extension was agreed to, but the Senators did not ask for a conference on the sundry civil bill. In the House it was voted to extend the civil appropriations until Aug. 13, to reconsider the $5,000,000 appropriation and send the sundry civil bill to the Senate for conference. The Durborow bill was considered in committee of the whole.

At 11 p. m. the 5th, the United States Senate and House of Representatives adjourned sine die. President Harrison as soon as Congress finally adjourned left for Loon Lake to join Mrs. Harrison. Unanimously the House Committee on Ways and Means reported adversely on the sub-treasury scheme, holding it to be unconstitutional. The Durborow bill, giving $2,500,000 to the World's Columbian Exposition, passed by the Senate without a division, and by the President's signature became a law.

TRADE IS IMPROVING.

July's Volume Was Fifteen Per Cent. Above Last Year.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

In every respect save one the business outlook distinctly improves. The heavy sales of American stocks by foreign holders continue and draw large amounts of gold from the country, indicating foreign distrust of American finances.

It is within the mark to say that the volume of trade in July, as indicated by clearing-house exchanges, is fully 15 per cent. larger than last year and greater than in any previous year, in spite of the decline of 5 per cent. in prices since a year ago.

Imports are enormous, exceeding last year's over 19 per cent. the last month, which is proof of great activity in domestic manufactures and consumption.

Speculation has made higher prices for breadstuffs, half a cent for wheat in spite of receipts at the West exceeding 1,000,000 bushels a day, with exports of 800,000 bushels in three days.

Corn has been advanced nearly 5 cents in small sales, and oats 2¾ cents, Western reports favoring shorter estimates.

Cotton has declined ⅛ on sales of 596,000 bales for the week, crop reports being more favorable. Coffee is ⅛ stronger and oil ⅜ lower.

Business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days number 184, as compared with a total of 193 last week. The corresponding week of last year the figures were 231.

BROKE CHRISTIE'S BANK.

A Stranger in Kansas City Makes a Gambling Concern Close Its Doors.

The Christie Grain and Commission Company, which does a gambling business in fictitious mining stocks at Kansas City, Mo., closed its doors Wednesday afternoon because one of its customers, a stranger, gave every indication of intention and ability to break the bank. The Christie company is a branch of a Chicago concern run by a man named Valentine. The scheme is what is known as the "clock" scheme. Tuesday a stranger showed up at Christie's place and began to play the game. He won $900. Wednesday he began to play again and won just as rapidly, and the house, after paying him several hundred dollars, closed down still owing him $600. He is supposed to be one of a gang of sharpers who "got onto" the combination in some manner and who have been working all the branches of the Chicago concern. Christie says he will reopen for business shortly.

On the Diamond.

Following is a showing of the standing of each of the teams of the different associations.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	Pc.		W.	L.	Pc.
Cleveland	13	5	.722	Cincinnati	9	9	.500
Boston	12	6	.667	Washington	8	11	.421
Brooklyn	12	7	.632	Pittsburg	7	10	.412
New York	10	7	.588	Chicago	7	11	.389
Baltimore	10	8	.556	Louisville	6	12	.333
Philadelp'ia	9	9	.500	St. Louis	5	13	.278

ILLINOIS-IOWA LEAGUE

	W.	L.	Pc.		W.	L.	Pc.
Joliet	21	18	.538	Rockford	21	20	.512
R. I.-Moline	20	18	.526	Jacksonville	17	23	.425

WISCONSIN-MICHIGAN LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	Pc.		W.	L.	Pc.
Menominee	24	14	.632	Marinette	18	22	.450
Oshkosh	24	18	.571	Green Bay	18	25	.419
Ish'ing-Neg.	25	20	.556	Marquette	17	29	.396

Too Much Rot About Mars.

Owing to the wide interest excited over the possible results of the present observations of the planet Mars by experts at the Lick observatory, Prof. Edward S. Holden, in charge of observations at Mount Hamilton, has telegraphed as follows: "There is absolutely nothing to be said about our Mars observations from night to night, or about our observations of the whole year, even, until after the work has been gone over with care and a map made of our results, which will take until October next at least. All or nearly all of the present excitement over Mars is merely exaggeration and sham excitement, utterly useless to the people in general as it is harmful to true science."

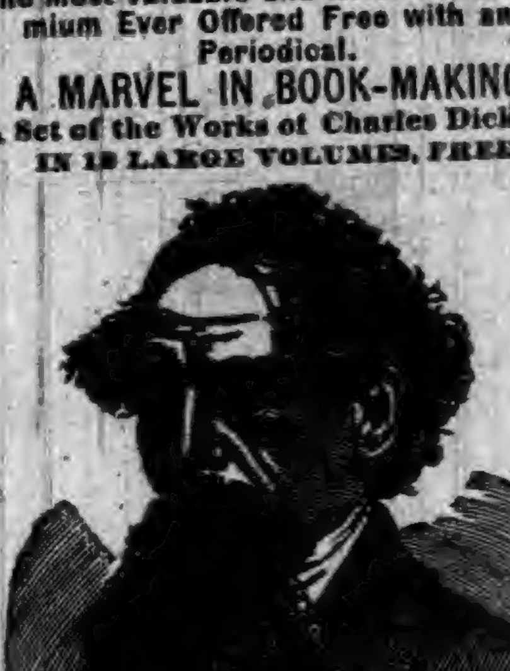
Torturer Streator.

THE press generally characterizes the punishment of Private Iams by Col. Streator, of the Pennsylvania militia, as entirely without the pale of even military discipline.—Duluth News.

THE young militiaman's enthusiasm in a bad cause got the better of him, but shaving his head, hanging him by the thumbs until insensibility came to his relief, stripping him of his uniform and drumming him out of camp to the tune of "The Rogue's March" was carrying matters to as great an extreme as the clubbing of the defenseless Pinkertons and the shooting and stabbing of Mr. Frick.—Louisville Times.

PRIVATE IAMS' "fool speech," coming from a soldier in the State's service who had been summoned to duty for the express purpose of preventing murder and riot, was, as a matter of course, wholly indefensible. The man should have at once been put under guard, charges should have been duly preferred against him, and his case should have awaited the decision of a properly constituted court-martial. The fact that such an utterance was publicly made offers no warrant whatever for the perpetration of an act of gross and despotic cruelty, alike unsoldierly and un-American.—Boston Globe.

A COMPLETE SET OF THE WORKS OF
CHARLES DICKENS
FREE!
The Most Valuable and Remarkable Premium Ever Offered Free with any Periodical.
A MARVEL IN BOOK-MAKING.
A Set of the Works of Charles Dickens, IN 12 LARGE VOLUMES, FREE.



There has just been published A Set of the Works of Charles Dickens, in Large and Handsome Volumes, printed from entirely new plates, with new type. By special arrangement with the publishers we are enabled to offer to our patrons this splendid set of Dickens' Works, postpaid, free. Charles Dickens was the greatest novelist who ever lived. No author before or since his time has won the fame that he achieved, and his works are even more popular to-day than during his lifetime. They abound in wit, humor, pathos, masterly delineation of character, vivid descriptions of places and incidents, thrilling and skillfully wrought plots. Each book is intensely interesting. No home should be without a set of these great and remarkable works. Not to have read them is to be far behind the age in which we live. The twelve volumes in this set contain the following world-famous works, each one of which is published complete, unchanged and absolutely unabridged:

DAVID COPPERFIELD,
MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT,
NICHOLAS NICKLEBY,
DOMBEY AND SON,
BLEAK HOUSE,
LITTLE DORRIT,
OUR MUTUAL FRIEND,
PICKWICK PAPERS,
BARNABY RUDGE AND CHRISTMAS STORIES,
OLIVER TWIST AND GREAT EXPECTATIONS,
THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP AND THE UNCOMMERCIAL TRAVELER,
A TALE OF TWO CITIES, HARD TIMES, AND THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD.

THE PLAN.

We will send a complete set of these books FREE by mail, postage paid, guaranteeing safe delivery, as follows: To any old subscriber, who sends one dollar, and renews their subscription to either of the following publications for one year:

THE PEOPLE'S LITERARY COMPANION,
—OR—
The National Farmer and Home Magazine

To any new subscriber, who sends one dollar for either of the above periodicals for one year.

This is the grandest offer ever made, and the greatest bargain ever offered. Up to this time the price of a complete set of Dickens' Works has been ten dollars or more. The use of modern, improved printing, folding and stitching machinery, the present extremely low price of white paper, and the great competition in the book trade are the factors which made this wonderful offer possible. Bear in mind that we offer, not a single volume, but the entire set of twelve volumes all free to subscribers. All may now afford the luxury of owning a handsome set of Dickens' works. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Do not neglect or put off this wonderful opportunity. Send at once; you will be delighted with the charming books, and, as long as you live, never cease to regard it as the best investment of a dollar you ever made. Address all communications to

E. C. ALLEN & CO., Augusta, Maine.

IF YOU CAN READ

and write, and are possessed of fair intelligence, you are fully qualified to make a grand success of what we offer you. We have lately published at great expense and labor a perfect wonder in the way of an illustrated Gift Book, suitable to all classes, an ornament to any home, and at a price that brings it within the reach of all, even those of moderate means. Heretofore only those who indulged in luxuries have felt that they could afford a book of this class, as they are sold in book stores at $5.00 and upwards. The book which we offer is not in any way inferior to those above referred to, but is far superior to hundreds of books of this nature that are sold at prices exceeding ours by an enormous per cent. It is selling with a rush wherever shown. Agents have only to show the book and mention the price, and it sells on its merits without further talking. No better Christmas, New Year's or Birthday present can be selected. It will sell, not only for holiday trade, but at all seasons of the year, for the reason that all will want it in their homes, and will have it as soon as they know the low price at which our agents can furnish them. Reader if you need profitable employment, and a business in which you can and will take pride, as well as make money rapidly, do not fail to send for circulars containing private terms to agents, and full information, which will be sent FREE upon application. Old and new agents alike are making handsome salaries—yes, fortunes. Many of those who are making the best records are new at the agency business, having had no previous experience. ☞ Make a start—the field is entirely new. No such terms have been offered agents as we now offer on this wonderful book. Special qualifications not necessary, for it sells everywhere at sight. Perhaps you have at some time been unsuccessful at the agency business. If so, there is every reason why you should try this, the PRINCE of gift books, as failure is impossible if you make A START. Write us to-day, study our circulars and directions, then order an outfit and go to work with push and energy. You may make the greatest mistake of your life, if you allow this GOLDEN opportunity to pass unimproved. E. C. Allen & Co., Box 202, Augusta, Maine.

SHALL WE START YOU

in a pleasant and successful business, that will bring you money rapidly and honorably? A grand opportunity for one person in each locality, young or old, of either sex, wherever you live. Reader, it is a royal chance for you, and such a one as may never again come to your attention in a lifetime. Beginners easily secure an income of $30 to $50 per week from the very start, and much more as the business becomes established. YOU can earn as much as any one. There is not the slightest risk on your part. No capital required. We start you FREE, and furnish everything needed to carry on the business successfully. Hundreds just starting report wonderful success and great profits. Will you write us, and take advantage of this grand offer, or will you delay and allow others to profit by it. We leave it for you to decide, but we tell you frankly that you will lose the golden opportunity of your life if you fail to test the business now. Act quickly and your reward is sure. Address E. C. ALLEN & CO., BOX 204, AUGUSTA, MAINE.

The Old Reliable
DR WARD
OFFICE, ST. LOUIS, MO. Special attention given to all diseases or troubles in male or female, married or single, brought about by exposure, abuses, excesses or improprieties.
THE OLD DOCTOR, Of 38 years' successful experience, may be consulted by mail, or at the office, free of charge.
☞ Reliable, Skillful Treatment Guaranteed.
Board and apartments furnished to those who desire personal care. Send P. O. stamp for circulars, etc.
FREE TRIAL In Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality, Weakness and Decay, sent free for 12 cts. postage. Address letters,
Dr. Ward Office, 117 N. 8th Street, St. Louis, Mo.

☞ ANY LADY can get a valuable secret that cost me $5.00, and a rubber shield for 30 cents. Mrs. V. M. APP. CO., 115 N. 8th STREET, ST. LOUIS, MO.

ARTIST WAINWRIGHT.

The Adventures Abroad of a Painter from America.

BY SIDNEY LUSKA.

CHAPTER III.

That afternoon I again found myself in the Bischofsplatz. At X—— one is constantly finding one's self in the Bischofsplatz. Nearly all the streets of the little capital give upon it; and the cathedral is there, and the Bishop's palace, and the Mormorhof, and the principal cafe; and it is there that the military band plays of a pleasant evening.

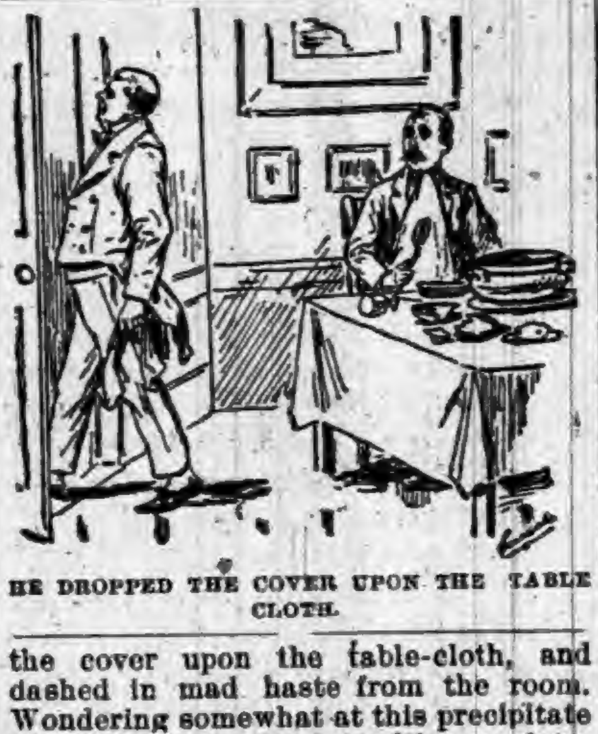
At one of the open-air tables of the cafe I was seated, when a man passed me, clad in the brown garb of a Franciscan monk. He had a pointed black beard, this monk, and a pair of flashing dark eyes, and, though he quickly drew his head into his cowl at our conjunction, I had no difficulty whatever in identifying him with my queerly hirsuit fiddler friend and prison mate, Sebastian Roch.

"Dear me! he has become a monk. It must have been a singularly swift conversion," thought I, looking after him with some wonder.

He marched straight across the Bischofsplatz and into the court-yard of the Mormorhof, where he was lost to my view.

"The beggar! He is one of Conrad's spies," I concluded. And I searched my memory to recall if I had said anything of a nature that might compromise me in the course of our conversation.

A few hours later I sat down to my dinner in the best parlor of the Hotel de Rome. It is a small hostelry, though the biggest that X—— possesses, patronized chiefly by commercial travelers and special envoys. Baedeker commends it with an asterisk, which it deserves, being both cheap and good. Mine host rejoices in the name of Hildebrandt Strumpf, and on the occasion in question no less a person than himself was serving me. Scarcely, however, had he lifted the cover from my tureen of noodle soup, when, suddenly, and without a breath of apology, he dropped the cover upon the table-cloth, and dashed in mad haste from the room. Wondering somewhat at this precipitate conduct, I was about to fill my plate, when I was arrested in the act by a great noise of hurrying feet upon the pavement without. People were running and calling to each other, and altogether there was so much tumult that I said to myself, "Ah, another mob!" Then I, too, left the parlor, and hastened to the street door of the inn.



HE DROPPED THE COVER UPON THE TABLE CLOTH.

There I discovered honest Strumpf and honest Mrs. Strumpf, supported by the entire personnel of their establishment, from the boots to the billiard-marker, all agape with astonishment, as three loquacious citizens poured news into their ears.

"Otto is dead," said the first citizen. "He died at sixteen minutes past six—more than an hour ago."

"But that is nothing," cried the second citizen. "The great news is this. Listen to me——"

"No, to me," interposed a third. "I have it directly from one of the sentinels at the palace. The pretender, Conrad, has been knifed like a pig; and jolly well he deserved it, too. It was between four and five o'clock this afternoon. A monk, a young monk, a Franciscan, presented himself at the Marmorhof, and demanded an audience of the Prince. The palace guard—and it is straight from one of them that I have the story—of course refused him admittance; but he was determined, and so at last the Prince's chamberlain gave him a hearing. The upshot was he wrote a word or two upon a slip of paper, sealed it up with wax, and begged that it might be delivered to his highness forthwith, swearing that it contained information of the utmost importance to his welfare. The chamberlain conveyed his paper to the Prince, who, directly he had read it, uttered a great oath, and ordered that the monk be ushered into his presence and that they be left alone together. Alone accordingly they were left. More than an hour passed. At a little after six arrived the news of the death of the old Duke. An officer entered the Prince's chamber to report it him. There, if you please, he found his highness stretched out dead upon the floor, with a knife in his heart; the monk had vanished. They could find no trace whatever of his whereabouts. Also had vanished the paper he had sent in to the Prince, but, what the police regard as an important clue, he had left another paper, twisted around the handle of the dagger, whereon was scrawled in a disguised hand: 'In the country of the blind the one-eyed men may be kings, but Conrad only squinted!' "

"The grand point of it all you have omitted," put in the second citizen. "It is this. Shut up in an inner apartment of the Marmorhof, they have found the hereditary Grand Duchess Mathilde alive and well! Conrad has been keeping her a prisoner there these two weeks."

The tidings thus delivered by these worthies proved to be substantially correct.

"The Duke is dead! Long live the Duchess!" cried the populace.

It was like a delightful old-fashioned blood-and-thunder opera, and I was almost behind the scenes. But oh! that hypocritical young ribald monk, Sebastian Roch! What had become of him? Would he keep his promise to look me up? The police were said to be prosecuting a diligent endeavor to look him up, but with, as yet, no positive results.

Of course, upon the accession of the new ruler to the throne all the loyal print-shops of the town displayed her highness' portraits for sale—photographs and chromo-lithographs; you paid your money and you took your choice. These represented her as a slight young woman, with a delicate, interesting face, a somewhat sarcastic mouth, a great abundance of yellowish hair, and, in striking contrast to this chevelure, a pair of brilliant dark eyes. I could not for the life of me have explained it, but there was something in her face that annoyed me with a sense of familiarity, a sense of having seen it before, though I was sure I never had. In the course of a fortnight, however, I did see her—caught a flying glimpse of her as she drove through the Marktstrasse in her victoria, attended by all manner of pomp and circumstance. She lay back upon her cushions, looking pale and interesting, but sadly bored; and again I experienced that exasperating sensation of having seen her somewhere—where? when? how?—before.

CHAPTER IV.

One night I was awakened from my slumbers by a violent knocking at my door. "Who's there?" I demanded, not too amiably. "What's the matter?"

"Open! Open, in the name of the Grand Duchess!" commanded a deep bass voice.

"Good heavens! What can the row be now?" I wondered.

"Open, or we break in the door," cried the voice.

"You must really give me time to put something on," I protested, and hurriedly wrapped myself in some clothes.

Then I opened the door.

A magnificently uniformed young officer stepped quickly into the room, followed by three gendarmes with drawn sabers.

The officer inclined his head slightly toward me, and said, "Herr Veinricht, ich glaube?"

His was not the voice that I had heard through the door; it was a much softer voice, and much more high in pitch. Somehow it did not seem altogether the voice of a stranger to me; and yet the face of a stranger his face emphatically was. It was a very florid face, surmounted by a growth of short red hair, and decorated by a bristling red mustache. His eyes were overhung by bushy red eyebrows, and, in the uncertain candle light, I could not make out their color.

"Yes, I am Herr Veinricht," I admitted, accepting this German version of my name.

"English?" he questioned shortly.

"No, not English. American, if you please."

"Macht nichts! I arrest you, in the name of the Grand Duchess."

"Arrest me! Will you be good enough to inform me upon what charge?"

"Upon the charge of consorting with dangerous characters, and being an enemy to the tranquillity of the state. You will please to dress as quickly as possible. A carriage awaits you below."

"Good Lord, they have somehow connected me with that infamous fiddler, Sebastian Roch," I groaned inwardly, and I began to put certain finishing touches to my toilet.

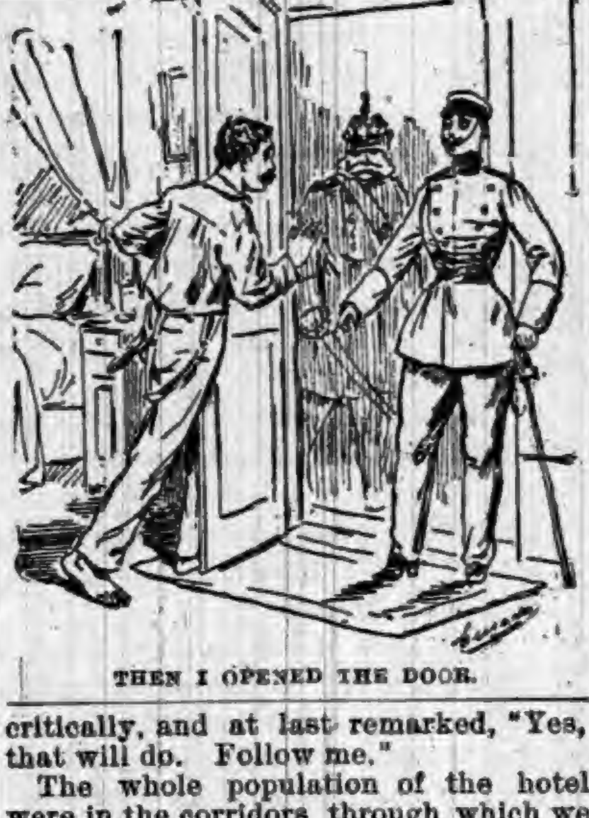
"No, no!" cried the officer. "You must put on your dress suit. Are you so ignorant of criminal etiquette as not to know that state prisoners are required to wear their dress suits?"

"It seems a very absurd regulation," said I, "but I will put on my dress suit."

"We will await you outside your door, but let me warn you, should you attempt to escape through your window you will be shot in a hundred places," said the officer, as he retired with his minions.

I donned my dress suit and opened the door.

The officer looked me over somewhat critically, and at last remarked, "Yes, that will do. Follow me."



THEN I OPENED THE DOOR.

The whole population of the hotel were in the corridors through which we passed, and crowded after us to the street. A closed carriage was waiting there, with four horses attached, each horse bearing a postillion. Three other horses, saddled, were tied to posts about the hotel entrance. These the gendarmes mounted.

"Will you be good enough to enter the carriage?" said the officer.

But my spirit rose in arms.

"I insist upon knowing what I am arrested for. I want to understand the definite charge against me."

"I am not a magistrate, sir. Will you kindly enter the carriage?"

"Oh, this is a downright outrage," I declared, and entered the carriage.

The officer leaped in after me; the door was slammed to; the postillions yelled at their horses; off we drove, followed by the rhythmical clank-clank of the gendarmes.

"I should really like to get at the meaning of all this, you know," I informed my captor.

"I must caution you that whatever you say will be remembered, and, if incriminating, used against you," he replied.

"It is a breach of international comity," said I.

"Oh, we are the best of friends with England," said he.

"But I am an American," said I.

"Macht nichts!" said he

"Macht nichts?" I echoed, angrily. "You think so? I shall bring the case to the notice of the Minister of the United States, and you shall see."

"How! And precipitate a war between two friendly nations? Unfeeling monster!"

"You laugh! But who laughs last laughs best, and I promise you the Grand Duchy of X—— shall be made to pay for this pleasantry with a vengeance."

"This is not the first time that you have been arrested while in these dominions," he said sternly. "And I must remind you that lese majeste is a hanging matter."

"Lese majeste!" I repeated, half in scorn, half in terror.

"Ja wohl, mein Herr," he answered. "But after all, I am but obeying orders," he added, with an inflection almost apologetic.

Where had I heard that curious, soft voice before? A voice so soft that his German sounded almost like Italian.

Meanwhile we had driven straight across the town, past the walls, and into the open country. The night air, puffing in through the open carriage window, was sweet with the odors of dew-laden grass and vibrant with the humming of a million insects.

"You are perhaps conducting me to the frontier," I suggested, deriving some relief from the fancy.

"Oh, hardly so far as that, let us hope," he rejoined, with what struck me as a suppressed chuckle.

"Far!" I cried. "Can you use the word in speaking of a pocket-handkerchief?"

"It is small, but it is picturesque; it is paintable," said he; "and, what is more, by every syllable you utter against it, you weave a strand into your halter and drive a nail into your coffin."

The night was intensely dark, and I could see no further into it than the few yards of roadway illuminated by our carriage lamps. We drove on in silence, for perhaps a half hour longer. Then at last the horses' hoofs resounded upon stone, and we drew up. My officer descended from the carriage; I followed him. We were standing under a massive archway, a sort of porte-cochere, lighted by a hanging lantern. Before a small door pierced in the stone wall fronting us a sentinel was posted, with his musket presented in salute.

The three mounted gendarmes sprang from their saddles.

"Farewell, Herr Weinricht," said my officer. "I have enjoyed our drive together more than I can tell you. If we should never meet again in this world, let us hope we shall do so in another and a better." Then, turning to his subordinates: "Conduct this gentleman to the tower chamber," he commanded.

The sentry stood aside. One of the gendarmes preceding me, the other two coming behind, I was conveyed up a narrow winding stone staircase, into a big octagon-shaped room.

The room was lighted by innumerable candles set in sconces round the walls. It was comfortably, even richly, furnished, and decorated with a considerable degree of taste. A vast wormhued Persian carpet covered the stone floor; books, pictures, biblots, were scattered discriminatingly about; and in one corner there stood a grand piano, open, with a violin and bow lying on it.

The gendarmes bowed themselves out, shutting the door behind them with an ominous clangor.

"If this is to be my dungeon cell," I thought, "I shall not be so uncomfortable after all. But how preposterous of them to force me to wear my dress-suit."

I threw myself into an easy chair, buried my face in my hands and tried to reflect upon my situation.

Suddenly I was disturbed by the sound of a light little cough behind me, a discreet little ahem.

I looked quickly up.

A lady had entered the apartment, and was standing in the middle of it, smiling in contemplation of my despairing attitude.

"Good heavens," I gasped, but not audibly, as her face grew clear to my startled sight, "the Grand Duchess herself!"

"I am glad to see you, Mr. Wainright," her highness began in English, but slightly continental. "X—— is a dull little place—oh, believe me, the dullest of its size in Christendom—and they tell me you are an amusing man."

Now, of course the reader has foreseen it from the outset; otherwise why should I be detaining him with this anecdote? But upon me it came as a thunderbolt, and in my emotion I forgot myself and exclaimed aloud: "Sebastian Roch!" The face of the Grand Duchess had haunted me with a sense of familiarity; the voice of my red-headed officer in the carriage had seemed not strange to me; but now that I saw the face, and heard the voice, tinged by that slight foreign quality of English, at one and the same time, all was clear.

"Sebastian Roch!"

"You said?" the gracious lady queried, arching her eyes.

"Nothing, madame. I was about to thank your highness for your kindness, but——"

"But your mind wandered, and you made some irrelevant military observation about a bastion rock. It is perhaps aphasia."

"Yes, very probably," assented I.

"But you are a man of honor, are you not?"

"I hope so."

"The English generally are. You can keep a state secret, especially when you happen to have learned it by a sort of accident, can you not?"

"I am a very tomb for such things, madame."

"That is well. And, besides, you must consider that not all homicide is murder. Sometimes one is driven to kill in self-defense."

"I have not a doubt of that."

"I am only sorry it should all have happened before you saw his squint. It would have pleased your sense of humor. X—— is the dullest little principality," she went on, "oh, but dull, dull, dull! I am sometimes forced in despair to perpetrate little jokes. Yet you have actually stopped here five weeks. It must be as they say, that the English people take their pleasures sadly. You are a painter, I am told."

"Yes, your highness, I make a shift at painting."

"And I at fiddling. But I lack a discriminating audience. I think you had better paint my portrait. I will fiddle to you to your heart's content. Between whiles we will talk. Sometimes, I may tell you, I smoke cigarettes; one must have some excitement. We will try to enliven things a little, to galvanize a little life into this corpsely court. Do you think we shall succeed?"

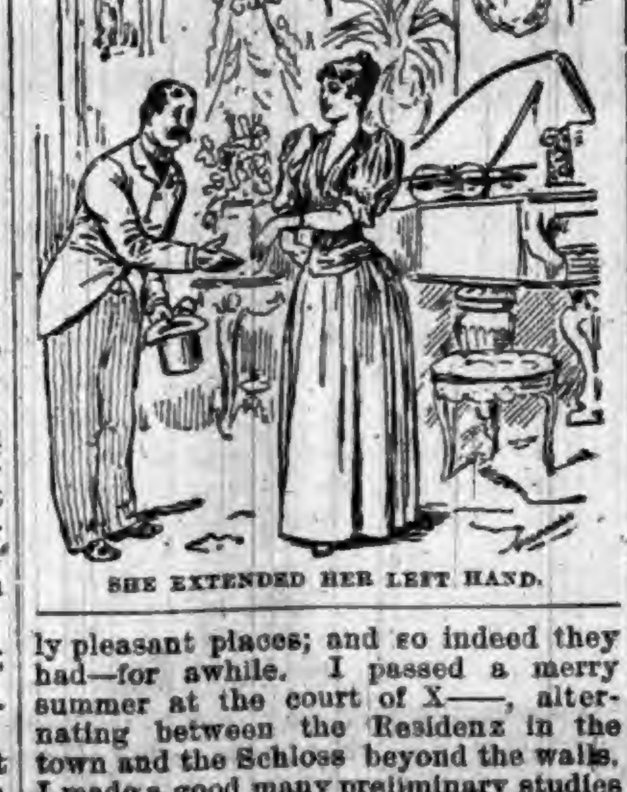
"Oh, I should not despair of doing so."

"That is nice of you. I have a most ridiculous high chancellor; you might draw caricatures of him. And my first lady of the chamber has a preposterous lisp. I do hope I shall be amused."

As she spoke she extended her left hand toward me. I took it and was about to give it a friendly shake.

"No, no, not that," said she. "Oh, I forgot; you are an American and a democrat, and the simplest a b c of court etiquette is Sanskrit to you. Must I tell you what to do?"

To cut a long story short, I thought my lines had fallen unto me in extremely pleasant places; and so indeed they had—for awhile. I passed a merry summer at the court of X——, alternating between the Residenz in the town and the Schloss beyond the walls. I made a good many preliminary studies for the Princess' portrait, while she played with her violin; and between times, as she had promised, we talked, practiced court etiquette, smoked cigarettes, and laughed at scandal. But when I began upon the final canvas I, at least, had to become a little grave; I wanted to make a masterpiece of it.



SHE EXTENDED HER LEFT HAND.

We had two or three sittings, during which I worked away in grim silence, and the Grand Duchess yawned.

Then one night I was again aroused from the middle of my slumbers, taken in custody by a gray-bearded colonel of dragoons, conducted to a closed carriage, and driven abroad through the darkness. When our carriage came to a stand-still, we found ourselves in the Austrian village of Z——, across the X—— frontier. There my colonel bade me good-by. At the same time he handed me an envelope. I hastened to tear it open. Upon a sheet of paper in a pretty feminine hand, I read these words:

"You promised to amuse me. But it seems you take your droll British art au grand serieux. We have better portrait painters among our natives; and you will find models cheap and plentiful at Z——. Farewell."

[THE END.]

(Copyrighted by the Authors' Alliance; all rights reserved.)

Novelist and Cook.

When Balzac, the famous French novelist, was actually engaged in the labor of composition, he lived in the most frugal monner, absorbed in work and neglectful of the table. Rose, his cook, used to fall into despair when her master, during these months of production, neglected her dainty dishes. One of his friends writes:

I have seen her come into his room on tiptoe, bringing a delicious consomme, and trembling with eagerness to see him drink it. Balzac would catch sight of her; then he would toss back his mane of hair with an impatient jerk of his head, and exclaim, in his roughest and most surly voice:

"Rose, go away. I don't want any thing; let me alone!"

"But mossieu will ruin his health if he goes on this way; mossieu will fall ill!"

"No, no! let me alone, I say," he would thunder. "I don't want anything. You worry me; go away!"

Then the good soul would turn very slowly, muttering:

"To take such pains to please mossieu! And such a soup! How good it smells! Why should mossieu keep me in his service if he doesn't want what I do for him?"

This was too much for Balzac. He called her back, drank the soup at a gulp, and said, in his kindest voice, as she went off radiant to her kitchen:

"Now, Rose, don't let this happen again."

Yet it did happen again whenever the stress of composition began, for so beloved was the great worker by his servants that they would brave abuse and displeasure for his good.

Advertising that Pays.

On Friday an advertiser who has sent us a good many checks, says the Northwestern Lumberman, comfortably filled a good-sized arm chair, and during his stay talked considerably about advertising. "When I buy advertising, he said, I want to feel assured that the paper in which I have space goes to the men whom I desire to reach, and further that the people to whom it goes have a good opinion of it. I place my advertising on that basis. I used to think that I did not receive my money's worth unless I could trace a certain number of sales to some particular "ad." I am over that. I meet the demand of machinery in my line, and having done that I want to be known, and known all the time. I advertise, say in a dozen papers, and a man comes along and buys a big bill of goods. Can he tell me what particular paper directed him to my works? No, not once in a hundred times. I have been advertising for years so he may know where I am, and when he wants to buy he comes to me. Make first-class machinery, let everybody know where the machinery can be had, and then treat your customers white is the way to get business." That man knew what he was talking about.

Anecdotes of Charlie.

I must tell you one anecdote of our friend Charlie which is perhaps the most curious of any I have to record. There were two young boys, brothers, in the house, and their mother. Charlie's mistress was in the habit of calling them by name, Reginald and Albert, using certain familiar contractions when she did so. It was no wonder that Charlie caught these up; but what will be said of such an application of them as the following? The bird, as with most parrots, was not allowed water in his cage, so when thirsty he would call, in what may be termed his own voice:

"Reggie! Reggie—Reggie or Bertie! Charlie wants some water!"

Charlie has a great fondness for the paste of which pie crust is made, and this being known he was often treated to a piece. He naturally looked for this, and when forgotten he would invite himself to have some in the form of words which had doubtless often been used by his mistress. He would say:

"Charlie, do you like paste? Will you have a bit?" This would be said in the voice of his mistress or her daughter. He would then add, in quite a changed tone, "Oh rather!"

Doubts as to Truth and Duty.

Every thinking mind is liable at times to doubt both as to truth and duty. But a thoughtful mind will not formulate its doubts or regard them as convictions. If doubt is to some a natural phase of thought, it is also temporary, unless it is unwisely wrought into conduct. One who sincerely endeavors to live aright cannot long remain astray. Act on the truth which is admitted; do the duty which is plain and doubt as to the next step in either will soon pass away. The experience of life to the honest heart nearly always works to the confirmation of faith and to fidelity in duty.

Must Write Something.

This bit of dialogue from the New York Weekly may explain how so many uncharitable things get into the newspapers:

Space reporter—Can't you give me something to write up to-day?

City editor—Haven't a thing.

Space reporter—Well, then, give me somebody to write down.

Shopping in Chili.

In the town and cities of Chili all the shopping of any consequence is done in the evening. In Santiago the stores are open till midnight and during hot afternoons they are locked up.

NEVER MELTS. FREEZES. GUMS.
CONTAINS NO PETROLEUM OR ACIDS TO DESTROY AXLES.
AXLE GREASE WISE CHICAGO, ILL. WISE AXLE GREASE NEVER GUMS.
Tested by the public for 20 years.
"WISE" AXLE GREASE.
A PURE VEGETABLE GREASE. EVERY BOX GUARANTEED.
Try "Wise" on one side of your wagon and castor oil or any other kind of grease on the other side, and you will find the "Wise" will wear the longest.
It keeps machinery from rusting and cures scratches on horses.
Try a box and you will use no other.
Ask Your Dealer For It, Or
CLARK & WISE CO., CHICAGO.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
CURE
Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing
SICK
Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured
HEAD
Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head
ACHE
Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.
Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., New York.
SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE

EXCELLENT COFFEE
THE exquisite taste and flavor of Vienna Coffee can only be obtained by using two parts of Coffee to one part of
EMIL SEELIG'S KAFFEE
This is the best, cheapest and most healthful coffee mixture.
A DELICIOUS
BEVERAGE
TRY IT!
Ask Your Grocer for It.
SAMPLE BY MAIL FREE.
Address, Sole Agents for U. S.,
ROSENSTEIN BROS.
317 and 319 Greenwich Street,
NEW YORK.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.
Beauty, Health and Grace Combined—
What More can Woman Desire.
Volta-Medico Spinal Appliance,
COMBINED WITH AN
ABDOMINAL AND HOSE SUPPORTER.
They are electrical as well as medicated and are recommended for all Female Weaknesses, General and Nervous Debility, Liver and Kidney Troubles, Headaches, Malaria, Rheumatism, Spinal Diseases, Heart Diseases, Cold Extremities, all Bilious Disorders, Impoverished Blood, Impaired Circulation—in fact all Diseases of the Blood, Stomach or Liver, or where there is a lack of vigor and failing health.
They are not only comforting and strengthening to the wearer, but bring about beauty of form. Shapeless figures made symmetrical in form in from three to six months. Appliances guaranteed. Send stamp for circulars and full information. Address,
VOLTA-MEDICO APPLIANCE CO.,
15 N. 8th St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

FREE-TO MEN.
When you get tired of the "doctors" with their big prices and quack remedies, write to me and I will send (sealed) FREE a prescription that will quickly and certainly cure lost power, wasting weakness, lack of development, impotency, varicocele, etc., from excesses or other causes. A New Positive Remedy which cures when everything else fails. Address
J. D. HOUSE, Box 635, ALBION, MICH.

ROYAL SEWING MACHINE
WARRANTED 5 YEARS
Has a Large High Arm.
Has a Self-setting Needle.
Has a Self-threading Shuttle.
Has No Equal in Construction.
Has a Mechanical Appearance.
Has an Elegant Finish.
Has a Perfect Adjustment.
Has a Positive Take-up.
Has Stylish Furniture.
Has More Good Sewing Qualities and does a Larger Range of General Work than any Sewing Machine in the World.
Examine THE ROYAL for points of excellence; and you will buy no other.
ROYAL S. M. CO., Rockford, Ill.

GANTER'S MAGIC —CHICKEN— CHOLERA CURE!
Thousands of dollars worth of chickens are destroyed by Cholera every year. It is more fatal to them than all other diseases combined. But the discovery of a liquid remedy that positively destroys the Microbes has been made. Half of the young chickens are killed by Microbes before they are fryers. A 50-cent bottle is enough for 100 chickens. It is guaranteed. If, after using two thirds of a bottle, you are not satisfied with it as a cure for Cholera, return it to the druggist from whom you purchased it, and he will refund your money.
For Sale by ROBBINS & McCORD, Druggists, Auburn, Ind.

TO WEAK MEN
Suffering from the effects of youthful errors, early decay, wasting weakness, lost manhood, etc., I will send a valuable treatise (sealed) containing full particulars for home cure, FREE of charge. A splendid medical work; should be read by every man who is nervous and debilitated. Address,
Prof. F. C. FOWLER, Moodus, Conn.

WILLIAMS' LINIMENT.
THE GREAT CURE FOR SPAVIN
AND ALL KINDS OF LAMENESS.
THE ONE STANDARD REMEDY FOR THE HORSE
$150 FOR $1 INVESTED.
I used all known remedies for spavin and failed till Williams' Liniment came, and with it I effected a cure, and added $150 to the value of the mare. Since then I have recommended the Liniment repeatedly, and have heard nothing of it but praise. It is now three years, and I am still driving the mare, and she has shown no signs of spavin or lameness since.
A. G. SMALLEY, Boston.
EVERY STABLE NEEDS IT.
FOR SALE By all leading dealers and wholesalers—Take no other.
$1.00 A BOTTLE, 6 BOTTLES FOR $5.00
Or send $10 for one doz., Express paid anywhere in the U. S.
J. ALLEN RICE, Proprietor.
LABORATORY—MILFORD, MASS.
SEND FOR CIRCULAR.

None Such CONDENSED Mince Meat
Makes an every-day convenience of an old-time luxury. Pure and wholesome. Prepared with scrupulous care. Highest award at all Pure Food Expositions. Each package makes two large pies. Avoid imitations—and insist on having the NONE SUCH brand.
MERRELL & SOULE, Syracuse, N. Y.

LOVELY COMPLEXION BEAUTIFUL FORM.
Blemishes, such as FRECKLES, MOTH PATCHES, LIVER SPOTS, BLOTCHES, TAN, PIMPLES, BLACK HEADS, ROUGHNESS, or any discoloration removed, rendering the skin soft, velvety & beautiful.
The form developed — made PLUMP AND BEAUTIFUL.
Send six cents in stamps and get descriptive circulars and testimonials in a sealed envelope.
H. BENJAMIN & CO.,
115 N. 8th Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

CANCER and other Malignant Diseases CURED without the use of knife. Consultation Free. Call or write—
DR. RUSH
Office, 800 Pine St. ST. LOUIS, MO.

BB CORSET WAIST
PERFECTION of Fit, Style, Comfort, Material AND Durability.
SEND $1.25 FOR SAMPLE BY MAIL PREPAID
CORSETS MUST GO!
This is the verdict of all progressive women.
Our waists are healthful and delightful to wear; they support the hose and underwear from the shoulders, and are a happy combination of ease and style.
BENJAMIN BROS.
NEWARK, N. J.

For a 240-lb. FAMILY SCALE.
ONLY $4.
This is less than the cost to manufacture by any other concern. All scales are finely finished with Vermillion and Gold, Steel Bearings, Brass Beam, and packed in single boxes also a 600-lb. Platform Scale on Rollers for $15.
1,000-lb. PLATFORM SCALES ON ROLLERS, Capacity from ½ lb. to 1,000 lbs., size 17x26, ONLY $18.
Also 5-ton WAGON SCALES for $50.
Every Farmer can afford a SCALE now they can be had at so low a price. Save money and buy the best. All our Scales are U. S. Standard and fully Warranted.
Buy the best and save money. Send for free Lithographed Circular.
E. F. RHODES CO., GRANGER, IND.

FREE FOR 30 DAYS 30 DAYS
In order to introduce our CRAYON PORTRAITS and make new customers, we have decided to make this Special Offer: Send us a Cabinet Picture, Photograph, Tintype, Ambrotype or Daguerotype of yourself or any member of your family, living or dead, and we will make you a Crayon Portrait Free of Charge, provided you exhibit it to your friends as a sample of our work, and use your influence in securing us future orders. Place name and address on back of picture and it will be returned in perfect order. We make any change in picture you wish, not interfering with likeness. Refer to any Bank in Chicago. Address all mail to ECLIPSE PORTRAIT CO., 110 East Randolph St., CHICAGO, Ill.
P. S.—We will forfeit $100 to any one sending us photo and not receiving crayon picture FREE as per this offer. THIS OFFER IS STRICTLY BONA FIDE.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE TONIC
—AND—
Stomach AND Liver Cure
The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.
The Great South American Nervine Tonic
Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incalculable value who is affected by disease of the stomach, because the experience and testimony of many go to prove that this is the ONE and ONLY ONE great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic.
HARRIET E. HALL, of Waynetown, Ind., says: "I owe my life to the Great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted stomach, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration, and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors, with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."
MRS. ELLA A. BRATTON, of New Ross, Indiana, says: "I cannot express how much I owe to the Nervine Tonic. My system was completely shattered, appetite gone, was coughing and spitting up blood; am sure I was in the first stages of consumption, an inheritance handed down through several generations. I began taking the Nervine Tonic, and continued its use for about six months, and am entirely cured. It is the grandest remedy for nerves, stomach and lungs I have ever seen."
No remedy compares with SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE as a cure for the Nerves. No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a wondrous cure for the Stomach. No remedy will at all compare with South American Nervine as a cure for all forms of failing health. It never fails to cure Indigestion and Dyspepsia. It never fails to cure Chorea or St. Vitus' Dance. Its powers to build up the whole system are wonderful in the extreme. It cures the old, the young, and the middle aged. It is a great friend to the aged and infirm. Do not neglect to use this precious boon: if you do, you may neglect the only remedy which will restore you to health. South American Nervine is perfectly safe, and very pleasant to the taste. Delicate ladies, do not fail to use this great cure, because it will put the bloom of freshness and beauty upon your lips and in your cheeks, and quickly drive away your disabilities and weaknesses.
Price, Large 18 ounce Bottles, $1.25; Trial Size, 15 Cents.
EVERY BOTTLE WARRANTED.
If not kept by Druggists order direct from
Dr. E. DETCHON, Crawfordsville, Ind.
For Sale by ROBBINS & McCORD, Auburn, Ind.

Now Is The Time To Buy

WALL PAPER

CHEAP.

We will sell at Cost all PATTERNS IN STOCK from now on till September 1, to make room for our large

FALL STOCK

2 JOHNS 2

AT THE FAIR.

G. W. McKAY, MANAGER.

Fine line of Shirts, Pants, ladies and gentlemen's underwear, at

THE FAIR.

J. C. HENRY, Prop'r,

Low Rate Harvest Excursion.

The anouncement that the North-Western Line, comprising over 8,000 miles of thoroughly equipped railways, has arranged to run two low rate Harvest Excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by those who are interested in the development of the great West and Northwest, as by those who desire to visit this wonderfull productive region at a season of the year when exact demonstration can be made of the merits and advantages it offers to home-seekers and those in search of safe and profitable investments. These excursions will leave Chicago on August 30th and Sept. 27th, and tickets can be purchased at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip to points in Iowa, Minnesote, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho and Montana. They will be strickly first-class in every particular and will be good for return passage at any time within twenty days from date of purchase. Full information concerning rates and arrangments for these excursions can be obtained upon application to any coupon ticket agent, or to W. A. Thrall, G. P. T. A.. Chicago & North Western R'y, Chicago. 38

Notice of Hearing of Ditch Petition.

In the matter of the petition of Henry Kline in Concord township, notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed with the Auditor of DeKalb county, state of Indiana, and viewers have been appointed who have viewed and reported said view, which is on file in my office. The hearing of said petition upon its merits will be on Tuesday, the 6th day of September, 1892, the same being the second day of the September term, 1892, of Commissioners' court.

"The prayer of said petition is that a ditch be constructed on the following route to-wit:

Beginning at the center of section nineteen (19) township thirty-three (33) north, range fourteen (14) east, DeKalb county, Indiana, and from thence as follows:

No.	Course.	Distance.
1	south 25 degrees west	200 feet
2	south 32 degrees west	500 feet
3	south 20 degrees west	100 feet
4	south 8 degrees west	400 feet
5	south 18 degrees east	200 feet
6	south 30 degree 45 min east	160 feet
7	south 48 degrees east	240 feet
8	east	300 feet
9	north 78 degrees east	200 feet
10	north 71 degrees east	230 feet
11	east	60 feet
12	north 74 degrees east	160 feet
13	south 78 degrees east	280 feet
14	south 82 degrees 15 min east	740 feet
15	south 12 degrees west	680 feet
16	south 80 degrees west	30 feet
17	south	490 feet
18	south 24 degrees 30 min east	780 feet
19	south 39 degrees east	100 feet
20	south 60 degrees east	140 feet
21	south 43 degrees east	180 feet
22	south 64 degrees east	400 feet
23	south 30 degree 30 min east	230 feet
24	south 76 degrees east	180 feet
25	east	970 feet
26	south	200 feet
27	south 12 degrees west	138 feet
28	south 15 degrees east	312 feet
29	south 2 degrees west	350 feet
30	south 20 degrees east	130 feet
31	east	170 feet
32	south 20 degrees west	400 feet
33	on curve to right	300 feet
34	south 63 degrees west	500 feet
35	south 84 degrees west	200 feet
36	south 76 degrees west	160 feet
37	south	210 feet
38	south 62 degrees east	530 feet
39	south 10 degrees east	300 feet
40	south 15 degrees west	620 feet

Ending 420 feet east of the southeast corner of section 30, Concord township DeKalb county, Indiana.

This proposed work will affect the lands of the following persons:

William L. Nelson, Samuel M. High, Theodore Kline, Henry Kline, Elias Kline and Theodore Kline, Solomon Shilling, Samuel S. Shutt, William Shutt, heirs, viz: Mrs. Wm. Shutt, Laura Shutt, Eva Elson, Alda Brent, Jennie Shutt and Jay Shutt. Samuel Wasson heirs, viz: Sarah Stover, Elizabeth Cheney, Louis R. Wasson, David Wasson, Benjamin Wasson, Ann Ricketts, Nancy Kennedy, Jane Hull, Matilda Sheldon and Milton Wasson, DeKalb county.

H. N. COFFINBERRY,
Auditor DeKalb County.

THE BEST

WAGON,

FOR ALL

PURPOSES,

IS THE

SHAFFER & BERG.

Give Us a Park.

We mean a bigger park; one that will permit us to have gatherings in it, and that will accomodate a crowd of any size. Our attention has been called to this by the talk of selling the old school ground park. If the old park were large enough to be of any great use, we should oppose of its sale, for we need a park of some sort. But it is too small to be of much use, and it will likely be impossible to make it any larger, for the property near it is too valuable, and possibly the owners would not sell at any price. So we shall likely be obliged to give up having a park at that place. Then let us have a larger one. There is a strip of natural forest lying on both banks of Cedar Creek between the town plat and Woodlawn cemetery, that could probably be bought,—quite a large park, say fifteen acres—with the money we could get for the old park, for it is very cheap land and of little value for anything but a park. A little expense would clean the ground, and it would in time be made beautiful. Much of the ground is naturally pretty, lying as it does, along the banks of the stream and reaching to the slopes of the higher ground. A drive would be constructed to reach it, and then be extended to the lovely Woodlawn grounds. Now let us talk this up. It will be an improvement that will be a credit to our town, and a pleasure to our people, old and young.

Summer Millinery Regardless of Cost.

For the next fifteen days we will sell all straw hats at one-half and less off and, all trimmed hats one-third and less off the usual price. Please call and see that we make this offer good; if you are in need of any thing in our line. Also we would kindly ask those indebted to us to call and settle within the next ten days and oblige,

MISS F. A HUSSELMAN,
Corunna, Ind

LOW RATES TO WARSAW, IND., FOR THE BRETHREN CHURCH NATIONAL CONFERENCE,

Via the Baltimore & Ohio R. R.

On August 20th to 23rd, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will sell tickets to Spring Fountain Park, Warsaw, Ind., at a rate of one fare for the round trip, on account of the Brethren Church National Conference, on August 23rd to 30th, 1892. For further information call on or address any B. & O. Ticket Agent or L. S Allen, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Chicago.

For Sale.

The undersigned has for sale, one ten-horse-power traction engine in number one working order, one feed mill, and one power sheller and shafting, belts, etc. Will sell cheap for cash or will take a good driving team three or four years old as part pay.

Call and see me.
James N. McBride,
Waterloo, Ind.

McElree's Wine of Cardui

and THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT are for sale by the following merchants in DeKalb Co.:

Robbins & McCord,	Auburn,
F. E. Davenport,	"
J. D. Campbell,	Waterloo,
Willis & Co.,	"
Geo. Kehrer,	Butler,
S. G. Stone,	"
O. P. Raber,	Corunna,
W. M. Mercer,	"
J. M. Lefern,	Garrett,
Patterson Bros.,	St. Joe,
J. W. Wyatt,	Concord.

FOUND;—A brown memorandum book with flexible cover. The pockets contain a few newspaper clippings and a photo. In the middle leaf is "H. C. Smith, St. Louis, Mich," and at top of leaf "1736 Ave. B., C. B. Ia." Owner can have it by calling at this office.

THE AUBURN COURIER

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY.

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.........AUGUST 11, 1892.

UP SHE GOES!

Hee—O—Hee!

Grand Pole Raising,

At Auburn, Saturday, August 13th, 1892.

The democrats of Auburn, and vicinity, will put up a large hickory pole on the date above mentioned, on Saturday afternoon, of next week, at 4 o'clock p. m. Let everyone who can attend, do so. There will be a rousing speech, by our candidate for Congress, who will come up here for that purpose. The speech will be at 8 in the evening. It is the first meeting of the campaign, and let us make it a good one. We hope to see our friends from all over the county, and of all parties, for the democrats believe in a fair and open discussion of all questions. Other speakers may also be present.

Hon. W. F. McNagny,

To Open The Campaign.

The democrats of DeKalb county, will open the campaign formally, by a grand rally at Garrett, on some day of the second week in September, date not yet fixed. This will be the week before the Auburn fair. As soon as speakers have been secured, and the date fixed, full notice will be given in this column.

IF TAKING the tariff off of sugar, reduced the price, taking it off of clothing, or anything else, would reduce the price. Who denies this?

THE democrats of Minnesota have nominated a full ticket. The Alliance candidate for governor having withdrawn, many of their voters will join the democrats.

HUNDREDS of strikes and lockouts are now going on among working men, all on account or reductions in wages, though McKinley and other tariff robbers are telling that a tariff prevents a reduction in wages.

THE Dispatch, quoting of course from the Indianapolis Journal, complains that the state it not raising money enough to keep up the expenses, and in the next sentence complains that taxes are raised. But the Dispatch has favored every great expence the state has made, and now kicks about it. The Dispatch has also favored the increase of taxes, and now it kicks against that. Hard to suit.

MANY manufactured articles are getting cheaper, not because a tax is levied on them, but because of improved machinery and improved methods of doing the work. But these same things are very much cheaper in other countries that levy no tariff taxes, or but low rates. We want to buy the things we need, as cheap as they do elsewhere. If things are cheaper now, they would be much cheaper without the tariff.

THE Despatch quotes the Indianapolis Journal, complainingly that enough revenue is not raised to pay the state debt, and then, when the revenue is increased they complain of that. It will now be in order for them to invent some way to pay off the state debt by lowering the taxes. That is the way they proposed for the county a few years ago, and the people elected a Republican board of commissioners and in one year they increased the county debt over $10,000.

WITH the editor of the Dispatch working in perfect harmony of sentiment with the peoples' party papers; with James Provines, chairman of the Republican County Commitee, and the candidate for treasurer occupying a leading place among the Alliance folks, and with the Waterloo People's Advocate, frantically calling on the Republicans to back up a part of their ticket, and help defeat their "old enemies, the Democrats," it don't take much studying to see the trap into which Democratic-Alliance men are being led.

SOME DeKalb County farmer ought to go to raising oranges, and to make the "infant industry" pay, he could ask the government to put a duty of $1 on each orange brought into the county. This would enable him to sell each orange he could raise, for $1.02. He could then put his capital into it, build big hot-houses, and go ahead. Other men would do the same. "New industries" would thus spring up over the country, and McKinley and the rest would shout "see how prosperous we are, and all through the tariff!" But the common people keep on paying $1.02 apiece for oranges, and vote the Republican ticket because they are told that the tariff is making them rich. This is an exact picture of a protective tariff. How do the people like the picture?

REPUBLICAN papers still keep up a talk about the state debt and the state interest. Do they think people are ignorant? It is well known that the state had a debt, and that being the case, interest must be paid, and finally the debt itself. What would Republicans have us do? Would they refuse to pay the debt or the interest? If not, what would they do? And if they are going to pay it, as honest men would, then why talk against paying it. Both Republicans and Democrats voted for the laws that caused the debt. Both have been, turn about, in possession of the state government. Then why all this fuss? The debt is an honest one. If put in power in the state, would Republicans repudiate, what they have helped to create? If not, then they will do themselves credit by saying so.

THE statement is now made, and has not been contracted, that 80 per cent of the pearl buttons made in this country, are made by convict labor in the state prisons at Chester, Ill., Auburn and Elmira, N. Y., and at the House of Correction in Detroit. The convicts get 87½ cents a day. Yet the McKinley bill raised the tariff on pearl buttons from 25 per cent under the old law, to 350 and some kinds as high as 1400 per cent, "in order that American workmen could be protected and receive good wages." Protection is a fraud, calculated to make the rich man richer, but not a cent's benefit to the laborer. All who buy pearl buttons pay higher for them and the extra profits go to the wealthy manufacturer. The convicts don't get a cent, and no laborer gets a job; much less does he get better wages.

THE Butler Record still thinks it knows something about the tariff. It quotes three lines from the COURIER and says they are false. One is that "Protection enables Carnegie to have a fine castle in Scotland while he reduces the wages of his men." Another that "Harrison presumes on the ignorance of people when he tells them that protection secures good wages while at the same time 50,000 workmen have their wages reducted." The third is: "Carnegie testified a few years ago that his profits were a million and a half each year." Now, each of these items is true, and the Record cannot disprove them. And at the close of the article, it evidently takes sides with Carnegie and against his lockedout workmen. That is the way republicans do generally. They tell workmen the tariff is such a good thing, but when he gets into trouble with his boss, they take sides with the boss. The boss is the only man benefited by a tariff, and the only one a republican wants to see benefited. But if is necessary to pet up the workman just before election so as to get his vote. As a sample of the Record's lofty dodging: We had said he had no reason to assert that the democratic doctrine favored a tariff on tea and coffee. Yet now he goes on to say he was right, because democrats favor a horizontal tariff, that is, the same to be levied on everything. But no one except the Record man, ever heard of this. Democrats ask no such thing. Again the Record says if we raised a tariff on clothing up to 1000 per cent, the price of clothing would not be higher. If it would not be higher, we ask him for about the hundredth time, how does it protect the manufacturer so as to enable him to pay better wages? And if he can't pay better wages, then how are the workmen benefited? If it does not benefit the boss, why does he go to congress and ask to have the tariff kept high or increased? But taking the tariff off of sugar reduced the price. It would have the same effect with clothing. There is but one thing to say of tariff levied for "protection." It is a robbery sanctioned by law. And some people are foolish enough to vote for such a law to rob themselves of that much of their earnings. And many editors and stump speakers are eager to to keep the people pleased with a law that robs them, for by so doing they can get their votes. And by getting their votes, they, the bosses, etc., can get fat offices, and wealthy mill owners, etc., can make better profits. And every dollar taken from the people, that does not go to the use of goveroment is a steal. And the same may be said of the bounties now paid to certain classes and on certain articles, like sugar. It would be a steal if congress compelled all the people in DeKalb county to pay 2 cents on each newspaper printed at the different offices in the county, on a plea that the papers were not paying well. Suppose we should ask congress to pass such a law? They would properly tell us if the papers did not pay, we could stop publishing. That would be right. We have no right to ask for a law to make a business pay a profit that would not pay without. There is where all the steal comes in.

Another Bad Street.

It has not been difficult to find bad streets and bad roads, in this year of our Lord, 1892, and there is not likely to be a lack of bad roads for some time to come. Our attention has been called to the road leading from the southeast part of town and out into the country toward the old Magginis farm. It is said by those who are compelled to travel over this piece of road, that it is still almost impassable. The chuck holes are about as deep as when mud covered the face of the county, and so rough and disagreeable is it, that people dislike to come to town that way. And even worse than this: Farmers living a few miles out in that part of the country, that would naturally reach Auburn over that road utterly refuse to come. They say they would like to come to trade, but they wont come over such rough roads. They prefer going several miles further, on a good, smooth gravel road and turnpikes to Ft. Wayne. That is just the truth of it. And a disagreeable truth for Auburn, it is. What can be done to make our bad roads better? Whose duty is it to take the necessary steps and to assume the responsibility? This is a serious subject, and a subject of vital importance to Auburn.

AT BEDTIME
I TAKE A
PLEASANT
HERB
DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1.00 per package. Buy one to-day. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary.

AUBURN AND VICINITY.

Some Reminiscences of its Early Days and Pioneer Citizens.

1864—Continued.

Meanwhile early in July, heavy disbursements at excessive prices and short receipts had compelled Mr. Dickinson to avoid insolvency, to temporarily suspend publication of the Waterloo City Press. From the outset he had ardently exerted himself to "insure the permanent establisment of a reliable paper in DeKalb county," and under ordinary conditions, would have been sustained by the proceeds of the office.

The suspension was brief as the people could not do without their paper. Chas. K. Baxter returning from honorable services in the ranks of the Indiana 19th regiment of the Iron Brigade took charge as editor and proved the man for the place, and again the long columns of the Press replete with news of interest and moment gave pleasure to its patrons.

At their regular session, the board of county commissioners appointed Guy Plumb county school examiner, much to the dissatisfaction of many who would have preferred the selection of Rev. Chas. A. Munn, who had resigned the chaplaincy of the 100th Indiana and accepted a call to minister to the Presbyterian society at Auburn.

Mr. Plumb was a quiet unostentatious attorney-at-law of good business qualifications. In all his practice at the De Kalb bar he never essayed the role of a speech maker, before judge or jury, but was content to act as counsel for clients, leaving elocution to others. His appointment to the office of examiner was not to his taste and he declined to serve longer than one year. At this time his office was two doors north of the public square, but years later he succeeded Morrison & Hodge to the occupation of what has since been known as the sheriff's office in the court house.

He was the approved agent of the Home Insurance Company of New York and in the absence of banking facilities dealt in various securities. He built at considerable expense, for the convenience and comfort of his family the handsome residence standing on the northwest corner of Fifth and VanBuren streets, now owned by Albert Robbins, cashier of the Farmers Bank, but owing to continued ill health of family removed in the spring of 1881 to Easton, Talbot county, Md., on the east side of Chesapeake Bay.

The term of Rev. Wright as minister and school examiner, having expired, he sold the parsonage which he had bought of Rev. Bliss, to Rev. Munn and went elsewhere.

The winter term of the Auburn Union school, which had been a session creditable to teachers and students closed with an exhibition held the evenings of March 3 and 4, under direction of the principal, Mrs. Vesta Swarts.

As a part of this entertainment, the historical drama of Pizarro, was rendered and it was said that Joe McKay as Rolle, Mrs. Swarts as Alvira, Al. Robbins as Pizarro and H. Stoner as Orizembo, acquitted themselves with great credit.

Mrs. Swarts was encouraged by success to reopen the school for a spring term after a two weeks' vacation, and if continuous service be a measure of popularity, she certainly possessed the confidence of the people of Auburn.

In these later years, the same devotion to her humane calling of physician has merited and won high commendation and her skill in treatment of the ills of women and children has been a boon to this community and a blessing to the afflicted.

The fall session of the Auburn Male and Female Institute with three departments designated as primary, junior and senior began August 24. In addition to other branches, German, French, Latin and Greek were to be taught at a charge of $6,50 per twelve weeks term. Opportunity for instruction in music on piano, or melodion was offered, and to all these was added, a commercial department.

In the present more systematized, less pretentious and complex plan of education, there is food for reflection, through comparison of respective merits in the light of results.

It would be of interest to know who of the young ladies constituted the class in French and who of the young gentlemen studied the Greek or the German and what progress was made.

One thing is evident that year by year attendance, especially of our boys terminates at more and yet more youthful age and few advance beyond the grammar room and many never reach it.

Charles A. Munn, A. M. was superintendent of the institute, whose existence was limited by a single term. John Stahl was in charge of the senior and Mrs. Swarts of the junior department. The foreign attendance was especially large and the session was profitable to all parties concerned.

Elder Munn was an able preacher, a classical scholar, an uncompromising Unionist, and was frequently called upon to address public meetings and officiate at the funerals of deceased soldiers. He sold the parsonage in Nov. 1865, to L. J. Blair for $1,300 and having served the Presbyterian society at Waterloo for a time, located his family at Kendallville and accepted a charge in Chicago, Ill. Inconvenienced by separation from his family, he resigned his city pastorate and in Oct. 1867, was employed by the Presbyterian society in Kendallville. Of his later career we have no knowledge.

John Stahl, young, energetic and painstaking, himself a close student during hours that most give to leisure, gave general satisfaction as an educator and for some years pursued this calling, having taken charge of a school at West Brookfield, Stark county, Ohio, after leaving Auburn, and in 1866, having returned to this county and served as principal of the schools of Waterloo. At a later period, the writer found Mr. Stahl engaged in teaching at the academy built by enterprising farmers east of Huntertown, Allen county, near the residence of Jacob Kell with whom the teachers generally found board and lodging.

He was then closely occupying his home hours in the study of law, was admitted to the bar of Allen county, gave promise of achieving distinction in this great calling, but died before his ardent purpose could be realized.

(To be continued next week.)

THE BOSTON

ONE PRICE.

CLOTHING STORE

Would Kindly Prevail
On our Multitude
Of readers
To peep through these profitable openings
And reflect now on what you can save.
Map our Matchless
Modern methods
On your Memory
And decide

Who is Most Worthy

OF THE

People's Confidence.

Our Platform of One Price and Plain Figures is firm Forever!

$7 50 buys a Business Suit that will teach the folly of paying $10, for similar garments.
$11 is what will secure a perfect fitting suit, and leave enough difference between this and other prices to buy another suit.
$15 buys one of the most stylish Dress Suits in frock or sack that ever graced a manly form.
By style, we mean perfection in every detail.
$18 comprises the efforts of this country's best artists in American and European Productions.
$4., buys boys' long pants suits, the Latest and Most Stylish.

The Boston Clothing Store, Auburn, Indiana.

GET THE BEST!

EXCEL IN QUALITY, BEAUTY, TONE AND FINISH.

CROWN PIANOS & ORGANS. GEO. P. BENT MANUFACTURER CHICAGO.

FOR SALE ON EASY TERMS BY

WES. H. HUSSELMAN,

Waterloo, - - - Ind.

The Celebrated Diamond

SPECTACLES!

Clear! Brilliant and Lasting!!

HAVE NO EQUAL.

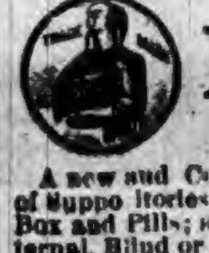
A complete line of Spectacles, Eyeglasses, Smoked glasses, Goggles etc., at prices Lower than ever offered to the public before, for these goods

A FIT GUARANTEED.

Remember the place at

THE PHYSICIAN'S DRUG STORE,

Opp. Swineford House.



JAPANESE

PILE

CURE

A new and Complete Treatment, consisting of Suppositories, Ointment in Capsules, also in Box and Pills; a Positive Cure for External, Internal, Blind or Bleeding, Itching, Chronic, Recent or Hereditary Piles. This remedy has never been known to fail. $1 per box, 6 for $5; sent by mail. Why suffer from this terrible disease when a written guarantee is positively given with 6 boxes, to refund the money if not cured. Send stamp for free sample. Guarantee issued by F. E. DAVENPORT.

THE GREATEST REFRIGERATOR IMPROVEMENT OF THE AGE.

THE

GURNEY PATENT REFRIGERATOR.

No. 3. Front sectional view showing position of removable galvanized ice compartment, mineral wool packing, etc.

THE ONLY CLEANABLE REFRIGERATOR.

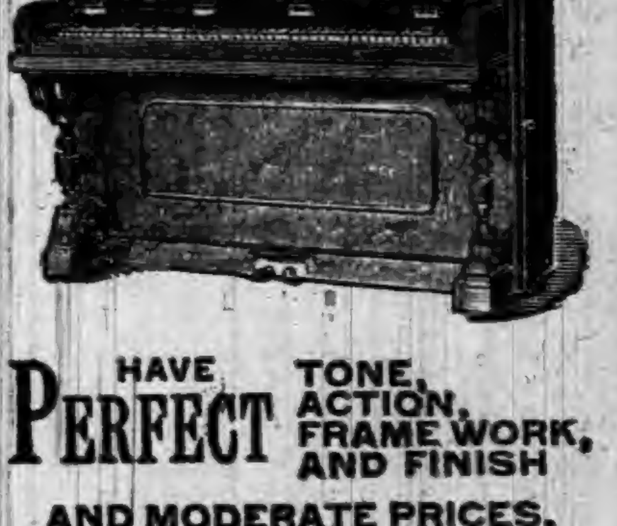
The greatest economy of ice. The lowest average temperature.

If your dealer does not sell the "Gurney," send for Catalogue and Prices.

GURNEY REFRIGERATOR CO., Fond du Lac, Wis.

CORNETT PIANOS.

STYLE A.



HAVE PERFECT TONE, ACTION, FRAME WORK, AND FINISH

AND MODERATE PRICES.

GUARANTEED 6 YEARS.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR AND PRICES.

The Cornett Piano Co., 525-531 W. 24 St., NEW YORK.

BUCKEYE

HOG CHOLERA CURE

BUCKEYE CURE

MAKES HOG RAISING PROFITABLE.

AN ABSOLUTE

PREVENTION AND CURE

OF HOG CHOLERA.

IT WILL

Put your Hogs in first-class condition.
Stop cough and regulate the bowels.
Arrest disease in every instance.
Destroy worms.
Repay its cost many times over in the extra pounds of pork it will make without extra feed.

If your local dealers do not have it, we will send to any address on receipt of price, 50 cents a package. Write for prices on larger quantities.

AGENTS WANTED.

W. T. PHILIPPS & CO.,

NOS. 115 AND 117 ST. CLAIR STREET, TOLEDO, OHIO.

SUMMER GOODS

OF NEARLY EVERY

DESCRIPTION

MARKED DOWN!

And shall be closed out without regard to COST!

HARTER,

AUBURN.

Main Street, North of Farmers Bank,

I. O. BUCHTEL,
Homœopathic
Physician and Surgeon.

Special attention given to chronic and obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.
Office and residence over Smith & Madden's marble works, Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, night or day.

H. DARLING, D. D. S.,
DENTIST.
Graduate of CHICAGO COLLEGE OF DENTAL SURGERY.
Member of Royal College of Dental Surgeons of ONTARIO.
☞ Gas administered for Painless Extraction.

Dr. James Adams,
VETERINARY SURGEON.
Will treat all Diseases of Domestic Animals. He has had THIRTY YEARS successful PRACTICE. Call on him at his residence No. 34, North Main street, or at ROBBINS & McCORD'S Drug Store.

Dr. K. K. Wheelock,
—Diseases of the—
EYE AND EAR
A Specialty. Office 26, W. Wayne St., Fort Wayne, Ind.

McBRIDE and McBRIDE,
COPYISTS,
Manuscript Speeches, Briefs and Depositions, Business and Personal Type-Writing Generally,
WATERLOO, IND.
☞ Write for terms, stating what kind of WORK.

Dr. F. M. Hines, Physician and SURGEON.
Office over J. C. HENRY'S Grocery, in the Ford Block,
AUBURN, IND.
☞ RESIDENCE, at the Samuel Swihart residence on South Jackson St. near the Church Furniture factory, and just across west from the German Methodist church. All calls attended to promptly, night or day.

—AUBURN WOOLEN MILLS—
........DOES........
All kinds of CUSTOM WORK, such as Carding, Spinning, Etc.
ALSO
MANUFACTURE for the TRADE, Yarns Flannels, Skirtings, Blankets and Wool Bats.
These goods are absolutely PURE and warranted to give SATISFACTION to the Consumer.
—ENSLEY & FORKNER, Proprietors.—
Call at FACTORY North End of Main street
AUBURN, IND.

The Auburn Iron Works,
Is the
Place to go for General Repairs
of all kinds.
Pipe, Pipe Fittings, Etc,
FURNISHED.

"Late to bed and early to rise will shorten the road to your home in the skies," But early to bed and a "Little Early Riser," the pill that makes life longer and better and wiser.
Robbins & McCord.

LOCAL NEWS.

☞ BLACK-DRAUGHT tea cures Constipation.

HOUSE TO RENT: Call on C. Ashelman Auburn.

CUBEB COUGH CURE—One Minute. Sold by F. E. Davenport. tf

KRAUSE'S HEADACHE CAPSULES—Warranted. Sold by F. E. Davenport. tf

Try Dullman's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Coughing leads to consumption. Kemp's Balsam will stop that cough at once.

Nobody need suffer from languor and melancholy if they take Simmons Liver Regulator.

Try Dullam's Great German 15-cent liver pills, 40 in each package, at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Feed of all kinds, at I. S. Kutzner's barn on block just west of Garrett's grocery store. Call on him.

MY GIRL, is one of the most popular brands of cigars on the market.

The Jewel, the New Process and the Quick Meal, at Beuret's. Best gasolene stoves made. Don't roast over a wood stove; get a gasolene.

The greatest worm destroyer on earth is Dullam's Great German Worm Lozengers, only 25 cents per box. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Early Risers, Early Risers, Early Risers the famous little pills for constipation. sick headache, dyspepsia and nervousness. Robbins & McCord.

Smoke the Little Salesman, the nobbiest brand out.

Voice culture, piano, organ, thorough base and harmony, I will give lessons in any of these branches. Over fourteen years experience.
tf J. I. Chany, Auburn.

It is a fixed and immutable law that to have good, sound health one must have pure, rich and abundant blood. There is no shorter nor surer route than by a course of DeWitt's Sarsaparilla.
Robbins & McCord.

Are you troubled with any skin disorder? Hot Springs Skin Salve is all that the name implies. The salts from the evaporated waters are embodied in its composition, and it should be used wherever a salve or ointment is necessary. Sold only by Davenport, the druggist.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by Robbins & McCord, druggist, Auburn, Ind. tf

MILES' NERVE & LIVER PILLS. Act on a new principle—regulating the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new discovery. Dr. Miles' Pills speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles, constipation. Unequaled for men, women, and children. Smallest, mildest, surest! 50 doses, 25 cts. Samples free at F. E. Davenport's.

VERY MUCH SURPRISED: I have been afflicted with neuralgia for nearly two years, have tried physicians and all known remedies, but found no permanent relief until I tried a bottle of Dullman's Great German Liniment and it gave me instant and permanent relief. 25 cents per bottle. Signed, A. B. Snell, Hamilton, Mich. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Grover Cleveland's Grand March Ben. Harrison's Grand March, either of these two marches will be sent to any address on receipt of 20 cents each, or the two for 35 cts. These marches are new. Every player should have them. Postage stamps acceptable. Address all orders J. I. Chaney, Auburn. Ind.

McElree's WINE OF CARDUI for female diseases.

The Auburn fair is Sept. 12.

August is hot, hotter, hottest. 'aint it?

J. Beuret has put a new roof on his residence.

Business is on the quiet now. To hot to hustle much.

Don't fail to get something ready for the Auburn fair, Sept. 12.

Try Dullam's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Mathens's.

The potato crop is nothing extra. "Praties" may be at a premium soon.

Nobody will suffer with liver or kidney disease if they take Simmons Liver Regulator.

Dr. S. B. Johnston, dentist, will be in his office at Waterloo on Thursday of each week.

People now eat green cucumbers; after awhile, quite soon perhaps, they will eat q-u-i-n-i-n-e.

We are under obligations to M. A. Boughman, postmaster at Corunna, for recent favors.

Do you want the best picture that can be made by the photographic process? If so, then go to J. A. Landis.

Gugerli has moved to the Sheets building, south of jail, where his customers will find him till about Sept. 1.

Chris. Ashelman was taken quite sick last week, with some severe form of bilious trouble. He is now improving however.

All come to the social to-morrow, Friday, at the Presbyterian church. Help the young people in a good cause. A splendid supper for 15 cents.

The new restaurant, the "Home," opened for business Tuesday. Everything looks first class, and Mr. Hidy bids fair to make the business a success.

Beuret is going out of the hardware business and wants to sell out his stock to the last pound. It will pay you to see him when you want good bargains.

FOR SALE:—A Little Giant bicycle, all in good repair and ready to run, on reasonable terms. For information call on or address, Ira Brandon, Auburn. 32tf.

Shandon Shultz, of Butler, was in town Monday. He is administrator of his mother in-law, Mrs. Showalter's estate, and was here on business pertaining to that.

Oats are being harvested. The golden shocks of grain seem to inspire one with the beauties of that season when the tillers of the soil glean the shining reward of their labor.

Frank Davenport reached home, Saturday evening, for a visit of a week with his parents here. He finds an abundance of young friends to make the time pass pleasantly.

Bright people are the quickest to recognize a good thing and buy it. We sell lots of bright people the Little Early Risers. If you are not bright these pills will make you so. Robbins & McCord.

The Opera Company that was here last Wednesday, was an excellent one, but owing to short notice did not have as full a house as we could wish. The music was excellent and the entire performance was heartily applauded.

John Shugers was up to see his son George, at Coldwater, last week. He says they have had more rain there than we had been favored with up to that time. The farmers there were plowing sod, with the greatest of ease.

S. W. Guthrie, of Sedan, was in town Thursday. He is a wide-awake young farmer, and knows his adopted profession from top to bottom. He reports their own wheat crop good, but the corn prospect as very poor.

Don't smother your better judgment through the influence of an erroneous pride, in thinking there is no difference between the prices of the same articles when sold by different dealers, but call on J. Beuret, and learn for yourself.

Judge McClellan reached home, Sunday morning, having started soon after Congress adjourned. He was taken ill on the road, and became quite sick soon after reaching home. It was some violent bilious attack, but he is now able to be about.

T. J. Foster, one of the leading citizens of Laporte, died about a week ago. He had been two terms, treasurer of his county, and had been in business there about thirty years. He was a cousin of George Foster who resides east of Auburn, and a relative of the editor of this paper.

Mr. and Mrs. Coffinberry, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Shutt started for Montana, Saturday. They joined a party at Ft. Wayne, and will visit Yellowstone National Park, and other points of interest. But we believe the main object is to see about the mining property in which they have a leading interest.

Mrs. H. P. Crocket, of Warsaw, was in town a few days last week, in company with her husband, who represents the Maish & Gorton Manufacturing Co., of that place. She left here Saturday to spend Sunday at Syracuse, their recent home, while her husband pursued his labors to Leonidas, Mich.

The hickory pole for the democratic pole raising Saturday, has been selected and will be a dandy. It is intended to have two lengths, making a total of near 100 feet high. Every part of the county should send in some voters Saturday. The pole is to be raised at 4 p. m. D. Y. Husselman has a letter from Mr. McNagg that he will be here without fail.

RHEUMATISM CURED IN A DAY.—"Mystic Cure" for rheumatism and neuralgia radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause and the disease immdiately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits. 75 cents. Sold and guaranteed by Robbins & McCord druggists, Auburn.

H. P. Crockett, contractor and salesman for the Maish & Gorton Mfg. Co., of Warsaw, closed the contract Friday for refitting and reparing the Auburn Mills, with his company's superior grade of grist mill machinery. The mill is intended to come to the standard of modern demands in flour making, and the proprietors can be congratulated on their enteprise.

In the rush and hurry of getting out the best paper in the county, last week, we forgot to mention a very pleasant call from Editor Strayer, of the Ashley Times. He was down here on business and we secured a great many new ideas about the bran new town, where he is at present, and is a large part of the inhabitants. But he has abundant faith in Ashley, and gives good reasons for it. He has a fine newspaper outfit, including a cylinder press. We venture the assertion that Ashley is the one town in Indiana, whose first newspaper was printed on a cylinder press. If Ft. Wayne, Indianapolis, Terre Haute or Evansville object to this statement, let them hold up their hands.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

☞ WINE OF CARDUI, a Tonic for Women.

Some typhoid fever in town.

Meese Swing Washer beats them all.

See the two Johns when you want wall paper.

Gugerli, the tailor, south of public square, now.

Sept. 12 to 16 is the time of the Auburn District fair.

Colored campmeeting at Waterloo fair grounds begins Saturday.

Let every one make an effort to attend the social Friday evening.

The measles that were raging a few weeks ago, have somewhat subsided.

Great chuck holes make riding over some of the country roads disagreeable.

Nobody can have dyspepsia or bilousness if they take Simmons Liver Regulator.

Mrs. W. P. Harter returned Tuesday from Goshen, where she has been several weeks.

The roads in the country are very dusty. A certain destruction to good clothes.

A brother of Frank Borst. has been visiting him a few days. His home is in Chicago.

Read our new story about "Uncle Josh" and his adventures in Auburn. It will surprise you.

The never failing Katy-did has already announced that the biting frosts will soon be here.

The Quick Meal gasolene stove; nothing like it for quick work. Call at Beuret's; he has 'em,

Mrs. E. C. Sheets and Mrs. Wash. Askew spent yesterday at Garrett visiting Mrs. Frank Rose.

Levi Snyder, who works at Clifton's has a lame hand, the result of running a sliver of bone into it.

Miss Kate Bellmer, of Rahway, N. J., is here visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rush.

Smoke a genuine Bill Head cigar made by Kessler Bros.

The campmeeting, conducted by W. L. Meese, is in progress near Garrett. Some interest is being manifested.

Plowing for wheat has commenced in some places. Owing to dry weather however its progress is slow and tedious.

David Krider celebrated the new month by getting even with the printer in his usual way, cash up and no grumbling.

Mrs. L. Kelley and daughter Pearl visited Mrs. Levi Brandaberry of Smithfield, over Sunday. They report a splendid time.

We can make you a first class picture from old or new negatives, just as you like, at the City Gallery, J. A. Landis, proprietor.

A. L. Kuhlman and Bert Casebeer have a lunch stand at the campmeeting grounds where the hungry can be fed with choice eatibles.

Eli Kandel had the misfortune to run a nail through the ball of his foot, Saturday. It is a very painful affair, and may lay him on the shelf for a while.

J. F. Wile, one of our liberal town patrons made us a pleasant visit Friday. Mr. Wile is a workingman and knows all about the fraud of a tariff protecting workingmen.

Mrs. L. R. Patton, Rockford, Ill., writes: "From personal experience I can recommend De Witt's Sarsaparilla, a cure for impure blood and general debility." Robbins & McCord.

Mrs. Plum's class gives a supper at the Presbyterian church Friday evening. Don't forget the worthy young ladies, for you will get a good meal for 15 cents and help in a worthy cause. All come.

The vagabond horse thief has been perpetrating his depredations up near Hudson lately. Cards, announcing the loss of a horse by theft Sunday morning, were issued by Mr. Bonbrake, Monday.

New Process gasolene stove, considered the best in regard to all points. For sale at Beuret's hardware store, Auburn. And remember he is going to sell off his general stock of hardware and close it out.

H. L. Fulks, one of our many intelligent farmer friends, was here last Thursday. He is not discouraged with the poor crops this season, and says if the crops can't grow he won't let the weeds get ahead of them anyhow.

Mrs. R. H. Murch of Butler, and her mother, Mrs. Noragon, with the former's two youngest children, were here Tuesday, being the guests of the editor's family. Mrs. Murch came to have some difficult dental work done by Dr. Johnston.

Rev. B. Stout, of West Virginia, will attend and preach at a missionary mass meeting at Baker's Grove, near Concord, on Tuesday, Aug. 9, and at Hixon's Grove, near Cedar Creek, on Friday, Aug. 12. Mrs. L. J. Nice will assist in the latter meeting. Let everybody bring well-filled baskets.

BUCKLEN'S ARNICA SALVE.—The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Robbins & McCord. tf

Mars, the most red headed of the planets, came within thirty-five millions of miles of Auburn last Saturday, and it was laughable to see the small boys try to poke him with their fish poles. He won't be as near as that any more for about fifteen years. By that time the small boy will be a sweet boy graduate and know more about the heavenly bodies.

A. D. Moore, of Wilmington, returned last week, from a visit to the west part of the state, and reports a plenty of rain out that way. He is also getting things in shape for the fair, and will exhibit some good stock as usual. That reminds us, that it would be a good plan for anyone who is going to make an exhibit at the Auburn or Waterloo fairs to let us make a note of it, and people would know in advance something in regard to the displays they would see.

A number of our firemen went to Elkhart last week to attend the annual firemen's tournament, and witness the contests for the several prizes. They had a splendid time, and the Elkhart boys entertained them royally, leaving nothing undone all the time they staid there. Among those who went were: Al. Umber, Joe Pfiffer, Geo. Grund, J. W. Thomas, Al Zerwes, H. D. Weaver, J. F. Aber, Andy Murphy, Alva Potter, Rob. McClellan, Ira Brandon, Frank Benedict and G. W. McKay. And now the boys are in favor of having a tournament in Auburn next year, about the Fourth. And why not?

McELREE'S WINE OF CARDUI for Weak Nerves.

Farmers are threshing.

Cedar creek is at low-water mark.

Ira Brandon rides a bicycle. He's no novice either.

Frank Grambling has been on the sick list a few days past.

Riley Madden and wife, rejoice over a little boy born to them last week.

John Aber, from all appearance, expects to have a new cement sidewalk.

Try Dullman's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Matheny's.

To counteract the desire for strong drink take Simmons Liver Regulator.

The corn crop this year is not giving the average any better than the wheat crop.

Mrs. Schnell's new residence on South Main street will soon be ready for ocupancy.

J. C. Elson has gone to Edgerton this week to work in a big lumber mill for a while.

Mrs. W. H. Rakestraw and daughter went to Milford last Friday to visit her mother and sister.

Young America is the cigar to smoke now-a-days.

There will be a social dance at Ensley's hall Saturday evening. Good music and a good time promised.

The new walks on West Seventh are now opened to use, the last being Mr. Hallam's. They are extra nice.

Alex King is building a two-story brick business room on the second lot north of John Krueger's brick grocery.

Avoid all cheap and trashy inducements, and go to J. A. Landis, where you can get a good picture by paying a little more.

Phillip Fluke is always at par; at least his subscription accounts are always paid ahead. That will make a man's credit at par anywhere.

The electric light in Gas Addition shines out on its high pole, like a morning star. It is a fine light and does the people over there nicely.

A broad cement sidewalk is being laid in front of the rooms of Schaab Brothers and the Schaab Furniture Company. It is a good time to do such work.

Do you want a good deal in groceries? If you are in search of the place where your money will buy good goods at lowest prices, call at Ira Brandon's. 26tf

ROOMS TO RENT.—Good rooms in a good house, good cellar, well, cistern, etc. Would prefer not to have children. Call on Francis Picker, South Main, Auburn.

FOR SALE: A good house and lot in St. Joe, at a bargain, as I will sell regardless of the sacrifice. Call on Mr. Ervin on the premises, or Anna Hart, Hicksville, Ohio.

When you are in town and at a loss to know just where to deal and what to buy, go to J. Beuret on North Main St., and see what he has to offer in the line of stoves and hardware.

We truly believe DeWitt's Little Early Risers to be the most natural, most effective, most prompt and economical pill for biliousness, indigestion and inactive liver. Robbins & McCord.

If dull, spiritless and stupid, if your blood is thick and sluggish; if your appetite is capricious and uncertain, you need a Sarsaparilla. For best results take DeWitt's. Robbins & McCord.

J. L. Davis, wife and daughter, Edna, Mr. Geo. Lanning, D. A. Garwood, D. A. Caruth and wife, and we believe others started for Denver, Saturday to attend the great meeting of the Knights-Templar.

Schnell & Weeks are hustlers in the grocery trade. They have a well stocked room and can offer unlimited inducements to customers. Remember their place of business south of the jail Auburn.

Notice the removal of Gugerli, the merchant tailor, to the Sheets' building. He will have ample means to accommodate all his patrons, So call there when you want a good suit of fashionable clothes.

Wesley Husselman, the hustling agent for pianos and organs, sold a fine Crown Chapel organ to the congregation at Norris Chapel, last week. It is a splendid instrument, and the progressive people out there will enjoy it.

Rev. A. S. Wooton, writes the COURIER from Frankfort, Ind., where he and his family have been staying, that he will be home this week and services at the M. E. church will be resumed next Sunday as usual. They are having a pleasant visit.

W. S. Purdy has a nice little pet now, a red squirrel that took up its home in the big elm that overshadows his residence. He had put up a box into the tree for the squirrel to make a nest in, and the little fellow took up his home in it and remains there. Now if the boys will let him alone he will be apt to stay.

Supt. Merica is convalescent, but unable as yet to attend to the duties of his office. His daughter Estella is looking after and perfecting the institute arrangements, and the papers of the last examination are being graded by competent assistance. So the work goes right on. We hope to see him out again in a few days.

Ed. Robbins is training for fast time on a bicycle. He made a half-mile in one minute and 28 seconds, on the fair ground track this week. We are told the Ohio championship, was awarded to a time of one minute and thirty seconds, —not so good as Mr. Robbins' present record. He will try to make it in one and twenty-five.

Through the courtesy of County Superintendent Fish and a Mr. Koontz, an old schoolmate of Supt. Merica, he and his family were invited to attend a boating and fishing excursion on Lake Maxinkuckee, next Tuesday; hotel and all other expenses while there, to cost nothing. This is surely a nice opportunity for a day's outing, but the sickness of Mr. Merica will most likely prevent his accepting the invitation. This lake is probably one of the nicest summer resorts in Indiana, with six steamers plying its waters.

Dr. Darling, the new dentist, has his card in the COURIER this week, calling attention to his line of work. He comes here as a thoroughly prepared dentist and we speak for him a share of public patronage. The Doctor has been especially fortunate in gas he has selected to prevent pain in operations that would otherwise be torture. It not only makes the operation painless, but is safe, and leaves no bad effect. A lady from Kendallville was here about a week ago, and had ten teeth extracted within a minute or two without suffering or bad effect.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Try BLACK-DRAUGHT tea for Dyspepsia.

See our notice of the county institute.

Don't forget the social. Good supper 15 cents.

Gasolene stoves, latest and best. Beuret's, North Main.

The table factory is being rapidly put in shape for business.

I. O. Bachtel of the Eagle mills, is thinking of improving his plant.

Smoke the L. AND M. cigar, if you want some-good.

Try Dullman's Great German 15-cent liver pills at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Several new electric light poles over town. Good indications of enterprise.

Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. Most people need to use it.

Nobody can be troubled with constipation or piles if they take Simmons Liver Regulator.

Pleasure resorts are crowded with people seeking comfort beyond the limits of home.

Mrs. Brad. Harris of Chicago, has been here several days, visiting her brother, Joseph Rainier.

Going out of the hardware business—Beuret. So buy of him while the slaughter prices are running.

Try Dullam's Great German 15-cent liver pills 40 in each package. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

The watermelon season has fully opened. Dray loads of them are being hauled from the freight depot.

L. J. Miller, our boss grain buyer, has already taken in about six car loads of new wheat, but he says the quality is poor.

The Y. P. S. C. E., of the Christian church, Corunna, will meet hereafter on Friday evening of each week. All are invited to attend.

Rev. G. V. Walker, of Fairfield Center, will preach, morning and evening, in the Lutheran church here, next Sunday. All come and hear him.

John Treesh is the artist who bosses the work on Schaab's new sidewalk. He is a veteran at the business, and has no superior in cement work.

WANTED: A girl to do restaurant work. Good wages and steady employment to right person. Inquire at Ashley block. W. R. Hidy, Propr.

Brandon, did you say? Well yes, Brandon is the man who says he has groceries and general produce to sell in allotments or by the pound. Call and see him. 26tf

WANTED—100—10,000 cords 4-ft. hard body wood delivered at Chicago.
C. BUNGE,
616 W. Lake St. Chicago, Ill.

MARRIED: At the pastor's residence, Franklin H. Baker, of Auburn, and Emma Brown, of Waterloo, by J. D. Brosy, August 8, 1892. We wish them well.

Persons desiring pictures from the old negatives at the City Gallery, can have them, as all those taken by J. G. Clapp, still remain in the possession of J. A. Landis.

Beuret means business, and don't you forget it! He's not selling goods below cost, for fun or glory, but he is making it interesting and profitable for those who buy goods of him.

The Swing Washer is the easiest to work, and does its work the best. Ask Mr. Meese to show you one, and you will find a machine that has come the nearest to being a perfect success.

L. B. Fretz attended the assembly at Spring Fountain Park, Warsaw Sunday, and heard the eminent Prof. Eaton of Zanesville, Wisconsin, give a scientifically doctrinal discourse on faith.

Mrs. and Mrs. Davenport and the children are up at Clear Lake for a rest, and will remain there some days if Mrs. Davenport's health permits. Miss Minnie Zimmerman accompanied them.

It is a truth in medicine that the smallest dose that performs the cure is the best. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the smallest pills, will perform the cure and are the best. Robbins & McCord.

Gugerli, the merchant tailor, has moved to the Mart Sheets building south of the jail, and will be there about two months, till his new building is done. Don't forget this change.

Big attraction at the Auburn fair, will be Prof. Grinley, the balloonist. He makes ascensions in his balloon accompanied by a dog, and when they get high enough, each comes down in his own parachute, the dog in one and the man in the other. It will be a new thing and a great attraction.

KRAUSE'S HEADACHE CAPSULES unlike many remedies are perfectly harmless, they contain no injurious substance and will stop any kind of a headache, will prevent headache caused by over indulgence in food or drink late at night. Price twenty-five cents; for sale by Davenport the Druggist.

Frank Culbertson came back Tuesday evening, for a visit of a week or two. The heartiness of his welcome must have been very pleasant to him. His wife and daughter Cora are well. His home is at Cleveland Heights, east of Chattanooga, Tenn., and he came up with an excursion from there to Benton Harbor.

Garrett had a fire last week, up in the center of town. The building was not saved,—probably it could not be. But here would be a good text for the Garrett "Which Is It," that sees no good in the Auburn fire company, when they run half a mile and save a building. But perhaps, as this fire is in Garrett, the W. I. I. will not hear of it.

Cal. Husselman reports the best wheat we have so far heard this year. It will run near 25 bushels to the acre and is of good quality. He has a new variety received from the patent office in 1890. This one quart he sowed Oct. 21, and last year had three bushels and a peck. This he sowed on nearly three acres, and it threshed out over 91 bushels. We don't agree with Mr. Husselman on all his political views, but do on his style of farming, and some other things.

August Schutt, a well known citizen, died suddenly Sunday morning, of a paralytic stroke. He had been at work as usual the day before. The funeral was on Tuesday. On Monday Dr. Swarts made a post mortem examination, assisted by Dr. Hines and Dr. Sebring, to learn, if possible, the cause of his death It was found that a blood vessel was ruptured, in the brain, and there appeared a tendency to fatty degeneration of the heart. Of course the brain trouble caused his death. He had for some time had some trouble like strokes, of paralysis. On Saturday he had worked in the hot sun laying the stone foundation of the basement of the new King block. This was a very dangerous thing to do, for one in his condition, and it no doubt produced the trouble that caused his sudden death.

Notice to Settle

Desiring to make our complete annual settlement with our customers, we respectfully invite every one to call and make settlement at once and oblige,
CASEBEER & MATHENY.

Trustee's Office Days.

I will be at my office for the transaction of public business on Tuesday of each week till further notice.
R. H. SHERLOCK,
Trustee Fairfield Tp.
August 1, 1892.

Settle Up.

I earnestly ask all who are indebted to me for professional services, to call and settle the same by September 15th, as this is my usual time to ask annual settlement. Please attend to this, and oblige,
DR. W. H. NUSBAUM

Garrett Steam Laundry.

Peter Young has the agency for the Model Steam Laundry at Garrett, an establishment that has a reputation equal to the best, and has been in operation for the past two years with marked success. Parties should call on Mr. Young when they want any work in this line. Fine work and prompt delivery a specialty. Laundry will be sent over by Mr. Young Tuesday and be returned Saturday.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Disciples of Christ will be held at Newville, beginning August 26, and ending August 29. The orator of the occasion will be A. I. Hobbs, president of the Christian convention, DesMoines, Iowa. He is a very able speaker and extensively known. There will be other men of broad experience present. A good time is expected. Ample provisions will be made to accommodate all who besire to remain during the meeting.

Commissioners.

The commissioners meet Monday to settle about some bridge matters, and to lay plans for the construction of a cement walk along the east and south sides of the public square. The walk on the east will be put inside of the first line of shade trees, but the trees will be saved. This arrangement will leave ample room for hitching horses along there. In fact it is about the only place in the center of town where teams can be hitched, so that some such arrangment was not only necessary but wise. The new sidewalk will force the removal of the old water closets, and new ones will be erected.

Sets 'Em Right.

"The last seen of John Robbins, a strong free trader of Auburn, this state, he was carrying a Harrison and Reid campaign lantern lit, in broad day light along the streets of Wabash. The lantern was painted in red, white and blue, and trimmed in American tin. Is it possible John has repented of his sins?"—Wabash Plaindealer.

A part of the above item is true. In fact the most of it is true. I did drop into that quaint old village in the "Wybush" valley, where I found perfect quiet In fact it was so very quiet that a stranger would think the villagers were all in a profound slumber. I found it required more than an ordinary effort to arouse them from their lethargic state. After trying various schemes in vain, to create some enthusiasm, a happy thought struck me. Knowing the political complexion of that antiquated hamlet I thought I could arouse them to some extent by advertising a campaign lantern, with the names of Harrison and Reid painted in red letters on the globe, but in this I made a great mistake, not knowing that these people had so completely forsaken their former idol, that the sight of Harrison's name on the lantern globe was like flaunting a red cloth in the face of a mad bull. Yes, I have "repented of that sin," and will never carry a Harrison lantern again, particularly in Wabash.
JOHN ROBBINS.

Evergreen Cemetery.

Those who remember this beautiful spot as it appeared a few years ago, would hardly recognize it now, so great has been the change for the better. The natural lay of the ground is lovely, but for many years it had been sadly neglected, except as now and then an individual owner would fix up, and beautify his own little lot, and give it the appearance of an oasis, as compared with the neglected condition of the lots around. Now all this is changed. Since the new order of things, when the fine iron fence was built, an improvement was at once noticed. And this year, the association has secured the services of J. A. Sawyer to care for the ground, and he has proved his especial fitness for the work. Every nook and corner is cleaned up, trees trimmed, flowers saved from neglect and death, monuments rescued from ruin, paths cleaned, and long-forgotten graves brought to light and reverently cared for. This article cannot tell all, nor express the gratitude due to those now in charge. We ask our people to take a walk some day and view fully this quiet old "city of the dead", and see what a little energy, good judgment and good taste has done for it. This article must not be construed as having the remotest reference to the older cemetery across the road on the south. That will come up in chapter second.

The Mountains of Colorado.

Denver, Estes Park, Colorado Springs, Manitou and Glenwood Springs, may be reached from Chicago or St. Louis via the Burlington Route fast vestibuled express trains, handsomely equipped with every modern improvement. Write P. S. Eustis, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, for particulars.

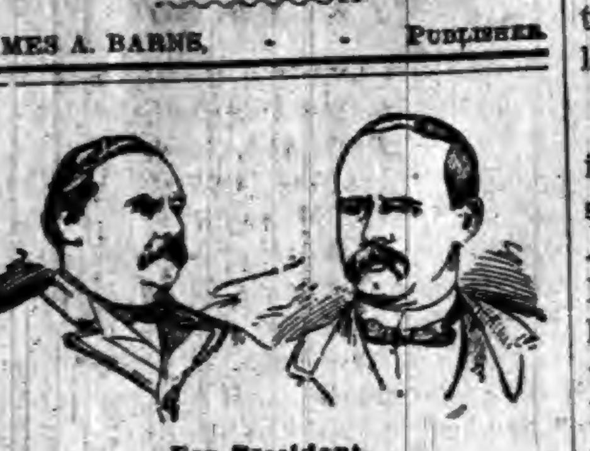
NOTICE.

The Auburn Mining Company will run the incandescent lights all night, commencing with the week of the fair.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.



For President,
GROVER CLEVELAND,
OF NEW YORK.
For Vice President,
ADLAI E. STEVENSON,
OF ILLINOIS.

If Thomas Platt
Won't "fry the fat"
Of Stalwart millionaires,
How can he, then,
Help frigid Ben
And set his campaign snares?

The love of tariff is the root of evil.

Even Mount Etna strikes against the McKinley bill.

Mr. Harrison is suffering intensely from that Carnegie feeling.

No one has yet detected even the slightest campaign nettle-rash on the skin of Tom Platt.

If the force bill is not an issue, why don't our Republican contemporaries denounce it?

Where was Carnegie when the light went out? Safe in Scotland, or somewhere thereabout.

The Carnegie tariff has hung itself up by the thumbs, but the people can be relied on to see that it is lowered.

Maybe Harrison selected Carter as his overseer because of that financier's knowledge of how to get at the mortgaged farmer.

With a $4,000,000 government contract on hand and only one-tenth of it carried out, it is folly to talk about dull times in the Carnegie establishment.

The President cannot afford to let Raum go, he says. He has the bear by the ears and wants somebody to help him loosen his grip. The country enjoys the spectacle too much to put an end to it.

Should Thomas B. Reed take up the subject of Southern war claims, he will doubtless not be so forgetful as not to acknowledge that the South is paying millions into the Treasury for pensions for Union soldiers.

Mr. Carnegie is one of a syndicate who will make an exhibit of works by American artists at the World's Fair. It is likely that Mr. Carnegie will enrich the collection with a spirited sketch of the battle of Homestead.

President Harrison has accepted from Chili $75,000 as full indemnity for the injuries inflicted upon the sailors of the Baltimore and a sufficient salve for our national honor. The general impression is that Minister Egan and Consul McCreery have made more than that out of Chili.

Chairman Carter, of the Republican National Committee, has some ideas worth carrying out. He has advised Candidate Reid to abandon his political headquarters and take a rest at his American castle. Reid is a heavy load to carry, and the more secluded he is the better for his party.

"President Harrison's methods of work are cool, sysytemtic, and constant." — Republican exchange. They are, indeed. There is nothing cooler, more systematic, nor more constant than the manner in which he has worked out of office and out of power ever Republican who presumes to deny that he is the divinely inspired head of the party.

Every ballot cast for Cleveland and Stevenson will be a vote in favor of a fair, impartial, honest and economical administration of the government; every ballot cast for Harrison and Reid will be a vote in favor of the perpetuation of trusts and monopolies, of bayonets at the polls, of absolute centralization of the government and a further depletion of the treasury.

One remark that Major McKinley made is being widely quoted, and bids fair to exert as much influence in the present campaign as did the famous three R's of the Rev. Burchard. The McKinley bill, said the Major, in a fit of blind idolatry and honest stultification, "is doing its own talking." In view of the rapid, direct and palpably evil effects of the measure, a more appropriate legend for the banners of the Democracy could not have been devised.

None but Harrison men have been placed on guard in selecting managerial timber for the national Republican campaign. The President has no idea of trusting the men who, great political leaders as they are, proclaimed from one end of the land to the other that they could not trust Harrison. When the end is reached your Uncle Benjamin will realize that this policy of proscription is a losing one.

The Republicans are already raising the cry that General Harrison is "a soldier who has never known defeat." A Presidential campaign in which the Republican party did not depend largely on a sentimental appeal to the war spirit would be a novelty indeed. How easy it is to arouse military enthusiasm in this country is shown by the fact that Ben Harrison expects to run partly on his military record.

New York World: It is not true that high tariffs make high wages. The claim is a lie, and the American workingmen are discovering that it is a lie. The tariff was increased in 1890 all the way from 10 to 50 per cent. Since then the only wages that have been increased, as Gov. Campbell said in Ohio last year, are those of the Pinkerton men—and since the well-nigh universal condemnation of their employment at Homestead their occupation in future is likely to be less.

There never was a more hypocritical plea urged by any set of men than the pretense of the Republican leaders that their party is the friend of the wage-earner. While the unemployed workingmen at Homestead have nothing to look forward to except a struggle with starvation, while the idle mills there are guarded with a chain of fortifications and patrolled by armed sentinels, the owner, who has been and is a beneficiary of the iron schedule in the McKinley bill, is enjoying himself in a foreign land.

There is an old East Indian fable that happily illustrates the yearning of the Republican party to protect the struggling workmen of this country. Once upon a time a kind, great-heated old elephant went out for a stroll in the jungle, and as he wandered about he came upon a herd of young partridges left by a heartless mother to die of hunger, thirst and exposure. The elephant's mighty sympathy went out to the wretched partridges, and he said: "You need protection." And he sat on them.

Indianapolis Sentinel: Chairman Harrity is right when he says the Democracy has nothing to conceal about this coming campaign. This is to be a campaign of principle, by the people and for the people. There is no occasion for sharp practice—there never is—and the fight must be open and above board. The position of the party is well defined, and because of its position it asks the support of all friends of good government. When Democracy has won its victory, as it seems certain it will, the people will know just what to expect.

Governor McKinley is still asserting that the foreigner pays the tax. If we may assume as true the Governor's assertion, it would be pertinent to inquire why, when he was framing a revenue bill, he did not entirely remove the internal revenue tax? That tax, of course, is paid by Americans. If he had added that tax to the tariff, then the foreigner would pay it all and the United States would be a happy nation, differing wholly from any other nation of whom the world has record in that its government sustains itself entirely without taking tribute from any of its people. Governor McKinley failed to give us enough of his good thing.

Now that Chili has paid $75,000 for the acts of an irresponsible mob it is proper to recall attention to the heavy amounts of the people's money expended in preparations for war with the little republic by the administration. There was never reason to believe that Chili would fail to respond to proper requests. The money expended for war materials with which a nation of 63,000,000 people were to fight a war with a feeble republic weakened by a civil war was money worse than wasted in the hope of gaining political capital. This is one part of the record appealed to by Mr. Depew on which the people will demand light as the campaign progresses in accordance with the suggestions of the railroad president.

Detroit Free Press: The efforts of the Republican soothsayers to eliminate the force bill issue from the campaign are heroic. They hold that because the Lodge scheme has once been defeated, despite Mr. Harrison's urging, it must not be considered as a present issue. This is ingenious but not convincing. The McKinley party gave this obnoxious measure the place of honor in the Minneapolis platform, thus indorsing the centralizing idea of John I. Davenport and all his disciples. It was done to give g. o. p. a stronger grip upon the administration should it again be secured. They must now face the music, for should President Harrison go so far as to promise a veto of such a bill, in the event of passing Congress and reaching him, the country could only attribute his pledge to the policy of "anything to win," which has adopted.

RALLY ROUND THE FLAG

DEMOCRACY GETTING TOGETHER HARMONIOUSLY.

A Long List of Damaging Blunders Made by Republicans and the Administration—The People's Party a Delusion and a Device of the Enemy.

Pull Together.

The election of Cleveland will depend on a united Democracy. In New York the factions are getting together, differences are healing and enthusiasm is growing.

It is the Republicans and not the Democrats who are blundering in this campaign.

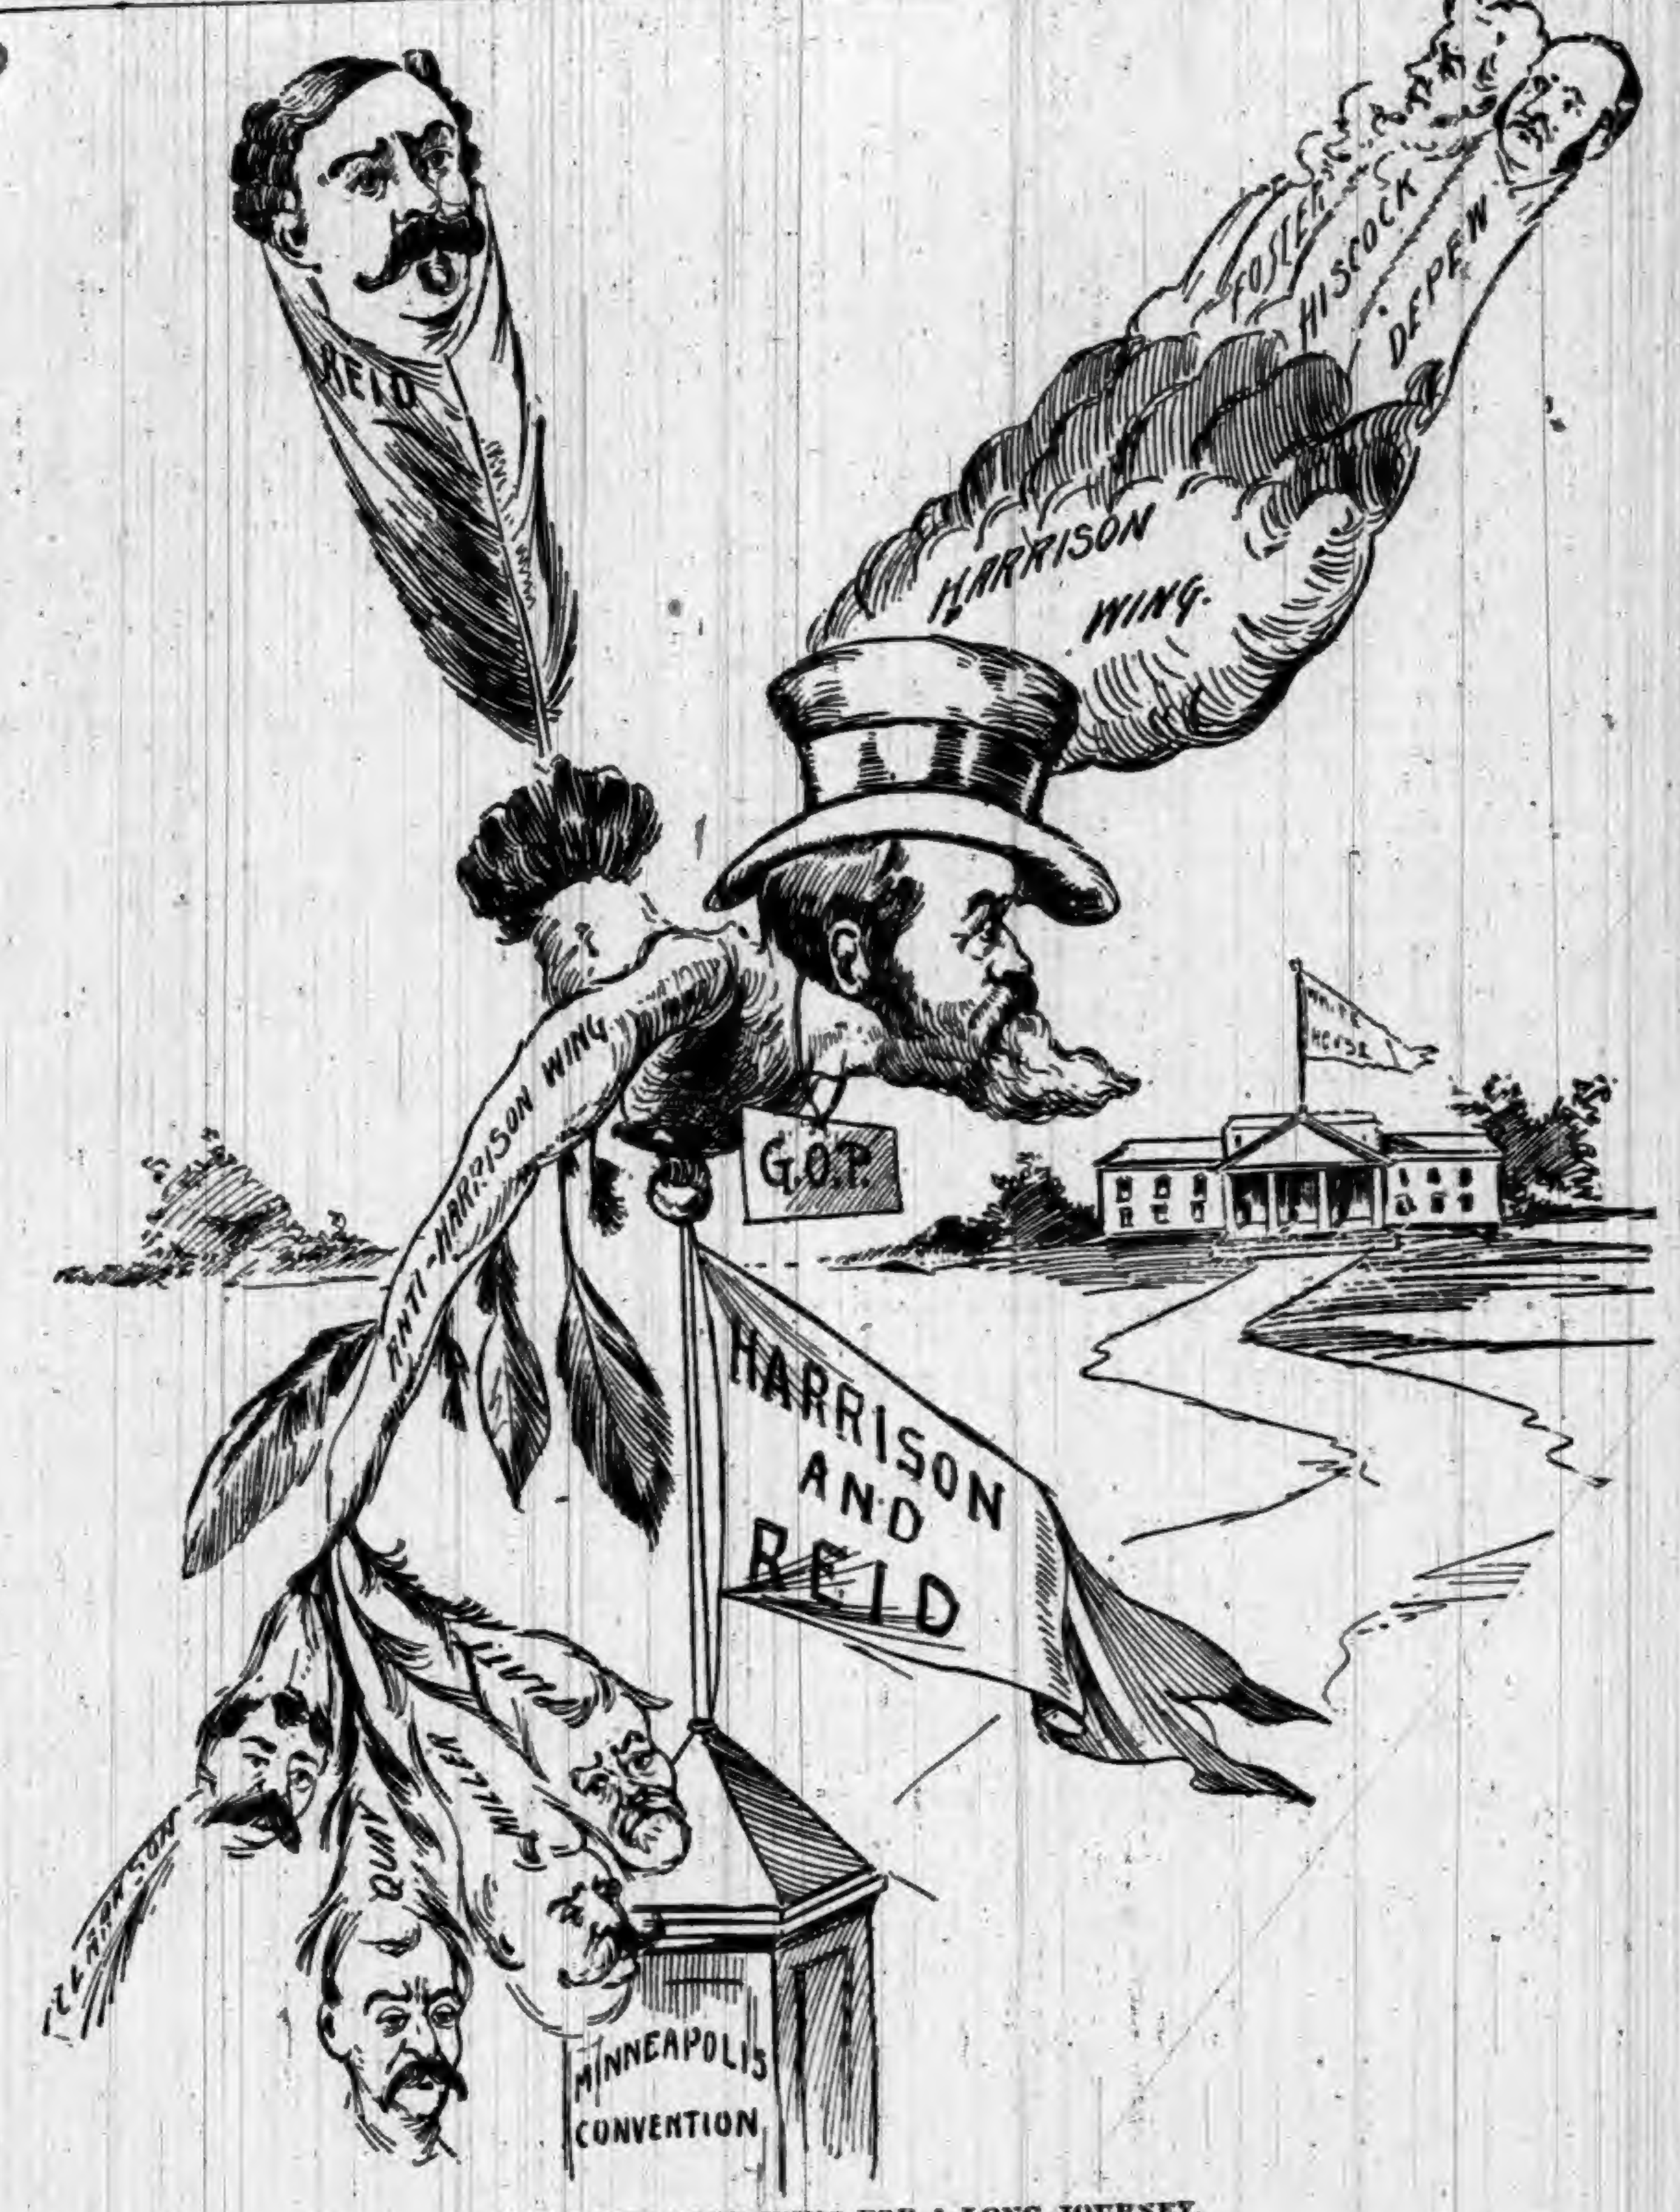
Blaine's attempt to get the nomination at Minneapolis was a blunder.

Mr. Harrison's refusal to consent to the selection of Mr. Clarkson as Chairman of the Republican Committee was a blunder.

The choice of a "hired lobbyist" for that position was a blunder.

The opposition to the confirmation of Judge Shiras, promoted by Senators Quay and Cameron, was a blunder.

The appointment of a negro postmaster at Charleston, S. C., was a blunder.



ONLY ONE GOOD WING FOR A LONG JOURNEY.

—Truth.

The withdrawal of the nomination was another blunder.

The retention of Raum is a blunder.

The McKinley bill is a blunder of such stupendous proportions that it reaches the dignity of a crime.

But all of these will avail nothing unless Democrats North, South, East and West realize the importance of success in this campaign, and work in every State, certain or doubtful, as if the election of Mr. Cleveland depended on the electoral vote of that State.

Especially is it time for Southern Democrats to pull together for the success of the Chicago ticket.

The People's party is a delusion: it is a device of the enemy. Even if successful it would only keep the word of promise to the ear and break it to the hope.

But its success is impossible. It is not a compact organization appealing to the sympathy and the intelligence of the American people. It is a gathering of irreconcilable elements, appealing to class prejudices, under the command of wornout political demagogues, and can no more hold together than a rope of sand.

Here are the great issues for 1892:

Freer trade and wider markets.

Rigid economy in public expenditures.

Home Rule and no Force bill.

The iniquitous tariff confiscates one-fourth of the products of the farm.

Cotton was exported last year nominally worth $250,000,000.

Had this been invested in just such goods as the farm needs, had it been paid for in clothing, in household furniture, in carpets, tin pans and cans, in axes, shovels, bagging twine, ties, etc., the duty on the return cargo would have been $125,000,000.

Had half been invested in sugar and other articles on the free list, and the remainder in taxed articles, the duty would have been $62,500,000.

At the lowest estimate the tariff reduced the value of the cotton crop one-fourth.

The People's party talk about more money; what the farmer needs first of all is more wealth, and the tariff robs him—make no mistake about that sentence—the tariff robs him of one-fourth of all the wealth he produces.

The currency question is important, but it is not imperative. The first step toward currency reform is tariff reform.

We are adding annually $54,000,000 to our money in circulation; let us wait and watch the effect.

In 1870 the money in circulation was $770,312,000, in 1880 it was $1,022,685,000, in 1890 it was $1,498,072,709, or an increase of nearly 100 per cent. in twenty years. In 1880 the circulation per capita was $20.37; in 1890 it was $23.96, it is in 1892 $24.38.

In England the circulation per capita is $18.60; in America $24.38; in France $44.

These figures do not show that we do not need currency reform, but they do show that something besides an inflation of the currency is needed to restore prosperity.

But while we have been increasing the currency we have been increasing the taxes. We have had more currency but less wealth. The McKinley bill was a bill to increase the tariff, and to-day we have a worse than war tariff.

Back of the McKinley bill stalks the force bill. The Republican platform indorses this measure; the Republican candidate for President approves it; Mr. Reid's journal has been its most earnest advocate.

There is no mistake about this. The moment the Republican party feels itself strong enough, Federal supervisors, under the direction of some unscrupulous man like Davenport, will be stationed at every voting precinct in the South. The defeat of the force bill is not final until we have placed a Democratic President in the White House.

The third issue of importance is Federal extravagance.

The annual expenses of government have swollen to dangerous proportions. The pension list is a menace to free government, for it is a huge bribery fund.

In 1867 the pension list required $21,000,000; interest on the public debt was $143,781,591.

In 1892 the pension list is $150,000,000; the interest charge is $35,000,000.

In 1878 the ordinary expenditures of the government—excluding interest and debt redemption—had fallen to $134,463,452.

In 1891 these same expenditures reached the enormous sum of $317,825,549. Here is the itemized comparison:

War	$32,154,147	$48,720,065
Navy	17,365,301	26,113,896
Indians	4,629,280	8,527,468
Pensions	27,137,019	124,415,951
Miscellaneous	53,177,703	110,048,167
Total	$134,463,452	$317,825,549

In addition there was a heavy pension deficiency, and the postoffice appropriations, which are chiefly met by postage.

Here we have a picture of the political situation:

A robber tariff.

A force bill threatening.

Extravagance everywhere.

These are the evils which must be cured by Democratic supremacy. Is this a time for Southern Democrats to wander off after strange gods? They must choose not between Cleveland and Weaver, but between Cleveland and Harrison. There is no alternative. Mr. Harrison or Mr. Cleveland will be the next President. The election of Cleveland means freer trade, lower taxes, economy in public expenditures, home rule.

The election of Harrison means hard times, higher taxes, restricted trade, corruption and extravagance, negro postmasters in the South and the force bill.

Look on these two pictures, farmers, grangers, Alliance men, Third Party men, Democrats and patriots, and then decide how you will cast your votes.—Courier-Journal.

Will Carter Be Retained?

Will President Harrison retain smart "Tom" Carter, agent for "The Footprints of Time," at the head of the Republican National Committee? Will the President in this manner condone the conduct of the man who some years ago through sharp practice secured for his employer, without warrantable equivalent, the farms and homes of many honest citizens of Iowa and Nebraska? Will the President, said to be a good and respectable man personally, consent to employ in the coming campaign a tool of this character? Will he deliberately retain in the management of party affairs a man with a bunco record?

Regretable as is the condition of affairs which renders it so, it is probable that President Harrison will do all these things. Although a reputable man personally, President Harrison politically has always shown a queer predilection for the utilization of rascality. Dudley, despised for his misdeeds by all decent persons, has been at once the President's benefactor and beneficiary. Judge Woods, who prostituted his position on the bench in condonation of Dudley's offense, has been rewarded with one of the most important and honorable positions on the bench. It was from Matthew S. Quay himself, acting in the office now filled by Carter, that President Harrison received his vitiated title to the Presidency.

It is not to be supposed that President Harrison selected Carter for the Chairmanship of the National Committee because of his record in Nebraska and Iowa. It may be that the President did not know that record. But there is every reason to believe that Carter was chosen because of the general reputation which he bore for sharpness, shrewdness, trickiness, and unscrupulousness in politics. He is exactly the sort of timber out of which the typical Chairman of the Republican National Committee is constructed.

There may be something in the cheap meanness of Chairman Carter's career as a book agent which will be offensive to President Harrison, but the chances are that the President will hold his nose with one hand and his Chaiaman with the other.—Chicago Herald.

The West in the Campaign.

The Republicans believe that Harrison will carry New York. Some talk of their ability to elect him without New York, but how are they going to do it? The talk of carrying West Virginia for him is moonshine, but even if it were not there is not a safe Republican State between Ohio and Kansas. Many Democrats believe that Ohio will go Democratic this year. We believe, however, that it will not. We believe that Ohio, California, Oregon, Maine, and Vermont are still safely Republican in presidential years. Ordinarily Pennsylvania may be added to the list, but there is no means of telling anything about what Pennsylvania will do this year.

Here in the Central West the Republicans can count on nothing surely. Indiana is now opposed to Harrison. There is little doubt that there is now in the State a plurality of at least 20,000 against him. The Democratic chances of carrying Illinois and Wisconsin are bttter than the chances of the Rebublicans. Iowa is at least as apt to give its electoral vote to Cleveland as it is to return to the Republican party. The Democrats will divide the vote of Michigan, and in Kansas and Nebraska Harrison is fighting both the Democrats and the Third party people of the Farmers' Alliances.

Where then do the custom house and postoffice Republicans expect to get an electoral majority? The blocks-of-five system cannot be successfully used over such a territory as this when the people have been educated to such a knowledge of its workings as they gained from the Harrison campaign of 1888 in Indiana, and in the absence of such means of control Harrison is beaten three months before the polls open.—St. Louis Republic.

Political Notes.

The people of the West are not financially prosperous and they never will or can prosper financially until they are released from the burden of paying tribute to the monopolies of the East. Under Republican politics the people of the West are forced to pay a considerable portion portion of their earnings to the sheep raisers of Ohio, the lumber syndicates of Michigan, the cordage trust of New York and hundreds of other pet industries for which the Republican party entertains a surprisingly tender feeling.—Des Moines Leader.

A cartoon may convey a falsehood as well as the types. When the tariff robbers put out a cartoon representing women drawing the plow in free-trade countries, the cartoon is highly inaccurate. The countries where women are hitched to plows are "protected" by high tariffs, as every one knows who is not ignorant of European affairs. Free-trade Britain, small and crowded as it is, pays higher wages than any protected country of Europe.

When you come to think that the Democrats of Illinois have fourteen Representatives in Congress in a delegation of twenty, a majority in the State Legislature, and a Democratic United States Senator, and in 1891 elected their State ticket by a majority of nearly ten thousand votes, it doesn't seem altogether unreasonable to put it in the list of debatable States.

Who is Adlai E. Stevenson? He is a Democrat who has the happy faculty of carrying a Congressional district normally 2,500 Republican, and a Democrat who knows nearly every voter in Illinois.

Instead of Pinkerton detectives at Carnegie's works why not start them out to detect the workmen whose wages have been raised through the monopoly tariff?

Even if Harrison can make the running without a handicap, he can never hope to carry his running-mate, Jacob Whitelaw Reid, to a successful finish.

Perhaps the reason Mr. Carnegie has not sent any more jugs to Mr. Harrison is because he needs them all himself.

KIRK'S
DUSKY
DIAMOND
TAR SOAP
Healthful, Agreeable, Cleansing.
Cures
Chapped Hands, Wounds, Burns, Etc.
Removes and Prevents Dandruff.
AMERICAN FAMILY SOAP.
Best for General Household Use.

A Piano SENT on trial
WE PAY FREIGHT
If you do not keep it.
We think you will keep it.
It pleases everybody.
It is an honest piano.
It is the WING Piano.

You may have a preference for some other make. Still you are a reasoning creature, and open to conviction, no doubt.

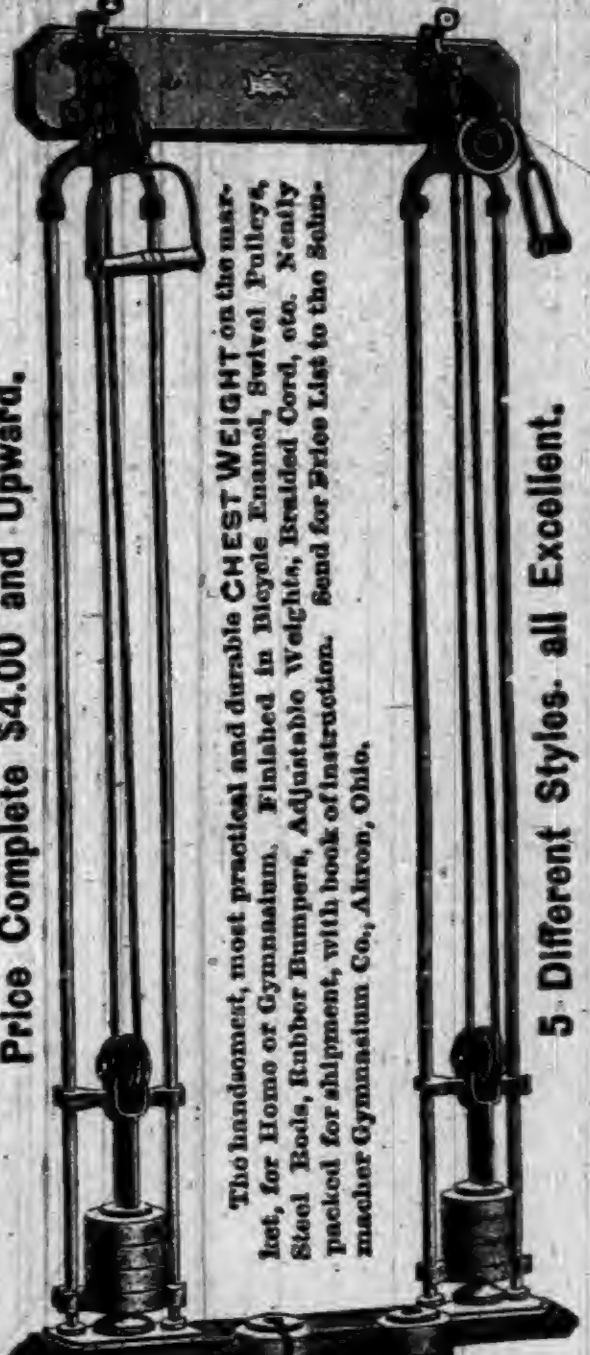
The question is too important to be settled without due thought. Years of satisfaction or of regret come with a piano. Does it wear well? The WING Piano does. "Look before you leap."

Whatever piano you buy, there are piano secrets you ought to know. Our free book tells them. Send a postal card for it. It may help you to buy a different piano. We take that risk. We also tell you the nearest dealer where you can see a WING Piano. It is worth looking at. So is the price. WING & SON, 245 Broadway, New York.

PATENTS
Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.
OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.
Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.
A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U. S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,
C. A. SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

RUPTURES CURED!
25 years experience in treating all varieties of Rupture enables us to guarantee a positive Cure. Send 4 cents in stamps for particulars and treatment on Hernia.
Volta-Medico Appliance Co.,
115 N. 8th St., ST. LOUIS, MO

DOES YOUR HEAD ACHE
IT WILL NOT IF YOU TAKE KRAUSE'S HeadacheCapsules
$500 Reward for any injurious substance found in these Capsules
Perfectly harmless.
Will Cure any kind of Headache.
Money refunded if not as we say. Sent postpaid on receipt of price,
Twenty-Five Cents.
NORMAN LICHTY MFG. CO.,
DES MOINES, IOWA.
For Sale by



BOSTON
CHEST WEIGHT
FOR YOUR HOME.
Price Complete $4.00 and Upward.
The handsomest, most practical and durable CHEST WEIGHT on the market, for Home or Gymnasium. Finished in Bicycle Enamel, Swivel Pulleys, Steel Rods, Rubber Bumpers, Adjustable Weights, Braided Cord, etc. Neatly packed for shipment, with book of instruction. Send for Price List to the Schumacher Gymnasium Co., Akron, Ohio.
5 Different Styles, all Excellent.
Send Stamp for Illustrated Price List.
The Schumacher Gymnasium Co. AKRON, OHIO.

WEIGHT ONLY 10 OUNCES.

A NEW 7-SHOT, .32-CAL. REVOLVER.
THE "PROTECTOR,"
QUICK, SAFE, RELIABLE.
Compact, Light, Effective.
The latest and best thing in the revolver line.
Can be carried in the vest pocket as easily as a watch. 50,000 sold in France last year.
A Novelty that sells at sight. Sample revolver and Cartridges $7. Will be sent C. O. D. by express, with privilege of examination, if 50 cts. accompanies order as a guarantee of good faith.
MINNEAPOLIS FIRE ARMS CO.,
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

PURE STEEL
ROOFING.
Metallic Weather Boarding,
Complete Ceilings,
Corrugated Sheeting,
Roofing Paints,
Iron Roofing,
Eave Troughs, Gutters and Spouting,
All forms of Sheet Metal for Building
(COMPLETE AND READY TO APPLY WHEN SHIPPED.)
WE WANT —AN— AGENT
In this town—an energetic workman to take orders and APPLY our materials in this vicinity.
Correspondence solicited; write for prices and terms.
SCOTT & CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.
ESTABLISHED 1872.

THE OLD DOCTOR'S
Cotton Root Pills
LADIES' FAVORITE.
ALWAYS RELIABLE and perfectly SAFE. The same as used by thousands of woman all over the United States, in the OLD DOCTORS private mail practice, for 38 years, and not a single bad result. Money returned if not as represented. Send 4 cents (stamps) for sealed particulars.
Dr. WARD & CO., 117 N. 9th St., St. Louis, Mo.

SWIFT BICYCLES SWIFT
OLDEST AND LARGEST MAKERS IN THE WORLD.
ESTABLISHED 32 YEARS.
IF YOU WANT EASE, COMFORT, RELIABILITY, SPEED, STYLE, QUALITY, AND THE BEST OF EVERYTHING, SEND TO US.
PRODUCT 108,000 BICYCLES
WE GUARANTEE OUR MACHINES SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS AND WARRANT EVERY ONE TO BE PERFECT.
COVENTRY MACHINISTS COMPANY, LTD.
SWIFT CHICAGO, BOSTON, SAN FRANCISCO. SWIFT
SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

FREE TO BOYS AND GIRLS
UNDER 18 YEARS OF AGE, without one cent of money
READ AND WRITE.
ANY boy or girl under 18 wanting an elegant High Grade Safety Bicycle can obtain it FREE without one cent of money. Shall give away, on easy conditions, 1,000 or more.
DESCRIPTION OF BICYCLE. The wheels are 26 inches with crescent steel rims and molded rubber tires and run on hardened steel cone bearings, adjustable to wear; geared to 46 inches; detachable cranks; four to five inches throw; frame finely enameled, with nickel trimmings. Each machine is supplied with tool bag, wrench and oiler. Equal to those sold in the market for $45. We have both boys' and girls' styles. We deliver the bicycle FREE of all charges anywhere in the United States.
READ THE TESTIMONY.
413 N. 38th St., PHILADELPHIA, PA., Feb. 22, 1892.
Western Pearl Co., Chicago, Ill.
Dear Gentlemen:—I received the Safety Bicycle last Saturday about 5 p. m. I was very much surprised at seeing such an elegant, handsome Safety. It is really nicer than I expected. By trials and testimonials I find your firm is reliable in its dealings and promises. I really cannot express my thanks for the nice Safety. Yours truly, Emil Dahlman.
Brighton, Mich., March 1st, 1892.
Western Pearl Co., Chicago, Ill.
Dear Sirs:—The Bicycle came promptly. The boy is overjoyed. He acted like a crazy child for awhile. Over and over he repeated, "It seems as if I were dreaming, but no, there it is"; and then he would go to it and pat it and talk to it. We have found you men of your word. Thanking you for your faithfulness to your word, I remain, Yours respectfully, H. A. Day, for Lee Day.
IF YOU WANT A BICYCLE WRITE AT ONCE.
WESTERN PEARL CO., 328 to 334 Dearborn Street, CHICAGO, ILL.

Boys, be Systematic.

No great work was ever accomplished without system. Did you ever stop to consider how much time is lost in this world for lack of system? A housekeeper will for lack of system fool away the morning hours and dinner time comes before the breakfast dishes are washed, simply because half a dozen things are under way at the same time, and no one thing accomplished. You sometimes ask a young man whom you know ought to have plenty of leisure, why he did not do such and such a thing, only to be answered: "I didn't have time." Why did he not have time? He was idling with a few friends, maybe, telling stories or what may be worse, doing nothing, and before he is aware of it his spare time was up—it had been wasted. You have no idea how much work can be accomplished in a day if there is only system and application. A few moments work at a certain time each day on some special object will accomplish that object before the worker is fairly aware of it, and at the same time will not interfere with the regular duties of the hour. Every moment is precious and under some systematic plan can be utilized for business or pleasure. The merchant who does business in a slip-shod way is not the man who succeeds. The mechanic who only works to kill time and lacks system in what he does is the one who always plods along in the same old rut. No matter how hard may be your work it can be made much easier by taking advantage of every minute of time and systemizing your operations according to the time you have and the work on hand. You can't let up on a job begun without danger of complicating affairs and increasing your work. You can't attend to half a dozen different things at the same time without slighting all of them. The only sure plan of success in life is to systemize your every action so that every move counts toward the object you would accomplish.—Peck's Sun.

Are You in Poor Health? Write To-Day.

The INDIANA MINERAL SPRINGS, near Attica, Warren County, Indiana, on the main line of the great Wabash Railroad, offers seekers after health combined with pleasure, everything that the heart could wish. A $150,000 hotel, a bath-house, steam-heated, electric-lighted, elegantly furnished, intelligently managed, and the use of the wonderful MAGNETIC MINERAL MUD and WATER BATHS, are a few of the attractions at a small expense. The surroundings are delightful and great physical benefit is sure to be derived from a visit to this noted resort. WRITE TO-DAY for a beautifully illustrated book, that will tell you all about it. It will be mailed free to any person, who will mention the name of this paper and send their address to F. Chandler, Gen. Pass. Agt. Wabash Railroad, St. Louis, Mo.

A Cowardly Husband's Refuge.

A friend who once traveled with the circus told me this: "Many years ago I was a clown in Forepaugh's. One of the lion tamers had a sharp-tongued wife who was so insanely jealous of him that she kept the poor man in a constant state of trepidation. One afternoon she caught him talking to a pretty bareback rider, whereupon she secured a horse-whip and chased her husband until finally he took refuge by jumping into the lion's cage and hiding himself behind the animals. 'Ugh! you miserable coward,' she cried, angrily tugging at the bars, 'come out and face me if you dare!'"—Home Journal.

MAN'S system is like a town, it must be well drained, and nothing is so efficient as Beecham's Pills. For sale by all druggists.

Questionable Prospects.

He—Your father does not withhold his consent to our marriage because I am his employe, I hope?

She—Oh, no. He says he'll give his consent as soon as you get your salary raised.—Life.

FITS.—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila, Pa.

Pitch and Toss.

Bifkin—Every one that rides in a Fifth avenue stage pitches into them.

Snifkin—Yes, and out of them.—Life.

DR. KILMER'S
SWAMP-ROOT

Kidney, Liver and Bladder Cure.

Rheumatism,
Lumbago, pain in joints or back, brick dust in urine, frequent calls, irritation, inflammation, gravel, ulceration or catarrh of bladder.

Disordered Liver,
Impaired digestion, gout, billious-headache. SWAMP-ROOT cures kidney difficulties, La Grippe, urinary trouble, bright's disease.

Impure Blood,
Scrofula, malaria, gen'l weakness or debility.

Guarantee—Use contents of One Bottle, if not benefited, Druggists will refund to you the price paid.
At Druggists, 50c. Size, $1.00 Size.
"Invalids' Guide to Health" free—Consultation free.
DR. KILMER & CO., BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A harmless positive cure for the worst form of Female Complaints, all Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacements, also Spinal Weakness and Leucorrhœa.

It will dissolve and expel tumors from the uterus in an early stage of development, and checks the tendency to cancerous humors.

It removes faintness, flatulency, weakness of the stomach, cures Bloating, Headache, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression, Indigestion, that feeling of Bearing down, causing pain, weight, and backache.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

All Druggists sell it, or sent by mail, in form of Pills or Lozenges, on receipt of $1.00. Liver Pills, 25c. Correspondence freely answered. Address in confidence, LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. CO., LYNN, MASS.

BEST POLISH IN THE WORLD,
RISING SUN STOVE POLISH

DO NOT BE DECEIVED with Pastes, Enamels, and Paints which stain the hands, injure the iron, and burn off. The Rising Sun Stove Polish is Brilliant, Odorless, Durable, and the consumer pays for no tin or glass package with every purchase.
HAS AN ANNUAL SALE OF 3,000 TONS.

TWO NOTED OFFICIALS.

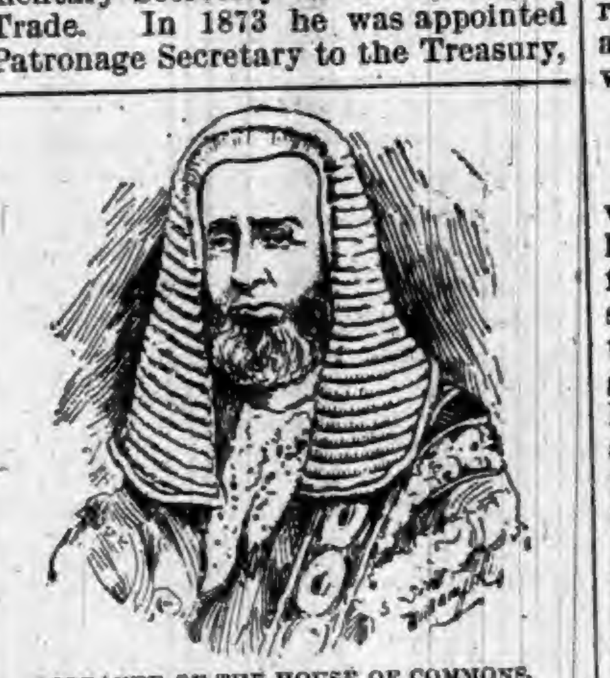
MARKED DIFFERENCES BETWEEN TWO SPEAKERS.

The Right Honorable Arthur Wellesley Peel and Speaker Crisp—Wherein They Are Alike and Wherein They Differ—An Interesting Contrast in Public and Private Life.

The English Speaker.

WHEN the story of the nineteenth century in the popular branch of the British Parliament shall have been written the name of Peel will be found in bold type beside those of Gladstone, Disraeli, O'Connor, Parnell and other great parliamentarians who have therein figured. In the first half of this century one of the commanding figures in the House of Commons was that of Sir Robert Peel, and in the second half a central and equally commanding figure is that of his youngest son, the Right Hon. Arthur Wellesley Peel, the present Speaker, whose portrait, from a recent photograph, is here given.

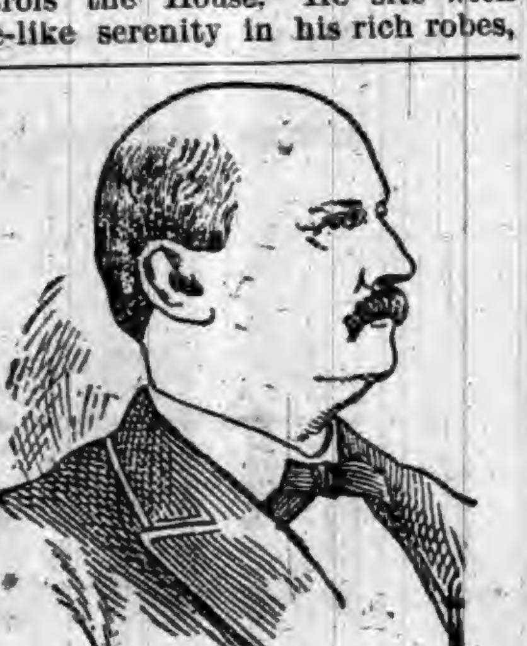
For many years before his election to the Speakership in 1884, during Mr. Gladstone's second administration, Mr. Peel was one of the best known men in the House of Commons. For twenty-seven years he has uninterruptedly represented Warwick at Westminister. Three years after his admission to the "Assembly of Great Thinkers," as the Anglo-Saxons called the Parliament of their day, Mr. Peel became Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade. In 1873 he was appointed Patronage Secretary to the Treasury, and for nine months in 1880 he was Under Secretary to the Home Department. To the reader unfamiliar with English institutions it may be necessary to state that a seat in the House of Commons, instead of being inconsistent with the holding of these positions, is necessary to them, as in the case of cabinet officers.



SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Attached to the Speakership is a salary of $25,000 a year and an official residence. Detached from it, but shining in the distance, is the luster of a patent of nobility and a seat in the house of lords, besides a retiring pension of $20,000 a year. During his term of office the Speaker is the first commoner of the land, taking precedence of others by custom and legislative enactment.

The political influence of the English Speaker is infinitesimal compared to that wielded by the Speaker of the United States Congress. Here the presiding officer never, or hardly ever, seeks to divert the course of legislation, nor does he name the committees of the House. His duty is mainly to insist on a strict observance of the rules, and to keep a close eye on all those things which involve the "dignity of the House," to which Englishmen attach such immense importance. For his peculiar duties Mr. Peel is well equipped. He possesses a fine business aptitude, a full knowledge of parliamentary usages, and a disposition that can be serene or severe, urbane or austere, as occasion demands the exercise of those essential qualities. He has also the physical qualifications of a sonorous voice and a commanding presence. His desk is not gavel-battered like our Speaker's, for, as a rule, he easily controls the House. He sits with Jove-like serenity in his rich robes, and when he rises it would be considered a gross breach of parliamentary good manners if any other member remained standing.



SPEAKER CRISP.

As Speaker Mr. Peel is the principal trustee of the British Museum. He is also Chairman of the Caledonian Canal Trust. In the early part of the century the government advanced a sum of money toward the expense of the canal, and in order that it might be represented on the trust a statute was passed making the Speaker of the day chairman ex-officio of the undertaking. He is also trustee for the Duke of Wellington of the famous Strathfieldsaye estate in Hampshire.

The American Speaker.

Speaker Crisp does not get half as much pay for presiding over the noisy branch of Congress as is given the Speaker of the House of Commons in England. But he does not have to wear the curly wig. His head is not upholstered. That is one compensation for the difference in salary. Though the Speaker of the American House wears less hair and draws less pay than the corresponding official of the British Government, he occupies immensely greater influence in legislative affairs, and his relative rank in the government is higher. The Speaker of the House is properly next in rank to the President. The Vice President is great chiefly in the fact of his nearness in succession to the President and the possibility that he may become President, but as long as he remains merely Vice President he is an alternate to rank and a comparatively unimportant personage in the government. The Speaker of the House, however, has the appointment of committees who shall take charge of the business of the House, and he practically dictates the policy of the House. There have, perhaps, been some Speakers of small influence, but they have been exceptions. Speakers Reed, Blaine, Randall, and Carlisle each in his time exercised a powerful influence upon legislation.

In appearance there is a striking contrast between Speaker Crisp and Speaker Peel, even leaving out of consideration the difference in their dress while exercising their official functions.

The only other office the Speaker holds by reason of his position in the House is that of Chairman of the Committee on Rules, to which Committee is referred all questions of the order of business. The Speaker usually dominates that committee, though, of course, he may be voted down by a majority of his four associates.

He has no perquisites of power beyond his salary of $10,000 a year, can hold no other office under the government during his incumbency as Speaker, and has neither title nor pension after retirement from the office. It is an office won through popularity and ability and held only by those qualities which give a man a commanding position in his party. It is in the power of the Speaker to reward his friends and punish his enemies in many ways, but though the contest which resulted in Mr. Crisp's election was a hot one, there have been no punishments for those who preferred another to him, and the rewards have been measured out to ability and trustworthiness almost without regard to faction.

Story of a Missing Diamond.

One night a newly engaged couple were going to a ball. In the carriage he asked her to let him see her ring for a moment, some peculiarity of its sparkle having caught his eye, although why she should have had her glove off no one can tell. She gave him the ring and he examined it for some time in the light of the carriage window. When the carriage stopped she asked him for the ring.

"But I gave it back to you and you took it."

"No, you did not. I have not had it since I gave it to you."

Lights were brought, search was made, clothes were shaken—every place where a diamond ring could possibly lie concealed was uncovered. The ring could not be found. Each persisted, he that he gave the ring back, she that she did not receive it. Assertion became argument; argument changed from heat to ice; communication was interrupted and finally ceased; the engagement was broken. They went their ways and each married another. One day several years later the woman, ripping up an old ball dress, found in the heading of one of the ruffles a diamond ring. It was the lost engagement ring. She wrote to her former lover a letter of apology and explanation, but the incident had turned the current of both their lives. This is a true story.—New York Sun.

Popular, but Erroneous.

"The dramatic manner in which newspaper reports of railroad wrecks frequently refer to the heroic engineer who died with his hand on the throttle is amusing," said the General Superintendent of a Chicago line. "Of course nothing too good can be said about a man who loses his life at his post of duty, but the plain fact is that an engineer who 'dies with his hand on the throttle' does so because he has nothing else to take hold of. I have made a few runs myself in my time and I speak by the card. It is generally admitted by experienced locomotive engineers that the safest thing to do when a collision is about to occur is to drop down behind the boiler head and grasp the throttle regulator with both hands. This may prevent the engineer from being hurled out of the cab, and the boiler head protects him to a certain extent from being crushed when the cab is telescoped from the front. Of course if the tender is thrown upon the cab he will be caught from the rear, but he takes his chances at the best. If he jumps he is very liable to strike a stone pile or to have the engine fall over on him before he can get away, and I think the records will show that fully as many engineers are killed by jumping as by sticking to their cabs and holding to the throttle regulator, which is the most convenient and substantial means of support."

How Rapidly We Think.

Helmholtz showed that a wave of thought would require about a minute to traverse a mile of nerve, and Hirsch found that a touch on the face was recognized by the brain and responded to by a manual signal in the seventh of a second. He also found that the speed of sense differed for different organs, the sense of hearing being responded to in the sixth of a second, while that of sight required only one-fifth of a second to be felt and signaled. In all these cases the distance traversed was about the same, so the inference is that images travel more slowly than sounds or touch. It still remained, however, to show the portion of this interval taken up by the action of the brain. Professor Donders, by very delicate apparatus, has demonstrated this to be about seventy-five thousandths of a second. Of the whole interval forty thousandths are occupied in the simple act of recognition, and thirty-five thousandths for the act of willing response.—House and Home.

A MOST scurrilous cartoon was issued by the tories in England, picturing Gladstone being carried off by Satan, and yet England sometimes presumes to criticise American politics!

A PIECE of wood one inch long and one-half inch thick was removed from the cheek of a Reading, Pa., young man. The splinter entered his cheek six years ago in a coasting accident.

Almost a Miracle.

On the day of the Wyoming massacre in 1778, when more than three hundred persons—men, women and children, were butchered by the Indians, Amos Stafford, a youth of nineteen years, had what might almost be called a miraculous escape.

According to the account given by Mr. Stone in his "Reminiscences of Saratoga," young Stafford was one of a reserve of riflemen. Shortly before the engagement ended the third man from him in the line fell, then the second, then the man next to him. His own turn would come next. By this time, however, he had perceived that these fatal shots were preceded by a puff of smoke from behind a certain log.

An Indian was picking off the reserve. Amos kept his eye upon the spot. Presently a head appeared above the log. Instantly a bullet sped thither, and danger from that quarter was at an end.

Soon the order was given to retreat. Stafford waited to reload, and then ran to an adjacent wheat field, where he hoped to lie concealed till dark; but the Indians stumbled upon him, and he was forced to jump up and run. As he ran he glanced over his shoulder. An Indian was upon his heels, with tomahawk lifted.

Amos ran—he could do nothing else—and pretty soon came to a brush fence. He cleared it at a bound, faced about, and as his pursuer mounted it he shot him dead.

Then he threw his musket into the rushes and plunged into the river. A shower of bullets followed him, but he dived, and on coming up struck out for the opposite shore. Thence he ran behind a ridge and jumped into a marshy spring. An Indian passed near him, but he suspected nothing.

Young Stafford remained there over night, hearing meanwhile the cries and shrieks of the garrison of Forty Fort, whom the Indians were massacring. The next two nights he passed in a hollow tree. The woods were alive with savages. Once two or three sat upon the log in which Amos was lying. He heard the bullets rattle in their pouches. They even looked into the hollow, but a spider—so Stafford says—had spun a web over the entrance, and of course the Indians took that as proof that nobody was hidden inside.

Three days and nights he lay concealed, without food, and worse yet, without clothing—for he had stripped while swimming the river—till nature could stand it no longer. He crawled out of his den, and determined to give himself up to the first persons he should meet. These happened to be a party of Tories.

"God bless you, Amos!" said one of them. "How came you here in this condition?"

They gave him food and clothing, and on the second night he escaped. The next morning he reached the American camp, to which he brought the first news of the defeat and massacre at Wyoming.

Rousing Sleepers.

In the olden time church services were so long—prayers, hymns, and sermons—that it is no wonder that many of the hard-worked people in the congregations could not keep awake. Both in the old world and in the new various devices were resorted to for the purpose of banishing sleep from the church. Among these was not the modern one of making the services short and interesting. Our English fathers tried several methods of breaking up the offensive practice. One method was that known as "bobbing," a term thus explained by a writer in Notes and Queries:

"My mother can remember Betty Finch, a very masculine sort of woman, being the 'bobber' at Holy Trinity Church in the year 1810. She walked very majestically along the aisles during divine service, armed with a great long stick like a fishing-rod, which had a bob fastened to the end of it; and when she caught any sleeping or talking, they got a 'nudge.'"

Doctor Thirlwall, Bishop of St. David's, gives in one of his "Letters" an amusing account of a Kerry custom for awakening sleepers in church.

"It is by ancient custom a part of the sexton's duty to perambulate the church during service time with a bell in his hand, to look carefully into every pew, and whenever he finds any one dozing to ring the bell.

"He discharges this duty, it is said, with great vigilance, intrepidity and impartiality, and consequently with the happiest effect on the congregation; for as everybody is certain that if he or she gives way to drowsiness the fact will be forthwith made known through the church by a peal which will direct all eyes to the sleeper, the fear of such a visitation is almost always sufficient to keep every one on the alert."

Aphorisms.

The greatest remedy for anger is delay.—Seneca.

Apologies only account for that which they do not alter.—Disraeli.

Blessings may appear under the shape of pains, losses and disappointments, but let him have patience and he will see them in their proper figure.—Addison.

Calamities that seem insupportable when looked at from a distance lose half their power if met and resisted with fortitude. — James Fenimore Cooper.

Cheerfulness, the character of common hope, is, in strong hope, like glimpses of sunshine on a cloudy day. —Joanna Baillie.

Conditions are pleasant or grievous to us according to our sensibilities.— Lew Wallace.

Fine sense and exalted sense are not half so useful as common sense. —Pope.

To hear complaints is wearisome alike to the wretched and the happy. —Johnson.

Equality is the life of conversation, and he is as much out who assumes to himself any part above another as he who considers himself below the rest of society.—Steele.

IT is pretty certain that Corot, the French artist, did not paint more than 700 sketches, and yet there have been 12,000 examples of his work palmed upon a picture-buying public, which has only just begun to learn that auction-catalogued pictures are not always what they pretend to be.

HUMOR OF THE WEEK.

STORIES TOLD BY FUNNY MEN OF THE PRESS.

Many Odd, Curious, and Laughable Phases of Human Nature Graphically Portrayed by Eminent Word Artists of Our Own Day.

Scissored Smiles.

THE male voice a girl likes best to hear—the one with a "ring" to it.

HE—"No one can understand 'what the wild waves are saying.'" She—"Of course not. The ocean is so very deep."—New York Herald.

FIRST MAMMA—"I see you have got your boys some pretty suits." Second Mamma—"Yes, that's the only way I can keep them in check."— Texas Siftings.

A WEST PHILADELPHIA maiden is mourning the loss of her fine poll parrot. She attempted to force it to sing "Ta-ra-ra-boom-de-ay."—Philadelphia Record.

THE pen is mightier than the sword; and does a good deal more cutting, too.

THERE is a family of the name of Pancake in Dade County, Mo. What's the batter with that name, anyhow? —Kansas City Journal.

A KANSAS newspaper man wrote a communication to a rival editor calling him an ass, and then signed it, "Yours fraternally."—Texas Siftings.

"THEY say McGinnis made a very effective speech at the political meeting last night." "Effective? You bet! 'Barkeep,' he said, 'charge the whole bill to me,'"—Chicago Tribune.

MRS. GADDER—Have you seen Mrs. Hemphill since her husband eloped with the cook? Mrs. De Gush—Yes. She doesn't care; she was going to give the cook notice, anyway.—Brooklyn Life.

DELICATE TO A FAULT.—Mrs. Slimson—My Clara is an awfully delicate girl; she can't stand anything. Mrs. Von Blumer—Neither can my Maude. She put on a sailor hat the other day, and it made her seasick.—Cloak Review.

"HOW DO you like your new flannel shirts, Wiggins?" "Oh, they're great! Had 'em washed a couple of times, and now I'm keeping them to wear for wristbands in the winter."—Chicago News.

"'RASTUS kissed me on bofe lips larst night," said Dinah. "Gwuffum hyah! Not bofe at once, chile?"— Judge.

"PAPA, I guess there isn't any plumbers in heaven," said a 6-year-old youngster one rainy day. "Why not, my son?" "Because the sky seems to leak so easy."—Texas Siftings.

STRANGER—"What do you have the wires on that barbed-wire fence so close together for?" Missouri Farmer —"So that when the river rises we can use it for a fish-net."—Judge.

LONG—"I know an artist who painted a runaway horse. It was so natural that the beholders jumped out of the way." Downing—"Humph! My friend McGilp painted a portrait of a lady that was so natural that he had to sue her for his bill."—Life's Calendar.

MRS. B.—Have you any near relatives, Norah? Norah—Only an aunt, mum; an' she isn't what you might call near, for it's in New Orleans she lives, mum.—Brooklyn Life.

THE WESTERN BAD MAN.—Arizona Abe—Didn't yeh shoot him when he insulted yeh? Howling Hank—Naw. Thar wus nuthin' around that I could shoot from behind.—New York Herald.

"DON'T yez be toird av that policeman yet?" said the up-stairs girl to the cook. "Yis. But Oi can't have any other company." "Why?" "Because Michael says that if Oi do he'll arrest 'im fur contimpt of coort."— Washington Star.

BOGGS—Funny how the papers are all the time talking about the plant of an iron mill; next thing they'll be telling us that this strange plant produces flowers. Joggs—They do already; you may read every day about the output of steel blooms.

IT is altogether useless to try to talk politics to the man who was married only a week ago.—Somerville Journal.

JACK TAR—We ain't so very fur from land, Jim. There has been a yacht along here lately. Jim—How do you know? Jack Tar—See all them champagne corks.—Grip.

WAITER (seeing dissatisfaction on guest's face)—Wasn't that fowl cooked to suit you, sir? Guest— Yes, all but the bill; just take that back and tell them to boil it down a little.—Harper's Weekly.

HOW IT does recall old times to see your boy come home with another boy's shirt on and his back sunburned from his hair to his heels! It makes a fellow want to be a boy and go swimming again himself.—Bradford Era.

A YOUNG man, his eye blackened, his collar and necktie disordered, his coat torn, his hair tossing wildly and wearing no hat, was rushing along one of the streets of the Back Bay when he encountered his best girl. "Oh, Henry!" she exclaimed, in an agony of distress, "I know it all! You have seen father."—Boston Post.

"GEORGE WASHINGTON must have been a mere boy when he was inaugurated President," said Mrs. Wilkins. "I saw an engraving of the scene the other day, and Washington was in short trousers."—Harper's Bazar.

MRS. VAN CRUGER—"It strikes me, my dear, that flirting has become almost a science. It reminds me of chess." Edith Theodora — "Yes, mamma, that's so. You can't get along without the men, you know." —Boston Budget.

THE new Kansas State-house, on which over $2,000,000 has been expended, and which is not yet completed, is said to be in danger of falling down, owing to poor material used. The large stones at the base of the dome are splitting and crumbling, and the entire structure is endangered. The Legislature, through State pride, required Kansas stone to be used, and the result is a defective building. State pride should be tempered with common sense.

The Insane Once and Now.

The old idea was that insanity and sanity were separated by a very broad boundary line; that the mind as a whole was either sound or unsound. Such, too, were the methods of dealing with the insane that no greater calamity could befall one than to be pronounced "crazy." A modern prison was a paradise to the "bedlam" of a century ago.

It is now known that insanity is merely a disease of the brain; that the brain may be affected in every variety of degree, and in different parts; and that if taken in time, and with appropriate treatment, the brain may be healed and sanity restored. Of course, as other organs, if once inflamed or congested, are afterwards somewhat more likely to be again similarly attacked, so it is with the brain.

Nothing more measures the vast change in the manner of dealing with the subjects of this ailment than the fact that it is now a very common thing for murderers to plead insanity as a bar to conviction. Hence, in part, it is that Massachusetts, now commits to the asylum for life—subject to a possible pardon by the Governor and Council— one adjudged "not guilty of homicide by reason of insanity." If Guiteau had been tried in Massachusetts, he would probably be now alive within the walls of an insane asylum.—Youth's Companion.

Frightful and Nothing Less.

Are the ravages in physical stamina caused by diseases of the kidneys and bladder. Oftentimes, moreover, they are swiftly progressive to a fatal termination. Beginning with simple inactivity of the organs, renal disease, if unchecked by intermediate death or relief, winds up in destruction of the kidneys. This is terrible to contemplate, dreadful to undergo. Anticipate the danger by arousing and regulating the kidneys, when inactive, with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a most efficient diuretic as well as a general alterative and tonic of unexampled excellence. It performs a further good office for the system in promoting activity of the kidneys, in that it more effectually expels through these channels impurities which produce rheumatism and dropsy. Malaria, constipation, billiousness, liver trouble, nervousness, dyspepsia, all succumb to its beneficent action.

Not at Home.

At a cricket match played in the park of a well-known baronet in Lussex there was a scarcity of available talent, says London Tid-Bits. It was necessary, in consequence, to secure the services of one of the footmen of the hall as umpire. In due course the baronet, his master, went in and the village bowler was put on. The second time he bowled the baronet stopped the ball with his leg and the cry of "How's that?" was raised. It was the footman who had to answer, and, turning to his master, he exclaimed, in a half-apologetic tone. "I'm afraid I must say, 'Not at home,' Sir George." "Not at home?" cried the baronet, "What do you mean?" "Well, then, Sir George," James made answer, "if you will have it, it means that you're hout!"

Punishment of Persian Thieves.

In Persia the first time a man is caught in the act of stealing he is "bastinadoed" (beaten on the soles of the feet with an iron rod) and made to sign a paper declaring that that will be his last offense. If he forgets this when the soles of his feet quit burning and tries it again, the second offense calls for the amputation of his right hand. If he is still obdurate and goes at it left-handed the third, and, of course, last resort, is decapitation.

ALBERT BURCH, West Toledo, Ohio, says: "Hall's Catarrh Cure saved my life." Write him for particulars. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

On the Run.

Miss Redbud—My mother tells me, Colonel, that you are a great traveler.

Col. Alpenstock—Yes, Miss Redbud. Since the war I have done little else.

Miss Redbud (impressively)—I presume that was what started you off.— Puck.

DANGER AHEAD SIGNALLED BY A COUGH is averted with HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR.

PIKE'S TOOTHACHE DROPS Cure in one Minute.

Too Bad.

"I'm going to change my laundress."

"Why so?"

"She's lost that dude customer of hers whose swell shirts I used to get by mistake."—Harper's Bazar.

A Practical Farmer.

I received great benefit from the use of Swamp-Root. I suffered for some length of time with chronic kidney difficulty, accompanied by intense pain in the back and constitution generally run down. It is a great medicine and shall always be kept on my farm. I recommend it to all my neighbors.

S. A. JACKSON, Liberty, Ind.

How many of the wrong impressions of life we receive from sycophants.

Mrs. Richardson.

My Wife

Was miserable all the time with kidney complaint, but began improving when she had taken Hood's Sarsaparilla one week, and after taking three bottles was perfectly cured. I had Heart Failure, Catarrh, and Liver Complaint. Could not sleep, bloated badly, had pains in my back, ringing noises in my ears. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave immediate benefit, sound sleep, and good health." H. C. RICHARDSON, Siloam, N. Y.

HOOD'S PILLS cure Nausea, Sick Headache, Indigestion, Biliousness, and all Liver troubles.

Tutt's Tiny Pills
A single dose produces beneficial results, giving cheerfulness of mind and buoyancy of body to which you were before a stranger. They enjoy a popularity unparalleled. Price, 25cts.

FOR SUMMER COMPLAINTS
PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER
BEST MEDICINE IN THE WORLD.

HEMORDIA FOR PILES.
THE ONLY SURE CURE. Price $1.00 by mail.
HEMORDIA CO., 110 Fulton St., New York.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

WANTED AGENTS.—For our great Campaign Books, Biographies of all Presidents. The only Political Encyclopedia. Three volumes in one. Only $2.50. Magnificent Prospectus, 35c. Democratic or Republican. Charles L. Webster & Co., New York.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE.
The Family Wash Blue, for sale by Grocers.

TEXAS Wheat region. All crops splendid. For folder giving general information (give name and P.O.) E. G. GRAHAM, Graham, Texas.

PISO'S CURE FOR
Consumptives and people who have weak lungs or Asthma, should use Piso's Cure for Consumption. It has cured thousands. It has not injured one. It is not bad to take. It is the best cough syrup. Sold everywhere. 25c.
CONSUMPTION

"German Syrup"

Boschee's German Syrup is more successful in the treatment of Consumption than any other remedy prescribed. It has been tried under every variety of climate. In the bleak, bitter North, in damp New England, in the fickle Middle States, in the hot, moist South—everywhere. It has been in demand by every nationality. It has been employed in every stage of Consumption. In brief it has been used by millions and its the only true and reliable Consumption Remedy.

DO YOU COUGH
DON'T DELAY
TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM
THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

Burlington Route
Harvest Excursions
August 30th and Sept. 27th,
FROM
Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis
to the Cities and Farm Districts throughout the
WEST
Southwest and Northwest
Round trip tickets will be sold by your local ticket agent on these dates at
HALF RATES!
See that they read over the Burlington Route from Chicago, Peoria or St. Louis. It is the direct line to the territory in question. Send for pamphlet with map and complete information to P. S. EUSTIS, C. P. A., CHICAGO, ILL.

SYRUP of FIGS

ONE ENJOYS
Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.

DR. T. FELIX GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM, OR MAGICAL BEAUTIFIER.

PURIFIES AS WELL AS Beautifies the SKIN. No other cosmetic will do it.

Removes Tan, Pimples, Freckles, Moth Patches, Rash and Skin Diseases, and every blemish on beauty, and defies detection. It has stood the test of 40 years, and is so harmless we taste it to be sure it is properly made. Accept no counterfeit of a similar name. Dr. L. A. Sayer said to a lady of the haut-ton (a patient): "As you ladies will use them, I recommend 'GOURAUD'S CREAM' as the least harmful of all the Skin preparations." One bottle will last six months, using it every day. Also POUDRE SUBTILE removes superfluous hair without injury to the skin. FERD. T. HOPKINS, Prop., 37 Great Jones St., N. Y. Beware of base imitations. $1,000 Reward for arrest and proof of any one selling the same.

GUITARS AND MANDOLINS
Guitars from $[illegible] upwards. Mandolins from $[illegible] upwards.
THE MARQUETTE. Quarter-sawed Sycamore. THE ARION. Mahogany, Rise Finish.
THE LAKESIDE. Quarter-sawed Oak, Antique. THE CONSERVATORY. High Grade, Rise Finish.
All the above sold under our own guarantee; 100,000 of our instruments in use. Your local dealer will order for you. Genuine have name burned on inside. Send for illustrated catalogue.
LYON & HEALY, 33 Monroe Street, Chicago.

BORE WELLS with our famous Well Machinery. The only perfect self-cleaning and fast-dropping tools in use.
LOOMIS & NYMAN, TIFFIN, OHIO.

THE "OHIO" WELL DRILL

Catalogue FREE.

RIPANS TABULES regulate the stomach, liver and bowels, purify the blood, are safe and effectual; the best medicine known for biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia, foul breath, headache, mental depression, painful digestion, bad complexion, and all diseases caused by failure of the stomach, liver or bowels to perform their proper functions. Persons given to overeating are benefited by taking one after each meal. Price, by mail, 1 gross, $2; bottle, 15c. At Druggists, or sent by mail. RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

FAT FOLKS REDUCED
Mrs. Alice Maple, Oregon, Mo., writes: "My weight was 320 pounds, now it is [illegible], a reduction of 125 lbs." For circulars address, with 6c., Dr. O. W. F. SNYDER, McVicker's Theatre, Chicago, Ill.

When Writing to Advertisers, say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

This is a Picture From Real Life,

showing, as it were, how anxiously the mother seeks to afford her child the innocent and harmless amusements so necessary to its growth and development; which, if impossible to secure at home, would be sought elsewhere.

So it is With Us!

We are anxiously and earnestly endeavoring to make it possible for our customers to get the comforts and necessaries of life at the

FAMILY CROCERY,

where is to be found a complete stock of groceries, general produce, notions, confectionery, tobacco and cigars.

Mason Fruit Jars $1.05 per Doz.

IRA BRANDON.

Notice of Hearing of Ditch Petition

In the matter of the petition of Henry Frick, and others, notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed with the Auditor of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, and viewers have been appointed who have viewed and reported said view which is on file in my office. The hearing of said petition upon its merits will be on Tuesday the 6th day of September, 1892, the same being the second day of their September term, 1892, of Commissioners' Court.

The prayer of said petition is that a ditch be constructed on the following route, to-wit:

Beginning 3.0 feet north of of the east and west half section line, of section 34, Smithfield township, DeKalb county, state of Indiana, and from thence as follows:

No.	Course.	Distance.
1	north 68 degrees west	100 feet
	north 78 degrees west	100 feet
3	south 73 degrees 30 min. west	300 feet
4	south 52 degrees west	100 feet
5	south 30 degrees west	100 feet
6	south 28 degrees west	100 feet
7	south 11 degrees west	100 feet
8	south 31 degrees west	500 feet
9	south 11 degrees west	100 feet
10	south 25 degrees east	300 feet
11	south 11 degrees east	475 feet
12	south 13 degrees west	125 feet
13	south 15 degrees 30 min. east	700 feet
14	south	100 feet
15	south 13 degrees west	100 feet
	On curve	100 feet
16	south 53 degrees west	200 feet
17	south 30 degrees west	300 feet

Ending 612 feet south and 848 feet east of the northwest corner of section three (3) Grant township, DeKalb county, state of Indiana.

This proposed work will affect the lands of the following persons:

David Seery, DeKalb County, William Getts and Mary Getts, Henry Frick, Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw Rail Road Company, now leased and operated by the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Rail Road, Albert J. and S. Beard, Malinda and Jacob Hevel.

H. N. COFFINBERRY,
Auditor DeKalb County

Notice to Non-Residents.

State of Indiana, DeKalb County, ss.

In the DeKalb circuit court. October term, 1892, Frank Dudley is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said court, for divorce and custody of child by Clara M. Dudley, and that the same will be heard and determined on the first juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3rd, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 20th day of July, 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk.
JOHN W. BAXTER, Att'y.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, of the State of Indiana, administrator, with the will annexed, of the estate of Lydia M. Hubbell, deceased, late of said county. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

WILLIAM H. LEAS, Administrator.
July h, 1892.

Notice to Contractors.

The Board of Commissioners of DeKalb county, Indiana, will receive sealed bids for the construction of a cement walk along the east and south sides of the public square in Auburn, up to August 15th, 1892, at 1 p. m. Specifications can be seen at the Auditor's office of said county, in Auburn. Also, at the same time and place, the Board will receive sealed bids for the construction of a stone gutter along the said walk, specifications for which, are also on file in the Auditor's office. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the Board,
JAMES M HENDERSON, Pres.

Notice to Non-Residents.

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DEKALB COUNTY, } ss:

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, October term, 1892, Kittie Brandon, Edith V. Brandon and Hollister H. Brandon, are hereby notified that an action has been commenced against them in said court, for an order and decree of said court, to sell real estate, by John Horrocks, administrator of the estate of Henry Brandon, deceased, and that the same will be heard and determined on the First juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3rd, 1892.

WITNESS, The clerk of said court, this 30th day of July, 1892.

GEORGE A. BISHOP, Clerk.
J. E. & J. H. Rose, Att'ys.

Notice to Non Residents

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DEKALB COUNTY, } ss.

In the DeKalb circuit court, October term, 1892, John M. Somers is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said court, for a divorce and custody of child, by Catherine M. Somers, and that the same will be heard and determined on the First juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3rd, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 27th day of July, 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk.
JOHN W. BAXTER, Att'y.

LICENSE NOTICE.

Notice to the citizens of the town of Ashley, and Smithfield township, is hereby given that the undersigned, a male inhabitant over the age of twenty-one years, will make application to the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb county, at their next regular session in September, 1892, for a license to sell spirituous, vinous and malt liquors, in a less quantity than a quart at a time, with the privilege of having the same drank on the following premises, to-wit:

Lot number three (3), block number twenty-one (21) in the original plat of the town of Ashley, DeKalb county, Indiana.

SHERMAN KNISELY.
August 5, 1892.

CALIFORNIA.

California is the most attractive and delightful section of the United States, if not of the world, and many beautiful resorts will be crowded by the best families of the east during the entire winter. It offers to the investor the best open opportunity for safe and large returns from its fruit lands. It offers the kindest climate in the world to the feeble and debilitated; and it is reached in the most comfortable manner over the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad. Pullman Vestibule Sleeping Cars leave Chicago by this line every day in the year and go without change or transfer through to San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego. This is a feature not offered by any other line. Write to John J. Byrne, 621 Rialto Building, Chicago, Ill., if you desire any further information as to the country and accommodations for reaching it.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

EVERY DEMOCRAT

is Interested in the National Ticket

To arm himself against the sophistries of the Republican party, every Democrat should read FRAUDS AND FALSEHOODS OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, the latest and largest and most authentic campaign document issued. It shows the FALLACY OF PROTECTION, the WEAKNESS OF RECIPROCITY, the BAD FINANCIAL management and WASTEFUL expenditures of the Republican party. The comparison of the MILLS and MCKINLEY bills is an EYE-OPENER to Farmers, Mechanics and Laborers. Complete Biographies of CLEVELAND and STEPHENSON, a full Report of the Convention, the Party Platform and an Exposition of Democratic Principles. Nearly 600 pages. Price only $1.50. Special Terms to Democratic Clubs. BIG PAY to WORKING AGENTS. Canvassing book FREE. Send 10 cts for postage. Address

UNION PUBLISHING HOUSE,
358 Dearborn St., CHICAGO, ILL.

THE OLD MILL OF MYSTERY,

is now in operation and grinding out Summer Goods, at

REDUCED PRICES.

Challies, ginghams, satteens and tissues, all must go

THIS HARVEST!

Come and bring Grain Sacks. If you haven't got as many as you need, we can furnish the America at 20 cents, Stark A., 22 cents.

Come One, Come All

To The

HEADQUARTERS,

at the popular store of

MRS. M. JONES & SON.

COME AND SEE.

In Men's and Boys' shirts, pants, overalls, socks, etc., we have a splendid stock.

ALL WE ASK,

is, that you call and examine our goods and get our prices, and they will

CONVINCE YOU.

We sell for cash, and thus are enabled to give you

LOWEST PRICES.

W. J. OLDS,

SEBRING B'ld'g, AUBURN.

WALTER'S METALLIC SHINGLES are made from the best grades of roofing Tin plate, and steel sheets galvanized. You can buy them painted or not. Our Galvanized Shingles are rain and rust proof, without the necessity of painting. Our painted Tin Shingles are more durable and ornamental than it is possible to make a tin roof, put on in the old-fashioned style. Write for price list R.

THE NATIONAL SHEET METAL ROOFING Co
9 Cliff St., New York.

Excursion Fares for the Supreme Lodge and Biennial Encampment, Unifom Rank, Knights of Pythias, at Kansas City, Mo.
Via the Baltimore & Ohio R R

On August 19 to 22 the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will sell Excursion Tickets to Kansas City, Mo., at very low rates, on account of the Supreme Lodge and Biennial Encampment, Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, on August 23rd 1892. Tickets will be good for return passage to and including September 15th, 1892. For further information call on or address any B. & O. Ticket Agent, or L. S. Allen, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Chicago.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

CORRESPONDENCE

WATERLOO.

J. I. Carpenter, of Pleasant Lake, was in town, Monday.

The colored people's campmeeting will be held on the fair grounds, commencing on Saturday, of this week.

Rev. Mr. Woolpert preached Sunday evening, at the M. E. church, to a fairly large audience, notwithstanding the very warm weather.

The Presbyterian picnic to Hamilton, Friday, was noted a success in every way. About sixty, including large and small folks, were present.

Mrs. Mattie Sinclair, of Englewood, Ill., and her sister, Mrs. Margia Ward, of Detroit, Mich., have been visiting here, a few days with relatives.

Dr. Carpenter and family entertained guests, Sunday, from near Hudson. They were, Mr. and Mrs. Tubbs, and Mr. and Mrs H. Ritter. Miss Nellie Carpenter returned with them to their homes, where she will visit a few days.

C. S. Harper and family will soon move to Pleasant Lake, where Mr. H., has a position in a store. Their departure will be generally regretted. They have made many warm friends here, on their own account, but their singing and music will be missed very, very often. If we lose, others will gain, however.

CONCORD.

Remember the picnic Aug. 13, in G. W. Draggoo's west grove.

Cora High is spending a few weeks with her grandma, Mrs. High in Auburn.

Charlie Jackson and wife, of Fairview, visited in the family of John Timmerman.

Mrs. S. W. Widney, of St. Joe, was the guest of F. Buchanan and D. W. Baker Sunday.

Henry Timmerman and wife, of Cedarville, were the guests of their daughter Nan and son John Sunday.

J. K. Stafford, of St. Joe, sold Henry and Amos Seberts each a two seated carriage, with extension tops.

S. S. Shutt and wife, Miss Laura Shutt, of Spencerville, and Miss Emma Curie, of St. Joe, are sight seeing in Denver, Col., and other points of interest.

Come to the picnic Saturday. Rev. J. J. Fred, of Spencerville, will be there to enliven up the occasion, although young in years, he has become popular with the young people. Other good speakers will be in attendance.

CONCORD.
LAST WEEK.

Rich Ervin has the frame up for his new dwelling.

Mrs. Lu. Howey was taken suddenly ill at church.

Most everybody entertained company. Sunday, after services,

Communion services was largely attended, 100 communed.

Rosa Rupert, of St Joe, was the guest of Belle Milton Sunday.

Some of our pleasure-seekers were at Hamilton Lake, Sunday.

Charlie Dull has a smiling face since his ma came a few days ago.

Wm. Provines, of Spencerville, were the guests of Wayne Scott, Sunday.

A. H. Provines and wife, of near Auburn, were the guests of J. Baker, Sunday.

J. H. Gill and wife spent several days with their son Charlie, at Garrett, last week.

C. Keller and wife was called near Waterloo last Monday by the death of a relative.

Charles, Ida and Della Koch, of Fairview, were the guests of their sister Anna Baker, Sunday.

There was a large crowd at the Hornberger sale, Saturday, and everything sold for passably good prices.

A sneak thief entered the residence of S. T. Lutz a few days ago, took some money and a silk muffler. No clue.

Last Sunday morning when D. W. Wyatt went to his barn to do his chores he found one of his horses dead in the stall.

Remember the picnic Aug. 13, in G. W. Draggoo's west grove. Warm dinner will be furnished if desired. A cordial invitation extended to all.

Mrs. Elza Speer, who was called to Michigan to attend the funeral of her mother, Mrs. Hay, was also called here to attend the funeral of her nephew, James Baker last Wednesday. She returned to her home in Russell county Kansas last Thursday.

The funeral of Jimmy Baker took place last Wednesday, Rev. S. S. Stanton officiating Jimmy was always a great sufferer, yet was never known to complain. He departed this life July 25, aged 18 years, 4 months. He leaves parents, brothers and sisters, besides a large circle of friends to mourn his untimely death.

Concord township has lost one of its oldest settlers, Uncle Sammy Wasson, he was 83 years old at his death. Mrs. W. was buried only last January. One brother, 8 children and several grandchildren are left to mourn his death. Milton, the youngest was in California, and Mrs. John Stoffer, of Kansas, was not in attendance at the funeral.

SUMMIT.

Mr. Bolinger's little boy is quite sick at writing.

Mrs. M. Lewis is on the sick list at this writing.

Mabel Lacy was the guest of Lena Penick last Sunday.

Mrs. Henry Lawson visited her parents in Hudson last Wednesday.

Joseph Penick and wife visited Mrs. P's parents in Butler over Sunday.

Miss Lottie Grambling is visiting friends near Kendallville at present.

Mrs. Ulis Zimmerman is visiting her parents Mr. Ober's, east of Auburn this week.

Samuel Frick and wife, of Waterloo, visited John Penick and wife a few days last week.

Rev. D. Wolpert, of Goshen, preached at Barker Chapel last Saturday evening and Sunday morning.

Mrs. Chapman and daughter, from east of Waterloo, visited the former's daughter, Mrs. Lewis one day last week.

G. H. McDougle and wife, of Hudson, attended quarterly meeting at the Chapel last Sunday, and then took dinner with M. P. Barker and wife.

Owing to a misunderstanding in regard to quarterly meeting at Barker's Chapel on Saturday and Sunday the cream festival was postponed till Saturday evening Aug. 13. All are invited to come.

County Teachers' Institute.

The DeKalb county teachers' institute meets in Auburn, Aug. 22, for the regular annual session of five days. A corps of excellent instructors has been secured, which assures good work, and an interesting session.

The instructors are: Cyrus W. Hodgin, of Earham College, and Arnold Tompkins, of the State Normal at Terre Haute.

The teachers are to take up Civil Government in their reading circle work this year, and the work of Mr. Hodgin will be valuable, as he is one of the best instructors in that branch, in the country.

Mr. Tompkins is one of the most thoroughly posted instructors on educational subjects, in the state. His work will probably include History of Education, Mental Science, Pedagogy, and kindred subjects. He is an eloquent and forcible speaker.

Monday evening, will be the annual institute sermon.

Tuesday evening, lecture by Miss Henrietta G. Moore, of Springfield, O.

Wednesday evening, lecture by the renowned Dr. Nourse, of Washington, D. C.

The lecture for Thursday evening, will be announced next week.

Rev. Henrietta G. Moore, who speaks Tuesday evening, is one of the ablest lady lecturers in the country. Such well known persons as Miss Frances Willard, and Rev. H. A. Tompson, ex-president of Otterbein University, speak of her in the highest terms. Altogether the institute work bids fair to be of the most interesting character.

DIED.

August Schutt was born in Tearpin, Prussia, Sept. 14, 1845; departed this life Aug. 7, 1892, aged 46 yrs., 11 months and 23 days. He emigrated to this country, in 1868, and the same year was married to Henrietta Martins, Sept. 1st., since which time, they have resided in Auburn. To them were born five children, all living. Mr. Schutt was baptized and raised in the Lutheran church, and afterwards united with the German Reformed. The deceased leaves a wife and five daughters, and a host of friends, to mourn his departure. He was a good citizen, a good provider, kind father and an affectionate husband. All we can say to comfort the saddened hearts, is, that we have a hope of meeting those dear ones who have preceded us to the spirit land.

A Pretty Surprise.

A beautifully illustrated and charmingly bound edition of Longfellow's "Evangeline," the most popular long poem ever published by an American author, and one of the most famous poems in the language, just published, is a pretty surprise for book-lovers. It is in large type, numerous and excellent illustrations, very fine and heavy paper, gilt edges, remarkably handsome cloth binding, with gilt title and ornaments. No illustrated edition has ever before been published at less cost than $1.50, and that is about what you might "guess" the price of this to be, but it isn't—it sells for only 19 cents! plus 6 cents for postage, if by mail. This covers only about the actual cost of manufacture by the 100,000, the publisher's object being, not profit, but to show the book loving millions what he can do His publications are not sold by dealers, but only direct; catalogue, over 100 pages, a literary curiosity in its way, is sent for a 2-cent stamp. Every home in the land ought to have a copy of this Evangeline, so charmingly beautiful, as a poem, as a collection of artistic illustration, and as a product of the bookmaking art. Address, JOHN B. ALDEN, Publisher, 57 Rose St., New York.

Yellowstone National Park.

Have you ever seen this world's wonderland? If not and you contemplate a trip to it the coming summer, it is well to bear in mind that the Wisconsin Central Lines is the through car route from Chicago and Milwaukee, via the Northern Pacific R. R., running through Pullman vestibuled and tourist sleepers without change. Meals served enroute in dining cars. The Wisconsin Central lines is also the best route from Chicago, to all the delightfully cool summer resorts in Wisconsin and the northwest. Pamphlets containing valuable information will be sent free upon application to D. W. Janowitz, D. P. A., Indianapolis, Ind., or Jas. C. Pond, General Passenger and ticket agent, Chicago, Ill.

PILES Rectal Ulcer, Fistula, Fissure, Etc., permanently cured. Piles of years standing cured in one PAINLESS treatment without knife, Ligature or clamp. No loss of time from business. Office treatment only. Consultation free. Call or write DR. BURR OFFICE, 300 PINE ST., ST. LOUIS, MO.

An Inevitable Conflict Pending.

Today, as yesterday, as tomorrow, and as for a long time to come, the situation of France and Germany forms the great subject of anxiety which is imposed upon the meditation of all European statesmen. At no other point is it foreseen that war can break out. Russia has great ambitions and Italy has strong desires, but Russia is for years doomed merely to cherish ambitions, for she cannot realize them single handed, and it does not depend upon her to provoke a general war, which would be one result of her combined action with France; while as for Italy, she will never venture to give the signal of war, for if she did she would be left to herself and would be speedily crushed. It could be solely as the result of a general war that Italy could obtain her share, and in the present state of her alliances she could take that share only from France, so that a general war alone could procure it for her, inasmuch as, if she were left single handed, she would not be able to overcome France.

Neither Austria nor England dreams of war. It is therefore still, as twenty years ago, France and Germany who could occasion war; because, whatever may be alleged, whatever may be proclaimed or whatever may be concealed, these two nations desire war—war, first for its own sake, and next for the rest; and if, in order to have done with this everlasting Franco-German nightmare, Europe could now promise to fold her arms, and afterward to intervene merely as arbiter, war would break out to-morrow between France and Germany, for the fatality of war haunts and overrides both nations.—De Blowitz in Harper's.

Pre-evolutionary Errors.

Most of the shortcomings of the old method of historical writing resulted from the fact that the world was looked at from a statical point of view, or as if a picture of the world were a series of detached pictures of things at rest. The human race and its terrestrial habitat were tacitly assumed to have been always very much the same as at present. One age was treated much like another, and when comparisons were made it was after a manner as different from the modern comparative method as alchemy was different from chemistry.

As men's studies had not yet been turned in such a direction as to enable them to appreciate the immensity of the results that are wrought by the cumulative action of minute causes, they were disposed to attach too much importance to the catastrophic and marvelous; and the agency of powerful individuals—which upon any sound theory must be regarded as of great importance—they not only magnified unduly but rendered it unintelligible when they sought to transform human heroes into demi-gods.

It thus appears that the way in which our forefathers treated history was part and parcel of the way in which they regarded the world. Whether in history or in the physical sciences, they found themselves confronted by a seemingly chaotic mass of facts with which they could deal only in a vague and groping manner and in small detached groups.—Professor John Fiske in Popular Science Monthly.

"Onions Boiled in Molasses."

George Washington, while attending a swell reception at Newport, noticed that the daughter of his host, Miss Ellery, was suffering from a severe sore throat and could not speak above a whisper. General Washington, observing this embarrassment of his youthful hostess, said to her:

"Miss Ellery, you seem to be suffering very much; what is the matter?"

Miss Ellery told him the cause of her trouble, upon which the general said to her:

"I suffer very frequently from a sore throat and take a remedy which I find very useful, and which I would recommend to you were I not sure you would not take it."

"But I am sure," replied Miss Ellery, "that I would take any remedy that General Washington would propose."

"Well, then," said the general, "it is this—onions boiled in molasses. It has cured me often."

Miss Ellery took the remedy and, of course, was cured.—Exchange.

Some Rare Old China Pitchers.

The naval battles and heroes of the war of 1812 furnished many subjects for use in decorating pitchers, and some bear inscriptions far from flattering to English vanity. With the portraits of Perry are the words of his famous dispatch, "We have met the enemy and they are ours." With Lawrence, his dying words, "Don't give up the ship." With the likeness of Decatur, who captured the Macedonian, "Free Trade, Sailors' Rights."

Then quickly met our nation's eyes
The noblest sight in nature,
A first class frigate as a prize
Brought back by brave Decatur.

With Commodore Bainbride, of the Constitution (Old Ironsides), are his words, "Avast, boys, she's struck." The old ballad says:

On Brazil's coast she ruled the roast
When Bainbridge was her captain—
Neat hammocks gave, made of the wave,
Dead Britons to be wrapped in.

—Alice Morse Earle in Scribner's

Queen Mary's Lapdog.

Mary Queen of Scots had a favorite lapdog, which is said to have been present at the execution of its poor mistress in Fotheringay castle. After the royal lady had been beheaded the faithful creature refused to leave her dead body and had to be carried out of the hall by force. At that period lapdogs were the pets of men as well as of women. Dr. Boleyn, a relation of the unhappy Queen Anne Boleyn, owned one "which," as it is written, "he doted on." Anne once asked him to grant her one wish and in return he should have whatever he might desire. Knowing his affection for the dog, she begged it of him and of course the doctor had nothing to do but to give it to her. "And now, madam," he said, "you promised to grant my request." "I will," quoth the queen. "Then, I pray you, give me my dog again."—Exchange.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS—HALF RATES

August 30th and Sept. 27th.

The Burlington Route will sell round trip tickets at half rates, good to the cities and farming regions of the West, Northwest and Southwest. Eastern, Ticket Agents will sell through tickets on the same plan. See tha hey read over the Burlington Route, the bes line from Chicago, Peoria, Quincy and St. Louis. For further information write P. S. Eustis, General Passenger Agent Chicago.

A HOWLING SUCCESS.

FAIRBANK'S

SANTA CLAUS SOAP

OWES ITS REPUTATION AND SUCCESS TO ITS OWN MERITS.

IT IS PURE, UNADULTERATED, AND FOR RAPID CLEANSING POWER HAS NO EQUAL.
IT IS INVALUABLE IN KITCHEN & LAUNDRY.
SOLD BY ALL GROCERS.

N·K·FAIRBANK & CO.
CHICAGO.

SULPHUR BITTERS

TRUTHS FOR THE SICK.

For those DEATHLY BILIOUS SPELLS depend on Sulphur Bitters; it never fails to cure.

DO YOU SUFFER with that tired and all-gone feeling? If so use Sulphur Bitters; it will cure you.

Don't be without a bottle. You will not regret it. TRY IT.

THE SECRET of a fair face is a beautiful skin. Sulphur Bitters makes both.

If you do not wish to suffer from RHEUMATISM, use a bottle of Sulphur Bitters; it never fails to cure.

Are you CONSTIPATED? If so, Sulphur Bitters is just what you need

Poor, weak, and weary mothers RAISE PUNY, PINDLING children. Sulphur Bitters will make them strong, hearty, and healthy.

Cleanse the vitiated blood when you see its impurities bursting through the skin in PIMPLES, BLOTCHES AND SORES. Rely on Sulphur Bitters and health will follow.

Send 3 2-cent stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., for best medical work published

Of 200,000 women working at 100 different trades in New York city, 127,000 support their husbands.

Iowa State Fair.

Dear Sir:—While at the State Fair my wife tried your Krause's Headache Capsules, with good results. We have mentioned them to some of our neighbors and they want to give them a trial. They prove to be all that they are recommended. Please find enclosed express order for $1.00, for which send four boxes of Capsules.

C. M. WILSON, Gilbert, Iowa.

In 10 years $500 worth of pennies would only be worth $250, so quick does copper money wear away,

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria

Only one couple in 11,500 live to celebrate their golden wedding.

Save Your Eyes.

Don't ruin your eyes, by wearing improper glasses, or those not properly fitted. Get an experienced and skillful man to fit them to your eyes. So wait till C. J. Porter, the Waterloo optician, comes to Auburn. He will be at the Hollister House, the first Tuesday in each month. Don't forget the date.

The largest and longest stone bridge in the world is over an arm of the China sea, 5 miles long, with 300 arches, each 70 feet high.

Mothers and Daughters.

Over twelve years I was afflicted with a very serious female difficulty, and for the last sixteen months was under treatment of three of the very best physicians that money could employ. Under their skillful treatment I gradually grew worse, until they decided they could render me no permanent help. One of my friends persuaded me to try a bottle of Dullam's Great German Uterine Tonic, and after taking three bottles, can say I am in better health than I have been for twenty years, and am now sixty years old but feel as young as at thirty.—$1 a bottle.

June 2. 1890. Mrs. S. E CARPENTER, Lense, Mich.

For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

The magnifying lens is believed to have been known to the ancients, but in modern times was brought into use by Roger Bacon, in 1262.

A Contractor's Advice.

MESSRS. DULLAM BROS.,—Gentlemen:—I take great pleasure in testifying in behalf of Dullam's Great German Blood, Liver, Stomach and Kidney Cure. I can safely say that I never took such medicine as that to cleanse the liver, stomach and kidneys. I was suffering for years with biliousness, indigestion, and loss of appetite and sleep. One bottle did for me more good than six month's other treatment, and I feel it my duty to testify in its behalf, so others may try it and get cured. Yours truly.

WARREN E. RUSSELL. Contractor and builder. Flint, Mich.

For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

It is estimated that fully two-thirds of the whole amount of public money held by the London banks does not bear interest.

For Twenty Years.

Mr. Geo. Frank, ex commisioner of Adams Co., Ind., says: I have had a bronchial cough for two years and used all the different cough medicines, and found nothing that has given me so much relief as Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup. I can heartily recommend it to all of those that are affected with a chronic cough, and guarantee that it will give entire satisfaction. Yours,

GEO. FRANK,

Sold by all druggists.

A gas engine that runs at the rate of 540 revolutions a minute has been made in England.

Barb Wire Cu's

are without a doubt the most painful and the worst looking cuts or bruises an animal receives. A man is not wise or thoughtful who does not have a bottle of Krause's German Oil. Only 25 cts., and good for man and beast.—

Poor persons are supplied with spectacles free of charge by a Boston society

Worth Ten Dollars

to any family, is Dr. Kaufmann's book on deseases; finely illustrated plates from life; don't be humbugged, but cure yourself. Send 3 2-cent stamps for postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy free.

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

VOLUME XXII. AUBURN, DE KALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY AUGUST 18, 1892. NUMBER 33.

YOU WANT

Screen doors, window screens, screen wire, spring hinges, refrigerators, gasolene stoves, oil stoves, lawn mowers, ice cream freezers, leather fly nets, cord fly nets, lap dusters, horse sheets, buggy whips, grass scythes, scythe snaths, scythe stones, lawn rakes, wood rakes, horse hay forks, ropes and pulleys, hammocks, hammock ropes, hammock spreaders, hammock hooks,

BICYCLES,

tricycles, velocipedes, Builders's Hardware, paints, oils, brushes,

SEWING MACHINES,

and ANYTHING and EVERYTHING to be found in a first-class

HARDWARE.

You can fiind all of these at

W. H. KIBLINGER'S,

AUBURN, IND.

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—In Effect May 15 1892

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations—	Mail.	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne,....dp	11 50 am	4 40 pm	6 40 am
New Era	12 18 pm	5 15	7 27
Auburn Junc.	12 28	5 27	7 18
Auburn	12 32	5 36	8 32
Waterloo	12 43	5 41	9 24
Summit	12 56	5 53	9 45
Pleasant Lake	1 05	6 08	10 12
Angola	1 14	6 16	10 50
Jackson	3 35	8 40	5 00

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations—	Freight	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson........dp	6 45 am	11 15 am	6 30 am
Angola	12 25 pm	2 08 pm	8 51
Pleasant Lake	1 04	2 20	9 01
Summit	1 25	2 32	9 11
Waterloo	2 30	2 56	9 24
Auburn	3 07	3 07	9 34
Auburn Junc.	3 38	3 11	9 38
New Era	4 05	3 22	9 50
Fort Wayne	5 25	3 55	10 25

For rates on tickets or freight to all points, call on or address E. T. DeLAPP, Agent at Auburn

TIME TABLE

THE WABASH
LINE

TRAINS CARRYING PASSENGERS LEAVE

GOING EAST.

Atlantic Express........................4:03 am—Daily
Boston Express.............................5:41 am—Daily
Detroit Accom'n..........................2:30 pm—ex Su
New York Limited.......................8:04 pm—Daily

GOING WEST.

Pacific Express..........................1:32 am—Daily
Peru Accommodation..................6:33 am—ex Sun
Mail and Express........................12:38 pm—ex Su
Chicago & St. Louis Lim(53)..........5:12 pm—Daily

All these trains stop for passengers.

For rates, Tickets, Time Table, etc., apply to
I. M. ZENT, Agent,
Auburn, Ind.
T. H. SPROTT, City Ticke Agent.
CHAS. M. HAYS, Gen'l Manager.
F. CHANDLER, Gen'l Pass and Ticket Agent

LOW RATES TO WARSAW, IND., FOR THE BRETHREN CHURCH NATIONAL CONFERENCE,

On August 20th to 23rd, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will sell tickets to Spring Fountain Park, Warsaw, Ind., at a rate of one fare for the round trip, on account of the Brethren Church National Conference, on August 23rd to 30th, 1892. For further information call on or address any B. & C. Ticket Agent or L. S. Allen, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Chicago.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS—HALF RATES

August 30th and Sept. 27th.

The Burlington Route will sell round trip tickets at half rates, good to the cities and farming regions of the West, Northwest and Southwest. Eastern Ticket Agents will sell through tickets on the same plan. See that they read over the Burlington Route, the best line from Chicago, Peoria, Quincy and St. Louis. For further information write P. S. Eustis, General Passenger Agent Chicago.

A pursuit among Englishwomen is that of bookbinding. Many country houses have rooms specially fitted for the purpose, where the ladies of the family exercise their industry in that direction.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise.—A purer medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils, Salt Rheum and other affections caused by impure blood.—Will drive Malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure all Malarial fevers.—For cure of Headache, Constipation and Indigestion try Electric Bitters—Entire satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded.—Price 50cts. and $1.00 per bottle at Robbins & McCord's Drugstore. 5

More than a fourth of the gold and more than a third of the silver produced throughout the world in the year 1891 was mined in the United States.

A Real Estate Boom.

Attracts the attention of every property holder in this city. But when Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent Indiana specialist, claims that heart disease is curable and proves it by thousands of testimonials of wonderful cures by his new heart cure; it attracts the attention of the millions suffering with short breath, palpitation irregular pulse, wind in stomach, pain in side or shoulder, smothering spells, fainting, dropsy, etc. A. F. Davis, Silver Creek, Neb., by using four bottles of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, was completely cured after twelve years suffering from heart disease. This new remedy is sold by F. E. Davenport. Books free. 5

A camel of the largest size has been known to drink from thirty to fifty gallons of water and then travel without any more for twenty days.

Financially Embarassed.

A large manufacturer, whose affairs were very much embarassed, and who overworked and broken down with nervous exhaustion, went to a celebrated specialist. He was told that the only thing needed was to be relieved of care and worry, and have a change of thought. This doctor was more considerate of his patient's health than of his financial circumstances. He ought to have advised him to use Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the best remedy for nervous prostration, sleeplessness, dizziness, headache, ill effects of spirits, tobacco, coffee, opium, etc. Thousands testify to cures. Book and trial bottle free at F. E. Davenport's. 5

A strawberry plant set in a dry patch of sand will send out its runners in the direction to which the best soil suitable for its growth lies nearest.

Next Sunday Morning

at ten o'clock or any day this week, you can buy at any drug store, a bottle of Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup for your cough as it is guaranteed to cure and relieve all chronic and acute coughs for less money than any other, as the price is only 25 cents. It enables all to give this great medicine a trial. A fresh supply at all drug stores.

The greatest day's run of an ocean steamship is about 515 miles. The steamer in question was 562 feet long, and had previously been known to make 500 miles per day for three days in succession.

AUBURN AND VICINITY.

Some Reminiscences of its Early Days and Pioneer Citizens.

1864—Continued.

The school trustees in the fall of 1864 were: S. W. Sprott, A. Larimore and Philip Finke. The supernumerary and obsolete office of director, then existing was filled by John Butt.

This school board engaged for the winter term to begin on Dec. 5, an entirely new corps of teachers. Spencer Dills previously principal of the Kendallville High School was employed to hold the same position in the Auburn Union School. Mrs. H. S. Ralston was engaged as first assistant, Miss Lamb, as second and Miss Mary Rush as third assistant.

While thus in peaceful callings the people of Auburn passed the year, the hearts of many beat anxiously for those in the field and for those who did not want to go and feared the draft.

The winter of 1863 4 was passed in preparation. U. S. Grant was made general of the union armies, and under him were placed Meade in the east and Sherman in the west. Richmond and Atlanta were the objective points of the coming campaign.

It was seen that the term of enlistment of many seasoned regiments would expire just when their aid would be most valuable, and to retain them in service, it was ordered that whenever a majority in any regiment would re-enlist to serve till the close of the war, a furlough of thirty days would be given, and free transportation to visit home, and such regiments were designated as "veteran."

The men of the 30th and 44th regiments in common with many others embraced this offer. The former veteraned in January to the number of one hundred and twenty-one men. Company H. from Auburn contributed its full quota.

On Feb. 6th the 44th veteraned two hundred and twenty strong, and company K. of Auburn re-enlisted to a man. Each organization was given a grand reception at Ft. Wayne.

On the arrival in that city of the latter regiment, bells were rung, cannon fired, flags waved and hearty cheers were given by the welcoming throng.

Following a banquet, H. Withers, orator on this occasion said "the 44th fought with proud distinction in the four great battles of Donelson, Shiloh, Stone River and Chicamauga, never flinching from danger, never shrinking from death."

The non-veterans of this regiment were discharged the last of Nov. 1864 and the presence of men clad in the army blue was so common as not to excite comment and the returned soldier soon began to be active in civil life.

In response to successive calls, quotas were apportioned and raised by recruiting and drafting and, with less ado, but with unshaken constancy, the good people at home in every practical way, gave moral and material support to their relatives in the ranks.

Inscribed among others, on the roll of honor, we find the names of Sheridan E. Mott, who died in hospital at Nashville, Tenn., May 15, from effects of a wound received at Chicamauga and Charles E. Rush, of Co. K. 139th Ind., one hundred day regiment, who died in Kentucky, aged but sixteen years. These and many another young and noble DeKalb boys thus offered their lives to their country, and they were accepted—a costly oblation to freedom made not in vain.

As spring opened, work on the court house was resumed and was pushed forward as rapidly as the weather would permit. To Thomas Baldock had been given the contract for putting up the frame work on the building. The windows and doors indicate his skill as a mechanic, both in beauty of finish and in durability of work. On July 1st the bell weighing 600 lbs was brought by rail to Waterloo, thence by team to Auburn. It was manufactured by B. W. Coffin & Co., at the Buckeye Bell Foundry, Cincinnati, Ohio. By the last of July, the dome of the court house neared completion and on contract time the work was finished and accepted by the county commissioners.

The building complete contains 600,000 brick, 3000 perch of field stone, 1000 superficial feet of cut stone, 33,600 lbs of iron joists, and has iron doors and window shutters below. The building occupies the site of the old court house in the center of the public square, and on the ground is 56x80 feet with an octagonal tower in front 22 feet in diameter.

The foundation is laid to the top of the ground with common field stone or boulders and faced with Sandusky limestone two feet high. The limestone is backed with field stone which sustains the principal weight of the building. On these faced stone is placed a cap or water table two inches thick, twenty inches wide and extending under the brick work.

The front and rear steps, caps and sills for doors and windows are also of limestone. The building is divided on the first floor into four commodious offices 21x24 feet, each provided with fire proof vaults; also, two offices in front part 17x21 feet, and a main hall through the building east and west from which all the offices are entered. The lower story is 12 feet 6 inches high.

The court room is in the second story. Its original dimensions were 64x60 feet, 22 feet high, with two jury rooms adjoining on west end. The roof is made of slate brought from Vermont. It is laid on wood lath securely nailed with two nails in a slate, the size of which is 14x24 and ¼ inch thick.

(To be continued next week.)

PIONEER WEDDINGS.

(JOHN RALSTON, Clerk.)

1864.

Jan. 1, Martin Barr to Mary Bodey; Jan. 2, Joseph Walter, J. P.

Jan. 5, Jacob Fisher to Louisa Cruson; Jan. 6, Jesse Welty, J. P.

Jan. 8, Emanuel Leopold to Helen Decker; Jan. 10, Edward Rubin minister Hebrew Congregation, Ft. Wayne.

Jan. 9, David Pifer to Caroline Swander; Jan. 18, Jeremiah Gump.

Jan. 11, Joseph P. Anthony to Eliza A. Maxwell; Jan. 14, G. W. Woodcox.

Jan. 11, John W. Cary to Christena Helwig; Jan. 17, Isaac Cooper, minister.

Jan. 14, Wm. R. Moore to Elizabeth E. Bodine; Jan. 14, Simon Bartlett, min.

Jan. 14, James Till to Sophia Mortorff; Jan. 14, George Wolf.

Jan. 16, John C. Weeks to Lydia A. Miller; Jan. 17, Ephraim Berry, J. P.

Jan. 19, Wm. Baxter to Emily M. Marvin; Jan. 28, B. B. Long.

Jan. 20, Wm. Mans to Margaret E. Carnahan; Jan. 24, Joseph Walter, J. P.

Jan. 20, Wm. Blaker to Mary E. Eagle; Jan. 21, James P. Force.

Jan. 21, Frederick Peckhardt to Caroline Kruse; Jan. 26, Rev. J. G. Kissell.

Jan. 22, Nathan M. Showers to Eunice L. Bangs; Jan. 24, Cyrus Crossland.

Jan 23, Dennis L. Beck to Catherine I. Wile; Jan. 23, Geo. W. Carpender.

Jan. 23, Henry J. McDaniel to Catherine Houser; Jan. 26, John W. Miller.

Jan. 23, James Rigby to Catherine Cronk; Jan. 26, George Wolf.

Jan. 27, Henry Altenberg to Sarah C. Bodine; Jan. 27, S. B. Ward, minister.

Jan. 30, Henry Heckathorn to Mary E. Mortorff; Jan. 31, J. A. Rutan, J. P.

Jan. 30, Jeremiah D. Likens to Mary M. Walsworth; Jan. 31, S. B. Ward.

Feb 1, Curtis Davis to Sarah Love; Feb. 2, George Wolf.

Feb. 1, Claus Young to Nancy J. Weaver; Feb. 2, George Wolf.

Feb. 4, Silas J. Brandon to Anna M. Garver; Feb. 4, S. B. Ward.

Feb. 5, Edward N. Dawes to Louisa M. Cuequal; Feb. 7, E. Berry.

Feb. 6, Thomas B. Lock to Martha Ellen Nevins; Feb. 14, Edward Barker.

Feb. 6, William A. Rose to Salestine Mathews; Feb. 11, S. B. Ward, minister.

Feb. 9, Dudley Guilford to Elizabeth Robbins; Feb. 10, Jacob Maurer, J. P.

Feb. 10, Samuel McClish to Sophia Cole; Feb. 11, J. A. Rutan.

Feb. 10, Holmes Link to Lucy J. Noel; Feb. 12, John R. Moody, J. P.

Feb. 13, Philip Burton to Hannah Pifer; Feb. 14, A. D. Vanwickle.

Feb. 19, Nicholas Ensley to Helen Ditmar; Feb. 21, Chas. A. Munn.

Feb. 25, Andrew J. Ralston to Haddessa J, George; Feb. 25, Chas. A, Munn, min.

Feb. 27, Daniel J. Stroh to Mary A. Cool; Feb. 29, C. Caskey.

Feb. 27, Phillip Dunbar to Sarah Johnston; Feb 28, Asa Brumbeck, J. P.

March 1, Daniel J. Gonser to Rachel Liby; March 6, Ephraim Shipe, J. P.

March 2, Wm. R. Edwards to Frances C. Large; (No return.)

March 3, Alexander Kinmont to Barbara Patterson; March 6, Rev. G. S. Tuttle.

March 6, Nelson Lower to Alsinda Elder; March 6, B. B. Long.

March 8, Charles Lockwood to Sarah E. Kindle; March 9, Eld. Geo. Smith.

March 9, Ludwig Bunge to Minnie Gelow; March 9, S. B. Ward.

March 14, James F. Shears to Sarah Sarber; March 14, Edward Wright.

March 14, Daniel Bordner to Arsula Gunsenhouser; March 17, Rev. James W. Martin, circuit preacher.

March 17, John Munn to Elizabeth Curry; March 19, J. M. Norford.

March 17, Samuel E. Bailey to Barbara E. Boyle; March 27, Jacob Maurer.

March 18, John R. Wherly to Mary Amstutz; March 19, B. B. Long.

March 22, Andrew H. Culbertson to Mary Bagley; March 24, John McCurdy.

March 25, Samuel Clark to Eliza Jane Meese; March 27, Rev. J. K. Swihart.

March 31, Chas. L. Thomas to Harriet E. Fusselman; April 6, Randal Faurot.

April 2, Jerry Andrews to Mary A. Robinson; April 7, Rev. G. S. Tuttle.

April 4, John D. Welker to Mary J. Rockwell; April 7, George Wolf.

April 5, Henry J. Salander to Mary E. McAlister; April 7, Edward Barker.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

W. J. McELROY, Macon, Ga.

April 8, Elmer Y. Wyatt to Julia A. Crocker; April 10, G. W. Carpender.

April 8, Burton Hoover to Catherine Fisher; April 10, Geo. Wolf.

April 9, Henry Bolinger to Mary C. Nugent; April 10, S. B. Ward.

April 13, Amos W. Gillett to Sarah Serrill; April 13, Rev. B. F. Hill.

April 16, John McCulloch to Jane Mann; April 17, G. S. Tuttle.

April 18, Jared F. Housel to Drusilla C. Reever; April 19, Wm. Gorrell, J. P.

April 19, John Wesley Jones to Sarah A. Plum; April 19, S. B. Ward.

April 19, Adam Conrad to Martha H. Childs; April 51, S. B. Ward.

April—Wm. M. Depew to Caroline S. Freeman; April 14, Andrew Hollopeter.

April 21, Robert R. Dirrim to Amanda Firestone; May 7, C. Caskey.

April 23, John Harris to Sarah Ann Nugen; April 24, S. B. Ward.

April 24, Cyrus Carr to Mary C. Thomas; April 24, Geo. Wolf.

April 30, Otis W. Wisel to Artimissa V. Baxter; May 2, Edward Barker.

May 4, Samuel B. Husselman to Hannah Nichols; May 15, G. C. Everts.

May 7, Orvil L. Stout to Sarah P. Clark; May 7, E. Berry.

May 7, Jesse Shook to Virilla Fleming; May 8, L. D. Britton.

May 7, Wm. Conklin to Judy L. Cramer; May 11, S. B. Ward.

May 10, James Hodges to Sarah Oberlin; May 12, Rev. C. W. Lynch.

May 11, Edward E. Stone to Amelia Calkins, May 11, S. B. Ward.

May 24, Milton Crall to Matilda McCaully; May 24, E. Berry.

May 27, Frederick Giskink to Elizabeth A. Baughman; May 28, C. Caskey.

May 31, Lewis Myers to Amanda Hosler; May 31, L. D. Britton.

June 8, James Till to Mary A. Huffman; June 9, Edward Barker.

June 8, Peter Anthony to Martha Blake; June 9, Jeremiah Hemstreet.

June 9, Adam Getts to Margaret Hicht; June 12, J. G. Kissel.

June 10, Henry W. Lontzenheiser to Harriet Parish; June 11, Washington Teeters, J. P.

June 24, Thomas Woods to Hannah Overacker; June 26, N. H. Mathews, J. P.

June 27, John H. Shaw to Sarah Jane Hill; June 27, E. Berry.

June 27, Geo. J. Walworth to Anna P. Magoon; July 3, James McCurdy.

June 28, Frederick Kruger to Hannah Grobhman; July 2, J. G. Kissell.

June 29, John Snyder to Eliza Crooks; (No return.)

(To be continued next week.)

A Prompt Payment.

AUBURN, Ind., Aug 11, 1892.

DR. J. D. BARR, Gen. Agt., U. C. Life Ins. Co.

DEAR SIR—I have this day received at the hand of your agent, E. L. Casebeer, $2,000, settlement in full for the $2,000 policy which Anson Hall carried in the Union Central Life, of Cincinnati, Ohio. Many thanks for the promptness with which this claim has been settled. It was ten days from the time I took out letters of administration and sent proofs of his death until I received draft for the full amount of this claim.

JOHN L. WILDERSON.
Admr. of Anson Hall Estate.

Unclaimed Letters.

Unclaimed letters remaining in the postoffice at Auburn Ind., for the week ending Aug. 12 1892. Mrs. S. D. Bryan, Emma Card, Rev. G. T. Black, Frank E. Finke, H. H. Howland, Franklin Moody, Ferd. Palmer.

Claimants will please call for letters in advertised list.

GEO. W. GORDON, P. M.

The Great Normal and Collegiate Institute.

The Northwestern Normal and Collegiate Institute, located at Wauseon, Ohio, has one of the most lovely situations that a college desires. Its buildings are magnificent; its corps of teachers of the best and the expenses so exceedingly small, that any one desiring an education, can obtain it. We recommend our readers to correspond with Solomon Metzler, A. M., Wauseon, Ohio, who will be glad to furnish catalogues on application.

DR PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder.

Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

We Are Offering

AN ESPECIALLY FINE ASSORTMENT OF

WASH DRESS GOODS,

Hosiery, Underwear, Corsets, Flannel Coats and Vests, and Straw Hats;---Articles necessary to have this warm weather.

The Styles Are Elegant!

Prices Reasonable!

Our clothing stock is filled with all the

LATEST SPRING NOVELTIES!

We
Have Sold
More Carpets, Curtains
and Portieres, this Spring, than
We have ever before
Sold in one
Season.

It Will Pay You

to trade with us. We will do everything to

PLEASE YOU.

SCHAAB & BRO.

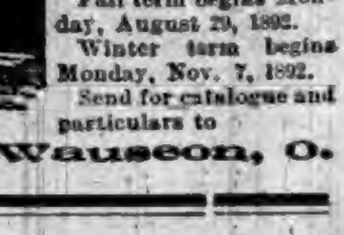
YOUNG, OLD and MIDDLE AGED MEN CURED. ATHLETES, BICYCLISTS, HORSEMEN, R. R. MEN.

A protection to the Generative Organs. For sale by druggists. TAKE NO OTHER.

A BOON TO MEN

Suffering from the follies of youth. A positive cure for Varicocele [enlarged veins], Lost Manhood, Impotency and Nocturnal Emissions without the aid of drugs. Our Suspensory is endorsed by physicians and fully protected by U. S. patents, dated Dec. 8th, 1891. The best, surest, cleanest, cheapest and most comfortable remedy on the market. Affords absolute relief; easily applied; no inconvenience to the wearer; prevents chafing in hot weather; prevents injury from sudden jar or strain. Price, $3.00 by mail, or by express C. O. D., with privilege of examination. Circulars and information free. Send orders and communications to wholesale department.

V. R. S. CO. 25 Buhl Block, DETROIT, MICH.

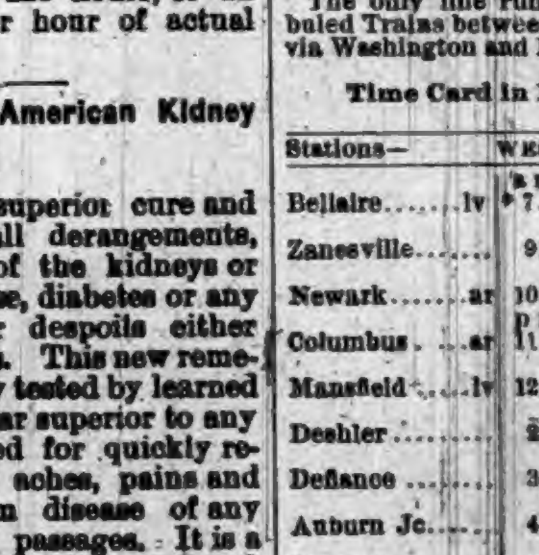


"We use the Vulcanized Suspensory." "Nothing like it."

Northwestern Normal —AND— Collegiate Institute.

Solomon Metzler, Pres't. Wauseon, Ohio.

The most popular, economical and prosperous institution in the land. Preparatory, Literary, Musical, Commercial, and numerous other Courses. Last year was the most successful in the history of the school; 345 students were enrolled. The teaching force has been increased and many new features added. Healthful location, good society, advantages the best and expenses the lowest.



Fall term begins Monday, August 29, 1892.

Winter term begins Monday, Nov. 7, 1892.

Send for catalogue and particulars to

SOLOMON METZLER, President, Wauseon, O.

In using what is known as the Canadian method of boring oil wells, a well 1,090 feet was bored in 228 hours, or an average of 4.78 feet per hour of actual work.

The New Great South American Kidney Cure.

The acknowledged superior cure and immediate relief for all derangements, painfulness and decay of the kidneys or bladder, Bright's disease, diabetes or any complaint that hurts or despoils either of these delicate organs. This new remedy has been thoroughly tested by learned physicians and found far superior to any medicine yet discovered for quickly relieving all weaknesses, aches, pains and distresses arising from disease of any part of the urinary passages. It is a great relief for the old, middle aged and children, male or female. It relieves at once retention and pain in passing water, and it is very effective in relieving prostatic troubles in the old, and for nightly incontinence of water in children, or others, caused by weakness of the bladder. It may be worth to many a hundred times its cost. This is a remedy of great value to ladies, because they are very liable to weakness and pain peculiar to their sex. Sold by Robbins & McCord, druggists, Auburn, Ind. tf

The most fortunate railroad deadhead on record is the emperor of Austria, who not only escapes the ticket office, but has had a magnificent train of vestibule carriages presented to him by the railroad companies of his empire.

It Should be in Every House.

J. B. Wilson, 371 Clay St., Sharpsburg, Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, that it cured his wife who was threatened with pneumonia after an attack of "LaGrippe," when various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cooksport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for lung trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Free trial bottles at Robbins & McCord's drugstore. Large bottles, 50c. and $1.00.

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The only line running through solid Vestibuled Trains between Chicago and Philadelphia via Washington and Baltimore.

Time Card in Effect June 12 1892.

Stations—	WEST-BOUND.
Bellaire........lv	* 7.13 am	* 10.13 pm	......	* 9.38 am	* 2.58 pm
Zanesville	9.43	am 12.40	am † 6.30	pm 12.21	6.11
Newark........ar	10.25	1.23	7.25	1.10	7.07
Columbus.......ar	pm 11.35	2.55	8.35	2.50	9.30
Mansfield......lv	12.19	3.13	10.38	3.40	9.54
Deshler	2.50	5.43	10.15	9.30	am 1.10
Defiance	3.32	6.20	11.10	10.45	2.05
Auburn Jc.	4.39	7.19	pm 12.25	am 12.54	......
Chicago........ar	9.30	11.55	6.40	9.20	8.30

Stations—	EAST-BOUND.
Chicago lv	* 10.10 am	* 2.55 pm	† 6.05 am	* 10.25 pm	* 6.40 pm
Auburn Jc	......	7.27	pm 12.28	3.31	am 11.51
Defiance	pm 3.32	8.22	1.48	am 4.40	1.05
Deshler	4.10	8.59	2.50	5.43	1.54
Mansfield	6.40	11.37	3.50	9.48	4.44
Newark........ar	8.17	am 1.10	5.50	12.01	pm 6.20
Columbus	9.30	2.55	7.00	2.15	8.25
Zanesville......lv	9.11	2.03	......	1.12	7.22
Bellaire........ar	11.40	4.32	......	4.22	10.31
(EASTERN TIME.) Wheeling........ar	am 1.15	6.10	......	5.55	pm 12.05
Pittsburg	......	8.50	......	pm 8.50	4.15
Washington D.C	11.51	pm 4.55	......	am 7.40	......
Baltimore	pm 12.50	5.50	......	8.45	......
Philadelphia	3.28	8.13	......	11.10	......
New York	6.00	10.40	......	pm 1.45	......

*Trains run daily. †Daily except Sunday. Sleeping and dining cars on all through trains. For further information call on B. & O. Ticket Agent or address L. S. Allen, As't G. P. Ag't, Chicago. City Office, Auburn, Ind.

WANTED.

$15 A WEEK. ANY LADY, employed or unemployed, can make this for a few hours work each day. Salary or com. $10 samples free.

5 Ad. H. [illegible] & Co., 115 N. 6th St., St. Louis, Mo.

Auburn Courier.
AUBURN, INDIANA.
JAMES A. BARNS, Publisher.

1892			AUGUST.			1892
Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
●	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31	●	●	●
●	●	●	●	●	●	●

TROPHIES OF A CHASE

AFTER THE FLEETING ITEMS OF NEWS.

Striking Switchmen in Buffalo Apply the Torch—Mob Law Holds Sway in the Tennessee Mines—Our Navy Display—A Family Poisoned—Gresham's Denial.

RED RIOT REIGNS.

Striking Switchmen at Buffalo Apply the Torch.

A Buffalo special, dated the 16th inst., says: The riot has broken out afresh and burning cars line the way between here and Waverly. The Sixty-fifth regiment has been ordered out to protect property and bloodshed is feared.

The strikers are applying the torch in all directions. Both the Sixty-fifth and Seventy-fourth regiments of the National Guards have been ordered to go to the scene of the strike as soon as they can get ready. A telephone message has just been received here from Sheriff Beck at Cheektowago, where the freight cars are burnig, calling for more help. It is reported the fires are spreading and that the strikers are beyond control of the force now at the sheriff's command.

A man just from the Erie yards says the scene of the wreck out there is simply terrible. Cars are burning and it is impossible to stop them.

Grand Master Sweeny was asked as to the strike situation from his standpoint, he said: "It has spread to Waverly and will probably spread to Hornellville and Bradford, where the switchmen are dissatisfied. It has not spread to any other roads in Buffalo. We have come to an agreement with the Western New York and Pennsylvania road on a ten-hour basis, and will have no trouble with that road. A conference with the general Superintendent of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh has been arranged. He is coming here, and I expect that a settlement on the ten-hour basis will be made."

UNCLE SAM'S NAVY.

It Will Not Be Humiliated in the Great Columbian Review.

Washington special: Now that the great naval review to be held in Connecticut with the Chicago exposition is an assured thing, and the President has issued to the great naval powers of the world invitations to participate, every effort will be brought into play by the Navy Department to make the fleet of the United States a creditable one. It will have to bear comparison with the squadron which Great Britain will send over, and naval officers express the opinion that England will not neglect the opportunity for a display of a number of her finest vessels. Every ship of the new navy which can possibly be brought home will be ordered to the rendezvous and no fears are expressed that the United States will be humiliated by the comparison. In addition to the new ships now afloat it is understood that the department will use every energy to hasten the completion of some of the ships now building.

Mob Law Holds Sway in the Tennessee Mines.

The East Tennessee miners are again seeking vengeance. Three hundred of them, heavily armed, marched into Inman, a little mining town in Sequatche Valley. Their object was well known and citizens packed up and fled. The mob of vengeance-seekers went to the coal mines and captured the seventeen guards, marched them to the stockade and put them under guard. The 272 convicts who were at work were then taken to Victoria, a little village near by, packed in a box car and started to Nashville. Guards have been placed over all the wires and operators near the scene. The morning train from Nashville brought a number of guards to Tracey City. At Cowan they were turned around and sent back to Nashville. A general outbreak is expected all over the State.

A Family Poisoned.

A family named Morgan, living in Hamden, Maine, were poisoned by eating potatoes on which paris green had been used to kill bugs. The father and son are somewhat relieved, but the mother may not recover. Other persons in the neighborhood who used the potatoes were also taken sick, but less violently than were the Morgans.

Buchanan in the Field.

Governor Buchanan of Tennessee, has at last announced himself an independent candidate for Governor. He had a long card in the papers placing himself before the people free from all classes. He says he loves the democracy but citizens have called on him to run and he will do it.

A Kentucky Fratricide.

During a quarrel at Stanford, Ky., between Craig Skidmore and his brother Jack, the former was killed by a blow on the head with a board. Jack surrendered and claimed self-defence.

All Quiet at Homestead.

Pittsburgh special: The strike situation in this city presents no new features. The Thirty-third street mill of the Carnegie company is running a single turn, and expects to resume double turn soon. All is quiet at Homestead.

Gresham's Denial.

Judge Gresham says that he will not make any speeches this campaign, and denies the statement that he would go on the stump for the People's Party.

Exciting Ocean Race.

New York special: The steamships Aurania and Alaska, of the Cunard and Guion lines, steamed into port from Queenstown one minute's time apart. They had a thrilling race from Fastnet Rocks, and were within hailing distance of each other the whole way across. The utmost excitement prevailed on board as both vessels are very evenly matched. The Aurania crossed the finish line at Sandy Hook just one minute ahead of her big rival. The Alaska left Queenstown last week, passing Fastnet at 4:31 p. m., followed 54 minutes later by the Aurania. Just before reaching Sandy Hook the Aurania pulled away from her rival. The time of the Aurania was 6 days 19 hours and 43 minutes, which the Alaska covered in 6 days 20 hours and 38 minutes.

HE OFFERS $4,000,000.

Leo T. Alton Makes a Bid for the World's Fair Souvenirs.

Chicago special: Early predictions about the value of those 5,000,000 souvenir half dollars which the World's Fair will get from the Government are being realized more quickly than was expected. Dozens of offers for the coins at $1 each in small numbers have been received, but now comes an offer for the entire batch. Treasurer Seeberger has received in his mail a letter from Leo T. Alton of 231 Jackson street, offering $4,000,000 for the entire lot of souvenirs. Mr. Alton offers to pay for them in any way the Directory may require. His offer when reduced to the unit is 80 cents for each souvenir. It is generally believed, and Mr. Alton is evidently one of the believers, that there would be a good profit in the coins at that price. It is thought now that they will bring a dollar each, or 100 per cent, over their face value till the last coin is gone. World's Fair officials think so and it is probable that Mr. Alton will have to raise his bid if he wants to secure them.

It is Vice President Higinbotham's belief that the souvenirs will bring a dollar apiece and he recommends opening order books for them at that price, the coins to be sold in lots of fifty or multiples of that number as the orders are received. It is the desire to give everybody a chance to get one at reasonable cost from headquarters rather than close the lot out to any one person or syndicate.

"I do not believe that any one of these coins will ever find its way into circulation," said Treasurer Seeberger. "They will be too much sought after as mementoes of the great fair to be squandered in admissions at the gates. Every day I receive offers for small numbers of the coins, the biggest premium percentage yet offered, except for the first one issued, being $1.10 for a coin of 50 cents."

A DELICATE POINT.

An Old Constitutional Question Bobs Up.

Washington special: The question has been raised as to the eligibility of Senators Jones and Allison and Representative McCreary, who were recently appointed commissioners to represent the United States at the International Monetary Conference. The point raised is a constitutional one and involves a construction of the sixth section of article 1 of the constitution relative to the holding of civil office by a member of congress. The section is as follows: "No senator or representative shall during the time for which he was elected be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such times, and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office."

The legislation authorizing the creation of this commission and making provision for the compensation and expenses of the commissioners is contained in the sundry civil bill which passed in the last hours of the session.

THE DEADLY LOCK.

Two Boys, Imprisoned in an Old Ice Chest, Are Smothered to Death.

Lansing (Mich.) special: Earl Price and Arthur Kurts, 8-year-old boys of North Lansing, met with a horrible death in a singular manner. The boys were missed late in the afternoon, and although a large crowd of neighbors searched until midnight no trace of them was found. Next morning the Price boy's father thought of an unused ice chest into which his children had at times crawled to play and on opening the chest the two boys were found dead. The interior of the chest was but two feet five inches long, eighteen inches wide and twenty-one inches deep. The bodies were crowded into this small space facing each other. It was evident that after the boys squeezed themselves into the box their movements caused the covers to fall and the clasp on the outside clasped over the stable fastening them in so that escape was impossible.

FIVE MEN KILLED.

A Frightful Catastrophe at Hartford City.

A frightful accident occurred at Hartford City, Ind., by which five men lost their lives and two others were seriously injured. A heavy stone wall in the Hartford City Glass Works caved in catching the men as it fell. The cause of the horrifying accident was the heavy pressure of dirt filled in behind the wall and the imperfect work of masons. The men were endeavoring to prop up the toppling wall when the calamity occurred. The men who were killed are: Alex Moore, Charles Sawyer, Jack Pummell, W. H. Foreman, Albert Inman. The injured are: Cyrus Eply and P. Bradshaw, both badly hurt.

The town was thrown into a fever of excitement and hundreds of people crowded to the scene of the accident, and the grief of the wives and children of the hapless victims was heart-rending.

Horrible Accident.

Worcester (Mass.) special: Four employes of the Washburn & Moor wire mill at Quinsigmond village were horribly burned by sulphuric acid. The acid is used for cleaning copper wires and is forced into the annealing room through lead pipes. Only a small amount of acid had been pumped in the tank, when suddenly one side of the iron receptacle burst outward, throwing the awful fluid over the four men who were standing near. All were severely burned. Their clothing was eaten off and the screams uttered were heart-rending. Two of the men tore off their clothes and jumped into the river. Alkalis were administered and later the wounded men were taken to the City Hospital. At the hospital the men uttered awful cries while their wounds were being dressed and their condition is very precarious.

Turned Down Caprivi.

It has just leaked out that a very lively and rather ludicrous scene took place between Chancellor Von Caprivi and the Kaiser before the latter's departure for the Cowes regatta. Caprivi had the temerity to contend that it would be infra dig for the Kaiser to be seen lugging at the helm and sails of his yacht, as he had expressed his intention of doing. The Kaiser retorted hotly, that he should do just as he pleased, and gave Caprivi to understand that his advice was not wanted, by saying that a kaiser could steer a yacht as well as the ship of state.

Mighty Floods in Spain.

Madrid special: Heavy storms are sweeping over Spain and doing an immense amount of damage. The rain is falling in torrents and is destroying the grape and olive crops. Much damage has been done by the rivers over-flowing their banks and in some places the low country adjacent to the river resembles huge lakes. In Huesca, the Ifula River is out of its banks. The flood has already carried away thirty houses and it is feared that other damage will be done.

Strike Declared Off.

The strike of the planing mill men of St. Louis, which has been on for several weeks, has been declared off and the men are now seeking their old places. About six hundred men were concerned in the trouble, which arose over a demand for shorter hours with no decrease in pay.

Looted by Pirates.

A letter received at Halifax, N. S., from Turks' Island from the captain of the schooner Maggie F. states that that vessel struck on a reef off Grand Caxcos of the group of Bahamas and became a total wreck. Soon after she struck a swarm of dark pirates rowed to the vessel and commenced stealing everything on board such as sailors' clothes, stores and running gear. The crew were powerless to prevent them and when an attempt was made they showed fight. The crew landed safely and were obliged to camp on the beach, being miles from any habitation.

Walked to Their Death.

Seven soldiers were drowned at Niesse, in Prussian Silsqua, while practicing in the military swimming school. The men were ordered to go into the water beyond their depth, the preceptor supposing them to be sufficiently practiced to be able to swim. This proved not to be the case and they sank without making any sign that they were drowning. The fact that they were drowned was not suspected for some moments, when they failed to come to the surface. It was then too late to save them.

Union Ex-Prisoners of War.

Washington special: In addition to the encampment of the G. A. R. and Union Veterans Union, there will be held during "Grand Army week" next month, the twentieth annual convention of the National Association of Union ex-prisoners of war.

For several months past the association, which numbers many thousands, has been making extensive preparations for the coming convention. Commodious tents located on the White House lot were assigned the association.

Gladstone Will Be Premier.

London special: Mr. Gladstone has received a communication from the Right Hon. Sir Henry F. Ponsonby, private secretary to the Queen, announcing that arrangements were being made for his reception at the Osborne house, the Queen's residence on the Isle of Wright, whether Mr. Gladstone will proceed in response to a summons from Her Majesty. The object of the Queen in summoning Mr. Gladstone to Osborne house is to intrust to him the formation of a new government.

Instantly Killed.

John Dixon of Richmond, Ind., was instantly killed by a ball from a revolver, in the hands of Robert Jenks. Both are young men, and they were engaged at shooting at a mark when the killing took place. Jenks has given himself up and says it was accidental. The wound is a peculiar one, showing the ball to have struck the right side and tended through to the heart in such a way that Dixon could hardly have made it himself, as at first supposed. Jenks does not attempt a denial.

Terrible Disaster.

A terrible disaster occurred at Ogden, Utah, by the falling of a building which was being erected, burrying twenty men or more beneath the ruins. Twelve bodies have already been taken from the ruins, and the work of digging out the remainder is still going on. The accident occurred by the sudden giving away of a derrick, causing the entire structure of massive wooden beams and timbers to collapse. But few of the workmen employed on the building escaped.

A Tragic Death.

Recently a tramp assaulted and dangerously cut Howard Pulver, a young man living at Crete, Ill. After inflicting six or seven ghastly cuts with a razor on Pulver's face and neck he fled down the railroad track. A section gang heard Pulver cry for help and started in pursuit of the tramp and rapidly gained on him. Seeing that his pursuers were certain to catch him, he threw himself under a passing freight train and was ground to pieces by the wheels.

A Big Purchase.

New Orleans special: The Edison Electric Light company, of this city, has been purchased by the Fort Wayne Electric Light company of Indiana, for $875,000. It is understood that the Fort Wayne company is part of the national electric combine which is seeking to secure control of all electric properties in this country. The company will enlarge its works and is endeavoring to purchase other plants here.

Hostilities in Dahomey.

Advices from Kotonou, French Africa, report that hostilities in Dahomey were resumed on the 9th instant. Talisman began the bombardment of Whidah early in the morning, while Heron Ardente bombarded Kotonou. The French advanced against the Dahomeyans, forced a landing and eventually succeeded in compelling the enemy to retire with serious losses. The town of Gobo was burned.

A Novel Contract.

Thomas Cavanaugh, an employe of the Rockford, Ill. Shoe company and Miss Emma Sweet, a pretty young book keeper, have signed an agreement to be married and take their wedding trip with Prof. Baldwin in a balloon at the coming fair. Rockford merchants will present the couple with some $800 worth of useful articles if they return in safety from the trip.

THE MARKETS.

CHICAGO.
CATTLE—Common to Prime	$3.50	@ 5.50
HOGS—Shipping Grades	3.50	@ 6.25
SHEEP—Fair to Choice	4.00	@ 6.00
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.79	@ .80
CORN—No. 2, new	.55	@ .56
OATS—No. 2	.34	@ .35
RYE—No. 2	.65	@ .67
BUTTER—Choice Creamery	.21	@ .22
CHEESE—Full Cream	.09½	@ .10
EGGS—Fresh	.15½	@ .16½
POTATOES—New, per bbl	1.25	@ 2.25
INDIANAPOLIS.
CATTLE—Shipping	3.25	@ 4.75
HOGS—Choice Light	3.50	@ 6.00
SHEEP—Common to Prime	3.00	@ 4.50
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.74	@ .74½
CORN—No. 1 White	.51	@ .53
OATS—No. 2 White	.34	@ .35
ST. LOUIS.
CATTLE	3.00	@ 5.00
HOGS	3.50	@ 6.25
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.75	@ .75½
CORN—No. 2	.51	@ .52
OATS—No. 2	.33½	@ .34½
RYE—No. 2	.59	@ .61
CINCINNATI
CATTLE	3.00	@ 4.75
HOGS	3.00	@ 6.00
SHEEP	3.00	@ 5.25
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.74½	@ .75½
CORN—No. 2	.53	@ .55
OATS—No. 2 Mixed	.34	@ .35
DETROIT.
CATTLE	3.00	@ 4.50
HOGS	3.00	@ 5.70
SHEEP	3.00	@ 4.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.79½	@ .80½
CORN—No. 2 Yellow	.51	@ .51½
OATS—No. 2 White	.36	@ .37
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—No. 2	.81	@ .82
CORN—No. 2 White	.51	@ .52
OATS—No. 2 White	.34½	@ .35½
RYE	.68	@ .69
BUFFALO.
CATTLE—Common to Prime	4.00	@ 6.00
HOGS—Best Grades	4.00	@ 6.50
WHEAT—No. 1 Hard	.91½	@ .92
CORN—No. 2	.52	@ .53
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.75	@ .77
CORN—No. 3	.50	@ .51
OATS—No. 2 White	.35½	@ .36½
RYE—No. 1	.68	@ .70
BARLEY—No. 2	.61	@ .62
PORK—Mess	13.00	@13.50
NEW YORK.
CATTLE	3.50	@ 5.50
HOGS	3.00	@ 6.00
SHEEP	3.50	@ 5.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.86	@ .87
CORN—No. 2	.62	@ .63
OATS—Mixed Western	.39	@ .41
BUTTER—Creamery	.17	@ .24
PORK—Old Mess	12.25	@13.75

CONCLAVE IN DENVER.

THE TRIENNIAL MEETING OF KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

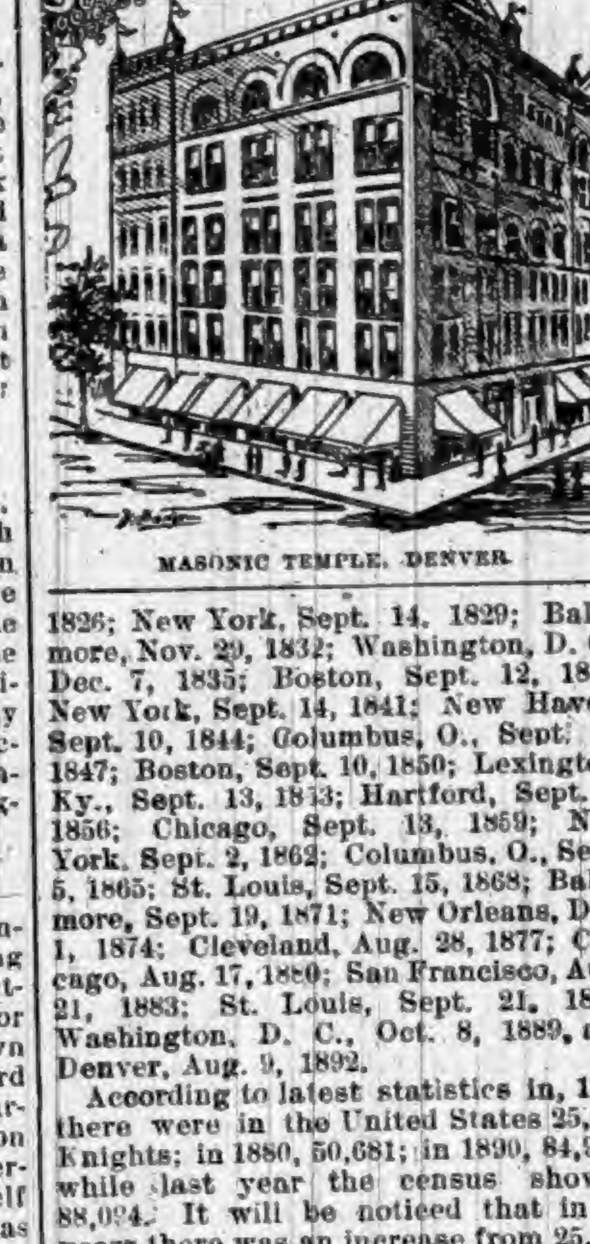
Thousands of People Witness the Grand Parade and Review—The Order's First Cabin in Colorado and Its Present Magnificent Temple.

Greatest in Its History.

The twenty-fifth triennial conclave of the Knights Templars, which opened in Denver on Tuesday last, marks a new era in the history of the order. This has been the most memorable gathering the order has ever known. Over 150,000 visitors are in attendance, and nearly a quarter of a million dollars has been spent in preparations and entertainment. For almost three years Coloradoans have been preparing for the event, and, according to the dispatches, never in her history was Denver so beautiful and in such gala attire. The national flag, the banners of the Knights, bunting and thousands of the emblems of the cross and crown float everywhere. Many miles of streets have stringers of incandescent lights at the crossings. These lights, glowing with the brilliant colors of the Knights Templars and national flags, mingled with the private electric display of merchants and professional men, make Denver seem almost like fairy land at night. From the tops of nine-storied buildings great search lights of many thousand candle power will illuminate the city with almost the brightness of day.

The Knights Templars have practically taken Denver and the city surrendered unconditionally. The lowest estimate places the number of visiting Knights at 50,000, accompanied by about 18,000 ladies.

The Knights Templars conclave have been held every three years for over half a century, principally for the election of a governing body and an exchange of opinions which might be beneficial to the order. The first encampment held in this country was in New York, June 20, 1816. The attendance was less than three hundred. Since then conclaves have been held as follows: New York, Sept. 16, 1819; New York Sept. 18, 1826; New York, Sept. 14, 1829; Baltimore, Nov. 29, 1832; Washington, D. C., Dec. 7, 1835; Boston, Sept. 12, 1838; New York, Sept. 14, 1841; New Haven, Sept. 10, 1844; Columbus, O., Sept. 14, 1847; Boston, Sept. 10, 1850; Lexington, Ky., Sept. 13, 1853; Hartford, Sept. 9, 1856; Chicago, Sept. 13, 1859; New York, Sept. 2, 1862; Columbus, O., Sept. 5, 1865; St. Louis, Sept. 15, 1868; Baltimore, Sept. 19, 1871; New Orleans, Dec. 1, 1874; Cleveland, Aug. 28, 1877; Chicago, Aug. 17, 1880; San Francisco, Aug. 21, 1883; St. Louis, Sept. 21, 1886; Washington, D. C., Oct. 8, 1889, and Denver, Aug. 9, 1892.



MASONIC TEMPLE, DENVER.

According to latest statistics in, 1870 there were in the United States 25,844 Knights; in 1880, 50,681; in 1890, 84,923, while last year the census showed 88,094. It will be noticed that in 31 years there was an increase from 25,844 members to 88,094.

The grand parade and review of the Knights Templars was an imposing affair, and it is calculated that at least 45,000 Knights participated.

From early morning preparations had been going on for the big event, and the streets were crowded with people seeking positions on the numerous stands along the line of march. The handling of the Knights was accomplished with considerable dexterity. The separate divisions were formed on side streets, and the arrangements were so perfect that every division moved into the line in excellent order. All along the line the people crowded so as to form an unbroken line three miles in length, and there could not have been less than 200,000 people viewing the magnificent pageant. One hundred and fourteen military bands furnished music for this great procession.

A Masonic Temple of Logs.

The first Masonic temple in Denver, and also said to be the first in Colorado, was the old log cabin of W. G. Russell on what was then known as Ferry street. The date is usually placed in the year 1859, but the first meeting was held in this cabin, according to the statement of Andrew Sagendorf, in December, 1858. Mr. Sagendorf was born in Columbia County, New York, Aug. 26, 1828, moved to Nebraska in 1854, and in 1858 following the gold rush to Pike's Peak. Among those present at the first meeting in this old log cabin "Masonic temple" were Mr. Sagendorf, Judge W. M. Slaughter, Henry Allen, James Winchester, W. G. Russell, Robert T. Willis, J. D. Ramage, Dr. L. J. Russell, O. E. Lehow, Oliver Russell, C. H. Blake, and Samuel Bates. Instead of the old cabin of Russell, where the Masons used to meet in 1858-59, the order now has a magnificent temple at the corner of 16th and Welton streets, Denver. The building lots and furniture have a value of about $600,000 —a remarkable contrast to the cabin of pioneer days. This temple has been erected since Denver was selected as the place for the present conclave.

A Competent Juror.

A great many stories are attributed to Gen. Tom Bennett, but this is a true one and illustrates his ready wit. He was on the bench as Mayor of the city of Richmond in the trial of a liquor case. The witnesses could not remember anything, the place, the man who sold the liquor, or the kind of liquor. It was evidently a case of collusion, and Mayor Bennett became a little impatient. He finally took a witness from the State attorney and questioned him himself.

"Where was the liquor bought?" he asked.

"Couldn't say, Yer Honor," was the reply.

"What kind of liquor was it?"

"Don't know, Yer Honor."

"Do you know whether it was liquor or not?" The question was put a little tartly.

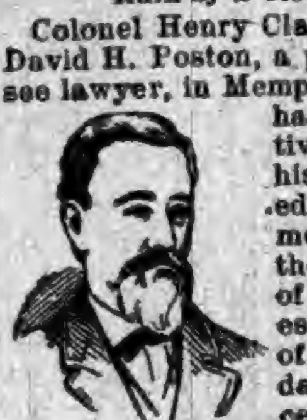
"Couldn't say, Yer Honor; my mind is a perfect blank."

"Stand aside, then," said Gen. Bennett; "we may want you for a juror."

The defendant was dismissed by the disgusted Court.—Indianapolis Journal.

COLONEL KING'S CRIME.

How an Eminent Lawyer Was Lured to Ruin by a Clever Woman.

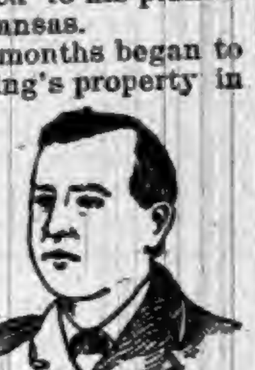


H. CLAY KING.

Colonel Henry Clay King, who killed David H. Poston, a prominent Tennessee lawyer, in Memphis, March 10, 1891, has, through executive clemency, had his sentence commuted to life imprisonment. The details of the crime have become of widespread interest, not only because of the domestic scandals immediately preceding the murder, and of which it was the climax, but on account of the high legal ability and literary attainments of the murderer himself. On March 10 of last year, at about the noon hour, King, who had evidently been in waiting for his victim, stepped from an alley into a crowded street, and fatally shot David H. Poston, the wounded man expiring the evening of the same day.

Henry Clay King's downfall can be traced entirely to his allurement from the path of honor by Mrs. Mary J. Pillow, widow of Gen. Gideon J. Pillow, who distinguished himself in the Mexican war, and who, during the siege of Fort Donelson, declined the command of the Confederate forces in favor of Gen. Buckner, the officer who was compelled to capitulate in a few days to the victorious Grant.

When Col. King met Mrs. Pillow their meeting was a chance one, in the ordinary affairs of business, in his own office, and from that hour the great lawyer was her slave. Finding that concealment of the facts from the public was impossible, he finally threw off the mask and went with the woman, openly deserting his wife and children. It was then that popular disapproval began to manifest itself, and its effect upon King's business and personal associations was soon more than he could stand. To escape an indignation, daily growing into wrath on the part of Memphis citizens, the Colonel, accompanied by his ensnarer, removed to his plantation in Lee County, Arkansas.



LAWYER POSTON.

Mrs. Pillow in a few months began to lay plans to secure King's property in her own name. In her wily way she suggested to her admirer that his possessions could only be made safe from the clutches of his wife and family by transferring the title to some one other than himself. The ruse was successful. Within a year Mrs. Pillow was the undisputed owner of the Arkansas plantation and had prevailed upon King to have the legal instruments duly made out deeding the Memphis homestead, occupied by his wife and children. By mutual agreement this deed was left unrecorded, the preparation of the papers simply being intended to promptly thwart any attempt on the part of his wife's relatives to deprive him of his right in the property. But Mrs. Pillow was not disposed to let such an excellent chance slip by to add to her estate. Unknown to the Colonel she took the deeds and quietly had them registered. When King discovered her perfidy his rage knew no bounds. Feigning a lingering respect for his family, he accused the author of his ruin with dishonesty and deception as well as a desire to reduce to poverty his wife and children, who had done her no harm. The battle, which was long and loud, ended in Mrs. Pillow's ordering King off her property, and he had to obey. This caused him to bring suit in the Arkansas courts for the recovery of his property, which led to the publication of the digraceful story in detail.

Poston & Poston, of Memphis, were retained as Mrs. Pillow's attorneys, the senior partner of the firm being David H. Poston, the murdered man. Poston was regarded as one of the ablest lawyers in Tennessee, and was peculiarly noted for plainness and force of speech, which cut to the quick of his antagonist at every sentence. In King's case, which afforded him unusual opportunity, he used this gift to the utmost. To the judge and jury he uncovered the plaintiff's real character, and was unsparing in the terms of denunciation applied. This was more than the fiery Southern blood of Henry Clay King could bear, and the following day he shot Poston down as related.

Soon after his imprisonment for the crime, Mrs. King, whom he had so cruelly treated and deserted, came to see her husband in his trouble, and a reconciliation was effected. From that day she has nobly stood by him, and it was mainly through her heroic efforts in his behalf that the Governor was prevailed upon to commute the sentence.

GUARDING AGAINST CHOLERA.

New York's Board of Health Taking Measures to Fight It Off.

The members of the New York Board of Health held a conference upon the subject of cholera and smallpox and the precaution necessary to avert an epidemic. It was decided that should cholera makes its appearance those stricken should be isolated at some retreat other than North Brother Island, where smallpox, typhus and leprous patients are cared for. It was also decided to issue circulars to all practicing physicians and to certain officials and citizens urging them to report instantly all cases of cholera morbus coming under their observation. The same system will be pursued in suppressing smallpox and typhus, which are now so prevalent. The fifty members of the summer corps which visits the tenement house districts will be asked to use the greatest vigilance in unearthing cases of illness.

THIS CHINAMAN MUST GO.

Investigations Will Probably Relieve Minister Tsin of His Duties.

It is learned that the present Chinese Minister to this country will be relieved from his mission in a month or two, and that his place will be filled by the appointment, most probably, of Mr. Shui, formerly Secretary of the Legation in Washington, and now holding a place under his government in China. It is alleged as the reason for the change that the Emperor of China is much displeased with the course of Mr. Tsin, the present Minister, in his alleged transactions looking to the establishment of an international bank in China and as a result of information sent from this country to Chinese officials calling their attention to publications in the papers reciting these facts, the Emperor has ordered an investigation into the matter.

"HEAVEN" WILL BE MOVED.

Messiah Schweinfurth Will Establish a Colony in Iowa.

It is rumored that George Jacob Schweinfurth, the false Christ, has tired of the treatment which has been accorded him in Illinois and is negotiating for the purchase of a large number of acres of land near Keokuk, Ia., where he will colonize his followers to the number of over 4,000. The alleged messiah has had a trusted representative in that section for some time securing an option on 25,000 acres of land, and the people of Keokuk have grown greatly excited over the prospect. In case of removal Schweinfurth intends to run the Weldon farm near Rockford as a branch heaven.

THE WAY THINGS RUN

IN THE GREATEST OF GREAT STATES, INDIANA.

Things Which Have Lately Happened Within Its Borders—Some Pleasant and Some Sad Reading.

Minor State Items.

KIRKLAND will pipe gas from Sheriday this fall.

"QUEER" money is floating around in South Bend.

ANOTHER gas well has been drilled near Columbus.

A NEEDLE was found in an Elkhart egg the other day.

SOUTH BEND Odd Fellows have organized a brass band.

DIPHTHERIA of a malignant type has appeared in Rensselaer.

NOBLESVILLE is organizing a company to explore for lead near Cicero.

GOSHEN ladies are holding prayer-meetings at the jail once a week.

THE Fort Wayne Rifles are going to the World's Fair opening in a body.

THE unlawful shooting of young ducks is being indulged in on the Kankakee.

THE Union soldiers of Wabash County will have a reunion at Wabash, Sept. 14.

KNIGHTSTOWN'S new canning factory has started up, and employs 150 people.

MUNCIE claims that the new reaper works will make her the second city of the State.

THE court house yard at Columbus is utilized as a sobering off place by the town drunkards.

IT is said that every time a new house is erected in Richmond another insurance agent moves to town.

CICERO has organized a company to secure new factories, and it is landing one once in a while, too.

ALBERT PARKER, of Centerton, accidentally shot himself in the leg, fooling with a 38-caliber revolver.

A NATURAL gas explosion at Muncie blew out the plate-glass in Cunnington's bakery without injuring any one.

SHEEP-KILLING dogs are running amuck in Montgomery County. One farmer has lost twenty head of sheep.

FRANK MELTON, a 9-year-old boy, was killed in a runaway of a livery team belonging to S. B. Burton, at Rosedale.

BROWN COUNTY hasn't an inch of railroad, and talk of building one there has thrown the people into spasms of happiness.

SOME Logansport people want a patrol wagon, while others say the town needs one about as badly as she does a white elephant.

MAGGIE WEBSTER of Jeffersonville, touched a match to a can of blasting powder and both eyes were blown out of her head.

A ONE-LEGGED man and a one-armed woman had a fight at Mishawaka the other day, in which the man came out second best.

THE Columbus Construction Company, after so many difficulties, has at last finished its pipe line from Kokomo to the State line.

Two boys named Henry Riher and Frederick Slocon, residents of Michigan City, were drowned in Lake Michigan by the capsizing of a boat.

THE suit of Hugh Taggart, at Columbia, against C. B. Wynegar for $7,000 for injuries inflicted by the latter, has been compromised for $1,500.

JACK MILLIGAN, a tough character of New Albany, was shot and killed by Allen Groves at Sugar Grove, twelve miles below New Albany.

GEORGE HOOVER, of Huntington, will be crippled for life because he neglected to call in a doctor two months ago, when he dislocated his shoulder.

JOSEPH PIERSON, aged about 75, an inmate of the Floyd County Infirmary, jumped from a second-story window of that institution, and broke his neck. It was suicide.

BY the will of Joachim Fernandez, a wealthy Spaniard who died recently at Huntington, the Catholic Orphans' Home of Fort Wayne will receive one-half of the estate.

JOHN MCNAMARA, an employe of the Rushville heading factory, was probably fatally hurt by the bursting of a saw, one of the pieces striking him in the face, destroying one eye and fracturing the skull.

RECENTLY William Carey abandoned his young wife and she has now begun suit against her husband's parents, charging them with conspiring to rob the pliantiff of his aid, company and association. She demands $5,000 damages.

A REPORT comes from Elizabethtown, on the Mississinewa, that scores of dead fish are floating in the eddies at Dunn's mill, some of them weighing several pounds. It is said that many fish are found dead at New Cumberland, and people suspect that dynamite is being used by fisherman.

THOMAS DIVINE of Jeffersonville, has been arrested on the charge of poisoning fish. His arrest was made at the instance of the game and fish club. An investigation showed that poison had been thrown into the river in large quantities at a point near Salt River and that fish had been taken from the stream by the wagon load.

AT Petersburg, the east end of the large wheat elevator, owned by L. R. Hargrave, gave way. The elevator contained about 20,000 bushels of wheat at the time, and over 8,000 bushels were scattered over the ground. Mr. Hargrave narrowly escaped with his life, one of the large timbers stiking within a foot of him. Loss, $5,000.

A YEAR ago Warren Remington, a young man at Eaton, Delaware County, was accidentally shot in the abdomen, but survived. Since that time the young man's lower limbs have been paralyzed. At Eaton Park there is a boating and bathing place and young Remington spends most of his time in the water, where he swims like a fish. His legs or feet have no action, but float like a cork.

REGINALD A. FESSENDEN, late assistant to Thomas A. Edison in laboratory work, and a graduate of Trinity College and Bishop's College, Canada, has been called to the chair of electrical engineering at Purdue University.

WHILE workmen were engaged in placing a six-inch gas-line for the Salamonie Company, four miles south of Montpelier, the line bursted, killing Olle Olson instantly, and injuring Adam Hawk internally, so that he will hardly recover. Charles Powers was thrown ten feet, and had both of his feet badly hurt. There were four wells' pressure on the line at the time of the accident.

SHELBYVILLE is to have a third bank. The Farmers' National Bank has been organized, with a capital stock of $100,000, and has rented the Teal Block on the public square which is being fitted up. A majority of the stock is held in that city, and the rest by parties at Hamilton, Ohio. J. S. Jeffers, the grain dealer will be president, and Dr. S. P. McCrea cashier.

THE Board of Prison Directors, South, have elected John L. Howard of Sullivan County, to succeed Capt. Abel Ewing as Deputy Prison Warden. The latter resigned because the Board passed an order refusing to let the Deputy take prisoners to other counties to testify, thus cutting off per diem paid by the counties.

A COMPLETE SET OF THE WORKS OF
CHARLES DICKENS
FREE!
The Most Valuable and Remarkable Premium Ever Offered Free with any Periodical.
A MARVEL IN BOOK-MAKING.
A Set of the Works of Charles Dickens, IN 12 LARGE VOLUMES, FREE.

There has just been published A Set of the Works of Charles Dickens, in Large and Handsome Volumes, printed from entirely new plates, with new type. By special arrangement with the publishers we are enabled to offer to our patrons this splendid set of Dickens' Works, postpaid, free. Charles Dickens was the greatest novelist who ever lived. No author before or since his time has won the fame that he achieved, and his works are even more popular to-day than during his lifetime. They abound in wit, humor, pathos, masterly delineation of character, vivid descriptions of places and incidents, thrilling and skilfully wrought plots. Each book is intensely interesting. No home should be without a set of these great and remarkable works. Not to have read them is to be far behind the age in which we live. The twelve volumes in this set contain the following world-famous works, each one of which is published complete, unchanged and absolutely unabridged:

DAVID COPPERFIELD,
MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT,
NICHOLAS NICKLEBY,
DOMBEY AND SON,
BLEAK HOUSE,
LITTLE DORRIT,
OUR MUTUAL FRIEND,
PICKWICK PAPERS,
BARNABY RUDGE AND CHRISTMAS STORIES,
OLIVER TWIST AND GREAT EXPECTATIONS,
THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP AND THE UNCOMMERCIAL TRAVELER,
A TALE OF TWO CITIES, HARD TIMES, AND THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD.

THE PLAN.

We will send a complete set of these books FREE, by mail, postage paid, guaranteeing safe delivery, as follows: To any old subscriber, who sends one dollar, and renews their subscription to either of the following publications for one year:

THE PEOPLE'S LITERARY COMPANION,
—OR—
The National Farmer and Home Magazine

To any new subscriber, who sends one dollar for either of the above periodicals for one year.

This is the grandest offer ever made, and the greatest bargain ever offered. Up to this time the price of a complete set of Dickens' Works has been ten dollars or more. The use of modern, improved printing, folding and stitching machinery, the present extremely low price of white paper, and the great competition in the book trade are the factors which made this wonderful offer possible. Bear in mind that we offer, not a single volume, but the entire set of twelve volumes all free to subscribers. All may now afford the luxury of owning a handsome set of Dickens' works. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Do not neglect or put off this wonderful opportunity. Send at once; you will be delighted with the charming books, and, as long as you live, never cease to regard it as the best investment of a dollar you ever made. Address all communications to
E. C. ALLEN & CO., Augusta, Maine.

IF YOU CAN READ

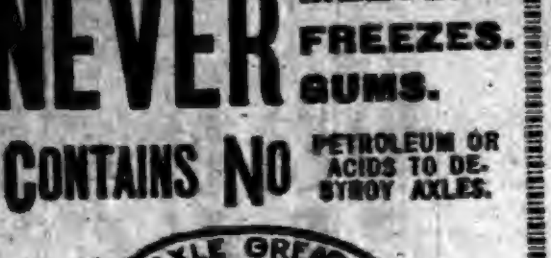
and write, and are possessed of fair intelligence, you are fully qualified to make a grand success of what we offer you. We have lately published at great expense and labor a perfect wonder in the way of an illustrated Gift Book, suitable to all classes, an ornament to any home, and at a price that brings it within the reach of all, even those of moderate means. Heretofore only those who indulged in luxuries have felt that they could afford a book of this class, as they are sold in book stores at $5.00 and upwards. The book which we offer is not in any way inferior to those above referred to, but is far superior to hundreds of books of this nature that are sold at prices exceeding ours by an enormous per cent. It is selling with a rush wherever shown. Agents have only to show the book and mention the price, and it sells on its merits without further talking. No better Christmas, New Year's or Birthday present can be selected. It will sell, not only for holiday trade, but at all seasons of the year, for the reason that all will want it in their homes, and will have it as soon as they know the low price at which our agents can furnish them. Reader if you need profitable employment, and a business in which you can, and will take pride, as well as make money rapidly, do not fail to send for circulars containing private terms to agents and full information, which will be sent FREE upon application. Old and new agents alike are making handsome salaries—yes, fortunes. Many of those who are making the best records are new at the agency business, having had no previous experience. Make a start—the field is entirely new. No such terms have been offered agents as we now offer on this wonderful book. Special qualifications not necessary, for it sells everywhere at sight. Perhaps you have at some time been unsuccessful at the agency business. If so, there is every reason why you should try this, the PRINCE of gift books, as failure is impossible if you make A START. Write us to-day, study our circulars and directions, then order an outfit and go to work with push and energy. You may make the greatest mistake of your life, if you allow this GOLDEN opportunity to pass unimproved.
E. C. Allen & Co., Box 202, Augusta, Maine.

SHALL WE START YOU

in a pleasant and successful business, that will bring you money rapidly and honorably? A grand opportunity for one person in each locality, young or old, of either sex, wherever you live. Reader, it is a royal chance for you, and such a one as may never again come to your attention in a lifetime. Beginners easily secure an income of $30 to $50 per week from the very start, and much more as the business becomes established. YOU can earn as much as any one. There is not the slightest risk on your part. No capital required. We start you FREE, and furnish everything needed to carry on the business successfully. Hundreds just starting report wonderful success and great profits. Will you write us, and take advantage of this grand offer, or will you delay and allow others to profit by it. We leave it for you to decide, but we tell you frankly that you will lose the golden opportunity of your life if you fail to test the business now. Act quickly and your reward is sure. Address E. C. ALLEN & CO., BOX 204, AUGUSTA, MAINE.

The Old Reliable
DR. WARD
OFFICE, ST. LOUIS, MO. Special attention given to all diseases or troubles in male or female, married or single, brought about by exposure, abuses, excesses or improprieties.
THE OLD DOCTOR, Of 30 years' successful experience, may be consulted by mail, or at the office, free of charge.
Reliable, Skillful Treatment Guaranteed.
Board and apartments furnished to those who desire personal care. Send P. O. stamp for circulars, etc.
FREE TRIAL In Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality, Weakness and Decay, sent free for 12 cts. postage. Address letters.
Dr. Ward Office, 117 N. 8th Street, St. Louis, Mo.

ANY LADY can get a valuable secret that cost me $5.00, and a rubber shield for 30 cents.
MRS. V. M. APP. CO.
118 N. 8th STREET, ST. LOUIS, MO.



NEVER MELTS. FREEZES. GUMS.
CONTAINS NO PETROLEUM OR ACIDS TO DESTROY AXLES.

Tested by the public for 20 years.

"WISE" AXLE GREASE.
A PURE VEGETABLE GREASE.
EVERY BOX GUARANTEED.

Try "Wise" on one side of your wagon and castor oil or any other kind of grease on the other side, and you will find the "Wise" will wear the longest.

It keeps machinery from rusting and cures scratches on horses.

Try a box and you will use no other.

Ask Your Dealer For It, Or

CLARK & WISE CO., CHICAGO.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE

Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., New York.
SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE

EXCELLENT COFFEE

The exquisite taste and flavor of Vienna Coffee can only be obtained by using two parts of Coffee to one part of

EMIL SEELIG'S KAFFEE

This is the best, cheapest and most healthful coffee mixture.

A DELICIOUS
BEVERAGE
TRY IT!
Ask Your Grocer for It.

SAMPLE BY MAIL FREE.

Address, Sole Agents for U. S.
ROSENSTEIN BROS.
317 and 319 Greenwich Street,
NEW YORK.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.
Beauty, Health and Grace Combined—What More can Woman Desire.
Volta-Medico Spinal Appliance,
COMBINED WITH AN
ABDOMINAL AND HOSE SUPPORTER.

They are electrical as well as medicated and are recommended for all Female Weaknesses, General and Nervous Debility, Liver and Kidney Troubles, Headaches, Malaria, Rheumatism, Spinal Diseases, Heart Disease, Cold Extremities, all Bilious Disorders, Impoverished Blood, Impaired Circulation—in fact all Diseases of the Blood, Stomach or Liver, or where there is a lack of vigor and failing health. They are not only comforting and strengthening to the wearer, but bring about beauty of form. Shapeless figures made symmetrical in form in from three to six months. Appliances guaranteed. Send stamp for circulars and full information. Address,

VOLTA-MEDICO APPLIANCE CO.,
75 N. 8th St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

FREE-TO MEN.

When you get tired of the "doctors" with their big prices and quack remedies, write to me and I will send (sealed) FREE a prescription that will quickly and certainly cure lost power, wasting weakness, lack of development, impotency, varicocele, etc., from excesses or other causes. A New Positive Remedy which cures when everything else fails. Address J. D. HOUSE, Box 625, ALBION, MICH.

ROYAL
SEWING MACHINE
WARRANTED 5 YEARS

Has a Large High Arm.
Has a Self-setting Needle.
Has a Self-threading Shuttle.
Has No Equal in Construction.
Has a Mechanical Appearance.
Has an Elegant Finish.
Has a Perfect Adjustment.
Has a Positive Take-up.
Has Stylish Furniture.
Has More Good Sewing Qualities and does a Larger Range of General Work than any Sewing Machine in the World.

Examine THE ROYAL for points of excellence; and you will buy no other.

ROYAL S. M. CO., Rockford, Ill.

HER SISTER'S HONOR.

A Tale of English Life.

By Walter Besant.

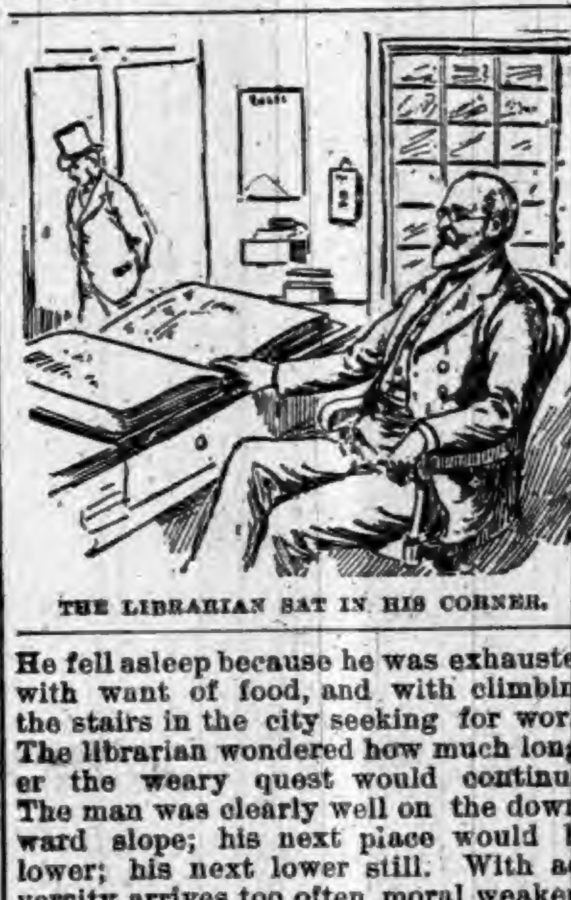
CHAPTER I.

MY SISTER—OH! MY SISTER.

On a fine Saturday evening in July there are never many readers in the Free Library. The old men who come in winter, because the place is warm and light and quiet, are now walking up and down the pavement, where the sunshine warms them through and through and chases away their rheumatic pains. The younger men are all afield, playing cricket, boating, cycling, rambling afoot, thinking of nothing but the delights of fresh air, and rejoicing in their youth. What have the young to do with a musty, dusty library on a summer evening? A library is a cemetery. Books are mostly the tombs of dead men's brains. Young folk are much better occupied with reading each other's thoughts than with walking among the tombs, so that the library is almost empty.

It was about seven o'clock. At the window into which the sun would have poured its wealth of heat and light—which it gives to the tombs of the dead as well as to the fields and flowers of the living—a brown blind was hauled down, leaving a long, narrow line. The sun, pertinacious in its attempt to reach everything, took advantage of the line to make a thin plate or lamina of bright sunshine, across which the merry motes danced with their usual cheerfulness. There was a smell of leather bindings; the tables were covered with magazines and papers; a few readers sat at the tables. But I think that knowledge was not greatly advanced. One or two of them slept; one or two looked as if their thoughts were elsewhere—with the brook babbling over the shallows, with the village cronies gathered under the lean-to beside the ale-house. One of them, gaunt, hollow-eyed, hungry, sat with an illustrated paper before him. But he never turned over a leaf, and he looked not at the pictures. The librarian watched that man suspiciously. He did not like the look in that man's eyes. It meant rebellion; it meant a wicked spirit of discontent with the social order which left him starving while it made his neighbor fat, and refused him work while it suffered his neighbor to live in comfort on the work of other men. Only a year or two ago—or it might be ten, because to one who is a librarian years have no significance in connection with numbers—a man had come into the place with just such a look in his eyes. That man asked for a book, sat down, and proceeded to tear away its bindings and to wrench its sheets asunder. Then he gave himself up to the librarian with the greatest gentleness and politeness, explaining that liberty without a crust was really a mockery, and that in future he meant to be maintained by his country, and that when he had served his time for the destruction of the book, he meant to smash a lamp, and, that atoned for, to steal a stretcher from a police station, and so on, getting perhaps longer sentences, until he should be called to his reward. They walked off together to the nearest police station like two old friends, and parted with a hearty grasp after the sergeant had noted the case.

Another man there was whom the librarian regarded with eyes of compassion. He dragged himself slowly and wearily up the stairs, threw himself upon a seat next the wall, and therefore provided with a back, took up a paper, sighed, and instantly fell fast asleep. This sort the librarian knew very well—he was the clerk out of work.



THE LIBRARIAN SAT IN HIS CORNER.

He fell asleep because he was exhausted with want of food, and with climbing the stairs in the city seeking for work. The librarian wondered how much longer the weary quest would continue. The man was clearly well on the downward slope; his next place would be lower; his next lower still. With adversity arrives too often moral weakening—it is one of the countless ills which follow in misfortune's train; perhaps this poor wretch would take to drink—many of them do; in the end, a clean bed in the London Hospital, with pneumonia drawing him swiftly to an ignoble grave.

The librarian sat in his corner, a many pigeon-holed cabinet against the wall at his side, a great book before him—no librarian is complete without a great book before him—and the usual materials for cataloguing on his desk, because to carry on the catalogue is as necessary a part of the daily work as to open the day's letters is for a secretary. He was a man of 60, or perhaps more, his beard white, and his gray hair scanty on the top. He wore spectacles, and his face showed the clear, unlined surface of one who has never been concerned with markets, prices, or the state of trade. He lived all day in the library, and in the evening he walked home to his solitary lodging, two miles away.

The librarian of a free library is familiar with every kind of reader. He classifies them all. There are first the unemployed, the most numerous patrons of the free library. The librarian gets to know the trade of every man, if he belongs to one of the commoner branches of work, by his appearance. There are the quiet men who use the library in the evening, when their mates are in the public-house drinking, or at the club wrangling or perhaps gambling. They come here not to pursue a line of study, but to amuse themselves in peace. Then in any library there are one or two habitues of the day time. Mostly they are retired tradesmen, or old pensioners, who continue to live in the locality where they have friends. There is the young fellow who comes regularly to consult all the papers on sporting matters. He collects the prophetic tips, and notes the odds in a book; he would fain be a Sharp, but he, too often, remains a Juggins. There is the boy who comes here whenever he can get the chance to sit in a corner and dream away the time deliciously over a story. There is the poor country lad who has more knowledge in his little finger than a London artisan in his whole body, who understands how to plow and sow and reap, and stack and thrash; who can cultivate an allotment; who knows sheep and beasts, and pigs and horses; who can foretell the weather. Yet he has thrown it all over and come up to London, where he has nothing but his pair of hands and his strong arms, and his great knowledge avails him nothing. 'Tis as if you turned a professor of mathematics into a draper's shop, where they would use him for nothing but to sweep the floor and carry out the parcels. He rolls into the library accidentally, and not liking the place or the smell (which is not in the least like the smell of the earth), he goes out again.

The librarian knows them all. He watches in the silent room as the clock over his head ticks loudly, and makes up their little stories for them. Sometimes they whisper a little with him. He is a sympathetic creature, and they will confide their case to him asking for his advice. They do not seek it in the search for a book to read, but in search for work. And sometimes he knows, or has heard things, which may help them. Other librarians, you see, get a vast and intimate acquaintance with books. This librarian is more useful to his readers if he knows the contents of the trade journals.

Sometimes, however, as in the case of Naomi Hellyer, he was altogether at sea. Naomi first appeared on this Saturday evening. She came in timidly, and looked about her with hesitation. There was no other woman in the place. Perhaps women were not admitted. Then the librarian stepped out of his corner and invited her to take a seat and ask for anything she might want.

He saw a woman of thirty dressed in the black stuff frock of a workwoman, with a cloth jacket, though it was so warm an evening. Her dress was perfectly neat and well-fitting; her gloves were worn; she had the appearance of resolute respectability coupled with small pay. Her face was thin and pale, and her features delicate. She was not beautiful, but she looked steady and serious—what is called responsible. The librarian noticed these things; he also noticed, for he was an observant creature, as well as sympathetic, that there was trouble in the face—abiding trouble.

When she took off her worn glove the librarian saw upon her forefinger the usual sign of needlework, which a woman can no more disguise than a mulatto can disguise the black streaks below his finger-nails. She took a place at one of the tables and began to turn over the leaves of an illustrated paper, but languidly, as if she took no interest in what she read. The librarian, watching her from his corner, observed that she presently put down the paper and began to walk about, reading the titles on the books on the shelves as if she was in search of something.

Being a conscientious librarian as well as observant and sympathetic, he left his place in the corner and asked her if there were any work which she wished to read. She shook her head. There was nothing, she said. The librarian observed that she had an extremely sweet voice. He also observed that she went looking at the titles as if she really did want something.

The librarian was experienced as well as conscientious, observant, and sympathetic. He discovered that there was something behind this restless curiosity.

"I think you are looking for some book," he said. "If you will tell me what it is——"

"Have you got," she asked, coloring deeply, "any book that tells about——" She hesitated.

"About?" he repeated.

"About women"—here she looked about to make sure that nobody else could hear, and her voice dropped to a whisper—"about women in prison, how they are treated, and how they live?"

"We have a book called 'Five Years of Penal Servitude,'" he replied, "but that is about male convicts, not women."

"May I see that?"

He found and gave her the volume.

When the library closed she brought him back the book, and went away. But her eyes were red. She had been crying.

During the week the librarian found himself thinking a good deal about this woman. She looked refined and delicate, perhaps above the position she now held, which seemed to be poorly paid, judging from her dress. By her language and her manner she showed herself what is called ladylike or what ladies prefer to call rather a superior person. He could not remember whether she wore a wedding ring. He hoped that she would come again.

On Saturday evening she did come again. The librarian greeted her with the smile reserved for habitual readers. "Let me find you another book," he said.

"Please let me have the same"—as if the librarian should remember every book taken up by every reader. But he did remember her book and gave it to her.

She finished the book that evening. But long after she closed the volume she sat with it in her hand, thinking. She was in a corner where there were no other readers. But the librarian could see her. And from time to time the tears rose to her eyes and ran down her cheeks. He wondered what was meant by this grief, what miserable story lay behind.

She was the last to leave the library. The other readers had all gone, half an hour before the time for closing, but she sat there motionless, thinking, crying silently, and the librarian made pretense not to see her.

When the clock struck ten he locked the room and went out, a few minutes after her. His mind was quite full of her distress, as he walked along the streets, now growing cool in the July twilight.

Presently he saw before him, going the same way, his reader. He overtook her and ventured to speak.

"We are going the same way?" he asked.

"I am going to ——." She mentioned a street not far off.

"It is the same way," he replied; "may I walk with you? I am the librarian, you know."

She hesitated a little. But an official such as a librarian is not a perfect stranger. Besides, he was old and looked harmless, and his voice and manner were friendly. "If you please," she said presently.

They walked together in silence, side by side.

Presently the librarian began to ask a few leading questions, and learned that his new friend was a workwoman at a dressmaker's in the neighborhood. It is not a fashionable quarter, and the pay given to the most superior person is but meager—still it was enough, and the work was regular.

"I do not belong to the place," she said, "I come from the country. I have no friends, and am fortunate in getting any work at all."

"You must come a great deal to the library," he replied. "There you can be quiet and have the companionship of books, if you care for them. But you must not always read sad books——"

"I have no heart," she said, "for anything but sad books. This is my street. Good-night."

A week later she came again. Always on a Saturday evening. The reason was that she worked extra time in order to get a little more money on other evenings.

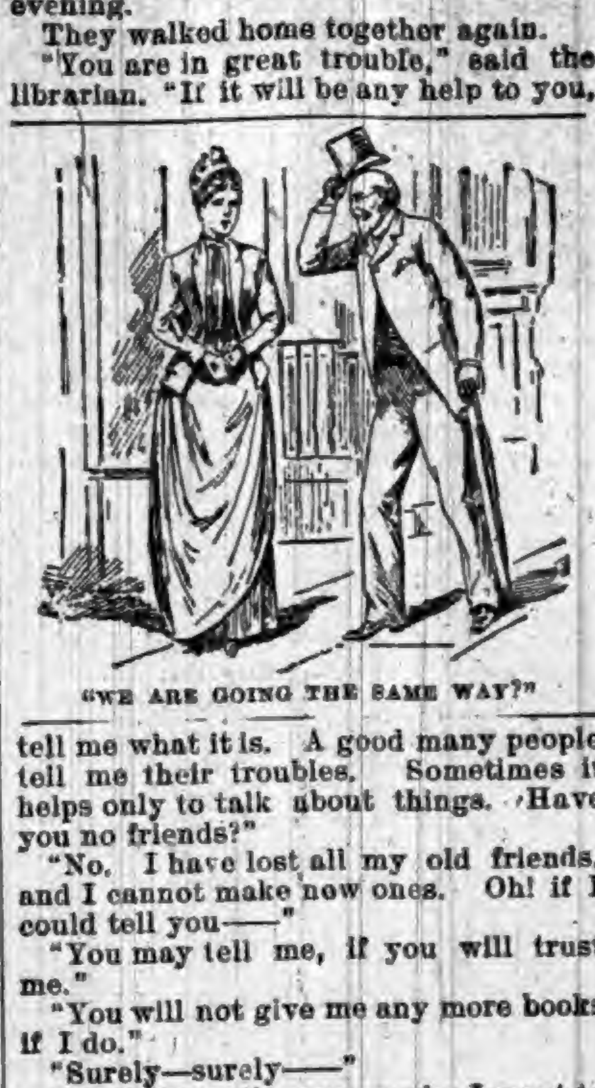
"I have found you a book about female convicts," the librarian told her. "It is twenty years old, but I suppose things are not changed much."

"Oh, give it to me—thank you!"

She snatched it from him and sought her corner, where she sat, her head on her hand, reading the book all the evening.

They walked home together again.

"You are in great trouble," said the librarian. "If it will be any help to you, tell me what it is. A good many people tell me their troubles. Sometimes it helps only to talk about things. Have you no friends?"



"WE ARE GOING THE SAME WAY?"

"No. I have lost all my old friends, and I cannot make new ones. Oh! if I could tell you——"

"You may tell me, if you will trust me."

"You will not give me any more books if I do."

"Surely—surely——"

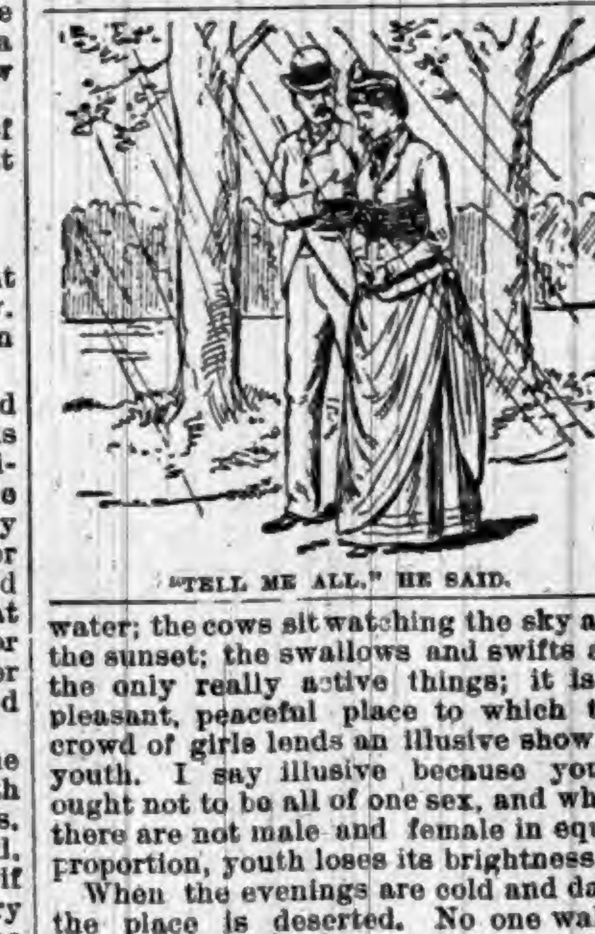
"Well then—the reason why I want to read about—about—you know—oh! I must speak to someone—the reason why—it is because my sister is in prison—oh! my sister—oh! my poor, poor sister! She is in prison."

CHAPTER II.

BY THE RIVER.

Outside the old wall, a little of which still stands, runs, winding slowly through the meadows, the river on whose banks the ancient northern town is built. It is broad enough for boats, and on summer evenings a few come out, but not many, because it is a sleepy old town, and all the young men who have any go in them seek their fortunes elsewhere when they come to the rowing age. For half a mile or so below the town a broad walk has been constructed, having the river on one side and a row of trees on the other. Seats are planted here and there. It is the boulevard of the townspeople, and, when the weather and season allow, the place is crowded and animated with the girls—in this happy town there are thirty girls to one young man—who go up and down in pairs laughing and prattling as merrily as if they were not destined by the rigor of fate to single blessedness, because there are so many of them. I have always thought that this special application of the old law about the sins of the fathers must be very hard for a girl to accept with resignation. "You suffer," says the law, "because there are too many of you. I am very sorry, but—it is the sin of the father—why were you born?" Why, indeed?

In the summer the lilies lie upon the waters; the river sparkles and dances in the light and sunshine; there are swans and ducks; under the branches disport millions of midges; there is a soft warm smell in the air, partly from the river and partly from the low meadows on the other side; the fields are full of buttercups; from the tower of the cathedral float the melodious notes of a carillon; the river is lazy, and floweth slowly, lingering beside its banks; now and then a water-rat plunges on the opposite side as a fish leaps out of the water; the cows sit watching the sky and the sunset; the swallows and swifts are the only really active things; it is a pleasant, peaceful place to which the crowd of girls lends an illusive show of youth. I say illusive because youth ought not to be all of one sex, and when there are not male and female in equal proportion, youth loses its brightness.



"TELL ME ALL," HE SAID.

When the evenings are cold and dark the place is deserted. No one walks there after sunset. This was the reason why a certain couple chose the place on one evening in October. It was a little after seven; the night had fallen upon a gloomy day. A fresh breeze blew up the river, tearing the leaves off the trees, whirling them about in the air and making drifting heaps of them; the branches overhead creaked; the meadows were dark; the river was black; drops of rain fell upon the faces of the pair who walked side by side, the young man's arm around the girl's waist.

"Tell me all," he said. "Let me know the worst, and then we can face it. My darling, is there anything that we cannot face together—hand-in-hand?"

"Oh!" she murmured. "It puts new strength in me—only to hear you speak and to feel your presence. Naomi is anxious and troubles herself about the future, morning, noon and night. Harry, will it make no difference to you?"

"My darling, how would anything make a difference to me? Do I not love you once for all—for all this world and all the next?"

He bent over her—he was a tall and gallant young fellow—and she raised her face to meet his lips.

"He fell down," she went on, "while John was putting up the shutters. He was standing at his desk, and he fell down on his face. He never spoke again or knew anybody or felt anything. And next morning about noon he died."

"He died," echoed the lover. "Poor dear Ruth! You told me of this in your letter. It was a terrible blow to you."

"I wrote to you about it. But I said nothing of what was discovered afterward."

"What was discovered?"

"We always thought he was so well off. Everybody thought so. There was never any want of money. When he died the people said we must remember how well off we should be left, and that ought to console us."

"Well, dear?"

"There is nothing. The business had been falling off for years. There is not enough now to pay rent and taxes. And as for what is left it must all go to pay debts."

"Poor child! This is terrible. What will you do?"

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

OUR BUDGET OF FUN.

HUMOROUS SAYINGS AND DOINGS HERE AND THERE.

Jokes and Jokelets that Are Supposed to Have Been Recently Born—Sayings and Doings that Are Odd, Curious and Laughable.

AN oculist is the man who can make people "open their eyes."

EVEN when a ship parts with her anchor she still keeps her hold.

OF a retiring nature—the man who goes to bed with the chickens.

HAVE you ever heard a parrot swear? No, but I've seen a cro-cus.

"WE shall have showers of blessing." Too much of a good thing isn't good at all.

IF a boy is well thrashed he ought to be "as good as wheat."—Rochester Democrat.

IF any boat can shoot the rapids successfully we should think it would be the gunboat.

THERE are some men who are so opposed to anarchy that they will not even wear red flannel.

TRIVET—"Isn't Mrs. Chinner a handsome woman?" Dicer—"Yes, but she isn't as handsome as she is painted."—Judge.

A DRUMMER who eloped with a Kansas City dining-room girl was arrested for stealing the table service.—Binghamton Republican.

A SOUTH JERSEY paper makes the remarkable statement that "thin people are very thick in this neighborhood."—Philadelphia Record.

IT'S a satisfaction to know that the hat-pin is not to become an instrument of assassination. A girl can be dressed to kill without it.—Philadelphia Times.

"THERE!" she said, standing on her tiptoes, "I am about your size." "On the contrary," said the disconsolate lover, "my sighs are about you!"—Chicago Tribune.

LOUISE—Where is your brother now? Kittie (whose brother has just sailed for Europe)—Why, don't you know? He's on the brawny deep.—Harper's Young People.

MRS. KEYBOARD—Why do you always sit at the hotel piano? You can't play a note. Old Stokes—Neither can any one else while I'm here.—Brandon Banner.

MR. CITIMAN—Where in creation is that furnished cottage I rented for the summer? Rural carman—Right over yonder, sir, behind your wife's trunk.—New York Weekly.

TEACHER—How did Napoleon III. reach the throne of France? Pupil—He rode in. "Rode in? Nonsense!" "Oh, yes'm. The history says he got in by a coupe."—Good News.

A SUSSEX, England, horticultural correspondent announces, on the authority of his vicar, that nine out of ten among the humbler brides swear to "love and honor cherries and a berry."

"WELL, if that ain't mean," exclaimed the prisoner, "every durned one o' the stories in this here paper they've gimme ter read is continued. An' me to be hung next week!"—Indianapolis Journal.

"EB'NEZAH!" "Ma'am?" "Is yoh bin hookin' watah millins fu'm de mahkit?" "No'm." "Well, maybe yoh didn't. But I doan see how yoh am gwine ter prove an alibi fur dat colic."—Washington Star.

MRS. SNOOPER—Men make me tired. Mrs. Swayback—What's the matter now? Mrs. Snooper—My husband saw Mrs. Keedick yesterday, and I asked him what she had on, and he replied, "Oh, clothes."—Tid-Bits.

LITTLE DICK—School teachers hasn't any feelin's at all. Mamma—What is the matter now? Little Dick—My teacher borrowed my new knife to sharpen her pencil, so she could give me a demerit mark.—Good News.

HOFFMAN HOWES—Wheah has Howell Gibbon been lately? Rockaway Beeche—Staying at home, deah boy. His name was misspelled in one of the society papahs, and he is waiting faw the affair to blow ovah.—Puck.

"SO," SAID Mr. Donnegan, "they's been printing the funeral notices av a man that wasn't dead yit. It's a nice fix he'd be in if he had been wan o' those people that believe ivrything in the newspapers."—Washington Star.

WIFE—"What's that white stuff on your shoulder?" Husband—"Chalk from a billiard cue, you know." Wife (sniffing)—"Hereafter I wish you to use chalk that doesn't smell like toilet powder."—New York Weekly.

"I CAN'T sing," said the young lady when invited to warble; but she complied upon being further pressed. When she had finished, Fogg thanked her, and added behind his teeth, "I'll never doubt anybody's word again."—Boston Transcript.

THE lately married one—I never heard of such trouble as I have with my servants. They are so stupid! The experienced one—Don't talk to me! The other day I sent Patrick out for two egg plants; he came back with two hens.—Scribner's Magazine.

MISS BEAUTI—"I think Mr. Lovelorn is just too mean for anything, and after all the favors I've shown him, too. I used to go to operas and theaters and everywhere with him, and now, when I ask him a little favor, he refuses." Friend—"What did you want?" Miss Beauti—"I asked him to be one of the ushers at my wedding."—New York Weekly.

Lynch Law in Algeria.

Lynch law has been practically established in Algeria, with the moral connivance of the authorities. This primitive state of things has been brought about owing to the lack of judges and gendarmes. The other day an Arab who had assaulted and slain a little girl near Constantine, under circumstances of atrocious cruelty, was followed by some of his indignant fellow-country men, seized by them, and flung over a precipice before the police could interfere. In the space of eighteen months eight criminals, some of whom were convicts returned from Cayenne, have been shot for murder and robbery without the benefit of trial by jury.—Pall Mall Gazette.

GANTER'S MAGIC —CHICKEN— CHOLERA CURE!

Thousands of dollars worth of chickens are destroyed by Cholera every year. It is more fatal to them than all other diseases combined. But the discovery of a liquid remedy that positively destroys the Microbes has been made. Half of the young chickens are killed by Microbes before they are fryers. A 50-cent bottle is enough for 100 chickens. It is guaranteed. If, after using two thirds of a bottle, you are not satisfied with it as a cure for Cholera, return it to the druggist from whom you purchased it, and he will refund your money.

For Sale by ROBBINS & McCORD,
Druggists, Auburn, Ind.

TO WEAK MEN

Suffering from the effects of youthful errors, early decay, wasting weakness, lost manhood, etc., I will send a valuable treatise (sealed) containing full particulars for home cure, FREE of charge. A splendid medical work; should be read by every man who is nervous and debilitated. Address
Prof. F. C. FOWLER, Moodus, Conn.

WILLIAMS'
LINIMENT.
THE GREAT CURE FOR SPAVIN
AND ALL KINDS OF LAMENESS.
THE ONE STANDARD
REMEDY FOR THE HORSE
$150 FOR $1 INVESTED.

I used all known remedies for spavin and failed till Williams' Liniment came, and with it I effected a cure, and added $150 to the value of the mare. Since then I have recommended the Liniment repeatedly, and have heard nothing of it but praise. It is now three years, and I am still driving the mare, and she has shown no signs of spavin or lameness since.

A. G. SMALLEY, Boston.

EVERY STABLE NEEDS IT.
FOR SALE By all leading dealers and wholesalers—Take no other.
$1.00 A BOTTLE, 6 BOTTLES FOR $5.00
Or send $10 for one doz., Express paid anywhere in the U. S.
J. ALLEN RICE, Proprietor.
LABORATORY—MILFORD, MASS.
SEND FOR CIRCULAR.

None Such
CONDENSED
Mince Meat

Makes an every-day convenience of an old-time luxury. Pure and wholesome. Prepared with scrupulous care. Highest award at all Pure Food Expositions. Each package makes two large pies. Avoid imitations—and insist on having the NONE SUCH brand.
MERRELL & SOULE, Syracuse, N. Y.

LOVELY COMPLEXION
BEAUTIFUL FORM.

Blemishes, such as Freckles, Moth Patches, Liver Spots, Blotches, Tan, Pimples, Black Heads, Roughness, or any discoloration removed, rendering the skin soft, velvety & beautiful. The form developed — made PLUMP AND BEAUTIFUL. Send six cents in stamps and get descriptive circulars and testimonials in a sealed envelope.

H. BENJAMIN & CO.,
115 N. 8th Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

CANCER and other Malignant Diseases CURED without the use of knife. Consultation Free. Call or write—
DR. RUSH
Office, 800 Pine St. ST. LOUIS, MO.

BB CORSET WAIST

PERFECTION of Fit, Style, Comfort, Material AND Durability.

SEND $1.25 FOR SAMPLE BY MAIL PREPAID

CORSETS MUST GO!

This is the verdict of all progressive women.

Our waists are healthful and delightful to wear; they support the hose and underwear from the shoulders, and are a happy combination of ease and style.

BENJAMIN BROS.
NEWARK, N. J.

For a 240-lb. FAMILY SCALE.
ONLY $4.

This is less than the cost to manufacture by any other concern. All scales are finely finished with Vermilion and Gold. Steel Bearings, Brass Beam, and packed in single boxes; also a 600-lb. Platform Scale on Rollers for $15.
1,000-lb. PLATFORM SCALES ON ROLLERS, Capacity from ½ lb. to 1,000 lbs., size 17x26, ONLY $18.
Also 5-ton WAGON SCALES for $50.
Every Farmer can afford a Scale now they can be had at so low a price. Save money and buy the best. All our Scales are U. S. Standard and fully Warranted. Buy the best and save money. Send for free Lithographed Circular.
E. F. RHODES CO., GRANGER, IND.

FREE FOR
30 DAYS
30 DAYS

In order to introduce our CRAYON PORTRAITS and make new customers, we have decided to make this Special Offer: Send us a Cabinet Picture, Photograph, Tintype, Ambrotype or Daguerreotype of yourself or any member of your family, living or dead, and we will make you a Crayon Portrait Free of Charge, provided you exhibit it to your friends as a sample of our work, and use your influence in securing us future orders. Place name and address on back of picture and it will be returned in perfect order. We make any change in picture you wish, not interfering with likeness. Refer to any Bank in Chicago. Address all mail to ECLIPSE PORTRAIT CO., 110 East Randolph St., CHICAGO, Ill.
P. S.—We will forfeit $100 to any one sending us photo and not receiving crayon picture FREE as per this offer. THIS OFFER IS STRICTLY BONA FIDE.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN
NERVINE TONIC
—AND—
Stomach AND Liver Cure
The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.
The Great South American Nervine Tonic

Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incalculable value who is affected by disease of the stomach, because the experience and testimony of many go to prove that this is the ONE and ONLY ONE great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic.

HARRIET E. HALL, of Waynetown, Ind., says: "I owe my life to the Great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted stomach, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration, and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors, with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."

MRS. ELLA A. BRATTON, of New Ross, Indiana, says: "I cannot express how much I owe to the Nervine Tonic. My system was completely shattered, appetite gone, was coughing and spitting up blood; am sure I was in the first stages of consumption, an inheritance handed down through several generations. I began taking the Nervine Tonic, and continued its use for about six months, and am entirely cured. It is the grandest remedy for nerves, stomach and lungs I have ever seen."

No remedy compares with SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE as a cure for the Nerves. No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a wondrous cure for the Stomach. No remedy will at all compare with South American Nervine as a cure for all forms of failing health. It never fails to cure Indigestion and Dyspepsia. It never fails to cure Chorea or St. Vitus' Dance. Its powers to build up the whole system are wonderful in the extreme. It cures the old, the young, and the middle aged. It is a great friend to the aged and infirm. Do not neglect to use this precious boon; if you do, you may neglect the only remedy which will restore you to health. South American Nervine is perfectly safe, and very pleasant to the taste. Delicate ladies, do not fail to use this great cure, because it will put the bloom of freshness and beauty upon your lips and in your cheeks, and quickly drive away your disabilities and weaknesses.

Price, Large 18 ounce Bottles, $1.25; Trial Size, 15 Cents.
EVERY BOTTLE WARRANTED.
If not kept by Druggists order direct from
Dr. E. DETCHON, Crawfordsville, Ind.
For Sale by ROBBINS & McCORD, Auburn, Ind.

Now Is The Time To Buy

WALL PAPER

CHEAP.

We will sell at Cost all PATTERNS IN STOCK

from now on till September 1, to make room for our large

FALL STOCK

2 JOHNS 2

AT THE FAIR.

G. W. McKAY, MANAGER.

Fine line of Shirts, Pants, ladies and gentlemen's underwear, at

THE FAIR.

J. C. HENRY, Prop'r,

Notice of Hearing of Ditch Petition.

In the matter of the petition of Henry Kline in Concord township, notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed with the Auditor of DeKalb county, state of Indiana, and viewers have been appointed who have viewed and reported said view, which is on file in my office. The hearing of said petition upon its merits will be on Tuesday, the 6th day of September, 1892, the same being the second day of the September term, 1892, of Commissioners' court.

The prayer of said petition is that a ditch be constructed on the following route to-wit:

Beginning at the center of section nineteen (19) township thirty-three (33) north, range fourteen (14) east, DeKalb county, Indiana, and from thence as follows:

No.	Course.	Distance.
1	south 25 degrees west	200 feet
2	south 32 degrees west	500 feet
3	south 20 degrees west	100 feet
4	south 8 degrees west	400 feet
5	south 18 degrees east	200 feet
6	south 39 degrees 45 min east	160 feet
7	south 46 degrees east	240 feet
8	east	210 feet
9	north 78 degrees east	200 feet
10	north 71 degrees east	280 feet
11	east	60 feet
12	north 74 degrees east	160 feet
13	south 78 degrees east	280 feet
14	south 82 degrees 15 min east	710 feet
15	south 12 degrees west	680 feet
16	south 80 degrees west	30 feet
17	south	490 feet
18	south 24 degrees 30 min east	780 feet
19	south 39 degrees east	100 feet
20	south 60 degrees east	140 feet
21	south 43 degrees east	180 feet
22	south 64 degrees east	400 feet
23	south 30 degrees 30 min east	330 feet
24	south 76 degrees east	180 feet
25	east	970 feet
26	south	200 feet
27	south 12 degrees west	138 feet
28	south 15 degrees east	312 feet
29	south 2 degrees west	350 feet
30	south 20 degrees east	130 feet
31	east	170 feet
32	south 20 degrees west	400 feet
33	on curve to right	300 feet
34	south 63 degrees west	500 feet
35	south 54 degrees west	200 feet
36	south 76 degrees west	160 feet
37	south	210 feet
38	south 62 degrees east	830 feet
39	south 10 degrees east	300 feet
40	south 15 degrees west	620 feet

Ending 420 feet east of the southeast corner of section 30, Concord township DeKalb county, Indiana.

This proposed work will affect the lands of the following persons:

William L. Nelson, Samuel M. High, Theodore Kline, Henry Kline, Elias Kline and Theodore Kline, Solomon Shilling, Samuel S. Shutt, William Shutt, heirs, viz: Mrs. Wm. Shutt, Laura Shutt, Eva Elson, Alda Brant, Jennie Shutt and Jay Shutt. Samuel Wasson heirs, viz: Sarah Stover, Elizabeth Cheney, Louis R. Wasson, David Wasson, Benjamin Wasson, Ann Ricketts, Nancy Kennedy, Jane Hull, Matilda Sheldon and Milton Wasson, DeKalb county.

H. N. COFFINBERRY,
Auditor DeKalb County.

Notice to Non-Residents.

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DEKALB COUNTY, } ss

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, October term, 1892, Schuyler E. Hurd is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said court for cancelation of mortgage and to quiet title to real estate by Jonathan Wilhelm, and that the same will be heard and determined on the eighth juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3d, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 15th day of August, 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk.

W. H. LEAS, Att'y.

Notice to Non-Residents.

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DEKALB COUNTY, } ss.

In the DeKalb circuit court, October term, 1892, William H Hubbell, Orson J. Hubbell, Corintha C. Hubbell, Inez Herendeen and Harriet F. Spencer are hereby notified that an action has been commenced against them in said court, by William H. Leas, administrator with the will annexed of the estate of Lydia M. Hubbell, deceased, to sell real estate belonging to the estate of said decedent, to make assets for the payment of debts, legacies, and liabilities of said estate, and that the same will be heard and determined on the 8th juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3d, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 11th day of August, 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk.

W. H. LEAS, Att'y.

Notice of Sale of Personal Property.

Notice is hereby given, that I, John L Wildeson administrator of the estate of Anson Hall, deceased, will offer at public auction, to the highest bidder, on Friday, September 9th, 1892.

at the late residence of said deceased in Butler Township, DeKalb county, Indiana, about one mile south of St. Johns, the following described personal property, belonging to the estate of said decedent, to-wit:

Two head of work horses, two two-horse wagons, one buggy, one pair of bobsleds, one Esterly binder, one Fremont corn plow, one spring-tooth hay rake, one Buckeye mower, lot of carpenter tools, household goods and furniture, hay in mow, about 350 bushels in granary, corn in crib, oats in the granary, clove seed and numerous other articles.

TERMS OF SALE: For all amounts not exceeding five dollars, cash in hand. For amounts of five dollars and upwards, a credit of twelve months will be given. Note, bearing six per cent interest after maturity, with approved security, and waiving valuation and appraisement laws will be required

JOHN L. WILDESON, Administrator.

Aug. 17, 1892. E. D. Hartman Att'y.

For Sale.

The undersigned has for sale, one ten horse-power traction engine in number one working order, one feed mill, and one power sheller and shafting, belts, etc. Will sell cheap for cash or will take a good driving team three or four years old as part pay.

Call and see me.

James N. McBride,
Waterloo, Ind.

GET THE BEST!

EXCEL IN QUALITY, BEAUTY, TONE AND FINISH.

THE CROWN PIANOS & ORGANS GEO. P. BENT MANUFACTURER CHICAGO.

FOR SALE ON EASY TERMS BY

WES. H. HUSSELMAN,
Waterloo, - - - Ind.

The Celebrated Diamond

SPECTACLES!

Clear! Brilliant and Lasting!!

HAVE NO EQUAL.

A complete line of Spectacles, Eyeglasses, Smoked glasses, Goggles, etc., at prices Lower than ever offered to the public before, for these goods

A FIT GUARANTEED.

Remember the place at

THE PHYSICIAN'S DRUG STORE,
Opp. Swineford House.

TRADE MARK

JAPANESE PILE CURE

A new and Complete Treatment, consisting of Suppositories, Ointment in Capsules, also in Box and Pills; a Positive Cure for External, Internal, Blind or Bleeding, Itching, Chronic, Recent or Hereditary Piles. This Remedy has never been known to fail. $1 per box, 6 for $5; sent by mail. Why suffer from this terrible disease when a written guarantee is positively given with 6 boxes, to refund the money if not cured. Send stamp for free sample. Guarantee issued by F. E. DAVENPORT.

The Great Band Contest.

The Great Second Annual Tri-State Band Tournament will be held at Rome City, Ind., Aug. 25, 1892. They will give away $400 00 in prizes. Some of the best bands in the country have already entered. This will be a grand musical holiday at this famous and delightful summer resort. Several lady bands will also be in attendance, which will add to the attraction of the great Tournament. Special open air concerts and a program that will interest every one. Special low rates on all railroads. Don't miss a good time, but "be in it."

Garrett Steam Laundry.

Peter Young has the agency for the Model Steam Laundry at Garrett, an establishment that has a reputation equal to the best, and has been in operation for the past two years with marked success. Parties should call on Mr. Young when they want any work in this line. Fine work and prompt delivery a specialty. Laundry will be sent over by Mr. Young Tuesday and be returned Saturday.

Wabash Excursion.

The Wabash road will give half rates to Detroit for the great Military Parade to be held there Tuesday of next week, August 23. The Governor and staff, Gen. Nelson A. Miles of the regular army, with his staff and a regiment of regulars, a brigade of state troops, the U. S. warship Michigan and three U. S. revenue cutters, will all take part in the grand display. This is also the opening day of the Detroit Exposition. Remember we have half fare over the Wabash.

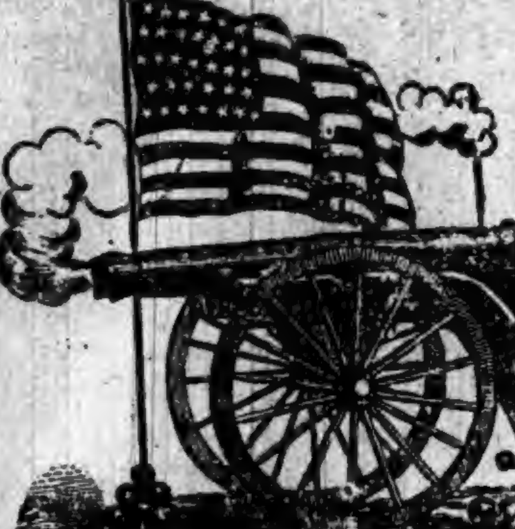
THE AUBURN COURIER

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY.

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, post-office as second-class matter.

THURSDAY........AUGUST 18, 1892.



To Open The Campaign.

The democrats of DeKalb county will open the campaign, formally, by a grand rally at Garrett on Thursday, September 8.

Some of the ablest speakers of the state will address the people, and a grand time is expected. Let all turn out, without regard to politics, and hear living issues ably discussed.

SHELBYVILLE will have a big barbecue September 28, when Gov. Gray and many other prominent democrats will be present.

THE Warsaw Indianian, Gen. Reub Williams' paper, refuses to publish any account of the democratic county convention at Warsaw. Too narrow minded, General.

"Two democratic tickets in the field" said the Dispatch the next week after the people's party had their convention. And a few democrats are walking right into the trap.

HON HENRY B. SAYLOR, who was our representative in congress when Huntington county was a part of this district, has deserted the republicans and gone over to the prohibitionists.

Gov. HOVEY approved the new tax bill that republicans are fighting. Why not complain of Hovey? And Hovey wanted the state levy raised to 25 cents instead of 18 cents, as the democrats fixed it.

REPUBLICAN papers all over the state asked to have taxes raised so as to pay the state debt. Now they object to this very thing. Were they telling a lie then, or are they lying now? It is one or the other.

GLADSTONE became prime minister of Great Britain again last week, his party having carried a vote of "no confidence" in the old ministry by 350 to 310. The full house of commons numbers 670, and this is the first time they ever had the full number within ten assembled at one time.

A. J. YOU, of Ft. Wayne, who is the republican nominee for congress against Hon. W. F. McNagny, the democratic candidate, turns out to be an ex-confederate soldier. Now if the democrats had nominated a confederate for road supervisor, what a loyal howl would have gone up from one end of the country to the other. But will they take Mr. You, Thou, He, She or It off their ticket? Not much. But the people will take him off Nov. 8, with a great deal of pleasure.

THE political tin plate establishment at Anderson was sold at sheriff's sale about a week ago, throwing out of employment four men and one boy. It was a terrible disaster to American industries, but the tin plate liar is still able to be on deck. As we have often said, it does not cost much to start a shop in which to dip sheet iron into a kettle of melted tin. This plant, it is said, cost nearly $500, and brought at the sale $350, which we suppose was a part of the original purchase money. It was started at first only for political effect, by importing a skilled man from a tin factory in Wales, and he was told to take more pains to make votes than tin.

Low Rate Harvest Excursion.

The anouncement that the North-Western Line, comprising over 8,000 miles of thoroughly equipped railways, has arranged to run two low rate Harvest Excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by those who are interested in the development of the great West and Northwest, as by those who desire to visit this wonderful productive region at a season of the year when exact demonstration can be made of the merits and advantages it offers to home-seekers and those in search of safe and profitable investments. These excursions will leave Chicago on August 30th and Sept. 27th, and tickets can be purchased at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip to points in Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho and Montana. They will be strictly first-class in every particular and will be good for return passage at any time within twenty days from date of purchase. Full information concerning rates and arrangements for these excursions can be obtained upon application to any coupon ticket agent, or to W. A. Thrall, G. P. T. A., Chicago & North Western R'y, Chicago. 38

McElree's Wine of Cardui

and THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT are for sale by the following merchants in

DeKalb Co.:

Robbins & McCord,	Auburn,
F. E. Davenport,	"
J. D. Campbell,	Waterloo,
Willis & Co.,	"
Geo. Kehrer,	Butler,
S. G. Stone,	"
O. P. Reber,	Corunna,
W. M. Mercer,	"
J. M. Lefern,	Garrett,
Patterson Bros.,	St. Joe,
J. W. Wyatt,	Concord.

The Dispatch On Bridges.

For the ease with which the Dispatch takes both sides of a question, argues for both sides, argues against both sides, and finally gives advice to both sides, we think it has few equals—surely no superiors. As we have often said, it advocates the most expensive things, and after they are purchased, or accepted, then it kicks because they cost so much, always ending with "they should have followed the Dispatch's advice," or words to that effect. Last week they made a doleful howl because the democratic commissioners saved the people $3,400 in one bridge contract. It was all about the Probst bridge east of St. John. The commissioners have let the contract for a combination bridge of iron and oak timber, for $1,100, but the Dispatch and Commissioner Lockwood were determined to have a bridge there that would cost $4,500. This bridge is to be in a new place, as the road is not yet completed. It is not certain at present how the bridge should be set to clear the water properly, but by the time a wooden bridge would have to be rebuilt we would know just how it could be put to be of most service. Again, who knows whether this new road will be much used, or be of much value to the people. Let us build the first bridge as cheaply as we can, and yet have a good strong bridge. It will last about fifteen years, and the amount of money saved as compared with the cost of building an iron bridge with stone abutments would, if put at interest, build a new and good bridge once in about ten years. Then why invest such a vast sum of the people's money in a bridge that is yet only an experiment, on a road that is itself only an experiment. Then the Dispatch says that Commissioner Lockwood sent out 100 postal cards to prominent farmers asking whether bridges should be built of wood or of iron, and that all the replies that came, said make them of iron. But Mr. Lockwood did not tell all these men the particulars about this one bridge, so that the writers were deceived in many instances, for no doubt they had in mind the bridges on old established and much used roads. Suppose we should we should write a postal to a farmer asking if he would prefer to have his new barn built so as to set on wooden posts or on a stone wall, he would of course answer in favor of the stone wall. But if he had no money to build with, he would not take the stone wall perhaps, but would tell you to build it as cheaply as possible, he would take one with a stone wall later. Had the matter been fully explained to them we believe they would have agreed with commissioners, that a matter of $3,400 saved on one bridge would be a good thing, and the people would still have as good a bridge as will be found in nine-tenths of the counties of the state. The Dispatch ends by alluding to the fact the county is running deeper into debt. The county ran behind the year just passed $840 63, and sometimes they have run a little ahead and sometimes run behind. But the year, of all the years since the war, when the worst showing the county ever made was the last year that we had a republican board, that had run us behind over $11,000 in one year, and we built only two bridges that year. Since then a democratic board built one year six bridges, four of iron and two of combination wood and iron, and all six with stone abutments, and made a far better showing when the year closed, for they came out only a few hundreds behind. This year the Dispatch and republican commissioner Mr Lockwood have left no stone unturned to get the two democratic commissioners to go into the most expensive contracts, and all, no doubt, that they may say after it is over, that the board has been extravagant, for they will claim that the democratic commissioners must be held responsible, they being two to one. But if we are to follow republican advice, or walk in the footsteps of former republican boards, when will we get out of debt? Never. But if the two commissioners, Hoffelder and Henderson, could have been let alone, they might have saved something perhaps on another bridge. But Mr. Lockwood set out to fight for iron bridges for everything in sight, when no doubt some might have been made just as well of wood or of combination at one quarter the cost. We, for our part, favor an iron bridge with stone abutments, when the travel is great and the place a prominent or important one, like those leading to the fair grounds at Auburn or Waterloo, and those near Butler, and several across the St. Joe. But in the main, we insist that cheaper bridges may be constructed, for the interest on the money difference between a wooden and an iron bridge, will replace those bridges with new ones twice as often as they will give out, and thus the people's money may be saved. If the commissioners made any mistake, which we do not admit, it was in contracting for as many iron bridges as they did. As to the cost of repairs the Dispatch speaks of, an iron bridge costs as much for that annually as a wooden one, as the commissioners well know, for they have just paid out several hundred dollars for the one item of painting them, which must be done every three years. The whole trouble is that the Dispatch and Commissioner Lockwood wish to fool the people into electing another board of republican commissioners. This, with the experience our people have had with republican officers, will not be apt to succeed.

ASHLEY

The new Division and Shop Point on the new Chicago and Detroit Extension of the Wabash Railway,

(Waterloo Press.)

The Indiana Improvement Co, bought nearly 800 acres of the choicest land in northeastern Indiana at this place and have sold to the railroad comany 112, and subdivided about 200 acres into town lots. Some thirty have already buildings in course of construction on them, two of which are brick. The shops of the new line have been located at Ashley, and on the 6th, 7th, and 8th of Sept. the Improvement Co. proposes to sell lots to all who desire to buy at private sale. Until then they require a building to be commenced on the lot sold within 15 days. This town has a splendid prospect. It is finely located, being 140 miles east of Chicago and 130 miles west of Detroit and in a very choice farming country. It has been handsomely platted with wide streets and alleys. The Improvement Co. are now engaged in grading the streets and making many other desirable improvements that tend to enhance the value, desirability and attractiveness of property. It is generally understood that the syndicate have plenty of means and ability to carry out their aim and undertakings. The sale will doubtless be largely attended, and the 6th, 7th and 8th of September will be favorably remembered by the new citizens and investtors at Ashley.

People's Party Meeting.

Leroy Templeton, people's party candidate for governor, will fill dates in DeKalb county as follows: At Garrett, Thursday evening, Aug. 18, at 8 p. m.: Auburn, on the public square, on Friday evening, Aug 19, at 8 p. m.: Saturday, Aug. 20, at Hodge's Grove, in Franklin township, at 1.30 p. m. All are invited to come out and hear him.

The Factory Located.

The directors of the Auburn Carriage Body Company made a definite selection of a site for their factory last Saturday. It will be on the south side of the Wabash railroad where Railroad street crosses the track going south, the site being west of the street. This is known as the Gordon site, the company getting two acres of Mr Gordon. The buildings will be commenced at once The main building will be 150x50 feet, with a wing 72x40 feet, both being two stories high. They will be frame, both iron roof and probably iron sides. There will be a brick engine room, and dry kilns, sheds, etc., making a very complete establishment. They will probably heat the buildings by steam and light them with electricity. When they get at work they will employ not less than fifty hands. J. R. Duncan, so long and well known in Waterloo and who has worked for many years in an establishment of this kind, will be the superintendent directly in charge of the factory. He is also a stockholder, though his name was omitted from the list we gave a week ago. Monday of this week the factory started up at the present site in Waterloo, and work will go on there till the new buildings are ready at this place, which will be in about sixty days. They have many orders awaiting now to be filled. The men back of this enterprise have plenty of capital, an abundance of ability in business, and the most of them have had practical experience in conducting some such establishment. This is especially true of Charles Eckhart, Samuel Nickey, Frank Zimmerman, who have all had successful experience in factory management. We consider this new factory as of especial value to Auburn, as it not only adds one more to our already valuable list of industries, but it indicates a second and very important advance in what has long been seen to be a plain necessity, the increase of our manufacturing interests. When the works are ready to start up there will be several families added to our industrial population, including several skilled workmen. We believe, too, that the location indicates that other plants will follow down that way till the space between here and the Junction has been filled up.

Up She Went.

We allude to the fine hickory pole which the COURIER advertised to go up in Auburn Saturday evening. All that afternoon a few of the faithful ones were at work getting the pole ready and making the splice secure. About six o'clock it was put up with but little delay or difficulty. The raising was chiefly under the direction of Fred Kring, though all felt so elated by the sight of the first pole that we all did a fair share of the bossing as well as the lifting. But when Fred said "hee oh, hee" in earnest, up she went. The pole is a beauty, though rather slim for its great length It stands straight 96 feet in the air, and surmounted by a fine bunch of the top leaves. Of course it is spliced, about half way up. It has halyards to raise a flag when that necessary article is ready. Some of the leading democrats from over the county were present and helped to raise it. A few good natured republicans also took a hand in the exercises, ashamed no doubt of the cowardly way their party has conducted its campaigns of late, when they were afraid to have a speech at even a pole raising. After the crowd had had a brief time to rest from their labors, Mr. McNagny, who had in the meantime arrived in town, was escorted to the stand now erected on the north side of the court house, where he was introduced by Judge McClellan, and made one of the best of his always effective speeches. He was frequently cheered, and at its close he had a chance to meet many of the people of all parties. He makes a good impression wherever he goes, and his meeting here was no exception. The audience was large and estimated variously at 3,000 to 4,000. The attention given the speaker showed that the people are deeply in earnest in the discussion of political questions. A noticeable feature was the great number of ladies in attendance, a greater proportion than we have seen for many years. The ladies are especially interested in the tariff question, for they don't like to pay more for an article than it is worth. They are bound to be an important factor in politics this year. We recall that in 1890 the republicans claimed the "women did it," speaking of the terrible defeat they received that year.

GARRETT.

Garrett is still on the boom, getting more like Chicago every day.

A large number of our people went to Cedar Beach last Sunday; they report a good time.

Master Rolly Kooken is taking the place of Fred Simons in the freight office at night.

Mr. Farnsworth was accidently shot in the head by a small boy who was shooting mark with a target rifle.

There is a great deal of sickness in our city at present, five deaths deaths have been reported within a few days.

Mrs. Geo. Beasley died last Monday of typhoid fever. She leaves a husband and small child to mourn her loss.

Our streets are being graded up in the outer part of town since we have a new marshal. Weis. knows his "biz."

The poles for the new electric lights distributed along our streets and we hope they will soon be ready for use.

The store of Clark & Teeters was entered by burglars last Saturday night, but only a few things taken; no clew.

Our young friend, Chas. Weirich has been in the countryfor a few days past. He is an industrious boy and cannot be idle.

Prof. Milton Eager had a bad runa way last week. He lost a fine cornet besides being a little bruised in the accident.

All we hear on our streets now is hop-te-di-dy and ta-ra-ra-bom-de-ay. It takes a smart man to make up such beautiful language.

It was reported in the COURIER that the building which Perry Fair occupied took fire and was not saved, which was not correct.

W. J. Fredrick is building a brick block, containing three business rooms, on the southeast corner of Randolph and King streets.

The yard has changed switch engines. They are now using their old camel-back and Al. Weirich is the man to keep her hot, you bet.

Our new band is getting along nicely for the time they have been organized. If they keep on they will soon lay the old one in the shade.

The Mountains of Colorado.

Denver, Estes Park, Colorado Springs, Manitou and Glenwood Springs, may be reached from Chicago or St. Louis via the Burlington Route fast vestibuled express trains, handsomely equipped with every modern improvement. Write P. S. Eustis, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, for particulars.

HAVE YOU

SEEN OUR

FINE SHOES,

BOOTS,

HEAVY SHOES?

If not, Come at Once and look them over.

No extra charge for a

Good, Square Look,

And we charge no more for a GOOD. SOLID SHOE, than some dealers do for an

INFERIOR ARTICLE.

We never were in better shape to please our customers in

Selections,

Quality,

Price!

WE OWN

BOOTS

CHEAPER

Than any firm in the county. Good, reliable footwear at

LOW PRICES!

We ask a share of your patronage.

WILSON,

Waterloo and Auburn.

NEVER MELTS. FREEZES. GUMS.
CONTAINS NO PETROLEUM OR ACIDS TO DESTROY AXLES.
AXLE GREASE WISE CHICAGO, ILL. WISE AXLE GREASE NEVER GUMS.
Tested by the public for 20 years.
"WISE" AXLE GREASE.
A PURE VEGETABLE GREASE.
EVERY BOX GUARANTEED.
Try "Wise" on one side of your wagon and castor oil or any other kind of grease on the other side, and you will find the "Wise" will wear the longest.
It keeps machinery from rusting and cures scratches on horses.
Try a box and you will use no other.
Ask Your Dealer For It, Or
CLARK & WISE CO., CHICAGO.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
CURE
Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing
SICK
Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured
HEAD
Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head
ACHE
Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.
Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., New York.
SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE

EXCELLENT COFFEE
THE exquisite taste and flavor of Vienna Coffee can only be obtained by using two parts of Coffee to one part of
EMIL SEELIG'S KAFFEE
This is the best, cheapest and most healthful coffee mixture.
A DELICIOUS
BEVERAGE
TRY IT!
Ask Your Grocer for It.
SAMPLE BY MAIL FREE.
Address, Sole Agents for U. S.
ROSENSTEIN BROS.
317 and 319 Greenwich Street,
NEW YORK.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.
Beauty, Health and Grace Combined—
What More can Woman Desire.
Volta-Medico Spinal Appliance,
COMBINED WITH AN
ABDOMINAL AND HOSE SUPPORTER.
They are electrical as well as medicated and are recommended for all Female Weaknesses, General and Nervous Debility, Liver and Kidney Troubles, Headaches, Malaria, Rheumatism, Spinal Diseases, Heart Diseases, Cold Extremities, all Bilious Disorders, Impoverished Blood, Impaired Circulation—in fact all Diseases of the Blood, Stomach or Liver, or where there is a lack of vigor and failing health.
They are not only comforting and strengthening to the wearer, but bring about beauty of form. Shapeless figures made symmetrical in form in from three to six months. Appliances guaranteed. Send stamp for circulars and full information. Address,
VOLTA-MEDICO APPLIANCE CO.,
5 N. 8th St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

FREE-TO MEN.
When you get tired of the "doctors" with their big prices and quack remedies, write to me and I will send (sealed) FREE a prescription that will quickly and certainly cure lost power, wasting weakness, lack of development, impotency, varicocele, etc., from excesses or other causes. A New Positive Remedy which cures when everything else fails. Address
J. D. HOUSE, Box 695, ALBION, MICH.

ROYAL
SEWING MACHINE
WARRANTED
5 YEARS

Has a Large High Arm.
Has a Self-setting Needle.
Has a Self-threading Shuttle.
Has No Equal in Construction.
Has a Mechanical Appearance.
Has an Elegant Finish.
Has a Perfect Adjustment.
Has a Positive Take-up.
Has Stylish Furniture.
Has More Good Sewing Qualities and does a Larger Range of General Work than any Sewing Machine in the World.
Examine THE ROYAL for points of excellence, and you will buy no other.
ROYAL S. M. CO., Rockford, Ill.

HER SISTER'S HONOR.

A Tale of English Life.

By Walter Besant.

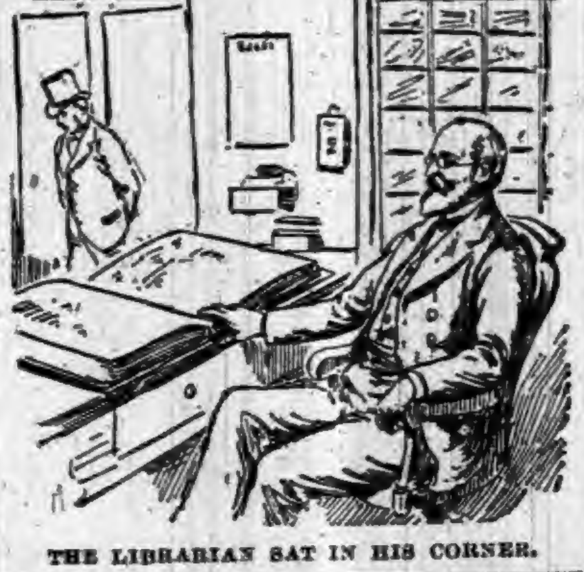
CHAPTER I.

MY SISTER—OH! MY SISTER.

On a fine Saturday evening in July there are never many readers in the Free Library. The old men who come in winter, because the place is warm and light and quiet, are now walking up and down the pavement, where the sunshine warms them through and through and chases away their rheumatic pains. The younger men are all afield, playing cricket, boating, cycling, rambling afoot, thinking of nothing but the delights of fresh air, and rejoicing in their youth. What have the young to do with a musty, dusty library on a summer evening? A library is a cemetery. Books are mostly the tombs of dead men's brains. Young folk are much better occupied with reading each other's thoughts than with walking among the tombs, so that the library is almost empty.

It was about seven o'clock. At the window into which the sun would have poured its wealth of heat and light—which it gives to the tombs of the dead as well as to the fields and flowers of the living—a brown blind was hauled down, leaving a long, narrow line. The sun, pertinacious in its attempt to reach everything, took advantage of the line to make a thin plate or lamina of bright sunshine, across which the merry motes danced with their usual cheerfulness. There was a smell of leather bindings; the tables were covered with magazines and papers; a few readers sat at the tables. But I think that knowledge was not greatly advanced. One or two of them slept; one or two looked as if their thoughts were elsewhere—with the brook babbling over the shallows, with the village cronies gathered under the lean-to beside the ale-house. One of them, gaunt, hollow-eyed, hungry, sat with an illustrated paper before him. But he never turned over a leaf, and he looked not at the pictures. The librarian watched that man suspiciously. He did not like the look in that man's eyes. It meant rebellion; it meant a wicked spirit of discontent with the social order which left him starving while it made his neighbor fat, and refused him work while it suffered his neighbor to live in comfort on the work of other men. Only a year or two ago—or it might be ten, because to one who is a librarian years have no significance in connection with numbers—a man had come into the place with just such a look in his eyes. That man asked for a book, sat down, and proceeded to tear away its bindings and to wrench its sheets asunder. Then he gave himself up to the librarian with the greatest gentleness and politeness, explaining that liberty without a crust was really a mockery, and that in future he meant to be maintained by his country, and that when he had served his time for the destruction of the book, he meant to smash a lamp, and, that atoned for, to steal a stretcher from a police station, and so on, getting perhaps longer sentences, until he should be called to his reward. They walked off together to the nearest police station like two old friends, and parted with a hearty grasp after the sergeant had noted the case.

Another man there was whom the librarian regarded with eyes of compassion. He dragged himself slowly and wearily up the stairs, threw himself upon a seat next the wall, and therefore provided with a back, took up a paper, sighed, and instantly fell fast asleep. This sort the librarian knew very well—he was the clerk out of work.



THE LIBRARIAN SAT IN HIS CORNER.

He fell asleep because he was exhausted with want of food, and with climbing the stairs in the city seeking for work. The librarian wondered how much longer the weary quest would continue. The man was clearly well on the downward slope; his next place would be lower; his next lower still. With adversity arrives too often moral weakening—it is one of the countless ills which follow in misfortune's train; perhaps this poor wretch would take to drink—many of them do; in the end, a clean bed in the London Hospital, with pneumonia drawing him swiftly to an ignoble grave.

The librarian sat in his corner, a many pigeon-holed cabinet against the wall at his side, a great book before him—no librarian is complete without a great book before him—and the usual materials for cataloguing on his desk, because to carry on the catalogue is as necessary a part of the daily work as to open the day's letters is for a secretary. He was a man of 60, or perhaps more, his beard white, and his gray hair scanty on the top. He wore spectacles, and his face showed the clear, unlined surface of one who has never been concerned with markets, prices, or the state of trade. He lived all day in the library, and in the evening he walked home to his solitary lodging, two miles away.

The librarian of a free library is familiar with every kind of reader. He classifies them all. There are first the unemployed, the most numerous patrons of the free library. The librarian gets to know the trade of every man, if he belongs to one of the commoner branches of work, by his appearance. There are the quiet men who use the library in the evening, when their mates are in the public-house drinking, or at the club wrangling or perhaps gambling. They come here not to pursue a line of study, but to amuse themselves in peace. Then in any library there are one or two habitues of the day time. Mostly they are retired tradesmen, or old pensioners, who continue to live in the locality where they have friends. There is the young fellow who comes regularly to consult all the papers on sporting matters. He collects the prophetic tips, and notes the odds in a book; he would fain be a Sharp, but he, too often, remains a Juggins. There is the boy who comes here whenever he can get the chance to sit in a corner and dream away the time feliciously over a story. There is the poor country lad who has more knowledge in his little finger than a London artisan in his whole body, who understands how to plow and sow and reap, and stack and thrash; who can cultivate an allotment; who knows sheep and beasts, and pigs and horses; who can foretell the weather. Yet he has thrown it all over and come up to London, where he has nothing but his pair of hands and his strong arms, and his great knowledge avails him nothing. 'Tis as if you turned a professor of mathematics into a draper's shop, where they would use him for nothing but to sweep the floor and carry out the parcels. He rolls into the library accidentally, and not liking the place or the smell (which is not in the least like the smell of the earth), he goes out again.

The librarian knows them all. He watches in the silent room as the clock over his head ticks loudly, and makes up their little stories for them. Sometimes they whisper a little with him. He is a sympathetic creature, and they will confide their case to him asking for his advice. They do not seek it in the search for a book to read, but in search for work. And sometimes he knows, or has heard things, which may help them. Other librarians, you see, get a vast and intimate acquaintance with books. This librarian is more useful to his readers if he knows the contents of the trade journals.

Sometimes, however, as in the case of Naomi Hellyer, he was altogether at sea. Naomi first appeared on this Saturday evening. She came in timidly, and looked about her with hesitation. There was no other woman in the place. Perhaps women were not admitted. Then the librarian stepped out of his corner and invited her to take a seat and ask for anything she might want.

He saw a woman of thirty dressed in the black stuff frock of a workwoman, with a cloth jacket, though it was so warm an evening. Her dress was perfectly neat and well-fitting; her gloves were worn; she had the appearance of resolute respectability coupled with small pay. Her face was thin and pale, and her features delicate. She was not beautiful, but she looked steady and serious—what is called responsible. The librarian noticed these things; he also noticed, for he was an observant creature, as well as sympathetic, that there was trouble in the face—abiding trouble.

When she took off her worn glove the librarian saw upon her forefinger the usual sign of needlework, which a woman can no more disguise than a mulatto can disguise the black streaks below his finger-nails. She took a place at one of the tables and began to turn over the leaves of an illustrated paper, but languidly, as if she took no interest in what she read. The librarian, watching her from his corner, observed that she presently put down the paper and began to walk about, reading the titles on the books on the shelves as if she was in search of something.

Being a conscientious librarian as well as observant and sympathetic, he left his place in the corner and asked her if there were any work which she wished to read. She shook her head. There was nothing, she said. The librarian observed that she had an extremely sweet voice. He also observed that she went looking at the titles as if she really did want something.

The librarian was experienced as well as conscientious, observant, and sympathetic. He discovered that there was something behind this restless curiosity.

"I think you are looking for some book," he said. "If you will tell me what it is——"

"Have you got," she asked, coloring deeply, "any book that tells about——" She hesitated.

"About?" he repeated.

"About women"—here she looked about to make sure that nobody else could hear, and her voice dropped to a whisper—"about women in prison, how they are treated, and how they live?"

"We have a book called 'Five Years of Penal Servitude,'" he replied, "but that is about male convicts, not women."

"May I see that?"

He found and gave her the volume.

When the library closed she brought him back the book, and went away. But her eyes were red. She had been crying.

During the week the librarian found himself thinking a good deal about this woman. She looked refined and delicate, perhaps above the position she now held, which seemed to be poorly paid, judging from her dress. By her language and her manner she showed herself what is called ladylike or what ladies prefer to call rather a superior person. He could not remember whether she wore a wedding ring. He hoped that she would come again.

On Saturday evening she did come again. The librarian greeted her with the smile reserved for habitual readers. "Let me find you another book," he said.

"Please let me have the same"—as if the librarian should remember every book taken up by every reader. But he did remember her book and gave it to her.

She finished the book that evening. But long after she closed the volume she sat with it in her hand, thinking. She was in a corner where there were no other readers. But the librarian could see her. And from time to time the tears rose to her eyes and ran down her cheeks. He wondered what was meant by this grief, what miserable story lay behind.

She was the last to leave the library. The other readers had all gone, half an hour before the time for closing, but she sat there motionless, thinking, crying silently, and the librarian made pretense not to see her.

When the clock struck ten he locked the room and went out, a few minutes after her. His mind was quite full of her distress, as he walked along the streets, now growing cool in the July twilight.

Presently he saw before him, going the same way, his reader. He overtook her and ventured to speak.

"We are going the same way?" he asked.

"I am going to ——." She mentioned a street not far off.

"It is the same way," he replied; "may I walk with you? I am the librarian, you know."

She hesitated a little. But an official such as a librarian is not a perfect stranger. Besides, he was old and looked harmless, and his voice and manner were friendly. "If you please," she said presently.

They walked together in silence, side by side.

Presently the librarian began to ask a few leading questions, and learned that his new friend was a workwoman at a dressmaker's in the neighborhood. It is not a fashionable quarter, and the pay given to the most superior person is but meager—still it was enough, and the work was regular.

"I do not belong to the place," she said, "I come from the country. I have no friends, and am fortunate in getting any work at all."

"You must come a great deal to the library," he replied. "There you can be quiet and have the companionship of books, if you care for them. But you must not always read sad books——"

"I have no heart," she said, "for anything but sad books. This is my street. Good-night."

A week later she came again. Always on a Saturday evening. The reason was that she worked extra time in order to get a little more money on other evenings.

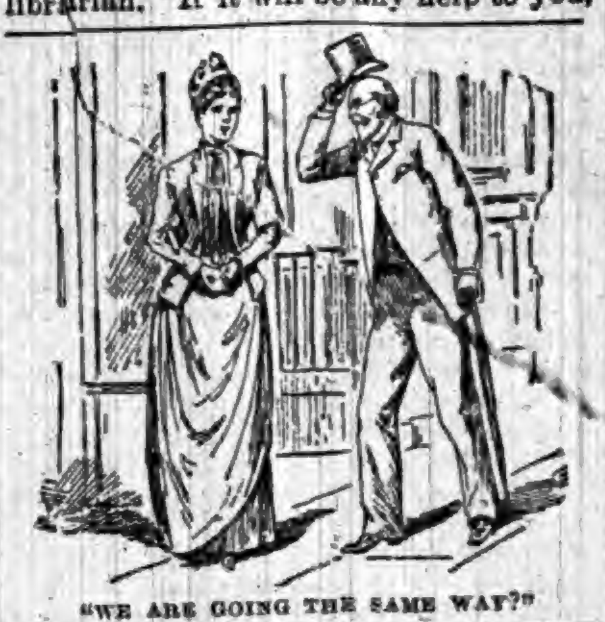
"I have found you a book about female convicts," the librarian told her. "It is twenty years old, but I suppose things are not changed much."

"Oh, give it to me—thank you!"

She snatched it from him and sought her corner, where she sat, her head on her hand, reading the book all the evening.

They walked home together again.

"You are in great trouble," said the librarian. "If it will be any help to you,



"WE ARE GOING THE SAME WAY?"

tell me what it is. A good many people tell me their troubles. Sometimes it helps only to talk about things. Have you no friends?"

"No. I have lost all my old friends, and I cannot make new ones. Oh! if I could tell you——"

"You may tell me, if you will trust me."

"You will not give me any more books if I do."

"Surely—surely——"

"Well then—the reason why I want to read about—about—you know—oh! I must speak to someone—the reason why—it is because my sister is in prison—oh! my sister—oh! my poor, poor sister! She is in prison."

CHAPTER II.

BY THE RIVER.

Outside the old wall, a little of which still stands, runs, winding slowly through the meadows, the river on whose banks the ancient northern town is built. It is broad enough for boats, and on summer evenings a few come out, but not many, because it is a sleepy old town, and all the young men who have any go in them seek their fortunes elsewhere when they come to the rowing age. For half a mile or so below the town a broad walk has been constructed, having the river on one side and a row of trees on the other. Seats are planted here and there. It is the boulevard of the townspeople, and, when the weather and season allow, the place is crowded and animated with the girls—in this happy town there are thirty girls to one young man—who go up and down in pairs laughing and prattling as merrily as if they were not destined by the rigor of fate to single blessedness, because there are so many of them. I have always thought that this special application of the old law about the sins of the fathers must be very hard for a girl to accept with resignation. "You suffer," says the law, "because there are too many of you. I am very sorry, but—it is the sin of the father—why were you born?" Why, indeed?

In the summer the lilies lie upon the waters; the river sparkles and dances in the light and sunshine; there are swans and ducks; under the branches disport millions of midges; there is a soft warm smell in the air, partly from the river and partly from the low meadows on the other side; the fields are full of buttercups; from the tower of the cathedral float the melodious notes of a carillon; the river is lazy, and floweth slowly, lingering beside its banks; now and then a water-rat plunges on the opposite side as a fish leaps out of the water; the cows sit watching the sky and the sunset; the swallows and swifts are the only really active things; it is a pleasant, peaceful place to which the crowd of girls lends an illusive show of youth. I say illusive because youth ought not to be all of one sex, and when there are not male and female in equal proportion, youth loses its brightness.

"TELL ME ALL," HE SAID.

When the evenings are cold and dark the place is deserted. No one walks there after sunset. This was the reason why a certain couple chose the place on one evening in October. It was a little after seven; the night had fallen upon a gloomy day. A fresh breeze blew up the river, tearing the leaves off the trees, whirling them about in the air and making drifting heaps of them; the branches overhead creaked; the meadows were dark; the river was black; drops of rain fell upon the faces of the pair who walked side by side, the young man's arm around the girl's waist.

"Tell me all," he said. "Let me know the worst, and then we can face it. My darling, is there anything that we cannot face together—hand-in-hand?"

"Oh!" she murmured. "It puts new strength in me—only to hear you speak and to feel your presence. Naomi is anxious and troubles herself about the future, morning, noon and night. Harry, will it make no difference to you?"

"My darling, how would anything make a difference to me? Do I not love you once for all—for all this world and all the next?"

He bent over her—he was a tall and gallant young fellow—and she raised her face to meet his lips.

"He fell down," she went on, "while John was putting up the shutters. He was standing at his desk, and he fell down on his face. He never spoke again or knew anybody or felt anything. And next morning about noon he died."

"He died," echoed the lover. "Poor dear Ruth! You told me of this in your letter. It was a terrible blow to you."

"I wrote to you about it. But I said nothing of what was discovered afterward."

"What was discovered?"

"We always thought he was so well off. Everybody thought so. There was never any want of money. When he died the people said we must remember how well off we should be left, and that ought to console us."

"Well, dear?"

"There is nothing. The business had been falling off for years. There is not enough now to pay rent and taxes. And as for what is left it must all go to pay debts."

"Poor child! This is terrible. What will you do?"

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

OUR BUDGET OF FUN.

HUMOROUS SAYINGS AND DOINGS HERE AND THERE.

Jokes and Jokelets that Are Supposed to Have Been Recently Born—Sayings and Doings that Are Odd, Curious and Laughable.

AN oculist is the man who can make people "open their eyes."

EVEN when a ship parts with her anchor she still keeps her hold.

OF a retiring nature—the man who goes to bed with the chickens.

HAVE you ever heard a parrot swear? No, but I've seen a cro-cus.

WE shall have showers of blessing." Too much of a good thing isn't good at all.

IF a boy is well thrashed he ought to be "as good as wheat."—Rochester Democrat.

IF any boat can shoot the rapids successfully we should think it would be the gunboat.

THERE are some men who are so opposed to anarchy that they will not even wear red flannel.

TRIVET—"Isn't Mrs. Chinner a handsome woman?" Dicer—"Yes, but she isn't as handsome as she is painted."—Judge.

A DRUMMER who eloped with a Kansas City dining-room girl was arrested for stealing the table service.—Binghamton Republican.

A SOUTH JERSEY paper makes the remarkable statement that "thin people are very thick in this neighborhood."—Philadelphia Record.

IT'S a satisfaction to know that the hat-pin is not to become an instrument of assassination. A girl can be dressed to kill without it.—Philadelphia Times.

"THERE!" she said, standing on her tiptoes, "I am about your size." "On the contrary," said the disconsolate lover, "my sighs are about you!"—Chicago Tribune.

LOUISE—Where is your brother now? Kittie (whose brother has just sailed for Europe)—Why, don't you know? He's on the brawny deep.—Harper's Young People.

MRS. KEYBOARD—Why do you always sit at the hotel piano? You can't play a note. Old Stokes—Neither can any one else while I'm here.—Brandon Banner.

MR. CITIMAN—Where in creation is that furnished cottage I rented for the summer? Rural carman—Right over yonder, sir, behind your wife's trunk.—New York Weekly.

TEACHER—How did Napoleon III. reach the throne of France? Pupil—He rode in. "Rode in? Nonsense!" "Oh, yes'm. The history says he got in by a coupe."—Good News.

A SUSSEX, England, horticultural correspondent announces, on the authority of his vicar, that nine out of ten among the humbler brides swear to "love and honor cherries and a berry."

"WELL, if that ain't mean," exclaimed the prisoner, "every durned one o' the stories in this here paper they've gimme to read is continued. An' me to be hung next week!"—Indianapolis Journal.

"EB'NEZAH!" "Ma'am?" "Is yoh bin hookin' watah millins fu'm de mahkit?" "No'm." "Well, maybe yoh didn't. But I doan see how yoh am gwine ter prove an alibi fur dat colic."—Washington Star.

MRS. SNOOPER—Men make me tired. Mrs. Swayback—What's the matter now? Mrs. Snooper—My husband saw Mrs. Keedick yesterday, and I asked him what she had on, and he replied, "Oh, clothes."—Tid-Bits.

LITTLE DICK—School teachers hasn't any feelin's at all. Mamma—What is the matter now? Little Dick—My teacher borrowed my new knife to sharpen her pencil, so she could give me a demerit mark.—Good News.

HOFFMAN HOWES—Wheah has Howell Gibbon been lately? Rockaway Beeche—Staying at home, deah boy. His name was misspelled in one of the society papahs, and he is waiting faw the affair to blow ovah.—Puck.

"SO," SAID Mr. Donnegan, "they's been printing the funeral notices av a man that wasn't dead yit. It's a nice fix he'd be in if he had been wan o' those people that believe ivyrything in the newspapers."—Washington Star.

WIFE—"What's that white stuff on your shoulder?" Husband—"Chalk from a billiard cue, you know." Wife (sniffing)—"Hereafter I wish you to use chalk that doesn't smell like toilet powder."—New York Weekly.

"I CAN'T sing," said the young lady when invited to warble; but she complied upon being further pressed. When she had finished, Fogg thanked her, and added behind his teeth, "I'll never doubt anybody's word again."—Boston Transcript.

THE lately married one—I never heard of such trouble as I have with my servants. They are so stupid! The experienced one—Don't talk to me! The other day I sent Patrick out for two egg plants; he came back with two hens.—Scribner's Magazine.

MISS BEAUTI—"I think Mr. Lovelorn is just too mean for anything, and after all the favors I've shown him, too. I used to go to operas and theaters and everywhere with him, and now, when I ask him a little favor, he refuses." Friend—"What did you want?" Miss Beauti—"I asked him to be one of the ushers at my wedding."—New York Weekly.

Lynch Law in Algeria.

Lynch law has been practically established in Algeria, with the moral connivance of the authorities. This primitive state of things has been brought about owing to the lack of judges and gendarmes. The other day an Arab who had assaulted and slain a little girl near Constantine, under circumstances of atrocious cruelty, was followed by some of his indignant fellow-country men, seized by them, and flung over a precipice before the police could interfere. In the space of eighteen months eight criminals, some of whom were convicts returned from Cayenne, have been shot for murder and robbery without the benefit of trial by jury.—Pall Mall Gazette.

GANTER'S MAGIC —CHICKEN— CHOLERA CURE!

Thousands of dollars worth of chickens are destroyed by Cholera every year. It is more fatal to them than all other diseases combined. But the discovery of a liquid remedy that positively destroys the Microbes has been made. Half of the young chickens are killed by Microbes before they are fryers. A 50-cent bottle is enough for 100 chickens. It is guaranteed. If, after using two thirds of a bottle, you are not satisfied with it as a cure for Cholera, return it to the druggist from whom you purchased it, and he will refund your money.
For Sale by ROBBINS & McCORD, Druggists, Auburn, Ind.

TO WEAK MEN
Suffering from the effects of youthful errors, early decay, wasting weakness, lost manhood, etc., I will send a valuable treatise (sealed) containing full particulars for home cure, FREE of charge. A splendid medical work; should be read by every man who is nervous and debilitated. Address
Prof. F. C. FOWLER, Moodus, Conn.

WILLIAMS'
LINIMENT.
THE GREAT CURE FOR SPAVIN
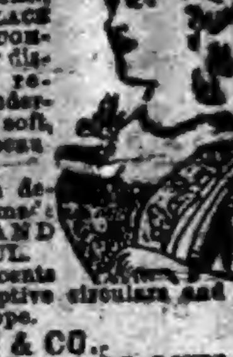
AND ALL KINDS OF LAMENESS.
THE ONE STANDARD REMEDY FOR THE HORSE
$150 FOR $1 INVESTED.
I used all known remedies for spavin and failed till Williams' Liniment came, and with it I effected a cure, and added $150 to the value of the mare. Since then I have recommended the Liniment repeatedly, and have heard nothing of it but praise. It is now three years, and I am still driving the mare, and she has shown no signs of spavin or lameness since.
A. G. SMALLEY, Boston.
EVERY STABLE NEEDS IT.
FOR SALE By all leading dealers and wholesalers—Take no other.
$1.00 A BOTTLE, 6 BOTTLES FOR $5.00
Or send $10 for one doz., Express paid anywhere in the U. S.
J. ALLEN RICE, Proprietor.
LABORATORY—MILFORD, MASS.
SEND FOR CIRCULAR.

None Such
CONDENSED
Mince Meat
Makes an every-day convenience of an old-time luxury. Pure and wholesome. Prepared with scrupulous care. Highest award at all Pure Food Expositions. Each package makes two large pies. Avoid imitations—and insist on having the NONE SUCH brand.
MERRELL & SOULE, Syracuse, N. Y.

LOVELY COMPLEXION
BEAUTIFUL FORM.

Blemishes, such as FRECKLES, MOTH PATCHES, LIVER SPOTS, BLOTCHES, TAN, PIMPLES, BLACK HEADS, ROUGHNESS, or any discoloration removed, rendering the skin soft, velvety & beautiful.
The form developed — made PLUMP AND BEAUTIFUL.
Send six cents in stamps and get descriptive circulars and testimonials in a sealed envelope.
H. BENJAMIN & CO.,
115 N. 8th Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.



CANCER and other Malignant Diseases CURED without the use of knife. Consultation Free. Call or write—
DR. RUSH
Office, 800 Pine St. ST. LOUIS, MO.

BB CORSET WAIST

PERFECTION of Fit, Style, Comfort, Material AND Durability.
SEND $1.25 FOR SAMPLE BY MAIL PREPAID
CORSETS MUST GO!
This is the verdict of all progressive women.
Our waists are healthful and delightful to wear; they support the hose and underwear from the shoulders, and are a happy combination of ease and style.
BENJAMIN BROS.
NEWARK, N. J.

For a 240-lb. FAMILY SCALE.
ONLY $4.

This is less than the cost to manufacture by any other concern. All scales are finely finished with Vermilion and Gold, Steel Bearings, Brass Beam, and packed in single boxes; also a 600-lb. Platform Scale on Rollers for $15.
1,000-lb. PLATFORM SCALES ON ROLLERS, Capacity from ½ lb. to 1,000 lbs., size 17x26, ONLY $16.
Also 5-ton WAGON SCALES for $50.
Every Farmer can afford a Scale now they can be had at so low a price. Save money and buy the best. All our Scales are U. S. Standard and fully Warranted.
Buy the best and save money. Send for free Lithographed Circular.
E. F. RHODES CO., GRANGER, IND.

FREE
FOR 30
30
DAYS
DAYS

In order to introduce our CRAYON PORTRAITS and make new customers, we have decided to make this Special Offer: Send us a Cabinet Picture, Photograph, Tintype, Ambrotype or Daguerotype of yourself or any member of your family, living or dead, and we will make you a Crayon Portrait Free of Charge, provided you exhibit it to your friends as a sample of our work, and use your influence in securing us future orders. Place name and address on back of picture and it will be returned in perfect order. We make any change in picture you wish, not interfering with likeness. Refer to any Bank in Chicago. Address all mail to ECLIPSE PORTRAIT CO., 110 East Randolph St., CHICAGO, Ill.
(P. S.—We will forfeit $100 to any one sending us photo and not receiving crayon picture FREE as per this offer. THIS OFFER IS STRICTLY BONA FIDE.)

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN
NERVINE TONIC
—AND—
Stomach AND Liver Cure
The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.
The Great South American Nervine Tonic
Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incalculable value who is affected by disease of the stomach, because the experience and testimony of many go to prove that this is the ONE and ONLY ONE great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic.
HARRIET E. HALL, of Waynetown, Ind., says: "I owe my life to the Great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted stomach, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration, and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors, with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."
MRS. ELLA A. BRATTON, of New Ross, Indiana, says: "I cannot express how much I owe to the Nervine Tonic. My system was completely shattered, appetite gone, was coughing and spitting up blood; am sure I was in the first stages of consumption, an inheritance handed down through several generations. I began taking the Nervine Tonic, and continued its use for about six months, and am entirely cured. It is the grandest remedy for nerves, stomach and lungs I have ever seen."
No remedy compares with SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE as a cure for the Nerves. No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a wondrous cure for the Stomach. No remedy will at all compare with South American Nervine as a cure for all forms of failing health. It never fails to cure Indigestion and Dyspepsia. It never fails to cure Chorea or St. Vitus' Dance. Its powers to build up the whole system are wonderful in the extreme. It cures the old, the young, and the middle aged. It is a great friend to the aged and infirm. Do not neglect to use this precious boon: if you do, you may neglect the only remedy which will restore you to health. South American Nervine is perfectly safe, and very pleasant to the taste. Delicate ladies, do not fail to use this great cure, because it will put the bloom of freshness and beauty upon your lips and in your cheeks, and quickly drive away your disabilities and weaknesses.
Price, Large 18 ounce Bottles, $1.25; Trial Size, 15 Cents.
EVERY BOTTLE WARRANTED.
If not kept by Druggists order direct from
Dr. E. DETCHON, Crawfordsville, Ind.
For Sale by ROBBINS & McCORD, Auburn, Ind.

We Open This week

OUR FALL LINE OF

Dress Goods

AND

Dress Trimmings,

including many of the latest and most desirable novelties.

We Show Large Line of

Trunks, Traveling Bags and Wall Trunks.

MANUFACTURED BY
The HACKETT WASMUTH TRUNK Co.
ROANOKE, INDIANA.
The Acme Trunk

Take a Look at This Trunk.

HARTER,

AUBURN.

Main Street, North of Farmers Bank,

I. O. BUCHTEL,
Homoeopathic
Physician and Surgeon.

Special attention given to chronic and obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.
Office and residence over Smith & Madden's marble works, Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, night or day.

H. DARLING, D. D. S.,
DENTIST.

Graduate of CHICAGO COLLEGE OF DENTAL SURGERY.
Member of Royal College of Dental Surgeons of ONTARIO.
☞ Gas administered for Painless Extraction.

Dr. James Adams,
VETERINARY SURGEON.

Will treat all Diseases of Domestic Animals. He has had THIRTY YEARS successful PRACTICE. Call on him at his residence No. 34, North Main street, or at ROBBINS & McCORD'S Drug Store.

Dr. K. K. Wheelock,
—Diseases of the—
EYE AND EAR
A Specialty. Office 26, W. Wayne St., Fort Wayne, Ind.

McBRIDE and McBRIDE,
COPYISTS,

Manuscript Speeches, Briefs and Depositions, Business and Personal Type-Writing Generally,

WATERLOO, IND.

☞ Write for terms, stating what kind of WORK.

Dr. F. M. Hines, Physician and SURGEON.
Office over J. C. HENRY'S Grocery, in the Ford Block,
AUBURN, IND.

☞ RESIDENCE, at the Samuel Swihart residence on South Jackson St. near the Church Furniture factory, and just across west from the German Methodist church. All calls attended to promptly, night or day.

—AUBURN WOOLEN MILLS—
........DOES........

All kinds of CUSTOM WORK, such as Carding, Spinning, Etc.
ALSO
MANUFACTURE for the TRADE, Yarns Flannels, Skirtings, Blankets and Wool Bats.
These goods are absolutely PURE and warranted to give SATISFACTION to the Consumer.
—ENSLEY & FORKNER, Proprietors.—
Call at FACTORY North End of Main street
AUBURN, IND.

The Auburn Iron Works,
Is the
Place to go for General Repairs
of all kinds.
Pipe, Pipe Fittings, Etc.,
FURNISHED,

"Late to bed and early to rise will shorten the road to your home in the skies." But early to bed and a "Little Early Riser," the pill that makes life longer and better and wiser.
Robbins & McCord.

LOCAL NEWS.

☞ BLACK-DRAUGHT tea cures Constipation.

HOUSE TO RENT: Call on C. Ashelman Auburn.

CUBEB COUGH CURE—One Minute. Sold by F. E. Davenport. tf

KRAUSE'S HEADACHE CAPSULES—Warranted. Sold by F. E. Davenport. tf

Try Dullman's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Coughing leads to consumption. Kemp's Balsam will stop that cough at once.

One dollar a year will cover your doctor's bill if you take Simmons Liver Regulator.

Try Dullam's Great German 15-cent liver pills, 40 in each package, at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Feed of all kinds, at I. S. Kutzner's barn on block just west of Garrett's grocery store. Call on him.

MY GIRL, is one of the most popular brands of cigars on the market.

The Jewel, the New Process and the Quick Meal, at Beuret's. Best gasolene stoves made. Don't roast over a wood stove; get a gasolene.

The greatest worm destroyer on earth is Dullam's Great German Worm Lozengers, only 25 cents per box. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Early Risers, Early Risers, Early Risers the famous little pills for constipation, sick headache, dyspepsia and nervousness. Robbins & McCord.

Smoke the Little Salesman, the nobbiest brand out.

Voice culture, piano, organ, thorough base and harmony, I will give lessons in any of these branches. Over fourteen years experience.
tf J. I. Chany, Auburn.

It is a fixed and immutable law that to have good, sound health one must have pure, rich and abundant blood. There is no shorter nor surer route than by a course of DeWitt's Sarsaparilla.
Robbins & McCord.

Are you troubled with any skin disorder? Hot Springs Skin Salve is all that the name implies. The salts from the evaporated waters are embodied in its composition, and it should be used wherever a salve or ointment is necessary. Sold only by Davenport, the druggist.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by Robbins & McCord, druggist, Auburn, Ind. tf

MILES' NERVE & LIVER PILLS. Act on a new principle—regulating the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new discovery. Dr. Miles' Pills speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles, constipation. Unequaled for men, women, and children. Smallest, mildest, surest! 50 doses, 25 cts. Samples free at F. E. Davenport's.

VERY MUCH SURPRISED: I have been afflicted with neuralgia for nearly two years, have tried physicians and all known remedies, but found no permanent relief until I tried a bottle of Dullman's Great German Liniment and it gave me instant and permanent relief. 25 cents per bottle. Signed, A. B. Snell, Hamilton, Mich. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Grover Cleveland's Grand March Ben. Harrison's Grand March, either of these two marches will be sent to any address on receipt of 20 cents each, or the two for 35 cts. These marches are new. Every player should have them. Postage stamps acceptable. Address all orders J. I. Chaney, Auburn, Ind.

McElree's WINE OF CARDUI for female diseases.

Auburn Fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

The Auburn fair is Sept. 12.

Don't fail to get something ready for the Auburn fair, Sept. 12.

Try Dullam's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Mrs. Tony Haight, of Ft. Wayne, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Hebel.

Come out and hear Miss Henrietta G. Moore next Tuesday evening. Admission free.

The brickwork on the Gugerli building is all done and the plasterers are now at work.

Dr. S. B. Johnston, dentist, will be in his office at Waterloo on Thursday of each week.

Mrs. James Campbell came home Saturday, after a long stay with relatives at Walkerton.

Don't fail to read the local notice of the great stock sale at James W. Clark's in Smithfield.

Three-fourths of your ailments arise from liver troubles which Simmons Liver Regulator cures.

Do you want the best picture that can be made by the photographic process? If so, then go to J. A. Landis.

Gugerli has moved to the Sheets building, south of jail, where his customers will find him till about Sept. 1.

The singing at the annual institute sermon at the Opera House will be from the "Gospel Hymns" song books.

TO RENT: By the hour, day or week, a high grade cushion tired safety bicycle. Inquire of Walter C. Hartman, Auburn, Indiana.

The Church of God S. S. will hold a picnic on the Auburn fair grounds, next Saturday, Aug. 20, 1892. All are cordially invited to attend.

Rev. Dr. Nourse ranks with the very best lecturers of the country, and is considered by many as the peer of Talmage, Beecher, Phillips, Stough, etc.

Beuret is going out of the hardware business and wants to sell out his stock to the last pound. It will pay you to see him when you want good bargains.

MARRIED: At the residence of the bride's parents, on Main street, Denoyer Crew and Clara Burgess, by Rev. J. D. Brosy. They were both of Auburn.

FOR SALE:—A Little Giant bicycle, all in good repair and ready to run, on reasonable terms. For information call on or address, Ira Brandon, Auburn. 32tf.

Persons who will take any teachers to board and room during their stay at the institute next week, will confer a favor by notifying Supt. Merica. The rates will be 50 cents per day.

Bright people are the quickest to recognize a good thing and buy it. We sell lots of bright people the Little Early Risers. If you are not bright these pills will make you so. Robbins & McCord.

Col. Sanford appeared here in the interests of the M. E. Sabbath school last spring, and not only did he instruct, but he kept his audience in a roar of laughter for the hour and three quarters that he spoke.

The pastor of the Lutheran church went away on his vacation, and will be gone over two Sundays. There will be no services at the church Sabbaths, Aug. 21 and 28; the next regular services will be on Sept. 4.

Wright Armstrong got his hand into the rip saw at the band sawmill last Wednesday, taking the ends off of two fingers. It made a pretty sore job of it for a few days and of course laid him up for a week or two.

Don't smother your better judgment through the influence of an erroneous pride, in thinking there is no difference between the prices of the same articles when sold by different dealers, but call on J. Beuret, and learn for yourself.

J. W. Clark, of Smithfield, 8 miles north of Auburn, will have on Tuesday the 30th of August, a large sale of personal property consisting of horses, cattle, 150 head of sheep, hogs, all kinds of farm machinery and many other articles. A chance for good bargains.

Remember the county institute begins here next Monday. Our people have learned to appreciate these annual gatherings of teachers from home and abroad, and we look to see Auburn's citizens generally attending, not the lectures alone, but the day lessons also.

The old friends of J. D. High will be interested to learn that he has moved from Atchison, Kansas, to Concordia, in the same state, though still in the employ of the Missouri Pacific. We try to keep watch of the numerous old boys of DeKalb who are trying their fortunes in distant states.

Angola has had on its lecture course, Wendling, Headley, Bain, Copeland, Conwell, Henson, Swing, Joseph Cook, R. G. Horr, in fact the very best lecture talent of the country, and yet Supt. Carlin says Rev. Dr. Nourse is the best without exception that ever appeared before an Angola audience.

RHEUMATISM CURED IN A DAY.—"Mystic Cure" for rheumatism and neuralgia radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause and the disease immdiately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits. 75 cents. Sold and guaranteed by Robbins & McCord druggists, Auburn.

The little Misses of Mrs. Plum's class of the Presbyterian Sunday school, made a great success of their social last week. The supper was excellent, and the little ladies fairly flew through the air to be sure their guests were waited on promptly. And they were so polite and so pleasant that they made everybody glad he had come. We are pleased to learn that they cleared over $19.

Will Schaab returned Tuesday from his summer vacation, which he took in the east. He visited Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, etc. and had a pleasant time generally. He was in Washington before Judge McClellan left to come home, and the Judge took pleasure in showing him some of the noted places of the city. He was gone about three weeks.

T. F. Franks, former trustee of Richland, was here last Friday. We always like to have a chat with such men. He is a farmer well posted on the tariff and other similar steals. And we believe three-fourths of the more intelligent farmers, including many republicans, understand fully, that the protective tariff is a curse to them, and to the country generally. And if all men of all parties, who agree in this one thing, vote the democratic ticket together, they would carry all before them, and these obnoxious laws would be at once wiped out. But it often happens that those who believe in a reform of the tariff, go and vote, some one way and some another, and so the old tariff fraud is saved and kept alive.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

☞ WINE OF CARDUI, a Tonic for Women.

Auburn Fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

Meese Swing Washer beats them all.

See the two Johns when you want wall paper.

Gugerli, the tailor, south of public square, now.

Mrs. Frank Rose, of Garrett, is here at present visiting.

Space in all the departments of the fair is being taken rapidly.

Sept. 12 to 16 is the time of the Auburn District fair.

Miss Maud Thorley, of Findlay, Ohio, is visiting her friend, Miss Mabel Hartman.

Drunkenness and the craving for liquor banished by a dose of Simmons Liver Regulator.

The Quick Meal gasolene stove; nothing like it for quick work. Call at Beuret's; he has 'em.

John Treesh has been now several days laying the cement walks in front of Mr. Penfield's residence.

Mrs. W. E. Rush and niece, Miss Kate Bellmer, of New Jersey, are spending this week visiting at Concord.

Mr. and Mrs. Etna Kuhlman went Tuesday, to spend the remainder of the week visiting friends in Goshen.

Smoke a genuine Bill Head cigar made by Kessler Bros.

HOUSE FOR RENT. A good dwelling on West Ninth street. For particulars call at Geo. Grund's barber shop.

No one should miss the opportunity of hearing Rev. Dr. Norse and the great traveler and humorist, Col. Sanford, next week.

We can make you a first-class picture from old or new negatives, just as you like, at the City Gallery, J. A. Landis, proprietor.

If your eyes don't track go to F. J. Yesbera and have them corrected. He keeps a large line of spectacles, and can fit you nicely.

Miss Lydia Teeters' and Miss Edna Davis' Sunday school classes had a picnic at the school ground last Saturday. They had a pleasant time.

About twenty of our citizens, mostly young people, went up to Clear Lake Saturday evening to stay over Sunday. It is getting to be a great resort.

Mrs. Dr. Casebeer and daughter Hattie went to Churbusco last week to visit friends there. They will also make a visit at Ft. Wayne before returning.

Every citizen of Auburn should feel a personal interest in the Teachers' institute here next week, and lend a helping hand by their presence at the lectures.

Judge McClellan's familiar face was seen in the court room again last Monday. The Judge never feels more at home than when he is up to his eyes in work at court.

A good many live democrats from Garrett, were over here to the pole raising Saturday. And the young band from there furnished excellent music all the evening. Come again boys.

Mrs. L. R. Patton, Rockford, Ill., writes: "From personal experience I can recommend De Witt's Sarsaparilla, a cure for impure blood and general debility." Robbins & McCord.

New Process gasolene stove, considered the best in regard to all points. For sale at Beuret's hardware store, Auburn. And remember he is going to sell off his general stock of hardware and close it out.

Rev. William D. Parr, A. M. D. D., of Trinity M. E. church, of Elkhart, Ind., will preach the annual institute sermon Monday evening. Nearly all our people know Mr. Parr and will be glad to hear him again.

LOST: Sunday afternoon, somewhere between the band room and 9th street on Cedar street, a mouth piece to an alto horn. Finder will please leave same at this office, or at the laundry on South Main street.

Price Russell, of Hudson, called at this office last week. He is putting in a newspaper plant at that place. He also owns controlling interest in the Medina, Ohio, Sentinel and Athens Journal. We hope to see the new paper succeed.

Mr. Eagy's sermon at the Baptist church Sunday was a very interesting one and listened to with close attention. By the way, our people ought to see how bright and new the church looks with its new seating, its electric lights and other improvements.

George Bishop was called to Bremen last Friday by a letter from the B. & O. authorities who wanted him to take a position there as telegraph operator. He started Saturday noon, and we suppose he is at work now. George has the reputation of being a good operator.

Take your watches, clocks and jewelry to F. J. Yesbera and have them repaired in a workman-like manner, and where they will be safe and secure, as he has a large fire and burglar-proof safe to keep them in until called for. Mr. Yesbera takes pride in turning out first-class work, and warrants everything to be satisfactory.

Mr. Wooton preached at the campmeeting Mr. Meese has been conducting between here and Garrett, Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon. These meetings have been well attended and everyone speaks in praise of the excellent order maintained. Good order always characterizes the meetings controlled by Mr. Meese.

The County Teachers' Institute is a public institution, provided for by law, and intended to benefit the community in general. The churches of this town, realizing this, have established the custom of holding no meetings during the week of the institute. Would it not be well for other organizations and societies to do the same?

BUCKLEN'S ARNICA SALVE.—The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Robbins & McCord. tf

A letter reached us from Capt. J. D. Likens, Bassett, Neb., with his subscription for the COURIER, for which he has thanks as well as for the friendly words accompanying it. He speaks of the COURIER missing them now and then, but we a sure them it is sent from this office every week. But with the vast amount of work the postoffice department has, mistakes must now and then occur.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

McELREE'S WINE OF CARDUI for Weak Nerves.

Auburn Fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

Remember the date of the fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

County teachers' institute convenes next Monday morning.

Charlie Foltz, one of Garrett's wide awake lads, was up here Tuesday.

Try Dullman's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Mrs. Silver and daughter, Mrs. Dessa Lockwood, are visiting friends near Hillsdale.

Belief that you "can't be cured" is a symptom of dyspepsia. Take Simmons Liver Regulator.

Sec'y Husselman is hustling the fair this week. He informs us that the prospects are very good.

Young America is the cigar to smoke now-a-days.

Frank Davenport returned to Chicago Sunday evening after a week spent pleasantly with his friends here.

Indications now are that there will be the best display of stock at the fair this fall than in any former year.

A little child of Mike Kruse was buried here Monday, in the Catholic cemetery. We believe they live in Garrett.

Reserved seats to Dr. Nourse's and Col. Sanford's lectures next Wednesday and Thursday evenings, 35 cents.

Ernest Sheets and wife returned to Butler Tuesday evening after a two weeks visit with their many friends here.

Avoid all cheap and trashy inducements, and go to J. A. Landis, where you can get a good picture by paying a little more.

F. J. Yesbera wants to see you at his store; he says he has a lot of bargains in watches, clocks, jewelry and silverware for you.

See Harter's advertisment of those splendid trunks, made in Indiana. Here is a sensible chance to patronize a home industry.

Tickets for the lectures of Dr. Norse and Col. Sandford will be placed on sale at Robbins & McCord's drug store next Monday morning.

Everybody interested in the cause of education and the welfare of the schools, should attend the day sessions of the institute next week.

The citizens of Auburn should show the appreciation of the talent that is secured in the lecture course next week by giving a crowded house each evening.

Ernest Sheets will probably stay here long enough to accompany his old comrades, the band boys to Rome City, to attend the great band tournament there.

Do you want a good deal in groceries? If you are in search of the place where your money will buy good goods at lowest prices, call at Ira Brandon's. 26tf

FOR SALE: A good house and lot in St. Joe, at a bargain, as I will sell regardless of the sacrifice. Call on Mr. Ervin on the premises, or Anna Hart, Hicksville, Ohio.

When you are in town and at a loss to know just where to deal and what to buy, go to J. Beuret on North Main St., and see what he has to offer in the line of stoves and hardware.

We truly believe DeWitt's Little Early Risers to be the most natural, most effective, most prompt and economical pill for biliousness, indigestion and inactive liver. Robbins & McCord.

If dull, spiritless and stupid; if your blood is thick and sluggish; if your appetite is capricious and uncertain, you need a Sarsaparilla. For best results take DeWit's. Robbins & McCord.

Mr. and Mr. Tanberg have the deepest sympathy of our people over the loss of their little child that was born to them on Monday. But we are glad to know that Mrs. Tanberg is getting along nicely.

Schnell & Weeks are hustlers in the grocery trade. They have a well stocked room and can offer unlimited inducements to customers. Remember their place of business south of the jail Auburn.

Notice the removal of Gugerli, the merchant tailor, to the Sheets' building. He will have ample means to accommodate all his patrons, So call there when you want a good suit of fashionable clothes.

Judge Powers came down Monday and held court that day, doing up some divorce and estate business. Of course but little work is needed during the busy season and he will make as little expense as possible.

Mr. Wooton returned last Friday and preached the usual two sermons on Sunday. The audiences were large and all were glad to see him back again. Mrs. Wooton and the children remain a week or two longer with her parents in Clinton county.

John Picker got back from Kansas Tuesday, making the stay shorter than he had intended, as the work he expected to get did not materialize. He is not very favorably impressed with Kansas this season, although in some parts of the state crops are good.

County Superintendent Merica was very anxious to secure Rev. Dr. Henry Johnson of the First Presbyterian church of South Bend, to give the institute sermon next Monday evening, but a letter from the doctor this week informs Mr. Merica that it is impossible for him to be present.

W. H. Hoagland was in town last Wednesday evening. He had been called here from his work in the Northwest, by the serious illness of G. D. McGowan, whom he found in very bad health. Mr. Hoagland has been in the Northwest since June 18, putting up reapers and doing similar work for his house, and had not seen his family since then. They reside in Springfield, Ohio.

Michael Lumm, section foreman on the Wabash, found a pocketbook not long ago lying near the track a short distance east of the station. He communicated with the proper officers of the road, and in that way found that a Chicago lady had lost a purse on the train. He got her address and she was made happy by the return of her property, which included a sum of money and some valuable jewelry.

J. W. Clark, of Smithfield, was here Monday. He has sold the old home farm where he has lived so long, and will sell off a large amount of stock, Aug. 30. He has still another farm across the road from the one he sold. This he will keep, although he may move to town, so as to be near school for his children. He would like to come to Auburn, but finds property a little too high. We would be glad to see him become a citizen here.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Try BLACK-DRAUGHT tea for Dyspepsia.

Auburn Fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

See our notice of the county institute.

Gasolene stoves, latest and best. Beuret's, North Main.

Bring your Gospel Hymns Monday evening to the Opera House.

Smoke the L. AND M. cigar, if you want some good.

Try Dullman's Great German 15-cent liver pills at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. Most people need to use it.

Pleasant to the taste and readily taken is Simmons Liver Regulator. It cures heartburn.

Going out of the hardware business—Beuret. So buy of him while the slaughter prices are running.

Try Dullam's Great German 15-cent liver pills 40 in each package. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

A number of the members of the Epworth League are at Ft. Wayne this week attending their district meeting.

Miss Blanche Dawson, of Edgerton, is in the city a guest in the family of E. D. Beadle and C. L. Hamilton, who are relatives.

No one will regret his time and money who attends the lecture course next week. Monday and Tuesday evenings' entertainment free.

You don't need to attend the assembly meeting to hear the great lectures of the country. Just attend the Institute lecture course next week.

WANTED: A girl to do restaurant work. Good wages and steady employment to right person. Inquire at Ashley block. W. R. Hidy, Propr.

Brandon, did you say? Well yes, Brandon is the man who says he has groceries and general produce to sell in allotments or by the pound. Call and see him. 26tf

Persons desiring pictures from the old negatives at the City Gallery, can have them, as all those taken by J. G. Clapp, still remain in the possession of J. A. Landis.

Beuret means business, and don't you forget it! He's not selling goods below cost, for fun or glory, but he is making it interesting and profitable for those who buy goods of him.

A thing of beauty is a joy forever. If so, get 1 doz. cabinets at Rice's studio. No chromos, no air burnish pictures. Only 12 cabinets and a paris pannel for 1 doz. on ticket rates. 33tf

The Swing Washer is the easiest to work, and does its work the best. Ask Mr. Meese to show you one, and you will find a machine that has come the nearest to being a perfect success.

Rev. Dr. Nourse was trained for the stage and is the most dramatic lecturer in the world, and theater-going people enjoy his lectures fully as well as lovers of platform eloquence and oratory.

It is a truth in medicine that the smallest dose that performs the cure is the best. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the smallest pills, will perform the cure and are the best. Robbins & McCord.

Ben Cochran, who has been for some time working on the world's fair buildings, came home Tuesday, bringing a bride with him. They were married at Salem, Ohio. We did not learn the date of the marrirge nor the name of the fortunate young lady, but we send congratulations.

Big attraction at the Auburn fair, will be Prof. Grinley, the balloonist. He makes ascensions in his balloon accompanied by a dog, and when they get high enough, each comes down in his own parachute, the dog in one and the man in the other. It will be a new thing and a great attraction.

KRAUSE'S HEADACHE CAPSULES unlike many remedies are perfectly harmless, they contain no injurious substance and will stop any kind of a headache, will prevent headache caused by over indulgence in food or drink late at night. Price twenty-five cents; for sale by Davenport the Druggist.

Adams Knott, of St. John, has been subject to severe fits for a long time. On Saturday he was in town, and just in front of Brown, Culbertson & Boland's store, was taken with a fit and fell. His brother Henry, of Waterloo, was near and lifted him up, and as soon as they could move him he was taken over into the shade on the public square, where he remained in their care till he could be taken home.

Auburn District Fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

Ft. Wayne races, Sept. 6 to 10.

Some matter omitted this week will appear next.

Read Wilsons' big advertisement. They are doing business on a broad gauge system.

All should lay aside their cares on the evenings of next week and attend the institute lecture course.

John Lumm made the COURIER a welcome call this week. Like his brother Michael he is a section man, and we believe also a foreman.

Do not be deceived with cheap pictures called $3 cabinets. Rice will give you finer work than can be had in this vicinity for half price.

Mrs. I. A. Garwood with her two daughters, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Judge McClellan, is now at Cassopolis, Mich., visiting Mr. Garwood's parents.

Don't forget the social at Norris Chapel Saturday evening. Everybody come and have a good visit and enjoy a sociable time, besides assisting worthy people in a good cause.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pierson, of Chicago, reached here Tuesday, being called here by the critical condition of Mrs. Pierson's mother, Mrs. Dr. Johnston, who has been very much worse lately.

At Norris Chapel Saturday evening, Aug. 20, will be given an ice cream social, proceeds to go to the benefit of the church. Ice cream, cake, lemonade and excellent music. All come and help a good cause.

Mrs. Prof. L. J. Sanders, who was visiting her old friends in Butler last week, was heard to remark, "I have heard the best lectures of the country, but Dr. Nourse's "John and Jonathan" is the best I ever heard."

Two of our solid Keyser friends, Aaron Balliet and J. R. Burniston, were up to see us Monday. If all the democrats of DeKalb county were as staunch as these two, there would be no doubt as to the result of the election.

A silver spike was driven at Ashley last Saturday when the tracklayers reached there, and Monday when they got to Hudson the people there sat them out a grand dinner, such a one as they had not seen for years.

Our young friend Frank Baker was married Tuesday of last week, Aug. 9, to Miss Emma Brown, of Waterloo. We are well acquainted with both families and feel like extending congratulations to two worthy young people.

The commissioners met on Monday and let the contract for putting down the cement walks on the east and south sides of the public square. Smith & Madder of the marble works, and H. C. Shall got the contract, which, of course, secures good work.

R. M. Lockhart called here, Tuesday. He is now putting a good deal of attention to the Child's patent roofing, having covered with it, a good many buildings in Waterloo and at Ashley. It is much cheaper than shingles, and is said to be very durable.

Trustee's Office Days.

I will be at my office for the transaction of public business on Tuesday of each week till further notice.
R. H. SHERLOCK,
Trustee Fairfield Tp.
August 1, 1892.

Settle Up.

I earnestly ask all who are indebted to me for professional services, to call and settle the same by September 15th, as this is my usual time to ask annual settlement. Please attend to this, and oblige,
DR. W. H. NUSBAUM

Notice to Settle

Desiring to make our complete annual settlement with our customers, we respectfully invite every one to call and make settlement at once and oblige,
CASEBEER & MATHENY.

K. P. Excursion.

To Pleasant Lake, Ind.,
August 19, 1892.
Special train leaves:

Auburn Junction,	8: a.m.
Auburn,	8:10 "
Waterloo,	8:30 "

THE BOSTON

ONE PRICE.

CLOTHING STORE

Would Kindly Prevail
On our Multitude
Of readers
To peep through these profitable openings
And reflect now on what you can save.
Map our Matchless
Modern methods
On your Memory
And decide

Who is Most Worthy

OF THE

People's Confidence.

Our Platform of One Price and Plain Figures is firm Forever!

$7.50 buys a Business Suit that will teach the folly of paying $10., for similar garments.
$11 is what will secure a perfect fitting suit, and leave enough difference between this and other prices to buy another suit.
$15 buys one of the most stylish Dress Suits in frock or sack that ever graced a manly form.
By style, we mean perfection in every detail.
$18 comprises the efforts of this country's best artists in American and European Productions.
$4, buys boys' long pants suits, the Latest and Most Stylish.

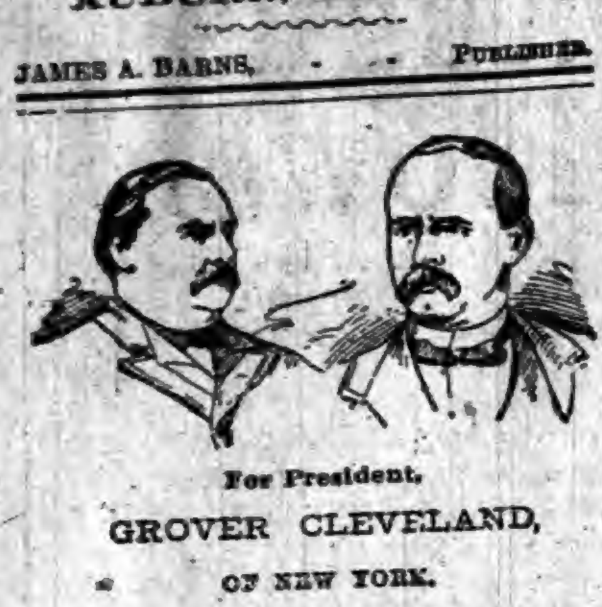
The Boston Clothing Store, Auburn, Indiana.

Auburn Courier.
AUBURN, INDIANA.
JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.



For President,
GROVER CLEVELAND,
OF NEW YORK.
For Vice President,
ADLAI E. STEVENSON,
OF ILLINOIS.

NOTHING but the Bogardus kicker will ever get Raum out.

MR. J. SLOAT FASSETT is still going about with his coat on.

GEN. BIDWELL says he will not take the stump. That's all he will get.

THE blocks-of-five are impatiently waiting for the Republican campaign to open.

IF the tariff bears equally upon all interests, how does it benefit any of them?

WITH Cleveland's election the force bill dies. With Harrison's election it is cock-of-the-walk.

THE effort to re-elect Mr. Harrison will occasion a drouth in the salaries of the Republican office-holders.

WHERE was Mr. Harrison's ice wagon when Washington was roasting in a temperature close to 100 last week?

WITH a bonus of nearly $5,000,000, the Welsh producers of tin plate can well afford to testify in Mr. McKinley's favor.

ALONG about the 5th of March next Tom Carter will be able to find "footprints of time" running from Washington to Indianapolis.

THE unprotected industries pay higher wages than the protected industries. But the unprotected industries don't have to keep up a campaign fund or buy castles in Scotland.

SO MANY absurd assertions are made by the high-taxers that one is often at a loss to know whether they are indulging in deliberate falsification or whether they do not know any better.

IT is a somewhat suggestive fact that the Republicans who are said to "have the most influence over the President" are the very ones who seem to have the least influence over the people of their several States, and vice versa.

ANOTHER book sold by Tom Carter was "The Royal Path of Life." Tom seems to have found the path. The man who handles the Republican campaign fund this year has struck a highway with plenty of dust in it.

DETROIT FREE PRESS: The Republicans are showering anathemas thick and fast upon Carnegie, but he is only one of thousands in the party that are firing bricks at the ticket. The g. o. p. has been given plenty of rope and the inevitable result is at hand.

GENERAL FIELDS, of the People's party ticket, is claiming Texas. There is often profit as well as pleasure in rainbow chasing when it is done by an expert, but the amateur is liable to stump his toe on 150,000 majorities and get stone bruises at the very outset of the chase.

FLORIDA TIMES-UNION: The forces of the Democracy were never better officered than they are now with Cleveland at their head, and with such corps commanders as Palmer in Illinois, Boies in Iowa, Gray in Indiana, Whitney in New York and Russell in Massachusetts.

MCKINLEYISM with the mask off, as it stands in its native ugliness at Homestead, is not pleasant even for the high-tariff advocates to contemplate. The false pretenses under which it came into power are swept away and its days are numbered. The era of protection to trusts and robbery of the people is drawing to a close.

MR. CLEVELAND'S advice to the Jersey Democrats at Acquackanok is good. If every town and settlement will form a working Democratic campaign club, and every member of such clubs constitute himself a committee of one to bring over at least one hitherto benighted Republican, there will be no trouble beating Harrison two to one. Let Democratic campaign clubs prepare for business.

CHICAGO TIMES: Four years ago Candidate Harrison was complaining that the Cleveland administration permitted public moneys to remain in designated banks. The candidate became President. The latest monthly statement of the Treasury Department shows a balance of public moneys in such depositories. The amount at present is $12,000,000. The candidate was merely indulging campaign demagogy.

THE farmers of this country are calling for more money. They can secure it by helping to lift the iniquitous high tariffs they are compelled to pay as a result of special legislation ground out by the Republican party.

COURIER-JOURNAL: The eviction of sixty families from Mr. Carnegie's houses will be a surprise to newspaper readers. It has been supposed that all the working people about Pittsburg were so well paid that they owned their own homes. In the light of these evictions, what becomes of the high-tariff cartoons of the delightful homes of workmen in the employ of the tariff barons?

GOVERNOR MCKINLEY, in his Madison speech, said: "I know of no subject more dull than the subject of taxation." That remark is subject to modification. It depends largely upon which side of the question a man is talking. Mr. McKinley must find the effort to establish the proposition that high taxes are a national blessing a bit tiresome himself, and that sort of clap-trap is certainly highly enervating to the public.

IN looking for a campaign manager Mr. Harrison passed over "that bad man Quay," rejected that Blaine man Clarkson and selected that "common lobbyist" Campbell, who laid down on him, after which that swindling book agent Carter was called into service. When Brother Harrison starts out to find one good, pious, honest man in the Republican party he experiences the same difficulty that Lot encountered in Sodom.

AS A result of the high tariff there are several thousand more mortgages on farm and home land in Kansas and Nebraska than there are inhabited houses in those States. This appears from the latest Federal census, while the latest Massachusetts census shows that the corporations engaged in woolen manufacturing there pay the average wages of 88 cents a day to their laborers. In the face of such official figures as these what argument remains in support of the system under which Americans are as far as possible prohibited from buying their manufactured goods except from McKinley trusts at McKinley trust prices?

ELECTION returns show that at the last gubernatorial election there were 845 votes cast at Homestead. Reference to the census shows the population of the town to be 7,911, and it is stated that in round numbers 3,800 are employed in the Carnegie works. In these figures will be found food for thought by those Republicans who are looking for some force bill to protect the black laborers of the South. If it is true that more than 3,000 of the employes of Homestead are unnaturalized citizens there will be little faith placed in the theory that the tariff is for the protection of American labor. If the contrary is claimed, then it will be for protects to prove that the 3,000 were not intimidated.

IN claiming that the McKinley bill has cheapened the cost of living in this country, the champions of protection have fairly overreached themselves. In taking the position that the consumer profits by the tariff, the protectionists admit, in substance, that the manufacturers would be benefited by a lower tariff. The premises amply admit of a choice between this conclusion or the only remaining sequence that the artisan is mulcted to render possible a reduction in the cost of manufactured products. But the proposition is absurd upon its very face. The taxes paid on imports last year aggregated over $200,000,000. In other words, that amount of tribute was levied upon the people to sustain a measure which the protectionists now have the effrontery to claim cheapens the cost of the necessaries of life.

Oh, what a tangled web we weave,
When first we practice to deceive.

ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC: People's party managers in Kansas assert that the Republicans are trying to Dudleyize the grasshopper State by colonizing it with imported negroes to vote in November. The same scheme will doubtless be attempted in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Missouri. It can be beaten by thorough organization and vigilance. As new residents cannot acquire the right to vote between now and the election, Democratic workers in each of these States need only to keep tab on all suspicious newcomers and see that none are registered nor voted. The Kansas plan of heading off the colonists may be profitably followed by Democrats elsewhere. It is: "Make a poll of every precinct, and get the name of every voter in your precinct and school district now at once." Then appoint competent men to see that nobody else is allowed to vote in November. To do this nothing but organization and systematic work is necessary, but these two things are indispensable.

HOW IT WOULD WORK.

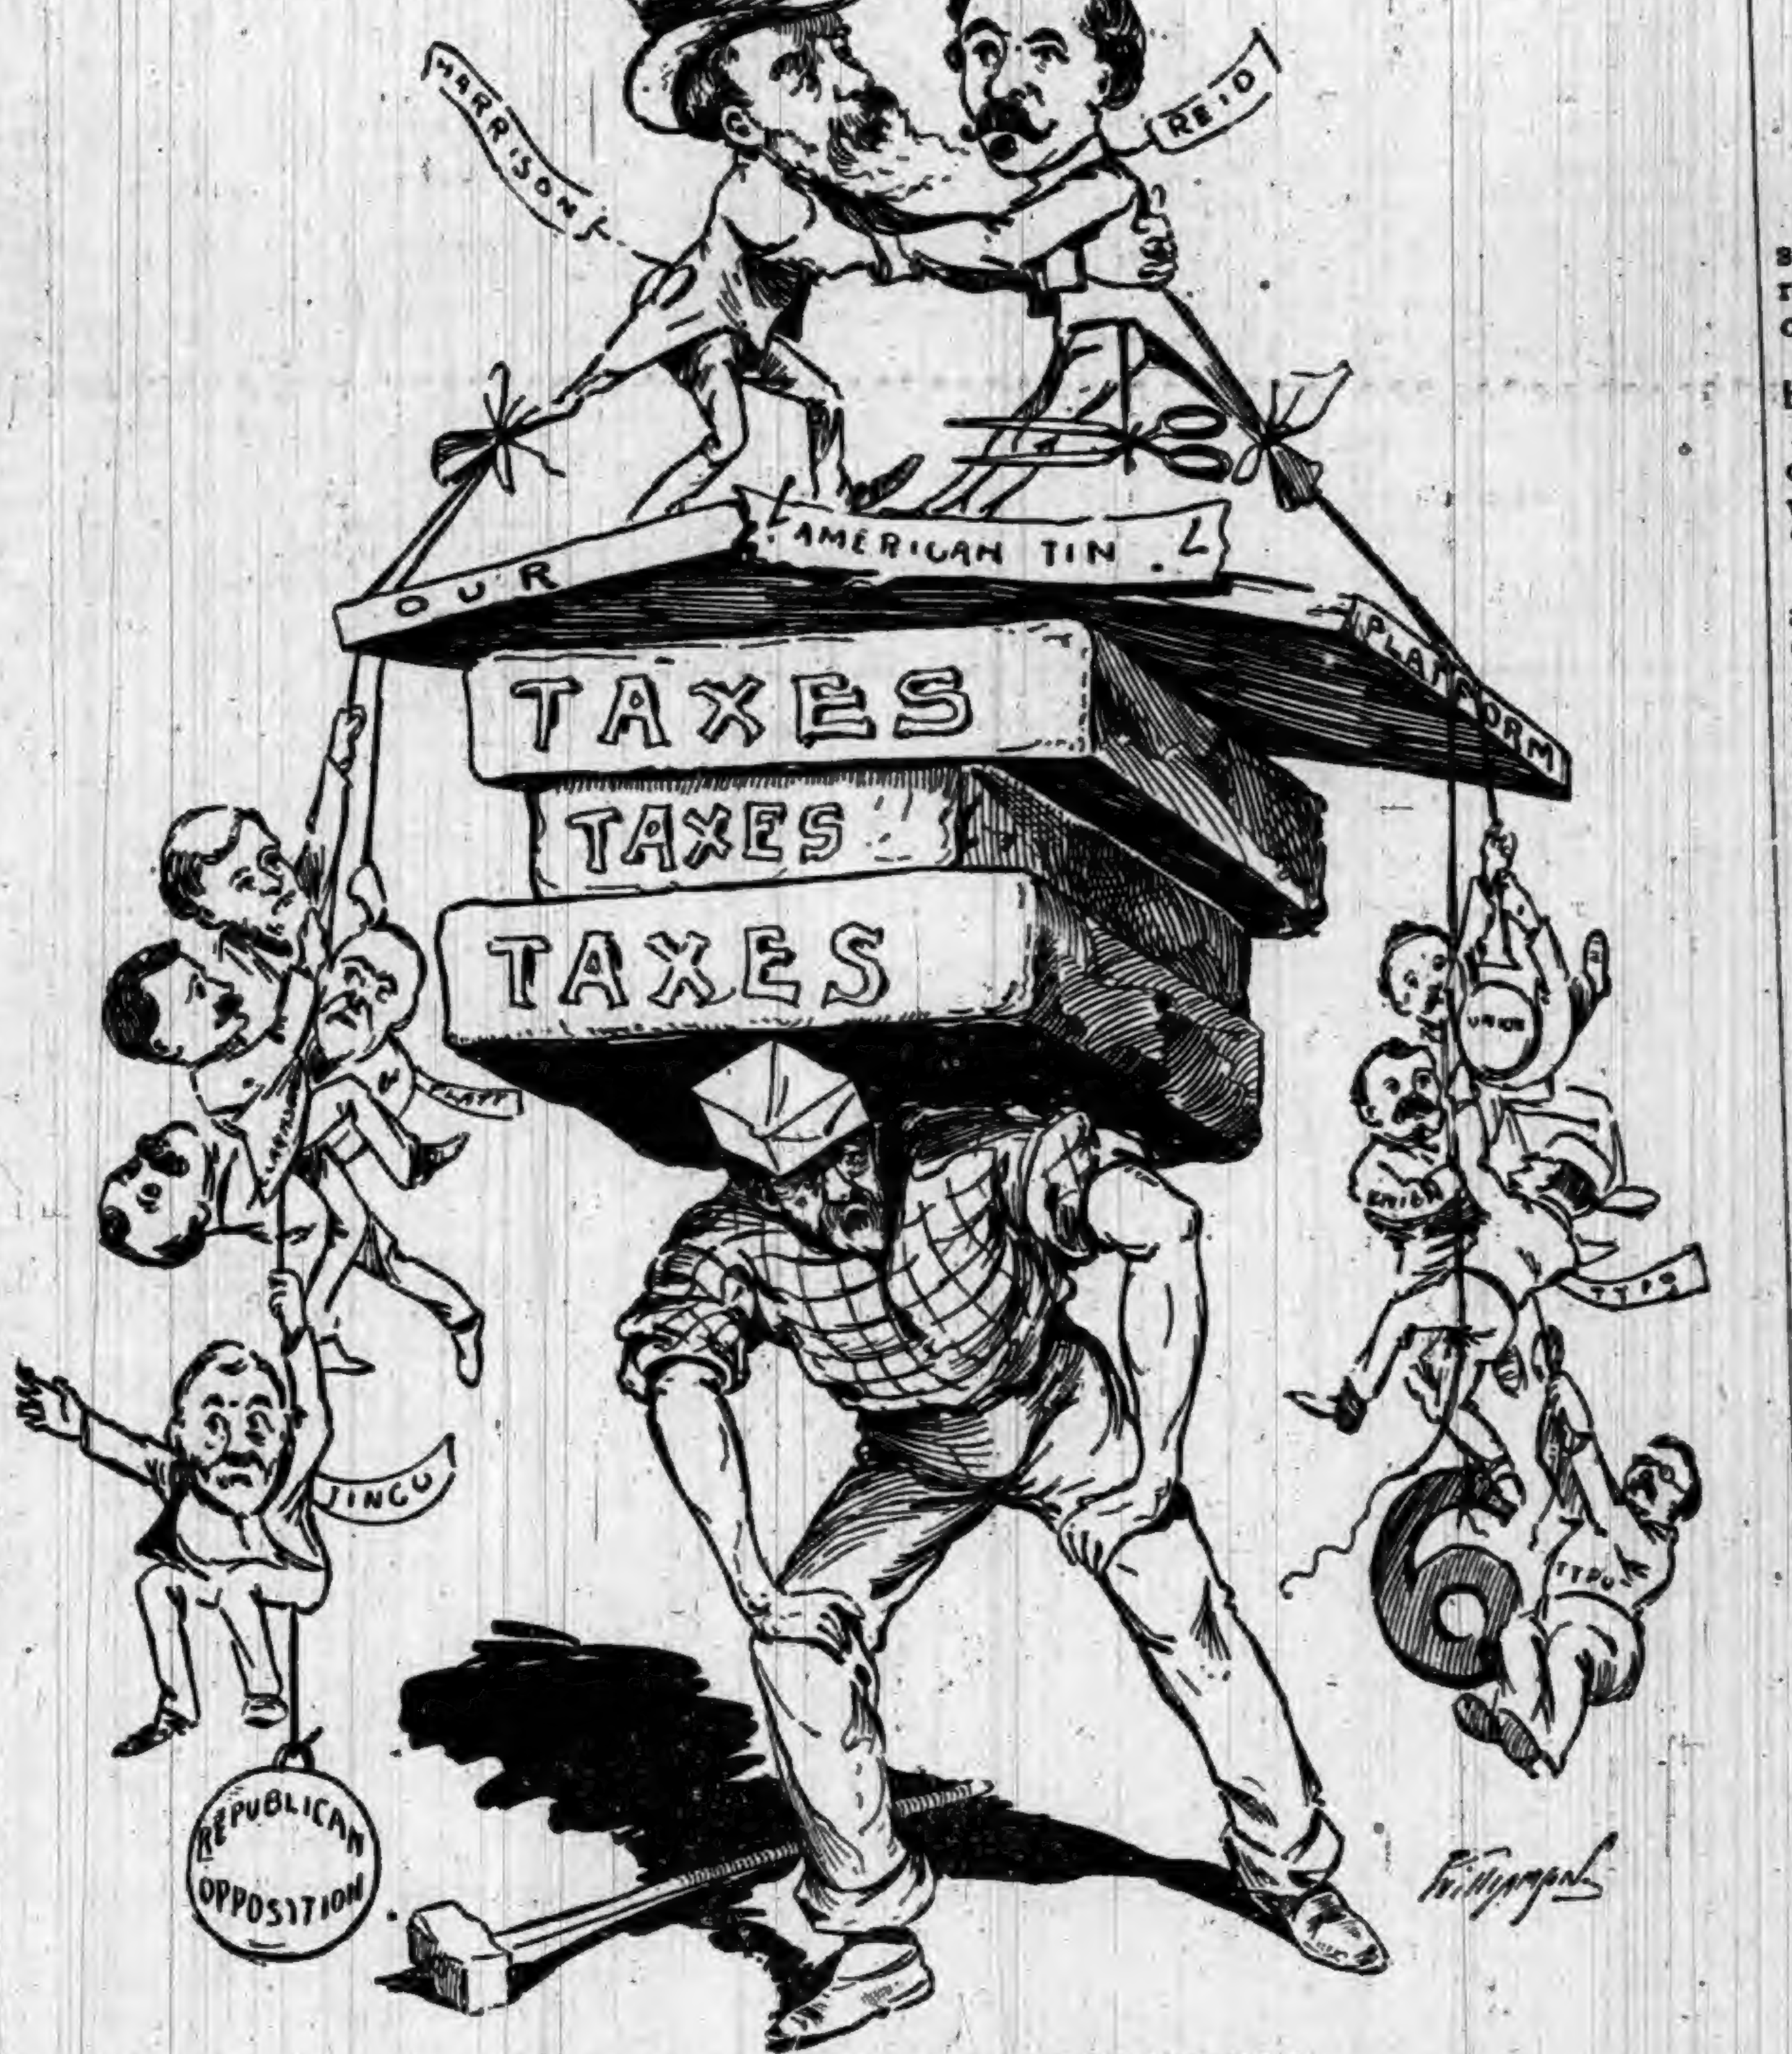
DEEP-LAID PLANS OF FORCE-BILL ADVOCATES.

Its Passage Would Enable the Party Controlling the Supervisors and Canvassing Boards to Control the Elections of the Whole Country.

The Force Bill and the Cities.

According to the St. Louis Republic the force bill would enable the party controlling the Chief Supervisors and Federal "Canvassing Boards" to control the whole country. No Congressional district would be exempt from its operations. Under it the polls in every precinct in the Union would be taken in charge by any Federal administration determined to perpetuate itself in power. But while all this is provided for, special pains are taken to provide for the control of the great cities. The bill is specially aimed at half a dozen Southern States and half a dozen Northern and Western cities. Under it the Radical administration at Washington would take control of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis and St. Paul, Detroit, and other large cities in the North and West, whenever necessary to do so in order to control the States in which these cities are located.

The bill, it must be remembered, is not necessarily uniform in its application. The Federal administration takes control of the election on the petition of "100 persons claiming to be citizens of the United States" in country districts. It is not expected that Democrats will apply for Federal interference with elections, and as Republicans will not apply to a Democratic administration, provision is made for the Republican administration, intending to control the election, to take charge of such districts, and only of such, as will certainly suffice to decide the result under proper manipulation. For this work city districts are kept in view, and the bill makes careful provision for meeting the requirements of metropolitan conditions.



THE REPUBLICAN SITUATION.

The workingman is ready to throw off the crushing load of taxation, while the Republican opposition to Harrison and the union opposition to Reid are great weights on the candidates.—Detroit Free Press.

The arbitrary power of the Chief Supervisors, holding for life, and of the Returning Boards whose returns decide the election, applies alike to all localities. Domiciliary visits by supervisors and special deputy marshals, the control of the registration lists, and the provision for swearing in an unlimited number of special deputy marshals are made general in their application by the bill, but the control of the cities is what they aim at. Under them both the registration and the voting in such cities as New York, Chicago, and St. Louis would be under Federal control, and not only would the elections be thus determined but, to "make assurance doubly sure," provision is made for the enrollment of thousands of Republican ward workers in the cities as deputy marshals and poll supervisors.

If this bill passes, as Harrison demands that it shall pass, the people of Northern and Western cities can say farewell to all hope of controlling their own elections.

Democrats and the War.

In his speech at Louisville Mr. Stevenson eloquently referred to the position which the valiant leader of the Illinois Democrats, Stephen A. Douglas, assumed toward the civil war at once on the breaking out of hostilities, in which position he was powerfully and promptly re-enforced by an overwhelming majority of his political followers throughout the North. Mr. Stevenson was one of that majority. "I believe with the great Senator from my own State," said he, "that the directest route to peace lay through the most stupendous preparations for war."

The Republican party has long claimed that to it belonged all the credit for the salvation of the Union. When this claim was first made the Republican leaders who made it knew it was false. But it has been persisted in, reiterated by convention after convention of the party and by thousands of Republican orators, many of whom never smelt gunpowder, until it has come to be a delusion which many Republicans now blindly accept as a fact established beyond cavil or dispute.

In the light of statistics furnished by the records of the civil war no more absurd claim was ever made. These statistics show that it was the recruits from the Douglas Democracy who filled the ranks of the armies of the Union, who crushed the rebellion, and who averted the disaster of disunion. The three border States of Maryland, Missouri, and Kentucky, for instance, which polled an aggregate vote for Lincoln in 1860 of less than 20,000, sent 230,000 soldiers to fight for the Union. The number of Federal soldiers furnished by the four geat States of Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts and Ohio exceeded the number of votes cast for Lincoln in those States in 1860 by nearly 300,000. Here are seven States which contributed a half million more soldiers for the Union armies than they contained Republican voters in 1860.

It was not necessary in order to establish Mr. Stevenson's loyalty during the war for him to assert, as he did at Louisville, that "from the beginning to the close of that great conflict" he favored the "maintenance at whatever cost of our Federal Union." The fact of his loyalty is well known even to many who have recently resurrected the long ago exploded charge that he was a Southern sympathizer, a "copperhead," during that stormy period from 1861 to 1865. But his positive and emphatic assertion on the subject made at Louisville should be sufficient to prevent another repetition of so baseless a charge.—Chicago Herald.

Preaches Communism.

The Republican party has been preaching communism in every campaign in which it advocated the theory of taxation under which it demands unearned money for its privileged corporations and promises unearned benefits to those who vote in support of this system of communistic injustice. As a result, large numbers of unthinking people are becoming so demoralized that they expect and demand returns for what they do out of all proportion to their earning capacity. A corporation earns $1 in its product and demands $1.60 for it as a part of its privilege under the McKinley law, and, making this demand, it insists that those who would sell cheaper must be shut out and kept out. Yet when with this example before them; with a law on the books to enforce such demands, the employes of corporations imitate them by trying to shut out those who would be satisfied with smaller profits, there is an immediate howl of "Anarchist" and "Communist," and the shooting begins.

The Labor Troubles.

The labor trouble is spreading. Unless some one can devise a method of conciliation, we may have the horrors of 1877 over again. The Idaho miners are threatening even the United States troops, while strikes are threatened in the Carnegie mills. One cannot but feel apprehensive lest the disorders of fifteen years shall be repeated. The horrors of that terrible summer are still vivid in the public mind. Is there no way of allaying the impending storm? Does civilization present no resources? Is it impossible for the Government to make more amicable the relations between capital and labor? Much of the trouble is due to the importation of foreign notions with regard to social economy. Too few of the immigrants understand what the sovereignty of the American citizen means. They come with the belief that industrial wrongs must be righted by an immediate resort to force. They ignore the importance of the ballot—the peaceful but sufficient remedy for all the ills the workingmen suffer. The relations between capital and labor should be kindly. That is the national law. But they are strained to the point of actual antagonism. The cause of this abnormal condition must be ascertained. It is for our Legislators to discuss it. It was most gratifying to note the promptitude with which both the House and Senate took action when the news came of the Homestead riots. Each body has appointed an investigating committee. The workingmen of the country should perceive in this the way of relief. It is through changes in the laws, and they may secure such changes by electing legislators favorable to their views, or disposed to consider their grievances fairly. The Democratic party maintains that the commerce of the country is unduly restricted, thereby causing first stagnant and overstocked markets; and second, combinations of capitalists to control the markets limited by the high tariff. The Democrats believe that gigantic trusts would be impossible if the American workingmen and producers could have the whole wide earth for a market. The Democrats believe that the purchasing power of labor would be vastly increased if the policy of their party were to become the law of the land. Workingmen, viewing the unhappy results of Republican protection to them, should consider that they might find relief if the opposite policy should prevail in legislative enactments. Instead of resorting to firearms and dynamite they should vote to make all the branches of Government Democratic.—Appeal Avalanche.

The Result in Alabama.

Cleveland carried Alabama in 1888 by a majority of 61,123.

The State election has just occurred in Alabama and the Democratic candidate for Governor has been elected by a majority of something like 50,000. The election is specially significant because it indicates the impotency of the political movement in the South known as the Farmers' Alliance. The candidate of this organization was a former Democrat. He was also put forward as the candidate of the Republicans, there being a fusion between the Farmers' Alliance party and the Republican party. The canvass has been hot and eager, and various prophets of disaster have been declaring that it would be absolutely impossible, in the face of such fusion, for the Democrats to elect their State ticket. The contest has been made under the most favorable circumstances for the fusion, because the Presidential question did not enter immediately into the canvass which has just been closed. Democratic members of Congress from the South have been apprehensive of the strength of a movement whose weakness is thus signally disclosed. One reason for their opposition to the vote of an appropriation to the World's Fair rested upon their apprehension of the Alliance, which had pronounced vigorously against any such aid unless it were the policy of the government to loan money promiscuously.

It may be learned from this result in Alabama that the solidity of the South for the Democratic party and its candidates is not to be broken this year. It never will be broken while the Republican party is the chief opponent of Democracy and holds as a rod in pickle the infamous force bill, meaning to give it full efficacy whenever both Houses of Congress and the executive shall be Republican.—Chicago Times.

Book Agent Carter.

T. H. CARTER, newly elected Chairman of the Republican National Committee, seems to have special fitness for conducting a "boodle" campaign. Several years ago Mr. Carter was agent for a book called "Footprints of Time" in the State of Nebraska. At that time, under the beneficent influence of a protective tariff, many Nebraska farmers had placed mortgages on their farms, and Mr. Carter inaugurated a scheme for trading them "county rights" and "exclusive territory" in the book for their homes. Many were taken in.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

HIS plan was to take mortgages on farms in exchange for "exclusive territory" for the sale of his book. As a matter of course, the "exclusive territory" was a gag and valueless, and the skin game was finished by Carter foreclosing the mortgages and gobbling the farms. Carter, according to all accounts, is a sleek one, and can give odds to Quay, Dudley, and Clarkson "for ways that are dark and tricks that are vain."—Illinois State Register.

TOM CARTER is said to have made his start as a book agent for "Footprints of Time," and to have closed his literary career peddling "The Royal Path of Life" through Iowa. His sudden rise to fortune and political bossism indicates that he struck the royal path and made footprints on it in such a rapid gait that time "wasn't in it."—St. Louis Republic.

CARTER'S "footprints" have already been discovered out in Iowa and Nebraska. But he was only a book agent and not "a professional lobbyist and unfit for it."—St. Paul Globe.

THE Carter appointment is another of a long series of incidents that prove conclusively the President's ability for putting his foot in it.—St. Joseph Gazette.

KIRK'S
DUSKY
DIAMOND
TAR SOAP
Healthful, Agreeable, Cleansing.
Cures
Chapped Hands, Wounds, Burns, Etc.
Removes and Prevents Dandruff.
AMERICAN FAMILY SOAP.
Best for General Household Use.

A Piano
SENT on trial
WE PAY FREIGHT
If you do not keep it.
We think you will keep it.
It pleases everybody.
It is an honest piano.
It is the WING Piano.

You may have a preference for some other make. Still you are a reasoning creature, and open to conviction, no doubt.

The question is too important to be settled without due thought. Years of satisfaction or of regret come with a piano. Does it wear well? The WING Piano does. "Look before you leap."

Whatever piano you buy, there are piano secrets you ought to know. Our free book tells them. Send a postal card for it. It may help you to buy a different piano. We take that risk. We also tell you the nearest dealer where you can see a WING Piano. It is worth looking at. So is the price. WING & SON, 245 Broadway, New York.

PATENTS
Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.
OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.
Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.
A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U. S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,
C. A. SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

RUPTURES CURED!
25 years experience in treating all varieties of Rupture enables us to guarantee a positive Cure. Send 4 cents in stamps for particulars and treatment on Hernia.
Volta-Medico Appliance Co.,
115 N. 8th St., ST. LOUIS, Mo.

DOES YOUR HEAD ACHE
Will Cure any kind of Headache.
IT WILL NOT IF YOU TAKE KRAUSE'S Headache Capsules
$500 Reward for any injurious substance found in these Capsules.
Perfectly harmless.
Money refunded if not as we say. Sent postpaid on receipt of price,
Twenty-Five Cents.
NORMAN LICHTY MFG. CO.,
DES MOINES, IOWA.
For Sale by ____________

BOSTON
CHEST WEIGHT
FOR YOUR HOME.

Price Complete $4.00 and Upward.
The handsomest, most practical and durable CHEST WEIGHT on the market, for Home or Gymnasium. Finished in Bicycle Enamel, Swivel Pulleys, Steel Rods, Rubber Bumpers, Adjustable Weights, Braided Cord, etc. Neatly packed for shipment, with book of instruction. Send for Price List to the Schumacher Gymnasium Co., Akron, Ohio.
5 Different Styles. all Excellent.
Send Stamp for Illustrated Price List.
The Schumacher Gymnasium Co. AKRON, OHIO.

WEIGHT ONLY 10 OUNCES

A NEW 7-SHOT, .32-CAL. REVOLVER.
THE "PROTECTOR,"
QUICK, SAFE, RELIABLE.
Compact, Light, Effective.
The latest and best thing in the revolver line.
Can be carried in the vest pocket as easily as a watch. 50,000 sold in France last year.
A Novelty that sells at sight.
Sample revolver and Cartridges $7. Will be sent C. O. D. by express, with privilege of examination, if 50 cts. accompanies order as a guarantee of good faith.
MINNEAPOLIS FIRE ARMS CO.,
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

PURE STEEL
ROOFING.
Metallic Weather Boarding,
Complete Ceilings,
Corrugated Sheeting,
Roofing Paints,
Iron Roofing,
Eave Troughs, Gutters and Spouting,
All forms of Sheet Metal for Building
(COMPLETE AND READY TO APPLY WHEN SHIPPED.)
WE WANT
—AN—
AGENT
In this town—an energetic workman to take orders and APPLY our materials in this vicinity.
Correspondence solicited; write for prices and terms.
SCOTT & CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.
ESTABLISHED 1872.

THE OLD DOCTOR'S
Cotton Root Pills
LADIES' FAVORITE.
ALWAYS RELIABLE and perfectly SAFE. The same as used by thousands of woman all over the United States, in the OLD DOCTORS private mail practice, for 38 years, and not a single bad result. Money returned if not as represented. Send 4 cents (stamps) for sealed particulars.
Dr. WARD & CO., 117 N. 8th St., St. Louis, Mo.

SWIFT BICYCLES SWIFT
OLDEST AND LARGEST MAKERS IN THE WORLD.
ESTABLISHED 32 YEARS.
IF YOU WANT EASE, COMFORT, RELIABILITY, SPEED, STYLE, QUALITY, AND THE BEST OF EVERYTHING, SEND TO US.

PRODUCT 108,000 BICYCLES
WE GUARANTEE OUR MACHINES SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS AND WARRANT EVERY ONE TO BE PERFECT.
COVENTRY MACHINISTS COMPANY, LTD.
SWIFT CHICAGO, BOSTON, SAN FRANCISCO. SWIFT
SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

FREE TO BOYS AND GIRLS
UNDER 18 YEARS OF AGE, without one cent of money
READ AND WRITE.
ANY boy or girl under 18 wanting an elegant High Grade Safety Bicycle can obtain it FREE without one cent of money. Shall give away, on easy conditions, 1,000 or more.
DESCRIPTION OF BICYCLE. The wheels are 30 inches with crescent steel rims and molded rubber tires and run on hardened steel cone bearings, adjustable to wear; geared to 46 inches; detachable cranks; four to five inches throw; frame finely enameled, with nickel trimmings. Each machine is supplied with tool bag, wrench and oiler. Equal to those sold in the market for $45. We have both boys' and girls' styles. We deliver the bicycle FREE of all charges anywhere in the United States.
READ THE TESTIMONY.
413 N. 38th St., Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 22, 1892.
Western Pearl Co., Chicago, Ill.
Dear Gentlemen:—I received the Safety Bicycle last Saturday about 5 p. m. I was very much surprised at seeing such an elegant, handsome Safety. It is really more than I expected. By trials and testimonials I find your firm is reliable in its dealings and promises. I really cannot express my thanks for the nice Safety. Yours truly, Emil Dahlman.
Brighton, Mich., March 1st, 1892.
Western Pearl Co., Chicago, Ill.
Dear Sirs:—The Bicycle came promptly. The boy is overjoyed. He acted like a crazy child for awhile. Over and over he repeated, "It seems as if I were dreaming, but no, there it is"; and then he would go to it and pat it and talk to it. We have found you men of your word. Thanking you for your faithfulness to your word, I remain, Yours respectfully, H. A. Day, for Leo Day.
IF YOU WANT A BICYCLE WRITE AT ONCE.
WESTERN PEARL CO., 322 to 324 Dearborn Street, CHICAGO, ILL.

A FOOT-HOLD for Consumption is what you are offering, if your blood is impure. Consumption is simply Lung Scrofula. A scrofulous condition, with a slight cough or cold, is all that it needs to develop it.

But just as it depends upon the blood for its origin, so it depends upon the blood for its cure. The surest remedy for Scrofula in every form, the most effective blood-cleanser, flesh-builder, and strength-restorer that's known to medical science, is Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. For Consumption in all its earlier stages, and for Weak Lungs, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and all Bronchial, Throat, and Lung affections, that is the only remedy so unfailing that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

No matter how long you've had Catarrh, or how severe, Dr. Sage's Remedy will effect a permanent cure. $500 reward is offered by the proprietors of this medicine, for an incurable case of Catarrh.

DR. KILMER'S

SWAMP-

ROOT

Kidney, Liver and Bladder Cure.

Rheumatism,

Lumbago, pain in joints or back, brick dust in urine, frequent calls, irritation, inflamation, gravel, ulceration or catarrh of bladder.

Disordered Liver,

Impaired digestion, gout, billious-headache. SWAMP-ROOT cures kidney difficulties, La Grippe, urinary trouble, bright's disease.

Impure Blood,

Scrofula, malaria, gen'l weakness or debility.

Guarantee—Use contents of One Bottle, if not benefited, Druggists will refund to you the price paid.

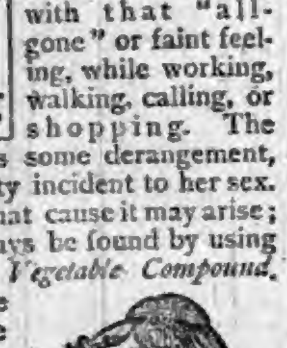
At Druggists, 50c. Size, $1.00 Size.

"Invalids' Guide to Health" free—Consultation free.

DR. KILMER & CO., BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

That All-Gone or Faint Feeling

This is an every-day occurrence; women are taken with that "all-gone" or faint feeling, while working, walking, calling, or shopping. The cause of this feeling is some derangement, weakness, or irregularity incident to her sex. It matters little from what cause it may arise; instant relief may always be found by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is the only Positive Cure and Legitimate Remedy for those peculiar weaknesses and ailments of women. It acts in perfect harmony with the laws that govern the female system under all circumstances.



Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

All Druggists sell it, or sent by mail, in form of Pills or Lozenges, on receipt of $1.00. Liver Pills, 25c. Correspondence freely answered. Address in confidence, LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. Co., LYNN, MASS.

AT BEDTIME I TAKE A PLEASANT HERB DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c and $1 per package. If you cannot get it, send your address for a free sample. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary. Address ORATOR F. WOODWARD, LeRoy, N. Y.

CHILD BIRTH • • • • • • MADE EASY!

"MOTHERS' FRIEND" is a scientifically prepared Liniment, every ingredient of recognized value and in constant use by the medical profession. These ingredients are combined in a manner hitherto unknown

"MOTHERS' FRIEND"

WILL DO all that is claimed for it AND MORE. It Shortens Labor, Lessens Pain, Diminishes Danger to Life of Mother and Child. Book to "MOTHERS" mailed FREE, containing valuable information and voluntary testimonials.

Sent by express on receipt of price $1.50 per bottle
BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

The Wabash R. R. Co.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

Wait for the Great Low Rate HARVEST EXCURSIONS to be run by the WABASH RAILROAD on August 30th, September 27th, and October 25th, 1892, to points West, Southwest, and Northwest. Remember the Wabash is the Great Through Reclining Chair Car Route, and is the only railroad in the States of Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan giving its patrons Free Seats in these luxurious palace cars. Go West and enjoy a few weeks rest and recreation at a nominal expense. For maps, time tables and full particulars, address the nearest Wabash Agent, or write to F. Chandler, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Wabash R. R., St. Louis, Mo.

FOR SUMMER COMPLAINTS
PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER
BEST MEDICINE IN THE WORLD.

BEST POLISH IN THE WORLD.

RISING SUN STOVE POLISH

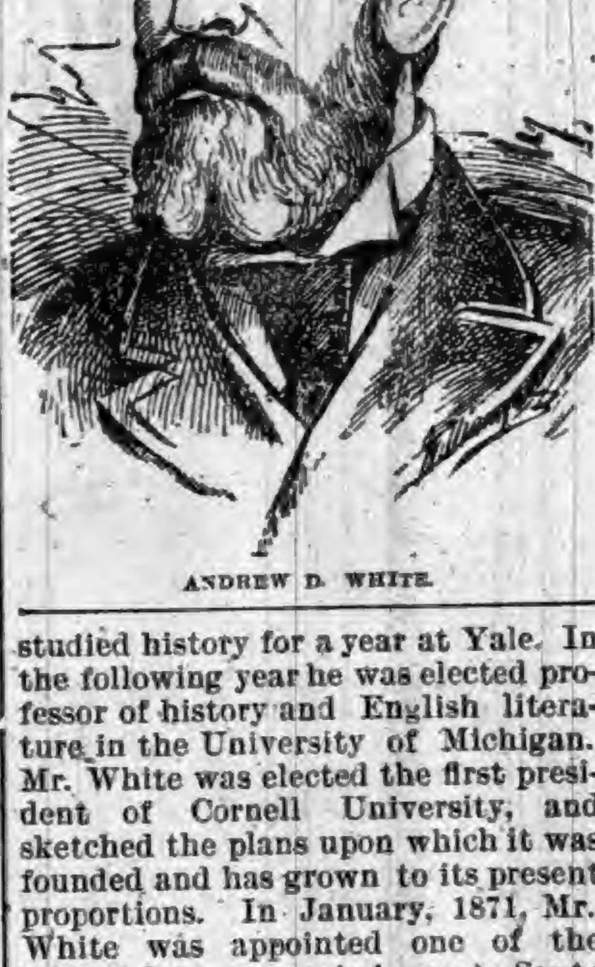
DO NOT BE DECEIVED with Pastes, Enamels, and Paints which stain the hands, injure the iron, and burn off. The Rising Sun Stove Polish is Brilliant, Odorless, Durable, and the consumer pays for no tin or glass package with every purchase.

HAS AN ANNUAL SALE OF 3,000 TONS.

NEW MINISTER TO RUSSIA.

Andrew Dickson White Recently Appointed.

Andrew Dickson White, who has been appointed Minister to Russia, is the son of the late Horace White, and was born Nov. 7, 1832, at Homer, N. Y., where his father began his business career as clerk in a dry goods store. His mother was the daughter of Andrew Dixon, founder of the Cortland Academy in Homer. It was at this school that her son received his early training before his father went to Syracuse to occupy a responsible position in a bank and began to make a fortune there. After leaving Homer he studied one year at Hobart College, and then entered Yale, where he was graduated in 1853. After graduation he spent two years in Europe in historical studies, mainly in Paris and Berlin. In 1856 he returned to this country and studied history for a year at Yale. In the following year he was elected professor of history and English literature in the University of Michigan. Mr. White was elected the first president of Cornell University, and sketched the plans upon which it was founded and has grown to its present proportions. In January, 1871, Mr. White was appointed one of the United States commissioners to Santo Domingo, and gave able assistance in preparing the report of the commission. His diplomatic ability received a recognition in his appointment as Minister to Germany in 1879. This post he held with distinction for two years. Failing health compelled him in 1885 to resign his office as president of Cornell. Two years later he endowed the new Cornell school of history and political science with his historical library.



ANDREW D. WHITE.

The Milking Stool.

It is a wise dairyman that knoweth when his cows have enough to eat.

The careless dairyman sayeth that the cows look full, but he examineth not the pasture to see what they are full of.

The prudent dairyman prepareth for a drought, and when it cometh he feedeth his cows before they suffer from short pasture.

But the improvident man sayeth we won't have any drought this year, the ground is soaked.

And behold, the rain falleth not, neither doth the dew appear in the early morning, and the grass withereth.

The kine scoot over the pasture, but they find naught but unpalatableness; and they look inquiringly over the fence at the corn.

The dairyman sayeth he will turn them into the meadow so soon as the aftermath getteth a good start.

But the aftermath starteth not.

He buyeth some meal for the kine, but he looketh not at the kine, but at the meal, when he feedeth them.

He considereth the cost of the meal and tryeth to make it last till the rain cometh and fresheneth up the pasure.

The kine break into the cornfield and destroy much corn.

He resolveth another year to provide against drought.

But the next spring proveth to be a wet one, and again he neglecteth to plant corn for soiling.

He revileth the weather, but considereth not his own shortcomings.

He blameth his luck and sayeth that everything seems to go against him.

But the prudent man rejoiceth because his kine give plenty of milk, and he rideth out in the cool of the evening with his wife.

And taketh the baby along.—National Stockman.

Summer Resort for Dogs.

Down on Long Island is a summer resort for dogs. It is a large, old-fashioned farm-house, where a few summer boarders are taken to supplement the dogs. The hostess is a woman of family, but not of fortune, a lever of dogs. The dogs know their friend, and, according to the New York Evening Sun, when she comes up to town after a year of absence they make the most extraordinary manifestations of affection, and will leave the most doting mistresses after a winter of devotion to go with her. She has now about twelve dog boarders. They are chiefly big dogs, kept without the range of the dwelling house. The only parlor boarder is a fox terrier, who does not allow any other dog to set foot on the piazza. The expense of boarding a small dog out of town is $4 a month. This is clear gain, and, with a sufficient number of dogs, produces a good income on scarcely any outlay, as the dogs, being allowed to run at large, are much less fastidious in the choice of food than in town. Their care is scarcely more of a consideration. They find their own diversion, take their constitutional all day long, do their own bathing, and, if ill, find their own medicines in the green things that grow. The expense of a dog in town is a consideration. A pound of dog biscuit will not last a fox terrier over three days. This must be well pounded and moistened with gravy. Twice a week it must have liver properly prepared. Once certainly, and usually twice a week, it is bathed; it must have medicinal soaps, and the tyranny which its care in the matter of exercise exacts makes one sigh to estimate. In return for this devotion the dog is much happier in the country, where it has none.

Short and Serious.

You laugh at some people; others laugh at you.

It is a pity there are no rules without exceptions.

Every man is religious when he is scared to death.

People who have nothing to give are the only cheerful givers.

He who is useful is the incarnation of the highest religion or creed.

Whenever you find a comfortable place, you are sure to catch a cold in it.

By the time a man acquires a little sense, he is too old to take advantage of it.

"Some people have a good time at a funeral. I never could."—Parson Twine.

The longer a man has been dead, the less positive his friends are that he is with the angels.

The man who has the worst reputation is the one who is always worrying about having it injured.

Almost any man will extend a helping hand to a friend in trouble, if it is not asked that he have silver in it.

When you hear a great deal of one side of a story, the other side receives from you a great deal of sympathy.

As men have never been able to be perfectly good, so they have never been capable of being entirely evil.

Probably one reason so many nice girls marry poor husbands is that they never meet any other kind of men.

There is no greater misfortune that can befall a woman than to let a man marry her believing she is an angel.

Before you do wrong, sit down and reflect what few untraveled roads there are by which a guilty man may escape.

A child is an excellent chaperone; when a child goes anywhere, it comes back to tell everything it sees and hears.

When men and women are married, they begin paying themselves the compliments they formerly paid those they married.

When your friends attend your funeral, they will not be half so sorry you are dead as they will be glad that it is you instead of them.

The trouble with men and women is that they deliberately shut their eyes to each other's faults, and then accuse each other of deceit.

There are many fierce tigers in the world, but millions of people are never harmed by them and have no fear of them. They get out of their way. There are many other dangers that lose their terror when people treat them in the same way.—Atchison Globe.

Five Cents for Six Lives

Human life is dull and in small demand—spot cash five-sixths of a cent each person—at Belden's Point, on City Island, says the New York Herald. These figures are the result of the sad experience of Edward Gallagher, of 330 West Forty-second street. Edward is a newsboy, sometimes called "Swipes the Newsboy," as a compliment to his ability. He is not the original "Swipes." Edward is 16 years old, black-eyed, brown-haired, and small. What his muscular development lacks in quantity it more than makes up in quality. He sold a big armful of newspaper between this city and City Island recently and then went rowing near Belden Point. Four men and two women who had sailed up from Greenpoint in the small sloop Agnes went in bathing at half-past 6 o'clock, so "Swipes" says. Three of the men and the women presently got into a skiff and paddled out into the Sound, followed leisurely by the fourth man, who swam. Two hundred yards from the shore he grew tired, tried to climb into the skiff over the side instead of the stern, and upset it. "Swipes" said he rowed fiercely to the rescue and saved them all. "They made me weary," he confided to the reporter. "When I began taking them in all the men could say was, 'We're all lost!' Soon's I got 'em ashore one says, 'Johnny, that was great work you done. I'm goin' to take up a c'lection.' He passed the hat and raised 30 cents out of all their clothes. When he give it to me he says, 'You're only a boy, you kno,' an' I gave him back his quarter an' says, 'Yes, an' I ain't goin' to overcharge you. The hull gang of yer ain't wort' more'n fi'pence.' Then I skipped."

Gladstone as a Poet.

Like many others who have attained eminence of some sort or another when they have arrived at maturity, Mr. Gladstone had the Wegg-like habit of dropping into poetry in his early years, and very indifferent poetry it was, too, as the volumes of the Eton Miscellany remain to testify. It was no better, and it could not well be worse, than the juvenile verse of Mr. Ruskin, which that singular author, or his foolish admirers, will not willingly let die. Here is a specimen of the youthful verse of Mr. Gladstone, and if we were to consider it curiously it might almost be said to indicate his political future—at any rate, his political sympathies. Its hero is the hero of one of Southey's early epics—we think it was an epic, but it may have been a tragedy—Wat Tyler, concerning whom the Gladstonian muse thus delivered himself:

ODE TO THE SHADE OF WAT TYLER.

Shade of him whose valiant tongue
On high the song of freedom sung;
Shade of him whose mighty soul
Would pay no taxes on his poll;
Though swift as lightning, civic sword
Descended on thy fated head,
The blood of England's boldest poured,
And numbered Tyler with the dead!

Still may thy spirit flap its wings,
At midnight, o'er the couch of kings;
And peer and prelate tremble, too,
In dread of nightly interview!
With patriot gesture of command,
With eyes that like thy forges gleam,
Lest Tyler's voice and Tyler's hand
Be heard and seen in nightly dream.

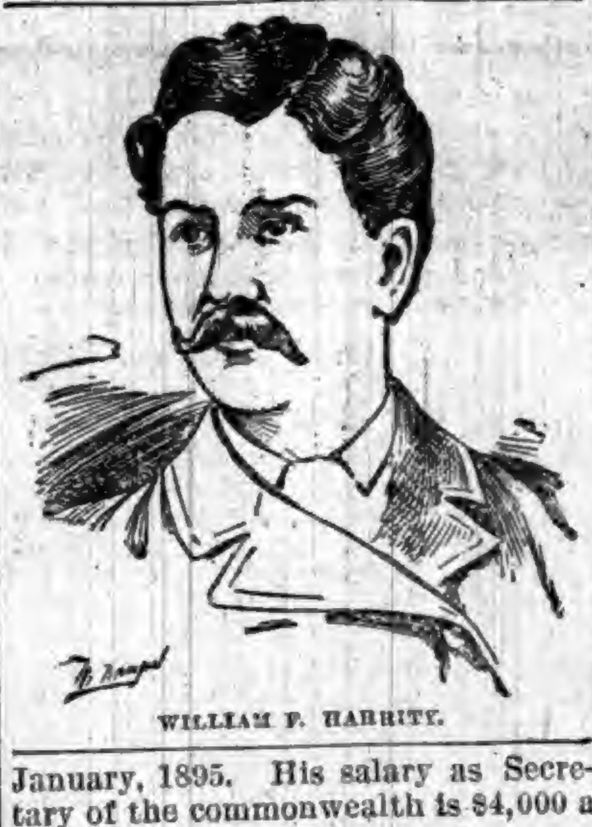
A Musical Watch.

A musical watch about the size of an egg is now exhibited in St. Petersburg which performs a religious chant, with scenic accompaniments. Within is a representation of Christ with the Roman sentinels. On pressing a spring the stone rolls from the tomb, the sentinels fall down, the angels appear, and the holy women enter the sepulchre, and the same chant which is sung in the Greek Church on Easter Eve is actually performed. The watch was made by an ingenious peasant during the reign of Catharine of Russia.

WILLIAM F. HARRITY.

The New Chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

William F. Harrity, Chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, is Secretary for the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and conducted the recent campaign which resulted in the election of Governor Pattison. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth, and still in the prime of life. He was elected to his present office in November, 1890, and will serve until January, 1895. His salary as Secretary of the commonwealth is $4,000 a year.



WILLIAM F. HARRITY.

Mr. Harrity was one of the leading Cleveland men at Chicago, and practically secured to the nominee the vote of the Pennsylvania delegation. He, together with William C. Whitney and Charles S. Fairchild, had full control of Mr. Cleveland's ante-convention campaign.

Curing a Bad Habit.

The boys were suspicious that Prof. Spire had formed the habit of going upstairs every evening about 9:30 o'clock to creep along the halls in his stocking feet and listen at the doors. They thought, however, that his case was not incurable if strong measures were taken. They made their preparations and then waited in silent expectation.

When Prof. Spire came out of his room and began to mount the stairs a cold, galvanized tack penetrated his very soul. He uttered a subdued howl of agony and sat down on the step above to investigate. But tacks were there also, and they began to investigate before he did. He rose with promptness, and this time the howl was not subdued. Doors flew open and anxious faces looked down from above.

"What is it?" gasped the Professor's pet, a beautiful blue-eyed lad, who scorned to do a base act. He had refused to contribute more than a cent toward buying tacks.

"Nothing serious," replied the Professor, with a dismal effort at cheerfulness. "I found the wind rather against me going up these stairs, and had just started on another tack; that's all. But it is almost 10 o'clock, and yacht to be abed, boys."—Boston Post.

About Matches.

The oldest, and, it is said, the largest match manufactory in the world is in Sweden. Matches were made there long before the old, roughly trimmed splinter of wood tipped with sulphur was discarded with the tinder boxes, for which they were used. In twenty-five years the export trade of Sweden in modern matches increased 1,000,000,000 boxes a year.

Some of the machines for making matches which we use in these days make 200 revolutions a minute each, and turn out about 2,500,000 matches daily. Rather more than five matches per head for the whole population are used daily in the United States. Strange to say, the quality of these Swedish matches, in many cases, is so bad that the state intends to resume the manufacture, and computes that the profits will produce a revenue of $1,000,000. Altogether, there are in Europe about 50,000 factories, and they yearly produce matches valued at $50,000,000.—Philadelphia Times.

Snakes to Eat the Rabbits.

Among the many strange and astounding propositions for the settlement of the rabbit question in Australia, one of the latest comes from a genius in South Australia, to turn a lot of carpet snakes loose among the rabbits, which would, it is asserted, be speedily eaten up by the reptiles. The correspondent also furnishes some remarkable data regarding the feeding capacity of carpet snakes. When from five to six feet long they are, he says, able to eat two or three rabbits at a meal; but when fifteen or sixteen feet long they are able to eat six rabbits. Anticipating inquiry as to what would happen if the snakes became more numerous than the rabbits, he proposes that carpet snakes of one kind only should be used, and after eating the rabbits the snakes would then proceed to eat each other.—St. James Gazette.

Night Lamps.

No house should be without a glimmer of light at night—a light sufficient to prevent groping and stumbling about in Egyptian darkness if one is obliged to rise. This is especially true of homes where there are little children. The idea that children are in any way benefitted by being made to sleep in absolutely dark rooms is untenable. If the light be sufficiently subdued and of a sort to leave the air quite pure, it is hard to see any harm in it. Gas turned low is never safe, as the fluctuations in the meter may make it go out. An ordinary kerosene lamp turned low is at all times an abomination. Little night lamps, costing 25 cents, with quarter-inch wicks, filled with pure oil and carefully trimmed, can be turned up to their full height without giving too much light or emitting any odor.

Mary Anderson in a Charity.

Mary Anderson (Mrs. Navarro) emerged from her retreat in London the other day at the call of charity. At the Catholic bazar, opened by Lady de Trafford, Mary Anderson, looking as charming as ever, was not only among the guests but assisted at the stalls and autographed her own portraits to increase the proceeds of the sale of work, which are to go toward the maintenance of the Catholic schools.—St. Louis Republic.

Friendly Advice.

There is a certain preacher of Hibernian antecedents who considers himself to be in direct communication with the well of English undefiled, and is generally credited with the possession of as rich a brogue as can be found anywhere in Tipperary. Some mention was made of his peculiar pronunciation at a church meeting, which greatly angered him. He immediately called upon one of his parishioners, and, after complaining of the injustice done him, asked him whether, in his opinion, a single trace of the brogue was to be observed in his speech. "Well," his friend answered, "if you wish to deny it, I should advice you to do so in writing.

Cruel, Cruel

To its victims is that inexorable foe to human peace, that destroyer of rest and frequent termination of human life—rheumatism. Like many another physical ill, it is easily remediable at the outset with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which expels the rheumatic virus from the blood through the kidneys. There exists the amplest evidence to prove that in cases that have resisted other treatment the Bitters has produced thorough and permanent results. But to temporize with this malady is folly. Attack it at once with the Bitters and it may be nipped in the bud. When mature it is the most obstinate of complaints. Kidney trouble, dyspepsia, neuralgia, incipient gout, constipation, malaria and liver complaint beat a hasty retreat when the Bitters is summoned to the rescue. A wineglassful three times a day.

Some Unanswered Conundrums.

"Why does a dog run sideways or diagonally?" inquired the purchaser of a fine black Newfoundland pup of a dog fancier the other day. "Well, sir, that's a question I've been asked frequently, and after some investigation I have concluded that the reason is that the animal is brought up that way. Why does a chicken roost on one foot, or an owl keep its eyes wide open all night long, or a rooster crow vigorously at the break of early dawn, or a pig run homeward with straws in its mouth before approaching rain? These are questions that are as difficult to solve as some of the astronomical problems."—Philadelphia Press.

W. H. GRIFFIN, Jackson, Michigan, writes: "Suffered with catarrh for fifteen years. Hall's Catarrh Cure cured me." Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Roofing.

As the country becomes older the use of straw or wooden shingles as roofing material gives way to more substantial ways of resisting the elements. Tile and iron are good, but not good enough for this progressive age. Steel is already entering largely into the construction of buildings. Those who cannot frame their buildings of steel may cover them with it.

Three Bottles of Swamp-Root Produced a Positive Cure.

I had inflammation of the bladder and kidneys, with intense pain in my back and a frequent desire to pass water, which was highly colored and full of sediment. Physicians pronounced my case chronic kidney troubles and stated I was beyond cure.

JACOB OSWALT, Knightsville, Ind.

In Mourning.

Charlie—I say, chappie, you are wearing a plain black band in place of your gold albert. You are not in mourning?

Johnnie—Yes, old man.

Charlie—Sorry to hear it, old fellow—for whom, may I ask?

Johnnie—My watch and chain. I buried them at the pawnbroker's yesterday.—Exchange.

THE principal causes of sick headache, biliousness and cold chills are found in the stomach and liver. Cured by Beecham's Pills.

Suburban Recreation

Mr. Citimann—What do you do for excitement in Lonelyville?

Mr. Suburb—Oh, our house burns down once in a while.—New York Weekly.

GOOD ADVICE.—USE HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR for a cough or cold.

PIKE'S TOOTHACHE DROPS Cure in one Minute.

An Unguessable One.

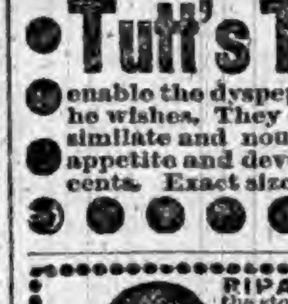
Jinks—I wonder why Brobson gave up his wife?

Filkins—Too much of a conundrum for him, I suppose.—New York Herald.

IF afflicted with Sore Eyes, use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell it. 25c

WHATEVER comes to us through good friends is a blessing.

Simply Awful



Geo. W. Turner.

"I had what the doctors called the worst case of Scrofula they ever saw. It was on my arms, face and neck, and was simply awful! Five years ago I began to take HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and found the sores gradually began to heal. I took ten bottles and was perfectly cured. For the past four years I have had good health and no sores." G. W. TURNER, Farmer, Galway, N. Y.

HOOD'S PILLS cure liver ills, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, sick headache, indigestion.

Tutt's Tiny Pills

enable the dyspeptic to eat whatever he wishes. They cause the food to assimilate and nourish the body, give appetite and develop flesh. Price, 25 cents. Exact size shown in border.

RIPANS TABULES regulate the stomach, liver and bowels, purify the blood, are safe and effectual; the best medicine known for biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia, foul breath, headache, mental depression, painful digestion, bad complexion, and all diseases caused by failure of the stomach, liver or bowels to perform their proper functions. Persons given to over-eating are benefited by taking one after each meal. Price, $2; sample, 15c. At Druggists, or sent by mail. RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

$40,000,000

Earned by the Bell Telephone Patent in 1891. Your invention may be valuable. You should protect it by patent. Address for full and intelligent advice, free of charge, W. W. DUDLEY & CO., Solicitors of Patents, Pacific Bldg., 622 F St. N. W., Washington, D. C. Mention this paper.

LYON & HEALY, 53 Monroe St., Chicago. Will Mail Free their newly enlarged Catalogue of Band Instruments, Uniforms and Equipments, 400 Fine Illustrations, describing every article required by Bands or Drum Corps. Contains Instructions for Amateur Bands, Exercises and Drum Major's Tactics, By-Laws and a Selected List of Band Music.

GARFIELD TEA Overcomes results of bad eating; cures Sick Headache; restores Complexion; cures Constipation. Send for Free Sample to 319 West 45th Street, New York City.

FAT FOLKS REDUCED

Mrs. Alice Maple, Oregon, Mo., writes "My weight was 320 pounds, now it is 195, a reduction of 125 lbs." For circulars address, with 6c. Dr. O. W. F. SNYDER, McVicker's Theatre, Chicago, Ill.

PATENTS! PENSIONS!

Send for Inventor's Guide, or How to Obtain a Patent. Send for Digest of Pension and Bounty Laws. PATRICK O'FARRELL, Washington, D. C.

HEMORDIA FOR PILES. THE ONLY SURE CURE. Price $1.00 by mail. HEMORDIA CO., 116 Fulton St., New York.

TEXAS Wheat region. All crops splendid. For folder giving general information (give name and P. O.) J. S. GRAHAM, Graham, Texas.

Pure and Wholesome Quality

Commends to public approval the California liquid laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs. It is pleasant to the taste and by acting gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels to cleanse the system effectually, it promotes the health and comfort of all who use it, and with millions it is the best and only remedy.

Johnny Speaketh of Honesty.

Some boys is honester than others and there's no way to tell them apart except to pretend to forget your knife and watch 'em jump for it. The one that jumps last is the honestest one.—New York Herald.

LOW RATE HARVEST EXCURSIONS.

The announcement that the North-Western Line, comprising over 8,000 miles of thoroughly equipped railway, has arranged to run two low rate Harvest Excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by those who are interested in the development of the great West and Northwest, as well as by those who desire to visit this wonderfully productive region at a season of the year when exact demonstration can be made of the merits and advantages it offers to home-seekers and those in search of safe and profitable investments.

These excursions will leave Chicago on August 30th and Sept. 27th, and tickets can be purchased at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip to points in Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, and Montana. They will be strictly first-class in every particular and will be good for return passage at any time within twenty days from date of purchase. Full information concerning rates and arrangements for these excursions can be obtained upon application to any coupon ticket agent, or to W. A. Thrall, G. P. T. A., Chicago & North-Western R'y, Chicago.

It Depends on the Figure.

McWatty—There is something very beautiful about American money.

Simeral—Yes: the beauty increases in proportion to the handsomeness of the figure.—Detroit Free Press.

FITS.—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila, Pa.

PEOPLE do not fool others half as much as they fool themselves.

S.S.S. CURES MALARIAL POISON

Nature should be assisted to throw off impurities of the blood. Nothing does it so well, so promptly, or so safely as Swift's Specific.

LIFE HAD NO CHARMS.

For three years I was troubled with malarial poison, which caused my appetite to fail, and I was greatly reduced in flesh, and life lost all its charms. I tried mercurial and potash remedies, but to no effect. I could get no relief. I then decided to try S.S.S. A few bottles of this wonderful medicine made a complete and permanent cure, and I now enjoy better health than ever.

J. A. RICE, Ottawa, Kan.

Our book on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed free.

SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

"August Flower"

My wife suffered with indigestion and dyspepsia for years. Life became a burden to her. Physicians failed to give relief. After reading one of your books, I purchased a bottle of August Flower. It worked like a charm. My wife received immediate relief after taking the first dose. She was completely cured—now weighs 165 pounds, and can eat anything she desires without any deleterious results as was formerly the case. C. H. Dear, Prop'r Washington House, Washington, Va.

Burlington Route Harvest Excursions

August 30th and Sept. 27th,

FROM

Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis

to the Cities and Farm Districts throughout the

WEST

Southwest and Northwest

Round trip tickets will be sold by your local ticket agent on these dates at

HALF RATES!

See that they read over the Burlington Route from Chicago, Peoria or St. Louis. It is the direct line to the territory in question. Send for pamphlet with map and complete information to P. S. EUSTIS, G. P. A., CHICAGO, ILL.

LEWIS' 98 % LYE

Powdered and Perfumed. (PATENTED.)

The strongest and purest Lye made. Unlike other Lye, it being a fine powder and packed in a can with removable lid, the contents are always ready for use. Will make the best perfumed Hard Soap in 20 minutes without boiling. It is the best for cleansing waste-pipes, disinfecting sinks, closets, washing bottles, paints, trees, etc.

PENNA. SALT M'F'G CO., Gen. Agts., Phila., Pa.

$5 to $15 per day, at home, selling LIGHTNING PLATER and plating jewelry, watches, tableware, &c. Plates the finest of jewelry good as new, on all kinds of metal with gold, silver or nickel. No experience. No capital. Every house has goods needing plating. Wholesale to agents $5. Write for circulars. H. C. DELNO & Co., Columbus, O.

DROPSY TREATED FREE. Positively CURED with Vegetable Remedies. Have cured many thousand cases pronounced hopeless. From first dose symptoms rapidly disappear, and in ten days at least two-thirds of all symptoms are removed. BOOK of testimonials of miraculous cures sent FREE. Ten Days Treatment Furnished Free by Mail. DR. H. H. GREEN & SONS, SPECIALISTS ATLANTA, GEORGIA ARGUMENT. THE AMERICAN PUBLISHING COMPANY, of Jersey City, N. J., have undertaken to guarantee to their Advertising patrons a total circulation for their various papers of not less than ONE MILLION. This means an addition of 500,000 to our present lists. It has been said that to secure a half million new subscribers in six months is a business impossibility. This is probably true by ordinary or common methods, but NOT TRUE when the effort is associated with the kind of enterprise that appears in this prospectus. Five hundred thousand new subscribers will mean to us more than $500,000 of advertising revenue during the next five years. We can afford to pay for them at least half their value to us. We are willing to do even more than this, if necessary, and to that end have originated the fairest and most ingenious plan of distributing Cash Premiums or Rewards of Merit among new subscribers that the world has ever known. The plan or method is in conflict with no law against lotteries or schemes of chance; it involves nothing that is illegal or immoral; it places a premium on brains; it is, in short, the very essence of what is commendable, honest, liberal and attractive.

CASH FOR BRAINS

For CORRECT ANSWERS to ANY ONE of the following Ten Word-Riddles the American Publishing Company will pay the following

CASH REWARDS

For a correct answer to any ONE word,	$20.00	For a correct answer to any SIX words,	$150.00
For a correct answer to any TWO words,	$50.00	For a correct answer to any SEVEN words,	$175.00
For a correct answer to any THREE words,	$75.00	For a correct answer to any EIGHT words,	$200.00
For a correct answer to any FOUR words,	$100.00	For a correct answer to any NINE words,	$225.00
For a correct answer to any FIVE words,	$125.00	For a correct answer to all of the TEN words,	$250.00

As SPECIAL GRAND REWARDS we will Pay in Cash:

For the FIRST correct answer to ALL of the entire Ten words, $5,000
For the SECOND correct answer to ALL of the entire Ten words, $3,000
For the THIRD correct answer to ALL of the entire Ten words, $2,000

Here are the Ten Word-Riddles—Can You Solve Any of Them?

1	B-rn--	A NAME MADE FAMILIAR BY GREAT ADVERTISING TO EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD WHO HAS EVER VISITED A CIRCUS.
2	-ea-ty	A CHARMING QUALITY WHEN POSSESSED BY WOMEN, THAT ATTRACTS THE ADMIRATION AND OFTEN WINS THE LOVE OF MEN.
3	Bl---e	WAS NOT CONSIDERED DESIRABLE AT THE MINNEAPOLIS NATIONAL REPUBLICAN CONVENTION BY A MAJORITY OF THE DELEGATES.
4	-le-------	SERVED TO DEFEAT JAMES G. BLAINE FOR THE PRESIDENCY IN 1884.
5	-ol---	THAT WHICH YOU CAN SECURE TO THE AMOUNT OF $5,000 IF YOU WIN THE FIRST PRIZE HEREIN OFFERED.
6	-r-ss	THAT WHICH WOMEN KNOW HOW TO WEAR TO BETTER ADVANTAGE THAN MOST MEN.
7	-i-ht	SOMETHING WHICH JOHN L. SULLIVAN, CORBETT, JACKSON, SLAVIN AND OTHER BIG PUGILISTS EXCEL IN.
8	-ar-i--n	OCCUPIES THE MOST RESPONSIBLE AND FOREMOST POSITION CONNECTED WITH THE GOVERNMENT AND PROTECTION OF THE PEOPLE AGAINST FOREIGN OR HOSTILE NATIONS.
9	-ict--e	THAT WHICH PLEASES OR SATISFIES THE EYE, AND WHICH, IF ARTISTICALLY EXECUTED, ATTRACTS THE ATTENTION AND EXCITES THE ADMIRATION OF LOVERS OF THE BEAUTIFUL.
10	Qu-e-Vic-----	PROBABLY CONSIDERED OF GREATER CONSEQUENCE AND MORE SOUGHT AFTER BY THE IDLE, EXCLUSIVE AND TITLED ENGLISH NOBILITY THAN BY THE AVERAGE BUSY, HUSTLING AMERICAN.

Explanation. Each dash appearing in the partially spelled words indicates the absence of a certain letter, and when the proper letters are supplied the original word selected to form each Riddle will be found complete. EXAMPLE: H-r-e, something every farmer should possess. In this case the omitted letters are o and s, and when properly inserted the completed word is Horse.

REWARDS paid in cash the VERY DAY any answer is found to be correct.

Each answer will be numbered as received, to be examined in the order of its number, and when found correct a New York Certified Bank Check for the full amount of whatever reward such correct answer secures will be sent the VERY DAY the award is made.

REMEMBER If you only solve one word you will receive $20 in Cash; you are not confined to any particular word—any one of the entire ten will bring you a $20 cash reward—while if you are bright enough to solve more than one your reward will be increased in proportion from $50 to $250. Also remember that you do not have to be first, or last with your answer. EVERY correct answer for even a single word wins a splendid cash reward.

The Only Condition.

The object of this extraordinary offer is, of course, to secure Subscribers at once and in large numbers. We therefore require that 50 cents for a year's subscription to some one of our papers shall be remitted with every answer. We publish four great papers: The American Fireside, The American Homestead, The American Household Journal, and The American Cottage Home. Name your choice of any one of the four—they are all the same price, 50c. a year. If you send answers to more than one word you must send a separate name and 50c. for every word you answer. Thus, if you send answers to two words, send an extra name besides your own and $1, and so on—one name and 50c. for a year's subscription for each word you answer. The total amount of cash rewards that you receive for correct answers can be divided pro rata among the list, or you can keep it all, just as you arrange between yourself and those whose names you send. In every case we will pay the full amount of the reward for correct answers to the person who sends the names.

Don't send answers without subscriptions—they will receive no attention and cannot possibly win a reward even if correct.

Protection. As a means to guard against even an appearance of irregularity or collusion, a copy of the original ten words selected to make up the above Word-Riddles is deposited with Mr. C. P. SMITH, Superintendent of the Jersey City Police Department, under seal, to be opened December 31, 1892, in the presence of witnesses, after this contest closes. The complete list will be printed in full in the January issues of our four papers, so that all who have not received rewards for correct answers will know wherein they failed. This method of protection is due to all concerned, and absolutely prevents everything that is not wholly honest and fair to every subscriber.

DESIGNATE THE WORDS YOU ANSWER BY THEIR NUMBERS, and be wise and send your answer at once.

Address all letters and make all remittances payable to the Treasurer of the American Publishing Co., as follows:

Hon. J. F. KELLY, Treas., 214 Washington Street, Jersey City, N. J.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest. CATARRH Sold by druggists or sent by mail, 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren, Pa.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE. The Family Wash Blue, for sale by Grocers.

When Writing to Advertisers, say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

This is a [illegible]ture From Real Life, showing, as it were, how anxiously the mother seeks to afford her child the innocent and harmless amusements so necessary to its growth and development; which, if impossible to secure at home, would be sought elsewhere.

So it is With Us!

We are anxiously and earnestly endeavoring to make it possible for our customers to get the comforts and necessaries of life at the

FAMILY GROCERY,

where is to be found a complete stock of groceries, general produce, notions, confectionery, tobacco and cigars.

Mason Fruit Jars $1.05 per Doz.

IRA BRANDON.

Notice of Hearing of Ditch Petition

In the matter of the petition of Henry Frick, and others, notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed with the Auditor of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, and viewers have been appointed who have viewed and reported said view which is on file in my office. The hearing of said petition upon its merits will be on Tuesday the 6th day of September, 1892, the same being the second day of their September term, 1892, of Commissioners' Court.

The prayer of said petition is that a ditch be constructed on the following route, to-wit:

Beginning 300 feet north of, of the east and west half section line, of section 34, Smithfield township, DeKalb county, state of Indiana, and from thence as follows:

No.	Course.	Distance
1	north 68 degrees west	100 feet
	north 78 degrees west	100 feet
3	south 73 degrees 30 min. west	300 feet
4	south 52 degrees west	100 feet
5	south 39 degrees west	100 feet
6	south 28 degrees west	100 feet
7	south 11 degrees west	100 feet
8	south 33 degrees west	500 feet
9	south 11 degrees west	100 feet
10	south 25 degrees east	200 feet
11	south 11 degrees east	475 feet
12	south 13 degrees west	125 feet
13	south 15 degrees 30 min. east	700 feet
14	south	100 feet
15	south 13 degrees west	100 feet
	On curve	100 feet
16	south 53 degrees west	200 feet
17	south 30 degrees west	300 feet

Ending 612 feet south and 848 feet east of the northwest corner of section three (3) Grant township, DeKalb county, state of Indiana.

This proposed work will affect the lands of the following persons:

David Seery, DeKalb County, William Getts and Mary Getts, Henry Frick, Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw Rail Road Company, now leased and operated by the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Rail Road, Albert J. and S. Beard, Malinda and Jacob Hevel.

H. N. COFFINBERRY,
Auditor DeKalb County

Notice to Non-Residents.

State of Indiana, DeKalb County, ss.

In the DeKalb circuit court, October term, 1892, Frank Dudley is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said court, for divorce and custody of child by Clara M. Dudley, and that the same will be heard and determined on the first juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3rd, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 30th day of July, 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk.
JOHN W. BAXTER, Att'y.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, of the State of Indiana, administrator, with the will annexed, of the estate of Lydia M. Hubbell, deceased, late of said county. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

WILLIAM H. LEAS, Administrator.
July h, 1892.

Notice to Contractors.

The Board of Commissioners of DeKalb county, Indiana, will receive sealed bids for the construction of a cement walk along the east and south sides of the public square in Auburn, up to August 16th, 1892, at 1 p. m. Specifications can be seen at the Auditor's office of said county, in Auburn. Also, at the same time and place, the Board will receive sealed bids for the construction of a stone gutter along the said walk, specifications for which, are also on file in the Auditor's office. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the Board,
JAMES M HENDERSON, Pres.

Notice to Non-Residents.

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DEKALB COUNTY, } ss:

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, October term, 1892, Kittie Brandon, Edith V. Brandon and Hollister H. Brandon, are hereby notified that an action has been commenced against them in said court, for an order and decree of said court, to sell real estate, by John Hornacks, administrator of the estate of Henry Brandon, deceased, and that the same will be heard and determined on the First juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3rd, 1892.

WITNESS, The clerk of said court, this 30th day of July, 1892.

GEORGE A. BISHOP, Clerk.
J. E. & J. H. Rose, Att'ys.

Notice to Non Residents

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DEKALB COUNTY, } ss.

In the DeKalb circuit court, October term, 1892, John M. Somers is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said court, for a divorce and custody of child, by Catherine M. Somers, and that the same will be heard and determined on the First juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3rd, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 27th day of July, 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk.
JOHN W. BAXTER, Att'y.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, of the state of Indiana, administrator, of the estate of Anson Hall, deceased, late of said county. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

JOHN L. WILDESON, Administrator.
July 3?, 1892.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria

CALIFORNIA.

California is the most attractive and delightful section of the United States, if not of the world, and many beautiful resorts will be crowded by the best families of the east during the entire winter. It offers to the investor the best open opportunity for safe and large returns from its fruit lands. It offers the kindest climate in the world to the feeble and debilitated; and it is reached in the most comfortable manner over the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad. Pullman Vestibule Sleeping Cars leave Chicago by this line every day in the year and go without change or transfer through to San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego. This is a feature not offered by any other line. Write to John J. Byrne, 621 Rialto Building, Chicago, Ill., if you desire any further information as to the country and accommodations for reaching it.

EVERY DEMOCRAT

is Interested in the National Ticket

To arm himself against the sophistries of the Republican party, every Democrat should read FRAUDS AND FALSEHOODS OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, the latest and largest and most authentic campaign document issued. It shows the FALLACY OF PROTECTION, the WEAKNESS OF RECIPROCITY, the BAD FINANCIAL management and WASTEFUL expenditures of the Republican party. The comparison of the MILLS and MCKINLEY bills is an EYE-OPENER to Farmers, Mechanics and Laborers. Complete Biographies of CLEVELAND and STEPHENSON, a full Report of the Convention, the Party Platform and an Exposition of Democratic Principles. Nearly 600 pages. Price only $1.50. Special Terms to Democratic Clubs. BIG PAY to WORKING AGENTS. Canvassing book FREE. Send 10 cts for postage, Address

UNION PUBLISHING HOUSE,
358 Dearborn St., CHICAGO, ILL.

THE OLD MILL OF MYSTERY,

is now in operation and grinding out Summer Goods, at

REDUCED PRICES.

Challies, ginghams, satteens and tissues, all must go

THIS HARVEST!

Come and bring Grain Sacks. If you haven't got as many as you need, we can furnish the America at 20 cents, Stark A., 22 cents.

Come One, Come All

To The

HEADQUARTERS,

at the popular store of

MRS. M. JONES & SON.

MILK CROCKS,

Large and small sizes, deep and shallow shapes.

JARS,

Of all sizes trom one half to 12 GALLONS.

JUGS,

Both large and small

PRESERVE JARS!

We have a nice line of preserve jars, and also, of churns, and other crockery.

W. J. OLDS,

SEBRING Bl'd'g, AUBURN.

Excursion Fares for the Supreme Lodge and Biennial Encampment, Unifom Rank, Knights of Pythias, at Kansas City, Mo.
Via the Baltimore & Ohio R. R.

On August 19 to 22 the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will sell Excursion Tickets to Kansas City, Mo., at very low rates, on account of the Supreme Lodge and Biennial Encampment, Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, on August 23rd 1892. The return portion of these low rate tickets will be good for return passage to and including September 15th, 1892. For further information call on or address any B. & O. Ticket Agent, or L. S. Allen, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Chicago.

PILES Rectal Ulcer, Fistula, Fissure, Etc., permanently cured. Piles of years standing cured in one PAINLESS treatment without knife, Ligature or clamp. No loss of time from business. Office treatment only. Consultation free. Call or write DR. BUSH. OFFICE 800 PINE ST. ST. LOUIS, MO.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

CORRESPONDENCE

WATERLOO.

Mrs. Darby is convalescing slowly.

Mr. V. E. Duff spent Sunday in Waterloo.

Monday Mr. Kime, of Kendallville, was in Waterloo.

Thursday of last week Mr. Smith, of Sheldon, visited our town.

Charles Bassett, Jr., of Anderson, is visiting in Waterloo at this time.

Friday of last week Mrs. Florence Waterman spent the day at Rome City.

Rev. Mygrants and wife, of Hicksville, spent a few days in Waterloo this week.

The members of the L. M. C. will go to Hamilton Lake, on a picnic Wednesday.

Monday of this week Elder Keller, of Hicksville, was in our pleasant village.

Mrs. Earl Abbey has returned home from her visit to her mother's at Larwill.

Speer & Co. have on a new line of flower pots, which ladies can examine by calling on them.

Two new public cisterns are to be dug; one in the southwest part of town, the other in the east end.

Wednesday, Aug. 16, the Methodist, the United Brethren and the Evangelical Sunday schools have a picnic at Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Ettinger left Waterloo last week Monday evening for a trip to St. Charles, Minn., where Mr. E. will remain about four months.

The ladies of the U. B. church held a missionary tea at the home of Orlando Seery last Saturday evening. A good supper and a good time were enjoyed and the proceeds amounted to $18.

The Presbyterian social at the home of Mrs. J. C. Boyer, last Friday evening was well attended. The supper was prepared by the south section of ladies of that church, and a hundred partook of it.

One evening last week, at Water's saloon, his customers were treated to turtle soup. Williamson was chief cook, assisted by young Brysland. The soup was manufactured from six turtles with an abundance of other good things added, and was not long in being disposed of. Several gentlemen bought sufficient to take home to their families.

Mrs. Rebecca, wife of Adam Boyer, died Aug. 11, at 4:30 a. m., after a short illness, although an invalid for a long time. The funeral services were held Thursday at 3 p. m. at the residence of A. T. Smith on Franklin street. Rev. Klotz preached the sermon. The flowers sent by friends were numerous and beautiful. Had Mrs. Boyer's death occurred a little later, it would have been fifty years since her marriage to Mr. Boyer.

Mrs. A. V. Sinclair, with her two children and her sister, Miss Nora Ward, left a few days ago to visit in Oberlin, Kansas, where her parents reside. Miss Ward has spent a year in Waterloo, and during that time has made many friends who will regret her departure. She has been organist in the Presbyterian church, and of course will be missed. It seems of late all who go from that church have been those possessed of fine musical talent, and the loss must be greatly lamented.

BUTLER.

J. A. Campbell and wife visited Fremont and Orland last week.

Ben Stiefel has opened a grocery in his old stand under the opera house.

The attractions of Ashley begin to draw slightly on some of our out of-trade business men.

Quite a large number of our property owners are having water conveyed from the mains to their residences. The supply is abundant and will be good when the pipes are thoroughly cleansed.

The political volcano continues dormant. If it could only remain so until election morn there would be less whisky swallowed, more money for wives and children, fewer sore heads, a less number of wounded hearts and a more contented and happier people.

Mrs. Kate Carpenter, the aged widow of Wm. Pitt Carpenter and mother of Dr. Carpenter of this place, quietly passed away last week. Her remains were laid to rest beside those of her late husband, east of town. Mrs. Mark Bailey also died last week. Her remains were taken abroad for interment.

The churches and Sunday schools have suffered fearfully in attendance during heated term. Our loss seems to be Hamilton's gain, as the woods about the lake teems on Sundays with white dresses and their accompaniments. It will take several months of hard church work ot build up what this source of amusement pulls down in one or two months of the summer.

Rev. Stone, of the M. E. church, has been off on his summer vacation for the past two weeks. Rev. J. D. Snyder, of Waterloo, has acted as supply. Last Sunday a brother of Mrs. Peter Wickoff, Rev. Wm. Johnson, of Allegheny county, Penn., filled the pulpit. Mr. Johnson met his brother Michael, of Adams Co., Ind. They had not previously met for forty years. Mr. Johnson's sermon was an excellent one.

CONCORD.

Grandpa Neely was at Auburn Monday.

Cormie Gibford will shortly leave for Indianapolis.

The Fairview folks cleared $70 at their picnic August the 6th.

Harry Draggoo, of Auburn, had his best girl to the picnic Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Curt Elson were the guests of her aunt, Josie Morr, Saturday.

Mrs. L. Latson, of Coburn, spent Saturday and Sunday with her son, Ira and wife.

Rev. S. S. Stanton left Monday on the west bound train to attend conference at Springfield, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Harrod and Mrs. E. Strong, of Newville, were the guests of Miss L. Wyatt Sunday.

W. B. Brown and family, of Auburn, and Miss Kate Bellmer, of New Jersey attended the picnic Saturday.

Mrs. N. A. Huffman returned to her home in Garrett after a pleasant visit her daughter, Mrs. Katie May.

Mr. Grabill, of Bryan, and Miss Lillie Jones were the guests of John Fetters and family Saturday and Sunday.

We regret the Grove Bethel school did not receive their invitation card, hoping this explanation will be satisfactory.

Mr. and Mrs. L. James and son Walter, of Ft. Wayne, visited relatives here Saturday and Sunday and did the picnic.

Saturday Mrs. Josie Morr's buildings came very near being consumed by fire. The fire originated from the trains, but was discovered by Will Smurr, who gave the alarm by ringing the dinner bell. A large crowd of men and boys soon extinguished it.

August 14th was the birthday of Mrs. Will Smurr, the Morr relatives gave her a surprise to the number of fifty-four. She was the recipient of many presents. Her three brothers, Joseph, Samuel and John, gave her a beautiful clock. Her mother was the instigator of the surprise. An enjoyable time reported.

Prof. Fairfield, of Angola, Rev. J. J. Fred, Rev. N. S. Nelson, of Spencerville, our present pastor, and Rev. S. S. Stanton were the speakers of the day at the picnic. Income of picnic $203.75, expenditure $68.00, profit $135.75. Through the columns of the COURIER we tender our thanks to our many liberal friends' patronage. A. A. D. Sec.

JACKSON TOWNSHIP.

J. S. Weaver's pet deer has died. It was a great pet in the family, and many went to see it.

There was a meeting at the Lockwood school house three nights last week, all being well attended.

Many farmers are hauling logs, for they cannot plow for wheat now, the ground being so dry.

The singing class at No. 9 was organized again Saturday night, by their old teacher, H. W. Magginis.

Corn prospects are very poor with most of our people, and some will not even have a good crop of fodder if it does not rain soon.

Farmers have a good deal of the threshing done, but their granaries are not crowded with the new crop. Threshers have to move and set often, one of them doing this five times in one day.

County Teachers' Institute.

The DeKalb county teachers' institute meets in Auburn, Aug. 22, for the regular annual session of five days. A corps of excellent instructors has been secured, which assures good work, and an interesting session.

The instructors are: Cyrus W. Hodgin, of Earham College, and Arnold Tompkins, of the State Normal at Terre Haute.

The teachers are to take up Civil Government in their reading circle work this year, and the work of Mr. Hodgin will be valuable, as he is one of the best instructors in that branch, in the country.

Mr. Tompkins is one of the most thoroughly posted instructors on educational subjects, in the state. His work will probably include History of Education, Mental Science, Pedagogy, and kindred subjects. He is an eloquent and forcible speaker.

Monday evening, will be the annual institute sermon.

Tuesday evening, lecture by Miss Henrietta G. Moore, of Springfield, O.

Wednesday evening, lecture by the renowned Dr. Nourse, of Washington, D. C.

The lecture for Thursday evening, will be announced next week.

Rev. Henrietta G. Moore, who speaks Tuesday evening, is one of the ablest lady lecturers in the country. Such well known persons as Miss Frances Willard, and Rev. H. A. Tompson, ex-president of Otterbein University, speak of her in the highest terms. Altogether the institute work bids fair to be of the most interesting character.

New Cook Book Free.

The Price Baking Powder Co., Chicago has just published its new cook book, called "Table and Kitchen," compiled with great care. Besides containing over 500 receipts for all kinds of pastry and home cookery, there are valuable hints for the table and kitchen, showing how to set a table, how to enter the dining room, etc; a hundred and one hints in every branch of the culinary art. Cookery of the very finest and richest as well as that of the most economical and home like is provided for. "Table and Kitchen" will be sent, postage prepaid, to any lady patron sending her address, (name, town and state,) plainly given. Postal card is as good as a letter. Address Price Baking Powder Co, 184, 186 and 188, Michigan Street, Chicago, Ill.

ONE LIMITED FIRST-CLASS FARE FOR THE ROUND TRIP

HARVEST EXCURSIONS,

Aug. 30th, and Sept. 27th,

The "Wisconsin Central Lines"

Will run low rate Harvest Excursions on above dates, to points in Minnesota, Montana, North and South Dakota. Tickets will be good twenty (20) days from date of sale, with stop-over privileges to points west of St. Paul and Minneapolis.

For full information, address any of the company's representatives, or

JAMES C. POND,
Gen'l Pass. and Tkt Chicago, Ill

The Methods of an Evangelist.

The death of Miller Willis, the Georgia evangelist, revives many interesting stories concerning his life and methods. He was certainly the queerest character that ever preached the Gospel at a camp meeting, at which places he was generally found. His pure and holy life, however, was a model for all. But about his methods: He frequently stopped strangers in the streets, and planting himself in front of them would announce some startling text and then disappear, leaving the man or woman to preach the sermon to his or her own liking.

For instance, he on one occasion stopped a stranger and shouted in his ears, "This night thy soul shall be required of thee!" Willis vanished. But a year afterward he met the man in another city. Willis had forgotten him, but the stranger knew his man. Approaching him he extended his hand and said: "That text you shouted out so strangely to me on the streets of Milledgeville set me to thinking. It was the means of my conversion."

On another occasion, a dark, rainy night in winter, he passed a crowded hotel in the city of Charleston. Men were lounging and smoking in the lobby. Willis opened the door, but the little figure in dripping garments attracted no attention. Suddenly, after rapping loud on the floor with his heavy stick, every eye was turned toward him, when Willis said, "There won't be a man in this house alive in fifty years from tonight!" And he slammed the door and went out into the night.

Some time afterward he was approached by a young man on a street car, who introduced himself by saying: "I have long desired to meet you and to thank you for saying what you did in the hotel lobby one winter's night. Your words have been ringing in my ears ever since, and I am now a Christian man."—Atlanta Constitution.

The Key of Death.

About the year 1600 a stranger named Tebaldo established himself as a merchant in Venice. Soon becoming infatuated with the daughter of one of the most ancient and wealthy families he asked her hand and was rejected, the young lady being already affianced. Half crazed and thoroughly enraged he planned revenge. Being an excellent mechanic he soon evolved a most formidable looking key. The handle of this unique weapon could be easily turned. Being turned it disclosed a spring with a missile in the shape of a needle of exquisite fineness. With this weapon Tebaldo waited at the church door until the maiden he loved passed in on the morning of her marriage. When the bridegroom appeared the desperate lover, unperceived, sent the slender poisoned needle into his rival's breast, and within an hour he was dead of a "strange, baffling disease."

Again Tebaldo demanded the hand of the maiden, but was refused. Within a few days both her parents had died in a very mysterious manner. Suspicion being excited, examination was made, and the small steel instruments found in the flesh in both cases. One day the maiden allowed Tebaldo an audience, but told him that she would never be his bride. Within an hour she was a corpse. Tebaldo was suspected, the key discovered and the culprit hanged. The celebrated "key of death" is still shown to the curious visitor of the Venice museum.—St. Louis Republic.

A Convenient Ring.

The following incident happened at Oroville, Cal.: It was a handsome solitaire, and she evidently desired the jeweler to know that it was her engagement ring.

"I would like to have this ring cut down to suit my finger," said the handsome heart smasher, as she flourished the brilliant ring before the eyes of the jeweler.

The jeweler took the ring and smiled—he had seen it before.

"I can fix that in a minute," replied he. Screwing a magnifying glass in his eye, and taking a small sharp pointed instrument in his hand, he touched a minute button on the inside of the ring and made it the exact size, saying, as he placed it on her finger, "You see these rings are made in this manner for the reason that they are worn by so many different people; it is a great convenience."

The young lady sailed out of the store burning with indignation, and the reason she did not fly was because she didn't have the wings. What did she think? You know, and it is only necessary to state that she did not wear the ring. Another girl has it now, but this time the jeweler was not permitted to touch the button—the young man did it himself.—Jewelers' Circular.

A Deaf Mute Cow.

Alexander Skenkoff, the Russian veterinary surgeon, reports the case of a deaf mute cow. She is 12 years old, of Algava breed, belongs to a Russian nobleman, and has never showed signs of hearing or been known to bellow. Seeing that other cows bellow, she tries to imitate them, stretching out her head and opening her mouth, not, however, producing the least semblance to a sound. Two of her offspring have been curiously malformed. One had its tail directly between the eyes; it lived but a week. The other is a full grown cow of 5 years, with her udder in her flank, about eight inches from her backbone.—London Tit-Bits.

Indian Names.

A station not very far from Pittsburg, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, has the good old English name of Soho. In announcing it there is no opportunity for the brakemen to disguise the word, as he is too apt to do with the names of other places.

As a train neared the town not long ago the word was distinctly shouted, and a passenger was heard to say to the man sharing his seat:

"How many towns in this part of the country have Indian names? Just think of it—Soho, Monongahela and Duquesne, all near together.—Youth's Companion.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Disciples of Christ will be held at Newville, beginning August 26, and ending August 29. The orator of the occasion will be A. I. Hobbs, president of the Christian convention, DesMoines, Iowa. He is a very able speaker and extensively known. There will be other men of broad experience present. A good time is expected. Ample provisions will be made to accommodate all who desire to remain during the meeting.

Your next week's washing will look whiter, will be cleaner and will be done with less labor if

SANTA CLAUS SOAP

is used. The clothes will smell sweeter and will last longer. SANTA CLAUS SOAP is pure, it cleans but does not injure the fabric. It does not roughen or chap the hands.

Millions use it. Do You?

N.K. FAIRBANK & CO., Mfrs. CHICAGO.

SULPHUR BITTERS

Poor
Weak and Weary Mothers
Raise
Puny, Pindling
Children.
Sulphur Bitters
Will make them
Strong, hearty
And healthy.

Send 3 2-cent stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., for best medical work published.

Cannons were first invented in 1330, were used by the Turks at Adrianople in 1453 and were made in England in 1547

Iowa State Fair.

Dear Sir:—While at the State Fair my wife tried your Krause's Headache Capsules, with good results. We have mentioned them to some of our neighbors and they want to give them a trial. They prove to be all that they are recommended. Please find enclosed express order for $1.00, for which send four boxes of Capsules.

C. M. WILSON, Gilbert, Iowa.

Glass mirrors were known in A. D. 23, but the art of making them was lost and not re discovered until 1300, in Venice.

Save Your Eyes.

Don't ruin your eyes, by wearing improper glasses, or those not properly fitted. Get an experienced and skillful man to fit them to your eyes. So wait till C. J. Porter, the Waterloo optician, comes to Auburn. He will be at the Hollister House, the first Tuesday in each month. Don't forget the date.

Watches were first made in Nuremberg in 1447 and were called "Nuremberg animated eggs."

I Am Proud

to say from personal experience that Sulphur Bitters, which advertisement will be seen in another column, is the best spring and blood medicine to be found. It is prepared by an honest firm, who scorn to use cheap and worthless medicines, but use the best that money can buy.

The average Englishman would live twenty years longer in England than in Africa.

Mothers and Daughters.

Over twelve years I was afflicted with a very serious female difficulty, and for the last sixteen months was under treatment of three of the very best physicians that money could employ. Under their skillful treatment I gradually grew worse, until they decided they could render me no permanent help. One of my friends persuaded me to try a bottle of Dullam's Great German Uterine Tonic, and after taking three bottles, can say I am in better health than I have been for twenty years, and am now sixty years old but feel as young as at thirty.—$1 a bottle.

June 2, 1890. Mrs. S. E CARPENTER, Laree, Mich.

For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

The harvester was invented by Cyrus McCormick in 1831, and has been improved by many subsequent inventors.

A Contractor's Advice.

MESSRS. DULLAM BROS.,—Gentlemen:—I take great pleasure in testifying in behalf of Dullam's Great German Blood, Liver, Stomach and Kidney Cure. I can safely say that I never took such medicine as that to cleanse the liver, stomach and kidneys. I was suffering for years with biliousness, indigestion, and loss of appetite and sleep. One bottle did for me more good than six month's other treatment, and I feel it my duty to testify in its behalf, so others may try it and get cured. Yours truly,

WARREN E. RUSSELL, Contractor and builder. Flint, Mich.

For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

The great cathedral in the City of Mexico is the largest in America, and cost to build nearly $2,000,000.

For Twenty Years.

Mr. Geo. Frank, ex-commisioner of Adams Co., Ind., says: I have had a bronchial cough for two years and used all the different cough medicines, and found nothing that has given me so much relief as Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup. I can heartily recommend it to all of those that are affected with a chronic cough, and guarantee that it will give entire satisfaction. Yours,

GEO. FRANK,

Sold by all druggists.

The railway dining-cars in this country earn more than the sleeping and baggage cars together.

Barb Wire Cuts

are without a doubt the most painful and the worst looking cuts or bruises an animal receives. A man is not wise or thoughtful who does not have a bottle of Krause's German Oil. Only 25 cts. and good for man and beast.

After gathering in their crops in Utah, 500 mormon families will move to Mexico in the autumn.

Worth Ten Dollars

to any family, is Dr. Kaufmann's book on deseases; finely illustrated plates from life; don't be humbugged, but cure yourself. Send 3 2-cent stamps for postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy free.

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Recorder's Office

THE AUBURN COURIER.

VOLUME XXII. AUBURN, DE KALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY AUGUST 25, 1892. NUMBER 34.

YOU WANT

Screen doors, window screens, screen wire, spring hinges, refrigerators, gasolene stoves, oil stoves, lawn mowers, ice cream freezers, leather fly nets, cord fly nets, lap dusters, horse sheets, buggy whips, grass scythes, scythe snaths, scythe stones, lawn rakes, wood rakes, horse hay forks, ropes and pulleys, hammocks, hammock ropes, hammock spreaders, hammock hooks,

BICYCLES,

tricycles, velocipedes, Builders's Hardware, paints, oils, brushes,

SEWING MACHINES,

and ANYTHING and EVERYTHING to be found in a first-class

HARDWARE.

You can find all of these at

W. H. KIBLINGER'S,

AUBURN, IND.

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—In Effect May 15 1892.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations—	Mail.	Exp'ss	Fre'gt.
Fort Wayne,....dp	11 50 am	4 40 pm	6 40 am
New Era	12 18 pm	5 15	7 27
Auburn Junc.....	12 28	5 27	7 58
Auburn..........	12 32	5 36	8 32
Waterloo........	12 43	5 41	9 24
Summit..........	12 56	5 53	9 45
Pleasant Lake...	1 05	6 06	10 12
Angola..........	1 14	6 16	10 50
Jackson.........	3 30	8 40	5 00

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations—	Freight	Exp'ses	Mail
Jackson.......dp	6 45 am	11 15 am	6 30 am
Angola	12 25 pm	2 08 pm	8 51
Pleasant Lake...	1 04	2 20	9 01
Summit..........	1 25	2 33	9 11
Waterloo	2 30	2 56	9 24
Auburn..........	3 07	3 07	9 34
Auburn Junc.....	3 38	3 11	9 38
New Era	4 05	3 22	9 50
Fort Wayne	5 25	3 55	10 25

For rates on tickets or freight to all points, call on or address E. T. DeLAPP, Agent at Auburn

TIME TABLE

THE WABASH
LINE

TRAINS CARRYING PASSENGERS LEAVE

GOING EAST.

Atlantic Express...............4:03 am—Daily
Boston Express.................5:41 am—Daily
Detroit Accom'n................2:30 pm—ex Su
New York Limited...............8:04 pm—Daily

GOING WEST.

Pacific Express................1:32 am—Daily
Peru Accommodation.............6:33 am—ex Sun
Mail and Express...............12:38 pm—ex Su
Chicago & St. Louis Lim(53)....5:12 pm—Daily

All these trains stop for passengers.

For rates, Tickets, Time Table, etc., apply to
I. M. ZENT, Agent,
Auburn, Ind.
T. H. SPROTT, City Ticke Agent.
CHAS. M. HAYS, Gen'l Manager.
F. CHANDLER, Gen'l Pass and Ticket Agent.

ONE LIMITED FIRST-CLASS FARE FOR THE ROUND TRIP

HARVEST EXCURSIONS,

Aug. 30th, and Sept. 27th,

The "Wisconsin Central Lines"

Will run low rate Harvest Exc ursio as on above dates, to points in Minnesota, Montana, North and South Dakota. Tickets will be good twenty (20) days from date of sale, with stop-over privileges to points west of St. Paul and Minneapolis.

For full information, address any of the company's representatives, or

JAMES C. POND,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Chicago, Ill.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria

Three factories in the United States consume over 300,000,000 eggs per year in making albumen paper, extensively used in photogrphy.

Strength and Health.

If you are not feeling strong and healthy, try Electric Bitters. If "La-Grippe" has left you weak and weary, use Electric Bitters. This remedy acts directly on liver, stomach and kidneys, gently aiding those organs to perform their functions. If you are afflicted with sick headache, you will find speedy and permanent relief by taking Electric Bitters. One trial will convince you that this is the remedy you need. Large bottles only 50c., at Robbins & McCord's drug store. 6

London will this year, it is said, have an exhibition of fruit from the principal countries serving the London market.

She Committed Suicide.

Mrs. F. C. Boe, at Watkins, left this letter: "My husband—Forgive me if I cause you trouble, but I suffer so. You do not know what these long, wakeful, wretched nights are to me, and I am so tired, darling—the pain will never be better. It is not easy to take my own life, but I have been sick so long. Good bye, my husband, I love you—your wife.' This is but one of thousands that gives up, instead of using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and become speedily cured of their wretchedness. Go to F. E Davenport an elegant book and trial bottle free. 6

The number of rabbits destroyed in New South Wales during the past year is computed at 20,000,000.

The Doctors are Guilty.

Grave mistakes are made by physicians in treating heart disease. The rate of sudden deaths is daily increasing. Hundreds become victims of the ignorance of physicians in the treatment of this disease. One in four persons has a diseased heart. Shortness of breath, palpitation and fluttering, irregular pulse, choking sensation, asthmatic breathing, pain or tenderness in side shoulder or arm, weak or hungry spells are symptoms of reliable remedy Thousands testify to its wonderful cures Books free. Sold by F. E. Davenport. 6

It is said that $65,000,000 is spent in the saloons of Chicago every year.

Next Sunday Morning

at ten o'clock or any day this week, you can buy at any drug store, a bottle of Dr. Marshall,s Lung Syrup for your cough as it is guaranteed to cure and relieve all chronic and acute coughs for less money than any other, as the price is only 25 cents. It enables all to give this great medicine a trial. A fresh s pply at all drug stores.

Frog farming bids fair to become an important industry.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS—HALF RATES

August 30th and Sept. 27th.

The Burlington Route will sell round trip tickets at half rates, good to the cities and farming regions of the West, Northwest and Southwest. Eastern, Ticket Agents will sell through tickets on the same plan. See that hey read over the Burlington Route, the best line from Chicago, Peoria, Quincy and St. Louis. For further information write P. S. EUSTIS, General Passenger Agent Chicago.

AUBURN AND VICINITY.

Some Reminiscences of Its Early Days and Pioneer Citizens.

1864—Continued.

The tower is eighty feet high, of brick, with dome covered with tin and this in the fall of 1864, was surmounted by a flag staff supporting a metallic eagle at an elevation of 115 feet.

Where now is the flag staff and where is the metallic eagle? Though the eagle is not, the front entrance approached west, north and south by a broad cement walk is guarded by two lions recumbent upon small mounds, the gift of a firm dealing with the county.

The bell is a fine one and is placed in the tower at a height of 60 feet. A spiral staircase leads from the second story up to an iron balcony which has been pronounced unsafe and is therefore purely ornamental. There are 16 windows in the first story and 14 in the second.

The first occupants of the new court house late in the fall of 1864 were as follows: In the first room on the left, James B. Morrison, Esq., had established a law office and advertized as a pension agent. In the second was George Barney treasurer, who made the familiar call for payment of orders ten months in arrears, and in the third office was George Kuhlman, auditor.

Opposite the auditor's office was that of the clerk of court, John Ralston, next west was the office of Recorder, S. W. Widney and the sixth office was used by the county commissioners. L Spangler, surveyor and John N. Miller do not appear to have been provided for.

From time to time, improvements have been made in the court room which was found to be deficient in accoustic properties. In 1864, the greater part of the room was seated and constituted a convenient assembly room for county convention and public meetings. The petit jury occupied seats to the left of the bench in which Hon. E. R. Wilson, of Bluffton, presided over the circuit court and Wm. L. Clapp over the court of common pleas, with Lewis Covell, of Ligonier prosecutor.

Three rooms have been taken off the east end of the room for petit jury, consultation, and use of attorneys. The bar occupies a greater part of the remaining space, which is nicely carpetied and filled in with handsome desks used by members of the bar.

To the left of the Bench is a revolving bookcase filled with law reports, then the desk of the sheriff and beyond the orderly and snug desk's quarters. To the right facing south are the elevated jury seats, between which and the bench is the witness chair, oftimes a veritable instrument of inquisition.

There have been in the past apprehensions lest the walls would give way during some cyclonic blast of winds, but no recent grounds for fear have recurred.

The court room with fanciful ceiling and curtailed demensions has little resemblance to the auditory as first constructed, and save in unusual cases the limited seating capacity is amply sufficient for curious or interested spectators.

In the absence for a time of a suitable place for holding political meetings, the old court room was utilized and many reminiscences are associated with the place. The memorable joint discussion between Hon. Robert Lowry, later member of congress for this district and Billy Williams, who got there first, was held here. The room was crowded with followers of each candidate and the telling hits of one and then the other were vigorously applauded by delighted partisans. Prevailing fear of the stability of the building has given occasion for an occasional panic. On one occasion during court, on a sultry spring afternoon, the air became close, the room suddenly darkened and in the ominous silence, a flash of lightning followed by a crash of thunder, instilled that boding sense of awe felt in the presence of a conflict of the elements. Presently a sudden, violent blast of wind struck the building; it seemed to sway and to be about to fall and the consternation for the moment was intense.

Some two or three years since, a similar incident transpired on occasion of a terrific wind and hail storm which shattered hundreds of panes of glass in the town. The spectators were first to fly, followed in turn by attorneys and jury, but no catastrophe occurred.

Many an important and interesting case has been tried in that old court room. Lawyers who have practiced there like Joseph Morlan and Wm. H. Dills have gone before the Supreme Court of all courts, and others have been called to fill high and honorable stations in state and nation.

There were held the "alleged malpractice suits" of Dr. Jared Spooner, of Auburn and Dr. Hoopingarner, of Butler, and there Manstoffel was tried for stabbing Wm. Hume, whose blood drenched the sidewalk as he staggered from his irate assailant.

Poor Manstoffel, his sudden anger and criminal act cost him, years in state prison, from which he quietly returned and settled on a farm some where south of this, and there died. Hume left Auburn, abandoning his family; his wife was for a number of years an inmate of the family of H. C. Shull, her brother-in-law and our popular milkman.

But interesting as these cases and those of Garfield and Kessler were, all pale before the celebrated trial of Abbott for the murder of Houlton, which resulted in sending him to prison for life, and cost DeKalb county over $2000. The fees of attorneys employed in prosecuting and defending the accused reached nearly half the sum given.

The court house was a friend in need to Auburn, close following its completion. It has stood twenty eight years, and it may stand more than as much longer unless the fever for architectural display shall compel the building of a new one on a scale of extravagant outlay similar to the experience of some other counties of Indiana.

Its offices are convenient and with electric lights and natural gas, officials are made comfortable and the public building with its grove-grown lawn is an attractive feature of the town in 1892 as it was in 1864.

(To be continued next week.)

Don't You Know

that you can secure almost immediate relief from Indigestion, and that uncomfortable fullness after meals, by simply taking a dose of Simmons Liver Regulator? Some people think that because it is called Liver Regulator it has nothing to do with Indigestion and the like. It is the inaction of the Liver that causes Indigestion, and that fullness; also Constipation, and those Bilious Headaches. Millions have been made to understand this and have been cured from these troubles by Simmons Liver Regulator—a medicine unfailing and purely vegetable.

From Rev. M. B. Wharton, Baltimore, Md

"It affords me pleasure to add my testimony to the great virtues of Simmons Liver Regulator. I have had experience with it, as occasion demanded, for many years, and regard it as the greatest medicine of the times. So good a medicine deserves universal commendation.

PIONEER WEDDINGS.

(JOHN RALSTON, Clerk.)

1864—Continued.

July 1, Thomas L. Brown to Melinda Lanning; July 3, S. B. Ward.

July 4, Lyman N. Doty to Elizabeth Hartwell; July 4, E. Berry J. P.

July 14, Wm. Noragon to Margaret Hackerty; July 19, C. A. Munn.

July 14, Adam Klemlein to Catherine Mutzfelt; July 17, J. G. Kissell.

July 16, Geo. Hess to Dorothea Freutag; July 19, Fredrick Schuman, Lutheran Pastor.

July 23, Levi Campbell to Sophronia Treesh; July 28, Edward Wright.

July 23, Geo. N. Carson to Clara Folk; July 23, C. A. Munn, minister.

July 28, Manius Buchanan to Emma W. Childs; Aug. 4, James Johnston.

July 30, Wm. Hoffman to Mary Jane Krum; July 31, Edward Barker.

Aug. 3, John B. Hammond to Elizabeth R. Smith; Aug. 14, John McCurdy.

Aug. 15, Andrew Purman to Frederika Gueth; Aug. 15, Rev. J. G. Kissell.

Aug. 17, Lewis Burk to Christena Keefer; Aug. 21, L. D. Britton.

Aug. 20, John S. Holden to Frances Hoover; Aug. 20, B. B. Long, J. P.

Aug. 20, Wm. E. Cochran to Srrah A. Cosper; Sept. 21, N. H. Mathews, J. P.

Aug. 27, Samuel Stafford to Susan Saylor; Sept. 4, G. W. Draggoo, J. P.

Sept. 3, Daniel Myers to Sarah Furgeson; Sept. 3, E. Berry, J. P.

Sept. 7, Hugh Shreves to Caroline Mochamer; Sept. 7, Jas. R. Cosper, J. P.

Sept. 8, Clement C. Rosette to Mary E. Lunceford; Sept. 13, Geo. Wolf.

Sept. 10, Edward Clark to Margaret Bontrager; Sept. 3, G. C. Everts J. P.

Sept. 13, David D. Miser to Eliza Baughman; Sept. 18, S. B. Ward.

Sept. 22, Peter Z. Wirick to Semira Brown; Sept. 22, Joseph Walter, J. P.

Sept. 27, Lewis F. Gishwiller to Ida E. Hill; Oct. 1, Geo. Walker, V. D. M.

Oct. 1, James A. Bounds to Rebecca A. Wood; Oct. 3, Cyrus W. Lynch.

Oct. 1, John Stafford to Catherine Morr; Oct. 6, Joseph Walter.

Oct. 4, David Barr to Catherine A. Kimes; Oct. 6, G. W. Draggoo.

Oct. 8, J. Henry Pullman to Lisette F. J. Schnell; Oct. 17, Rev. Geo. Schwinn.

Oct. 12, Phillip Row to Amanda L. Rorebough; Oct. 16, John Potts, J. P.

Oct. 14, Martin Casselman to Rebecca Strow; Oct. 16, Jeremiah Hemstreet J. P.

Oct. 18, John Platter to Catherine Smith; Oct. 20, James Hadsell evangelist.

Oct. 19, Byron A. Woodcox to Cynthia Rex; Oct. 25, G. W. Woodcox.

Oct. 20, John Wesley Ducher to Mary Ann Boll; Oct. 20, Geo. Wolf.

Oct. 20, David Rigby to Catherine Rigby; (no return.)

Oct. 22, Wm. Hook to Elizabeth Turner; Oct. 23, Wm. Gorrell, J. P.

Oct. 24, Joel E. Hartman to Sarah Gushwa; Oct. 25, Ephraim Berry, J. P.

Oct. 25, Hiram High to Martha A. Miller; Oct. 26, James Maurer, J. P.

Oct. 27, Henry Beere to Lydia Friend; Oct. 27, Charles A. Munn.

Oct. 27, David Clark to Christena Hammond; Oct. 27, Ephraim Berry.

Oct. 29, Christian Brechbill to Elizabeth Brand; Oct. 30, Wm. Dowling, min.

Oct. 30, Oliver H. Widney to Emily F. Maxwell; Nov. 3, S. W. Widney, M. G.

Nov. 4, Oris Danks to Sarah A. Jones; Nov. 6, Edward Wright, minister.

Nov. 4, Geo. Beckley to Martha Hart; Nov. 6, Ad. H. Bittinger, J. P.

Nov. 4, James Brownlee to Elizabeth Milliman; Nov. 6, Ad. H. Bittinger.

Nov. 9, Joseph Battershell to Laurinda Ellis; Nov. 10, C. O. Lawrence.

Nov. 11, Samuel Rude to Rachel J. Dewitt; Nov. 13, Washington Teeters, J. P.

Nov. 11, James F. Johnston to Melissa Murphy; Nov. 13, S. B. Ward.

Nov. 14, John Smith to Emily Rakestraw; Nov. 14, Elder Jonathan Thomas.

Nov. 15, Brace Lemon to Fidelia Crane; Nov. 17, James Carter, J. P.

Nov. 16, Joseph E. Rohm to Mary Ann Dunn; Nov. 17, J. G. Kissell.

Nov. 21, Benjamin Beard to Eliza A. Eagle; Nov. 24, James P. Force.

Nov. 26, Cyrenius Jennings to Julia Ann Mays; Nov. 30, James Cather.

Nov. 28, Enoch Taylor to Elizabeth Rinehart; Dec. 1, James McCurdy, J. P.

Nov. 30, Lucius C. Loveland to Margaret J. Shrull; Dec. 22, J. M. Layman.

Dec. 1, Chas. Luce to Lydia R. Beard; Dec. 1, E. Berry, J. P.

Dec. 1, William Weicht to Margaret Koontz; Dec. 3, James McCurdy.

Dec. 10, Daniel D. Metcalf to Catherine Sibert; Dec. 11, S. B. Ward.

Dec. 13, Levi Nelson to Susan Enzor; Dec. 29, G. C. Everts.

Dec. 14, Wm. L. Balch to Susan Davis; Dec. 22, Geo. Wolf.

Dec. 20, Josiah Hodges to Celia Taft; Dec. 22, James P. Force.

Dec. 20, Frederick Harmes to Rachel S. McBride; Dec. 25, John Potts, J. P.

Dec. 20, Moses Mullenix to Orinda E. Reed; Dec. 22, Geo. Walker, V. D. M.

Dec. 20, John Marcum to Margaret Penick; Dec. 20, C. A. Munn, minister.

Dec. 22, John C. Summers to Jane Fair; Dec. 22, R. D. Robinson, minister gospel of Allen.

Dec. 24, Alson M. Green to Mary C. Wiley; Dec. 25, H. J. Meek, Minister of M. E. church.

Dec. 24, Samuel Haldman to Polly Leminger; Jan. 2, 1865, George Smith.

Dec. 24, John R. Zeigler to Sarah Wysong; Dec. 24, Ephraim Berry.

Dec. 24, Christian Lehner to Elizabeth Getts; Jan. 1, 1865, Rev. W. Waltman.

Dec. 24, Aaron Baker to Armenta Wiseman; Dec. 24, E. Berry.

Dec. 26, Wm. Dunn to Sarah Stroh; Jan. 1, 1865, J. M. Kronmiller, M. G.

Dec. 26, Perry Coburn to Nancy E. Neer; Dec. 28, Cyrus Alton, M. of G.

Dec. 27, John Imhoff to Sarah Finney; Jan. 1, 1865, John McCurdy.

Dec. 30, Wilson S. Dancer to Nora Ann Rowley; Jan. 1, 1865, L. Lemonnier, pastor of St. Vincent.

Dec. 30, John Jenkins to Mary E. Dilley; Jan. 1865, B. F. Hills.

Dec. 31, Isaac Warden Engle to Melissa J. P. Widney; Dec. 31, Henry Hill, min.

(To be Continued.)

Obituary.

Stanley, little son of Horace and Mary Shoemaker, departed this life at the early age of 2 years, 4 months and 16 days. He was an exceedingly bright child for his age, and his departure from our midst has cast a shadow over us, which none can lift but our blessed Redeemer, in whom we put our trust.

The funeral services were held at the Baptist church of this place, and was conducted by Rev. O. E. Eagy, pastor of that church, after which the cold and silent little form was laid to rest in the Evergreen Cemetry.

Another rose has bloomed
Upon the other shore;
Another pearl has left us,
That will return no more.
But in heaven we shall meet him,
And there with him be blest,
And all sorrow shall be over;
For there we shall rest.

Obituary.

Etta Ahlefa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bucner, died Aug. 19, 1892, at the tender age of 3 months and 21 days. She was laid to rest in the Evergreen cemetery, Rev. Meese officiating.

Dearest Leta, thou hast left us,
Thou art numbered with the blest;
Never shall thou know a sorrow,
Sweet and peaceful be thy rest.

Far too sweet, fair and lovely,
For this wicked world, was she;
She has crossed the silver waters,
To dwell with God, eternally.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder.

Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

This Week WE BUY DRY GOODS!

Our buyer will spend the entire week in selecting such a stock as will be SURE TO PLEASE.

New Heavy-weight Clothing, And Ladies' Wraps arriving daily. Nobby styles, fine workmanship and the very BEST MATERIAL!

We guarantee a fit! We solicit your patronage!

Yours Respectfully,

SCHAAB & BRO.

CORNETT PIANOS, STYLE A.

HAVE PERFECT TONE, ACTION, FRAME WORK, AND FINISH

AND MODERATE PRICES.

GUARANTEED 5 YEARS.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR AND PRICES.

The Cornett Piano Co., 525-531 W. 24 St., NEW YORK.

The New Great South American Kidney Cure.

The acknowledged superior cure and immediate relief for all derangements, painfulness and decay of the kidneys or bladder, Bright's disease, diabetes or any complaint that hurts or despoils either of these delicate organs. This new remedy has been thoroughly tested by learned physicians and found far superior to any medicine yet discovered for quickly relieving all weaknesses, aches, pains and distresses arising from disease of any part of the urinary passages. It is a great relief for the old, middle aged and children, male or female. It relieves at once retention and pain in passing water, and it is very effective in relieving prostatic troubles in the old, and for nightly incontinence of water in children, or others, caused by weakness of the bladder. It may be worth to many a hundred times its cost. This is a remedy of great value to ladies, because they are very liable to weakness and pain peculiar to their sex. Sold by Robbins & McCord, druggists, Auburn, Ind. tf

Eucalatyptus, or Australian gum tree, sometimes grows twenty-four feet in three months; bamboo, two feet in twenty-four hours.

A Little Girl's Experience in a Lighthouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trescott are keepers of Gov. Lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich., and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Last April she was taken down with measles, followed with a dreadful cough and turning into a fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but in vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere handful of bones. Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, yet you may get a trial bottle free at Robbins & McCord's drugstore. 6

It is said that only five passengers were Killed on all the railways of Great Britain and Ireland during the whole of last year.

THE GREATEST REFRIGERATOR IMPROVEMENT OF THE AGE.

THE GURNEY PATENT REFRIGERATOR.

No. 2. Front sectional view showing position of removable galvanized ice compartment, mineral wool packing, etc.

THE ONLY CLEANABLE REFRIGERATOR.

The greatest economy of ice. The lowest average temperature.

If your dealer does not sell the "Gurney," send for Catalogue and Prices.

GURNEY REFRIGERATOR CO., Fond du Lac, Wis.

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The only line running through solid Vestibuled Trains between Chicago and Philadelphia via Washington and Baltimore.

Time Card in Effect June 12 1892.

Stations—		WEST-BOUND.
Bellaire	lv	am *7.13	pm *10.13	......	am *9.38	pm *2.58
Zanesville		9.43	am 12.40	am †6.30	pm 12.21	6.11
Newark	ar	10.25	1.23	7.25	1.10	7.07
Columbus	ar	pm 11.35	2.55	8.35	2.50	9.30
Mansfield	lv	12.19	3.13	10.38	3.40	9.54
Deshler		2.50	5.43	10.15	9.20	am 1.10
Defiance		3.32	6.20	11.10	10.45	2.05
Auburn Jc		4.39	7.19	pm 12.25	am 12.54	......
Chicago	ar	9.30	11.56	6.40	9.20	8.30

Stations—		EAST-BOUND.
Chicago	lv	am *10.10	pm *2.55	am †6.05	pm *10.25	pm *6.40
Auburn Jc		......	7.27	pm 12.26	3.31	am 11.51
Defiance		pm 8.32	8.22	1.48	am 4.45	1.05
Deshler		4.10	8.59	2.50	5.43	1.58
Mansfield		6.40	11.37	3.50	9.45	4.44
Newark	ar	8.17	am 1.10	5.50	12.01	pm 6.29
Columbus		9.30	2.55	7.00	2.15	8.35
Zanesville	lv	9.11	2.08	......	1.22	7.22
Bellaire	ar	11.40	4.32	......	4.22	10.31
Wheeling (eastern time)	ar	am 1.15	6.10	......	5.55	pm 12.05
Pittsburg		......	8.50	......	pm 8.50	4.15
Washington D.C		11.51	pm 4.55	......	am 7.40	......
Baltimore		pm 12.50	5.50	......	8.45	......
Philadelphia		3.25	8.13	......	11.10	......
New York		8.00	10.49	......	pm 1.45	......

*Trains run daily. †Daily except Sunday. Sleeping and dining cars on all through trains. For further information call on B. & O. Ticket Agent or address L. S. Allen, As't G. P. Ag't, Chicago. City Office, Auburn, Ind.

WANTED.

$15 A WEEK, ANY LADY, employed or unemployed, can make this for a few hours work each day. Salary or com. $10 samples free. [illegible] & CO., 115 W. 6th St., ST. LOUIS, [illegible]

Auburn Courier.
AUBURN, INDIANA.
JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

1892			AUGUST.			1892
Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
●	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31	●	●	●
●	●	●	●	●	●	●

"HEAR YE! HEAR YE!"

THE WORLD'S NEWS CAN BE FOUND IN THESE COLUMNS.

The Buffalo Switchmen May Have to Surrender—A General Religious Celebration, Sunday, Oct. 9—Damage to Vessels Near Island St. Pierre—Sensational Arrest.

THE BUFFALO STRIKE.

The Switchmen May Have to Surrender.

A Buffalo special, dated the 24th, says: The strike situation can be summed up in one word—waiting. Grand Master Wilkinson, of the trainmen, will be here this evening and Chief Conductor Clark of the conductors, will arrive to-morrow. Sargent, Sweeney and Wilkinson will hold a conference to-night, and to-morrow, when Clark arrives, another conference between the four executives will take place. Chief Arthur of the engineers is not expected to be present. The result of these conferences will decide the action to be taken. The belief is growing that this action will be an abandonment of the strike. The plan it is now said, is to let the strike down easy. The conference will advise peace; Grand Master Sweeney will yield gracefully and the striking switchmen will go back to their places if they can, or will seek work elsewhere. This is admittedly the critical point of the trouble, however. The fireman are reported to be clamoring for a strike, but Sargent says that no matter if they voted unanimously to strike he would not approve it if he did not consider it prudent. And furthermore, however much he may be in favor of going out with the switchmen, the firemen will not do so unless all the other railroad labor organizations go out. The next twenty-four hours will probably tell the tale.

MAY MAKE TROUBLE.

Indicted Miners in Tennessee Will Resist Arrest.

Chattanooga (Tenn.) special: Judge A. Moon of this city, an able and fearless judge, presides over the Circuit Court of Marion County in which is Inman. When the convicts were released by the miners Judge Moon was holding court at the county seat of Marion. When he heard of the release of the prisoners he called the grand jury and charged them that if they would not do their duty in the premises he would discharge them in disgrace and call another jury. He laid the law down so clearly that, notwithstanding three miners were on the jury, indictments were returned against every man who was known to have participated in the riot on the stockade. When the clerk asked whom he should enter as prosecutor Judge Moon promptly responded: "John Moon, judge of the Fifth circuit of Tennessee." The sheriff of the county, who is an ex-miner, declined to serve the warrants, and Judge Moon then ordered a deputy to serve them. The indicted men say they will resist arrest, and it is thought a large force will be necessary to capture them.

A General Religious Celebration, Sunday, October 9.

Archbishop Corrigan has sent a letter to every priest in the arch diocese of New York, calling his attention to the approaching 400th anniversary of the discovery of America and saying, as the civil authorities have requested that there be a general religious celebration on Sunday, October 9, he has asked permission from Rome to change the day set to the date suggested by the civil authorities. Archbishop Corrigan, in the letter, invites the rectors to have the thanksgiving mass celebrated on that day and calls attention to the proposed parade of school children on October 12 and 21. A meeting was held and a committee appointed to confer with the municipal authorities in regard to the parade.

Damage to Vessels Near Island St. Pierre.

St. Johns special: A hurricane is reported at the French Island of St. Pierre. The storm was from a northeasterly direction and played havoc with the vessels at anchor in Roadstead. The French brigantine, Hasparren, was driven on shore but without loss of life. The two schooners, Foerninad, and Van Nest, were driven to sea, and much other damage was done. No lives are reported lost.

Young Woman Drowned.

While Miss Clara Shelby was boating on Eagle lake at Warsaw, Ind., with a gentleman friend, the boat was overturned and both fell into the water. The young man made desperate effort to keep Miss Shelby afloat, but became exhausted and was obliged to release her, and she went to the bottom. Her body has not been recovered.

Receiver Appointed.

James F. Faley of Indianapolis, has been appointed receiver of the order of Iron Hall. His bond has been fixed at $1,000,000.

Fatal Gasoline Explosion.

Miss Nancy Grimpey, a school-teacher of Joliet, Ill., was fatally injured by the explosion of a gasoline stove.

Sensational Arrest.

Harry Brooks, a man of good family and social standing, was arrested at New Haven, Conn., for burglary. He confessed to four burglaries. The thefts aggregate several thousand dollars.

Cholera at Hamburg.

The State department has been advised by the Consulate at Hamburg, Germany, that it has been officially announced that cholera exists at that place.

Big Cloudburst in Pennsylvania.

A big cloudburst late Friday afternoon swept houses from their foundations, tore out macadamized roads six feet deep, destroyed a section of a traction road, and caused general devastation in and around the village of Freedom, about two miles from Rochester, Pa.

Miners Driven Back.

The expected attack on the convicts stockade at Oliver Springs, Tenn., was made Tuesday morning. It resulted in a fight, and the miners were whipped for the first time in the history of the mine troubles in Tennessee. Three men were killed.

SIX MEN KILLED.

A Construction Train Collides with Some Empty Cars Near Warsaw, Ohio.

Near Warsaw, Ohio, a construction train on the Toledo, Walhonding Valley and Ohio Railway, now in process of construction, collided with some empty cars at a gravel pit, killing six men and injuring fifteen. The list of killed is as follows: Frank Gall, an Italian, aged 44 years, head crushed; William Rafferty, aged 50, head crushed; John Barry, of Newburg, Ohio, aged 50, head crushed; Joseph Bycroft, of Burlington, Vt., aged 28, throat torn and body crushed; John Halliger, aged 50, head crushed and disemboweled; John Flynn, aged 25, back broken. The disaster was caused by an open switch which sent the train onto the side track where the empty cars were standing. Ten of the cars were piled in a mass of debris, and beneath this the poor mortals were crushed. It required two hours to extricate some of the dead and injured. A number of Italians employed on the work were attending services at the Catholic Church on that day, otherwise the list of fatalities would be largely increased. The men were in the employ of McArthur Bros., contractors. The camp to which the dead and injured were brought presented the scene of a battlefield. Under one tent the six bodies taken from the wreck lay side by side, and from the adjoining tents the moans of the wounded and dying could be heard. Coroner Miller began an inquest to determine the cause by which the unfortunates came to their death.

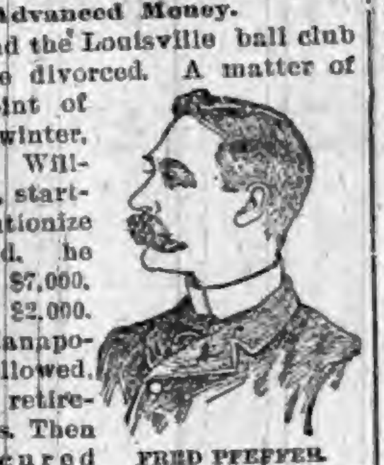
SAYS HE KILLED THE BORDENS.

Charles H. Peckham Confesses that He Committed the Murder.

Charles H. Peckham, of Central Village, Westport, Mass., walked into the Central Police Station at Fall River Thursday morning and said to Assistant Marshal Fleete: "Well, Mr. Marshal, I killed Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Borden, and have come from home to give myself up. I went over the back fence and through the rear door of the Borden house two weeks ago, and I killed both of those people out of pure love for blood. I went out the rear door and over the back fence and walked over the New Bedford Road home. I'm the murderer, and I want to be locked up." The Marshal took him to the cell-room and searched him. He found a pocketbook with a few receipts in it and also unearthed some official communications from the Russian Bureau at Washington. Peckham is 65 years of age, about five feet six inches tall and has a thin gray beard. He says he leases a farm from Edmund Davis. The police have started to hunt up his relatives or friends.

PFEFFER WILL RETIRE.

He Declines to Reimburse Louisville for $2,000 Advanced Money.



FRED PFEFFER.

Fred Pfeffer and the Louisville ball club are about to be divorced. A matter of $2,000 is the point of dispute. Last winter, when "Boomer" Williams, of Chicago, started out to revolutionize the ball world, he offered Pfeffer $7,000, advancing him $2,000. The famous Indianapolis meeting followed, resulting in the retirement of Williams. Then Louisville secured Pfeffer for $4,000, no reference being made to the $2,000 paid by Williams. The League paid Williams and Louisville had to pay the League. Now the Louisville club has notified Pfeffer that he must reimburse it. He refuses and will quit. Taylor will succeed as manager.

GATLING GUNS USED.

Miners Make Three Attempts to Take the Fort at Coal Creek.

Gatling guns were turned on the miners at Coal Creek, Tenn., Thursday. How many were killed and wounded no one knows. The only fact which no one can dispute is that the fiercest battle in the history of the Coal Creek troubles began in the morning and continued during the day. It is stated that Capt. Keller Anderson, in command of the Coal Creek troops, has been captured by the miners, taken to an unknown place and lynched. The battle was commenced as early as 10 o'clock. For several hours firing was not general. About 2 o'clock the miners made an organized assault on the fort and were successfully repulsed. The second assault was easily repulsed. The third attempt resulted in a regular pitched battle and Gatling guns got in their work.

MORSE THE MAN.

Michigan Democrats at the Grand Rapids Convention Name Him for Governor.

Gov. Winans sent a letter to the Michigan Democratic Convention declining to be a candidate for another gubernatorial term, and the following ticket was chosen:

Governor............Allan B. Morse
Lieutenant Governor......James P. Edwards
Treasurer............Frederick Marvin
Secretary of State.........Charles F. Marskey
Auditor General..........James A. Vannier
Attorney General..........Adolphus A. Ellis
Superintendent of Public Instruction
..........Ferris S. Fitch
Commissioner State Land Office
..........George T. Shaffer
Member of State Board of Equalization
..........James A. Burr
Elector-at-large, Eastern District
..........George H. Durand
Elector-at-large, Western District.Peter White

EXTENDING THE STRIKE.

New York Central Employes Strike and Are Joined by Others.

The Buffalo switchmen's strike is spreading to mammoth proportions. At 12:40 o'clock Tuesday morning the New York Central gave notice that the switchmen on its line had struck, and asked for police protection. Close following came the news that the Buffalo, Rochester, and Pittsburg switchmen had also struck. The West Shore men will probably go out, and the Lake Shore employes are expected to follow.

Delos Almost Wiped Out.

The town of Delos, twenty-four miles from Toledo, was almost wiped out by a fire Thursday afternoon. Everything in four blocks was destroyed, including a hotel, Atlas printing office, seven groceries, two saloons, two barber shops, three liveries, drug store, express office, Masonic Hall, seven dwellings, three office buildings, a bakery, two butcher shops, a bank, clothing store, dry goods store, seven stables, hardware store and a photograph gallery. The fire was checked at 9 p. m., by the Toledo and Wauseon departments. The loss is estimated at $200,000, partially insured.

Death of a Duke.

A dispatch from London announces the death of the Duke of Manchester, who, when Viscount Mandeville, spent much time in the social circles of New York. His wife, who survives him, was a Miss Yznaga, of that city.

Crushed in a Rock Slide.

At Canon City, Colo., in the State stone quarry, George Buck, a convict, was caught in a rock slide and crushed to death. Two more convicts were slightly injured, while fifteen others had a miraculous escape.

Algiers in Danger.

The town of Algiers, Ala., is threatened with inundation, the result of a crack in the levee. The crack is about six inches wide and is spreading rapidly. Large gangs are at work trying to stop the crevasse.

Flames Still Raging.

The Hotel de l'Ours and thirty houses at Grindewald, Switzerland, have been destroyed by fire, which is still raging fiercely.

State Tickets Named.

Ohio's People's party has nominated this ticket: Secretary of State, S. C. Thayer; Supreme Court Judges, E. D. Stark, J. D. Payne; Clerk Supreme Court, W. R. Bolles; Board Public Works, James Houser; Electors, John Seitz, A. J. Carpenter. Wisconsin Republican nominees: Governor, John C. Spooner; Lieutenant Governor, John C. Koch; Secretary of State, Robert W. Jackson; State Treasurer, Atley Peterson; Attorney General, James O'Neill; Superintendent Public Instruction, W. H. Chandler; Railroad Commissioner, J. D. Bullock; Insurance Commissioner, James E. Heg.

HOMESTEAD MEN GIVING WAY.

Leaving the Town to Secure Employment Elsewhere.

A Homestead dispatch says: It is evident that many of the non-union men in the mill have come to stay. About sixteen families are now quartered in company houses, and others are prepared to come when the houses are ready. On the other hand a large number of the locked-out men have secured work elsewhere, and are moving away from Homestead. About 15 went to Youngstown yesterday, and others are preparing to move to the new steel mill at Newcastle. Notices were thrown inside the mill fence this morning warning the men at work to quit by to-morrow or take the consequences. Repairs on the new Bessemer mill are progressing favorably, and the company expect to start it on Monday. Two open hearth furnaces will also be charged on that day. The number of men yesterday was 1,804. Thirteen men were discharged and nineteen quit. It is expected to have 2,000 men working by the end of next week.

WILL NOT BRING A TEST SUIT.

Attorney General O'Connor Declines to Act in the Wisconsin Apportionment Matter.

Attorney General O'Connor of Wisconsin has refused to bring suit to test the validity of the last apportionment act in his own name. The ten days which the Supreme Court granted him to consider the matter expired recently. In his reply to the court Mr. O'Connor says the apportionment act cannot be rightfully challenged as to its constitutionality, and that even if he regarded the doubt as to the constitutionality of the law as sufficiently serious to justify an action, there are other important public reasons why action should not be instituted at this time.

BAKER HAS RESIGNED.

H. N. Higinbotham Unanimously Elected to Succeed Him.

William T. Baker's resignation as President of the World's Columbian Exposition Company was presented and unanimously accepted Thursday afternoon by the Board of Directors. H. N. Higinbotham was at once elected President to succeed Mr. Baker, and Ferd W. Peck was promoted from the ranks to the First Vice Presidency, vacated by Mr. Higinbotham. Robert A. Waller remains Second Vice President. No other changes in the executive staff were made.

Murderer Evans Hanged.

Charles Evans, the murderer of Sheriff W. H. Cook, of St. Tammany Parish, was hanged at Covington, Louisiana, in the presence of a crowd of 1,500 people. The crowd became enraged when they found that they were to be excluded, and tearing down the fence rushed into the jail yard, where they stood silent and passive during the execution. Evans shot a man mortally last February because he would not get out of his way in the public road. Sheriff Cook attempted to arrest him for this crime, when he shot Cook, instantly killing him.

Kentucky May Lose Her Vote.

In the general mixing up of things due to the failure of the Kentucky Legislature to pass a number of bills by a constitutional majority there is danger that the electoral vote of Kentucky may be thrown out in the approaching Presidential contest. A number of amendments to the election bill failed to receive a majority vote in the Senate, and if Governor Brown's construction of the constitution is adhered to by the courts, serious trouble may result, since the entire bill may be declared unconstitutional.

Japanese Flock to Mexico.

The Japanese are emigrating to Mexico in large numbers. Several large colonies have been established in the coffee districts of Oaxaca and the rich sugar lands of Sinaloa during the past few months. Toshiro Fujita, the Japanese consul, has arrived at Acapulco with a commission, instructed by the Japanese government to obtain concessions from the Mexican government for lands upon which to locate 200,000 Japanese colonists.

Glanders in London.

To add to the cholera scare glanders has broken out extensively among London horses. The authorities recommend the complete isolation of horses suspected of being infected with the disease and the immediate slaughter of every animal known to be affected. Every horse in the city is being strictly watched. The public drinking troughs have been closed to prevent contagion.

The Maverick Investigation.

In the United States Senate Committee's investigation of the Maverick National Bank failure, one of the principal witnesses was Thomas M. Mitchell, who, though 16 years old, looks about 11. He acknowledged loaning his credit to President Potter and Cashier Work by signing notes for from $9,573 to $18,000. He was paid $5 a week as a messenger boy and declared he did not know what he signed.

Shot by His Stepson.

Dr. John H. Bell, of Wellsville, Ohio, was shot and seriously wounded by his stepson, W. H. Winn. Bell was quarreling with his wife, and Winn interfered. Winn escaped.

MARKET QUOTATIONS.

CHICAGO
CATTLE—Common to Prime	$3.50	@ 5.50
HOGS—Shipping Grades	3.50	@ 6.00
SHEEP—Fair to Choice	4.00	@ 5.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.75	@ .76
CORN—No. 2	.52	@ .53
OATS—No. 2	.32½	@ .33½
RYE—No. 2	.61	@ .63
BUTTER—Choice Creamery	.23	@ .25
EGGS—FRESH	.17	@ .18
POTATOES—New, per bu.	.55	@ .65
INDIANAPOLIS.
CATTLE—Shipping	3.25	@ 5.00
HOGS—Choice Light	3.50	@ 6.00
SHEEP—Common to Prime	3.00	@ 4.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.71	@ .71½
CORN—No. 1 White	.52	@ .52½
OATS—No. 2 White	.35½	@ .36½
ST. LOUIS.
CATTLE	3.00	@ 5.00
HOGS	3.50	@ 5.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.72	@ .73
CORN—No. 2	.47	@ .48
OATS—No. 2	.34½	@ .35½
RYE—No. 2	.59	@ .61
CINCINNATI.
CATTLE	3.00	@ 4.75
HOGS	3.00	@ 6.00
SHEEP	3.00	@ 5.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.74½	@ .75½
CORN—No. 2	.51	@ .52
OATS—No. 2 Mixed	.35½	@ .36½
RYE—No. 2	.66	@ .68
DETROIT.
CATTLE	3.00	@ 4.50
HOGS	3.00	@ 5.75
SHEEP	3.00	@ 4.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.77½	@ .78½
CORN—No. 3 Yellow	.53	@ .54
OATS—No. 2 White	.35½	@ .36½
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—No. 2	.77	@ .79
CORN—No. 2 White	.51	@ .53
OATS—No. 2 White	.33½	@ .34½
RYE	.66	@ .68
BUFFALO.
CATTLE—Common to Prime	3.00	@ 4.50
HOGS—Best Grades	4.00	@ 6.25
WHEAT—No. 1 Hard	.89½	@ .90½
CORN—No. 2	.56	@ .57
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.72½	@ .73½
CORN—No. 3	.50	@ .52
OATS—No. 2 White	.35	@ .36
RYE—No. 1	.67	@ .69
BARLEY—No. 2	.63	@ .64
PORK—Mess	11.25	@11.75
NEW YORK.
CATTLE	3.50	@ 5.50
HOGS	3.00	@ 6.50
SHEEP	3.50	@ 5.25
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.83	@ .84
CORN—No. 2	.63½	@ .64½
OATS—Mixed Western	.39	@ .41
BUTTER—Creamery	.23	@ .24
PORK—New Mess	13.50	@14.00

GETS BACK AT CANADA.

RETALIATION PROCLAIMED BY THE PRESIDENT.

Canal Tolls of 20 Cents a Ton Levied on Canadian Freight—Causes Leading Up to the Declaration—Charge d'Affaires Herbert Was Warned.

Bad for Canucks.

The President has proclaimed retaliation with Canada in accordance with the authority conferred upon him by the "act to enforce reciprocal relations with Canada," passed last July. The proclamation suspends the free navigation of the St. Mary's Falls Canal and imposes a toll of 20 cents a ton upon all freight passing through that canal from Canadian ports. The proclamation of the President is as follows:

By the President of the United States of America. A proclamation:

WHEREAS, By an act of Congress approved July 26, 1892, entitled "An act to enforce reciprocal commercial relations between the United States and Canada and for other purposes," it is provided that, with a view of securing reciprocal advantages for the citizens, ports, and vessels of the United States on and after the first day of August, 1892, whenever and so often as the President shall be satisfied that the passage through any canal or lock connected with the navigation of the St. Lawrence river, the great lakes, or the water-ways connecting the same, of any vessels of the United States or of cargoes or of passengers in transit to any part of the United States is prohibited, or is made difficult or burdensome by the imposition of tolls or otherwise, which, in view of the free passage through the St. Mary's Falls canal now permitted to vessels of all nations, he shall deem to be reciprocally unjust and unreasonable, he shall have the power and it shall be his duty to suspend by proclamation to that effect, for such time and to such extent (including absolute prohibition) as he shall deem right, the right of free passage through the St. Mary's Falls canal so far as it relates to the vessels owned by the subjects of the government so discriminating against the citizens, ports, or vessels of the United States or to any cargoes or passengers in transit to the ports of the government making such discrimination, whether carried in vessels of the United States or of other nations.

In such case and during such suspension tolls shall be levied, collected, and paid as follows, to wit: Upon freight of whatever kind or description, not to exceed $2 per ton; upon passengers, not to exceed $5 each, as shall be from time to time determined by the President.

Provided, That no tolls shall be charged or collected upon freight or passengers carried to and landed at Ogdensburg or any port west of Ogdensburg, and south of a line drawn from the northern boundary of the State of New York, through the St. Lawrence River, the great lakes and their connecting channels to the northern boundary of the State of Minnesota.

SEC. 2. All tolls so charged shall be collected under such regulations as shall be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, who may require the master of each vessel to furnish a sworn statement of the amount and kind of cargoes, to the number of passengers carried, and the destination of the same, and such proof of the actual delivery of such cargo or passenger at some port or place within the limits above named as he shall deem satisfactory, and until such proof is furnished such freight and passengers may be considered to have been landed at some port or place outside of those limits and the amount of tolls which would have accrued if they had been so delivered shall constitute a lien, which may be enforced against the vessel in default wherever and whenever found in the waters of the United States; and,

Whereas, The Government of the Dominion of Canada imposes a toll amounting to about 20 cents per ton on all freight passing through the Welland Canal in transit to a port of the United States and also a further toll on all vessels of the United States and on all passengers on transit to a port of the United States, all of which tolls are without rebate; and,

Whereas, The Government of the Dominion of Canada, in accordance with an order in council of April 4, refunds 18 cents per ton of the 20-cent toll at the Welland Canal on wheat, Indian corn, peas, barley, rye, oats, flaxseed and buckwheat, upon condition that they are originally shipped for and carried to Montreal or some port east of Montreal for export, and that, if transshipped at intermediate points, such transshipment is made within the Dominion of Canada, but allows no such nor any other rebate on said products when shipped to a port of the United States or when carried to Montreal for export if transhipped within the United States; and,

Whereas, The Government of the Dominion of Canada, by said system of rebate and otherwise, discriminates against the citizens of the United States in the use of said Welland Canal, in violation of the provisions of Article 27 of the treaty of Washington, concluded May 8, 1871; and

Whereas, Said Welland Canal is connected with the navigation of the great lakes, and I am satisfied that the passage through it of cargoes in transit to ports of the United States is made difficult and burdensome by said discriminating system of rebate and otherwise, and is reciprocally unjust and unreasonable; now, therefore, I, Benjamin Harrison, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the power to that end conferred upon me by said act of Congress, approved July 26, 1892, do hereby direct that from and after Sept. 1, 1892, until further notice, a toll of 20 cents per ton be levied, collected and paid on all freight of whatever kind or description passing through the St. Mary's Falls canal in transit to any port of the Dominion of Canada, whether carried in vessels of the United States or of other nations, and to that extent I do hereby suspend from and after said date the right of free passage through said St. Mary's Falls canal of any and all cargoes in transit to Canadian ports. In testimony whereof, etc.

By the President: BENJAMIN HARRISON.
JOHN W. FOSTER, Secretary of State.

Accompanying Memoranda.

The memoranda accompanying the proclamation is as follows: At an interview held at the Department of State on Monday, Aug. 1, the Secretary of State informed Mr. Herbert, charge d'affaires of the British legation, that in view of the passage of the act of Congress relating to the Canadian canal tolls the President would regard it his duty to issue, without delay, a proclamation based upon that act, imposing tolls upon products passing through the Sault Ste. Marie or St. Mary's Canal, destined for Canadian ports, unless an assurance could be received from the Canadian government within a few days that the discrimination now enforced in the Canadian canals against American ports and lines of transportation would be promptly discontinued.

Mr. Herbert answered that a few days' delay would be necessary in order to reassemble the Canadian Cabinet, the majority of whom were now absent from the capital; and he inquired of the Secretary what time would be considered reasonable for this purpose. The Secretary replied that he thought the Cabinet might be conveniently called together and take action within a week or ten days, and that nothing would be done by the President in the matter within that time. Mr. Herbert said he would communicate immediately with the Governor General of Canada by telegraph, and urge prompt action.

WORLD'S FAIR DEDICATION.

Programme of the Exercises Approved by the Board of Control.

A final decision has been reached as to the days and dates of the dedicatory exercises of the World's Columbian Exposition to be held in October. It was originally announced by the Exposition authorities to be held Oct. 12, 13, and 14. Owing to pressure brought to bear upon Congress by the representatives of New York, the date for the dedication was changed to Oct. 21. The ceremonies committee at Chicago concluded to fix upon the three days, Oct. 19—21, which would allow visitors to the fair Saturday, Oct. 22, in which to get away from the city. These dates were changed the other day by the Board of Control to Oct. 20, 21, and 22, the change being made in order to accommodate President Harrison, who has notified the committee that he could be in Chicago only two days, those days being Oct. 21 and 22. The dedication will take place Friday, Oct. 21, and Saturday the President will review the military parade.

Secretary Culp of the ceremonies committee was called upon to furnish the revised and completed program for the three days. The report was presented and approved, with the exception of the change of dates as mentioned

On the first day of the exercises, which is Thursday, the principal feature is to be the civic parade. According to Mr. Culp's report at least 70,000 men will be in line in this parade.

There will be nothing going on at the park until the evening, when there will be a grand display of fireworks and also the procession of the century floats. These features of the exercises will be repeated on the following two nights.

The following day, Friday, Oct. 21, will be the great day of the occasion, as it is on this day the actual dedication will take place. There will be a procession of carriages, probably a mile or two long, in which the President and party, ex-Presidents and ex-Vice Presidents, also the Cabinet, Supreme Court, foreign guests, Governors of States and staffs, and officers of the commission and exposition will be conveyed to the park. This distinguished procession, probably the greatest, so far at least as the importance of its members is concerned, that this country has seen, will be escorted to Jackson Park by one of Gen. Miles' crack cavalry regiments.

The following is the programme of exercises, which is to be held in the Manufactures Building under the direction of the Director General:

"Columbian March."
Prayer by Bishop Fowler of California.
Columbian dedicatory ode.
Presentation of the master artists of the Exposition and their completed work by Chief of Construction.
Report of the Director General to the World's Columbian Commission.
Presentation of the buildings by President Harlow N. Higinbotham of the World's Columbian Exposition to President T. W. Palmer of the World's Columbian Commission.
Chorus, "The Heavens Are Telling."
Presentation of buildings to the President of the United States.
March and chorus.
Dedication of the buildings by the President of the United States.
Hallelujah chorus from "The Messiah."
Dedicatory oration by the Hon. W. C. P. Breckinridge.
"Star-Spangled Banner" and "Hail, Columbia," with full chorus and orchestral accompaniment.
Columbian oration by Chauncy M. Depew.
National salute.

All the revenue cutters on the lakes are expected to be ordered to Chicago to engage in this salute and to be used also as a means of transporting to the park the ladies of the Presidential and Vice Presidential parties.

Saturday, Oct. 22, the last day of the exercises, the chief event of the day will be the parade and military review at Jackson Park. The troops for this parade will be drawn from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Missouri, being the cream of the National Guard from these States. There will also be 3,500 men from the regular army in line with the State militia.

It is also intended to have a grand ball Thursday night. This ball will be given in the Manufactures Building.

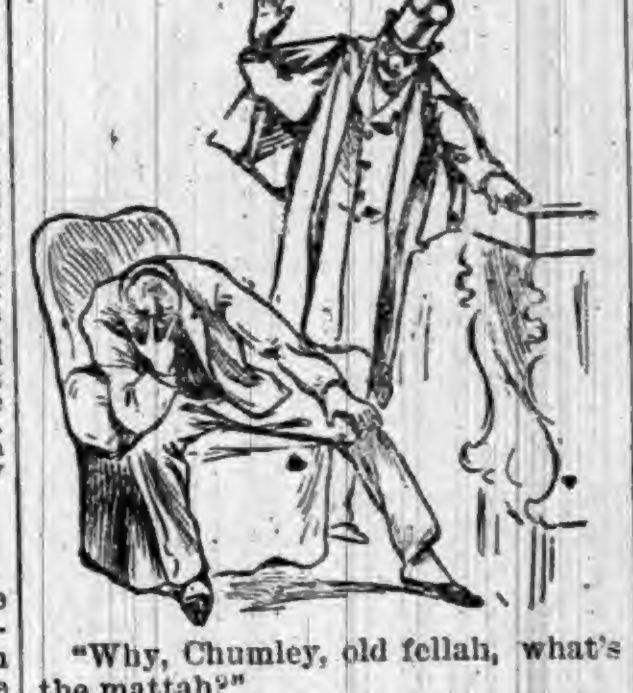
Secretary Culp was authorized to have printed 70,000 complimentary cards of admission, good only Oct. 21. These cards of admission will be given only to those holding invitations to the exercises. He was also authorized to have printed 50,000 invitations of the former style, modifying the date to Oct. 20, 21 and 22. Fifty invitations will be sent to each Congressman.

TEXAS SHERIFF ASSASSINATED

S. A. Brito, of Cameron County, Shot While Riding in a Carriage.

S. A. Brito, Sheriff of Cameron County, Tex., was assassinated Sunday night. He and two deputies had been to a Mexican dance just outside the city, and had taken a carriage to return to Prownsville. After they had started some persons rode up behind the carriage and shot through the leather curtain at the back of the carriage. Two shots were fired. Both struck Brito in the back, killing him. Brito was well known on the frontier as a terror to evil doers, and as such made many enemies among the criminal classes. There is no clue to the murderers. Brito was buried next evening with Masonic honors.

Embarrassing.



"Why, Chumley, old fellah, what's the mattah?"

Chumley—Why, Miss von Boodles broke off with me last week. I pawned the diamond ring, and now she writes for me to come back.—Judge.

World's Fair Notes.

A MODEL of ocean currents is to be exhibited which will possess great practical value.

ILLINOIS will have an exhibit in its State building of specimens of all the indigenous wood of the State.

OVER Michigan's building will float a large American flag, made of Belding silk by the women of Ionia County.

TEN almond trees in full bearing will be transplanted in the Exposition grounds at Chicago from San Joaquin County, California.

THE Miners' Association of Nevada county, California, is arranging to have a small stamp mill in full operation as a part of its mineral display.

IT is the intention of the Colorado managers to distribute to visitors to the Colorado building some souvenir which may be a valued reminder of the State.

A CREOLE kitchen, with native cooks and waiters, and dishes prepared in creole style, will be a striking adjunct to the exhibit which Louisiana will make.

IN the Missouri building will be displayed a huge map of the State 9½ feet wide and 12 feet long, showing the counties, and statistics as to the amount and value of the product of each for 1891.

The Torrid Term.

CORN is supposed to revel in this weather as wildly as a baby in possession of the molasses cup.—Kansas City Journal.

AS THE city man reads in his newspaper how the "growing crops joyfully raise their heads to the smiling sun" he sighs to think he is not a crop; not even a corn-stalk.—Kansas City Star.

YES, it's hot weather, but it's making the corn jump. These nights you can hear the corn grow. If you don't believe it, go into a corn-field and listen for the faint crackle that will be audible all around you.—Toledo Blade.

ONE of the best ways to keep cool is to read cooling things, to imagine "squares of colored ice and cherries served in drifts of snow," or "sand-strewn caverns, cool and deep, where the spent lights quiver and gleam."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

THE weather is keeping pace with the fin de siecle. Thermometers make a rise in many directions to 92 in the shade. Doubtless it will continue to keep tall with the years until the mercury touches par and parboils New York.—New York Recorder.

JUST GLANCE OVER THIS

AND ASCERTAIN ALL THE LATE INDIANA NEWS.

A Catalogue of the Week's Important Occurrences Throughout the State—Fires, Accidents, Crimes, Suicides, Etc.

Minor State Items.

BUYING up the gravel roads is still being strongly talked of in Richmond.

THE heat from the sun is said to have lately hatched five chickens near Muncie.

A 16-YEAR-OLD son of Samuel Leathers, near Mooresville, was accidentally shot.

FRUIT raisers in Southern Indiana are claiming that the peach crop will be very poor.

DANIEL COLLYER of Henryville, was instantly killed by being thrown from a road-cart.

CONRAD BENNER, aged 65, Fort Wayne painter, is dead from a fall of 25 feet from a scaffold.

LOUIS RICKETT, a laborer in the sewers at Logansport, was crushed to death by a fall of earth.

THE old-time tomato (tobacco) worm is said to be trying its best to destroy the tomato crop this year.

THOMAS GREGORY, a stove-molder at Marion, went to sleep on the Big Four track, and was killed.

RICHARD AND JOHN SMITH, living near Logansport, were badly injured in a runaway. Richard may die.

A RICH deposit of silica, suitable for fire clay has been discovered on Sharp Haggerty's farm near Marion.

EVA STOKES, a school-teacher, aged 20, died at Carthage from burns, the result of pouring gasoline in a stove.

A BRAZIL man, after loading a car with beer the other day, was locked up in it and spent the day riding on the railroad.

A C. & I. C. locomotive at Brazil, struck James Roberts in the keg department of the spike-mill, and caused almost fatal injuries.

EVERYTHING that is alive and curious caught in the lake is put in the public fountain at Michigan City. A mud hen is a recent addition.

A PIECE of an emery wheel which burst, at Columbus, was imbedded in Charles Hanson's skull. The man is not expected to recover.

JOHN PALUS of Bourbon, was robbed of $300 after he had sold his wheat, the thief entering the house at night and covering Palus with a revolver.

THEODORE LENTERT of LaPorte, was dragged with his head hanging at the horse's heals in a runaway and died in a few minutes after being rescued.

MEMBERS of the Smallwood family are the latest fortunate Hoosiers to be informed of a $3,900,000 fortune awaiting them in the Bank of England.

PART of Sells Brothers' show was derailed at Fairland, Shelby County, and the farmers at Shelbyville stood on their heels all day vainly waiting for the parade.

THE Indiana Live Stock Insurance Company, of Crawfordsville, has insured the match team of United States Treasurer Nebeker of Washington, D. C. The team is valued at $1,500.

HENRY C. LILLIE, residing east of Muncie, was fatally injured while assisting in loading a calf in a wagon. The animal fell on top of Mr. Lillie, who had his breast-bone broken and several ribs crushed.

WHILE returning from Rushville to Guigo Station, Misses Sallie Bell and Lyda McMillan were badly injured in a runaway. Only by the work of Miss Zella White were they saved from instant death.

ROE SHEPPARD, residing at Huntsville, Randolph County, was thrown from a road cart while driving a Texas pony, and received probably fatal injuries. The left temporal bone sustained a serious fracture.

JUDGE BURSON of Pulaski County, has made permanent the injunction restraining the Sheriff of White County from carrying out Judge Reynolds' orders to remodel the White County Court-house at a cost of $70,000.

OTWAY RUART, who was shot by Marshal Starr of Greencastle, during a midnight melee, a month ago, is though to be approaching death. The marshal is still unable to be at his post from injuries received.

WHILE sawing logs on his farm Daniel Warman, of Clark County, was caught under a log rolling down the side of a hill and probably fatally injured. Two ribs were broken and he also received internal injuries.

AS BENJAMIN ROSENFIELD was painting the inside of a water-tank, at Seymour, the asphaltum being used exploded, enveloping him in flames and burning his head and body in a frightful manner. He is in a critical condition.

COLE ARMSTRONG and two men by the name of Jones and Hayes were killed by lightning near Union City. They were running a traction-engine along the road when a storm came up. Going to a tree for shelter, the tree was struck by lightning killing all three of them. All had families.

J. D. DOOLITTLE of Doolittle's Mills, near Eckerty, discovered a huge boa constrictor in an old barn-loft. He fired the structure, and after the conflagration ribs of the serpent were taken out large as the ribs of a two-hundred pound hog. The snake had caused much terror in the neighborhood by catching cows and horses in the meadows and crunching them to death. It was an escaped serpent from a circus, supposedly.

WHILE Miss Nora Harrod of Sellersburg, was going through a large flour-mill owned by her cousin, James Battorff, her dress was caught by a cog-wheel, drawing her into the gearing. Her cries brought Mr. Battorff to the rescue, but not in time to prevent her right limb from being literally torn to pieces. She was released from her terrible position just in time to prevent her being killed. The leg was amputated.

THE annual reunion of the Seventh Indiana Cavalry will be held at Valparaiso, Sept. 7 and 8. The veterans of this regiment may expect a good time, as the Valparaiso citizens will make ample preparations for their reception and entertainment.

WHILE Mrs. Dora Brunt was walking in her door-yard, nine miles north of Elwood, she fell dead. About ten days before she was bitten by a pet squirrel, and her death is supposed to have been caused from the bite, although she was perfectly well at the time death came. She was the wife of a prominent farmer and stock man.

JOAB YOUNG, about 70 years old, and one of the wealthiest farmers of Ripley County, living three miles west of Osgood, was found dead in the road between Osgood and Versailes, with his neck broken. He was on the way to visit a sick brother at the latter place. It is supposed that he fell from his vehicle during an attack of cardiac weakness.

WILL TROUB, a lad 14 years old, residing north of South Bend, was drowned in St. Joseph River. A sister who tried to save him would have drowned also, but for the arrival in boats of two men who were fishing near by. The mother dreamed the night before that her son was drowning in the river and that she could not help him.

A COMPLETE SET OF THE WORKS OF
CHARLES DICKENS
FREE!
The Most Valuable and Remarkable Premium Ever Offered Free with any Periodical.
A MARVEL IN BOOK-MAKING.
A Set of the Works of Charles Dickens, IN 12 LARGE VOLUMES, FREE.

There has just been published A Set of the Works of Charles Dickens, in Large and Handsome Volumes, printed from entirely new plates, with new type. By special arrangement with the publishers we are enabled to offer to our patrons this splendid set of Dickens' Works, postpaid, free. Charles Dickens was the greatest novelist who ever lived. No author before or since his time has won the fame that he achieved, and his works are even more popular to-day than during his lifetime. They abound in wit, humor, pathos, masterly delineation of character, vivid descriptions of places and incidents, thrilling and skillfully wrought plots. Each book is intensely interesting. No home should be without a set of these great and remarkable works. Not to have read them is to be far behind the age in which we live. The twelve volumes in this set contain the following world-famous works, each one of which is published complete, unchanged and absolutely unabridged:

DAVID COPPERFIELD,
MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT,
NICHOLAS NICKLEBY,
DOMBEY AND SON,
BLEAK HOUSE,
LITTLE DORRIT,
OUR MUTUAL FRIEND,
PICKWICK PAPERS,
BARNABY RUDGE AND CHRISTMAS STORIES,
OLIVER TWIST AND GREAT EXPECTATIONS,
THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP AND THE UNCOMMERCIAL TRAVELER,
A TALE OF TWO CITIES, HARD TIMES, AND THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD.

THE PLAN.

We will send a complete set of these books FREE, by mail, postage paid, guaranteeing safe delivery, as follows: To any old subscriber, who sends one dollar, and renews their subscription to either of the following publications for one year:

THE PEOPLE'S LITERARY COMPANION,
—OR—
The National Farmer and Home Magazine

To any new subscriber, who sends one dollar for either of the above periodicals for one year.

This is the grandest offer ever made, and the greatest bargain ever offered. Up to this time the price of a complete set of Dickens' Works has been ten dollars or more. The use of modern, improved printing, folding and stitching machinery, the present extremely low price of white paper, and the great competition in the book trade are the factors which made this wonderful offer possible. Bear in mind that we offer, not a single volume, but the entire set of twelve volumes all free to subscribers. All may now afford the luxury of owning a handsome set of Dickens' works. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Do not neglect or put off this wonderful opportunity. Send at once; you will be delighted with the charming books, and, as long as you live, never cease to regard it as the best investment of a dollar you ever made. Address all communications to

E. C. ALLEN & CO., Augusta, Maine.

IF YOU CAN READ

and write, and are possessed of fair intelligence, you are fully qualified to make a grand success of what we offer you. We have lately published at great expense and labor a perfect wonder in the way of an illustrated Gift Book, suitable to all classes, an ornament to any home, and at a price that brings it within the reach of all; even those of moderate means. Heretofore only those who indulged in luxuries have felt that they could afford a book of this class, as they are sold in book stores at $5.00 and upwards. The book which we offer is not in any way inferior to those above referred to, but is far superior to hundreds of books of this nature that are sold at prices exceeding ours by an enormous per cent. It is selling with a rush wherever shown. Agents have only to show the book and mention the price, and it sells on its merits without further talking. No better Christmas, New Year's or Birthday present can be selected. It will sell, not only for holiday trade, but at all seasons of the year, for the reason that all will want it in their homes, and will have it as soon as they know the low price at which our agents can furnish them. Reader, if you need profitable employment, and a business in which you can and will take pride, as well as make money rapidly, do not fail to send for circulars containing private terms to agents and full information, which will be sent FREE upon application. Old and new agents alike are making handsome salaries—yes, fortunes. Many of those who are making the best records are now at the agency business, having had no previous experience. Make a start—the field is entirely new. No such terms have been offered agents as we now offer on this wonderful book. Special qualifications not necessary, for it sells everywhere at sight. Perhaps you have at some time been unsuccessful at the agency business. If so, there is every reason why you should try this, the PRINCE of gift books, as failure is impossible if you make A START. Write us to-day, study our circulars and directions, then order an outfit and go to work with push and energy. You may make the greatest mistake of your life, if you allow this GOLDEN opportunity to pass unimproved.
E. C. Allen & Co., Box 202, Augusta, Maine.

SHALL WE START YOU

in a pleasant and successful business, that will bring you money rapidly and honorably? A grand opportunity for one person in each locality, young or old, of either sex, wherever you live. Reader, it is a royal chance for you, and such a one as may never again come to your attention in a lifetime. Beginners easily secure an income of $30 to $50 per week from the very start, and much more as the business becomes established. YOU can earn as much as any one. There is not the slightest risk on your part. No capital required. We start you FREE, and furnish everything needed to carry on the business successfully. Hundreds just starting report wonderful success and great profits. Will you write us, and take advantage of this grand offer, or will you delay and allow others to profit by it. We leave it for you to decide, but we tell you frankly that you will lose the golden opportunity of your life if you fail to test the business now. Act quickly and your reward is sure. Address E. C. ALLEN & CO., Box 204, AUGUSTA, MAINE.

The Old Reliable
DR. WARD
OFFICE, ST. LOUIS, MO. Special attention given to all diseases or troubles in male or female, married or single, brought about by exposure, abuses, excesses or improprieties.
THE OLD DOCTOR, Of 38 years' successful experience; may be consulted by mail, or at the office, free of charge.
Reliable, Skillful Treatment Guaranteed.
Board and apartments furnished to those who desire personal care. Send P. O. stamp for circulars, etc.
FREE TRIAL {In Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality, Weakness and Decay, sent free for 12 cts. postage. Address letters
Dr. Ward Office, 117 N. 8th Street, St. Louis, Mo.

ANY LADY can get a valuable secret that cost me $5.00, and a rubber shield for 30 cents.
Mrs. V. M. APP. CO.,
115 N. 8th STREET, ST. LOUIS, MO.

HER SISTER'S HONOR.

A Tale of English Life.

By Walter Besant.

CHAPTER II.—Continued.

"When people have got no money they must keep themselves. The Dean came to see us this morning. You know there was no one respected father more than the Dean. He says that we we must be brave and make the best of things."

"Yes—but, my child, I cannot bear to think of your having to work. These pretty hands should do nothing but play with pretty things."

"As for Naomi," said the owner of the pretty hands, "she is so clever with her needle that she is quite sure to get a good place somewhere. She says that she could not take a situation in the town to be reminded all day long how we have come down. So she will go to London, and I must go with her. Then I shall be near you, Harry; and perhaps—perhaps——"

"Perhaps what, dear?"

"Perhaps, before long, you will be able to take me away for good, and then I will work at nothing harder than to please you, dear."

"Dear Ruth, I ask for nothing better. There could be nothing better. But——"

"You have not told your people about me? Why not tell them and have done. They can but refuse to call upon me, I suppose."

"You don't understand, dear child. They are ambitious. They want to get into society, you see, and they expect me to help them. Well, we are rich enough, I suppose, and we've got a big house in Palace Gardens, but my grandfather kept a shop. We are only in trade as it is, although we have our offices and our clerks instead of our counter and our shopmen. See now, Ruth, my father will give me a partnership when I am five and twenty. That is in six months; then I shall be independent. Let us get along, somehow, till then. I cannot have my darling ordered about by some scoundrel shopwalker, or working her fingers to the bone."

The girl shook her head.

"Naomi would not hear of such a thing," she said, "unless it was properly understood and was acknowledged. No, Harry, I must be independent of you until——"

"If I can afford to maintain you dear, why not?"

"No, not even if I have to go lower down the ladder, Harry. Can't you see that it is impossible? I can wait for you. And I don't suppose that I shall drag you down with me, shall I?"

She said this with a laugh, but like many light words they were prophetic. She was, although she knew it not, to drag him lower—lower; her hand was to be upon his head pushing him down, down, down.

"Let us go home," she said. "Alas, Naomi is going through the things. They all belong to the creditors—even the old books on the shelves—even the swing in the garden—all except our own clothes; even the seat under the mulberry tree. In a day or two we shall go out of the old home—we two together. What will become of us? What shall we do?"

"You are not without friends," said the young man; "you have me."

The wind freshened and the rain beat upon their faces.

"I am full of terrors," said the girl. "It seems as if something dreadful would happen to me."

"You have me to protect you, Ruth."

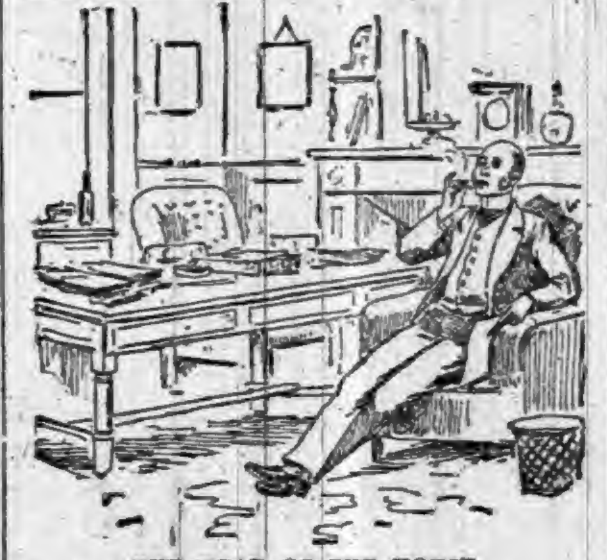
Her lover's words were brave, but somehow they lacked that subtle quality which insures confidence.

"Yes, Harry, I have you, and you have your own people as well; and they are not likely to welcome the daughter of the county bookseller. Let me go home."

CHAPTER III.

THE CITY MERCHANT.

The chief—the sole partner—the head of the house—sat in his private office.



THE HEAD OF THE HOUSE.

No study or smoking room of any counting house was more comfortably furnished than this private office. A pile of letters unanswered lay upon the great table beside the blotting pad; a shallow basket contained the letters which he had written or signed; there were bundles of papers tied up and indorsed. On either side of the fireplace was a long, low chair; on a small table in the window stood the luncheon tray. The chief had taken his chop and pint of claret, and was now sitting in one of these low chairs, his feet stretched out before him in complete physical ease. In the rooms without he knew that his managers, heads of departments, and clerks were all diligently at work for him. It makes a man comfortable only to think that people are at work for him. Most of us, when we are not ourselves at work have got the feeling of unprofitable service. Not so Mr. John Stoke, of Threadneedle street, city. He knew that his people were working for him to what is called a pretty tune. As he rolled his cigar between his lips that tune melodiously rung in his ears. The same tune rings out every day for all the great city merchants. It was first set as a carillon by Dick Whittington in the tower of St. Michael's, Paternoster Royal, for the solace and delectation of all rich merchants for all time, and to turn away their thoughts from the parable of Dives. The words of the tune can only be heard by rich men, but I have been told that they are something as follows: "Merchant, take thine ease while the treasure grows, wise is he who reaps what another sows." I believe there is more to the same effect. Mr. John Stoke was now a man of 55 or so. The kind of face and the expression upon it are not uncommon in the city—they belong to a certain type of city men—and those who have it are generally successful. It is a masterful face. If any of Mr. John Stoke's servants fail in their duty they know better than to ask for mercy from such a face. Nelson himself did not reckon more confidently than Mr. John Stoke on every man doing his duty. He was not exactly popular with his servants, because he bought his labor as he bought his goods—at the cheapest rate—and because he exacted from labor, as from goods, the utmost profit. The law of political economy, which makes a man buy in the cheapest market, when applied to labor, does not, somehow, lead to a contented and happy service. It is a law, when applied, which only allows people to be happy when it is broken. A good many laws, moral, political and doctrinal, possess the same characteristic. Nobody likes being bought at the cheapest; we all want a fancy price to be put upon our work, especially if we have grown gray in the service. Now Mr. John Stoke allowed no allusions on this subject in his office, and had no respect for gray hairs or for length of service, or for anything in the world except his own interests.

He lay back in his chair and watched the wreaths of smoke, listening to that pleasant tune—the parable of Dives quite forgotten. Presently he began to think. Mr. John Stoke was one of those persons who are gifted with the power of thought. Out of politeness we pretend that everybody has this power. Not so; otherwise the majority of mankind would not be as sheep running whithersoever they are driven, and bleating at their leader's command. But let me continue to be polite. This man had a little coup in his mind, a trifle that would probably bring him in twenty thousand or so, and he was turning it over so as to get at the best points of handling it. The warmth and comfort of fireside, lunch, and cigar send some men into mental sleep. To this man they only gave the opportunity of uninterrupted thought.

Presently the door opened and a young man stood in the doorway—a tall and handsome young man—you have already seen him in the walk by the river side.

"Come in, Harry, come in," said the chief, pleasantly; "shut the door and come in."

"You said you should want to speak to me about half-past two."

"Yes, I did. Well, my boy, I thought that we might have a few words, perhaps two or three, just to understand each other. Sit down. Take a cigar? No? Well, you are five-and-twenty today, are you not?"

"It is my birthday." The young man looked anxious, yet expectant of some pleasing announcement. One can only be five-and-twenty once in life. Besides, things had been promised.

"Yes," his father continued, looking critically at the ash of his cigar. "Yes, yes, five-and-twenty. I was a partner before that age—before we sank the shop and became an office."

"There was the shop, though, to begin with," said the son.

"Undoubtedly; and a very good shop, too. We mustn't forget the shop. Not likely it will be forgotten. People talk about it when they go home from my dinner parties; when they have had a fortnight among my birds, with champagne up to the eyes every night, they snigger over the shop in the train going home; when they have been on a cruise in my yacht, with everything of the very best—oh, yes, the more you do for 'em the better they remember it; the more they sneer and snigger. Our friends, dear boy, will not readily forget the shop. It is their only consolation when they consider the prosperity of the firm. If it wasn't for feeling how green they get with envy I'd never have any old friends in the place at all."

"I don't see why we should want to forget it, father."

"No, there is no absolute necessity for forgetting anything. However, we are now, Harry, pretty high up the tree. I don't think there can be many men in the city likely to cut up better than your father. Very good, then." He looked at his son for a whole minute as if seeking for the best way to go on. "Very good, then," he repeated, "I've always promised and always intended to take you into partnership at five-and-twenty, and now, Harry, I have sent for you to say that I am willing to carry out that intention, and to give you a birthday present worth having."

"Oh," said Harry, with a great sigh.

"On conditions, of course. Hang it, do you suppose that I am going to admit any one, even my own sons, into my house—the house I have made—to share my income, except on my own terms?"

"Well, sir," said Harry, "I always supposed you would have your own way in everything, whether I am to be a partner or not."

"You are right, my boy. My own way I mean to have. Yet these are not my conditions. Now sit there, and don't answer a single word till I've done. You've had your fling, Harry; that you can't deny. You've lived in your own chambers, and you've had a good allowance, and nobody ever asked any nasty ones what you did with your money. Very well, then, now that's all over. A partner in my house has got to take his place—his own place, mind—in society." The young man turned pale. "I've been offered a baronetcy. Well, I won't have it; I mean to be made a peer. Do you hear that? I shall be Lord Thingamy, and you shall be the Honorable Harry. Very well, then"—he marked his sentences with short pulls at his cigar—"that's understood. Next thing, how is that peerage to be advanced and made take a respectable place? Money? not enough! Land? that isn't enough! Politics? I'm too old and you are too stupid. Your brother Joe—the Honorable Joe he will be, may take up politics in the family interest; not you. By marriage, my boy"—the young man again changed color, but this time he became crimson—"if you want to get any good out of your rank you must marry into the same blood as that into which your children will be born. By marriage, Harry. That's my condition. As to my having my own way, of course I shall have my own way. I should like to see anybody in this house wanting to have any way that wasn't mine. You will have to marry to please me. Do that, and you shall have whatever you like—you shall be a partner to begin with; you shall have no work to do; you shall have fashion, land, and rank."

"MY OWN WAY I MEAN TO HAVE."

Harry made no reply. His color had now gone back to pallor, and his hand trembled.

"Those are my condition," said his father. "Have you anything to say?"

His son opened his mouth but no sound came forth.

"Perhaps I can help you, Harry." His father threw his head back and watched the blue-white wreath curling over his face. "I am sure I can help you. There is that little girl you have been fooling around for six months."

"What about her?"

"I know all about her. She's a girl in an Oxford street fancy shop; her sister is employed at a Regent street dressmaker's. They are respectable girls, which makes it the more dangerous."

"I've given my—my word to that girl," said Harry, but with an apprehensive glance at his masterful father.

"I don't care what you have given her. You've got to get rid of her."

"I must keep my word." The son got up and stood before his father with dogged face.

When two obstinate faces gaze upon each other, one or the other has got to give in; everybody knows that.

"I said, Harry, that you've got to get rid of her. As for your word, or any other mess you may have got into, you must get out of it the best way you can. I suppose money will do it."

"I must marry her; I will marry her!" But there was a weakening in his face as his father's look became more obstinate.

"Well, sir," said the older, "I am not going at my time to give in to anybody. My money's my own, I suppose, to do what I like with. Now, sir, here is my offer—a partnership, a great future, an estate, a peerage, the foundation of a family—that is what I offer you, on certain conditions. If you refuse you can go straight out of this office and never come back again. You shall have no money—not a brass cent. There's your choice; take it. I'll give you an hour to make up your mind—no, I won't! I'll give you half-an-hour—no, I won't give you even a quarter of an hour. Damn it all, sir, I'll give you five minutes—five minutes to choose. Now!"

He took out his watch, one of those great gold things which you can buy for a hundred and twenty pounds or thereabouts, and held it in his hand. Harry stood before him, the obstinacy gone clean out of his face, pale and trembling.

"Well, sir?" His father put back his watch.

"I accept the conditions," said the son.

CHAPTER IV.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

Sunday afternoon is the time when all the 'prentice youth of London, male and female, are walking out together. If it is summer they are in the park, that of Battersea, Finchley, Hampstead, Victoria, West Ham, or Southwark, proudly arm-in-arm. If it is the winter they are on their way "out to tea." This afternoon should have been numbered with those of the sweet spring season, because it was nearly the end of April, but a cold northeast wind and occasional driving showers forbade the thought of spring. On the north side of the Pall Mall a girl walked up and down the pavement.

She had called at a certain house, and, being turned away, continued as if waiting for some one, and resolved to see that person, to walk up and down before the house. She began about three in the afternoon; at four, at five, at six, she was still walking there. Nobody noticed her—not even the hall porters of the Carlton and the Reform Clubs opposite. The evening was so cold that people hurried along the street without looking at each other. Besides, Pall Mall is not a crowded Sunday thoroughfare. Therefore no one noticed the girl. She was a fair, light-haired girl; her features were regular and delicate; her eyes were blue, her figure rather thin, but tall and graceful. If anyone had stopped to look at her instead of hurrying along as if lashed with a whip by this abominable wind, he would have remarked first—generally, that here was an extremely pretty girl, and secondly, that here was a girl in trouble. Indeed, if anxiety were ever depicted upon any face, it was upon this girl's face; an anxiety which showed itself in a trembling of the lips, in quick, short sighs as she walked, in eager glances along the street as if she were asking when—when would he come?

It was at seven o'clock, just as the sun was setting and the lessening light like a messenger proclaimed the fact from its hidden lord, that he did come. He hurried into Pall Mall from St. James street, and walked rapidly along, looking down: a young man.

"I accept," he had replied shortly. Mark that this man, who seemed to the girl so noble and so brave, had become suddenly at the touch of his father's hand the merest cur and coward of a man; he had promised a thing which wanted, to carry it through, the falsest, the coldest, the cruelest of hearts. Fear of poverty and dread of his father's anger were the ruling forces which transformed a lover, manly, true and tender, into a cur. The thing makes one tremble. Under what influences, brother of mine, should we two put off the armor of the knight and reveal the craven tail of the mongrel cur?

"Come," he said, "I was going to write to you; but there would have been a row afterward. Better have it out in words."

"Harry—what is it? What has happened? Why do you look so strange?"

"Come up stairs," he led the way. His chambers were on the first floor. He raked up the low ashes of his fire and threw on some coal.

"Sit down," he said "you must be cold."

She waited for him to take her in his arms and kiss her, as was his wont. He offered no caress at all. She sat down, however, and warmed her hands and feet. She was very cold. Then she started up again.

"Something has happened, Harry. What is it? Tell me instantly."

It was growing dark now. The young man lit the lamp and pulled the curtains slowly, as if taking as much time as possible over the job.

"It is a fortnight since I have heard of you or seen you. What does it mean? And, Harry, I must tell you——"

"Don't tell me anything. Look here, Ruth, it's all over."

"All over? How can it be all over?"

"I say—it is all over."

"Do you mean that after all you will have to acknowledge me without your father's permission?"

"Not quite; I mean what I say, Ruth. It is all over."

"Harry!" She sprang to her feet, tired no longe, nor cold, but fired with a sudden strength. "Harry, what do you mean?"

"We had a very pleasant time in the August holidays, hadn't we, Ruth? I shall always look back to that time in the old town when we used to sit and make love in the garden under the mulberry tree. Yes—I shall never have such a time again. But that's all over. Pity that good times never last——"

"I don't understand you to-day, Harry. Why can't you look me in the face? What have you done?"

"When I came back to town I found out that it wouldn't do. I couldn't exactly explain to you why it wouldn't do. Besides, to tell the truth, I hoped it wouldn't do. I might have been made a partner without conditions or—or anything may happen. The truth is, of course, as I suppose you guess," he raised his eyes and faced her boldy, "that they want me to marry a lady."

She received this brutality without flinching.

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT.

He Has the Opportunity to Be of Great Value to the County Schools.

The County Superintendent has the opportunity to be of great value to the schools of his county. Whether he is or not depends upon himself. He must put himself in the place of his teachers and people and lead them on from where they are now. There are superintendents who have high ideals of what the schools should be, but do not know exactly what the schools are. They build their plans upon supposed conditions that have no existence. They therefore irritate the people and teachers, and the people and teachers irritate them. They wish to realize results immediately. They are willing to labor, but are not willing to wait. They change the appearance of things in the counties very soon, but this change is not always growth. They are noble men and women, devoting themselves to their teachers and schools, but they make the mistake that teachers often make with pupils when they crowd them on through processes that the pupils do not understand, and because the child memorizes the process they think he follows the reasoning. If the teachers and the people have low ideas of schools; these are the starting points to begin to elevate them; start from where they are.

There is another class of superintendents who are always lagging behind. The teachers of the county have to pull them on. The real educational leaders are the better teachers of the county; and what educational progress there is is stimulated by them. They are as far in the rear as the others are in advance. The trouble with this class is that they generally hold office a long time. The people are very much like them—satisfied with the old ways. The most valuable superintendent is he who sees clearly the next step to take and then puts his foot down, firmly but good-naturedly, and does not take it up until the time comes for another step forward. Such a superintendent will also remain in office a long time.

One of the lines of progress which the County Superintendent is free to follow is the improvement of the institute. He can have his own way, largely, there. Where the funds are abundant three weeks may be spent in the subjects, and one week, the last, in an institute, which all the teachers of the county should be expected to attend. One or more institute workers, not employed in the school, might be brought in to help conduct the institute, the purpose of which should be inspiration and guidance toward better ideals of the purpose and methods of school teaching. The institute ought to be a powerful factor in helping the teachers to decide between real, genuine reforms in theory or in practice, and those alleged reforms that spring up and carry the teachers off their feet, but have no depth of earth. When a test comes they fail. It is the business of the institute to stimulate the professional spirit, and set teachers to studying their work in the wider relations that it bears to society. The institute should add a sense of dignity and worthiness to teaching which the petty detail of the school room is too apt to take from it.—G. P. B., in Public School Journal.

Educational Gossip.

Ann Arbor high school graduated ninety-one pupils this year.

President Tuttle, of Wabash College, has retired from service, after holding office thirty years.

The Board of Education of St. Paul has decided to continue the teaching of German in all the grades.

In St. Paul, Minn., the salaries of the women teachers in the public schools are equal with that of the men.

The bill before the late Texas Legislature providing for State uniformity in text books failed to become a law.

Harvard University has honored T. R. Kochler and Prof. E. R. Morse of Boston with the degree of Master of Arts.

During the last thirteen years 147 public school buildings have been erected in Montgomery County, Pa. These now number 480.

Queen Margherite has bestowed her patronage upon a girls' college which Prof. Ruggero Bonghi has lately succeeded in establishing near Rome.

The State Normal School at Ellensburg, Wash., graduated its first class in June, consisting of eight young women and three young men. The exercises awakened a great deal of interest.

There were 689 graduates from the Michigan University this year, this being the largest number ever graduated from an American college. This includes all the departments of the University.

The new technical schools attached to the University College, Nottingham, England, have received the sum of $5,000 from the master and wardens of the Drapers' Company of London, to be spent in their equipment when completed.

The University of Ohio has conferred the degree of Doctor of Philosophy upon Mrs. A. E. W. Robertson of Muscogee, I. T., in recognition of her scholarly attainments. She translated the New Testament from the original Greek into the Creek language.

The gifts to Yale College this year amount to about $600,000. Mrs. Washburn of Guilford gave $25,000 for the Divinity School, and Mrs. Oliver S. Winchester $100,000 for the new building of the Scientific School. Mrs. Osborne's splendid building is the pride of the College.

There is a wise rule at Rugby forbidding the boys to wear party emblems of any kind. The head master does not consider it desirable either that the evil of partisan bitterness should be introduced into school life or that English schoolboys should be converted into pocket editions of British politicians, demolishing "that fellow Balfour" or "old Gladstone" in the intervals of Latin grammar and Greek roots.

The examining board of the Treasury Department at Washington, D. C., have voted unanimously to grant a gold medal to Miss Bertie O. Burr, of Arkansas, for rescuing two young ladies from drowning in the Blue River, near Crete, Neb., last summer. Miss Burr was the only swimmer in the party of six, but plunged boldy in, and rescued the drowning girls. She had learned to swim at Laselle Female Seminary at Auburndale, Mass., and it is through Prof. Bragdon of that seminary that the matter has been brought before the Treasury officials. This circumstance is likely to give a stimulus to the subject of athletics at girls' colleges.

He Was Cleared.

The Deacon was hauled before the committee on the charge of using a short peck measure in his "huckstering" trips.

"Brethren," he admitted, "it air a little short."

A thrill of horror ran through the assembly and bumped up against the rear wall of the little whitewashed meeting-house.

"But," continued the Deacon, "I allers heaps it up till there is quite a peck, and if people thinks that they're gittin' a peck-an-a-half o' p'taters fer the price of a peck, it ain't none of my business, is it?"

Verdict for the defendant.—Indianapolis Journal.

NEVER MELTS. FREEZES. GUMS.
CONTAINS NO PETROLEUM OR ACIDS TO DESTROY AXLES.
AXLE GREASE WISE CHICAGO. ILL.
WISE AXLE GREASE NEVER GUMS.
Tested by the public for 20 years.
"WISE" AXLE GREASE.
A PURE VEGETABLE GREASE.
EVERY BOX GUARANTEED.
Try "Wise" on one side of your wagon and castor oil or any other kind of grease on the other side, and you will find the "Wise" will wear the longest.
It keeps machinery from rusting and cures scratches on horses.
Try a box and you will use no other.
Ask Your Dealer For It, Or
CLARK & WISE CO., CHICAGO.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
CURE
Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing
SICK
Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured
HEAD
Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head
ACHE
Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.
Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., New York.
SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE

EXCELLENT COFFEE
THE exquisite taste and flavor of Vienna Coffee can only be obtained by using two parts of Coffee to one part of
EMIL SEELIG'S KAFFEE
This is the best, cheapest and most healthful coffee mixture.
A DELICIOUS
BEVERAGE
TRY IT!
Ask Your Grocer for It.
SAMPLE BY MAIL FREE.
Address, Sole Agents for U. S.
ROSENSTEIN BROS.
317 and 319 Greenwich Street,
NEW YORK.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.
Beauty, Health and Grace Combined—
What More can Woman Desire.
Volta-Medico Spinal Appliance,
COMBINED WITH AN
ABDOMINAL AND HOSE SUPPORTER.
They are electrical as well as medicated and are recommended for all Female Weaknesses, General and Nervous Debility, Liver and Kidney Troubles, Headaches, Malaria, Rheumatism, Spinal Diseases, Heart Diseases, Cold Extremities, all Bilious Disorders, Impoverished Blood, Impaired Circulation—in fact all Diseases of the Blood, Stomach or Liver, or where there is a lack of vigor and failing health.
They are not only comforting and strengthening to the wearer, but bring about beauty of form. Shapeless figures made symmetrical in form in from three to six months. Appliances guaranteed. Send stamp for circulars and full information. Address,
VOLTA-MEDICO APPLIANCE CO.,
[illegible]5 N. 8th St., ST. LOUIS, MO

FREE-TO MEN.
When you get tired of the "doctors" with their big prices and quack remedies, write to me and I will send (sealed) FREE a prescription that will quickly and certainly cure lost power, wasting weakness, lack of development, impotency, varicocele, etc., from excesses or other causes. A New Positive Remedy which cures when everything else fails. Address
J. D. HOUSE, Box 625, ALBION, MICH.

ROYAL
SEWING MACHINE
WARRANTED
5 YEARS
Has a Large High Arm.
Has a Self-setting Needle.
Has a Self-threading Shuttle.
Has No Equal in Construction.
Has a Mechanical Appearance.
Has an Elegant Finish.
Has a Perfect Adjustment.
Has a Positive Take-up.
Has Stylish Furniture.
Has More Good Sewing Qualities and does a Larger Range of General Work than any Sewing Machine in the World.
Examine THE ROYAL for points of excellence, and you will buy no other.
ROYAL S. M. CO., Rockford, Ill.

CANTER'S MAGIC —CHICKEN—
CHOLERA CURE!
Thousands of dollars worth of chickens are destroyed by Cholera every year. It is more fatal to them than all other diseases combined. But the discovery of a liquid remedy that positively destroys the Microbes has been made. Half of the young chickens are killed by Microbes before they are fryers. A 50-cent bottle is enough for 100 chickens. It is guaranteed. If, after using two thirds of a bottle, you are not satisfied with it as a cure for Cholera, return it to the druggist from whom you purchased it, and he will refund your money.
For Sale by ROBBINS & McCORD,
Druggists, Auburn, Ind.

TO WEAK MEN
Suffering from the effects of youthful errors, early decay, wasting weakness, lost manhood, etc., I will send a valuable treatise (sealed) containing full particulars for home cure, FREE of charge. A splendid medical work; should be read by every man who is nervous and debilitated. Address
Prof. F. C. FOWLER, Moodus, Conn.

WILLIAMS'
LINIMENT.
THE GREAT CURE FOR SPAVIN
AND ALL KINDS OF LAMENESS.
THE ONE STANDARD
REMEDY FOR THE HORSE
$150 FOR $1 INVESTED.
I used all known remedies for spavin and failed till Williams' Liniment came, and with it I effected a cure, and added $150 to the value of the mare. Since then I have recommended the Liniment repeatedly, and have heard nothing of it but praise. It is now three years, and I am still driving the mare, and she has shown no signs of spavin or lameness since.
A. G. SMALLEY, Boston.
EVERY STABLE NEEDS IT.
FOR SALE By all leading dealers and wholesalers—Take no other.
$1.00 A BOTTLE, 6 BOTTLES FOR $5.00
Or send $10 for one doz., Express paid anywhere in the U. S.
J. ALLEN RICE, Proprietor.
LABORATORY—MILFORD, MASS.
SEND FOR CIRCULAR.

LOVELY COMPLEXION
BEAUTIFUL FORM.
Blemishes, such as Freckles, Moth Patches, Liver Spots, Blotches, Tan, Pimples, Black Heads, Roughness, or any discoloration removed, rendering the skin soft, velvety & beautiful.
The form developed — made PLUMP AND BEAUTIFUL.
Send six cents in stamps and get descriptive circulars and testimonials in a sealed envelope.
H. BENJAMIN & CO.
115 N. 8th Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

CANCER and other Malignant Diseases CURED without the use of knife. Consultation Free. Call or write—
DR. RUSH
Office, 600 Pine St. ST. LOUIS, MO.

BB CORSET WAIST
PERFECTION of Fit, Style, Comfort, Material AND Durability.
SEND $1.25 FOR SAMPLE BY MAIL PREPAID
CORSETS MUST GO!
This is the verdict of all progressive women.
Our waists are healthful and delightful to wear; they support the hose and underwear from the shoulders, and are a happy combination of ease and style.
BENJAMIN BROS.
NEWARK, N. J.

For a 240-lb. FAMILY SCALE
ONLY $4.
This is less than the cost to manufacture by any other concern. All scales are finely finished with Vermillion and Gold. Steel Bearings, Brass Beam, and packed in single boxes; also a
600-lb. Platform Scale on Rollers for $15.
1,000-lb. PLATFORM SCALES ON ROLLERS, Capacity from ½ lb. to 1,000 lbs., size 17x26, ONLY $18.
Also 5-ton WAGON SCALES for $50.
Every Farmer can afford a Scale now they can be had at so low a price. Save money and buy the best. All our Scales are U. S. Standard and fully Warranted.
Buy the best and save money. Send for free Lithographed Circular.
E. F. RHODES CO., GRANGER, IND.

None Such
CONDENSED
Mince Meat
Makes an every-day convenience of an old-time luxury. Pure and wholesome. Prepared with scrupulous care. Highest award at all Pure Food Expositions. Each package makes two large pies. Avoid imitations—and insist on having the NONE SUCH brand.
MERRELL & SOULE, Syracuse, N. Y.

FREE FOR 30 DAYS 30 DAYS
In order to introduce our CRAYON PORTRAITS and make new customers, we have decided to make this Special Offer: Send us a Cabinet Picture, Photograph, Tintype, Ambrotype or Daguerreotype of yourself or any member of your family, living or dead, and we will make you a Crayon Portrait Free of Charge, provided you exhibit it to your friends as a sample of our work, and use your influence in securing us future orders. Place name and address on back of picture and it will be returned in perfect order. We make any change in picture you wish, not interfering with likeness. Refer to any Bank in Chicago. Address all mail to ECLIPSE PORTRAIT CO., 110 East Randolph St., CHICAGO, Ill.
(P. S.—We will forfeit $100 to any one sending us photo and not receiving crayon picture FREE as per this offer. THIS OFFER IS STRICTLY BONA FIDE.)

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN
NERVINE TONIC
—AND—
Stomach AND Liver Cure
The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.
The Great South American Nervine Tonic
Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incalculable value who is affected by disease of the stomach, because the experience and testimony of many go to prove that this is the ONE and ONLY ONE great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic.
HARRIET E. HALL, of Waynetown, Ind., says: "I owe my life to the Great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted stomach, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration, and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors, with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."
MRS. ELLA A. BRATTON, of New Ross, Indiana, says: "I cannot express how much I owe to the Nervine Tonic. My system was completely shattered, appetite gone, was coughing and spitting up blood; am sure I was in the first stages of consumption, an inheritance handed down through several generations. I began taking the Nervine Tonic, and continued its use for about six months, and am entirely cured. It is the grandest remedy for nerves, stomach and lungs I have ever seen."
No remedy compares with SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE as a cure for the Nerves. No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a wondrous cure for the Stomach. No remedy will at all compare with South American Nervine as a cure for all forms of failing health. It never fails to cure Indigestion and Dyspepsia. It never fails to cure Chorea or St. Vitus' Dance. Its powers to build up the whole system are wonderful in the extreme. It cures the old, the young, and the middle aged. It is a great friend to the aged and infirm. Do not neglect to use this precious boon; if you do, you may neglect the only remedy which will restore you to health. South American Nervine is perfectly safe, and very pleasant to the taste. Delicate ladies, do not fail to use this great cure, because it will put the bloom of freshness and beauty upon your lips and in your cheeks, and quickly drive away your disabilities and weaknesses.
Price, Large 18 ounce Bottles, $1.25; Trial Size, 15 Cents.
EVERY BOTTLE WARRANTED.
If not kept by Druggists order direct from
Dr. E. DETCHON, Crawfordsville, Ind.
For Sale by ROBBINS & McCORD, Auburn, Ind.

Now Is The Time To Buy

WALL PAPER

CHEAP.

We will sell at Cost all PATTERNS IN STOCK from now on till September 1, to make room for our large

FALL STOCK

2 JOHNS 2

AT THE FAIR.

G. W. McKAY, MANAGER.

Fine line of Shirts, Pants, ladies and gentlemen's underwear, at

THE FAIR.

J. C. HENRY, Prop'r,

Notice of Hearing of Ditch Petition.

In the matter of the petition of Henry Kline in Concord township, notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed with the Auditor of DeKalb county, state of Indiana, and viewers have been appointed who have viewed and reported said view, which is on file in my office. The hearing of said petition upon its merits will be on Tuesday, the 6th day of September, 1892, the same being the second day of the September term, 1892, of Commissioners' court.

The prayer of said petition is that a ditch be constructed on the following route to-wit:

Beginning at the center of section nineteen (19) township thirty-three (33) north, range fourteen (14) east, DeKalb county, Indiana, and from thence as follows:

No.	Course.	Distance.
1	south 25 degrees west	200 feet
2	south 32 degrees west	500 feet
3	south 20 degrees west	100 feet
4	south 8 degrees west	400 feet
5	south 18 degrees east	200 feet
6	south 39 degrees 45 min east	160 feet
7	south 46 degrees east	240 feet
8	east	210 feet
9	north 78 degrees east	200 feet
10	north 71 degrees east	280 feet
11	east	60 feet
12	north 74 degrees east	160 feet
13	south 78 degrees east	280 feet
14	south 82 degrees 15 min east	740 feet
15	south 12 degrees west	680 feet
16	south 80 degrees west	30 feet
17	south	490 feet
18	south 24 degrees 30 min east	780 feet
19	south 39 degrees east	100 feet
20	south 60 degrees east	140 feet
21	south 43 degrees east	180 feet
22	south 64 degrees east	400 feet
23	south 30 degrees 30 min east	310 feet
24	south 76 degrees east	180 feet
25	east	970 feet
26	south	200 feet
27	south 12 degrees west	138 feet
28	south 15 degrees east	312 feet
29	south 2 degrees west	350 feet
30	south 20 degrees east	130 feet
31	east	170 feet
32	south 20 degrees west	400 feet
33	on curve to right	300 feet
34	south 63 degrees west	500 feet
35	south 54 degrees west	200 feet
36	south 76 degrees west	160 feet
37	south	210 feet
38	south 62 degrees east	530 feet
39	south 10 degrees east	300 feet
40	south 15 degrees west	620 feet

Ending 420 feet east of the southeast corner of section 30, Concord township DeKalb county, Indiana.

This proposed work will affect the lands of the following persons:

William L. Nelson, Samuel M. High, Theodore Kline, Henry Kline, Elias Kline and Theodore Kline, Solomon Shilling, Samuel S. Shutt, William Shutt, heirs, viz: Mrs. Wm. Shutt, Laura Shutt, Eva Elson, Alda Brent, Jennie Shutt and Jay Shutt. Samuel Wasson heirs, viz: Sarah Stover, Elizabeth Cheney, Louis R. Wasson, David Wasson, Benjamin Wasson, Ann Ricketts, Nancy Kennedy, Jane Hull, Matilda Sheldon and Milton Wasson, DeKalb county.

H. N. COFFINBERRY,
Auditor DeKalb County.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, of the state of Indiana, administrator, of the estate of Anson Hall, deceased, late of said county. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

JOHN L. WILDESON, Administrator.
July 30, 1892.

Notice to Non-Residents.

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DEKALB COUNTY, } ss.

In the DeKalb circuit court, October term, 1892, William H. Hubbell, Orson J. Hubbell, Harris B. Hubbell, Corintha C. Hubbell, Inez Herendeen and Harriet F. Spencer are hereby notified that an action has been commenced against them in said court by William H. Leas, administrator with the will annexed of the estate of Lydia M. Hubbell, deceased, to sell real estate belonging to the estate of said decedent, to make assets for the payment of debts, legacies, and liabilities of said estate, and that the same will be heard and determined on the 8th juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3d, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 18th day of August, 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk.
W. H. LEAS, Att'y.

Notice of Sale of Personal Property.

Notice is hereby given, that I, John L. Wildeson administrator of the estate of Anson Hall, deceased, will offer at public auction, to the highest bidder, on Friday, September 9th, 1892.

at the late residence of said deceased in Butler Township, DeKalb county, Indiana, about one mile south of St. Johns, the following described personal property, belonging to the estate of said decedent, to-wit:

Two head of work horses, two two-horse wagons, one buggy, one pair of bobsleds, one Esterly binder, one Fremont corn plow, one spring-tooth hay rake, one Buckeye mower, lot of carpenter tools, household goods and furniture, hay in mow, about 350 bushels in granary, corn in crib, oats in the granary, clove seed and numerous other articles.

TERMS OF SALE: For all amounts not exceeding five dollars, cash in hand. For amounts of five dollars and upwards, a credit of twelve months will be given. Note, bearing six per cent interest after maturity, with approved security, and waiving valuation and appraisement laws will be required.

JOHN L. WILDESON, Administrator.
Aug. 17, 1892. E. D. Hartman Att'y.

The Mountains of Colorado.

Denver, Estes Park, Colorado Springs, Manitou and Glenwood Springs, may be reached from Chicago or St. Louis via the Burlington Route fast vestibuled express trains, handsomely equipped with every modern improvement. Write P. S. Eustis, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, for particulars.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

GET THE BEST!

EXCEL IN QUALITY, BEAUTY, TONE AND FINISH.

THE CROWN PIANOS & ORGANS GEO. P. BENT MANUFACTURER CHICAGO.

FOR SALE ON EASY TERMS BY

WES. H. HUSSELMAN,

Waterloo, - - - Ind.

The Celebrated Diamond

SPECTACLES!

Clear! Brilliant and Lasting!!

HAVE NO EQUAL.

A complete line of Spectacles, Eyeglasses, Smoked glasses, Goggles, etc., at prices Lower than ever offered to the public before, for these goods

A FIT GUARANTEED.

Remember the place at

THE PHYSICIAN'S DRUG STORE,

Opp. Swineford House.

JAPANESE PILE CURE

A new and Complete Treatment, consisting of Suppositories, Ointment in Capsules, also in Box and Pills; a Positive Cure for External, Internal, Blind or Bleeding, Itching, Chronic, Recent or Hereditary Piles. This Remedy has never been known to fail. $1 per box, 6 for $5; sent by mail. Why suffer from this terrible disease when a written guarantee is positively given with 6 boxes, to refund the money if not cured. Send stamp for free sample. Guarantee issued by F. E. DAVENPORT.

WANTED, FOR THE UNITED STATES ARMY, able-bodied unmarried men between the ages of 21 and 30 years. Good pay, rations, clothing, and medical attendance. Applicants must be prepared to furnish satisfactory evidence as to age, character and habits. Apply at 4th floor, Bass Block, Calhoun street, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

McElree's Wine of Cardui

and THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT are for sale by the following merchants in

DeKalb Co.:

Robbins & McCord,	Auburn,
F. E. Davenport,	"
J. D. Campbell,	Waterloo,
Willis & Co.,	"
Geo. Kehrer,	Butler,
S. G. Stone,	"
O. P. Raber,	Corunna,
W. M. Mercer,	"
J. M. Lefern,	Garrett,
Patterson Bros.,	St. Joe,
J. W. Wyatt,	Concord.

Annual Excursion to Northern Michigan.

Via the G. R. & I., Thursday, September 8th. Only $5.00 for the round trip. Tickets good ten (10) days. Plenty of coaches.

Special train leaves LaOtto, at 3:15 p. m.
" " " Avila, at 3:28 p. m.
" " " Kendallville 3:41 p. m.

Last opportunity to visit the beautiful resorts of Northern Michigan.

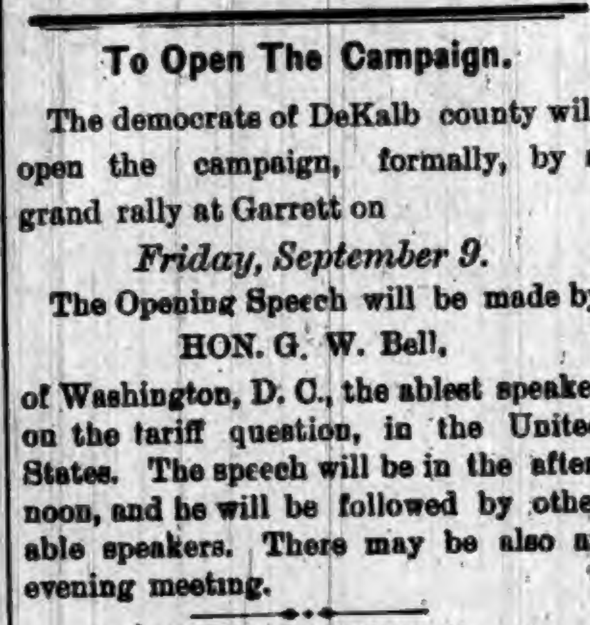
THE AUBURN COURIER

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY.

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY........AUGUST 25, 1892.



To Open The Campaign.

The democrats of DeKalb county will open the campaign, formally, by a grand rally at Garrett on Friday, September 9.

The Opening Speech will be made by

HON. G. W. Bell,

of Washington, D. C., the ablest speaker on the tariff question, in the United States. The speech will be in the afternoon, and he will be followed by other able speakers. There may be also an evening meeting.

Will Speak at Garrett.

Hon. D. D. Moody goes to Garrett, Saturday, where he will address the democratic club that evening. The meeting however, is open to all, and we hope to see a good turnout from here and elsewhere. Marion Franks, our candidate for the legislature, will be present.

BEFORE the campaign is over the republicans will be worrying as much over Senator Hill's activity as they now profess to be over his inactivity.

THE Dispatch complainingly says that the state taxes will be about three millions for the entire state, greater than last year. As this is what the Dispatch has been asking for, for two years, we don't see why it should complain.

THE republican national committee lost a great opportunity when it failed to buy in the mammoth Anderson (Indiana) tin-plate works, were sold out by the sheriff the other day on a judgment of $218.30. This establishment employed four men, three boys and eight girls.

WARDEN FRENCH of the prison north of Michigan City, reports the number of convicts, July 31, at 790, a decrease of 11 since the last quarterly report. The earnings for the quarter are $28,949.14; the expenses are $21,941.52, leaving net earnings over expenses for three months $7,007.62, or at the rate of $24,000 a year over and above expenses. Mr. French is an editor and a democrat, which accounts for his good management.

THE Butler Record says we have sold abroad $200,000,000 of goods, more than we bought during last year, and adds, "We are richer by that amount than we were a year ago." From this we infer the Record thinks that this $200,000,000 of products did not cost us a penny, as he says it is all profit. Possibly it was wheat, grown by the McKinley bill, or a mine of tin, that was generated in the earth by the same benign influence.

MCKINLEY admits, about every other speech, that the consumer pays the tariff tax. But his weak followers about here, still insist the poor foreigner pays it Now if the foreigner pays the tax, why did John Wanamaker compel the government to pay back to him over a million that had been collected of him on several big lots of goods at a rate higher than allowed by law? If the foreigner paid that million, what right had he to take and force it back from the government? What right had he to take it back from anyone if he himself had never paid it? We pause for the reply that will never come.

THE Butler Record, just as we expected, sets itself to work to prove the average tariff rate under the McKinley bill is quite low, And to do this violates the same principle in arithmetic it did two years ago. To obtain the rate per cent in any case, we must divide the percentage by the base; in this case, divide the amount received in duties by the amount of dutiable goods imported. But the Record divides the amount of duties received by the amount of dutiable goods imported, plus the amount of non-dutiable goods imported. Anyone but a republican editor can see the error of this sort of arithmetic. It would have been easy for the Record to run his McKinley average way below 20, by adding to his divisor the total amount of free goods imported into Great Britain. We still insist the present tariff average is higher than before.

THE Indianapolis Journal is publishing a list of its citizens whose taxes are higher now than under the old law. But under the old law they had managed to have their property assessed at a ridiculously low figure, and thus leave the poor people to pay the bulk of the taxes. Now their property is assessed nearly as high as that of poor people, and hence they squeal. We have been told of a great banking house in that city that used to give in about $10,000 to the assessor, but now they have to give in about $600,000. And "their taxes are higher." That is the way the new tax law raises taxes. Right here in Auburn we have numerous examples of the same sort. If a lot woth $4,000 is assessed at $250 under the old law, and at $3,000 under the new law, we would ask which is right? Will republicans advocate a change that will reduce the assessment of that lot from $3,000 down to $250 again? Or what do they propose to do?

Mrs. S. B. Johnston.

After many months of suffering, Mrs. S. B. Johnston passed peacefully away on Friday last week.

Katherine E. Shull was born in Wayne county, Ohio, Sept. 13, 1841. Her girlhood school days were for the most part passed at Fredricksburg, Ohio. On the 25th day of March 1858 she became the wife of Silas B. Johnston, a young dentist of her native state. Their early married life was spent in Ohio, a part of the time was somewhat lonely, for Mrs. J., for when the war broke out the young Doctor went to the front to defend his country, leaving the young wife and mother to carry the burdens of home life single handed. After the war Dr. Johnston and family lived in Ohio, until 1867, when they moved to Waterloo. In 1885, they came to Auburn, where the family was unbroken until the death of Mrs. Johnston on Friday morning, Aug. 19, 1892, at 9 o'clock. She was the happy mother of two children, Dr. M. W. Johnston, of Garrett, Ind, and Mrs. Charles Pierson, of Chicago, who with the husband of her young womanhood, together with a large circle of relatives and friends mourn her departure.

The funeral services were held at the home she so much loved, on Sabbath morning, Aug. 21, 1892, at 10:30.

For many years she had been a sufferer from the terrible ravages of disease, and on Jan. 19, of this year, she was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital, of Chicago, where she underwent a painful operation. After several weeks she was able to return home, where for many months she was a constant sufferer.

Some of the characteristics spoken of by her pastor at the funeral, were:

1st. Piety. While, during these last few years, she was deprived of much active church work, she lived a life of constant prayer.

2nd. Self forgetfulness. She was always thoughtful of others first,—herself last Even while she suffered so much, her friends have been the recipients of many kindnesses from her hands.

3rd. Contentment with her lot.

4th. Devotion to friends and appreciation of them.

5th. Patience in suffering. This was beautifully illustrated in her last sickness.

6th. Sunny disposition. Wherever this noble woman has gone, she has won a deep and lasting friendship.

She sleeps amid the flowers of Evergreen cemetery.

'Tis the Harvest Time.

At this time of the year, if at any time, comes the glad songs of praise and rejoicings, in true recognition of the recent harvest, gathered from the vast fields which were but lately richly ladened with golden grain, that restlessly swayed and surged like the heaving waves on the bosom of a fathomless sea, whose blue waters were kissed by the warm breath of a southern wind. Truly, when the fruit of ceaseless hours of steady toil is gathered in, threshed, and safely deposited in the vaulted recesses of the granary bins, it is then, that the rugged tillers of the soil seem inspired with a feeling of thankfulness, and that happiness finds valued expression in their dealings with mankind, and the benefits wooed to themselves. Though this year seemed burdened at the beginning, with inclemencies and powerful drawbacks, that, apparently swallowed up all the potent hopes for a profitable reward for labor, yet with all these unpleasant surroundings, people have in a measure settled the question within themselves, that the only proper thing to do is to lay aside all faultfinding with God's arrangement of things, and rejoice in the happy possession of what they have. With the hum of busy machinery engaged in culling the grain from the chaff, comes a marketing of the products thus gleaned from the broad acres of our land. Contentment is one of the sweetest elements of a natural existence. And when an individual can be as well contented with half a crop as with a whole one, he at once has all things common, and drinks the honeyed nectar from the golden urn of sweet serenity. The poor crops and bad weather evidently have placed many persons, who were depending on an abundant crop for a profitable sustenance, in cramped circumstances. But with all that, people are building new dwellings, barns and other buildings, just the same as if nothing had happened, and A. Lewis & Co. have sold over $2,000. worth of lumber this month, which is a plain evidence that people recognize a good thing and accordingly act upon their convictions. Mr. Lewis will put you on to the best advantages in building material of any man in the county. Office and yard near L. S. & M. S. depot, Auburn, Ind.

A Home Wedding.

A very pleasant as well as quiet wedding took place at the home of Mrs. John T. Husselman, of Fairfield Center, Ind., August 4, 1892 at 8 o'clock. The contracting parties were Willard H. Trumbell, of Corunna, to Miss Flora A. Husselman, daughter of Mrs. J. T. Husselman. Only the immediate friends of the families were present to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Mr. Walker, of Fairfield. The bride was elegantly attired in cream cashmere with lace, ribbon and flowers as decoration. The groom becomingly attired in black. The presents were numerous and costly and also very useful. The wedding march was played by Prof. W. E. Husselman, of Logansport, brother of the bride. An elegant supper was served and an enjoyable evening passed. The bride is well known in social circles, also an artist in the millinery business which she has carried on in Corunna for some three years. The groom is an employe in the Lake Shore depot in Corunna and is an honest and industrious young man. The young couple have the best wishes of a host of friends for their future happiness and welfare.

AT BEDTIME I TAKE A PLEASANT HERB DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1.00 per package. Buy one to-day. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary.

Mr. Hoffelder Talks Business.

SUMMIT, IND., Aug., 18, 1892.

MR. J. A. BARNS,

Dear Sir:—Please publish the following in your next week's issue:

The Dispatch of August 11, 1892 made an attack on myself and Commissioner Henderson, and headed the article with great big letters, as if we had commited a crime: "A Wooden Bridge Contract; Comrs. Hoffelder and Henderson let a Contract for a Wooden Bridge, Against the Protests of Commissioner Lockwood." Then in his imagination he says he was the first man to advise the building of iron bridges. A great man he is, indeed! The Auditor's report shows an average annual expense of $11,429 for roads and bridges from 1880 to 1890, the lowest year being $4,271 in 1887, and the highest $16,886.30 in 1891. Then the Dispatch says the contract for the Probst bridge was let to G. W. Werntz for $1,100. This bridge is to be 120 feet long, as shown in the contract, not 110 as the Dispatch has it. Then he says the cost of this bridge, if made of iron, with stone abutments, would be about $2,800. Here Mr. Campbell is way off. A stone abutment for the Probst bridge 16½ feet high with 18-foot front, and 18-foot wings would make a wall 54 feet in length and all engineers calculate, it would take a base of 5½ feet wide, or one-third of its height, with a width on top of 2½ feet, or 4 feet in center; that is, an average thickness of 4 feet. Now multiply together these dimensions, 6½, 4, and 54 and the result is 3,564, being that many cubic feet. Now divide this by 27, and we have 132 cubic yards, in the stone abutment. Our contract price per cubic yard is $9.50, which multiplied by the 132 gives a cost for the one pier of $1,254. This is for one pier and for two piers it would be twice as much or $2,508 for the stone abutments alone. Now add $300 for the excavation and $1,690 for the bridge itself and we have a total cost of $4,498. Now take from this the $1,100 we pay for the combination bridge, and it will be seen we have saved $3,398 by letting the contract as we did. The interest on this money, so saved to the taxpayers, at 6 per cent would be $203 88 each year. And this interest would build a $1,100 bridge every 5⅓ years. But the bridge we have contracted for will last at least 10 years, so that the interest alone on the money we have saved in the difference of price between the bridge we took and the bridge the Dispatch and Mr. Lockwood wanted us to take, will, during the life of this bridge, build three new ones at other points. This is at simple interest. But at compound interest, which the county would be entitled to reckon at, we could build a new bridge out of the interest much oftener, say, a bridge in a little over three years. And a bridge like the one Mr. Werntz is to build, a combination of iron and oak timber will cost no more for repairs than an iron one. Iron bridges must be painted at least every three years, and the combination not at all. Then the Dispatch says that before these contracts were let, Mr. Lockwood addressed 100 circulars to as many representative citizens without respect to party, as follows:

"Dear Sir:—We find it an indispensable necessity to build five new bridges in the county, and while I am only one of the many that have the debt to pay, and feel that I am your servant, I wish your advice as to whether they should be built of iron or wood, etc."

The Dispatch adds, "Only 70 replied to the letter, but the uniform opinion of every one of them was that the bridges should be built of iron. These letters were laid before the commissioners."

Yes, that is so. But the number of answers did not exceed thirty, and how could we know but the 70 who did not answer, were opposed to iron? There are over 7,000 names on tax duplicate, and if Mr. Lockwood wanted to get the opinion of a majority of these, why did he not send out 7,000 letters instead of 100? And why did he not explain in that letter, the vast difference in cost of the two kinds of bridges? And why did he not tell where these bridges were to be located, so people could judge whether it would be advisable to build expensive ones or not?

The Dispatch says we have to build five bridges. It should have said nine, for we have already contracted for seven and must contract for two more as soon as the ditches are completed so we can tell where to set them.

As for myself, I would like to build iron bridges, but I cannot give my consent to build them of iron unless we can put stone abutments under them. And here is where the shoe pinches. Stone abutments cost a pile of money. To build them all of iron with stone piers under them would run the county deeper into debt, or we would have higher taxes to pay. We propose to save money for the taxpayers, wherever and whenever we can, whether Mr. Campbell and Mr. Lockwood like it or not

Respectfully,
JOHN HOFFELDER.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

HAVE YOU

SEEN OUR

FINE SHOES,

BOOTS,

HEAVY SHOES?

If not, Come at Once and look them over.

No extra charge for a

Good, Square Look,

And we charge no more for a GOOD. SOLID SHOE, than some dealers do for an

INFERIOR ARTICLE.

We never were in better shape to please our customers in

Selections,
Quality,
Price!

WE OWN

BOOTS

CHEAPER

Than any firm in the county. Good, reliable footwear at

LOW PRICES!

We ask a share of your patronage.

WILSON,

Waterloo and Auburn.

We Open This week

OUR FALL LINE OF

Dress Coods

AND

Dress Trimmings,

ding many of the latest and most desirable novelties.

We Show Large Line of

Trunks, Traveling Bags and Wall Trunks.

Manufactured by
The Hackett-Wasmuth Trunk Co.
Roanoke, Indiana.

The Acme Trunk

Take a Look at This Trunk.

HARTER,

AUBURN.

Street, North of Farmers Bank,

D. BUCHTEL,
Homœopathic
ysician and Surgeon.

al attention given to chronic and obscure nd catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat gs; also to diseases peculiar to women ldren.
and residence over Smith & Madden's works, Auburn, Ind. Office apart from ce and private. All calls attended to y, night or day.

DARLING, D. D. S.,
DENTIST.

duate of CHICAGO COLLEGE OF DENTAL SURGERY.
r of Royal College of Dental Surgeons of ONTARIO.
as administered for Painless Extraction.

James Adams,
VETERINARY SURGEON.

reat all Diseases of Domestic Ani-
He has had THIRTY YEARS success-
ACTICE. Call on him at his residence North Main street, or at ROBBINS & RD'S Drug Store.

K. K. Wheelock,
—Diseases of the—
EYE AND EAR

cialty. Office 26, W. Wayne St., Fort Ind.

---

cBRIDE and McBRIDE,
COPYISTS,

nuscript Speeches, Briefs and Depositions, Business and Personal Type-Writing Generally,

WATERLOO, IND.

Write for terms, stating what kind of WORK.

M. Hines, Physician and SURGEON.

ce over J. C. HENRY'S cery, in the Ford Block,
AUBURN, IND.

RESIDENCE, at the Swihart residence on South Jackson St. Church Furniture factory, and just west from the German Methodist church. is attended to promptly, night or day.

AUBURN WOOLEN MILLS
DOES........

ds of CUSTOM WORK, such as Card-pinning, Etc.

ALSO

UFACTURE for the TRADE, Yarns sis, Skirtings, Blankets and Wool Bats. se goods are absolutely PURE and warranted to give SATISFACTION to the Consumer.

SLEY & FORKNER, Proprietors.—
FACTORY North End of Main street
AUBURN, IND.

The Auburn Iron Works,
Is the
Place to go for General Repairs
of all kinds.
Pipe, Pipe Fittings, Etc.

FURNISHED.

to bed and early to rise will the road to your home in the But early to bed and a "Little Riser," the pill that makes life and better and wiser.
Robbins & McCord.

LOCAL NEWS.

BLACK-DRAUGHT tea cures Constipation.

HOUSE TO RENT: Call on C. Ashelman Auburn.

CUBEB COUGH CURE—One Minute. Sold by F. E. Davenport. tf

KRAUSE'S HEADACHE CAPSULES—Warranted. Sold by F. E. Davenport. tf

Try Dullman's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Coughing leads to consumption. Kemp's Balsam will stop that cough at once.

Don't suffer from dyspepsia. Take Simmons Liver Regulator. It always cures.

Try Dullam's Great German 15-cent liver pills, 40 in each package, at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Feed of all kinds, at I. S. Kutzner's barn on block just west of Garrett's grocery store. Call on him.

MY GIRL, is one of the most popular brands of cigars on the market.

The Jewel, the New Process and the Quick Meal, at Beuret's. Best gasolene stoves made. Don't roast over a wood stove; get a gasolene.

The greatest worm destroyer on earth is Dullam's Great German Worm Lozengers, only 25 cents per box. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Early Risers, Early Risers, Early Risers the famous little pills for constipation, sick headache, dyspepsia and nervousness. Robbins & McCord.

Smoke the Little Salesman, the nobbiest brand out.

Voice culture, piano, organ, thorough base and harmony, I will give lessons in any of these branches. Over fourteen years experience.
tf J. I. Chany, Auburn.

It is a fixed and immutable law that to have good, sound health one must have pure, rich and abundant blood. There is no shorter nor surer route than by a course of DeWitt's Sarsaparilla.
Robbins & McCord.

Are you troubled with any skin disorder? Hot Springs Skin Salve is all that the name implies. The salts from the evaporated waters are embodied in its composition, and it should be used wherever a salve or ointment is necessary. Sold only by Davenport, the druggist.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by Robbins & McCord, druggist, Auburn, Ind. tf

MILES' NERVE & LIVER PILLS. Act on a new principle—regulating the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new discovery. Dr. Miles' Pills speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles, constipation. Unequaled for men, women, and children. Smallest, mildest, surest! 50 doses, 25 cts. Samples free at F. E. Davenport's.

VERY MUCH SURPRISED: I have been afflicted with neuralgia for nearly two years, have tried physicians and all known remedies, but found no permanent relief until I tried a bottle of Dullman's Great German Liniment and it gave me instant and permanent relief. 25 cents per bottle. Signed, A. B. Snell, Hamilton, Mich. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Grover Cleveland's Grand March Ben. Harrison's Grand March, either of these two marches will be sent to any address on receipt of 20 cents each, or the two for 35 cts. These marches are new. Every player should have them. Postage stamps acceptable. Address all orders J. I. Chaney, Auburn. Ind.

McElree's WINE OF CARDUI for female diseases.

Auburn Fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

The Auburn fair is Sept. 12.

Say! Wouldn't a good rain be nice about now?

Mart Tustison, of St. Joe, was in the city Wednesday.

Mrs. P. D. West has been very sick, but is some better.

Don't fail to get something ready for the Auburn fair, Sept. 12.

J. G. Clapp was in Ft. Wayne last week, looking up a location.

Mrs. Wm. Crane has returned from her visit to her sister's at Toledo.

Try Dullam's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Mathens's.

Mrs. D. S. Ober will start for Nebraska this week to be gone several weeks.

Dr. S. B. Johnston, dentist, will be in his office at Waterloo on Thursday of each week.

The Boston Clothing Store has a new business ad. in this week's COURIER. Read it.

Moore and Merica, music dealers at Garrett, are furnishing the fine piano at the institute.

Many of our people went over to Garrett, Monday evening, to attend the circus and menagerie.

Read over that new advertisement of Schaab Brothers. It will pay you well in dollars and cents.

Mrs. J. W. McCrory, of Angola, has gone home, after a visit with her people, the family of C. C. Shager.

Do you want the best picture that can be made by the photographic process? If so, then go to J. A. Landis.

Gugerli has moved to the Sheets building, south of jail, where his customers will find him till about Sept. 1.

Miss Kate Bellmer, who has been visiting Mrs. Rush and Mrs. Brown, will start for her home in New Jersey this week.

TO RENT: By the hour, day or week, a high grade cushion tired safety bicycle. Inquire of Walter C. Hartman, Auburn, Indiana.

The L. L. C. give a farewell reception in honor of Dr. Lida Leasure next Tuesday evening at the residence of Mrs. W. B. Brown.

The G. A. R. is now located in the Draggoo building, on East Seventh street. They moved to their new quarters this week.

Mrs. Hotelling, of Janesville, Wisc., has been here a few days to be with her daughter, Mrs. Tanberg. The latter is improving in health.

There will be a festival at Corunna on Saturday evening, Aug. 27. Proceeds to be used in repairing the Corunna cemetery. Everybody come.

Tom. Sommers and Mr. Refner have added to the convenience and beauty of their places of business, by putting in new cement walks this week.

Advertising for the fair is going right on. Secretary Husselman and others are putting up dates, bills, etc., and premium lists may be had in any of the towns.

The nickel social of the Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. G. C. Ralston Friday afternoon, August 26, from 3 to 5 o'clock. A large attendance is desired.

Kuhlman, the commander of Co K, can be heard on these still evenings, giving his commands to his company of soldiers, who have learned to execute like masters.

Bright people are the quickest to recognize a good thing and buy it. We sell lots of bright people the Little Early Risers. If you are not bright these pills will make you so. Robbins & McCord.

Rev. Henry Johnson and family came here from Lakeside last week, and were at Ft. Wayne over Sunday, and returned to their home at South Bend. He had had another very flattering call to go to Chicago.

Don't smother your better judgment through the influence of an erroneous pride, in thinking there is no difference between the prices of the same articles when sold by different dealers, but call on J. Beuret, and learn for yourself.

Van B. Perrine and wife, gave a card party to a number of friends Friday evening. It was an unusually pleasant affair though it was intended as a farewell before their proposed removal to Ft. Wayne. We are sorry to see them go.

The Foster Furniture Carpet Co, Ft. Wayne, never buys a homely carpet because it would cost a few cents a yard less than the handsomest designs. They would rather make less profit and have their customers secure "a thing of beauty."

J. W. Clark, of Smithfield, 8 miles north of Auburn, will have on Tuesday the 30th of August, a large sale of personal property consisting of horses, cattle, 150 head of sheep, hogs, all kinds of farm machinery and many other articles. A chance for good bargains.

Big attraction at the Auburn fair, will be Prof. Grinley, the balloonist. He makes ascensions in his balloon accompanied by a dog, and when they get high enough, each comes down in his own parachute, the dog in one and the man in the other. It will be a new thing and a great attraction.

RHEUMATISM CURED IN A DAY.—"Mystic Cure" for rheumatism and neuralgia radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause and the disease immdiately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits. 75 cents. Sold and guaranteed by Robbins & McCord druggists, Auburn.

MARRIED:—At the residence of Ed. Mitchell, on South Cedar street, Saturday evening, Aust 20, 1892, Lyman G. Redman and Pluma E. Haver; the former from Pleasant Lake, Ind., the latter, from Sherwood, Ohio, in the presence of a few invited guests, with W. L. Meese, officiating. A fitting repast was served in a style suited to the occasion. The COURIER's congratulations go with the newly wedded pair, who expect to become citizens of our charming little city.

John Hablawetz, car repairer for the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R, whose home was formerly at this place, but is now at Kendallville, met with rather a painful accident Saturday morning. He was running over the road with his three-wheeled hand-car, from the north, and had got as far as the Zimmerman factory, when a small dog belonging to a Mr. Reed, attempted to cross the track in front of him, when the car struck it and was upset, precipitating Mr. H., in such a way that his arm was broken, and other parts of his body more or less injured. Dr. Swarts was called at once, and he soon had the wound dressed. The injured man was taken to the office of A. Lewis & Co., where he remained until the first train arrived.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

WINE OF CARDUI, a Tonic for Women.

Auburn Fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

Gugerli, the tailor, south of public square, now.

Read our notice of the great Excursion to Petoskey.

Space in all the departments of the fair is being taken rapidly.

Sept. 12 to 16 is the time of the Auburn District fair.

Not going out of business, but selling hardward at cost, J. Beuret.

Mrs. Swartz, of Ashland, Ohio, is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. C. Shaffer.

Do your want hardware? Then go to Beuret, where you can get it at cost.

Mrs. Samuel Braden, Ligonier, is visiting her sister, Mrs. High, of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pierson returned to their home in Chicago Monday evening.

Dell Purdy has bought out Billy Little's feed stable and will run a livery also.

Our band is off to Rome City, for the great contest. We hope they will take the prize.

Mrs. C. H. Jackson and son, Howard, of Angola, are in town, guests in the editor's family.

FOUND: A pair of ladies' shoes. Call at postoffice, identify property and pay for this notice.

The Quick Meal gasolene stove; nothing like it for quick work. Call at Beuret's; he has 'em.

Miss Margaret Baker and Miss Ella Summers, of Ft. Wayne, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McIntyre.

Smoke a genuine Bill Head cigar made by Kessler Bros.

The largest shipment of pianos and organs ever brought to the city, was received by J. I. Chaney last week.

I suffered from biliousness, indigestion, etc. Simmons Liver Regulator cured after doctors failed.—W. D. Bird.

HOUSE FOR SALE. A good dwelling on West Ninth street. For particulars call at Geo. Grund's barber shop.

Rev. G. W. Healy and wife returned Saturday, being telegraphed for to officiate at Mrs. Dr. Johnston's funeral.

Mrs. Britton has gone to Ashland, Ohio, being called there by the dangerous illness of her daughter, Mrs. Nettie Riley.

Mrs. J. G. Hamilton, of Butler, is visiting this week, with her son and wife, C. L. Hamilton, and sister, Mrs. E. D. Beadle.

We can make you a first class picture from old or new negatives, just as you like, at the City Gallery, J. A. Landis, proprietor.

If your eyes don't track go to F. J. Yesbera and have them corrected. He keeps a large line of spectacles, and can fit you nicely.

Lots of school ma'ams in town this week, attending the institute, and gleaning pleasant entertainment from Auburn's genial hospitality.

Dr. Casebeer, who was called to northeastern Ohio last week to see a sister supposed to be fatally sick, has returned and reports her gradually improving.

It is reported that Ringling Bros'. show, which exhibited at Garrett, Monday, was one of the best menageries that has been in this part of the country for years.

The night blooming cereus that Mrs. Moody left at their residence here, when they went to Mankato, Minn., blossomed Saturday, to the wonder and delight of all who saw it.

Beuret means business, and don't you forget it! He's not selling goods below cost, for fun or glory, but he is making it interesting and profitable for those who buy goods of him.

Harry Trentman and Phil. Gibson, we understand, will run the check room at the fair ground this year. They are hustlers and we hope to see them succeed in this venture.

A thing of beauty is a joy forever. If so, get 1 doz. cabinets at Rice's studio. No chromos, no air burnish pictures. Only 12 cabinets and a paris pannel for 1 doz. on ticket rates. 33tf

Mrs. L. R. Patton, Rockford, Ill., writes: "From personal experience I can recommend De Witt's Sarsaparilla, a cure for impure blood and general debility." Robbins & McCord.

I will be in my office in the high school building to sell books Saturday forenoon, Aug. 27. Arrange to buy your books then.
B. B. HARRISON

New Process gasolene stove, considered the best in regard to all points. For sale at Beuret's hardware store, Auburn. And remember he is going to sell off his general stock of hardware and close it out.

LOST: Sunday afternoon, somewhere between the band room and 9th street on Cedar street, a mouth piece to an alto horn. Finder will please leave same at this office, or at the laundry on South Main street.

The only full line of Lowell extra superfine ingrain carpets that can be found at Ft. Wayne, is at the store of the Foster Furniture and Carpet Co. No other ingrain carpets wear so long or keep their colors so well.

Take your watches, clocks and jewelry to F. J. Yesbera and have them repaired in a workman-like manner, and where they will be safe and secure, as he has a large fire and burglar-proof safe to keep them in until called for. Mr. Yesbera takes pride in turning out first-class work, and warrants everything to be satisfactory.

BUCKLEN'S ARNICA SALVE.—The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Robbins & McCord. tf

Ah there Charlie Comeskey. The COURIER has a joke on you at last. We saw you when, you drew a bead on that squirrel. To be more easily understood, we wish to say that no man in the country can enjoy a joke better than Charlie, even if it is on himself. About a week ago he discovered a squirrel, way up in the top of his windmill derrick. Now if there is anything Charlie likes, it is squirrel "on the half shell". He rushed for his trusty rifle, took aim! fired!! But the big black spider, dangling in a big web, didn't come down. It didn't have to, for Charlie had missed the mark. He goes without squirrel most every day now.

McELREE'S WINE OF CARDUI for Weak Nerves.

Auburn Fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

Hardware at cost at Bueret's.

Remember the date of the fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

The new factory is located on the west side of town.

Special sale of Moquette Rugs at Foster's, Ft. Wayne.

Gasolene stoves, latest and best. Beuret's, North Main.

Hardware! hardware!! All hardware at cost. J. Beuret.

Mrs. Maggie Crane, of Butler, visited over Sunday in town.

Gasolene stoves sold at reduced prices, to clean out stock on hand.

This dry weather is favorable to the putting down of cement walks.

See our notice of the United States recruiting station at Ft. Wayne.

Try Dullman's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Matheny's.

The Sons of Veterans will occupy their new quarters with the Old "Vets" this evening.

Try Dullam's Great German 15-cent liver pills 40 in each package. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Young America is the cigar to smoke now-a-days.

To think "nothing ails you anyhow," is a symptom of dyspepsia. Take Simmons Liver Regulator.

Notice that the date of the democratic meeting at Garrett has been changed to Sept. 9, See 4th page.

Dr. Swarts and B. B. Harrison went to Chicago Saturday evening on business, and returned Monday evening.

The Loyal Temperance Legion will hold their meeting next Sunday at 3 o'clock, in the Baptist church.

Avoid all cheap and trashy inducements, and go to J. A. Landis, where you can get a good picture by paying a little more.

F. J. Yesbera wants to see you at his store; he says he has a lot of bargains in watches, clocks, jewelry and silverware for you.

Do not be deceived with cheap pictures called $3 cabinets. Rice will give you finer work than can be had in this vicinity for half price.

Charles Schaab is in the city this week, buying a large stock of new goods for the fall trade. Wait till you see the new goods, for it will be a grand chance.

WANTED: A girl to do restaurant work. Good wages and steady employment to right person. Inquire at Ashley block. W. R. Hidy, Propr.

Do you want a good deal in groceries? If you are in search of the place where your money will buy good goods at lowest prices, call at Ira Brandon's. 26tf

Brandon, did you say? Well yes, Brandon is the man who says he has groceries and general produce to sell in allotments or by the pound. Call and see him. 26tf

Persons desiring pictures from the old negatives at the City Gallery, can have them, as all those taken by J. G. Clapp, still remain in the possession of J. A. Landis.

At $5.90 you can buy of the Foster Furniture and Carpet Co, at Ft. Wayne, a handsome gold-decorated twelve-piece bedroom crockery set that would ordinarily cost $10.

An alarm of fire called the department to Davis' hard-ware, about six this morning. It was soon put out. It started in the tin shop, in the new part. Loss small and insured.

Mrs. Anice Leas and son Johnny started for Cleveland Friday morning. Mrs. Leas will be gone several weeks and will attend the several large openings and select her fall stock.

When you are in town and at a loss to know just where to deal and what to buy, go to J. Beuret on North Main St., and see what he has to offer in the line of stoves and hardware.

We truly believe DeWitt's Little Early Risers to be the most natural, most effective, most prompt and economical pill for biliousness, indigestion and inactive liver. Robbins & McCord.

If dull, spiritless and stupid; if your blood is thick and sluggish; if your appetite is capricious and uncertain, you need a Sarsaparilla. For best results take DeWit's. Robbins & McCord.

It is a truth in medicine that the smallest dose that performs the cure is the best. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the smallest pills, will perform the cure and are the best. Robbins & McCord.

Schnell & Weeks are hustlers in the grocery trade. They have a well stocked room and can offer unlimited inducements to customers. Remember their place of business south of the jail Auburn.

Notice the removal of Gugerli, the merchant tailor, to the Sheets' building. He will have ample means to accommodate all his patrons, So call there when you want a good suit of fashionable clothes.

The Epworth League will give a "Pronounciation social" at the home of Miss Minnie Gordon, to-morrow evening. All the young people are especially invited to be there. There will be no mite, and no refreshments.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. J. C. Henry, next Monday evening at 7.30 o'clock. All members are requested to make an effort to be present, as this is the only meeting before the fair.
President.

KRAUSE'S HEADACHE CAPSULES unlike many remedies are perfectly harmless, they contain no injurious substance and will stop any kind of a headache, will prevent headache caused by over indulgence in food or drink late at night. Price twenty-five cents; for sale by Davenport the Druggist.

School begins here Monday, Aug. 29. Mr. Harrison, the Supt., will be in his office at the high school building, Saturday forenoon, Aug. 27, when pupils can secure the necessary books. Let all who expect to attend the coming term of school, see to it that everything is in readiness. Proper books, bright faces and clear brains are three good and necessary things to have in an education.

A. B. Imus writes from Huron, South Dakota, enclosing his subscription, and adds: "This part of South Dakota, is looking fine, in fact the best it has for years, and as a result every one is in good spirits. Harvest is well under way, the only trouble is the scarcity of laborers. This company is making preparations to double its force in the motive power department, in order to handle the crop. We are all enjoying our usual good health".

Try BLACK-DRAUGHT tea for Dyspepsia.

Auburn Fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

All hardward will be closed out at cost at Beuret's.

Smoke the L. AND M. cigar, if you want some good.

Try Dullman's Great German 15-cent liver pills at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. Most people need to use it.

Headache, indigestion, and all disorders of the liver, Simmons Liver Regulator surely cures.

Trustee's Office Days.

I will be at my office for the transaction of public business on Tuesday of each week till further notice.
R. H. SHERLOCK,
Trustee Fairfield Tp.
August 1, 1892.

Settle Up.

I earnestly ask all who are indebted to me for professional services, to call and settle the same by September 15th, as this is my usual time to ask annual settlement. Please attend to this, and oblige,
DR. W. H. NUSBAUM

Notice to Settle

Desiring to make our complete annual settlement with our customers, we respectfully invite every one to call and make settlement at once and oblige,
CASEBEER & MATHENY.

Card of Thanks.

John W. Bucher and wife desire to return their sincere thanks to the friends and neighbors, who gave such valued assistance during the sickness and death of our little Ahlefa.

Special Train to the Fair.

On Thursday, Sept 15, the B. & O, will run an excursion train from the west, leaving Cromwell, at 7:30 a. m. Returning, will leave here, after the races. This train will stop at the Wabash depot, at the foot of Main street. For time of trains, see bills.

THE ALBION MILITARY BAND, will accompany the train, and play at the fair, that day.

OLD SOLDIERS' DAY,

Is on Wednesday, Sept. 14, when all ex-soldiers will be admitted free.

GRAND PRIZE GIVEN.

The Auburn Stove Works will give a splendid new cooking stove of their own make, to the couple getting married on the grounds.

SPECIAL BICYCLE RACE,

will be given on Friday, early in the afternoon. Time will be given on program.

The society donates $25 to this race, and the Auburn Bicycle Club, $25 more, to be expended in medals or premiums in the contest. There will be a large number of entries from various points. Best two in three.

Died.

William H. Speer was born in Knox county, Ohio, July 7, 1839, and died August 20, 1892, aged 53 yrs. 1 mo, and 13 days He with his father's family moved to DeKalb county, in May, 1850 He was married to Miss Rebecca Weeks, Feb. 24, 1861. To this union were born two daughters and two sons. His oldest daughter, Ida, died when only a few years of age The rest of the family remain to mourn his departure. He, early in life, became a christian and united with the U. B, church, and has ever since lived an upright life. He was an obliging neighbor and a good citizen, and often expressed himself as wishing to go where he would be at rest Services were conducted by W. L. Meese.

The Institute.

Mr. Merica is having a grand week, with a very large attendance of teachers and others. The sermon, Monday evening, by Mr. Parr was fine, and all enjoyed it. Tuesday evening, the lady who was to speak, missed her train at Tiffin, and did not reach here. This was the first time Mr. Merica was ever disappointed by a lecturer. We hear only the highest praise for work done so far. Remember Sanford's great lecture to-night.

Auburn District Fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

Slight Mistakes Sometimes Make Great Trouble.

It is astonishing sometimes to note how much annoyance may arise from an apparently insignificant and unthought of mis manipulation of the pen, which when considered from a technical standpoint results in what is flatly termed a mistake. Not that the people in this age are so perfect, that the slightest error has such a powerful and blighting tendency toward blurring the smooth surface of perfection, but because the world to-day is being educated to criticize human efforts, and point out with no view to their correction, the multitudinous flaws continually besetting us. In doing this, it frequently occurs that a fellow creature is injured, mayhap, irreparably, by a thoughtless conclusion on the part of those who draw their inference from raw appearances. An unkind and improper report has laid low the energy, crushed the fondest hopes and forever darkened the brightest prospects of many well-meaning persons, whose efforts were rendered futile thereby. Our attention has been called to a two-line newspaper notice, which has caused one of our business men no little trouble and serious apprehension. The "Iron Age," a review of the hardware, iron and metal trades, published by David Williams, at Nos. 96, 98, 100 and 102 Reade St., N. Y., contains the following:

"IT IS REPORTED, that J. Beuret, dealer in hardware and tin, Auburn, Ind., is selling out."

The above, it is believed, was taken indirectly from the following harmlessly intended local, which has appeared in the COURIER for several weeks past, as an announcement that Mr. Beuret had some good bargains for his customers and friends, and was not intended to figure as information leading to the supposition that he meant to go entirely out of business. It reads:

"Beuret is going out of the hardware business and wants to sell out his stock to the last pound. It will pay you to see him when you want good bargains."

We wish to say in brief, upon the authority of Mr. Beuret, that he has no intention of going out of business, and our acquaintance with him justifies us in the belief that he does not entertain even the faintest idea of cheating his creditors out of a farthing. He is an honest tradesman, and has always been strictly conscientious in his dealings with men; and it would be well, perhaps, for those who have become more or less excited about the matter, to check themselves from doing what might prove disastrous to the business prosperity of a fellow man, who is in a legitimate way trying to make an honest income. Mr. Beuret's purpose is to sell off all his old stock of hardware, so that he can have room for a newer and better stock. What remains of the present stock, will be sold at cost, after which he expects to fill up his store room with something in that line of goods that will please those who buy. It would no doubt be quite proper for the "Iron Age," or more especially its Auburn reporter, to look more closely to what is said through its columns hereafter, as this gentleman has been placed in rather an awkward position by having bills come in on him, whose cancellation should properly come later, and whose settlement would have been made anyhow in due time.

MURDER AT GARRETT.

At the show at Garrett, Monday, an emwloye of the show was shot dead, just outside the dressing room, about dark. Three men had come into the dressing room, and the deceased, had them go out, he going out with them. There, one of them shot him. A man, supposed to be one of the three, is here in jail, but Prosecutor Butler and his deputy, J. H. Rose, have not yet been able to get what they think is the right man, and the show folks don't seem to help them very much. They will get the guilty man if possible.

IF YOU WANT

Or are likely to want a Suit for yourself or your boy, now is your chance! We do not intend to carry over any

SUMMER SUITS,

and as the end of the season is now approaching, we have reduced prices to the lowest point which are are bound to clear

THE DESKS!

These suits are not to be matched anywhere for the price, and as the best bargains very naturally go first, our advice is

DON'T DELAY!

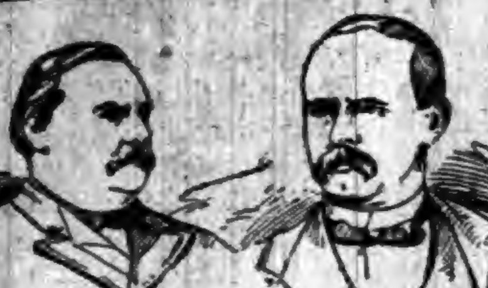
We do not propose to carry over a single garment

The Boston Clothing Store, Auburn, Indiana.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.



For President.
GROVER CLEVELAND,
OF NEW YORK.
For Vice President.
ADLAI E. STEVENSON,
OF ILLINOIS.

CARNEGIE now with bayonets
About his mills arrayed,
And cannon trained upon the men,
Is raising the blockade.

McKINLEY'S Bill—Bill Pinkerton.

THE Republican campaign appears to be hat-racked.

MR. CARNEGIE is bringing the gray hairs of the infant industry in sorrow to the grave.

JUDGED from his political utterances, Mr. Platt, of New York, must be suffering from a case of lock-jaw.

IF high tariff teachings lead to murder in the first degree, or in the second degree, the teachers ought to be dismissed.

IT is hoped by the administration that good Republicans will not mind the stench from the Pension Bureau, as the weather may be cooler in the fall.

WEAVER has been presented with a silver pen with which to sign a free-coinage bill when he becomes President. Why didn't his friends give him something useful.

ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC: The present prospect is that Harrison will not come within 25,000 votes of a plurality in Indiana. And it may comfort him to think that Indiana will probably come at least 25,000 votes nearer giving him a plurality than will New York.

APPEAL-AVALANCHE: Why should the farmers of the country follow the leadership of the multi-millionaire senators of the silver mining States? Every vote that shall be cast for Weaver will be a vote to make those senators richer and the farmers poorer.

"What Republican majority do the people of Pennsylvania expect to give this year?" asks the Philadelphia Press, evidently in a spirit of great anxiety. The answer is found in a scrap of history: In 1877, after the great Pittsburg riots, Pennsylvania went Democratic, and Republican anxiety now is due to a general belief that history will repeat itself.

IT is not at all singular that the violent passions of those who are ignorant enough to be deceived should be developed when their wages are reduced by those who helped to deceive them, but it is rather singular, though it is intelligible enough, that they should be called communists and anarchists by the men who persuaded them that the chief object of taxation in America is to supply them with Brussels carpets and pianos.

THE Republican organs are saying a good deal about Mr. Cleveland's "misgivings" as to the advisability of nominating him. They are also industriously circulating the report that he is not quite so slender as Hamlet or Romeo. All we have to say on the subject is that if our Republican friends are depending on these great arguments to elect Messrs. Harrison and Reid they must be in a sad way for campaign material, and have very slim hopes of electing their candidates.

IN his castle in Scotland, purchased with the millions stolen from the American people under the pretense of protecting American workingmen, Andrew Carnegie received frequent bulletins by cable, keeping him promptly advised of the fighting as it progressed at Homestead between his hired detectives and the workingmen who recently left his employ because they would not submit to further robbery. Mr. Carnegie finds it very convenient to be in Europe at this time.

MANY Democratic Newspapers are assailing the Hon. Thomas H. Carter, the new Chairman of the Republican National Committee, on the ground that some twelve years ago he was a book agent in Iowa and Nebraska, selling a work called the "Footprints of Time," and that he induced many farmers to mortgage their property in order to acquire county rights in the work. The story goes that the mortgages were foreclosed, and the farmers lost their homes. It will not do to say that this story, if true, shows that Mr. Carter is not a suitable man to conduct the national campaign of the Republican party. The reverse is the case. If Mr. Carter has been instrumental in ousting the farmers from their homes, as is charged, he is on that account all the better representative of the Republican party and the Republican policy.

WANAMAKER raised $400,000 for Quay and Blocks-of-five Dudley spent it—how, everyone knows. It was for this money, expended in this manner, that Wanamaker was given one of the highest offices in the country. And the President ought not to be blamed for this smirch upon the national honor. It is the g. o. p. which is responsible. Harrison did not pick out Wanamaker as his own choice. The Philadelphia purveyor of boodle was named by the directing powers of the Republican party, after one consultation, as the one to receive the reward for raising the $400,000 corruption fund.

ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC: Under the McKinley bill imported woolens used for ladies' dresses, for men's coats and for clothing of every description are taxed an average of over 80 cents on every dollar of their price in Europe, and often much more than their price in Europe. The dresses and underwear of our American women are thus taxed on the plea that the taxes make wages high for the labor engaged in the New England factories, yet we have the official report of the Commissioner of Labor of Massachusetts on manufactures and labor in that State from which it appears that the average earnings of the labor employed in 141 Massachusetts woolen factories are considerably less than $1 a day.

IT is not unusual to hear it asserted that protection means higher prices to the farmer, to the mechanic and to the manufacturer. In the same breath it is asserted that the cost of living is not increased. How can this be? If protection increases the price of the farmer's products and of the manufacturer's products, why is it that the cost of living is not increased? If protection causes wheat, potatoes, butter and eggs to bring higher prices, does it not cost more for the laboring man to live? Possibly the high tariff prophets assume that the cost of living is not increased because he and his family eat less when prices advance. This may be the explanation, but it is not a satisfactory one.

IF the Pinkertons are to be called in; if the militia is to be forced into the field every time those who have been told that "a cheap coat makes a cheap man" try to prevent themselves from being competed with, what consistency is there in maintaining laws which are passed to enable strong and wealthy corporations and combinations of corporations to shut out "scabs" and "rats"—that is, those who will work cheaper or sell cheaper than they wish to do? We cannot do justice on such a basis as this, which is itself unjust. And as long as this injustice continues there will be no peace in America. We will have these continually recurring brawls in which the communism inculcated by the propagation of the Republican theory that there is no profit except in getting something for nothing will show itself first in fraud, and, when that fails, in violence.

ST. PAUL GLOBE: It takes ten columns of space in the New York World to recapitulate all the strikes which have occurred in protected industries in this country since the McKinley law went into effect. The magnitude of the list is astounding, even to those who have long been convinced that "protection" protects capital in its aggressions upon labor. Sixteen days after the act went into effect 1,200 iron miners at Dayton, Tenn., struck against a reduction of wages. That was the first, and it has been followed by no fewer than 473 strikes against reductions of wages under the McKinley tariff iniquity. As the World expresses it, there "has been no instant of time since the McKinley tariff act went into effect that that there has not been in progress, somewhere within the United States, a strike against a proposed reduction of wages in some protected industry."

NOWHERE does the Constitution of the United States authorize the levy of taxes to prevent competition, to restrict trade, and to increase the prices paid for the necessaries of life by consumers. Had it been proposed to authorize the levy of taxes for any such iniquitous purpose, nine-tenths of the members of the convention that adopted the Constitution would have voted the proposition down. Such taxes can only be levied by fraudulent pretenses. If the law levying them had been entitled "an act to prevent competition, restrict trade and increase prices," as it really is, it could be carried on its title into the Supreme Court, which would be obliged on its title to declare it null and void. There is no warrant in America for this un-American system. The system of taxation for revenue only is the only system of taxation that is American. All other taxes are foreign to America, and native only to such despotisms as that of Russia.

HOW WILL YOU VOTE?

A VOTE FOR WEAVER IS A VOTE FOR HARRISON.

It Is a Vote for the Indefinite Continuance of the Robber Tariff and for Unbounded Extravagance—Why Republicans Encourage the Third Party.

Will It Be for Weaver?

A vote for Weaver in any Democratic State is a vote for Harrison, says the Louisville Courier-Journal.

A vote for Weaver is therefore a vote for the force bill and for the indefinite continuance of the robber tariff, which reduces each year the exchange value of the cotton crop at least fifty million of dollars.

It is a vote for unbounded extravagance, unnatural expenditures, and brings us no nearer currency reform.

An examination of the votes in the Electoral College makes plain to any one that Weaver's election is impossible; that either Cleveland or Harrison will be the next President. Every vote drawn from the Cleveland column strengthens Harrison's chances.

The total vote in the Electoral College is 444; the successful candidate must receive 223 votes. If the States in 1892 vote as they did in 1888, the vote, including the new States, will be as follows:

Democratic.		Republican.
Alabama	11	California	9
Arkansas	8	Colorado	4
Connecticut	6	Idaho	3
Delaware	3	Illinois	24
Florida	4	Indiana	15
Georgia	13	Iowa	13
Kentucky	13	Kansas	10
Louisiana	8	Maine	6
Maryland	8	Massachusetts	15
Mississippi	9	Michigan	14
Missouri	17	Minnesota	9
New Jersey	10	Montana	3
North Carolina	11	Nebraska	8
South Carolina	9	Nevada	3
Tennessee	12	New Hampshire	4
Texas	15	New York	36
Virginia	12	North Dakota	3
West Virginia	6	Ohio	23
		Oregon	4
Total	175	Pennsylvania	32
		Rhode Island	4
		South Dakota	4
		Vermont	4
		Washington	4
		Wisconsin	12
		Wyoming	3
		Total	269

To win Mr. Cleveland must carry the States he carried in 1888, and add forty-eight votes.

New York has thirty-six and Indiana fifteen, or fifty-one in all. Holding the votes he had in 1888, and adding New York and Indiana, Mr. Cleveland will be elected.

Every vote for Weaver in any State in the Democratic column weakens Cleveland. Giving him New York and Indiana he fails of an election if by dividing the Democrats the Republicans carry any Southern State.

With Indiana and New York and the solid South Mr. Cleveland has 226 votes. If he lose Florida he will be two short of the required number, and if he lose Delaware he will be one short, and if he lose West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, or Tennessee it will be all the worse.

We are assuming now that the People's candidate by dividing the vote gives the electoral vote of some one State to Harrison. Now let us suppose the Weaver vote is large enough to capture the electoral vote; the only result would be to throw the election in the House, for it is not conceivable the People's party can get 223 votes in the Electoral College. Let us give them all the States in which by combination or co-operation they could possibly get and it would stand thus:

Georgia	13	Minnesota	9
Louisiana	8	Montana	3
Mississippi	9	Nebraska	8
North Carolina	11	Nevada	3
South Carolina	9	North Dakota	3
Virginia	12	Oregon	4
West Virginia	6	South Dakota	4
Tennessee	12	Washington	4
California	9	Wyoming	3
Colorado	4
Idaho	3	Total	147
Kansas	10

It is impossible to believe that the People's party can muster such a vote as this, but even with such a vote Mr. Weaver has no chance of an election, and this House, voting by States, would of course elect Cleveland.

This review shows that Gen. Weaver has no chance whatever. He is an old-time Republican put up to divide the Democratic vote in the Southern States, and enable the Republicans to secure the electoral vote of either Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Mississippi or Georgia.

That is why the Republicans are encouraging the third party movement in the South. Now, as in 1876, they are laying their plans to capture one of the Southern States. They admitted new States, with a handful of votes, hoping to pack the College and make sure the election of President, but the increase of population in Democratic States has checkmated their scheme.

They now look to the third party in the South; they count the votes cast for Weaver to elect Harrison.

In view of such facts as these, where is the Democrat who will vote for Weaver, the Republican Stalking Horse?

The Public Faith in Cleveland.

While in a free republic like ours we discard the idea of one-man power, it has more than once happened that one man has stood for the country; for a national principle and sentiment; and has been the platform, as it were, of a great political party.

The unique position of the one man has not always been recognized at the time, but has been afterward decided by the verdict of history. Washington had his enemies, opposers and even defamers, but he stands now and will forever as the representative of the American revolution. Jefferson means Democracy. Lincoln stands for the American Union. He has been called the Great Emancipator, but he was the Great Unionist. It is the glory, too, of our history that these men did not stand up for themselves, but for principles. To support Washington or Jefferson or Lincoln individually was to support the cause of American independence, of the reign of the people and of the preservation of the Union.

The position of Grover Cleveland is not unlike that of these predecessors. He stands for a cause and is his own platform. Washington, as we know now, was a better representative of the American people of his time than a majority in the Continental Congress was; Jefferson's greatest act, the purchase of Louisiana, may be styled his own act—done without the suggestion or authorization of a party; Lincoln stayed steadfastly by the idea of the restoration of the Union, whatever his or any other party did or forbore to do; and Grover Cleveland stands for the ideas of tariff reform, of a sound currency, of real reform in the civil service, however partisans may wrangle and conventions and platforms disagree. The citizen and voter, confused and possibly disgusted by the tacking and trimming of the platform makers and "resolutioners" of Mr. Cleveland's party, turns to Mr. Cleveland himself and says: "Well, I believe in him, anyhow."

This does not constitute Mr. Cleveland an autocrat or a despot or a dictator. It does not make a man any of these because he is an honest man and people believe in him. Mr. Cleveland's character and attitude toward public questions merely place him in a large and open place where he may be seen of all men. He is not hedged about by retainers or counselors or managers, much less proprietors. Any man who wants to vote for Grover Cleveland can do so and find abundant reason other than that he, the voter, is a Democrat, or that Mr. Cleveland is the "regular nominee" of the Democratic party of the United States.

The independence, the isolation of Mr. Cleveland's position, cuts off all entanglements and complications. He was not nominated to strengthen the party in any particular State or section of the Union. A man may vote for Grover Cleveland with a clear mind and a good heart and without regard to any other man.—Kansas City Star.

Harrison and Indiana.

It seems to be conceded that Mr. Harrison cannot carry his own State. While Republicans are not willing to assert this fact, neither are they willing to deny it, and their protestations against the assertion are of such a weak and evasive character as to amount to a confession of their candidate's weakness in the State where he is best known and understood. There has not been a day since his nomination, nor will there be one until his defeat, when Mr. Harrison has not been damned with faint praise whenever and wherever his candidacy is mentioned in connection with the campaign in Indiana.

The country seems to have put Indiana out of the list of doubtful States for this campaign. Everywhere the Republican organs are preparing tables showing how that party can elect Mr. Harrison without Indiana. Such work is not uncalled for, since the party is well assured that if Indiana is necessary to Mr. Harrison's success his defeat is sure. It seems to have become a matter of public intuition that Indiana is against Harrison.

This feeling is due to the public understanding of the character of the man. In the four years during which he occupied the highest office in their gift the people have come to know him well. They have learned that he is a man of infinite smallness, capable, in his egotism, of envy, ingratitude, malice, and all uncharitableness. Looking at him through the large end of the telescope for four years, they are able to realize in what estimation he must be held by those who have known him so much longer and who have had more frequent opportunities to become better acquainted with him. They are now able to understand why he has estranged and antagonized such men as Judge Gresham, and they are able to realize, too, how badly he will need in this campaign the services of men like Dudley, which alone saved him four years ago—which he has since affected to condemn and despise.—St. Louis Republic.

Effect of the Tariff Upon Agriculture.

The report of the House Committee on Agriculture on the effects high tariff taxes have had on farming in the United States is a compact presentation of the leading facts of this highly important subject. It summarizes the official statistics of the decline in the prices of agricultural products and in agricultural land values, and presents with them the facts of agricultural indebtedness in five leading agricultural States, as shown by the census of 1890. We summarize here one of the valuable tables contained in the report to show the mortgage increase between 1880 and 1890 in amounts and by percentages in the States named:

Increase of Mortgages from 1880 to 1890.	Amount of Increase.	Percentage of Increase
Alabama	$10,798,000	413
Iowa	21,996,000	75
Illinois	14,485,000	158
Kansas	37,739,000	200
Tennessee	13,534,000	310

These figures, it must be borne in mind, represent the increase merely in a single class of mortgages in each State—not the total amount in any State. The totals as they are given in the report do not represent the total "farm and home" mortgage of the States named, but only the debt secured by mortgage on farms exclusive of the similar debt on home property and other real estate without farming lands attached. No Republican can complain of this treatment, for as we recently showed from the Porter census the number of real estate mortgages filed in Kansas and Nebraska during ten years of high tariff (1880 to 1890) largely exceeded the total number of inhabited houses in both States in 1890.

No such wrong as this can be left without a remedy, and the agricultural States must have their remedy in the enjoyment of their right of way, unobstructed, to and from their European markets.

Mr. Cleveland's Letters.

There is a generally accepted maxim among politicians that too much letter writing by public men is a dangerous indulgence. Hence Republican organs and organettes of every degree are showing a painful anxiety because Mr. Cleveland is giving courteous response to correspondents whose inquiries merit this attention. The organs and organettes should not be disturbed. Mr. Cleveland's letters have not been within the scope of the politic inhibition referred to. Those that have been published tend rather to better display and enhance those qualities in which lie the secret and the strength of Mr. Cleveland's popularity. His opinions are his convictions, and he has no hesitancy in frankly expressing them. In his consistency and his sincerity there is guaranty against pitfalls of his own digging, such as mere cunning and diplomacy can never supply.

The ex-President's confidence in his views and reliance upon his record are not the result of egotism, but are fully warranted by the testimony of public approval as given before, at, and since the Chicago convention. His integrity, patriotism and earnestness are universally conceded, and even the most bitter partisanship assails them but indirectly. He deals with all correspondents in that straightforward and candid spirit which the American people delight to honor. Even were an unfriendly critic to find some thought or statement which might be turned against its author, it would weigh but lightly as against the approval won by Mr. Cleveland's frankness and courage. These qualities give their possessor a hold upon the people such as the trimmer and political weather-cock can never obtain. They gain favorable hearing where the methods of a cunning politician are despised.

These facts explain why so many public men incur danger when they write letters touching their political faith. What Mr. Cleveland has written so far strengthens his candidacy. He has nothing to keep from the people. His utterances are not restricted by mental reservations or danger of inconsistency. What he thinks he declares, no matter what others may think as to the matters discussed. The world is welcome to know where he stands and the world believes he will do what he says he will do. There is the trouble with the Republican organs and organettes.—Detroit Free Press.

HARRISON'S effort to patch up a peace with Tom Platt, taken in connection with his selection of Tom Carter for manager, indicates that he is planning a regular Tom-Tom campaign.—St. Louis Republic.

GREELEY VOTES WANTED
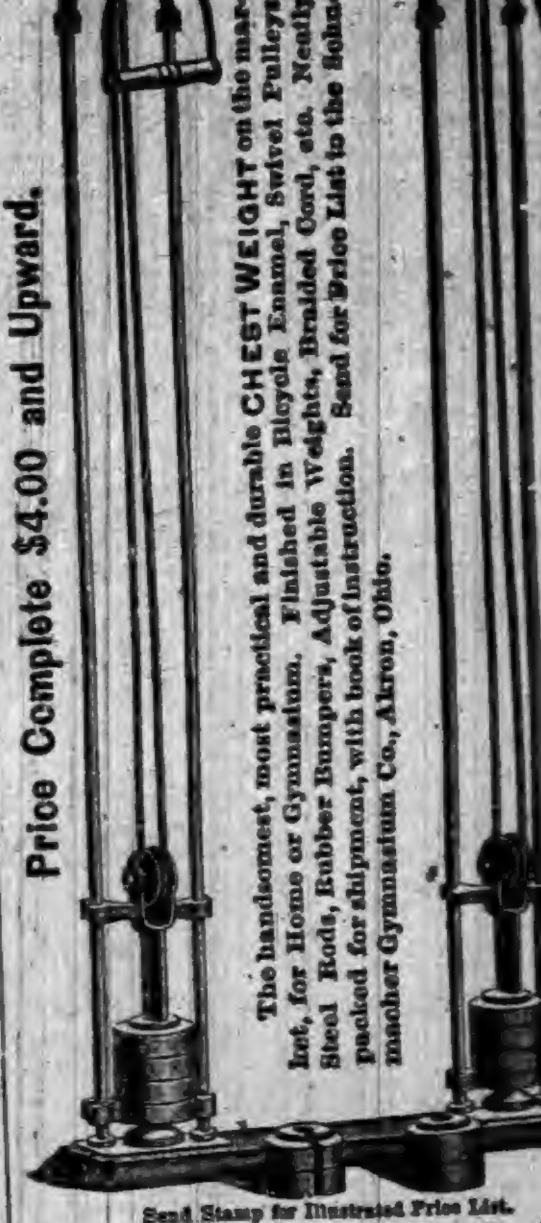
TRIBUNE
CONTRACT WITH THE LABOR UNION
COMPROMISE WITH THE LABOR UNION

A PITIFUL APPEAL.

—Puck.

KIRK'S DUSKY DIAMOND TAR SOAP
Healthful, Agreeable, Cleansing.
Cures Chapped Hands, Wounds, Burns, Etc.
Removes and Prevents Dandruff.
AMERICAN FAMILY SOAP.
Best for General Household Use.

BOSTON
CHEST WEIGHT
FOR YOUR HOME.



Price Complete $4.00 and Upward.
The handsomest, most practical and durable CHEST WEIGHT on the market, for Home or Gymnasium. Finished in Bicycle Enamel, Swivel Pulleys, Steel Rods, Rubber Bumpers, Adjustable Weights, Braided Cord, etc. Neatly packed for shipment, with book of instruction. Send for Price List to the Schumacher Gymnasium Co., Akron, Ohio.
5 Different Styles. all Excellent.
Send Stamp for Illustrated Price List.
The Schumacher Gymnasium Co. AKRON, OHIO.

A Piano SENT on trial
WE PAY FREIGHT
If you do not keep it.
We think you will keep it.
It pleases everybody.
It is an honest piano.
It is the WING Piano.

You may have a preference for some other make. Still you are a reasoning creature, and open to conviction, no doubt.
The question is too important to be settled without due thought. Years of satisfaction or of regret come with a piano. Does it wear well? The WING Piano does. "Look before you leap."
Whatever piano you buy, there are piano secrets you ought to know. Our free book tells them. Send a postal card for it. It may help you to buy a different piano. We take that risk. We also tell you the nearest dealer where you can see a WING Piano. It is worth looking at. So is the price. WING & SON, 245 Broadway, New York.

WEIGHT ONLY 10 OUNCES.
PROTECTOR

A NEW 7-SHOT, .32-CAL. REVOLVER.
THE "PROTECTOR,"
QUICK, SAFE, RELIABLE.
Compact, Light, Effective.
The latest and best thing in the revolver line.
Can be carried in the vest pocket as easily as a watch.
50,000 sold in France last year.
A Novelty that sells at sight.
Sample revolver and Cartridges $7. Will be sent C. O. D. by express, with privilege of examination, if 50 cts. accompanies order as a guarantee of good faith.
MINNEAPOLIS FIRE ARMS CO., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

PATENTS
Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.
OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.
Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.
A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U. S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,
C. A. SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

PURE STEEL
ROOFING.
Metallic Weather Boarding,
Complete Ceilings,
Corrugated Sheeting,
Roofing Paints,
Iron Roofing,
Eave Troughs, Gutters and Spouting.
All forms of Sheet Metal for Building
(COMPLETE AND READY TO APPLY WHEN SHIPPED.)
WE WANT —AN— AGENT
In this town—an energetic workman to take orders and APPLY our materials in this vicinity.
Correspondence solicited; write for prices and terms.
SCOTT & CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.
ESTABLISHED 1872.

RUPTURES CURED!
25 years experience in treating all varieties of Rupture enables us to guarantee a positive Cure. Send 4 cents in stamps for particulars and treatment on Hernia.
Volta-Medico Appliance Co.,
115 N. 8th St., ST. LOUIS, MO

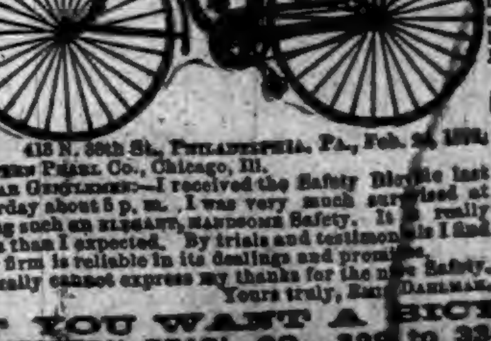
DOES YOUR HEAD ACHE
IT WILL NOT IF YOU TAKE KRAUSE'S HeadacheCapsules
$500 Reward for any injurious substance found in these Capsules
Perfectly harmless.
Will Cure any kind of Headache.
Money refunded if not as we say. Sent postpaid on receipt of price,
Twenty-Five Cents.
NORMAN LICHTY MFG. CO., DES MOINES, IOWA.
For Sale by

THE OLD DOCTOR'S
Cotton Root Pills
LADIES' FAVORITE.
ALWAYS RELIABLE and perfectly SAFE. The same as used by thousands of women all over the United States, in the OLD DOCTORS private mail practice, for 38 years, and not a single bad result. Money returned if not as represented. Send 4 cents (stamps) for sealed particulars.
Dr. WARD & CO., 117 N. 8th St., St. Louis, Mo.

SWIFT BICYCLES SWIFT
OLDEST AND LARGEST MAKERS IN THE WORLD.
ESTABLISHED 32 YEARS.
IF YOU WANT EASE, COMFORT, RELIABILITY, SPEED, STYLE, QUALITY, AND THE BEST OF EVERYTHING, SEND TO US.
PRODUCT 108,000 BICYCLES
WE GUARANTEE OUR MACHINES SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS AND WARRANT EVERY ONE TO BE PERFECT.

COVENTRY MACHINISTS COMPANY, LTD.
SWIFT CHICAGO, BOSTON, SAN FRANCISCO. SWIFT
SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

FREE TO BOYS AND GIRLS
UNDER 18 YEARS OF AGE, without one cent of money
READ AND WRITE.
ANY boy or girl under 18 wanting an elegant High Grade Safety Bicycle can obtain it FREE without one cent of money. Shall give away, on easy conditions, 1,000 or more.
DESCRIPTION OF BICYCLE. The wheels are 30 inches with crescent steel rims and molded rubber tires and run on hardened steel cone bearings, adjustable to wear; geared to 46 inches; detachable cranks; four to five inches throw; frame finely enameled, with nickel trimmings. Each machine is supplied with tool bag, wrench and oiler. Equal to those sold in the market for $45. We have both boys' and girls' styles. We deliver the bicycle FREE of all charges anywhere in the United States.
418 N. 38th St., PHILADELPHIA, PA., Feb. [illegible] 1892.
WESTERN PEARL Co., Chicago, Ill.
DEAR GENTLEMEN:—I received the Safety Bicycle last Saturday about 5 p. m. I was very much surprised at seeing such an ELEGANT, HANDSOME Safety. It is really nicer than I expected. By trials and testimonials I find your firm is reliable in its dealings and promises. I really cannot express my thanks for the new Safety.
Yours truly, [illegible] DAHLMAN.
READ THE TESTIMONY.
BRIGHTON, MICH., March 1st, [illegible]
WESTERN PEARL Co., Chicago, Ill.
DEAR SIRS:—The Bicycle came promptly. The boy is overjoyed. He acted like a crazy child for awhile. Over and over he repeated, "It seems as if I were dreaming," but no, there it is"; and then he would go to it and pat it and talk to it. We have found you men of your word. Thanking you for your faithfulness to your word, I remain, Yours respectfully, H. A. DAY, for Lee Day.
IF YOU WANT A BICYCLE WRITE AT ONCE.
WESTERN PEARL CO., 328 to 334 Dearborn Street, CHICAGO, ILL.



Man Was Made to Mourn.

Perhaps, and perhaps not. However that may be, he has no excuse for his misery, if it is produced by nervousness, so long as he neglects to re-inforce his enfeebled nerves through the medium of improved digestion. He can secure this by the regular use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a grateful tonic and tranquilizer. It should never be forgotten that the brain—which is the headquarters of the nervous system—and the stomach bear the closest relations one to the other, and that debility under the waistband produces a correlative disturbance in the organ of thought. Give, however, a quietus to nervousness and headaches by a reform begun at the fountain head by the Bitters. Take it, also, for malarial, bilious and kidney trouble, rheumatism and the infirmities of age. Taken before meals it imparts relish to the food.

High Railway in Switzerland.

The highest railway in Europe is the Brienz Mountain Railway in Switzerland, connecting the village of Brienz with the summit of the Rothhorn. It is open to visitors this summer. It is run on the toothed wheel system. It starts close by the shores of Lake Brienz and winds up the mountain past Geldried, Haustadt, and Oberst Staffel, and the incline is one meter in four. The carriages are partly closed and partly open, and each compartment has two benches, seating four persons a side. The ascent of the Rothhorn on horseback used to take five hours. The time of the round trip by railway is three hours.

REV. H. P. CARSON, Scotland, Dak., says: "Two bottles of Hall's Catarrh Cure completely cured my little girl." Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Reason Enough.

McCorkle—Why do you ask $8,000 for your house?

McCrackle—Because I want to get $7,000 for it.—Detroit Free Press.

FITS.—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila, Pa.

THE old age we are taught to reverence never dyes its beard.

MOTHERS, and especially nursing mothers, need the strengthening support and help that comes with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It lessens the pains and burdens of child-bearing, insures healthy, vigorous offspring, and promotes an abundant secretion of nourishment on the part of the mother. It is an invigorating tonic made especially for women, perfectly harmless in any condition of the female system, as it regulates and promotes all the natural functions and never conflicts with them.

The "Prescription" builds up, strengthens, and cures. In all the chronic weaknesses and disorders that afflict women, it is guaranteed to benefit or cure, or the money is refunded.

For every case of Catarrh which they cannot cure, the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy agree to pay $500 in cash. You're cured by its mild, soothing, cleansing, and healing properties, or you're paid.

DR. KILMER'S SWAMP-ROOT

Kidney, Liver and Bladder Cure.

Rheumatism,

Lumbago, pain in joints or back, brick dust in urine, frequent calls, irritation, inflammation, gravel, ulceration or catarrh of bladder.

Disordered Liver,

Impaired digestion, gout, billious-headache. SWAMP-ROOT cures kidney difficulties, La Grippe, urinary trouble, bright's disease.

Impure Blood,

Scrofula, malaria, gen'l weakness or debility.

Guarantee—Use contents of One Bottle, if not benefited, Druggists will refund to you the price paid.

At Druggists, 50c. Size, $1.00 Size.

"Invalids' Guide to Health" free—Consultation free.

DR. KILMER & CO., BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

A Young Woman at Fifty

Or, as the world expresses it, "a well-preserved woman." One who, understanding the rules of health, has followed them, and preserved her youthful appearance. Mrs. Pinkham has many correspondents who, through her advice and care, can look with satisfaction in their mirrors. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound goes to the root of all female complaints, renews the vitality, and invigorates the system. Intelligent women know well its wonderful powers.

It is the successful product of a life's work of a woman among women, and is based upon years of actual practice and expense.

All Druggists sell it, or sent by mail, in form of Pills or Lozenges, on receipt of $1.00. Liver Pills, 25c. Correspondence freely answered. Address in confidence, LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. Co., LYNN, MASS.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

The Wabash R. R. Co.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

Wait for the Great Low Rate HARVEST EXCURSIONS to be run by the WABASH RAILROAD on August 30th, September 27th, and October 25th, 1892, to points West, Southwest, and Northwest. Remember the Wabash is the Great Through Reclining Chair Car Route, and is the only railroad in the States of Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan giving its patrons Free Seats in these luxurious palace cars. Go West and enjoy a few weeks rest and recreation at a nominal expense. For maps, time tables and full particulars, address the nearest Wabash Agent, or write to F. Chandler, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Wabash R. R., St. Louis, Mo.

HEMORDIA FOR PILES. THE ONLY SURE CURE. Price $1.00 by mail. HEMORDIA CO., 110 Fulton St., New York.

WANTED! MEN TO TRAVEL. We pay $50 to $100 a month and expenses. STONE & WELLINGTON, Madison, Wis.

BEST POLISH IN THE WORLD.

RISING SUN STOVE POLISH

DO NOT BE DECEIVED with Pastes, Enamels, and Paints which stain the hands, injure the iron, and burn off. The Rising Sun Stove Polish is Brilliant, Odorless, Durable, and the consumer pays for no tin or glass package with every purchase.

HAS AN ANNUAL SALE OF 3,000 TONS.

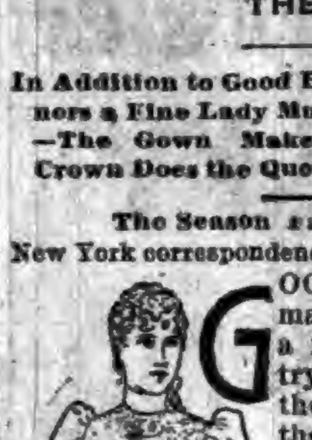
NO NEW NOVELTIES.

TOO LATE NOW TO INTRODUCE THEM.

In Addition to Good Birth and Good Manners a Fine Lady Must Be Well Dressed —The Gown Makes the Lady as the Crown Does the Queen.

The Season Far Advanced.

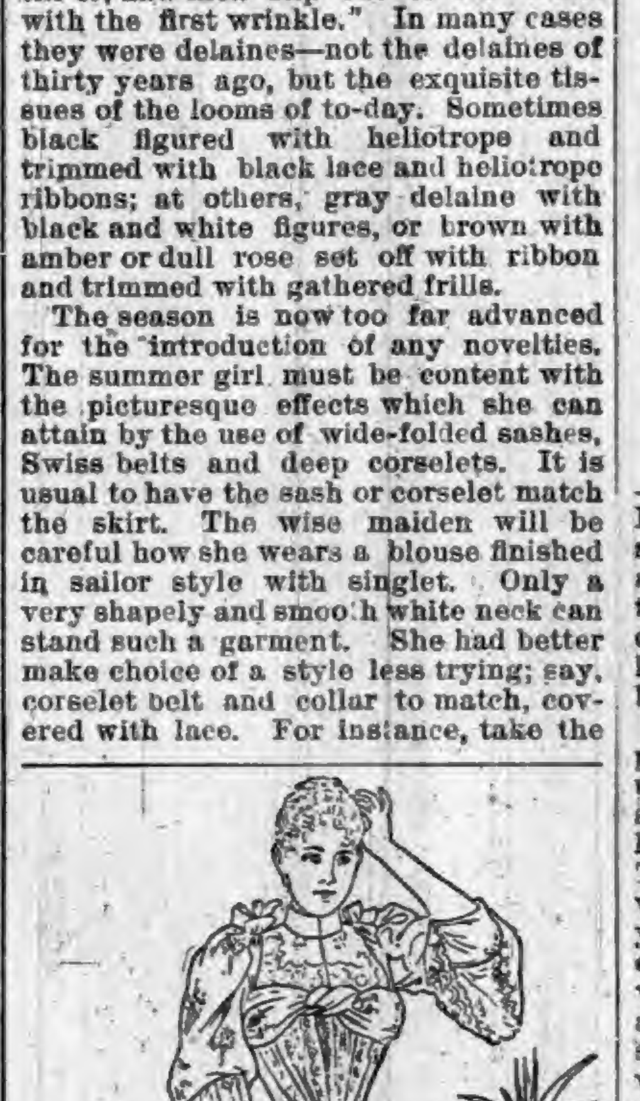
New York correspondence.



GOOD birth and good manners can't make a fine lady, let them try ever so hard, for the simple reason that the charm of personality is based upon sureness of self. The crown makes the queen as the gown does the lady. Byron hit the nail on the head when he used the expression "daring in full dress," for nothing stays us better in ball-room or boudoir, in banquet hall or public promenade, than the feeling that we are well and correctly dressed. It gives us that delightful courage which loosens the tongue, sets wit flowing, and warms every corner of the soul. A well-known lady of fashion once assured me that she immediately became low-spirited if there was a wrinkle in the fit of her gloves, and a clubman of my acquaintance protests that he can't enjoy himself at any social reunion unless he knows that he has two handkerchiefs in his pockets.

At the summer resorts this season I have noticed a great many charming dresses worn by ladies no longer young —ladies who, like Nell Gwynne, seem resolved "to grow fat and look young till 40, and then slip out of the world with the first wrinkle." In many cases they were delaines—not the delaines of thirty years ago, but the exquisite tissues of the looms of to-day. Sometimes black figured with heliotrope and trimmed with black lace and heliotrope ribbons; at others, gray delaine with black and white figures, or brown with amber or dull rose set off with ribbon and trimmed with gathered frills.

The season is now too far advanced for the introduction of any novelties. The summer girl must be content with the picturesque effects which she can attain by the use of wide-folded sashes, Swiss belts and deep corselets. It is usual to have the sash or corselet match the skirt. The wise maiden will be careful how she wears a blouse finished in sailor style with singlet. Only a very shapely and smooth white neck can stand such a garment. She had better make choice of a style less trying; say, corselet belt and collar to match, covered with lace. For instance, take the charming blouse pictured in my initial, the material being a striped and dotted satin merveilleux, trimmed with crocheted lace of an ecru tone. This blouse should be made up over a fitted lining, the latter being cut away under the lace yoke.

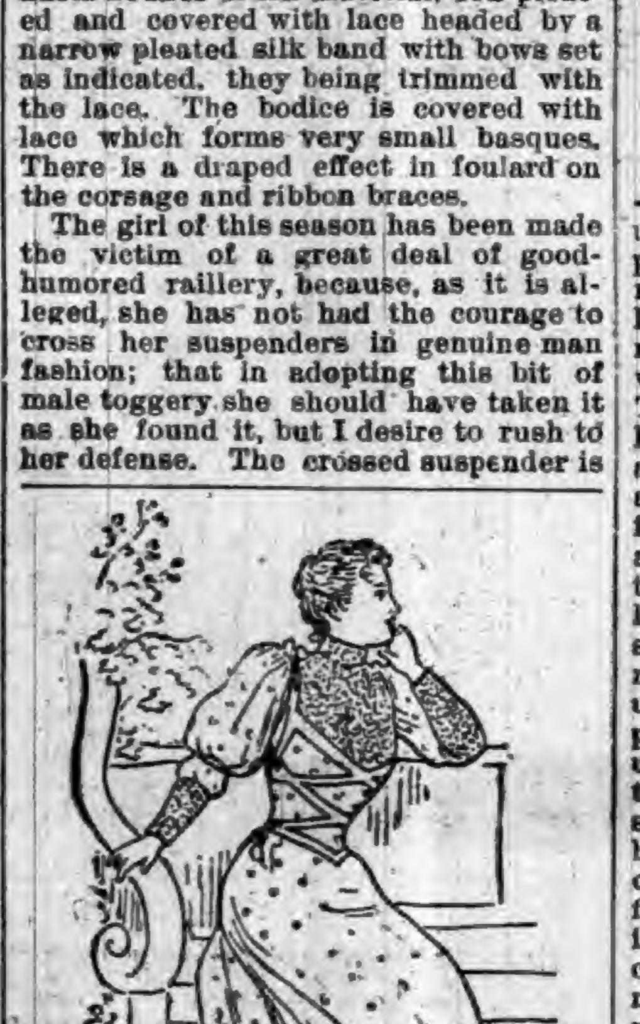


PRINCESS FOULARD.

The summer girl's reign is drawing to a close, and, like all tyrants, she is casting about for schemes to prolong her power. She dreads to think of returning to town, of putting away her dainty little russets, and skewering herself up in a cloth tailor-made. She is like the cowboy of the far West; she has tasted freedom, and shrinks from the close, heavy, perfume-laden atmosphere of the drawing-room, heated with furnace air and lighted by one window. There's only one thing that makes the prospect at all cheering—that is, that dancing men will be more plentiful in town, and she will not be forced to waltz with her girl chums as she has frequently been obliged to do at the summer resorts.

The exquisite indoor toilet in the second picture is in Pompadour foulard, made princess. The bottom of the skirt has a flounce of the material, box-pleated and covered with lace headed by a narrow pleated silk band with bows set as indicated, they being trimmed with the lace. The bodice is covered with lace which forms very small basques. There is a draped effect in foulard on the corsage and ribbon braces.

The girl of this season has been made the victim of a great deal of good-humored raillery, because, as it is alleged, she has not had the courage to cross her suspenders in genuine man fashion; that in adopting this bit of male toggery she should have taken it as she found it, but I desire to rush to her defense. The crossed suspender is the degenerate offspring of the picturesque brace of the old world, and stands as proof that the wonderful creature, man himself, has lost his broad shoulders and must now cross his braces to keep them from slipping down. Like everything else which the girl has taken from the male toilet, she has touched it only to beautify it.

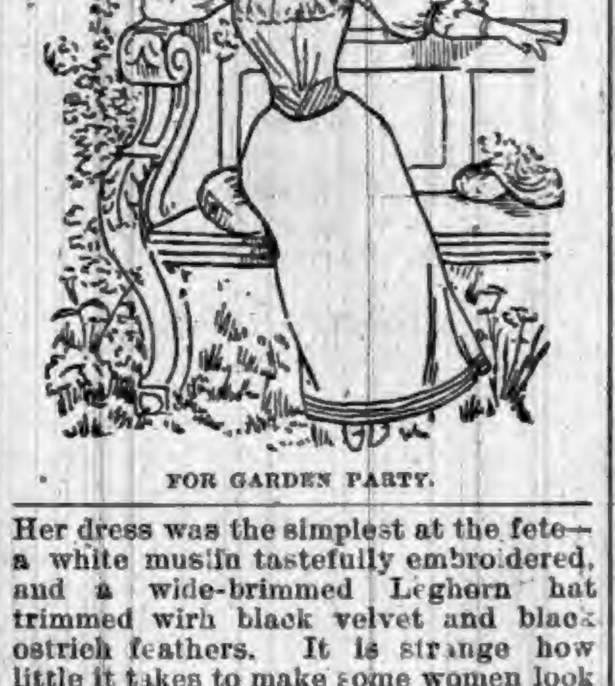


CALLING COSTUME.

The third illustration shows a charming calling costume in pink silk or crepon, with a guipure plastron, having the form of a yoke, front and back. The crossed ribbons meet at a point at the back. There is a ribbon bracelet at the elbow and deep lace cuffs. The plastron should be gathered on a straight collar.

You can't get a prettier gown for this time of the year than a crepon. For a young lady, a pink tone, if becoming, may be charmingly set off by the string-colored Irish lace now so much in vogue; the skirt being finished with a silk ruche. I make haste to tell you that the Eton jacket is no longer in favor. It has been ousted by the "mess jacket" which is, as you may know, a sort of roundabout worn by soldiers when off duty. Made up in blue serge and trimmed with gold braid in correct style, it is certainly a very fetching little garment, pretty, pert and piquant.

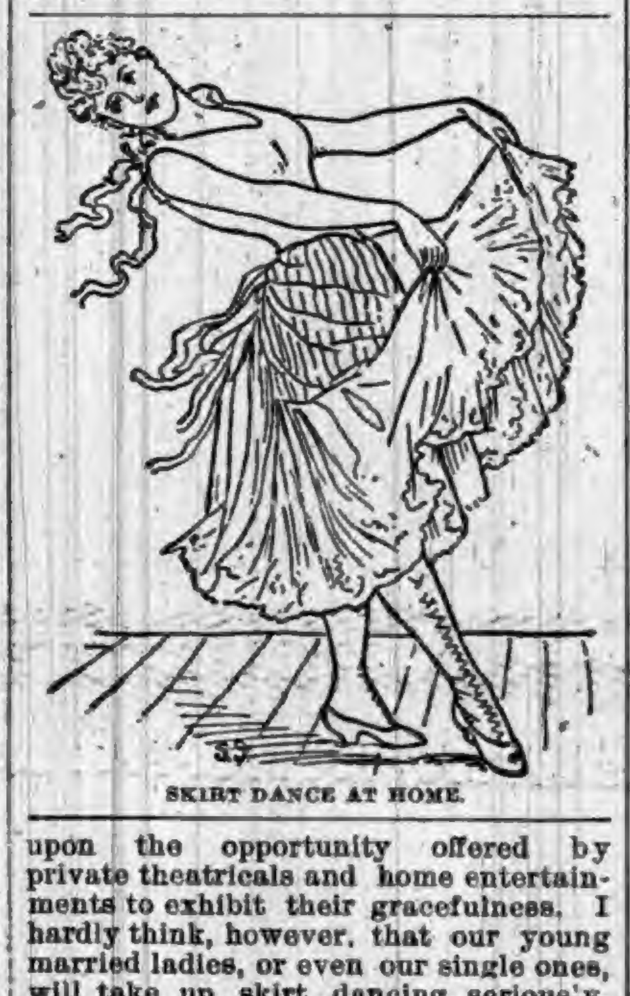
It is wonderful what a hold white has upon popularity, so much so that many women wear it who should leave it severely alone. White is a most trying color, not only for the complexion but for the figure, and yet when you do see the best figure for a white gown, namely, tall and slender, wearing a white foulard trimmed with fichu and epaulets of lace, you can't help being delighted with it. It makes up an ensemble of such charming purity and perfection. The pale and lovely creature seems hardly to belong to the giddy throng through which she moves like a sprite dressed in fashionable attire, in order to put to shame the boasted beauty of the mortals. I saw such a figure the other day at a lawn fete. Her face was one of which the poet said: "Oh, call it fair, not pale," and her feet in their white kid shoes looked like sculptured marble against the deep green of the grass. Her dress was the simplest at the fete—a white muslin tastefully embroidered, and a wide-brimmed Leghorn hat trimmed with black velvet and black ostrich feathers. It is strange how little it takes to make some women look beautiful.



FOR GARDEN PARTY.

A very piquant toilet for a garden party is the one given in the fourth picture, the material being white foulard set off with a lace bertha. Above the latter there is a yoke of pleated lace. There is a garniture about the sleeves which would be very becoming to some young girls. The belt and the bottom of the skirt are trimmed with white velvet ribbon. This make-up could be applied to many other materials; for instance, to a stamped velling, blue ground with white flowrets, and trimmed with white lace.

The woman of fashion is no doubt regretting that she can't make her sleeves so wide that she would require a seat in the cars all to herself. There is no telling what width sleeves will attain by the end of the season. It is the only portion of her costume that admits of exaggerated size, and she is determined to make the most of it. Hats, too, will increase in proportions as summer draws to a close, and the dahlias, peonies, hollyhocks and August flowers will come in for their brief day of favor, only to give place to fruit and grain during the supplemental season, which has now become the proper thing to pass in quiet mountain towns, so that the devotee of fashion may recover from the strain and drag of the season before she goes back to town. Already plans are maturing as to what we shall do this winter. What novelties shall we have, what will be the latest fad, the newest sensation? As you have doubtless heard, we have taken to skirt dancing. I don't mean that skirt dancing has superseded the waltz or even the lancers, but that certain fashionable ladies have discovered that they can do a skirt dance quite as well as the professionals, and they will seize upon the opportunity offered by private theatricals and home entertainments to exhibit their gracefulness. I hardly think, however, that our young married ladies, or even our single ones, will take up skirt dancing seriously. They will most probably let the children have the monopoly. Anyway, it will be a pleasant diversion for little maids, and in some cases quite worth seeing, for children take to dancing very naturally, their slender, lithe figures fitting them particularly well for it. In the last illustration is presented a spirited sketch of a skirt dancer. Of course much depends upon the costume and upon the colored lights thrown upon the performer. The accordion skirt has usually been made use of for parlor entertainments, but whatever style of skirt is chosen the greatest care should be taken in the selection and make-up of the underskirts. They should be filmy and delicate and clinging, following the motions of the limbs like white crested waves. As skirt dancing makes no such demands upon the strength and powers of endurance of the dancer as the old-fashioned ballet did, there is no reason why it should not become quite a fashionable amusement with us.



SKIRT DANCE AT HOME.

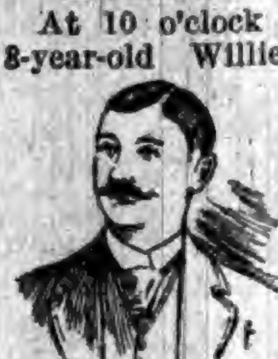
Copyright, 1892.

A Dental Operation in Kansas.

A resident of Hiawatha, Kan., after suffering from aching teeth, went to a dentist's and gave strict orders what was to be done. Chloroform was administered by the attending physicians, and the dentist, after having operated on his patient forty-five minutes, extracted eighteen teeth at one sitting. None of them were less than one and a half inches long, while his jaw teeth were near sizing up with those of a yearling colt. He says there are twenty more teeth firmly bedded in his lower jaw that must come out, the kick of the dentist to the contrary notwithstanding

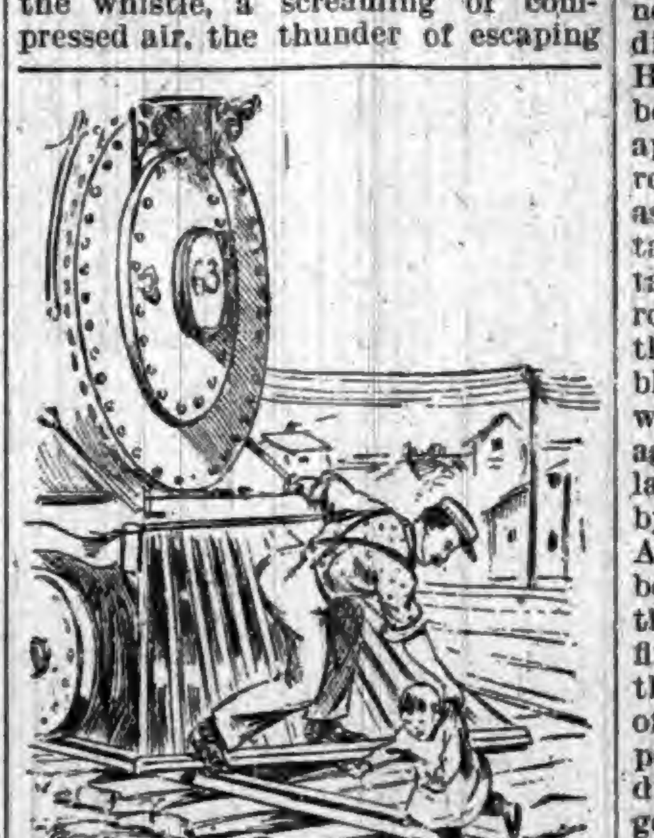
RESCUED BY A FIREMAN.

Climbs Down on the Pilot of His Engine and Lifts a Child from the Track.



JOHN ENRIGHT.

At 10 o'clock yesterday forenoon 8-year-old Willie Fender, whose mother was mixing bread around the corner on Chestnut street, Englewood, wandered upon the tracks of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Road. The little one was gazing at two boys across the way who were attempting to fly a kite. Down the track train No. 26 was just pulling out of the Englewood Station and was getting under full headway when the engineer saw the child. A blast from the whistle, a screaming of compressed air, the thunder of escaping steam, and the grinding of the great drivers as they spun backward on veneers of sand startled the passengers, and a hundred heads popped out of the windows. The little one stood been the rails unmoved, its eyes fastened upon the kite that fluttered and fell among the tangle of telegraph wire.



FIREMAN ENRIGHT SAVES THE CHILD.

Fireman Enright, sitting on his side of the cab, saw the danger. Without hesitation he sprang through the window that opens at the side of the boiler and ran along the narrow footboard, jumped down on the brass covering of the cylinder-head, swung down under the monster front of the boiler, swiftly sped across the pilot, and slid down until his feet rested upon a narrow ledge at the bottom. Then with his left hand grasping the drawhead he stooped well forward. They were on the child, and its frightened eyes met the determined face of the fireman. With a vigorous lift and push the baby boy was thrown into the soft sand outside the rails. The wheels stopped a dozen feet beyond.

Engineer Charles Shuneman reached his oily hand across in front of the tubes and pipes and registers at the end of the boiler, and he trembled violently as he held the grimy hand of his fireman.

"He's all right," said he And turned away to attend to his levers.

Trainmaster F. L. Corwin, Conductor M. E. Burke, Supplyman L. D. Knapp and Brakeman W. J. Huber all ran forward. Trainmaster Corwin picked the child up, expecting to find it cut and bleeding, for no one except the engineer had seen the rescue. Then the engineer dropped down from his cab and told the story. A great crowd quickly collected. No one knew where the rescued infant belonged. The boys across the way stopped pulling at their kite-strings and joined the crowd. One little fellow elbowed his way through, and, when he saw the gingham dress and heard the lusty yells, broke forth in a clamor that drowned the efforts of his brother, for it was "Jimmie" Fender, little Willie's brother.

Then a woman, her hands all flour, came hurrying into the alley. Her face was whiter than her hands. Into her arms they placed her baby unharmed, and as she hushed its cries she listened to the story of its rescue. A violent shaking of the body and tears streaming down from her eyes was all the acknowledgment she could make.—Chicago Daily News Record.

Gould's Ready Money.

How much is Jay Gould worth?

His contemporaries, associates and critics put him down at about $150,000,000. I suppose it is not much exaggerated. We know, who are brokers and in the banking business here, the influence of his ready money. He has got the best money in the country; it is all liquid money, says Gath in the Cincinnati Enquirer.

What do you mean by liquid money?

Money which flows like a liquid—like quicksilver, according to the inclination, up or down. The Astors, for example, do not have liquid money; their money is in real estate, upon which they could not realize in tight times as well as in easy times. But Gould's money is here in time of panic as readily as in flush times.

Almost any time he can withdraw from the market $12,000,000 or can keep it loaned. Now, the bank surplus is only $10,000,000. So, you see the prodigious power that money has in the mere ebb and flow of it. When Mr. Gould withdraws it, as he is said to do, though I have no knowledge on the subject, the times are terribly tight here. Up goes the rate of interest. Men with obligations are ready to pay almost anything. This money comes to him in the nature of his property.

His property is always earning money in cash. If he resolves to purchase some costly piece of property, like the Union Pacific Railroad, he may put his money out to let interest accumulate upon it. He is not, however, a money lender in the sense of Russell Sage, who lends money to earn money. Mr. Gould lends money with an object in view, in the nature of a large merchant. Yet he is without the conditions of such a man—a polite person.

A friend of mine not long ago borrowed $1,000,000 from him in the midst of the panic. This man did not conceal his temporary necessity, but said to Mr. Gould, or rather wrote to him, that whatever interest he was minded to ask would be satisfactory. He says that Gould said to him, "Go along until you get through, and we will see about the rate then." When they came to settle all that Gould asked him was ordinary interest—six per cent. Such things he does quietly without further remark, and hence many persons who are not very intimate with him, but have had exchanges of that kind to take place, think of him with as much respect as they speak of him.

It must be remembered, however, that he has not lived this life and encountered long hostility and abuse to become a mere philanthropist. He is a gigantic merchant in transportation.

The London Lady-Help Movement.

The "lady-help" movement started in London a few years ago was practically a dead failure, but an effort is now to be made to revive it in slightly different shape. For this purpose the Household Auxiliary Association has been formed. Both employers and applicants for situations are to supply references on registering their names as annual members. The ladies who take service are not to be required to take their meals or share a sleeping-room with regular servants, nor will they be asked to undertake scrubbing, blacking boots, or carrying heavy weights up-stairs, although special agreements may be made in particular cases. This is the plan adopted by the Gentlewomen's Employment Association in Manchester, which has been in operation for a little more than a year, and has just issued its first report. From this it appears that the lady-helps are most desirous of finding situations as companions, positions which are about the most difficult of all to find. There is a good demand for nurses and plenty of ladies willing to undertake the duties of such places, but, curiously enough, most of the employers seem to think that "lady-helps" ought to be willing to work for much smaller wages than those paid to regular servants or even for no wages at all, for the sake of getting a comfortable home. In other words, they feel that they ought not to be called upon to pay equal prices for skilled and unskilled labor. If young "ladies" knew more about ordinary household duties they would be better fitted for making a livelihood if overtaken by misfortune. The problem now is how to divide the necessary preliminary instruction for women absolutely penniless and helpless, without setting them to common "drudgery." Some day or other the association hopes to have funds for this purpose, but where they are to come from no one yet has the least idea.

The Temple of Baal.

There rises a huge wall seventy feet high, inclosing a square court of which the side is 740 feet long, says a writer in Blackwood's Magazine. Part of the wall, having fallen into ruins, has been rebuilt from the ancient materials, but the whole of the north side, with its beautiful pilasters, remains perfect. As the visitors enter the court they stand still in astonishment at the extraordinary sight which meets their eyes, for here, crowded within those four high walls, is the native village of Tadmor. It was natural enough for the Arabs to build their mud huts within these ready-made fortifications, but the impression produced by such a village in such a place is indescribably strange. The temple, so to speak, is eaten out at the core, and little but the shell remains. But here and there a fluted Corinthian column or group of columns, with entablature still perfect, rises in stately grace far over the wretched huts, the rich, creamy color of the limestone and the beautiful moldings of the capitals contrasting with the clear blue of the cloudless sky. The best view of the whole is to be obtained from the roof of the naos, which, once beautiful and adorned with sculpture, is now all battered and defaced, and has been metamorphosed into a squalid little mosque. To describe the view from that roof were indeed a hopeless task. High into the clear blue air and the golden sunshine rise the stately columns, crowded, and jumbled, and heaped together below, untouched by the gladdening sunbeams, unfreshened by the pure, free air, lies all the squalor and wretchedness of an Arab mud-hut village.

Will Build an Unsinkable Boat.

A Leith, Scotland, boat builder is the patentee of a boat which he claims is unsinkable and uncapsizable. Hitherto he has constructed them of steel and he claims that owing to the manner in which the fore and aft sections, which are conical in shape, are permanently and hermetically sealed the boats are rendered unsinkable, even if filled with water, as the water runs back into the sea through the opening in the center board casing. The cruising yacht he is about to build will not be of steel, however, but of an aluminium alloy. The metal is as white as silver and possesses a breaking strain of twenty-four tons to the square inch. It is unaffected by water. The yacht, which instead of being painted will be polished, will be about thirty-two feet long and eight feet broad and will be provided with a roomy cabin paneled in oak and a commodious forecastle. The deck fittings, as well as a centerboard dingey which will accompany the yacht, will be made of the same white metal. If this experiment should turn out successfully a new departure in yacht construction and fittings may be expected.

The Star-Spangled Banner.

English antiquaries now positively assert that the star-spangled banner was not evolved from the depths of the inner consciousness of a committee of patriots in the parlor of Mrs. Ross, in this beautiful Quaker City; and they point to sundry tombstones, monuments, and family records still extant in England as conclusive evidence that the starry and striped flag of Britannia's runaway daughter was simply an outgrowth from the coat-of-arms of the Washington family.—Philadelphia Record.

NO MATTER how welcome a guest is, the hostess always looks a trifle dismayed if she brings a trunk instead of a valise.—Atchinson Globe.

HOW NICE it would be for the fellow with a savage mother-in-law to order a Pinkerton.—Columbus Post.

Another Italian Operatic Success.

An opera by a young Italian, Leon Cavallo, recently received its first production in Milan, and the success achieved is said to have equaled that of "Cavalleria Rusticana." The title of the work is "I'Pagliacci." It is a two-act tragedy, in which there is said to be not a superfluous word. The composer has been his own poet and is credited with having produced a libretto admirably fitted to musical treatment. The familiar theme of love and jealousy is saved from being commonplace by the novel situation of having a strolling company of pantomimists enact the comedy of a faithless wife and a jealous husband before a group of villagers. But, secretly, they are playing the parts in earnest, and the comedy merges into and ends in a tragedy.

Ammonia in Fire Extinction.

The usefulness of carbonic acid water in extinguishing fire has often been referred to, and not long ago a pharmacist, who happened to have a lively incipient fire on his hands, used his soda fountain for this purpose with most satisfactory results. An equally successful application of the vapor of ammonia under similar conditions is now reported to have been made by a French pharmacist. A vessel of gasoline had become ignited, and the flames resisted all efforts to subdue them until a bottle of ammonia water was thrown into the apartment. It was thus broken, the vapor of ammonia was liberated and the flames were instantly extinguished. It is suggested that this application of ammonia should be fully investigated.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

$12.50 MONTREAL AND RETURN.

Via C., H. & D. and Canadian Pacific, Thursday, September 8th.

The Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton R. R. announce grand and cheap excursions, leaving Cincinnati and Indianapolis, Thursday, September 8th, via Detroit and Ottawa, to picturesque Montreal and historic Quebec. The rate from Cincinnati or Indianapolis will be $12.50 to Montreal and return, and $15.00 to Quebec and return. Correspondingly cheap rates are announced from all points on the C., H. & D., its branches and connections. Tickets will be good to return until September 28th, and will allow stop-overs returning at all points east of and including Toronto. Secure your sleeping-car berths tickets, etc., early. Call on or address any C., H. & D. agent, or E. O. McCormick, G. P. and T. A., Cincinnati, O.

A Tree on a Tower.

Seeds of trees taken by birds, or by winds, frequently lodge in some decaying mortar crack on the tops of high buildings, and will grow out and make quite large trees. One of these is in the city of Utica, N. Y., where on the top of a city church tower is a Mountain Ash, which, about fifteen or sixteen years ago probably sprouted. It still continues to grow, and has now reached a height of about seven feet. The roots push their way into the cracks and crevices of the mason-work. During the last two or three years it has blossomed and borne clusters of scarlet berries. It is said by some friend to be one of the interesting sights of Utica.

Had to Pay for Something.

Cobble—Widner is the strangest fellow about some things. He wears a 25-cent necktie with a $50 suit and thinks he is saving money.

Stone—Well, he does, doesn't he?

Cobble—I don't see how.

Stone—He has to pay for the necktie. —Clothier and Furnisher.

FOR some time I had been troubled with Liver Complaint; exhibited all the common symptoms, biliousness, headache, poor digestion, furred and coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, etc. Swamp-Root cured me. Am having great sale on your Remedies. J. C. McCULLOUGH, The Druggist, Lawrenceburgh, Ind.

What His Mamma Called Him.

Lady Visitor (who is being entertained by Tommy)—And who are you named after, my little man?

Tommy—Dunno.

Lady Visitor—After your papa, I suppose. What is his name, dear?

Tommy—Dunno.

Lady Visitor—Nonsense! What does your mamma call him?

Tommy (promptly)—Donkey.—Pick Me Up.

A GALLOPING CONSUMPTION may be avoided by the timely use of HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR.

PIKE'S TOOTHACHE DROPS Cure in one Minute.

Without Benefit of the Clergy.

"Married, eh?"

"Yes."

"Whom did you marry?"

"Three sisters, a son and their parents."—Life.

SCURVY and scorbutic affections, pimples and blotches on the skin are caused by impure blood, which Beecham's Pills cure.

ALL that you can truthfully say of some men is that they are alive.

Indigestion Cured

Wm. Wade.

"I have for years been troubled with distress in my stomach and indigestion. When I took Hood's Sarsaparilla the effect was surprising. It gave me great relief, and I now eat without that terrible distress. I also rest well at night and am in good general health, for all of which I thank HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA." WM. WADE, Boot and Shoe Dealer, 17 Merrimack Street, Lowell, Mass.

HOOD'S PILLS cure liver ills, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, and sick headache. Try them.

TOWER'S TRADE MARK FISH BRAND

This Trade Mark is on the best WATERPROOF COAT in the World!

Illustrated Catalogue Free. A. J. TOWER, BOSTON, MASS.

45+55=80.

Any young person wishing a thorough business education, and sending a request, will receive pamphlet containing somewhere in its pages a solution of the above problem in arithmetic. On receipt of true solution we will give in return a prize worth and receivable by us as $5 cash. Any young person sending true translation of the shorthand will receive similar prize, while those interested will be furnished with means of working out the true translation. W. E. McDERMUT, Fort Wayne Business College, Fort Wayne, Ind.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

Consumptives and people who have weak lungs or Asthma, should use Piso's Cure for Consumption. It has cured thousands. It has not injured one. It is not bad to take. It is the best cough syrup. Sold everywhere. 25c.

"German Syrup"

Mr. Albert Hartley of Hudson, N. C., was taken with Pneumonia. His brother had just died from it. When he found his doctor could not rally him he took one bottle of German Syrup and came out sound and well. Mr. S. B. Gardiner, Clerk with Druggist J. E. Bart, Aurora, Texas, prevented a bad attack of pneumonia by taking German Syrup in time. He was in the business and knew the danger. He used the great remedy—Boschee's German Syrup—for lung diseases.

DO YOU COUGH DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

SYRUP OF FIGS

ONE ENJOYS

Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y.

Burlington Route

Harvest Excursions

August 30th and Sept. 27th, FROM Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis to the Cities and Farm Districts throughout the WEST Southwest and Northwest

Round trip tickets will be sold by your local ticket agent on these dates at HALF RATES!

See that they read over the Burlington Route from Chicago, Peoria or St. Louis. It is the direct line to the territory in question. Send for pamphlet with map and complete information to P. S. EUSTIS, G. P. A., CHICAGO, ILL.

DR. T. FELIX GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM, OR MAGICAL BEAUTIFIER.

PURIFIES AS WELL AS Beautifies the SKIN. No other cosmetic will do it.

Removes Tan, Pimples, Freckles, Moth Patches, Rash and Skin Diseases, and every blemish on beauty, and defies detection. It has stood the test of 40 years, and is so harmless we taste it to be sure it is properly made. Accept no counterfeit of similar name. Dr. L. A. Sayer said to a lady of the haut-ton (a patient): "As you ladies will use them, I recommend 'Gouraud's Cream' as the least harmful of all the Skin preparations." One bottle will last six months, using it every day. Also Poudre Subtile removes superfluous hair without injury to the skin.

FERD. T. HOPKINS, Prop., 37 Great Jones St., N. Y. Beware of base imitations. $1,000 Reward for arrest and proof of any one selling the same.

GUITARS AND MANDOLINS

Guitars from $6.50 upwards. Mandolins from $12.00 upwards.

THE MARQUETTE. Quarter-sawed Sycamore.

THE ARION. Mahogany, fine finish.

THE LAKESIDE. Quarter-sawed Oak, Antique.

THE CONSERVATORY. High Grade, fine finish.

All the above sold under our own guarantee: 100,000 of our instruments in use. Your local dealer will order for you. Genuine have name burned on inside. Send for illustrated catalogue.

LYON & HEALY, 53 Monroe Street, Chicago.

RIPANS TABULES regulate the stomach, liver and bowels, purify the blood, are safe and effectual; the best medicine known for biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia, foul breath, headache, mental depression, painful digestion, bad complexion, and all diseases caused by failure of the stomach, liver or bowels to perform their proper functions. Persons given to overeating are benefited by taking one after each meal. Price, $2; sample, 15c. At Druggists, or sent by mail. RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

FAT FOLKS REDUCED

Mrs. Alice Maple, Oregon, Mo., writes: "My weight was 320 pounds, now it is 195, a reduction of 125 lbs." For circulars address, with 6c., Dr. O. W. F. SNYDER, McVicker's Theatre, Chicago, Ill.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE. The Family Wash Blue, for sale by Grocers.

TEXAS Wheat region. All crops splendid. For folder giving general information (give name and P.O.) E. S. GRAHAM, Graham, Texas.

When Writing to Advertisers, say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

This is a Picture From Real Life,

showing, as it were, how anxiously the mother seeks to afford her child the innocent and harmless amusements so necessary to its growth and development; which, if impossible to secure at home, would be sought elsewhere.

So it is With Us!

We are anxiously and earnestly endeavoring to make it possible for our customers to get the comforts and necessaries of life at the

FAMILY GROCERY,

where is to be found a complete stock of groceries, general produce, notions, confectionery, tobacco and cigars.

Mason Fruit Jars $1.05 per Doz.

IRA BRANDON.

YOUNG, OLD and MIDDLE AGED MEN CURED. ATHLETES, BICYCLISTS, HORSEMEN, R. R. MEN.

A protection to the Generative Organs. For sale by druggists. TAKE NO OTHER.

A BOON TO MEN

Suffering from the follies of youth. A positive cure for Varicocele [enlarged veins], Lost Manhood, Impotency and Nocturnal Emissions without the aid of drugs. Our Suspensory is endorsed by physicians and fully protected by U. S. patents, dated Dec. 8th, 1891. The best, surest, cleanest, cheapest and most comfortable remedy on the market. Affords absolute relief; easily applied; no inconvenience to the wearer; prevents chafing in hot weather; prevents injury from sudden jar or strain. Price, $3.00 by mail, or by express C. O. D., with privilege of examination. Circulars and information free. Send orders and communications to wholesale department.

V. R. S. CO. 25 Buhl Block, DETROIT, MICH.

"We use the Vulcanized Suspensory." "Nothing like it."

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of an execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, in a cause wherein Elizabeth Frick is execution plaintiff, and Samuel Frick is defendant, requiring me to make the sum of Two Hundred Twenty nine dollars and Thirty-five cents, with interest on said judgment and costs, I will expose at Public Sale, to the highest bidder, on Saturday, September 17th, 1892.

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m., and 4 o'clock p. m., of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb county, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

Commencing at the northwest of tract of land heretofore conveyed by Nancy Willard in the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section three (3) in township thirty-four (34) north of range thirteen (13) east, and running from thence in an easterly direction parallel with the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad two and twenty-five one-hundredths chains to stake, thence south two chains and four and one-half links to a stake, thence in a westerly direction two and twenty-five one-hundredths chains to the line of land owned by Charles Kelley, thence north two chains and four and one-half links, to the place of beginning, containing forty-six one-hundredths of an acre, more, more or less, except a strip twenty-five (25) links wide off of the north end, which has been reserved for street purposes.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said judgment, interest and costs, I will at the same time and place expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said judgment, interest and costs. The above real estate will not be sold for less than two-thirds of its appraised value.

PHIL PLUM, Sheriff of DeKalb county, Indiana.
WM. H. LEAS, Att'y for Defendant.
Auburn, August 23rd, 1892.

Notice to Non-Residents

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DEKALB COUNTY, } ss.

In the DeKalb circuit court, October term, 1892, William W. Gary is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said court, for foreclosure of mortgage by Robert T. Duncan, and that the same will be heard and determined on the 13th juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3rd, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 24th day of August, 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk.
WILLIAM H. LEAS, Att'y.

Notice to Contractors.

The Board of Commissioners of DeKalb county, Indiana, will receive sealed bids for the construction of a cement walk along the east and south sides of the public square in Auburn, up to August 29th, 1892, at 10 a. m. Specifications can be seen at the Auditor's office of said county, in Auburn. Also, at the same time and place, the Board will receive sealed bids for the construction of a stone gutter along the said walk, specifications for which, are also on file in the Auditor's office. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Bids must be accompanied by a bond, or certified check of $200.

By order of the Board,
JAMES M HENDERSON, Pres.

Notice to Non-Residents.

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DEKALB COUNTY, } ss

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, October term, 1892, Schuyler K. Hurd is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said court for cancelation of mortgage and to quiet title to real estate by Jonathan Wilhelm, and that the same will be heard and determined on the eighth juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3d, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 15th day of August, 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk.
W. H. LEAS, Att'y

WALTER'S METALLIC SHINGLES are made from the best grades of roofing Tin plate, and steel sheets galvanized. You can buy them painted or not. Our Galvanized Shingles are rain and rust proof, without the necessity of painting. Our painted Tin Shingles are more durable and ornamental than it is possible to make a tin roof, put on in the old-fashioned style. Write for price list R.

THE NATIONAL SHEET METAL ROOFING Co
9 Cliff St., New York.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS.

Lake Erie & Western R. R.

(NATURAL GAS ROUTE.)

HAS ARRANGED TO RUN A SERIES OF

Harvest & Home Seekers' Excursions,

—ON—

Aug. 30, Sep. 27 and Oct. 25, 1892,

At the Unprecedented Low Rate of

ONE FARE FOR ROUND TRIP

TO POINTS IN

Kansas, Nebraska, Indian Territory, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Montana, South and North Dakota.

This is an excellent opportunity for all those desiring to seek homes in the West, as there are millions of acres of valuable Government lands inviting settlement within the territory covered by this series of excursions.

Be sure your tickets read via the "NATURAL GAS ROUTE," the great through line traversing the wonderful gas and oil regions of Ohio and Indiana, furnishing elegant Reclining Chair Cars between Sandusky and the Missouri river free of extra charge.

For tickets, rates, time and general information, call on any ticket agent of the above route, or address

H. C. Parker, Traffic Manager. C. F. Daly, G. P. & T. A.
Indianapolis, Ind.

THE OLD MILL OF MYSTERY,

is now in operation and grinding out Summer Goods, at

REDUCED PRICES.

Challies, ginghams, satteens and tissues, all must go

THIS HARVEST!

Come and bring Grain Sacks. If you haven't got as many as you need, we can furnish the America at 20 cents,

Stark A., 22 cents.

Come One, Come All

To The

HEADQUARTERS,

at the popular store of

MRS. M. JONES & SON.

MILK CROCKS,

Large and small sizes, deep and shallow shapes.

JARS,

Of all sizes from one-half to 12 GALLONS.

JUGS,

Both large and small

PRESERVE JARS!

We have a nice line of preserve jars, and also, of churns, and other crockery.

W. J. OLDS,

SEBRING B'ld'g, AUBURN.

Low Rate Harvest Excursion.

The anouncement that the North-Western Line, comprising over 8,000 miles of thoroughly equipped railways, has arranged to run two low rate Harvest Excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by those who are interested in the development of the great West and Northwest, as by those who desire to visit this wonderfull productive region at a season of the year when exact demonstration can be made of the merits and advantages it offers to home-seekers and those in search of safe and profitable investments. These excursions will leave Chicago on August 30th and Sept. 27th, and tickets can be purchased at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip to points in Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho and Montana. They will be strickly first-class in every particular and will be good for return passage at any time within twenty days from date of purchase. Full information concerning rates and arrangments for these excursions can be obtained upon application to any coupon ticket agent, or to W. A. Turall, G. P. T. A. Chicago & North Western R'y, Chicago.

NOTICE.

The Auburn Mining Company will run the incandescent lights all night, commencing with the week of the fair.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

WATERLOO.

Monday G. F. Kirkendall, of Pittsburg, was in town.

Tuesday evening Uncle Tom's Cabin was played here.

Mrs. Will Fisher and son went to Cincinnati, this week.

Mell. VanWagoner, of Angola, visited Waterloo Saturday.

The young ladies have a picnic in Goodwin's grove, on Friday, next.

Mrs. Baird's sister and two children from Ft. Wayne visited her last week.

T. Y. Carpenter and wife, of Pleasant Lake, spent Sunday with friends here.

Next Monday we shall hear the school bell calling the children together again.

Mrs. Carpenter and son Alpha were at Pleasant Lake this week visiting friends.

Last Friday, the Disciple Sunday school spent the day at Hamilton, picnicking.

Miss Ida Paterson returned to her home in Iowa this week. Her aunt, Miss Lou Patterson accompained her.

Wednesday of this week the Free Methodists commenced holding a campmeeting on the fair ground, to continue one week.

Some of our people will attend the institute lectures this week at Auburn, and many who do not would like much to be present.

The K. of P., attended the Steuben county picnic last Friday. A large crowd was present, everything was at its best and a good time reported.

John Meeks while unloading beer, last week sustained a painful injury caused by a keg of beer falling upon his hand so as to break a finger. He suffered much pain from it.

Sunday morning and evening next Rev. Richards will speak in the M. E. church, on his experience and life in Africa, as a missionary where he has now spent some years and expects to return soon.

The members of the L. M. C., to show their regards for Mrs. Johnston, sent to Toledo, for a star of white and yellow roses, resting on an easel, which was to be left on her grave. Most of the members who could, attended the funeral.

The members of the L. M. C. consider their picnic last week at Watkin's landing as perfect. A day for tried housekeepers to remember. The new cottage there, with all its culinary utensils, was rented for the day. When the dinner hour approached, green corn was procured and cooked, coffee and lemonade made and the table brought out of doors, with a part of the contents of the well-filled baskets spread thereon. A number came over from the picnic on the island, and called upon us. No unpleasant thing occurred; no accidents; nothing to regret; one perfect day of pleasant memories.

Saturday night a young man, a brakeman on the railroad was terribly crushed. He was taken to Coldwater, and a telegram was at once sent to Miss Della Shoner, to whom he was soon to have been married. She, accompained by her sister took the train at once to go to him, but he died before their arrival. His body was taken to Delta, where his mother lives, and the funeral took place Monday, and the Shoner family all attended it. We understand his name was McDonald and that he was a worthy young man. This is the third instance in Waterloo, where an engagement existed and the soon to be husband was called away by death.

BUTLER.

Mrs. McCurdy living three miles north of Butler is reported very sick, and but meager hopes remain for her recovery.

Ashley and Hudson continualy draw on the sight seeing portion of our people. But few days pass that some of our citizens do not make a pilgrimage to this coming metropolis of northeastern Indiana.

A band of gypsies were camped in Sylvan grove, three miles east of town last Sunday. They proved a grand success, as the town and surrounding country turned out enmasse to see the swarthy men and matrons and the brown dusky black eyed maidens. They seemed orderly and well behaved. The little half clad urchins were busy singing songs for a penny a piece.

George Washington Devore, an old and well known resident, living about one mile southwest of town, died last week. Mr. Devore was about 65 years of age, and an industrious, quiet well respected man, a worthy member of the Church of God, from which church his funeral took place. His illness was of but short duration, and but few of our people were aware of his illness until his death took place. He leaves a wife, twice widowed, and a family of grown up children, and many friends to mourn his departure.

The drought was broken by a good refreshing shower last Thursday night. The dust was effectually laid for a time. Just before the rain, the quiet of the east end was broken by the thrilling cry of fire! fire!, and the lurid flames lit up the surrounding vicinity. It proved to be an old barn on A. G. Jones' lot, and being dry as tinder, burned fiercely, scattering burning embers over more valuable property and seriously endangering it. The fire brigade were on the ground in about three minutes and had a stream of water flowing, that speedily dashed out the fire. The loss of the barn total, with no insurance. The value was not great however.

CONCORD.

Will Lucas rides in a new carriage.

C. A. Jenkins was in Auburn Tuesday.

G. W. Draggoo was at St. Joe, Saturday.

Frank Melton is very low with typhoid fever.

Dick Ervin's new dwelling is looming up nicely.

Henry Baker was called to Auburn on business Tuesday.

J. D. Smith, J. B. White and others, were at the hub, Saturday.

Several of the ladies spent Thursday, with Mrs. S. S. Stanton, at St. Joe.

Lydia Wyatt was the guest of her cousin, Mat. Wyatt, of Newville, Thursday.

Sunday G. W. Draggoo drove over to Auburn to visit his sick sister, Mrs. G. W. Reed.

Mrs. Barbara Baker visited Thursday, with her daughter, Mrs. Sue Tustison, of St. Joe.

Rev. J. J. Fred, of Spencerville, delivered a sermon to a well filled house last Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Elias Zimmerman and daughter, of Auburn, were driving over the roads Tuesday.

Mrs. Eliza George is remodeling her farm home. The paper and decorations show up in fine style.

Mrs. W. E. Rush, of Auburn, and her niece, Miss Bellmer, of N. J., are visiting a few weeks in the family of F. Buchanan.

We caution some of the lady drivers about crossing the railraad before an approaching train, especially when little colts are following.

Mr. Atkinson and wife, of Ohio, are here visiting their relatives, the Krises. It is plain to be seen that Mr. A., was a soldier, for both hands were shot off.

Last week, Mrs. S. G. Brown received word that her son B. F. Moffit was having a serious time with his eyes. He had been to Ft. Wayne, for treatment, but hopes are flattering.

Last Saturday evening a few friends gathered at the residence of W. M. Hines and passed the evening very pleasantly. Cake and ice cream were served, with music and social conversation the leading events.

Geo. Simanton came very near losing two stacks of hay. Sparks from a passing train ignited the stubble, which being so very dry caught fire and run toward the stacks, it being only a few feet away when subdued.

Picnic day some thief stole Barbara Baker's beutiful velvet plant. A slight clue has been gained, and unless the plant is returned somebody will suffer the consequences. Take warning in time, and save trouble.

SUMMIT.

Mrs. Kate Hilt is very poorly at this writing.

Mike Fredrick, of Hudson, was in town last Saturday.

Henry Lawson went to Auburn last Tuesday on business.

H. D. Snowberger and wife visited in Waterloo last Sunday.

Frank Seiler, from west of Hudson, was on our streets last Saurday.

Ulis Zimmerman and wife visited friends in Waterloo last Sunday.

H. P. R. Lawson and family visited Mrs. L's parents in Hudson last Sunday.

Mike Freylinger, of Albion, Mich., visited his children at Anthony Shiffl's over Sunday.

Miss Letha Kiplinger and Miss Belle Cooper are attending the institute at Auburn this week.

John Grambling and wife were the guests of Chas. Shimpff and family west of Hudson Sunday.

Mrs. Daniel Forney, of Lagrange, is visiting relatives here at this writing. Mr. F. is working at Ashley.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly
For September

The political kaleidoscope of Central and South America is continually changing, and probably few even of the best "posted" readers could name offhand the actual presidents of the various Latin-American republics. The current (September) number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly gives a concise account of them all, with numerous portraits and illustrations, in a timely article entitled "A Bird's-eye View of Latin-American Politics," by Jose Borno. A vivacious and highly interesting paper, in this same number, is "With the Paris Art-Student," by Corwin K. Linson, capitally illustrated by the author. Dr. W. Seward Webb's famous Shelburne Farms, on Lake Champlain, is described as "An American Gentleman's Estate," by George J. Manson. Other notable contributions are, "An Island of Amazons' (Capri), by Margaret B. Wright; "Beneath the Suface of the Sea," by Captain H. D. Smith, U. S. N; "The Supernatural in History," by Lucy H. Hooper; "A Day with Victor Hugo," by J. W. Fosdick; "A Cruse in the Erie Basin," by Don C. Seitz; and "Port Limon," by Cecil Charles. There are also excellent short stories and sketches by Charles H. Crandall, Etta W. Pierce, Frances Isabel Curris, Nora Marble, John MacMullen and others.

List of Patents

granted to Indiana inventors this week. Reported by C. A. Snow & Co., Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, Opp. U. S. Patent office, Washington, D. C.

B. F. Butler, Logansport, mechanical telegraph instrument; S. P. Citizen, Terre Haute, paint; W. D. Davis, Crawfordsville, rubber-tread horseshoe; E. Finn, Elkhart, corner-iron for wagon-bodies or seats; G. Ford, New Harmony, Gate; W. M. Oilmore, Boggstown, valve for air-brakes; J. C. Hass, Bremen, seed-planter; C. S. Hisey, Aurora, cartridge-loading machine; L. C. Parker, Indianapolis, apparatus for the manufacture of gas; J. V. Rowlett, Richmond, rake; W. C. Smith, Goshen, spring-tires; A. D. Ulrich, Kokomo, horse collar.

PILES Rectal Ulcer, Fistula, Fissure, Etc., permanently cured. Piles of years standing cured in one PAINLESS treatment without knife, Ligature or clamp. No loss of time from business. Office treatment only. [illegible]

ALONG THE AMAZON.

WHERE RAIN COMES DOWN IN TERRIFIC CLOUDBURSTS.

For Months the Country Is Submerged by Water and All Kinds of Animals Are Driven to the Highlands and Tree Tops—A Tropical Deluge.

The worst inundations of Louisiana and eastern Arkansas are but spring freshets compared with the monster floods that visit the Amazon valley every year with a regularity equaled only by astronomical events and tax collections. The rainfall of northern Brazil is about three times that of the webfootiest counties of Oregon, and in midsummer the thunder showers that drench the woods every afternoon resemble a daily cloudburst. On the Northern Pacific no other word would be applied to an atmospheric waterfall, darkening the air like a London winter fog for hours together, and swamping a house, if the roof should leak, through an aperture of a few square inches.

Rains of that sort are apt to occur day after day for a series of weeks, and their effect on the lowlands can only be imperfectly indicated by the fact that the Amazon river drains an area of more than 2,000,000 square miles. The Mississippi, too, drains half the eastern slope of a country larger than Brazil, but its largest affluents are dwarfed by the third class tributaries of the South American father of waters.

Not such flowing lakes as the Rio Negro and the Madeira, but the Purus, the Yavari, the Qurua, the Hingo, the Papajos and dozens of other streams rarely mentioned on this side of the isthmus enter the main river through a delta miles in width and deep enough for the largest river steamers of the St. Lawrence.

About the middle of summer these streams begin to rise, those from the southwest first, those from the northwest and north a few weeks later, and a fortnight after the arrival of the second supplement the valley of the Maranon, the "wild hog river," as the early colonists called the Amazon, becomes a paradise of swamp loving brutes. The tapis, the peccari, the fish otter celebrate the picnic season of their summer life, and herds of wild deer begin their westward exodus. Near Monte Beira, in the province (now state) of Matto Grosso, the woods in midsummer get full of game, as a hundred years ago the foothills of the southern Alleghanies swarmed with wild pigeons when the forests of the north were buried in snow.

A more than usually sudden rise of the flood cuts off many of these fugitives, who are thus reduced to the alternative of making for the highest accessible ground, farther east, till every knoll becomes a hill of refuge, crowded with timid brutes, whose survival depends on their escape from the giant cats and boas who may approach their stronghold by swimming, if the water should have submerged too large a portion of the continuous forest.

About two months after the beginning of the rainy season the deluge of the lowlands reaches its maximum. Thousands of square miles are submerged so effectually that canoes can be paddled through forests apparently free from underbrush, since only the taller trees, with their network of climbing vines, rise like islands above the surging waters. The swollen rivers have found new currents, and broad, gurgling streams twist and eddy through the leafy wilderness, tearing off whole groups of trees, with all their roots, but making amends by depositing hillocks of driftwood, which soon get covered with tufts of new vegetation.

The pressure of the surging flood against these mounds of alluvium soon becomes enormous, but the deep rooted stems of the adansonia and the canoho tree may resist till new deposits of driftwood consolidate a number of mounds, thus forming good sized islands with a down stream base of perhaps half a mile, but a narrow head deflecting the current left and right, like the wedge shaped front of a stout bridge pier. At the time of their incipiency these new islands may be tenanted only by river lizards, but necessity is the mother of successful exploration as well as of invention, and a week after its birth the driftwood hill swarms with animal refugees, hogs, deer and capybaris, jostling each other in their struggle for a base of operations, thus often getting noisy enough to attract the prowling carnivora.

The climbing talent of the great cats saves them the trouble of emigration. The jaguar and the ocelot become entirely arboreal, traveling like monkeys from branch to branch, and making themselves at home in the tree tops—so much so indeed that some of them go to housekeeping and raise a litter of cubs in the cavity of a hollow tree.

Their larder is replenished by all sorts of pheasants and woodhens, who make their headquarters in the underbrush, but who are now obliged to take up lodgings on the lower branches of the unsubmerged trees. By climbing around the stem and rising suddenly in view an ocelot can scare a roost of gallinaceous fowl out of their wits and strike down two or three of the clumsy youngsters before the whole flock contrives to take wing.

A swimming deer in these submerged tangle woods has no chance at all against the pursuit of an enemy that can leap from branch to branch or climb along the viaductlike cables of the great liana vines, and a jaguar would not begin to regret a phenomenal deluge till the waters had closed over the tops of the tallest palms.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A Comparison.

Jack (idly swinging)—Engaged yet?
Jerry (sadly)—No.
Jack—Your fair one is like your hammock.
Jerry—How?
Jack—She keeps you in suspense.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

Garrett Steam Laundry.

Peter Young has the agency for the Model Steam Laundry at Garrett, an establishment that has a reputation equal to the best, and has been in operation for the past two years with marked success. Parties should call on Mr. Young when they want any work in this line. Fine work and prompt delivery a specialty. Laundry will be sent over by Mr. Young Tuesday and be returned Saturday.

You will seldom need a doctor if you have Simmons Liver Regulator handy.

THEY WASH THEIR CLOTHES WITH

SANTA CLAUS SOAP.

That's where they get their style.

MADE ONLY BY

N.K.FAIRBANK&Co. CHICAGO.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE GREATEST BLOOD PURIFIER KNOWN.

This Great German Medicine is the CHEAPEST and best. 128 doses of Sulphur Bitters for $1.00, less than one cent a dose. It will cure the worst kind of skin disease, from a common pimple on the face to that awful disease, SCROFULA. In all cases of such stubborn, deep seated diseases, Sulphur Bitters is the best medicine to use. Don't wait until tomorrow, try a bottle TO-DAY.

Don't ever take BLUE PILLS, or mercury, they are deadly. Put your trust in Sulphur Bitters, the purest and best medicine ever made. Is your TONGUE COATED with a yellow, sticky substance? Is your Breath foul and offensive? Your Stomach is OUT OF ORDER. Use Sulphur Bitters immediately.

If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters.

Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some AT ONCE, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is THE INVALID'S FRIEND.

Send 3 2-cent stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., for best medical work published.

The foundry and locomotive establishment at Dunkirk, Newyork, is conducted by Mrs. Horatio Brooks, a Maine woman.

Iowa State Fair.

Dear Sir:—While at the State Fair my wife tried your Krause's Headache Capsules, with good results. We have mentioned them to some of our neighbors and they want to give them a trial. They prove to be all that they are recommended. Please find enclosed express order for $1.00, for which send four boxes of Capsules.

C. M. WILSON, Gilbert, Iowa.

St. Martin's Cauterbuyr, is said to be the oldest chuch in England. It was built about 360 A. D.

Save Your Eyes.

Don't ruin your eyes, by wearing improper glasses, or those not properly fitted. Get an experienced and skillful man to fit them to your eyes. So wait till C. J. Porter, the Waterloo optician, comes to Auburn. He will be at the Hollister House, the first Tuesday in each month. Don't forget the date.

American fruit-growers are making great inroads into the British market.

I Am Proud

to say from personal experience that Sulphur Bitters, which advertisement will be seen in another column, is the best spring and blood medicine to be found. It is prepared by an honest firm, who scorn to use cheap and worthless medicines, but use the best that money can buy.

There is a sign on the entrance to a cemetery at North Wales, Montgomery county, Pa., which reads: "No admittance except on business"

Mothers and Daughters.

Over twelve years I was afflicted with a very serious female difficulty, and for the last sixteen months was under treatment of three of the very best physicians that money could employ. Under their skillful treatment I gradually grew worse, until they decided they could render me no permanent help. One of my friends persuaded me to try a bottle of Dullam's Great German Uterine Tonic, and after taking three bottles, can say I am in better health than I have been for twenty years, and am now sixty years old but feel as young as at thirty.—$1 a bottle.

June 2 1890. MRS. S. E CARPENTER, Loree, Mich.

For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

No bird can fly backward without turning; the dragon fly, however, can do this and can outstrip the swallow in speed.

A Contractor's Advice.

MESSRS. DULLAM BROS.,—Gentlemen:—I take great pleasure in testifying in behalf of Dullam's Great German Blood, Liver, Stomach and Kidney Cure. I can safely say that I never took such medicine as that to cleanse the liver, stomach and kidneys. I was suffering for years with biliousness, indigestion, and loss of appetite and sleep. One bottle did for me more good than six month's other treatment, and I feel it my duty to testify in its behalf, so others may try it and get cured. Yours truly,

WARREN E. RUSSELL, Contractor and builder, Flint, Mich.

For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

In some of the big dry goods stores of New York, the cash girls receive wages of $1 50 a week.

For Twenty Years.

Mr. Geo. Frank, ex commissioner of Adams Co., Ind., says: I have had a bronchial cough for two years and used all the different cough medicines, and found nothing that has given me so much relief as Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup. I can heartily recommend it to all of those that are affected with a chronic cough, and guarantee that it will give entire satisfaction. Yours,

GEO. FRANK.

Sold by all druggists.

Buenos Ayres is going extensively into the manufacture of agricultural implements.

Barb Wire Cu's

are without a doubt the most painful and the worst looking cuts or bruises an animal receives. A man is not wise or thoughtful who does not have a bottle of Krause's German Oil. Only 25 cts., and good for man and beast.—

There are nearly twice as many persons to the square mile in Europe as there are in Asia.

Worth Ten Dollars

to any family, is Dr. Kaufmann's book on deseases; finely illustrated plates from life; don't be humbugged, but cure yourself. Send 3 2-cent stamps for postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy free.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY, Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Recorder's Office

THE AUBURN COURIER.

VOLUME XXII. AUBURN, DE KALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 1, 1892. NUMBER 35.

YOU WANT

Screen doors, window screens, screen wire, spring hinges, refrigerators, gasolene stoves, oil stoves, lawn mowers, ice cream freezers, leather fly nets, cord fly nets, lap dusters, horse sheets, buggy whips, grass scythes, scythe snaths, scythe stones, lawn rakes, wood rakes, horse hay forks, ropes and pulleys, hammocks, hammock ropes, hammock spreaders, hammock hooks,

BICYCLES,

tricycles, velocipedes, Builders's Hardware, paints, oils, brushes,

SEWING MACHINES,

and ANYTHING and EVERYTHING to be found in a first-class

HARDWARE.

You can fiind all of these at

W. H. KIBLINGER'S,

AUBURN, IND.

L. S, & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE--In Effect May 15 1892

TRAINS GOING NORTH.
Stations—	Mail.	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne,....dp	11 50 am	4 40 pm	6 40 am
New Era	12 18 pm	5 15	7 27
Auburn Junc.	12 28	5 27	7 18
Auburn	12 32	5 36	8 32
Waterloo	12 43	5 41	9 24
Summit	12 56	5 53	9 45
Pleasant Lake	1 05	6 06	10 12
Angola	1 14	6 16	10 50
Jackson	3 30	8 40	5 00

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.
Stations—	Freight	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson.........dp	6 45 am	11 15 am	6 30 am
Angola	12 25 pm	2 08 pm	8 51
Pleasant Lake	1 04	2 20	9 01
Summit	1 25	2 32	9 11
Waterloo	2 30	2 56	9 24
Auburn	3 07	3 07	9 34
Auburn Junc.	3 38	3 11	9 38
New Era	4 05	3 22	9 50
Fort Wayne	5 25	3 55	10 25

For rates on tickets or freight to all points, call on or address E. T. DeLAPP, Agent at Auburn

TIME TABLE

THE WABASH
LINE

TRAINS CARRYING PASSENGERS LEAVE

GOING EAST.

Atlantic Express	4:03 am—Daily
Boston Express	5:41 am—Daily
Detroit Accom'n	2:30 pm—ex Su
New York Limited	8:04 pm—Daily

GOING WEST.

Pacific Express	1:32 am—Daily
Peru Accommodation	6:33 am—ex Sun
Mail and Express	12:38 pm—ex Su
Chicago & St. Louis Lim(53)	5:12 pm—Daily

All these trains stop for passengers.

For rates, Tickets, Time Table, etc., apply to
I. M. ZENT, Agent,
Auburn, Ind.
T. H. SPROTT, City Ticke Agent.
CHAS. M. HAYS, Gen'l Manager.
F. CHANDLER, Gen'l Pass and Ticket Agent.

ONE LIMITED FIRST-CLASS FARE FOR THE ROUND TRIP

HARVEST EXCURSIONS,

Aug. 30th, and Sept. 27th,

The "Wisconsin Central Lines"

Will run low rate Harvest Excursions on above dates, to points in Minnesota, Montana, North and South Dakota. Tickets will be good twenty (20) days from date of sale, with stop-over privileges to points west of St. Paul and Minneapolis.

For full information, address any of the company's representatives, or

JAMES C. POND,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Chicago, Ill.

WALTER'S METALLIC SHINGLES are made from the best grades of roofing Tin plate, and steel sheets galvanized. You can buy them painted or not. Our Galvanized Shingles are rain and rust proof, without the necessity of painting. Our painted Tin Shingles are more durable and ornamental than it is possible to make a tin roof, put on in the old-fashioned style. Write for price list R.

THE NATIONAL SHEET METAL ROOFING Co
9 Cliff St., New York.

The country's currency circulation per inhabitant is greater now than it was a year ago, and is greater than Great Britain's.

Fail to do Our Duty.

Everybody has at times failed to do their duty towards themselves. Hundreds of lady readers suffer from sick headache, nervousness, sleeplessness and female troubles. Let them follow the example of Mrs. Herbetcher, Stevens Point, Wis., who for five years suffered greatly from nervous prostration and sleeplessness, tried physicians and different medicines without success. But one bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine caused sound sleep every night and she is feeling like a new person. Mrs. Elizabeth Wheeler, Laramie City, Wyoming, who tried all other remidies, declares that after three week's use of the Nervine for headache, nervous prostration, etc., she was entirely relieved. Sold by F. E. Davenport. Trial bottle free. 1

While some choice fruit and other products are canned in France, the bulk of the world's supply is produced in this country.

Fell Dead.

These words are very familiar to our readers, as not a day passes without the report of the sudden death of some prominent citizen. The explanation is "Heart Diseases." Therefore beware if you have any of the following symtoms: short breath; pain in side, smothering spells, swollen ankles, asthmatic breathing, weak and hungry spells, tenderness in shoulder or arm, fluttering of heart or irregular pulse. These symptoms mean heart disease. The most reliable remedy is Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which has saved thousands of lives. Book of testimonials free at F. E. Davenport's who also sells the New Heart Cure. 1

Only a few years ago there was not a mile of telegraph line in the Chinese Empire; to-day there is more than enough to girdle the earth.

Every Christian Mother

should be careful with her children. This damp atmosphere of our climate often bring on coughs, colds, etc., which if not attended to in time lead to that dreaded disease, consumption. To prevent this it is the duty of all mothers to have a remedy near, to check these coughs that your children may contract, and you cannot get a safer and more reliable remedy than Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup, the children's friend. You can buy this for 25 cts. of all druggists.

The largest oak now standing in England is the "Cowthorpie," which measures seventy eight feet in circumference at the ground.

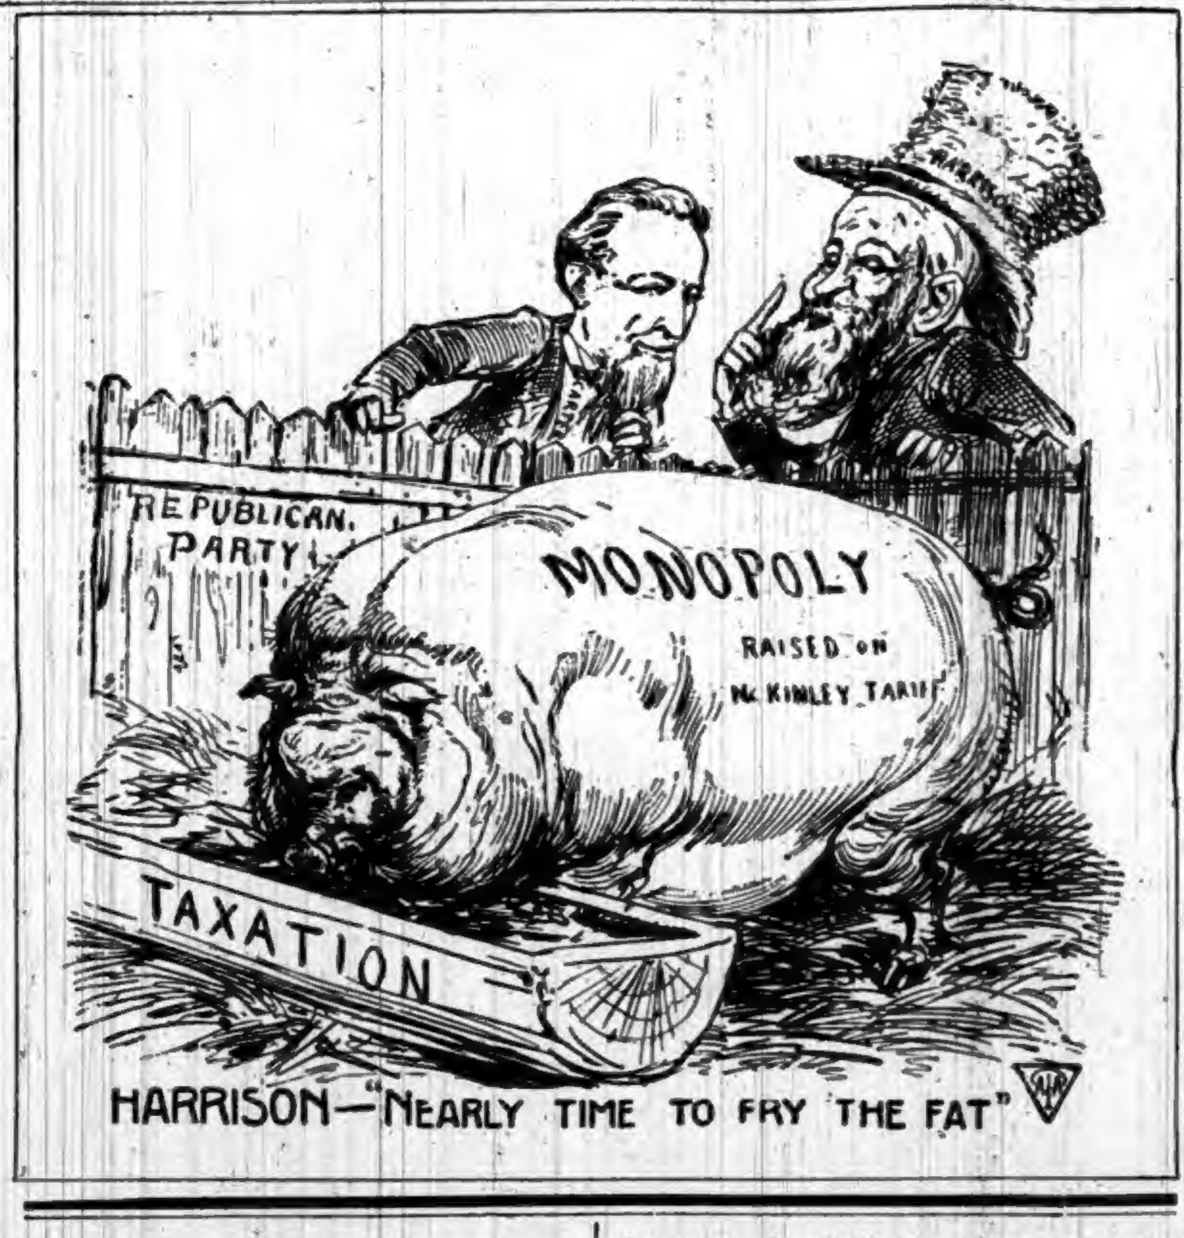
A Thoughtful Person

consults his best interests by having a box of Krause's Headache Capsules at hand; taken as directed will prevent, or stops any kind of a headache, no matter what the cause.—in fact if your skull was cracked it would prevent pain. The frequency of the attacks will diminish, and by taking the capsules at the approach of a headache, you will never have another.—For sale by Davenport.

The Minnesota iron mines adjacent to Duluth, Minn., shipped 900,000 tons of iron ore in 1891.

Cure Yourself.

Don't pay large doctors' bills. The best medical book published, 100 pages, elegant colored plates, will be sent you on receipt of three 2-cent stamps to pay postage. Address A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.



HARRISON—"NEARLY TIME TO FRY THE FAT"

AUBURN AND VICINITY.

Some Reminiscences of its Early Days and Pioneer Citizens.

1865.

It is a natural law affecting growth and stability that to secure the best results, the initial stages of all existence should be determined by a slow, steady evolution.

The expansion of towns keeping pace with the clearing and cultivation of adjacent farm lands and the productive capacity of their aggregate areas is subject, under ordinary conditions to the same common law.

Cities in the eastern states passed through various mutations extending through many years before they entered upon a more speedy growth and enlarged to present dimensions. In the course of settlement westward, the developement became more and more pronounced till it passed to extremes when towns and cities were located, platted and populated in a few months and present to the traveler, the phenomenal sight of electric cars, water works and all the improvements of this modern age, in large places standing as oases in broad, unoccupied or sparsely populated tracts of land.

The discovery of natural gas, oil, the precious metals or other of earth's interior riches as well as the commercial concentration growing out of railroad construction, have given tremendous impetus to municipal and urban growth, but when the speculator has abnormally stimulated the increase of these places by booming, there comes a time when reaction sets in and the pendulum of progress swings backward bringing in its train stagnation, depression, and loss of prestige.

That town that keeps in touch with the surrounding country and utilizes its facilities and advantages in public and private improvements proportionally with its resources, business and population can experience nothing of the ruinous results of precocious maturity under the heated stimulus of adventurous syndicates.

It has been well for Auburn that no tidal wave took up the town in false prosperity to retire at length and leave its every interest stranded, but that in the main, natural causes and legitimate enterprises have been left to slowly and steadily pave the way for her permanent prosperity.

Certain progressive movements seemed practicable in 1865, and the town'speople recognizing their apparent opportunity, brought them with vigor into play, but no untimely undertaking imperiled, no costly mistakes burdened the future with failures and debts such as weigh down and detract from the prosperity of very many western municipalities.

Auburn seemed to be and was by comparison a backward place, her people appeared to rest content with their quiescent condition while Waterloo City increased with gratifying speed and became the commercial metropolis of the county.

The people of Auburn were influenced by a combination of habit and necessity to wait for opportunity and to let events decide the future. The war having closed, population was augmented by return of soldiers and the sterling qualities that had made their services valuable to the country, were turned to account in civil life and this community was benefited largely by the vigor they infused into all channels of trade and industry. It was then a familiar sight to see groups of veterans still in their worn blue uniforms congregated at times near the public square to exchange greetings and relate experiences.

At more frequent intervals now, strangers dropped in, some to chance success and meet failure, others to study the possibilities of the locality, determine to stay and during the years that followed, to enhance their own welfare while adding to the material interests of the town.

The record of business changes for the year is not extended, but such improvements as were attempted were in the right direction. Time and again in these annals, we have seen some retire from their pursuits and others hopefully take their places, many to fail in their turn, a few to meet a reasonable prosperity.

The old Weaver House again changing its landlord, was now leased to J. M. Robbins for a term of years. S. G. Wise controlled the Auburn and Waterloo hack line and the first experience of the writer, on the roads of DeKalb county, was suffered in one of his hacks driven by David Bodine during the summer of this year, in a ride over an execrable highway of ruts, mud holes and corduroy from Waterloo to Auburn, and thence without rest, several miles eastward seeing, little to admire but the magnificent forest trees that almost lined and frequently overshadowed the rugged road.

It was only twenty-seven years ago, and yet there are few who recollect the town as it then was or the professional and business men. There was Dr. J. W. Lytle, who had been a resident and came again in 1865 to form a short lived partnership with Dr. George Keesler in the work of ameliorating the ills due to uncertain climate and broken laws of health and there was the firm of Keesler & Casebeer, then that of Littlefield & Casebeer, and few there are who do not know and have reason to thankfully remember the long and yet existing firm of Matheny & Casebeer, proprietors of the Physicians' drugstore, and physicians of extended practice.

Dr. Littlefield some years ago went west and was connected with the developement of a western town, but the boom collapsed and the prospective wealth as quickly vanished. Some may remember a son, Daniel, gentlemanly, fastidious and scholarly, and wonder what has become of him.

Dr. Jacob B. Casebeer physician and surgeon, had served in the army, located in Auburn about 1865 and has been in successful practice with associates named down to the present, He is now a member of the board of medical examiners of this district, being associated with Doctors Darby of Waterloo and Fanning, of Butler, and his skill and experience have brought him a good reputation and extended practice.

(To be continued next week.)

Resolutions.

Spencerville Lodge No. 321 K. of P., wishing to express their gratitude to those who assisted them in their picnic, in their last regular session passed the following resolutions:

Resolved, that we tender our sincere thanks to the speaker J. M, Robinson for his able address.

Resolved, that we too feel grateful to all the musicians, speakers and singers who so ably assisted us.

Resolved, that we also express our gratitude to the ladies of Spencerville and vicinity for their efficient work at the picnic.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be published in our county papers.

DR. G. E. EMANUEL, }
DR. N. J. SHOOK } Com.
J. W. BEAMS }

Good Races a Valuable Feature of any fair, and the Hicksville fair is making an effort to have the best races for years. Attend, Sep. 20 to 23. and have a good time.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder. Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

HONDURAS LETTER.

From Honduras to My Native Land.

It was in the early days of June, I had just finished planting my bananas, a small vessel was to sail on the morrow. Happy indeed was I for in the early dawn I was to sail for my native land; the land of all I loved, more dear to me than gold or wealth. Before the rising of the tropic sun we were bounding merrily over foam capped waves. How pleasant is ocean traveling when sky is clear and wind are fair! Two days sailing brought us to the island of Ruatan. Here I stopped in hopes of getting a vessel direct to the gulf parts. But all in vain, for our glorious country has built a Chinese wall against the inhabitants of the summer lands. From May 1st to Oct. 1st they cannot enter in any of the southern parts of the United States. For three weeks I tried to get north from Ruatan, but found it impossible. Therefore the only possible way to reach home was by the way of New York, and in order to get to New York we must take sailing vessels to Jamaica, which is the nearest point of steamboat communication to our metropolis. At the end of the third week of waiting, a sailing vessel bound for the West India Islands, touched at Ruatan, I engaged passage to her destination. We sailed away to the eastward against the wind and tide. The trade winds blow constantly from the east in this region. The ocean current that feeds the gulf stream here flows strong from the east, making navigation to the eastward very difficult for sailing craft. We sailed away for many days against wind and tide. The weather was bad and rainy. There were about forty persons on board, most of whom were negroes and creoles. The sea was rough and many of the passengers were seasick. There was no shelter and most of us were compelled to accept the stars for a covering, more often the dripping clouds, often being wet to the skin, sleeping in wet blankets. Such were the discomforts of the traveler in the West India islands. It was on a bright sunny morn when the man at the masthead sang out, land ho! As the golden orb of day was sinking beneath the blue waters of the Caribbean Sea, we again set our feet on dry land. This was the island of Grand Commands, which is situated somewhere in the center of the sea of the Caribs. This island is fourteen miles long by nine wide, is inhabited principally by descendants of the Buccaners, all English speaking people. This island enjoys a delightful climate, but is cursed with a most formidable pest, a small variety of mosquito, in such incredible numbers as to make life a burden. Cattle raising had been attempted, but the mosquitoes overwhelmed the poor animals and sucked their life from them. The people keep smoke in their houses most of the time, and wear nets over their person when going to work on their plantations. As if this were not enough, nature has sent another pest to curse these island people. It is what they call the fire ant, a small red ant which breeds in far greater numbers than even the dreadful mosquito. Everything is alive with them. You cannot sit down without getting on the ants; you can not pick up a stone or stick without fighting the king of pests. They come in the houses by the million, cover the eatables, get into everything, beds not exempted. I spent eight nights at this point, fighting ants and mosquitoes, when I removed to the other end of the island only to find these pests more terrific if possible than at the place I had left. Here I did not go to bed at all, but sat up fighting foes more to be dreaded than Bengal tigers or Cape lions. After three days waiting at this place, I found a vessel that was bound for Jamaica by an indirect way. I engaged passage at once. Little did I know of the misery and privations I was to endure on that miserable craft. I was too eager to leave that pest ridden island only to bring upon myself greater hardships. This little vessel had no accomodations whatever and carried some twenty passengers, mostly negroes and creoles. They were a filthy lot; cleanliness is unknown to them. Five of the passengers were females, and without any accommodations, one must lose all sense of shame. If some of our northern dudes were placed in my position they would have been greatly humbled.

J. A. SHADE.

(To be continued next week.)

Obituary.

John G. Foster, son of Will B. and Loucetta Foster was born near Manchester, Wabash county, Ohio, May 11, 1879, and died Aug. 19, 1892 aged 13 years, 3 months and 8 days.

The primary cause of his death was inflammation of the bowels causing adhesions and abscesses, terminating in peritonitis, after which within a few short hours his spirit passed from earth to Heaven where there is no pain but eternal peace and happiness. He was an unusually bright and intellectual boy, ranked among the first in deportment and daily grades at school, was beloved by all his classmates many of whom brought floral offerings for the casket. Rev. A. S. Wooton had prayer and read a scriptural lesson at the house after which his remains were taken to Oak Grove Cemetery near Larwill for interment, Rev. Eddinger of Larwill, officiating.

He is not dead, the child of our affections,
  But gone unto that school
Where he no longer needs our poor protection,
  And Christ himself doth rule.

In that great cloister's stillness and seclusion,
  By guardian angels led,
Safe from temptation, safe from sin's pollution
  He lives, whom we call dead.

Let us be patient! These severe afflictions
  Not from the ground arise,
But oftentimes Celestial benedictions
  Assume this dark disguise.

—LONGFELLOW.

NEW GOODS,
NEW GOODS,
NEW GOODS!

More than ever before!

Dry Goods, Clothing, Carpets,
FURNITURE.

All new styles and sure to please you.

DRESS GOODS

perfectly beautiful.

LADIES' WRAPS

the same.

CLOTHING

for young and old. Nothing but the best of workmanship, and goods that are honest and give the best of satisfaction.

Trade with us, it will pay you.

SCHAAB & BRO.

RICKEL
— AND —
SPROTT

Real Estate Agents.
Loan Agents.
Rail Road Agents.
Steamship Agents.
Western Land Ag'ts.
Emigration Agents.

FARMS.

80 acres unimproved land in Keyser township, within one mile of Garrett. This is a rare chance, Long time and easy terms. No better land in the county, and not a foot that cannot be tilled.

Farms in Kansas Nebraska, Arkansas, Dakotas and Minnesota, to sell on the grain plan. No cash payments required, No mortgage. Payments made by products of farms. Write for full particulars,

30 acres of land in Richland township. Land all cleared and fenced. Price $45 per acre. Part on time.

70-acre farm within 2½ miles of Auburn Good log house, two good wells, 7 acres timber; balance cleared and in good state of cultivation. Price $45 per acre in small payments.

81 acres good land near St. Joe, Ind., in the St. Joe River valley. Good 5-room house, 2 good barns, orchard, well, etc. 50 acres cleared, balance in timber. Will be sold cheap and on long time.

6 acres land in Alexandria County, Virginia, unimproved. Lies within 4 miles of the Capitol Buildings at Washington, D. C. Elegant site for fruit farm. Long time, easy terms.

80-acre farm in Jackson township. 2-story, 7-room brick dwelling, barn 32 x 64, orchard of 80 trees, and small fruits of all kinds. 65 acres cleared, balance in timber. Excellent productive soil. Easy price and long time.

40 acres of good land lying 6 miles east of Auburn. Good log house, barn, orchard of 18 bearing apple trees, good fences, and well. 34 acres under cultivation, balance in timber.

Farm of 103 acres of land east of Auburn, 4 miles, Large 2 story frame dwelling house, two barns, large orchard and small fruits, wells, and farm well tiled. Farm in good state of cultivation. Price $55 per acre. Long time and easy payments.

Farm of 80 acres within ½ mile of Auburn. Well adapted to gardening and growing small fruits. Will be sold on long time with good cash payments.

80 acre farm in Jackson township, under fine state of cultivation, good buildings, good fences, plenty of fruit of the choicest varieties. 10,000 tile laid. This is an easy mark and can be bought cheap.

TOWN PROPERTIES.

No. 351. 1½-story frame house of 6 rooms, 15 fruit trees, in good thrifty condition, good well, chicken park, etc, In McIntyre's addition, Price $500,

Vacant lot in Shaffer, Boland & Robbins addition. Price $85.00.

1½-story frame dwelling and frame barn in southeast part of town. Cheap for all cash.

1½ frame dwelling house 16x26 and wing 16x20 and 1½ lots in St. Joe, Ind, Some fruit, good cistern. Price $600, on long time.

Good residence property, located on South Jackson street, 1½ story frame dwelling, barn, wood house, well and cistern. Price $800 cash, balance in yearly payments,

Two very desirable building lots in Baxter & McClellan's addition. Easy price and terms.

An elegant residence property in the Natural Gas addition. For full descriptionof this property call at our office.

We have lands in the Western States for sale on the GRAIN PLAN. You give a share of crop each year, until the land is paid for. No cash needed! No mortgage given! No crops, no payment, therefore no foreclosure.

Write or call on us for full particulars of this plan, and instead of renting and giving your crop away, buy land on the

GRAIN PLAN,

and so make a payment on your own farm.

Land is good in quality and as productive as any land in Indiana. Well located, near good markets in good neighborhoods, and near schools.

Office Under
Farmers Bank,
AUBURN. IND.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

ONLY HALF A GLANCE,

WILL SHOW YOU THAT THE NEWS IS ALL HERE.

Efforts to Keep Cholera Out of This Country—Three Convicts Attempt to Escape from the Jackson Penitentiary—Four Persons Killed in a Collision.

To Keep Out Cholera.

New York special: The sanitary authorities, after a conference with Mayor Grant and Health Officer Jenkins, have decided that it would be foolhardy not to expect the Asiatic scourge to appear here and they have acted as if they counted on its breaking out within the next week. As a result of the quarantine conference all immigrants from infected ports will, after individual examinations and the fumigation and steaming of baggage, be subjected to a rigid quarantine from two to five days. Of course the steamship companies, which will be taxed for this detention, will not be slow to act, and the result of the order will be a practical cessation of immigration from points that menace the United States with contagion.

The Fort Wayne Races.

The trotting and pacing meeting which begins at Fort Wayne, Sept. 6th, and lasts through the week will be the greatest event of its kind ever held in Indiana. About 225 horses are entered, among them being nearly all the great cracks of the year.

The pacers are a wonderful lot, and no such a free-for-all class of pacers ever before came together on any track as will meet at Fort Wayne on Thursday, Sept. 8th. There are thirteen horses entered and eight of them have records ranging from 2:08½ to 2:13½. They are Roy Wilkes, 2:08¼; Flying Jib, 2:08½; Guy, 2:10⅛; Grant's Abdallah, 2:10⅛; Major Wonder, 2:11; Telegram, 2:12½ Mascot, 2:13 and Vinetto, 2:13½. This race will absolutely be the greatest pacing race ever seen, and will eclipse in interest any special event of the year.

A Break for Liberty.

Edward Huntley, a 25-year Detroit burglar; John Davis, a 5-year burglar from Kalamazoo, and "Lige" Bullard, sent from Detroit for six years for assault with attempt to kill, tried to escape from the penitentiary at Jackson, Mich., by climbing the prison wall. Huntley and Davis were fatally shot and Bullard was captured. August 16, 1891, both Huntley and Davis escaped by scaling the walls. Huntley was caught in two months and Davis was extradited from Canada. Huntley and Bullard work on the Withington & Cooley contracts, but in different shops. Davis belongs to the marble cutting contract, a long way from the other two men.

The Eight Hour Law.

Acting Secretary of War Grant has requested the Attorney General to render an opinion as to whether the eight hour law applies to work on levees of the Mississippi River. Gen. Grant has little doubt himself that the law does apply to such work, but Congressman Catchings of Mississippi, who preferred the request originally thinks not, and said he would be better satisfied if the Attorney General would render an official opinion on the subject. The matter is one of great importance to the people of the Mississippi River valley as with the present appropriation at eight hours for a day's work, less work will be done for the same money.

Two Trains on the Jersey Central Railroad Crash Together.

Burlington (N. J.) special: Two trains on the Camden and Amboy branch of the Central railroad of New Jersey crashed together at Whitehill and four of the train hands were killed. The road is a single track one, and neither engineer knew of the other's approach until they were within a few yards of each other. A moment later came the crash, and both engines now lie across the track in a shapeless mass. The passengers on the eastbound train received a severe shaking up, but fortunately none of them were injured.

Attacked by Rabies.

The family of Henry Sults, near Gilman, Iowa, is afflicted with hydrophobia. Some five weeks ago Sults's dog went mad, bit Sults, his 2-year-old son and his daughter. Besides these a lot of live stock was bitten. Several cattle and one horse have since died, having all the symptoms of rabies. The daughter has felt no ill effects as yet and as her wound was slight it is hoped she will escape, but the father and son are suffering the most violent convulsions, the boy especially being raving mad. Their death is only a question of time.

Wants Them to Come.

William E. Curtis of the Bureau of American Republics has sailed on the City of Paris for Liverpool. His official mission is bearer of the invitations from the State Department to the Queen of Spain and the descendants of Columbus to attend the Columbian exposition. Mr. Curtis will spend a portion of his time in the manufacturing districts of England. He will be absent about six weeks.

Killed By a Sheriff's Posse.

Louisville special: A fight occurred between the Foster gang and the Sheriff's posse, in which one of the Foster crowd was killed and another was severely wounded.

Perished in the Flames.

After digging for three days among the ruins of the Wooster street fire at New York, the body of Clara Maerz, who was burned to death there, was found.

Killed Instantly by the Cars.

David E. Hough, a prominent farmer living near Oakville, Pa., was at the store there. He heard a fast line on the Cumberland Valley Railroad coming and rushed across the track to guard his horse. The train struck him and killed him instantly.

Senator Dawes Out of Politics.

Senator H. L. Dawes of Massachusetts, declines to be a candidate for re-election before the next Legislature. No reason is given for his determination.

An Awful Plague.

Milford, Mass., has a plague of black flies which rivals the famous plague of Egypt. For a number of days past the lower part of the town has been infested by a peculiar species of an insect of the nature of a fly, only not so large. On Pond street people have been forced to vacate their houses. Mr. Owen Keefe, proprietor of a candy and fruit store at the corner of Pond and Railroad streets, gave up business and was forced to acknowledge the superior power of the pest. The floors, counter and everything in the room were completely covered with the insects. Not alone is it on account of their numbers that trouble arises from them, but on account of their sting as well. A number of Main street stores are suffering to a great extent, while housewives all over town are wondering where they came from and how they can get rid of them.

TO KEEP CHOLERA OUT.

Practically a National Quarantine Now Exists.

The Treasury Department is acting promptly on all matters that have a bearing on the cholera epidemic, and nothing will be left undone that may tend to keep infection from the shores of this country.

To all intent and purposes there now exists a National quarantine, the cooperation of the the National and State executive authorities resulting in the formation of a cordon which will make it extremely difficult for a case of cholera to reach the shores of the United States. Surgeon-General Wyman of the Marine Hospital Service, is now considering a proposition to continue the disinfection of baggage during the winter. This, it is thought, will prevent the spreading of cholera in the United States after the present alarm is over. The Treasury Department requested the Navy Department to loan the Marine Hospital Service an old hulk or abandoned vessel of some kind to be used as a hospital at the Cape Charles quarantine station.

The Navy Department, however, was unable to comply with the request, as there was nothing of the kind suitable. Secretary Charles Foster has turned over to the Marine Hospital Service the old revenue cutter Ewing, now tied up at Baltimore, and she will be taken to Chesapeak Bay to the quarantine station.

FATAL TRAIN COLLISION.

Five Persons Killed and Many Injured.

Brussels special: A disastrous accident occurred on the railway near Brussels. The express train from Ostend to Brussels was near Dieghem and Schaerbek, the latter place properly a suburbs of Brussels, inhabited by the wealthy class, when the ordinary accommodation train from Brussels to Antwerp came along. The express train was most severely damaged. A first-class carriage of the express was crushed to pieces and a number of those in the carriage were killed or injured. The passengers in this carriage were mostly persons of good position and distinction, three of whom were killed. A. Jestlin, Consul General at Brussels for the Orange Free States, was among the many injured, and it is feared that many of the injured will die. The locomotive of the express was also badly damaged in the collision and the fireman and engineer were crushed to death. Other first class carriages were damaged and the second and third class coaches were uninjured.

WITH A CRASH.

A Wild Engine Runs Into a Passenger Train.

The north bound passenger train on the Evansville & Terre Haute road was wrecked at Farmersburg, Ind. The conductor and engineer were in the telegraph office at that place when a brakeman saw a wild engine coming along the track. He jumped on it at the risk of his life and reversed it, but the momentum was so great that a collission was inevitable and he jumped off. Some of the passengers got out of the cars, two or three climbing out of the windows. The engine struck the rear coach, smashing every car in the train. John T. Bearsley of Sullivan, leader of the Democratic side of the House in the last Legislature, was badly crushed in the back and may not recover. Others were slightly hurt. The collision was the result of a wreck on the Alum Cave branch of the E. & T. H., both engineer and fireman having jumped when the train was struck, and their engine became detached from the train.

INDIANA SALOONS

Demolished by Infuriated Women Who Are Arrested.

Tipton (Ind.) special: Since the arrest of Mrs. Ben Vice and Mrs. Frank Foach at Windfall, for demolishing the front of the two local saloons, another woman has been added to the list. Mrs. Richard Huston has been placed under bond for the same offense. Raids were made on the saloons by these women and each time they left abundant evidence of their visit. The women were armed with axes and they attacked the glass fronts, completely destroying the large windows. The bartenders were driven from the places and several gallons of whisky were spilled about the floor. In one of the saloons a costly sideboard was ruined. The bonds of the women were placed at $300 in each case, but they had no trouble in finding plenty of security. The saloonmen say they intend to fight the case to the bitter end, but the friends of the women do not seem alarmed.

A MINE HORROR IN WALES.

One Hundred and Fifty Men Buried by an Explosion.

London special: A fearful mining accident occurred at the Park Slip coal pit, near Bridge End, a mining town in Glamorganshire, Wales.

The day shift of miners had not been long in the mine before a most terrible explosion was heard. The day shift comprised 150 men, and their relatives and friends rushed to the pit mouth to learn the extent of the disaster.

The explosion had caused the earth and rock to fall and the mouth of the pit was closed. Not a single man of the 150 in the mine had made his escape and it is feared that there has been great loss of life. Hundreds of the miners in the vicinity have volunteered their services and the work of clearing the pit mouth is being pushed as rapidly as circumstances will permit.

The Bridge Gave Way.

Greenville (Pa.) special: Bridge Foreman Fisher of the Pittsburg, Shenango and Lake Erie railroad, together with several other employes of the road started on engine 23 to inspect the bridge along the line that had been damaged by the late storm. While crossing the bridge at Dixonburg the structure gave way and engine and men were hurled to the bottom of a deep ravine and into the torrents of water that are yet sweeping down the creek bed. Foreman Fisher was instantly killed and Conductor Deifenliber had both legs crushed off and can not live. Others are reported dead or dying. A corps of physicians have gone to the scene of the accident on a special train.

Revolution Ended.

New Orleans special: News that the revolution in Honduras is ended was brought in by the steamship City of Dallas. The leaders of the revolutionists Neuilla and Bonilla, have fled the country and most of the government forces have been disbanded. Reserves are stationed at the principal cities and ample precautions have been taken to prevent a fresh outbreak. The revolutionists soldiers have been permitted to return to their homes, but if any of the leaders are found they will be shot.

May Come Soon.

The officers of the health department of New York, distinguished sanitary scientist, and leading physicians state that in their belief the scourge of Asiatic cholera will soon reach New York, and that the dread disease may be expected in a few weeks or even days. The greatest of precautions are being exercised to fight the plague, and President Wilson of the health board strongly favors the suppression of immigration into this country.

Thrown Twenty Feet by a Boiler Explosion.

Rockford (Ill.) special: The boiler in the steam yacht of H. D. Sears exploded on Rock River, near Harlem Park, and the occupants, Mrs. Sears, Mrs. Lawrence, and Mrs. George F. Penfield and child were thrown out into the stream a distance of twenty feet. They were rescued by small parties in small boats. The occupants are all prominent Rockfordites and were badly injured in the accident.

Floods on Mars.

Prof. William H. Pickering of Harvard College, who is now viewing Mars from a mountain top observatory at Arequipa, Peru, writes that he has made some interesting discoveries in relation to the planet. He says a few days ago he noticed a band of brilliant green surrounding Mars and on the color changing yellow several canals were plainly visible. He also traces extensive floods on the planet.

Pythian Officers Elected.

The Supreme Lodge of Knights of Pythias of the world, in session at Kansas City, elected the following officers: W. W. Blackwell of Kentucky, Supreme Chancellor; Walter H. Richie, Supreme Vice Chancellor; E. J. Blackler of California, Supreme Prelate; R. L. C. White of Tennessee, Keeper of Records and Seals; S. J. Willey of Delaware, Supreme Master of the Exchequer; B. Rennedy of Illinois, Secretary of the Endowment Rank, holds over until the change in the constitution is considered.

Torn to Pieces by a Performing Bear.

Paris special: Madam Mars, a beartamer, while performing at a show in this city, slipped and fell upon the floor of the cage. The bears, which she had been holding in check, at once sprang upon the prostrate woman and tore her to pieces. Her husband, who was near by, made a desperate effort to save her life, but in vain. He killed one of the bears, but before the others could be subdued their victim was dead. The husband was severely wounded in the struggle with the beasts.

Outlaw Best Meets His Death.

Humphrey Best, the notorious outlaw of Garrard County, Kentucky, was killed at Banklick. Best and John Campbell met at McKnight's store, engaged in a quarrel and soon began firing. Campbell killed Best and was shot through the lung. A little 10-year-old son of Ike Holland was accidentally shot and killed. A young man named Hammond was also shot through the shoulder. The latter will recover. Best has for years been a terror. His father killed seven men.

Gov. Flower Means Business.

Gov. Flower of New York, has issued a proclamation in which he says: "I direct the attention of the people of the State to the provision of the penal code relating to interference with the running of trains." He then offers a reward of $100 to be paid upon the arrest and conviction of each person who shall during the next thirty days violate the provisions of the penal code relating to steam railroads.

All Peaceful.

Buffalo special: Everything has been gratifyingly peaceful in the railroad yards since the troops were withdrawn, but the non-union men who took the strikers' places continue to fear violence and many of them are reluctant to remain at work. This is particularly the case in the yards of the Buffalo Creek railroad, where little or nothing is being done.

Miners Captured.

Knoxville special: Over 100 prisoners arrested at Oliver Springs were landed at Camp Carnes, Coal Creek, recently. Many of them were recognized as men who captured the members of the Chilhowie Light Infantry of this city and robbed them of everything they had. They will be tried for conspiracy and highway robbery. The next raid will be on Jellico.

Arm Cut Off.

At Higginsport, Ohio, while at work at the saw-mill, Matthew Green met with a serious accident, having his right arm cut half off just above the elbow. He was cleaning out shavings from under a saw when he was cut. The bone was not touched, but all the muscles are severed on the back of the arm.

The Pythian Knights.

The next bi-ennial session of the Supreme Lodge and Encampment of the Knights of Pythias will be held in Washington, D. C. So the Supreme Lodge decided after a sharp contest between Louisville, Washington, and Minneapolis.

Two Men Shot at Royal Center, Ind.

Henry Sunders was shot and killed and Henry Grant fatally wounded at Royal Center, Ind., by ex-City Marshal John Clark. The two men were quarreling over a scandal which created a big sensation in that town recently.

An Attorney Assassinated.

Louis B. McWhirter, prominent attorney and politician of Fresno, Cal., was called to his door and assassinated. No clew to the assassin.

THE MARKETS.

CHICAGO
CATTLE—Common to Prime	$3.50	@ 5.50
HOGS—Shipping Grades	3.50	@ 6.00
SHEEP—Fair to Choice	4.00	@ 5.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.74½	@ .75½
CORN—No. 2	.51	@ .52
OATS—No. 2	.33½	@ .34½
RYE—No. 2	.62	@ .63
BUTTER—Choice Creamery	.23	@ .25
EGGS—FRESH	.17	@ .18
POTATOES—New, per bu.	.55	@ .65
INDIANAPOLIS.
CATTLE—Shipping	3.25	@ 5.00
HOGS—Choice Light	3.50	@ 6.00
SHEEP—Common to Prime	3.00	@ 4.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.71	@ .71½
CORN—No. 1 White	.52	@ .52½
OATS—No. 2 White	.35½	@ .36½
ST. LOUIS.
CATTLE	3.00	@ 5.00
HOGS	3.50	@ 5.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.70	@ .71
CORN—No. 2	.47	@ .48
OATS—No. 2	.33	@ .34
RYE—No. 2	.60½	@ .61½
CINCINNATI.
CATTLE	3.00	@ 4.75
HOGS	3.00	@ 6.00
SHEEP	3.00	@ 5.00
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.74½	@ .75½
CORN—No. 2	.51	@ .52
OATS—No. 2 Mixed	.35½	@ .36½
RYE—No. 2	.66	@ .68
DETROIT.
CATTLE	3.00	@ 4.50
HOGS	3.00	@ 5.75
SHEEP	3.00	@ 4.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.77½	@ .78½
CORN—No. 3 Yellow	.52	@ .52½
OATS—No. 2 White	.35½	@ .36½
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—No. 2	.77	@ .78
CORN—No. 2 White	.51½	@ .52½
OATS—No. 2 White	.36	@ .36½
RYE	.65	@ .67
BUFFALO.
CATTLE—Common to Prime	3.00	@ 4.50
HOGS—Best Grades	4.00	@ 6.25
WHEAT—No. 1 Hard	.88	@ .89
CORN—No. 2	.56	@ .57
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.71	@ .73
CORN—No. 3	.52	@ .53
OATS—No. 2 White	.36	@ .37
RYE—No. 1	.63	@ .65
BARLEY—No. 2	.63	@ .65
PORK—Mess	10.75	@11.25
NEW YORK.
CATTLE	3.50	@ 5.00
HOGS	3.00	@ 6.50
SHEEP	3.00	@ 5.50
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.81½	@ .82½
CORN—No. 2	.65	@ .66
OATS—Mixed Western	.39	@ .41
BUTTER—Creamery	.23	@ .24
PORK—New Mess	12.25	@12.75

SPEECH BY STEVENSON.

HE OPENS THE CAMPAIGN AT BLOOMINGTON.

General Stevenson, Senator Palmer, General Black, and Other Distinguished Leaders Talk to Thousands—Democratic and Republican Policies Contrasted.

Illinois Given the Word.

Nearly fifteen thousand people attended the great Democratic demonstration in Bloomington, which inaugurated the Illinois campaign. Among the speakers were Gen. Stevenson, Senator John M. Palmer, Gen. John C. Black, Henry Raab, and Rufus N. Ramsey.

Gen. Stevenson came forward without a formal introduction, but the moment he arose he was treated with an ovation. The audience went wild, and for several moments it was impossible for him to make himself heard. When he succeeded in securing a hearing he said:

FELLOW CITIZENS: Ours is a government of the people. It is wisely provided in our federal constitution that once in four years political power shall return to the hands of the people. Twenty-six times during the 103 years of our history have the American people, in the exercise of their rights as electors, cast their ballots for the candidate of their choice for the high office of President of the United States. We are now on the eve of another presidential election. The responsibility of determining what line of public policy shall be pursued and who shall be elected as chief magistrate is again upon us. The importance of an intelligent and conscientious exercise of the privileges of designating those who are to be intrusted with high office cannot be overstated.

In the pending struggle for political supremacy grave public questions are at issue. Upon the correct determination of these questions through the peaceful methods prescribed by law will depend the welfare of the people. It is all important, then, that the determination at the polls be the result, not of prejudice nor of misrepresentation, but of honest and intelligent discussion of the issues involved. During the short time I shall detain you it will be my endeavor to suggest some of the reasons why Mr. Cleveland should be elected President and the Democratic party restored to power. The four years' administration of President Cleveland was confessedly an honest administration. None of the predicted evils of which Democratic triumph was to be the forerunner followed his inauguration. Those who predicted evil from Mr. Cleveland's election proved false prophets.

Cleveland's Clean Administration.

The Democratic administration ending March 4, 1889, has gone into history as an economical and able administration of the Government. No scandals attached to any of its appointments to office. Under it the rights of all property—of all sections—of all the people, were recognized and enforced. Under it the bonded debt of the Government was paid at maturity; trust funds were not used to avoid a treasury deficit; and the gold reserve was not menaced by threats of invasion to meet the current expenses of the Government. Under that administration no additional burdens were laid upon the people. At the close of President Cleveland's administration the surplus in the Treasury, exclusive of the gold reserve, was, in round numbers, $83,000,000.

What is the condition that now confronts us at the end of three and a half years of Republican administration? On the basis of revenues to the government, as estimated by the Secretary of the Treasury, for the present fiscal year, and of the liabilities of the government on account of the annual and permanent appropriations for the same period, there will be a deficit of $52,000,000. Upon the assumption that the law requiring $48,000,000 for the sinking fund will be complied with, there is no escaping the deficiency I have mentioned. And this, too, notwithstanding the fact that the administration made default in providing for the sinking fund to an amount exceeding $11,000,000 during the last fiscal year.

The tariff is the all-important issue of the campaign upon which we have now entered. Shall there be a revision of our tariff laws and, as a consequence of such legislation, a reduction of taxation, or shall it be the policy of our Government to maintain permanently high protection? The position of the two leading political parties upon that question cannot be misunderstood. The Republican party, as illustrated by its recent enactment of the McKinley law, stands for a high protective—in other words, a prohibitory—tariff. The Democratic party, as emphasized by its utterances and its acts, is the advocate of tariff reform. The issue is squarely presented.

The low tariff law of 1846, of which Robert J. Walker, the Democratic Secretary of the Treasury, was the author, provided in substance: 1. That no more money should be collected than is necessary for the wants of the government, economically administered. 2. That no duty be imposed upon any articles above the lowest rate that will yield the greatest amount of revenue. 3. That the maximum tax be imposed upon luxuries. 4. That the lowest tax should be upon the necessaries of life. 5. That the duties should be so imposed as to operate equally throughout the Union, discriminating neither for nor against any class or section. It must not be forgotten that so great were the benefits to the people from the tariff legislation I have just mentioned that in 1857, representatives of all parties concurring, the tariff was again reduced until the average rate of duties was 19 per cent. The decade and a half extending from the passage of the low tariff law of 1846 to the beginning of our civil war has truly been called the golden period of our history. Our manufactories did not languish. The fires did not go out in our furnaces. The wheels and spindles were not idle in our great hives of industry. The demand for labor was not lessened, nor was its value depreciated.

As I have shown, the average tariff tax at the beginning of the civil war in 1861 was but 19 per cent. To purchase munitions of war, to arm and equip soldiers, and to meet all the expenses incident to the great struggle required large sums of money. Tariff taxes were largely increased. The Morrill tariff bill was passed. Our Government was in the throes of war, struggling for its existence, and but little heed was given by the people to the fact that duties under the new tariff law were not only highly protective to manufacturers but burdensome to the people. But this was not all. By subsequent increase by successive Republican Congresses the average rates of duties reached 47 per cent.

This was the average rate of tariff taxes when the McKinley bill became the law. The protected classes, growing year by year stronger and more powerful with the protection afforded them, demanded of the Fifty-first Congress yet higher duties. As "infant industries" they had been for the time content with the moderate protection given them by Mr. Clay. Later they had demanded the higher duties imposed by the Morrill tariff and that of later Congresses. In 1890, during the first session of the Fifty-first Congress, their demand was, in substance, for a prohibitory tariff. The response to this demand was the passage by a Republican Congress of the McKinley bill.

The avowed object of this bill was to check importation. Its purpose so to increase the rate of duties as in many instances to exclude absolutely foreign goods from our markets, and thus, by cutting off competition, enable the home manufacturer without let or hindrance to fix the price of his wares. In a word, the McKinley law by its prohibitory features gave its beneficiaries a practical monopoly and enabled them, in fact, to levy an additional tax upon the consumer to the extent that the duty had been increased. Was this legislation demanded by the people? Was it in their interest? Was it not class legislation of the most odious character—such legislation as enriches the few at the expense of the many? The American people unmistakably set their seal of condemnation upon this bill. Slowly but surely they have become convinced that "protection does not protect" them.

Ruinous Effect on Farmers.

It is worse than idle to speak of its benefits to the American farmer. What he demands is both a foreign and a home market for the products of his farm. It is a mockery to tell him he is protected against the corn and wheat products of the old world. While he is compelled to sell in the open markets of the world, he should be allowed the poor privilege of buying what his necessities require without paying high tribute to the protected classes of his own country. To the mechanic and laborer, no less than to the farmer, protection has proved a delusion and a snare. Recent events connected with the most highly protected establishments of this country sadly attest the fact that a high protective tariff affords no protection to those who earn their bread by daily toil.

My fellow-citizens, to you the tariff is the all-important question. The question is not how much of your earnings shall be given to the support of the Government but how much shall under the forms of law be seized by the favored—the "protected" classes. When the tariff bill of 1861 increasing the average of tariff taxes from 19 to 35 per cent. was under consideration Mr. Morrill, the Republican author of the bill said: "It was not designed as a permanent system, but only as a temporary measure." As already shown, this war tax, instead of being reduced when the war had closed, was by successive Republican Congresses increased to an average of 47 per cent. The Republican party responded to the demand of the people for reduced taxation by the passage of the McKinley bill of 1890, thus heavily increasing war taxes upon the people twenty-five years after the war closed.

Under the matchless leadership of the man who gave you an honest administration of the government, who wrested from the grasp of those who had robbed you of your heritage 80,000,000 of acres and restored it to the public domain, whose principle in action is, "A public office is a public trust"—under his leadership the Democratic party confidently submits the momentous questions at issue, and will abide by the determination of the final arbiters at the polls.

THE addition of lemon juice to the water in which rice is boiled will increase the whiteness, and the grains will readily separate when thus treated.

SPICED AND PICKLED

ARE THE INDIANA NEWS ITEMS IN THIS COLUMN.

Fresh Intelligence from Every Part of the State—Nothing of Interest to Our Readers Left Out.

Minor State Items.

THE basket worm is killing cedar trees in Southern Indiana.

B. T. W. S. ANDERSON, a Lawrenceburg, pioneer, died at Lawrenceburg, aged 83.

FRANK HORAN, an itinerant tailor of Buffalo, N. Y., was killed by the cars at Angola.

MRS. ROBERT BEVERIDGE of Cardonia, fell from a chair and broke her arm in two places.

A 3-YEAR-OLD son of Jefferson McCauley, near Kokomo, was kicked to death by a cow.

JOSEPH BROWN, aged 6, stumbled and fell in front of a Lafayette electric car, and was killed.

JAMES BARRETT, a farmer near Chesterton, Porter County, was trampled to death by a colt.

A MALIGNANT diphtheria scare has occurred in the Kokomo Orphan's Home. There are thirty inmates.

ERNEST STIKES was struck by lightning while working in a hay-field, near Knox, and instantly killed.

JOSEF POLAND, of Brazil, lost his leg on account of getting it mashed by a fall of coal in the Watson mine.

Two colored women were refused admission to a hotel at Indian springs and they will go to court about it.

THE old court house at Tipton has been sold for $100 and a $200,000 building will be erected in its stead.

THE young child of Frank Plunkett of Crawfordsville, fell into a tub of hot water and was scalded to death.

PAUL WEISS, while repairing a school building at LaPorte, fell forty-five feet, and received supposed fatal injuries.

ALBERT ROSS, a railroad laborer at New Ross, was killed by jumping from a train running at a high rate of speed.

RICHARD JACKSON, aged 21, was instantly killed in a runaway south of Lebanon. He leaves a wife and one child.

THE Garland Range Stove Works of Wheeling, W. Va., will locate at Muncie. Nine buildings of brick will be required for the plant.

MISS ANNA MUELLER of Muncie dropped a lighted match in a gas stove, and it was blown to pieces, while she was severely burned.

JOHN MITCHELL, a wealthy farmer, living near Columbus, was assaulted by a highwayman and robbed of his gold watch and money.

JAMES DUNCAN, one of the oldest pioneer residents of Howard County, died at the residence of his son, near Kokomo, aged 84.

THE Rev. William Wirt King of Huntington, W. Va., has accepted a call to the pastorate of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church at Lafayette.

THOMAS POWELL, a miner working at mine No. 6, owned by the Brazil Blockcoal Company, got four of his ribs broken and was hurt otherwise with falling slate.

CITIZENS of Jefferson recall the conflict between citizens and prison authorities in 1860, when the convict-lease system at one bold stroke, was rooted out of this State.

WILLIAM ROBERTSON, a prominent resident of Crawfordsville, died from the effects of a stroke of paralysis. He was a native of Scotland, coming to this country in 1830.

A CLOUD-BURST in Hendricks county, near Centre Valley, caused such a raise in White Lick that it swept everything before it on a mighty flood that reached below Mooresville.

AT Farmland, Willie Fostnight slipped up behind Bob McCamey and severely cut him about the head and neck, just missing the jugular vein. Neither boy is over eight years old.

OLIVER SCOTT, a farmer, met with a terrible death near Huntington. He was threshing, when the boiler exploded and he was scalded to death. His son was also hurt, but not fatally.

REPRESENTATIVES of the tribes of Red Men from different points in the State met at Columbus and arranged to hold a general celebration of all the tribes in Indiana in that city, Oct. 21.

THE 3-year-old son of Christopher Shott of South Bend, was playing about the family yard, and, tugging at a large cement vase, pulled it over. The urn fell on the little one, crushing out its life.

THE illness of Gen. F. W. Bennett of Richmond, still continues. He was unable to attend the reunion of his regiment at Muncie. His friends have become anxious about him, as it is feared he cannot regain his strength.

THE steam boiler of Frank Vandorn, used to furnish power for a threshing machine, was blown up while threshing at Joseph Russell's, three miles east of Windfall. Edward Brown was badly scalded and cut about the head, and may die. Mrs. Joseph Russell was struck with fragments and badly hurt.

HENRY SCHMIDT, an immigrant, three years ago began working on Eli Sousman's farm, near West Fork, with the understanding that he might wed Kate, a daughter, who fell in love with him. He was to work for nothing three years and his pay was to be a wife, providing she didn't change her mind. Recently Kate fell in love with and married an Irish peddler named Mahony, whereat immigrant Schmidt made a big fuss. But he had signed a compact and there was no help. A younger daughter, Mary, took pity on the German and proposed to wed him instead of her sister. This pleased the German, but farmer Sousman made another compact that Schmidt should wait four years until Mary becomes 18, and then if she still loves him he can have her.

A NUMBER of young people met at the residence of James Thomas, in Tipton, to charivari the newly-married couple. One young man loaded a gun so heavy that when it was discharged it flew back, striking Fred Schmidt on the right leg, breaking the bone.

WHILE the venerable Sylvester Morgan of Jeffersonville, was sitting upstairs in his room he became suddenly ill and fell forward through an open window. He struck a stick which was supporting the window, and, knocking it out, the heavy sash fell and caught his legs, holding him in midair until help could arrive.

AS REV. LIKLY, pastor of the M. E. Church of Cory, was out driving his horse took fright and ran off, throwing him to the ground and seriously injuring him internally. The animal continued its mad flight until the vehicle collided with a carriage containing several small children, badly tearing it up and fatally injuring a 7-year-old boy.

DURING a severe rain and thunder storm lightning struck the large barn of Thomas H. Hindel, southwest of Plymouth, and burned it to the ground. A valuable horse was among the contents burned. Mr. Hindel was in the barn at the time and was seriously injured. Lightning also struck Leroy Staley. He is not expected to live.

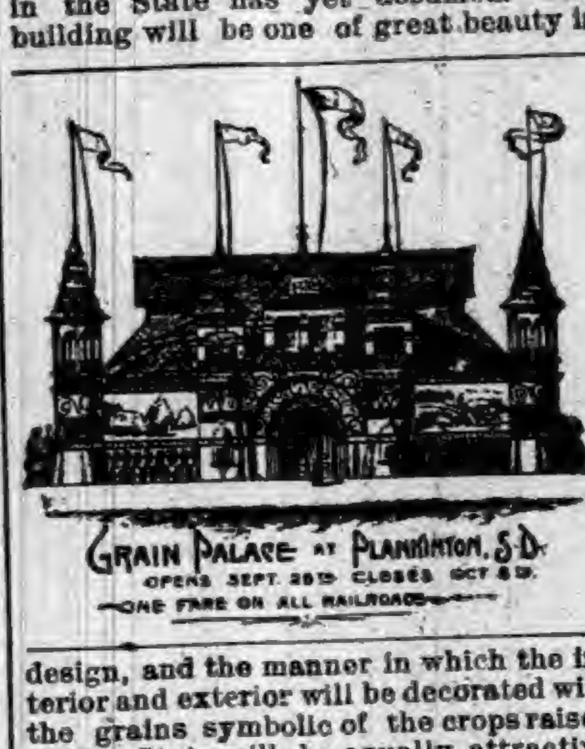
A GRAIN PALACE.

To Be Opened in Plankinton, South Dakota, Sept. 28.

In Plankinton, South Dakota, the citizens have organized a Grain Palace Association. The first palace was opened Sept. 29, 1891. The building was eighty feet square and was located at the head of Main street, and perhaps excelled anything of the character ever before attempted. The plans for the palace of 1892 will exceed that of last year, both in size of building and art work. Plankinton being situated in the center of the most fertile portion of the State, enjoys peculiar advantages for the location of the "Palace."

It is claimed that the formation of animals and other designs out of grain, grasses, corn, silk, and other material far excelled any work of this kind ever before produced.

The Palace for 1892 opens September 28 and closes October 8. It is expected that this exposition will be the means of showing to the world what wonderful crops can be raised in this State, and what a grain producer South Dakota really is, will be one of considerable magnitude, larger in fact than any city in the State has yet assumed. The building will be one of great beauty in design, and the manner in which the interior and exterior will be decorated with the grains symbolic of the crops raised in the State will be equally attractive and beautiful. The building will be 80 by 120 feet in size and 100 feet to the top of the tallest tower. Gables, towers, minarets, and spires will largely enter into the architectural beauty of the upper part of the building, and the handsome decorations on the sides and approaches will make the building one of rare beauty. The total cost of the building and decorations will reach in amount over $14,000.



GRAIN PALACE AT PLANKINTON, S.D.
OPENS SEPT. 28TH CLOSES OCT 8TH.
ONE FARE ON ALL RAILROADS

The railroads have granted one fare for the round trip from Chicago, and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad is making arrangements to run a train on the 27th of September direct to the Grain Palace at Plankinton, S. D., without change of cars.

The enormous crop now being harvested in South Dakota is sufficient evidence of the wonderful fertility of the soil, and the exposition at Plankinton will show the abundant resources of the State to a marked degree and be a fitting exposition of the agricultural wealth of South Dakota.

GEN. BIDWELL'S VIEWS.

Letter of Acceptance of the Prohibition Candidate.

The letter of acceptance of Gen. John Bidwell, of California, nominee of the Prohibition party for President of the United States, has been given out for publication. The letter is long, and discusses the principles of the party as enunciated in the Cincinnati platform. On the basic principle of absolute prohibition, Gen. Bidwell says that the danger of monopolistic tendencies menacing the Government is not so great as that of the destructive results sure to come from the liquor traffic. It is the constant menace of labor, which creates the wealth of the nation, and the traffic is now sapping and impoverishing the very foundation of the national fabric. Passing to the question of woman's suffrage he urges immediate emancipation of women. The nation that first gives woman equal rights with man, he says, will earn a crown of imperishable glory. He fears delay, as England will lead. On the question of finance he says the position of the party that the money should be gold, silver, and paper, issued only by the Government, is fair and broad. He also advocates the legal regulation of the rates of interest in all the States, believing that it will do much to check the tendency to centralization of the money power.

On the question of labor he says: "In order to relieve the labor of the country of its abnormal and often congested condition, there should be the earliest possible revision and restriction of the immigration and naturalization laws of the United States. These laws, so inimical to American labor and the best interests of all, if not so purposely enacted, have doubtless been kept in force for partisan considerations for fear of detriment to partisan interests, till our country has become the almost daily scene of riots, lawlessness and bloodshed, and not infrequently on such a scale as to portend, if permitted to go unchecked, the possible supersession of all authority. The discord between capital and labor cannot safely be allowed to continue. No matter what the cause, it is imperative to remove it. If it is necessary to have organizations as a defense against capital or competing labor, such organization should be authorized and regulated by law."

On the tariff he says: "We must concede that all nations have the right to levy tariffs. As Americans we are in favor of protecting all American interests. The tariff proposed by the Democratic party and that of the Republican party differ only in degree; both are sufficiently high to be termed protective. To the objection that tariffs have been unequal—that is to say, that under them the rich pay comparatively nothing and the masses nearly all the revenue so derived to support the National Government—must be added the further objection that they are blinding and deceptive."

The establishment of a system of income taxation, he says, could work no hardship and do no harm. When the Union needed money most during the rebellion the income tax was imposed, and worked like a charm. He continues:

"It helped then to save the Union, and will help to save the nation now in another rebellion—the masses against the classes."

One of its beneficial results, he argues, would be the equal distribution of wealth, which would go far toward healing the discord between capital and labor. He advocates government control, and, if necessary, the government ownership of railroads.

THERE has just been published an engraving representing Admirals Farragut, Porter, and Dupont in conference. The portraits have been favorably commented upon, and the engraver has given them additional interest by etching under each figure as a remarque, the best known incident of his career during the civil war.

A NEW alloy for use in the manufacture of wire sheets and castings has been introduced by a New England firm. The wire made of this material resembles ordinary copper wire on the outside, has a pinkish white tinge at the surface of fracture, and is very strong without losing much ductility.

A COMPLETE SET OF THE WORKS OF

CHARLES DICKENS

FREE!

The Most Valuable and Remarkable Premium Ever Offered Free with any Periodical.

A MARVEL IN BOOK-MAKING.

A Set of the Works of Charles Dickens, IN 12 LARGE VOLUMES, FREE.

There has just been published A Set of the Works of Charles Dickens, in Large and Handsome Volumes, printed from entirely new plates, with new type. By special arrangement with the publishers we are enabled to offer to our patrons this splendid set of Dickens' Works, postpaid, free. Charles Dickens was the greatest novelist who ever lived. No author before or since his time has won the fame that he achieved, and his works are even more popular to-day than during his lifetime. They abound in wit, humor, pathos, masterly delineation of character, vivid descriptions of places and incidents, thrilling and skilfully wrought plots. Each book is intensely interesting. No home should be without a set of these great and remarkable works. Not to have read them is to be far behind the age in which we live. The twelve volumes in this set contain the following world-famous works, each one of which is published complete, unchanged and absolutely unabridged:

DAVID COPPERFIELD,
MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT,
NICHOLAS NICKELBY,
DOMBEY AND SON,
BLEAK HOUSE,
LITTLE DORRIT,
OUR MUTUAL FRIEND,
PICKWICK PAPERS,
BARNABY RUDGE AND CHRISTMAS STORIES,
OLIVER TWIST AND GREAT EXPECTATIONS,
THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP AND THE UNCOMMERCIAL TRAVELER,
A TALE OF TWO CITIES, HARD TIMES, AND THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD.

THE PLAN.

We will send a complete set of these books FREE, by mail, postage paid, guaranteeing safe delivery, as follows: To any old subscriber, who sends one dollar, and renews their subscription to either of the following publications for one year:

THE PEOPLE'S LITERARY COMPANION,
—OR—
The National Farmer and Home Magazine

To any new subscriber, who sends one dollar for either of the above periodicals for one year.

This is the grandest offer ever made, and the greatest bargain ever offered. Up to this time the price of a complete set of Dickens' Works has been ten dollars or more. The use of modern, improved printing, folding and stitching machinery, the present extremely low price of white paper, and the great competition in the book trade are the factors which made this wonderful offer possible. Bear in mind that we offer, not a single volume, but the entire set of twelve volumes all free to subscribers. All may now afford the luxury of owning a handsome set of Dickens' works. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Do not neglect or put off this wonderful opportunity. Send at once; you will be delighted with the charming books, and as long as you live, never cease to regard it as the best investment of a dollar you ever made. Address all communications to

E. C. ALLEN & CO., Augusta, Maine.

IF YOU CAN READ

and write and are possessed of fair intelligence, you are fully qualified to make a great success of what we offer you. [illegible] E. C. Allen & Co., Box 800, Augusta, Maine.

SHALL WE START YOU

in a pleasant and successful business, that will bring you money rapidly and honorably? A grand opportunity for one person in each locality, young or old, of either sex, wherever you live. Reader, it is a royal chance for you, and such a one as may never again come to your attention in a lifetime. Beginners easily secure an income of $30 to $50 per week from the very start, and much more as the business becomes established. YOU can earn as much as any one. There is not the slightest risk on your part. No capital required. We start you FREE, and furnish everything needed to carry on the business successfully. Hundreds just starting report wonderful success and great profits. Will you write us, and take advantage of this grand offer, or will you delay and allow others to profit by it. We leave it for you to decide, but we tell you frankly that you will lose the golden opportunity of your life if you fail to test the business now. Act quickly and your reward is sure. Address E. C. ALLEN & Co., Box 204, AUGUSTA, MAINE.

The Old Reliable

DR. WARD

OFFICE, ST. LOUIS, MO. Special attention given to all diseases or troubles in male or female, married or single, brought about by exposure, abuses, excesses or improprieties.

THE OLD DOCTOR, Of 38 years' successful experience, may be consulted by mail, or at the office, free of charge.

Reliable, Skillful Treatment Guaranteed.

Board and apartments furnished to those who desire personal care. Send P. O. stamp for circulars, etc.

FREE TRIAL {In Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality, Weakness and Decay, sent free for 12 cts. postage. Address letters,

Dr. Ward Office, 117 N. 8th Street, St. Louis, Mo.

ANY LADY can get a valuable secret that cost me $5.00, and a rubber shield for 30 cents.
Mrs. V. M. APP. CO.
115 N. 8th STREET, ST. LOUIS, MO.

NEVER MELTS. FREEZES. GUMS.
CONTAINS NO PETROLEUM OR ACIDS TO DESTROY AXLES.
AXLE GREASE WISE CHICAGO, ILL. WISE AXLE GREASE NEVER GUMS.
Tested by the public for 20 years.
"WISE" AXLE GREASE.
A PURE VEGETABLE GREASE. EVERY BOX GUARANTEED.
Try "Wise" on one side of your wagon and castor oil or any other kind of grease on the other side, and you will find the "Wise" will wear the longest.
It keeps machinery from rusting and cures scratches on horses.
Try a box and you will use no other.
Ask Your Dealer For It, Or
CLARK & WISE CO., CHICAGO.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
CURE
Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing
SICK
Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured
HEAD
Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head
ACHE
Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.
Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., New York.
SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE

EXCELLENT COFFEE
THE exquisite taste and flavor of Vienna Coffee can only be obtained by using two parts of Coffee to one part of
EMIL SEELIG'S KAFFEE
This is the best, cheapest and most healthful coffee mixture.
A DELICIOUS
BEVERAGE
TRY IT!
Ask Your Grocer for It.
SAMPLE BY MAIL FREE.
Address, Sole Agents for U. S.
ROSENSTEIN BROS.
317 and 319 Greenwich Street,
NEW YORK.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.
Beauty, Health and Grace Combined—
What More can Woman Desire.
Volta-Medico Spinal Appliance,
COMBINED WITH AN
ABDOMINAL AND HOSE SUPPORTER.
They are electrical as well as medicated and are recommended for all Female Weaknesses, General and Nervous Debility, Liver and Kidney Troubles, Headaches, Malaria, Rheumatism, Spinal Diseases, Heart Diseases, Cold Extremities, all Bilious Disorders, Impoverished Blood, Impaired Circulation—in fact all Diseases of the Blood, Stomach or Liver, or where there is a lack of vigor and failing health.
They are not only comforting and strengthening to the wearer, but bring about beauty of form. Shapeless figures made symmetrical in form in from three to six months. Appliances guaranteed. Send stamp for circulars and full information. Address,
VOLTA-MEDICO APPLIANCE CO.,
*5 N. 8th St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

FREE-TO MEN.
When you get tired of the "doctors" with their big prices and quack remedies, write to me and I will send (sealed) FREE a prescription that will quickly and certainly cure lost power, wasting weakness, lack of development, impotency, varicocele, etc., from excesses or other causes. A New Positive Remedy which cures when everything else fails. Address
J. D. HOUSE, Box 685, ALBION, MICH.

ROYAL
SEWING MACHINE
WARRANTED
5 YEARS
Has a Large High Arm.
Has a Self-setting Needle.
Has a Self-threading Shuttle.
Has No Equal in Construction.
Has a Mechanical Appearance.
Has an Elegant Finish.
Has a Perfect Adjustment.
Has a Positive Take-up.
Has Stylish Furniture.
Has More Good Sewing Qualities and does a Larger Range of General Work than any Sewing Machine in the World.
Examine THE ROYAL for points of excellence, and you will buy no other.
ROYAL S. M. CO., Rockford, Ill.

HER SISTER'S HONOR.

A Tale of English Life.

By Walter Besant.

CHAPTER IV.—Continued.

"You have told them, I suppose, that you are married already."

"No, I have not. I should tell them, of course, if I could afford it. But I can't. The old man has found out all about you, Ruth, I don't know how. He's not a bad sort, the old man; all he says is 'cut it,' that's all."

Ruth drew her breath quickly. On her pale cheek there showed a spot of color.

"'Cut it,' he says, and you shall be a partner; keep it on and you shall be a beggar.

"That's the situation, Ruth"—he threw himself into a chair with a laudable assumption of carlessness. "A beggar. There is nothing in the world that I can do. I don't know any trade—I can't do anything. There isn't a man in the world more helpless than I when it comes to doing any work that will pay. So you see, as I can't afford to be a pauper, and it would only make things for you worse if I made you a pauper, too, I've made up my mind that the only thing for us to do is to cut it; to have done with it—to separate—to go on as if we had never met."

"But we cannot, Harry. It is too late to talk of such a thing."

"It is never too late. That is my resolution, Ruth."

"Good Heavens! Why, we are married. Have you forgotten that?!"

"Are we?"

"Are we not?"

"Look here, Ruth;" he threw himself into a chair and tried to assume a fine air of carelessness, as if the matter was one of very small importance. "So long as there was any chance at all for us I was willing to go on. But there isn't. It would be only cruel to you to keep up the thing any longer. I want to consult your interests first. I can't keep a wife, you see. I can't even keep myself. Well, now—don't fly out more than you can help, Ruth. Look here, you've got a dozen of letters of mine; you can make yourself infernally disagreeable if you please. If you go into a court of law you would even get damages, I dare say. Now look here. Don't let's have any scandal. I'll buy the letters—I'll buy up everything at a big price. Anything to prevent a row and to part amicably."

She stared at him with a mind only half awakened.

"Buy your letters? What do you mean? Harry—husband"—she laid her hand on his arm as he sat up in the chair; "tell me what does this mean? Buy your letters to your wife?"

"Wife—ah! well—of course, I don't pretend to believe that you didn't see through the trick. Where were you married, pray?"

"At a registry."

"Where is that registry?"

"I don't know. You took me there."

"I took you to an office; but, my child, it was a sham registry."

He turned away his head. Cold and selfish as he was, he could not face her as he told this infernal lie.

"A sham office," he went on, "and took a false name. You are no more married than your sister, Miss Ruth Heron."

He forced himself to face her.

"I don't know, I don't know," she said, not in fact knowing what she said. Then she stopped and neither spoke.

"Do you mean all you say—all?" she asked.

"All; I mean it all. Hang it, Ruth, nobody wants you to come to any harm! I tell you frankly that I will buy back all the letters."

She bent forward and whispered.

He sprang to his feet with an oath and walked across the room. When he came back to her his face was dogged and obstinate, as it had been with his father. Unhappily, the girl would not meet him with equal stubborness.

"What does that matter to me?" he asked her, with brutality incredible. "Do as you like. Only when you come to think it over you will say that the best thing you can do is to follow my advice. Give up all the papers and I'll see you through—buy you a business, send you abroad—anything you please."

Remember that this man up to this moment had been her passionate lover; one who would not find respect too great or worship too complete. What did I say? Fear of poverty reduced him in one moment to this level. Again I say—it makes one tremble lest through some temptation we, too——

The girl stared at him. It was as if beneath the visor of the knightly helmet, where a moment before had been the face of a man, there should be grinning the ugly features of a mocking ape.

"You mean all this," she said again.

"Of course, I mean it. What the devil should I say it for unless I meant it?" Brutality, you see, once begun must be kept up, even if one has had enough of it. Yet I declare that to this young man the recollection of his father's fierce eyes and of his awful threats drove pity, love, memory, honor—everything out of his mind. He had but one thought, to get out of the mess.

"You have no pity? Consider—oh! I have told you—consider—because you did love me only a week or two ago——"

"Drop it, Ruth. If one of us two is going to be a pauper it shall not be me, if I can help it. We've had a good time, and it's over. You shall be taken care of. It is all over, I tell you."

"No—no. Oh!" She clasped her hands with a cry of anguish. "It is only beginning. Oh! it is beginning."

She sank into the chair he had left and buried her face in her hands. Then she sprang to her feet again as if there was no rest in her.

"Oh, my sister—Naomi!" "Oh, my sister!—how shall I tell her? What shall I say? What will she say? Oh, I would rather die than tell her!"

He was leaning against the mantel-shelf. He turned impatiently and took up a little dagger paper-knife, one of those glittering toys the handle of which is of mother-o'-pearl and the blade of polished blue steel, and began to play with it, not even thinking of the toy.

"I thought you had more sense," he said, "than to go on like this. Well, you know now what I had to say. Better go quietly and think it over. Come, Ruth, it won't be so hard, after all. I tell you that you shall always have a friend in me, and——"

"I cannot bear it. How can I tell her? Oh, I wish I was dead! How can I tell her? I will kill myself." She wrung her hands, looking round the room as if for some help or comfort there.

"They all say that," said the man. "But they don't do it, you know."

She pushed back her hair; then she tore off her bonnet and let it fall, as if the sight of it oppressed her. The wild look in her eyes and her white cheeks frightened the man—brute as he was.

"Come, Ruth," he said, "be more sensible. Consider—think a little. Let us part friends." He held out his hand as one who seeks to conciliate. In it was the little dagger.

She snatched it from him. "No," she cried. "I will never tell Naomi. You may tell her—you. I will kill myself. Yes—let me go—let me go. I will kill myself."

She fought with the strength of despair while he tried to wrench the weapon from her hand. Then his—her—feet caught, and they fell upon the floor—he undermost.

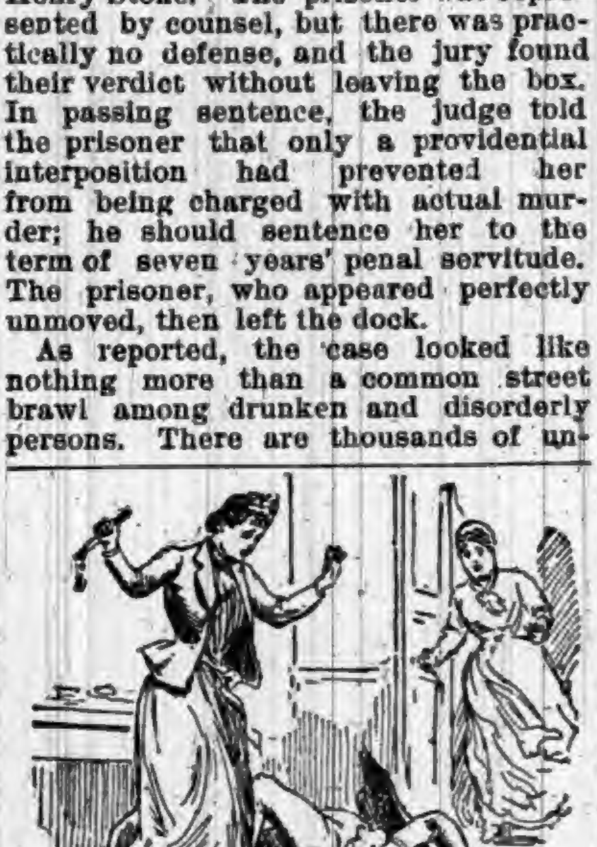
When the girl's shrieks called in the housekeeper from the next set of chambers, she was standing over Mr. Harry Stoke, who lay on his back—white in the face—lying in his blood. Upon her dress was blood; upon her hands was blood, and in her right hand the paper-knife which she had torn from the ribs of the wounded man was dripping blood.

CHAPTER V.

THE CASE.

The case, which came on for trial a few weeks later was very briefly and imperfectly reported in the papers. The facts, as they appeared in the reports, were neither sensational nor interesting. A certain Ruth Heron, aged 21, unmarried, was charged with stabbing and wounding with intent to murder one Henry Stoke. The prisoner was represented by counsel, but there was practically no defense, and the jury found their verdict without leaving the box. In passing sentence, the judge told the prisoner that only a providential interposition had prevented her from being charged with actual murder; he should sentence her to the term of seven years' penal servitude. The prisoner, who appeared perfectly unmoved, then left the dock.

As reported, the case looked like nothing more than a common street brawl among drunken and disorderly persons. There are thousands of unmarried girls of 21 who go mad with drink every night, and assault the ruffians, their associates, though to stick a knife into a man is reckoned beyond the rules of the game. It was not stated where the assault took place, or what was the position of the wounded man, or the relations of these twain. Therefore the case occupied five lines, and no one paid the slightest heed to the terrible wreck and ruin of a life. That a girl of 21 should be locked up in a prison for seven long years, and at the end of that time should be separated from the virtuous by the memory of shame, and crime, and jail, is a thing that happens every day. Only another of our unhappy sisters come to grief. We are such a large family that we can not love all our sisters, can we?



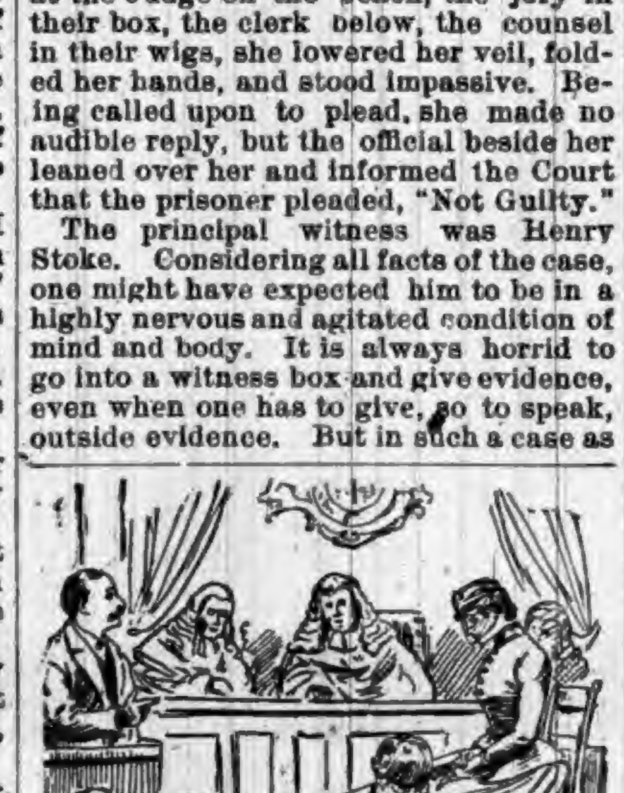
SHE WAS STANDING OVER MR. HARRY STOKE.

In the city there were some persons who showed each other the paper, and whispered: "John Stoke's eldest son. Devilish unpleasant thing." A week later the matter was clean forgotten, save by the younger men who still remembered the romantic episode in the life of Harry Stoke, and still told the tale how he was knifed in a row, by a girl, and taken up for dead. Now, had the case been fully reported; had certain questions been asked, which should have been asked;—had I been upon the jury I would have asked these questions namely, why this girl called upon this young gentleman in his chambers on Sunday afternoon? what had been their relations? whether she brought that knife with her? what she said before the thing was done? and so forth; there might have been some sympathy for the girl; the jury—I know not—might have brought in a different verdict, and there would have been a corresponding verdict, or an equivalent sentence passed upon the injured man by the world outside the courts.

Let us add one or two details not reported in the papers.

The case was taken after luncheon. When the prisoner was placed in the dock, she lifted her veil and looked round the court with seeming curiosity. She was pale, but not trembling or confused, nor did she appear in the least afraid. If she had been a mere spectator she could not have been more unmoved. When she had looked steadily at the Judge on the bench, the jury in their box, the clerk below, the counsel in their wigs, she lowered her veil, folded her hands, and stood impassive. Being called upon to plead, she made no audible reply, but the official beside her leaned over her and informed the Court that the prisoner pleaded, "Not Guilty."

The principal witness was Henry Stoke. Considering all facts of the case, one might have expected him to be in a highly nervous and agitated condition of mind and body. It is always horrid to go into a witness box and give evidence, even when one has to give, so to speak, outside evidence. But in such a case as this, when one's motives may be so cruelly misinterpreted, and one's actions harshly judged, and when one may be asked the most disagreeable questions about things one would willingly bury and forget, and when facts of a most damaging kind may have to be admitted, to go into a witness box must be the most disagreeable thing in the world for a sensitive and candid soul. Only consider what the young man might have to confess! Yet he marched into the box upright and confident, his cheek a little flushed, without the least apparent nervousness. The reason of this was, I suppose, a little note which lay in his pocket. It contained these words:



WITNESS SAID HE COULD NOT SAY.

"My sister bids me tell you that she will give no account at all of what took place. She will have no question asked about her relation with you. What you say in your evidence shall go unquestioned.
NAOMI."

He went into the box, therefore, fortified by the knowledge that he could say anything he pleased. Let us believe that he did really conceive himself to have been deliberately stabbed by the girl; he so well deserved that punishment that he had no doubt in his mind as to her having done it on purpose. He deposed simply that the girl had called upon him, that there had been an altercation, that the prisoner seized a small paper-knife with a steel blade, and that he remembered nothing more.

The counsel for the defense said he was instructed to ask him one question: Could not the wound have been inflicted by accident?

Witness said that he could not say.

There were no other questions asked, and he left the box. Well, he had been stabbed; he had been obliged to go into court and to state that fact. What good would it do to go into other matters? People must not be stabbed even by girls who have been deserted. Personally, he was horribly vexed about the whole business, not to speak of the pain caused by the wound. But what could he do? He was very sorry for the girl, but it would not help him if all the story of his entanglement was proclaimed in open court. Observe that when a young gentleman like Mr. Harry Stoke behaves in this kind of way it is always an entanglement into which he has fallen, and, among his female relatives, the other party entangled is always the most crafty, the most subtle, the most designing, the most foreseeing, the most far-reaching she-devil that ever walked about with intent to entrap and destroy the sons of women.

The next witness was the housekeeper at the chambers, who deposed that, being engaged in the adjoining room, she heard voices in dispute; that one of them was a woman's voice; that she heard a scuffle of feet and a heavy fall, followed by a woman's shriek; that she ran into the room and saw Mr. Stoke lying on the floor in a pool of blood, and the prisoner standing over him, the dagger dripping with blood in her hand, and that all she said was, "I have killed him! I have killed him!"

Another witness was the medical man who had examined the wound. He said that he was called in about half-past seven that evening and found a man lying on the floor unconscious and bleeding from a wound, of which he proceeded to give a minute description, which caused the conduct of the assassin to seem very deliberate, and even scientific. Had the weapon passed an inch more to the right or to the left, or to the north or south, it must have gone through the heart, or severed the pericadiac artery, or pierced the vascular integument, or penetrated the femoral tissues, in which case death would have supervened. He said, however, that there was nothing to prevent the wound having been accidentally caused by a scuffle and a fall.

The counsel for the defense dwelt strongly on this possibility. The wounded man, he said, had no recollection of any such scuffle; on the other hand, he had no recollection of the events at all after the girl had taken up the knife. He called on the jury to give the prisoner the benefit of the doubt.

The counsel for the Crown ridiculed this theory. Here was a girl, probably with a grievance, real or fancied—it was not for him to plead that grievance, and his learned brother had not thought proper to advance it. She waited for the wounded man on a Sunday afternoon when nobody was about—probably she reckoned on being able to walk off unseen—and she attempted to murder him. Nothing could be more clear: she had made no defense; she refused to take advantage of the power to give evidence on her own behalf; she had nothing to say; her counsel would plead nothing but a possible—and very improbable—accident.

With that the counsel sat down, and the Judge summed up. He, too, had nothing to say in favor of the prisoner.

The jury, without leaving the box, found the prisoner guilty of stabbing.

During the trial, there was another sitting in the body of the court beside the solicitor for the prisoner. Another girl, evidently a friend of the prisoner, for she was in deep distress, and sat with her handkerchief to her eyes nearly all the time. But the prisoner showed no sign of any emotion. When the man whom she had stabbed went into the box she looked up curiously; after that she remained perfectly still; her head was bent, her hands were crossed, her eyes were raised; she received her sentence, and she walked out of the dock afterwards with the same apparent callousness. It was the other girl in the body of the court who, when the Judge concluded, shrieked aloud, and fell fainting on the floor.

Mr. Harry Stoke walked quickly away. This was the end of that romantic episode into which he had crammed all the passion of which his heart was capable, and all the treachery and villainy of which mankind at large is capable. Probably in his boyhood he had read of great monsters—men whose place is low down in those fearful rings of flame and boiling pitch and devilish tortures—of whose sufferings and punishments one reads with equanimity. Well, he himself had become even as great a villain. That man's heart must be as hard as the nether millstone, who could thus send to a felon's prison the girl whom he had loved and betrayed, to whom he had promised so much and lied so foully. But he went away bravely, with quite a color in his cheek; a handsome young man, as some of the women in the court whispered to each other, and no doubt abominably treated by the wicked, impudent, designing, murderous wretch who had now received her reward, which richly she deserved.

The counsel for the defense walked across Fleet street to his chambers in the Temple, accompanied by a friend, briefless but without envy.

"I was thinking, Jack——" he said, but stopped.

"So was I," said Jack.

"I was thinking——" he began again.

"That it is a beastly shame to lock up such a pretty girl for seven years."

"Yes, poor wretch. Why wouldn't the girl ask any questions? Why did she refuse any cross-examination? Why wouldn't she allow me to ask what the row was about? Did you see her face, Jack? It wasn't murder in that face, my friend, it was pride. She never meant to stab him. The only question she would suffer me to ask revealed the truth—what had the fellow done? They say he's the son of a rich city man. He's a villain, Jack; he's a villain. And he's a cur, Jack; he's a cur. Well, the girl had the sweetest face. She let that fellow say what he pleased—she was too proud to defend herself. Oh, he's a villain; he's a villain. Poor child! I hope they will be kind to her. But she's got to come out again, and her life is ruined."

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

THE city of New York has 1,157 millionaires. In a 7-cent lodging house in that city, a missionary collected $1.35 for the Grant monument fund. Most of the subscribers earn not more than 30 cents a day. But the point is evident, Grant is to have his tomb, and we won't rub some things too deep.

HUMOR OF THE WEEK.

STORIES TOLD BY FUNNY MEN OF THE PRESS.

Many Odd, Curious, and Laughable Phases of Human Nature Graphically Portrayed by Eminent Word Artists of Our Own Day.

Sprinkles of Spice.

WHEN a mosquito presents his bill he is not invited to call again.—Troy Press.

THE seedy individual can find companionship in the blackberry pie.—Binghamton Republican.

PAPER-HANGERS are about the only men who succeed in business by going to the wall.—Texas Siftings.

PEOPLE who are able to raise a breeze have an opportunity to be immensely popular during dog days.

SOME men if they take one swallow will insist on having a lark.—Boston Post.

"YOU are the only girl I ever loved." "Then we would better part I don't want to marry a freak."—Life.

DAPPER—"Why did you leave your last position; didn't it suit you?" Flashly—"It didn't even keep me in neckties."

THE crying need in naval affairs is a marine Koch who can cure the ravages of coal consumption.—Baltimore American.

THE walking delegate does not wear out half as much shoe leather as the striker who is looking for another job.—New York Herald.

WIFE—Harry, why did you have your new trousers made without pockets? Husband—I did it for the sake of change, darling.

A WAITRESS may not know how to deal a pack of cards, but she can easily raise the deuce by dropping a tray.—Glens Falls Republican.

IF the early bird which catches the worm would rush matters a little and visit the electric lamps he could get his fill of bugs.—Columbus Post.

THERE is room to doubt whether a person who sits in the gallery of a church is responsible for the deeds done in the body.—New York News.

MAMMA—"How terrible! A man was drowned at the bathing beach this morning." Daughter—"Dear me! And men are so scarce here."—New York Herald.

THE nail trade is said to be looking up. Certainly; think of the campaign lies that will have to be mailed between now and November.—Detroit Free Press

PAULINE—"Lo'd, Geems, what yo' wiggilin' yo' toes dat a-way fo'? Is yo' well?" Geems—"I'se jes' countin' up how much I made dis week pickin' strawberries."—Judge.

YOUNG WIFE—"What do you think of my pie-crust, Jack?" Jack (who doesn't wish to be as severe as the case warrants)—"Very nice, my darling; but don't you get the shortening in lengthwise?"—Boston Post.

WHYTE—Are you good at arithmetic, Browne? Browne—Good, my boy? I'm simply phenomenal at it. I can add a column of six figures up seven times and make it come out eight different ways.—Somerville Journal.

JOSEPH is a witty head-waiter. One day during the hot spell a guest said to him: "This weather is pretty hot, isn't it, Joseph?" "Be jabbers," he replied, "hot is only a nickname for it."—Detroit Free Press.

PERDITA—"Are you going to accept him, Pen?" Penelope—"I really don't know, dear. Bradstreet reports very favorable on him, but the detectives have not completed their investigations yet."—Life.

IRATE PASSENGER (who has been carried down town instead of up)—"You told me this car went up town when I asked you, conductor." Conductor—"So it does, sorr, on the return trip."—Harper's Weekly.

"WHY do you keep the butcher-knife by the side of the water cooler?" asked a man who was making his first visit to Cincinnati, of the hotel clerk. "To cut the water in slices, sir," replied the clerk, with some surprise. --Life.

DANCING MASTER—"I want to look at some nice shoes for dancing." Shoe Man—"Yes, sir; here you are, a nice pair of kangaroo skin shoes—and you know, sir, for hops the kangaroo can't be beaten."—Inter Ocean.

WHEN a man takes off his linen collar and dons a neglige shirt, and a woman throws aside her loose waist and puts on a stiff shirt with a high collar, you may know that the hot weather has come.—Grand Rapids Democrat.

As A rule, a man who has a mustache he can twist or whiskers he can stroke is three times as long making up his mind as one who hasn't.—Atchison Globe.

"THEY says Mars is going to be a very interesting study." "Yes," she answered, "and as you may want to use the latch key, I'll go with you while you study it."—Washington Star.

"I WANT an ice chest with a glass door," he said to the furniture man. "Are you particular about the glass door?" "Yes, I want to put the thermometer inside and look at it."—Washington Star.

MR. FITZ RACQUET (at the seaside)—Don't you miss your husband, now that he's gone back to town, Mrs. Spooner? Mrs. Spooner—Oh, no. You see I just open an umbrella and let a newspaper peep from underneath it—so—and I forget he isn't with me.—Funny Folks.

Eggs for Dysentery.

The egg is considered one of the best remedies for dysentery; beaten up lightly, with or without sugar, and swallowed at a gulp, it tends, by its emolient qualities, to lessen the inflammation of the stomach and intestines, by forming a transient coating on these organs, enables nature to resume her healthful sway over a diseased body. Two or at most three eggs per day would be all that is required in ordinary cases; and since eggs are not merely medicine but food as well, the lighter the diet otherwise, and the quieter the patient is kept, the more certain and rapid is the recovery.

GANTER'S MAGIC —CHICKEN—
CHOLERA CURE!
Thousands of dollars worth of chickens are destroyed by Cholera every year. It is more fatal to them than all other diseases combined. But the discovery of a liquid remedy that positively destroys the Microbes has been made. Half of the young chickens are killed by Microbes before they are fryers. A 50-cent bottle is enough for 100 chickens. It is guaranteed. If, after using two thirds of a bottle, you are not satisfied with it as a cure for Cholera, return it to the druggist from whom you purchased it, and he will refund your money.
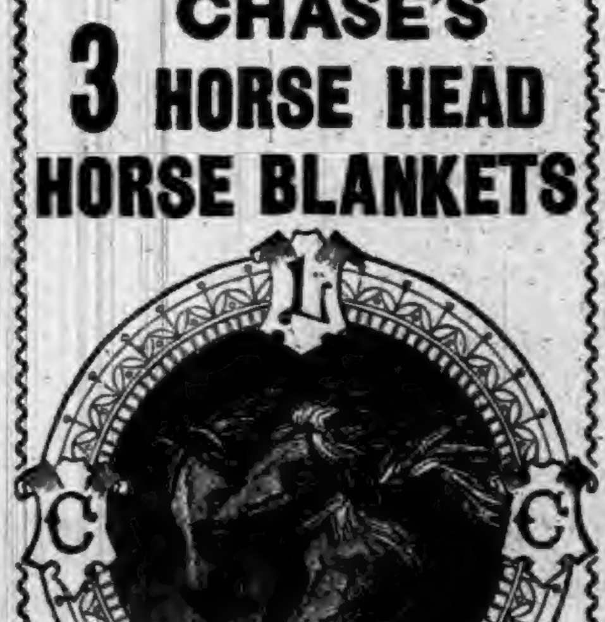
For Sale by ROBBINS & McCORD, Druggists, Auburn, Ind.

TO WEAK MEN
Suffering from the effects of youthful errors, early decay, wasting weakness, lost manhood, etc., I will send a valuable treatise (sealed) containing full particulars for home cure, FREE of charge. A splendid medical work; should be read by every man who is nervous and debilitated. Address,
Prof. F. C. FOWLER, Moodus, Conn.

MARYLAND
ROASTER AND BAKER
IMPROVED
ROASTER & BAKER
FOR MEATS, FOWL, FISH, ETC., AND FOR BAKING BREAD, CAKES AND PUDDINGS.
BEST SIMPLEST AND CHEAPEST
THE STEAM produced by the process of cooking cannot escape, is absorbed by the article in the roaster, and acts as a basting. There is no evaporation, no drying up or burning, hence no shrinkage or loss of weight, and all the flavor and nutritious qualities of the food are retained. Tough meats are made tender, and any article roasted or baked will be sweeter, healthier and more digestible. Put the food in the roaster, place the roaster in a well heated oven; the roaster will do the cooking. It requires no attention. Can only be bought from dealers, the trade supplied by:
MATTHAI, INGRAM & CO.,
120 HANOVER ST., BALTIMORE, MD.
64 READE ST., NEW YORK.

None Such
CONDENSED
Mince Meat
Makes an every-day convenience of an old-time luxury. Pure and wholesome. Prepared with scrupulous care. Highest award at all Pure Food Expositions. Each package makes two large pies. Avoid imitations—and insist on having the NONE SUCH brand.
MERRELL & SOULE, Syracuse, N. Y.



CHASE'S
3 HORSE HEAD
HORSE BLANKETS

are the strongest and best.
Chase's
Plush Lap Robes
are the standard. The plush will not shed. All robes have the name Chase either woven in the binding or sewed on the corner.
FIRST-CLASS DEALERS WILL SELL NO OTHERS.
L. C. CHASE & CO., Boston, Mass.

LOVELY COMPLEXION
BEAUTIFUL FORM.
Blemishes, such as FRECKLES, MOTH PATCHES, LIVER SPOTS, BLOTCHES, TAN, PIMPLES, BLACK HEADS, ROUGHNESS, or any discoloration removed, rendering the skin soft, velvety & beautiful.
The form developed — made PLUMP AND BEAUTIFUL.
Send six cents in stamps and get descriptive circulars and testimonials in a sealed envelope.
H. BENJAMIN & CO.,
115 N. 8th Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

CANCER and other Malignant Diseases CURED without the use of knife. Consultation Free. Call or write—
DR. RUSH
Office, 800 Pine St. ST. LOUIS, MO.

CORNETT PIANOS.
STYLE A.
HAVE PERFECT TONE, ACTION, FRAME WORK, AND FINISH
AND MODERATE PRICES.
GUARANTEED 5 YEARS.
SEND FOR CIRCULAR AND PRICES.
The Cornett Piano Co., 525-531 W. 24 St., NEW YORK.

THE GREATEST REFRIGERATOR IMPROVEMENT OF THE AGE,
THE
GURNEY PATENT REFRIGERATOR.
No. 3. Front sectional view showing position of removable galvanized ice compartment; mineral wool packing, etc.
THE ONLY CLEANABLE REFRIGERATOR.
The greatest economy of ice. The lowest average temperature.
If your dealer does not sell the "Gurney," send for Catalogue and Prices.
GURNEY REFRIGERATOR CO., Fond du Lac, Wis.

FREE
FOR 30 DAYS 30 DAYS
In order to introduce our CRAYON PORTRAITS and make new customers, we have decided to make this Special Offer: Send us a Cabinet Picture, Photograph, Tintype, Ambrotype or Daguerotype of yourself or any member of your family, living or dead, and we will make you a Crayon Portrait Free of Charge, provided you exhibit it to your friends as a sample of our work, and use your influence in securing us future orders. Place name and address on back of picture and it will be returned in perfect order. We make any change in picture you wish, not interfering with likeness. Refer to any Bank in Chicago. Address all mail to ECLIPSE PORTRAIT CO., 110 East Randolph St., CHICAGO, Ill.
(P. S.—We will forfeit $100 to any one sending us photo and not receiving crayon picture FREE as per this offer. THIS OFFER IS STRICTLY BONA FIDE.)

BUCKEYE
HOG CHOLERA CURE
BUCKEYE CURE
MAKES HOG RAISING PROFITABLE.
AN ABSOLUTE
PREVENTION AND CURE
OF HOG CHOLERA.
IT WILL
Put your Hogs in first-class condition.
Stop cough and regulate the bowels.
Arrest disease in every instance.
Destroy worms.
Repay its cost many times over in the extra pounds of pork it will make without extra feed.
If your local dealers do not have it, we will send to any address on receipt of price, 50 cents a package. Write for prices on larger quantities.
AGENTS WANTED.
W. T. PHILIPPS & CO.,
Nos. 115 AND 117 ST. CLAIR STREET, TOLEDO, OHIO.

Now Is The Time To Buy

WALL PAPER

CHEAP.

We will sell at Cost all PATTERNS IN STOCK

from now on till September 1, to make room for our large

FALL STOCK

2 JOHNS 2

AT THE FAIR.

G. W. McKAY, MANAGER.

Fine line of Shirts, Pants, ladies and gentlemen's underwear, at

THE FAIR.

J. C. HENRY, Prop'r,

DO YOU KNOW

THAT IF YOU USE ONE BOTTLE OF

Chapman's Celebrated Flux Syrup

NO ONE CAN PERSUADE YOU TO DO WITHOUT IT?

If you are attacked with Cholera Morbus it will relieve all pain and leave your stomach and bowels in good shape. If you are attacked with Diarrhœa, it will cure you and leave you feeling as good as new. If you have had Chronic Diarrhœa for many years, you will be happily surprised before you have used one bottle. If you have pain in the Stomach, Bowels, or Side, it will give relief. If you have a cough, it will give you sweet rest and cure your cough. It is a sweet syrup. Children love it, and nothing can excel it for children Cutting Teeth, as it will relieve the pain and regulate their bowels. It is for sale by Druggists, and has a Printed Guarantee on each bottle. If, after a thorough trial, you are not satisfied with the result, you can return the bottle to the druggist and your money will be refunded. Don't ruin your stomach with burning remedies when this pleasant syrup is guaranteed to cure.

G. W. CHAPMAN,

MANUFACTURER, BOX 207, HICKSVILLE, OHIO.

GET THE BEST!

EXCEL IN QUALITY, BEAUTY, TONE AND FINISH.

THE CROWN PIANOS & ORGANS GEO. P. BENT CHICAGO.

FOR SALE ON EASY TERMS BY

WES. H. HUSSELMAN,

Waterloo, - - - Ind.

Save Your Eyes.

Don't ruin your eyes, by wearing improper glasses, or those not properly fitted. Get an experienced and skillful man to fit them to your eyes. So wait till C. J. Porter, the Waterloo optician, comes to Auburn. He will be at the Hollister House, the first Tuesday in each month. Don't forget the date.

Garrett Steam Laundry.

Peter Young has the agency for the Model Steam Laundry at Garrett, an establishment that has a reputation equal to the best, and has been in operation for the past two years with marked success. Parties should call on Mr. Young when they want any work in this line. Fine work and prompt delivery a specialty. Laundry will be sent over by Mr. Young Tuesday and be returned Saturday.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS—HALF RATES

August 30th and Sept. 27th.

The Burlington Route will sell round trip tickets at half rates, good to the cities and farming regions of the West, Northwest and Southwest. Eastern Ticket Agents will sell through tickets on the same plan. See that they read over the Burlington Route, the best line from Chicago, Peoria, Quincy and St. Louis. For further information write P. S. Eustis, General Passenger Agent Chicago.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

WANTED, FOR THE UNITED STATES ARMY, able-bodied unmarried men, between the ages of 21 and 30 years. Good pay, rations, clothing, and medical attendance. Applicants must be prepared to furnish satisfactory evidence as to age, character and habits. Apply at 4th floor, Bass Block, Calhoun street, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

JAPANESE PILE CURE

A new and Complete Treatment, consisting of Suppositories, Ointment in Capsules, also in Box and Pills; a Positive Cure for External, Internal, Blind or Bleeding, Itching, Chronic, Recent or Hereditary Piles. This Remedy has never been known to fail. $1 per box, 6 for $5; sent by mail. Why suffer from this terrible disease when a written guarantee is positively given with 6 boxes, to refund the money if not cured. Send stamp for free sample. Guarantee issued by F. E. DAVENPORT.

McElree's Wine of Cardui

and THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT are for sale by the following merchants in

DeKalb Co.:

Robbins & McCord,	Auburn,
F. E. Davenport,	"
J. D. Campbell,	Waterloo,
Willis & Co.,	"
Geo. Kehrer,	Butler,
S. G. Stone,	"
O. P. Raber,	Corunna,
W. M. Mercer,	"
J. M. Lefern,	Garrett,
Patterson Bros.,	St. Joe,
J. W. Wyatt,	Concord.

Annual Excursion to Northern Michigan.

Via the G. R. & I., Thursday, September 8th. Only $5 00 for the round trip. Tickets good ten (10) days. Plenty of coaches.

Special train leaves LaOtto, at 3:15 p. m.
" " " Avila, at 3:28 p. m.
" " " Kendallville 3:41 p. m.

Last opportunity to visit the beautiful resorts of Northern Michigan.

The Mountains of Colorado.

Denver, Estes Park, Colorado Springs, Manitou and Glenwood Springs, may be reached from Chicago or St. Louis via the Burlington Route fast vestibuled express trains, handsomely equipped with every modern improvement. Write P. S. Eustis, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, for particulars.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

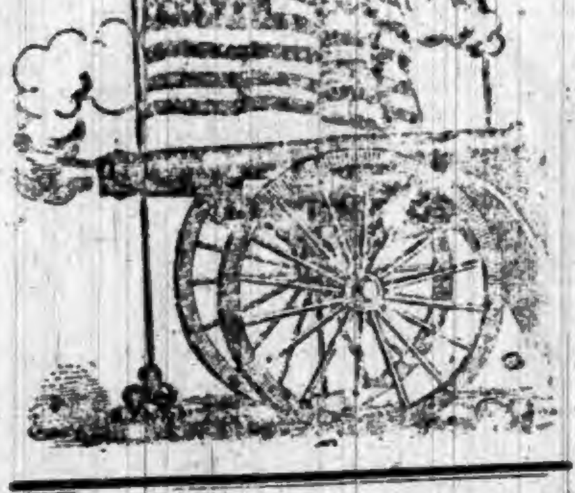
THE AUBURN COURIER

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY.

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....SEPTEMBER 1, 1892.



To Open The Campaign.

The democrats of DeKalb county will open the campaign, formally, by a grand rally at Garrett on Friday, September 9.

The Opening Speech will be made by

HON. G. W. Bell,

of Washington, D. C., the ablest speaker on the tariff question, in the United States. The speech will be in the afternoon, and he will be followed by other able speakers. There may be also an evening meeting.

Judicial Convention.

The Judicial convention for the purpose of nominating a prosecutor for the circuit composed of DeKalb and Steuben, will be held in Waterloo on Saturday, Sept. 10, at 10:30 a. m. Delegates should bear this in mind, so as to be present.

BEERS ERIC, Chairman for DeKalb.

CHOLERA raging in Europe, and our people are prepared to prevent it getting over here.

ARKANSAS State election next Monday, Vermont on Tuesday, and Maine on the following Monday, Sept. 12.

RECIPROCITY, as republicans are trying to get it, means, say $5 of free trade. If this is a good thing, why not take it by millions. But reciprocity so far, has proved a failure. We don't know of a single article it has made cheaper to us

THE new tax law raised the assessment on one estate in Carroll county, $210,000 And now the owner of that property will howl through republican papers, that the new law has increased his taxes. And yet he is not assessed as high as poor men.

IF THE New York Tribune squared itself with the Typographical union before Reid's nomination, why was it necessary at the last meeting of the New york union to pass a resolution stating that the boycot against that paper would be raised as soon as the matter is fully settled?

Communication.

MR. EDITOR:—

I saw an article in the Clipper of last week, rather criticising me for the fee I charge for services as superintendent of work contracted for by the County Commissioners. While I know it don't pay me to spend my time for $2 per day, I have been chosen as one of the Commissioners in my county, to look after its interests and will be satisfied with the pay the law provides. While I am aware that it has been the custom to charge $3.50, I can't find any law for it, and consequently I feel it my duty to be satisfied with the pay the law provides, and nothing more. I have consulted the best attorneys in regard to my perdiem and they have failed to cite me to any authority giving me more than $2 for services outside of regular or called sessions. If you think worthy of space in your paper, you will oblige me by publishing this. Yours Resp'y,

LYMAN LOCKWOOD,
County Commissioner.

B. & O. EXCURSIONS.

G. A. R. encampment at Washington, D. C., and Naval Veterans' Association. Meeting at Baltimore, Md., September 1892.

For the above occasions the Baltimore & Ohio railroad will sell excursion tickets. September 13 to 20, inclusive, from all stations to Washington, D. C. Baltimore, Md., and return, at very low rates. Ticket will be good for return passage to and including October 10, 1892. For further information as to all these excursions, call on or address any B. & O. ticket agent or L. S. Allen, Ass't Pass'r agent, Chicago, Ill.

TO CHICAGO.

On September 2 and 3, 9 and 10. 16 and 17 and 23 and 24 the Baltimore & Ohio railroad will sell round trip excursion tickets to Chicago at very low rates. Tickets will include admission to the World's Fair Grounds, and will be good to return until the Monday following date of sale. 37,

TO PORTLAND, ORE.

On September 9 to 14, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will sell excursion tickets to Portland, Ore., at a rate of one fare for the round trip, on account of the I. O. O. F. Tickets will be good for return passage to and including Nov. 12, 1892.

Low Rates to Toledo Exposition

For this occasion the L. S & M. S. Ry. will sell excursion tickets at greatly reduced rates, Sept. 5 to 10 inclusive, good returning until Sept. 12 inclusive. For particulars see local ticket agents.

Notice to All Persons.

I, John G. Stonebraker, feeling most keenly the curse of the use of intoxicating liquor, that it degrades and injures me in person and humiliates my family and friends, have resolved to abstain from its use. And I hereby notify any and warn all persons that I will expose to the officers of the law and aid in prosecuting to the fullest extent, any person who gives or furnishes me any intoxicating liquor.

This 30th day of August, 1892.

JOHN G. STONEBRAKER.

Brave Cadets.

F. N. Freeman of F. Wayne, who was appointed by Judge McClellan to the naval academy at Annapolis, has already proved himself worthy of a place in the honoroble profession he has chosen. The following account of the incident was copied by the Ft. Wayne Journal from the Providence, R. I., News of Aug. 12.

"A gallant rescue was accomplished by a number of cadets from the practice ship 'Constellation,' yesterday. Passing by one of the bathing beaches in a boat they noticed struggling in the water several girls who had been caught in the tide and swept away from the beach at the "Dumplings." Three of the cadets, Freeman, Stanley and Mansfield, jumped overboard and held up the girls until taken in by the boat. The girls at the time of the rescue were nearly exhausted, and but for the timely arrival of the cadets, one if not all of them would have been drowned as the tide at this point is very strong."

When this gallant act was reported to the secretary of the navy, he at once sent a letter to Mr. Freeman, commending the young men for their bravery.

New Firm.

We take pleasure in announcing a new business partnership this week. A. B. Olds, younger brother of W. J. Olds has taken a half interest in the store and business that has been conducted by the latter for the past year in the Sebring block on North Main street, and the firm will be hereafter known as the "Olds, Bros." Both are good business men, well posted in all that pertains to their lines of goods, gentlemanly and obliging. We hope to see the new firm continue its prosperity.

Corunna Entertainment.

There will be a missionary entertainment at the Christian church in Corunna, Sunday evening, Sept. 3, consisting of welcome address, recitations, paper, solos, dialogue by eleven ladies in costume representing the heathen nations. At the close the nations will present a tableau by clinging to the cross. The music and singing will be furnished by the Christian church choir of Kendallville. Come early and secure good seats. Admittance 10 cents.

Lavene—Rosenblom.

[Warsaw Daily Times, Aug. 29th]

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Cohen on West Market street, was the scene of a brilliant gathering last evening, the occasion being the marriage of their sister, Bessie Rosenblom to Isaac Laveno of Auburn. The ceremony was performed at 7:30 by Rabbi Weinstin, of Goshen. The Hebrew's ceremony was used and consumed thirty-five minutes in its performance. The bride was attired in a becoming robe of white brilliantine. After the ceremony a sumptuous repast was served and the festivities were continued until the departure of the newly married couple for Ft, Wayne, where they will visit friends for several days. The bride was the recipient of numerous costly presents. Guests were present from Ft. Wayne, Chicago and other cities.

Take Notice.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me, will confer a great favor and at the same time cancel an honest obligation, by calling and settling at once. Please make a note of this, so when you are in town you will drop in and balance accounts.

Yours Resp'y,
J. BEURET, Auburn.

Obituary.

Annette Britton Riley died Aug. 25, 1892, at her home near Ashland, Ohio, aged 42 years, 11 months and 18 days. The funeral was held last Saturday at 2 p. m. and her mother Mrs. Martha Britton, Frank L. Britton, M. B. Willis and wife, Mrs. Minnie Franks and Cal Husselman of the relatives in this county were present to attend the last sad rites.

The Hicksville Fair

will be held Sep. 20, 21, 22 and 23. Every effort is being made to make it the best ever held. An especial effort is being made that the racing shall be something good.

GREAT DEMOCRATIC BARBECUE

At Shelbyville, Ind., September 28, 1892.

The Democracy of Shelby county, Ind., the old home of the late Vice President Hendricks, will hold its usual mammoth Democratic Barbecue on September 28. Heretofore, more than 60,000 people attended each of the Barbecues at that place and, from present indications, this one will assume national proportions and eclipse anything of the kind ever attempted in the country. Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson, the running mate of Grover Cleveland, will be present and make a speech on that occasion. This fact alone gives the meeting a national significance and insures an immense gathering of the unterrified democracy. Hon. W. C. P. Breckinridge, Senator John G. Carlisle, Senator David B. Hill, Senator Wm. F. Vilas, Ex Governor Isaac P. Gray, Ex Gov. Jas. E. Campbell, Hon. Lawrence T. Neal, Hon. Henry Watterson, Gov. Horace G. Boise, Gov. James Boyd, Hon. Don M. Dickerson, Hon. Burke Cockran, of Tammany Hall, N. Y., Senator John M. Palmer, Gen'l Black, Gen'l Sickles, Att'y. Gen'l A. G. Smith, Hon. J. W. Kern, Hon Leon O. Bailey, Senator D. W. Voorhees, Congressmen G. W. Cooper, Jason B. Brown and many others have been invited and will be present. Fifty cattle and hundreds of calves, sheep and poultry will be slaughtered for the occasion, and profiting by past experience, the committee will be prepared to feed all who attend. Cheap rates on all railroads have been secured.

Thos. Taggart, chairman, Democratic State Central committee, says; "I will do everything in my power to assist you in making your meeting a success Command me and I will be at your service."

For Sale.

The undersigned has for sale, one ten-horse-power traction engine in number one working order, one feed mill, and one power sheller and shafting, belts, etc. Will sell cheap for cash or will take a good driving team three or four years old as part pay.

Call and see me.

James N. McBride,
Waterloo, Ind.

DO YOU COUGH DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles, 50 cents and $1.00.

Special Train to the Fair.

On Thursday, Sept 15, the B. & O., will run an excursion train from the west, leaving Cromwell, at 7:30 a. m. Returning, will leave here, after the races. This train will stop at the Wabash depot, at the foot of Main street. For time of trains, see bills will accompany the train, and play at the fair, that day.

THE ALBION MILITARY BAND,

OLD SOLDIERS' DAY,

Is on Wednesday, Sept. 14, when all ex-soldiers will be admitted free.

GRAND PRIZE GIVEN.

The Auburn Stove Works will give a splendid new cooking stove of their own make, to the couple getting married on the grounds.

SPECIAL BICYCLE RACE,

will be given on Friday, early in the afternoon. Time will be given on program.

The society donates $25 to this race, and the Auburn Bicycle Club, $25, more, to be expended in medals or premiums in the contest. There will be a large number of entries from various points. Best two in three.

SPECIAL TRAINS

for Labor Day Celebration at Fort Wayne, Sept. 5.

The Lake Shore R. R. will run a special train from Angola to Ft. Wayne and return, on above date, and sell excursion tickets at half rates, good going and returning on special train only. Train will leave Auburn at 8 40 a. m. Special trains will be run between Ft Wayne and Centlivre's Park as often as necessary to meet the demands.

Low Rate Harvest Excursion.

The announcement that the North Western Line, comprising over 8,000 miles of thoroughly equipped railways, has arranged to run two low rate Harvest Excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by those who are interested in the development of the great West and Northwest, as by those who desire to visit this wonderfull productive region at a season of the year when exact demonstration can be made of the merits and advantages it offers to home-seekers and those in search of safe and profitable investments. These excursions will leave Chicago on August 30th and Sept. 27th, and tickets can be purchased at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip to points in Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho and Montana. They will be strickly first-class in every particular and will be good for return passage at any time within twenty days from date of purchase. Full information concerning rates and arrangments for these excursions can be obtained upon application to any coupon ticket agent, or to W. A. Thrall, G. P. T. A., Chicago & North Western R'y, Chicago. 38

Tutt's Pills

will save the dyspeptic from many days of misery, and enable him to eat whatever he wishes. They prevent

Sick Headache,

cause the food to assimilate and nourish the body, give keen appetite, and

Develop Flesh

and solid muscle. Elegantly sugar coated. Price, 25cts. per box.

SOLD EVERYWHERE.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

BLOOD POISON

BODY COMPLETELY COVERED WITH A RASH AND RED BLOTCHES.

EVERYTHING ELSE FAILED BUT LIVURA CURED.

VITA CORBETT.

LIVURA M'F'G. Co.,

GENTLEMEN:—"My little girl had Blood Poison; her system was all run down, her body was completely covered with a rash and horrid red blotches, owing to the intense itching she could not sleep. Her digestive organs were in a very bad condition; she complained of pain in the limbs and we were very much alarmed about her. We tried everything we could think of but nothing had the desired effect until we found PITCHER'S LIVURA. She had not been taking LIVURA more than one week when her eyes looked natural again, her appetite improved, and before the second bottle had been used, the rash and blotches disappeared, the itching left, and she is now PERFECTLY WELL and has gained flesh. All due to

PITCHER'S LIVURA,

Very Sincerly, MRS. JOHN CORBETT,
645 Madison St., Huntsville, Ala. 33

LIVURA OINTMENT

The Great Skin Cure,

Cures Eczema, Salt Rheum, Pimples Ulcers, Itch, and all affections of the skin. Heals Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, etc. Sold by all Druggists, or by mail. Price 35 Cents,

THE LIVURA M'F'G. CO., NASHVILLE, TENN.

HAVE YOU

SEEN OUR

FINE SHOES,

BOOTS,

HEAVY SHOES?

If not, Come at Once and look them over.

No extra charge for a

Good, Square Look,

And we charge no more for a GOOD. SOLID SHOE, than some dealers do for a

INFERIOR ARTICLE.

We never were in better shape to please our customers in

Selections,

Quality,

Price!

WE OWN

BOOTS

CHEAPER

Than any firm in the county. Good, reliable footwear at

LOW PRICES!

We ask a share of your patronage.

WILSON,

Waterloo and Auburn.

We Open This Week

THE LARGEST

and

MOST VARIED

Stock of Fall and Winter

Dry Goods

ever offered by Us to the Trade.

Next Week We open Our

Millinery Department.

HARTER,

AUBURN.

Main Street, North of Farmers Bank,

I. O. BUCHTEL,
Homœopathic
Physician and Surgeon.

Special attention given to chronic and obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.

Office and residence over Smith & Madden's marble works, Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, night or day.

H. DARLING, D. D. S.,
Surgeon Dentist.

Graduate of CHICAGO COLLEGE OF DENTAL SURGERY.
Member of Royal College of Dental Surgeons of ONTARIO.
Gas administered for Painless Extraction.

Dr. James Adams,
VETERINARY SURGEON.

Will treat all Diseases of Domestic Animals. He has had THIRTY YEARS successful PRACTICE. Call on him at his residence No. 34, North Main street, or at ROBBINS & McCORD'S Drug Store.

Dr. K. K. Wheelock,
—Diseases of the—
EYE AND EAR
A Specialty. Office 26, W. Wayne St., Fort Wayne, Ind.

McBRIDE and McBRIDE,
COPYISTS,

Manuscript Speeches, Briefs and Depositions, Business and Personal Type-Writing Generally,

WATERLOO, IND.

Write for terms, stating what kind of WORK.

Dr. F. M. Hines, Physician and SURGEON.
Office over J. C. HENRY'S Grocery, in the Ford Block,
AUBURN, IND.

RESIDENCE, at the Samuel Swihart residence on South Jackson St. near the Church Furniture factory, and just across west from the German Methodist church. All calls attended to promptly, night or day.

—AUBURN WOOLEN MILLS—
........DOES........

All kinds of CUSTOM WORK, such as Carding, Spinning, Etc.

ALSO

MANUFACTURE for the TRADE, Yarns Flannels, Skirtings, Blankets and Wool Bats.
These goods are absolutely PURE and warranted to give SATISFACTION to the Consumer.
—ENSLEY & FORKNER, Proprietors.—
Call at FACTORY North End of Main street
AUBURN, IND.

The Auburn Iron Works
Is the
Place to go for General Repairs
of all kinds.
Pipe, Pipe Fittings, Etc.,
FURNISHED.

DIED,—In this city, of consumption. A familiar headline isn't it? It's pretty risky to neglect a cold or cough. One Minute Cough Syrup is pleasant, safe and sure. Robbins & McCord.

LOCAL NEWS.

BLACK-DRAUGHT tea cures Constipation.

CUBEB COUGH CURE—One Minute. Sold by F. E. Davenport. tf

KRAUSE'S HEADACHE CAPSULES—Warranted. Sold by F. E. Davenport. tf

Coughing leads to consumption. Kemp's Balsam will stop that cough at once.

Try Dullam's Great German 15-cent liver pills, 40 in each package, at Casebeer & Matheny's.

MY GIRL, is one of the most popular brands of cigars on the market.

The greatest worm destroyer on earth is Dullam's Great German Worm Lozengers, only 25 cents per box. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Smoke the Little Salesman, the nobbiest brand out.

Do you want a good deal in groceries? If you are in search of the place where your money will buy good goods at lowest prices, call at Ira Brandon's. 26tf

A thing of beauty is a joy forever. If so, get 1 doz. cabinets at Rice's studio. No chromos, no air burnish pictures. Only 12 cabinets and a paris pannel for 1 doz. on ticket rates. 33tf

Voice culture, piano, organ, thorough base and harmony, I will give lessons in any of these branches. Over fourteen years experience.
tf J. I. Chany, Auburn.

Have tried almost every known remedy for Itching Piles without success, finally bought a box of DeWittt's Witch Hazel Salve, and it has cured me. C. D. Haskins, Peoria, Ill.—Robbins & Mc Cord.

Omaha, Neb., May 5, 1891.

To whom it may concern:

I have suffered for years with neuralgic headache, and Krause's Headache Capsules is the only remedy that has done me any good. Would recommend them to all similarly affected. CHARLES PASSOT, 716 N. 16th Street.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by Robbins & McCord, druggist, Auburn, Ind. tf

MILES' NERVE & LIVER PILLS. Act on a new principle—regulating the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new discovery. Dr. Miles' Pills speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles, constipation. Unequaled for men, women, and children. Smallest, mildest, surest! 50 doses, 25 cts. Samples free at F. E. Davenport's.

VERY MUCH SURPRISED: I have been afflicted with neuralgia for nearly two years, have tried physicians and all known remedies, but found no permanent relief until I tried a bottle of Dullman's Great German Liniment and it gave me instant and permanent relief. 25 cents per bottle. Signed, A. B. Snell, Hamilton, Mich. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Grover Cleveland's Grand March Ben. Harrison's Grand March, either of these two marches will be sent to any address on receipt of 20 cents each, or the two for 35 cts. These marches are new. Every player should have them. Postage stamps acceptable. Address all orders J. I. Chaney, Auburn. Ind.

BUCKLEN'S ARNICA SALVE.—The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, of no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Robbins & McCord. tf

McElree's WINE OF CARDUI for female diseases.

Auburn Fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

The Auburn fair is Sept. 12.

The African traveler at the M. E. church this evening.

Don't fail to get something ready for the Auburn fair, Sept. 12.

Try Dullam's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Mathens's.

Commissioners meet next Monday in regular session for the September term.

Dr. S. B. Johnston, dentist, will be in his office at Waterloo on Thursday of each week.

Frank Hogue started west Monday, going to Kearney, Neb., to visit relatives there.

Do you want the best picture that can be made by the photographic process? If so, then go to J. A. Landis.

Louis Hosler of Corunna, and a friend Mr. Shirey of this place, made this office a brief visit last Thursday.

Gugerli has moved to the Sheets building, south of jail, where his customers will find him till about Sept. 1.

Tablets, tablets, tablets, the biggest, the cheapest and the best at Casebeer & Matheny's opposite Swineford House. 37

TO RENT: By the hour, day or week, a high grade cushion tired safety bicycle. Inquire of Walter C. Hartman, Auburn, Indiana.

Adam Carper has his hand all bundled up, owing to a very painful carbuncle in the palm. He would be just as happy without it.

Preaching at the Lutheran church next Sunday morning and evening, Sept. 4, by the regular pastor, J. D. Brosy. All are invited to attend,

The Adventists have been holding a series of tent meetings on Fourth street, near the German Reformed church, and have apparently had a good attendance,

Farmers who wish the pamphlets of our state agricultural experiment station can get them by sending a request to C. S. Plumb, director of experiment station, Lafayette, Ind.

J. L. Davis visited the family of W. J. Austin at Omaha, as he passed through there on his western trip. They are doing well there, having a large wholesale boot and shoe trade.

It's not very pleasant to cough and hack,
To suffer pain in chest and back,
Many people could stop it for sure
By simply using One Minute Cough Cure.
Robbins & McCord.

Mrs. H. K. Scott, of Angola, with a friend, Miss Myers, of Peoria, Ill., has been here a few days visiting with her people, the family of A. J. Ralston. Mr. Scott joined her here for a stay over Sunday.

Henry Shoemaker has bought out John Kruger's stock of groceries and rented the building and keeps the grocery business right on. Johnny Kruger helps him, and we hope to see them have a good trade.

A gentleman of this country, who has excellent judgment, remarked to us the other day, that he knew of no pill so good for constipation, dyspepsia and liver complaint, as DeWitt's Little Early Risers.—Robbins & McCord.

Hot Springs Skin Soap acts directly upon the delicate pores of the body, sweetens and purifies the skin, thereby rendering it free from bad odors, pimples, rashes and other disagreeable and repugnant manifestations.—For sale by Davenport.

Picker & Bumpus are laying the brick of the two new rooms going up next to Kruger's on South Main. Alex. King owns the north one, and Justin Girardot the one next to Kruger's. It will make three brick rooms together and add greatly to the block.

Mr. Isaac Lavene, a notice of whose marriage at Warsaw, we have this week, is one of Auburn's new citzens. He is at present located at the Watson Hotel, but will soon rent a house, and with his bride, become citizens of Auburn. We hope he and Mrs. Lavene will find a hearty welcome by our people.

And still the DeKalb boy gets there, as shown by the following which we clip from last week's Sournal of Logansport: "O. C. Waterman, of Waterloo, Ind., is acting as agent at the Eel River depot during the absence of the regular agent, J. W. Dunwoody, who is attending the K. P. encampment at Kansas City."

John Kruger goes to morrow for a three week's visit with his relatives at Toledo, Wyandotte and Detroit. He will make his home mainly at Wyandotte, and put in his time sight seeing, etc. He is not in good health, and a good rest like this will benefit him. He also thinks of taking a trip to Detroit and Milwaukee in October.

RHEUMATISM CURED IN A DAY.—"Mystic Cure" for rheumatism and neuralgia radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause and the disease immdiately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits. 75 cents. Sold and guaranteed by Robbins & McCord druggists, Auburn.

J. W. Smith of Custer, thrashed his wheat last week—nothing unusual about that of course, but he thinks the boys have a new patent on straw stacking. It isn't the patent plan on which the tower of Babel was built, going high up toward heaven, but the wide-out-and-spring-bottom pants style. The boys had evidently been stacking on the big farms in Dakota, and found themselves short of room in DeKalb county.

In Mr. Hoffelder's letter of last week, we mis-read one of his figures making the cost of the iron bridge spoken of $1,690 when it should have been $1,650 This of course changed the figures the rest of the way, but did not vitiate the argument, nor weaken the main fact, which was that the democratic commissioners had saved the county nearly $4,000 in spite of the struggle Mr. Lockwood and his republican backers made to put them in a hole.

We take little stock in the sensational article the Dispatch had last week about the four trustees who bought encyclopedias for their schools, and paid big prices for them. We presume the Dispatch wished to carry the idea that these men were dishonest and were defrauding their townships. We do not look at it in their light. They may have been over reached in the bargain, and in fact were over reached. The agent had been here before, had sold them supplies, and, having dealt honestly with them, they had confidence in him. This time he came and told them he had the new Chamber's Encyclopedia, and if he had told the truth the trustees would have got a set worth $50. But he had only the old edition, which was $18 50, as the copyright had expired. That is the substance of the whole thing. It proves nothing except that trustees should be careful. It would be well to investigate prices before making heavy purchases Of course if trustees take commissions on goods they buy, it would not be right. But there is no probability that any of these men did it.

WINE OF CARDUI, a Tonic for Women.

Auburn Fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

Gasolene stoves at half-price at J. Beuret's.

Gugerli, the tailor, south of public square, now.

Sept. 12 to 16 is the time of the Auburn District fair.

Not going out of business, but selling hardward at cost, J. Beuret.

Week after next is the Auburn fair. Get something ready to exhibit.

Do your want hardware? Then go to Beuret, where you can get it at cost.

Try Dullman's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Mrs. G. W. Swank, of Jackson, is at Elkhart, visiting her daughter, Mrs. Mullen.

Cowan Sisters will receive their new goods this week. This means a new hat for the fair.

FOUND: A pair of ladies' shoes. Call at postoffice, identify property and pay for this notice.

Work has begun on the new factory building at its new location, just south of the Lake Shore station.

Smoke a genuine Bill Head cigar made by Kessler Bros.

Mrs. Hague, mother of Isaac Hauge, has returned to her home near Wateloo, after a visit with relatives here.

WANTED:—Active, reliable agents for the Columbian Accident Company, 84 and 86, La Salle St, Chicago, Ill.

HOUSE FOR SALE. A good dwelling on West Ninth street. For particulars call at Geo. Grund's barber shop.

The talk about his experiences traveling in Africa, given by Mr. Richardson at the M. E. church to-night will be interesting.

We can make you a first class picture from old or new negatives, just as you like, at the City Gallery, J. A. Landis, proprietor.

If your eyes don't track go to F. J. Yesbera and have them corrected. He keeps a large line of spectacles, and can fit you nicely.

'Squire Walborn was at the Lutheran basket meeting in Richland Sunday, and says it was a grand gathering, and the sermons fine.

John Scott and Charles McCrory of Spencerville, came back this way Monday after a trip of inspection over the new metropolis, Ashley.

J. H. Hornberger, now at Lake City, Mich., writes that all are well, and he is now the second season filing saws for a big lumber mill, and doing well.

These is no use talking, neither Harrison or Cleveland will be elected unless they take DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They have a "get there" quality possessed by no other pill.—Robbins & McCord.

Syracuse, Ind., seems to be excited over the elopement of Clara McClintic and her knight Mr. Razor. Both are under age and the securing of a license implicated, criminally, a well meaning citizen.

J. F. Shuman, secretary of the Waterloo fair, was here Tuesday. He is looking after the work in a lively way, sperding a good peal of time advertising and getting all things in shape. They will have unusually good attractions this year.

N. C. Glazier and wife were at Pleasant Lake last week, returning here to make a visit with his brother, C. P. Glazier, at the County Home, and going with the excursion over the B. O., Sunday, to see the great exposition buildings at Chicago.

A heavy failure in Jackson last week, bit two of our Auburn manufacturers, The Eckhart Co., and the Zimmerman Co., each of which will lose several thousand dollars. J. W. Baxter and Mr. Eckhart have been up to see about it and will save a part if they can.

The tent meeting on West Fourth St. is creating quite an interest. Elders Thompson and Hadly seem to be able to speak interestedly upon the subjects in hand, and it is hoped some good may be accomplished. A cordial invitation is extended to all, to come out to these meetings.

Orva Weeks reached home Sunday evening from Washington City, where he has been a year or so, in the employ of the government, in the printing office. He is looking well, and has enjoyed life greatly. He goes from here to visit his brother George, at Duluth, and will in this way occupy his leave of thirty days

Take your watches, clocks and jewelry to F. J. Yesbera and have them repaired in a workman-like manner, and where they will be safe and secure, as he has a large fire and burglar proof safe to keep them in until called for. Mr. Yesbera takes pride in turning out first-class work, and warrants everything to be satisfactory.

One of the most exciting features of the fair, this year will be the race between double teams, Crandall of Angola, and Barker of Garrett. Mr. Crandall will be remembered as the man who ran against time here last season. Both have well trained teams and will drive for a purse of $150, five heats, best three in five. There will be two heats on Wednesday, two on Thursday and the closing one on Friday. This will be a grand feature.

Our band boys came home last Thursday feeling proud, as they had a right to be, for they took first prize in the second class, which is a high honor. They could easily have entered the first class, which is for experts in band music, and could have had second in that class, in which Ft. Wayne got first. But they preferred to go into their proper class and get first. The premium was $75. They were well treated, and several times called on for "more music," which of course they gave. All who went say they had a grand time. There was a large attendance and a great many fine bands.

Charlie Casebeer smiled in on about 1000 friends, at his home here, on Tuesday of last week. He is still located in St. Louis, with the Consolidated Coal Company, where he has been for four or five years. He says he puts in eleven months and three weeks of time every year, resting but a week. So he went back on Tuesday of this week. He gave a graphic account of the great pageant of the Veiled Prophet that takes place there in October, and for which the liberal St. Louisans have contributed a million of dollars. It will exceed anything of the kind ever attempted on this continent. His brother Edward, is also in St. Louis, and is employed in one of the largest drugstores, where he has been promoted for faithful service, till he now is third clerk. Glad to hear the boys are doing well.

McELREE'S WINE OF CARDUI for Weak Nerves.

Auburn Fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

Hardware at cost at Bueret's.

Ladies see the new hats at Cowan Sisters'.

Remember the date of the fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

Hardware! hardware!! All hardware at cost. J. Beuret.

Fun for the democrats in our political cartoons on pages 1 and 6.

Gasolene stoves sold at reduced prices, to clean out stock on hand.

Try Dullman's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Matheny's.

G. W. Lewis of Hickeville, was here Monday, and is looking in poor health.

Here is a big bonanza for someone! All gasolene stoves at half-price at J. Beuret's.

Herman Groscup will remain here and not return to West Virginia as he had expected.

Harter and the Schaab Brothers have both got on immense stocks of new goods this week.

Try Dullman's Great German 15-cent liver pills 40 in each package. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Young America is the cigar to smoke now-a-days.

Col. Lounsberry, of North Dakota, is here for a short visit with his relatives, the family of G. W. Weeks.

T. S. Murray of Spencerville, was here Monday, and reports his business good in the flour mill they have there.

Avoid all cheap and trashy inducements, and go to J. A. Landis, where you can get a good picture by paying a little more.

Alva Potter got his hand mixed up last week, with some machine used in the shoe shop and goes pretty lame with it since.

F. J. Yesbera wants to see you at his store; he says he has a lot of bargains in watches, clocks, jewelry and silverware for you.

The cheapest and best place for all school supplies, tablets, slates, etc., at Casebeer & Matheny's opposite Swineford House. 37

Do not be deceived with cheap pictures called $3 cabinets. Rice will give you finer work than can be had in this vicinity for half price.

Henry McIntyre met quite a loss at Napanee last week. The 2,400 barrel tank of the water works, burst, destroying his electric light plant.

When you are in town and at a loss to know just where to deal and what to buy, go to J. Beuret on North Main St., and see what he has to offer in the line of stoves and hardware.

Dyspepsia, distress after eating, sour stomach, poor appetite, bad taste, coated tongue and heartburn are cured by DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pill.—Robbins & McCord.

Schnell & Weeks are hustlers in the grocery trade. They have a well stocked room and can offer unlimited inducements to customers. Remember their place of business south of the jail Auburn.

Notice the removal of Gugerli, the merchant tailor, to the Sheets' building. He will have ample means to accommodate all his patrons. So call there when you want a good suit of fashionable clothes.

Hip! Hip!! Hurrah!!! The campaign of 1892, has opened up with a boom, and we are not going to be behind the times in the "boom business." For the next period, indefinite, we will "boom" our gasolene stoves at half-price. J. Beuret.

Rev. Edward H. Richards will be at the prayer meeting of the First M. E. church Thursday night of this week and speak on his experience for ten years in Africa. He is now appointed by Bishop Taylor a missionary to Africa. All are invited.

Mr. Lockwood has a letter this week explaining his action in taking only $2 a day for work outside of office work. Our opinion is that he is entitled to as much pay for outside work as for any, and should take his full pay, and no doubt he would if there was no politics in it.

Big attraction at the Auburn fair, will be Prof. Grinley, the balloonist. He makes ascensions in his balloon accompanied by a dog, and when they get high enough, each comes down in his own parachute, the dog in one and the man in the other. It will be a new thing and a great attraction.

Farming is not a total failure this year. J. L. Ferguson who resides two miles northeast of town, has the biggest turnips we ever saw, and lots of them. He left three monsters here yesterday, the largest of which weighed seven pounds, and he could have got larger ones. Anyone who wants to buy fine quality turnips can call on him.

One of the attractive features of Harper's Weekly, published August 31, will be a double-page illustration, "Americans in Paris," from a drawing by the celebrated artist, R. Caton Woodville. There will also be a front-page portrait of Mrs. Cleveland, taken from a recent photograph. The fiction of the number will include a story by Howard Pyle, with illustrations by the author; and there will be an article by Richard Harding Davis, entitled "A Newspaper Man's Man."

Mr. and Mrs. Coffinberry reached home last Thursday from their long trip to Colorado, Montana, etc. They had a grand time, though a hot dusty trip. They visited Denver, Leadville, Salt Lake, etc., but the main point was Butte, Montana, where are situated the mines, in which Mr. Coffinberry, S. S. Shutt and others have an interest. They found their mine doing well, the ore proving quite valuable. The shaft is down 150 feet, and they will push it deeper. They employ 35 men and have a good prospect that the mine will prove very valuable. Mr. and Mrs. Shutt will remain two or three weeks longer, to take a trip through the wonderful Yellowstone country.

Ta ra ra boom de ay! The most melodious song of gladdest praise dies away in the distance and its sweetest notes sound faintly o'er the vale of an empty stomach. Its charms are no longer enchanting when hunger gnaws at human vitality. Man seeks after something more lasting than the sweet strains of music, though it be not so thrilling, and the place to find bread, pies, cakes, confectionery, general produce, butter, eggs, tropical fruits, etc., in an abundance and display that will both please and prove beneficial is at H. J. Mossey's on South Main street. He has one of the best cake bakers in northeastern Indiana. Call on him, and convince yourself that what is said above is true.

Try BLACK-DRAUGHT tea for Dyspepsia.

Auburn Fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

TUTT'S PILLS invigorate body and mind.

All hardward will be closed out at cost at Beuret's.

Smoke the L. AND M. cigar, if you want some good.

Try Dullman's Great German 15-cent liver pills at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Read the good chances on real estate in the new advt. of Rickel & Sprott.

The B. & O. is laying steel on the double track from Garrett to the Junction.

Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. Most people need to use it.

For the present, until my stock of gasolene stoves is lowered, I will sell at half-price. J. Beuret.

Piles of people have piles, but DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve will cure them.
Robbins & McCord

W. D. Rickel's little pony was badly snagged on Tuesday. It is a great pet, and we hope they may not lose it.

Slates, tablets and all school supplies the cheapest and best at Casebeer & Matheny, opposite Swineford House. 37

A sister of Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Ward, who has been here a time visiting them, lost her little child this week. It was taken to their home at Elkhart Tuesdoy.

Brandon, did you say? Well yes, Brandon is the man who says he has groceries and general produce to sell in allotments or by the pound. Call and see him. 26tf

If you are a close buyer and want to save a per cent on the investment, you should call at J. Beuret's and get one of those matchless gasolene stoves at half-price.

Persons desiring pictures from the old negatives at the City Gallery, can have them, as all those taken by J. G. Clapp, still remain in the possession of J. A. Landis.

What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world, and then have the dyspepsia so bad that he can't enjoy any of the good things it contains? He won't have dyspepsia if he takes DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Robbins & McCord

We overlooked last week a notice we had written of the wedding of Irvin Hoffman and Annie Teeters, who were united in marriage at the residence of the bride's mother on West Seventh St. on Wednesday, Aug. 24. Mr. Healy officiated. This marriage unites two prominent and worthy families. The young couple have been prominent in social circles, and will be greatly missed. But we feel assured they have a bright and happy future before them. For the present, they are at Grand Rapids, where Mr. H. is employed by the World's View Company, a firm with which he has been connected for several years.

Auburn District Fair, Sept. 12 to 16.

Trustee's Office Days.

I will be at my office for the transaction of public business on Tuesday of each week till further notice.

R. H. SHERLOCK,
Trustee Fairfield Tp.
August 1, 1892.

Settle Up.

I earnestly ask all who are indebted to me for professional services, to call and settle the same by September 15th, as this is my usual time to ask annual settlement. Please attend to this, and oblige,

DR. W. H. NUSBAUM

Notice to Settle

Desiring to make our complete annual settlement with our customers, we respectfully invite every one to call and make settlement at once and oblige,

CASEBEER & MATHENY.

People's Party Meeting.

The people's party will have a pole raising and speaking at the Forsythe tile mill in Jackson township next Wednesday evening Sept. 7. We have not learned who the speakers are.

The L. L. C. Reception.

The reception given to Mr. and Mrs. Leasure, at the home of W. B. Brown Tuesday evening, was another of those charming social meetings for which we are greatly indebted to the Ladies' Literary Club. Nearly 200 guests were present including several from Waterloo, Butler and Angola, and so perfect were the arrangements, that all were entertained without the least inconvenience. There was a committee for each division of the programme, and each was perfect in its attention to their guests. Mr. and Mrs. Leasure, the honored guests of the occasion, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Brown, were stationed in the large parlor, and received each group of new comers as they arrived, and in turn received their parting good wishes on retiring. There was choice music by Charles Calkins, Mr. Gaylor and Miss Shilling, and a fine lunch in one room, and choice lemonade in another, in all cases served by the ladies, with that tact and grace for which they have become famous. The rooms were decorated with goldenrod and sunflowers and looked lovely. It was a pleasant gathering and will leave many pleasant memories. Mr. and Mrs. Leasure go to their new home this week followed by a world of good wishes.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

FALL MILLINERY.

We Open to The Trade

ABOUT SEPT. 5,

Our extensive and complete stock of Fall and Winter Millinery including the many new features in

FANCY FEATHERS,

quills, plumes, jets and

FRENCH NOVELTIES,

straw and felt hats, for Fall, and a most extensive and varied assortment of Children's School Hats,

caps and hoods.

Come and see us, and you will find our goods and prices right.

Yours Respectfully,

Cowan Sisters.

IF YOU WANT

Or are likely to want a Suit for yourself or your boy, now is you chance! We do not intend to carry over any

SUMMER SUITS,

and as the end of the season is now approaching, we have reduced prices to the lowest point which are are bound to clear

THE DESKS!

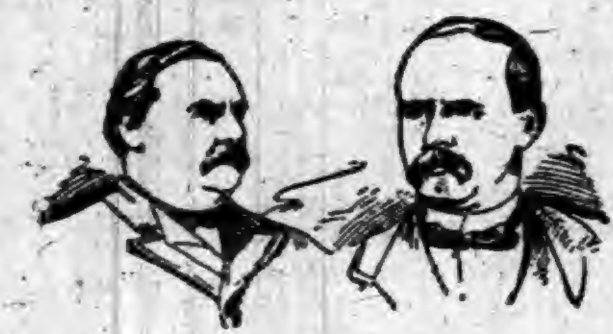
These suits are not to be matched anywhere for the price, and as the best bargains very naturally go first, our advice is

DON'T DELAY!

We do not propose to carry over a single garment

The Boston Clothing Store, Auburn, Indiana.

Auburn Courier.
AUBURN, INDIANA.
JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.



For President.
GROVER CLEVELAND,
OF NEW YORK.
For Vice President.
ADLAI E. STEVENSON
OF ILLINOIS.

THERE seems to be absolutely no demand for Harrison letters.

MR. HARRISON expects Mr. Carter to be the flunkey while he does the driving.

THE Washington Post has coined a name for Watson that will stick. It is Peeping Tom.

IT is capping the climax to make the American farmer pay a tariff duty on seed wheat.

IN 1867 the pension list required $21,000,000 to pay it, and in 1892 it requires $150,000,000.

MR PORTER, Superintendent of the Census, made a mistake when he went into the half-and-half business.

CARNEGIE'S "sliding scale" promises to develop into a regular toboggan slide for the party of protection.

STILL Mr. Harrison has not defined his position on the force bill. Speak up, Benny, or forever afterward live in Indianapolis.

McKINLEY was paid $350 and his expenses to make his speech on protection at Madison. In other words, the Governor was for that occasion, the hired advocate of the high tariff.

IN 1866 Western New York farmers received 60 cents per pound for their butter. Now they get 16 cents. The 44 cents is the evidence of their prosperity and the tax upon their credulity.

IT is no great sin for Mr. Cleveland to be fleshy. There are many very respectable fat men in the country. Mr. Cleveland does not, at least, get his fat by frying it out of the manufacturers.

A REPUBLICAN contemporary thinks that Stevenson's mouth ought to be kept shut. To the Democrats it doesn't make any difference. Unlike the Republicans they have nothing to conceal.

HARRITY'S appointment is construed by the Globe-Democrat to mean that none but Cleveland men are to be put on guard. Right; for there are none but Cleveland men in the Democratic party this year.

IT is amusing to see how Republican organs and organettes jump on Mr. Cleveland for answering correspondence addressed to him. What bothers them is that they cannot swoop down upon the letters and gather political capital.

ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC: The appropriations of the Fifty-second Congress are $10,000,000 less than the single session appropriaaions of the Reed Congress. This includes the Democratic appropriation for Western waterways. Excluding the river and harbor appropriations, the Reed figures are reduced $55,000,000. The Reed Congress, it will be remembered, did nothing for the Mississippi.

THE presses of the Government Printing Office in Washington could not be put to better use than in spreading information as to the true inwardness of the revolutionary force bill which the Minneapolis convention promises that the Republican party will enact if it is given the chance. The people of this country are profoundly interested in politics just now. Let them have all the facts, fully and accurately.

KOLB is going to make one more flourish in Alabama politics before he disappears from the surface of events. Because the Democrats wouldn't let him be Governor he is going ahead to butt out his small remnant of brains against the Cleveland electoral ticket. It may relieve the pressure on his overwrought feelings and will not cause serious trouble to anybody else. Alabama is good for a Cleveland majority of 30,000 to 40,000.

THAT car trust has met with a rebuff. Its promoters are recognized as men of more than average business sagacity. But this very fact makes unaccountable their willingness to inform the public of the fact that protected works having an invested capital of less than a million have declared in dividends annually a sum almost equal to their entire capital. These are not facts usually disclosed to the general public save for the purpose of increasing the value of stock certificates.

THE protectionists lay down the premises that the tariff not only cheapens the cost of living in America but also advances the wages of labor. This remarkable position forces the singular conclusion that the manufacturers have been operating their mills since the passage of the McKinley act for the sole purpose of benefiting the consumer and without any regard whatever to considerations of personal aggrandizement.

GROWN enormously rich under a system of robbery disguised as protection, Andrew Carnegie cares naught for his laborers or their grievances. He puts into his own pocket the bounties the Republican party falsely demanded in the name of American labor. He sees his millions piling up and he knows they will continue to accumulate so long as the Republican party controls the policies of this Government. He was rejoiced at Harrison's renomination and he hopes that Harrison will be re-elected.

CLEVELAND always favored liberal pensions to honorably discharged veterans who had been disabled in the line of duty, and his administration granted thousands of such pensions, but it refused to grant pensions to the dishonorably discharged, to camp followers and to men who never saw a battle. It would not "reinstate" deserters for the purpose of pensioning them. Hence the deserters, the dishonorably discharged, the camp followers and the shirks are all against Cleveland and all ready to swear that he is "the enemy of the veteran."

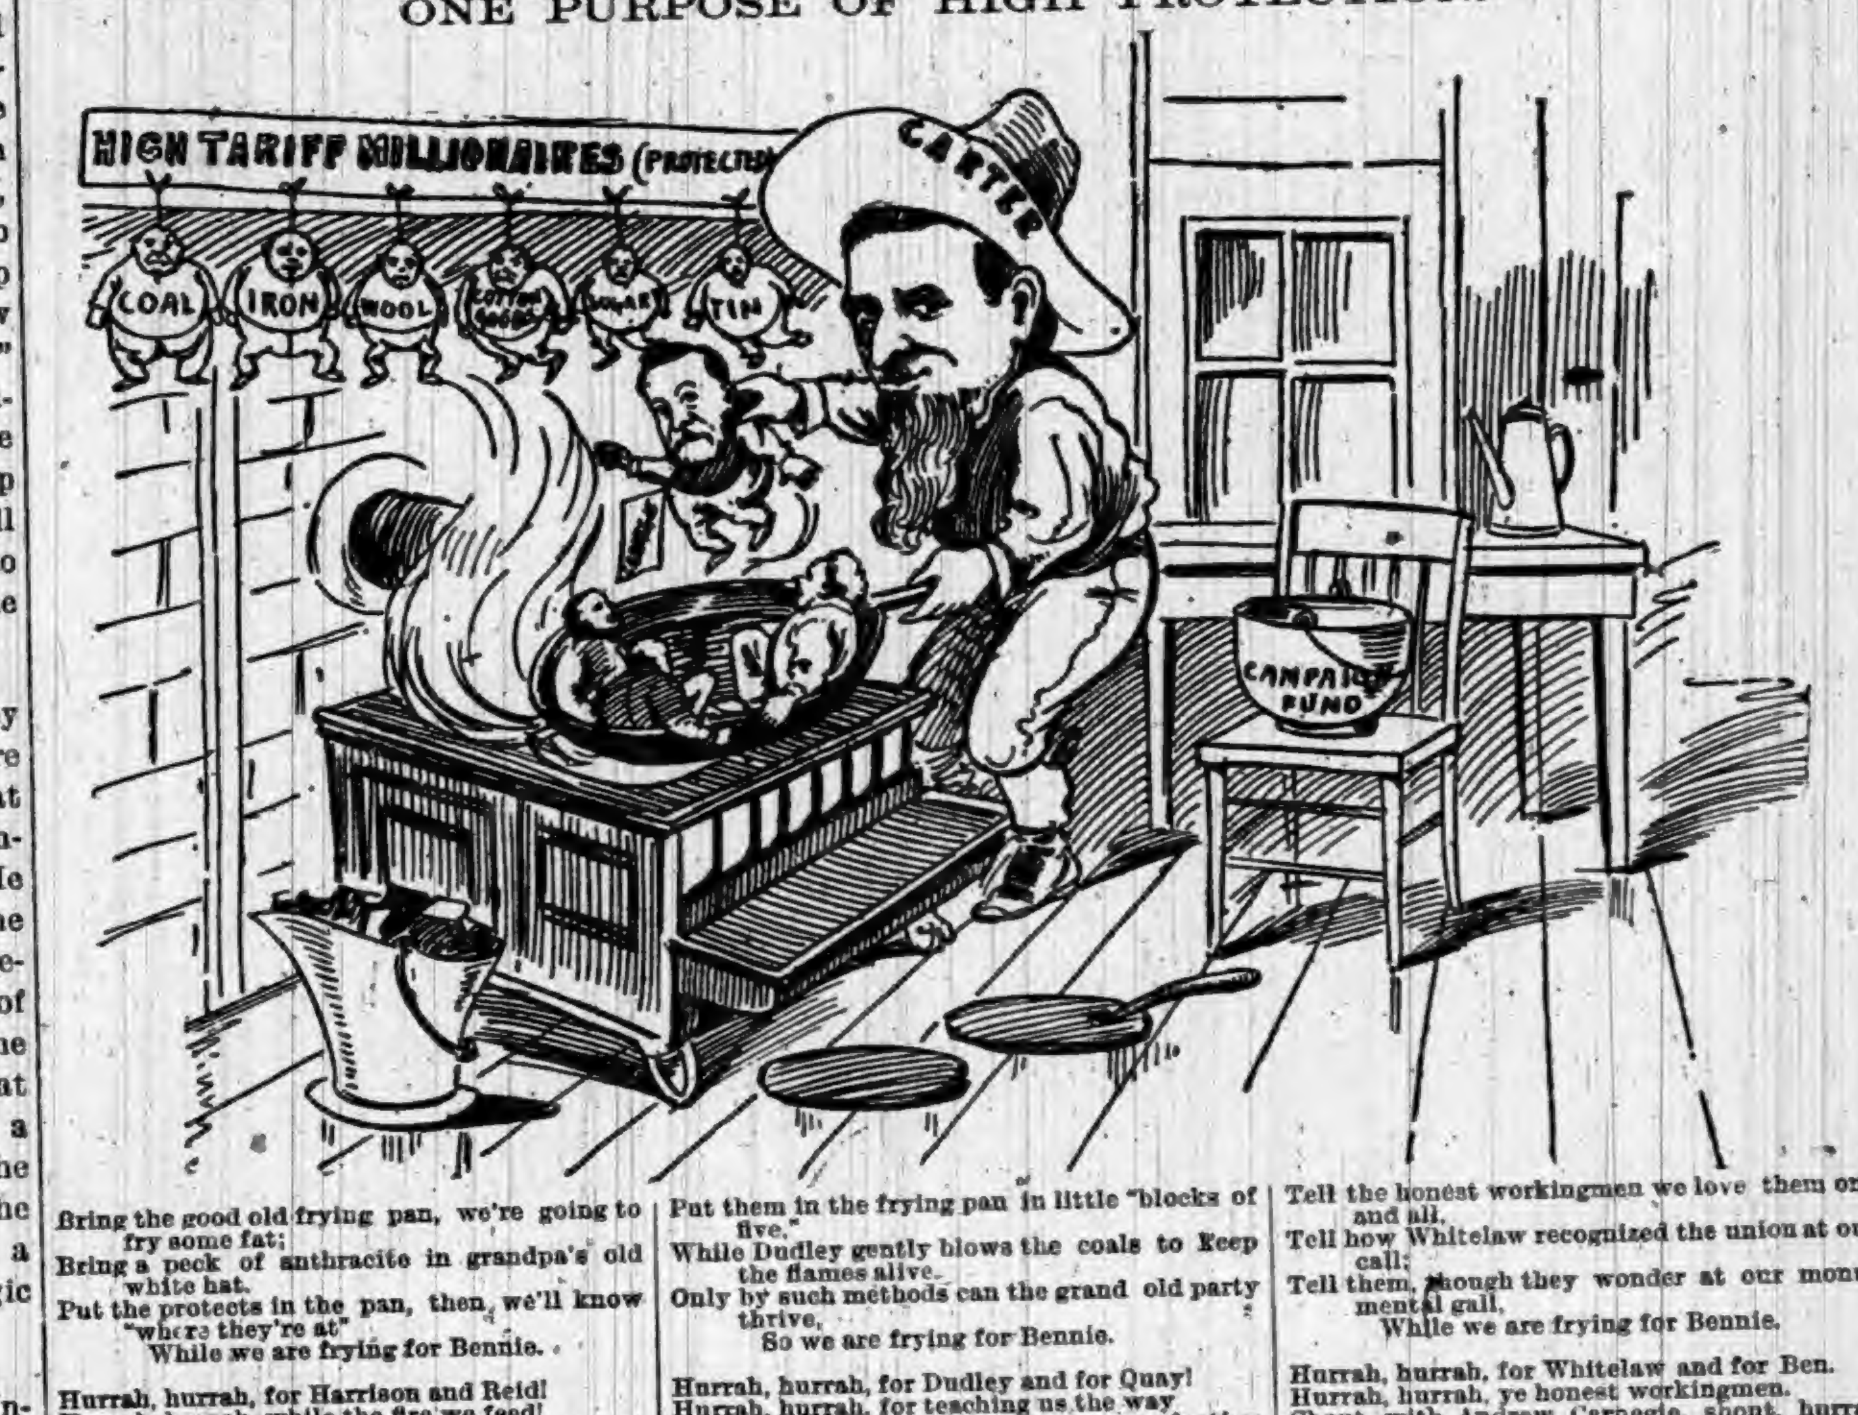
CHICAGO TIMES: Gov. McKinley believes the Homestead troubles were not due to the tariff. He arrives at this conclusion by a course of reasoning peculiar to a protectionist. He says that Senator Palmer believes the tariff is not responsible for the Homestead riots. This is conclusive proof to the Ohio Governor. By the same rule he would be forced to admit that the workmen at Homestead have a perfect right to employment by the Carnegie company, since that is the opinion of Senator Palmer. But a protect has little care for other logic than happens to fit his case.

INDIANAPOLIS SENTINEL: The Indiana Democracy was never in a better condition to win than it is at present. It is well organized with an earnest, hard-working central committee and an active, energetic chairman, who doesn't know what defeat looks like. It has a State ticket which from top to bottom could not be excelled, and one so far superior to the Republican ticket that Republicans everywhere are giving it their support in preference to that nominated by their own party. Indiana Democracy has but one thing to fear, and that is over-confidence. With thorough local organization and earnest work, with all the details carefully looked after, the majority in November will be larger than ever before. The lesson of all of which is, organize Democratic clubs.

SENATOR ALDRICH said in his recent speech: "The purpose of the act of 1890 [the McKinley bill], as repeatedly stated by its advocates on this floor, was to provide for the better security and the greater development of American industries, and to maintain the high level of wages then existing in the United States. The claims and expectations of the framers of that measure have been more than realized." The strike at Homestead has not yet been ended by the submission of the men, but it is so nearly closed that the tariff protects will not quarrel with the Senator. They have got all they asked and their men have been forced to give up their organization, which even protects admit to have been the most potent factor in sustaining wages in Pennsylvania.

A WORTHY sample of the kind of lies the Republicans are circulating to catch the workingman is afforded by the New York Recorder in a cartoon. A very flourishing individual in a stylish suit of clothes, supposed to be an American workingman, is asking a ragged tramp, labeled "English workman," whether free trade doesn't make clothes cheaper; and the Englishman replies: "I don't know. I don't have any." There never was a more inexcusable falsehood, as the figures show. In 1840, under the protection regime, the average Englishman had imported for him 42 pounds of wheat and corn, 1 pound of butter, 1 pound of cheese, 1 1-10s of pound of bacon and hams, 1-100 of a pound of potatoes, 1¼ pounds of tea, 15½ pounds of raw sugar and no refined sugar. In 1890 he imported 210 pounds of wheat and corn, 7 pounds of butter, 5 pounds of cheese, 16 pounds of bacon and hams, 13½ pounds of potatoes, 5 pounds of tea, 54¼ pounds of raw sugar, and 9½ pounds of refined sugar. Wages were increased to a remarkable degree also. Now the man who can afford to buy five times as much under a free trade regime as the Englishman could buy under a protective regime is not apt to be without clothes.

ONE PURPOSE OF HIGH PROTECTION.



Bring the good old frying pan, we're going to fry some fat;
Bring a peck of anthracite in grandpa's old white hat.
Put the protects in the pan, then, we'll know "where they're at"
While we are frying for Bennie.

Hurrah, hurrah, for Harrison and Reid!
Hurrah, hurrah, while the fire we feed!
We'll make the protects give us all the fat we need,
While we are frying for Bennie,

Put them in the frying pan in little "blocks of five,"
While Dudley gently blows the coals to keep the flames alive.
Only by such methods can the grand old party thrive,
So we are frying for Bennie.

Hurrah, hurrah, for Dudley and for Quay!
Hurrah, hurrah, for teaching us the way
To carry any doubtful State on election day,
While we are frying for Bennie.

Tell the honest workingmen we love them on and all,
Tell how Whitelaw recognized the union at our call;
Tell them, though they wonder at our monumental gall,
While we are frying for Bennie.

Hurrah, hurrah, for Whitelaw and for Ben.
Hurrah, hurrah, ye honest workingmen.
Shout with Andrew Carnegie, shout, hurrah again,
While we are frying for Bennie.

WHERE HAS IT GONE?

NOW NO SURPLUS IN THE TREASURY.

It Has Disappeared Under the Administration of Mr. Harrison—Republican Editors and Republican Stump Speakers Will Have This to Explain.

The Vanished Surplus.

It is a matter of official record that June 30, 1885, the excess of revenues over public expenditure after complying with the annual requirement of the sinking-fund act was $17,859,735.84; during the year ending June 30, 1886, such excess amounted to $49,405,545.20, and during the year ending June 30, 1887, it reached the sum of $55,567,849.54. This, it must be noted, was during the Presidency of a Democrat—Grover Cleveland. The figures are mentioned in the President's communication to Congress in 1887. Dec. 1 of that year, notwithstanding the free use of that money for the purchase and retirement of bonds, the Treasury surplus was still $55,258,701.19, and it was estimated that by June 30 next succeeding, which would be the end of the fiscal year, the Treasury surplus would be $140,000,000. It approximated that figure very closely.

What has become of that surplus? It has disappeared from the Treasury. The Republic has had nearly four years of administration by the Republican party, with Mr. Harrison in the Chief Magistracy, and the Secretary of the Treasury is compelled to trench upon funds which have hitherto been regarded as sacredly trust funds. President Cleveland remarked: "Of course it is not expected that unnecessary and extravagant appropriations will be made for the purpose of avoiding the accumulation of an excess of revenue. Such expenditure, besides the demoralization of all just conceptions of public duty which it entails, stimulates a habit of reckless improvidence not in the least consistent with the mission of our people or the high and beneficent purposes of our Government." The President was desirous that the people should keep their money and not be compelled to pay it into the treasury of the United States. He desired a reduction of unnecessary taxation. But the Republican party came into power, and it results that not only has the treasury surplus disappeared, but that inevitably the necessity will be upon the next Congress of adding to taxation. Americans are told by subsidy-hunters and treasury-looters that it is a great thing to have a government which taxes freely and spends freely, but there is everywhere throughout the United States the old-fashioned, honest feeling that judicious economy, conservation of means to a reasonable end, is the only sensible method of managing the revenues and expenditures of a government.

Republican editors and Republican stump orators will have some difficulty in explaining to a hard-headed people how it happens that when Mr. Cleveland went out of office there was an excess in the Treasury of $140,000,000 there is now no surplus, that there is instead grasping after funds that ought not to be touched, and that extravagance characterizes every branch of administration. They will have to explain, moreover, that by the vicious and inequitable system of taxation wherewith the federal revenues are recruited, taxation bears heaviest upon those who earn little more than will support the bare necessities of existence. Take dress fabrics, for instance, and it will be found that all the velvets and brocades and finer woolens worn by people of means are taxed less, far less, than the simple cheap woolens or mixed fabrics which the mass of mankind in the republic are compelled by reason of their lack of means to wear. The mass of the taxpayers of the United States—and every man who earns is a taxpayer—is very uneven before the law. Decided reform is necessary. Democracy demands economy of administration and reduction of taxation.—Chicago Times.

Stirred Up the Animals.

Senator Carlisle's answer to Mr. Aldrich has stirred up the Republican brethren mightily, and they are not so content as they professed themselves to let the Rhode Island Senator's speech go out as the "keynote of the campaign." In fact, they now find that keynote to be decidedly off the proper pitch, and are trying in various ways to sound it so that it will be free from suspicious quavers and crackings. Senator Sherman reverted to the ancient melody in praise of dear goods, and said that Mr. Carlisle's demonstration that the McKinley bill had increased the cost of living had no terrors for him, inasmuch as he was far from sure that cheapness was desirable.

Our own Senator tried his mouth at the keynote and took the position that since a large part of the increase of the cost in living was due to enhanced prices for agricultural products, the McKinley bill could not be held chargeable for that advance, because "the prices of agricultural products are not really affected by the tariff legislation of 1890."

This is rather hard on Senator Aldrich, Uncle Jerry and the Tribune, and their assertions that McKinley bad put millions of dollars into the pockets of the farmers. It is hardest of all on the New York Senator, who two years ago developed such a consuming interest in the farming population, and so emphatically said that the McKinley bill was solely for their benefit, that he was at once dubbed "Farmer" Hiscock. Altogether the Republican choir is producing a fearful discord in its efforts to strike a keynote.—New York Evening Post.

A Republican Ruse.

In a recent number of Harper's Weekly is an editorial article which sets forth what are claimed to be the true origin and motive of contemporary reciprocity. Mr. Blaine is credited with first starting a movement in that direction, though some ridiculous claims have been made for President Harrison in that behalf. As early as 1888 Mr. Blaine and other distinguished Republican leaders saw that public sentiment on the tariff question was running against their party. Large numbers were dissatisfied, not alone with the burden imposed by tariff upon the cost of living and of manufacture, but with the barriers which it erected against foreign trade. Mr. Blaine shrewdly grasped the situation and endeavored to meet this changing public sentiment without appearing to sacrifice the doctrine of protection upon which the Republican party had staked its claim to a retention in power.

His methods of accomplishing this, says the Weekly, were "to extend the area of that absolute free trade which prevails within the wide limits of the United States over the two American continents." In this thought the pan-American Congress had its origin, and the scheme proved a failure. This was not due so much to inherent defects of the plan as to the diversity of opinions prevailing in the countries which the great commercial union was meant to embrace, and to the difficulties of diverting trade from its natural eastern and western channels to those running north and south. While disappointed, Mr. Blaine did not abandon his project, and after some spirited controversies secured the insertion of the reciprocity clause in the McKinley law. Though this established a conditional rather than an actual reciprocity, the results fell far short of what Mr. Blaine had anticipated, but while at the head of the State Department he did all possible toward extending our freedom of trade within the narrow limits authorized by the abortive legislation.

As the people more thoroughly comprehend the tariff question, the greater grows the clamor for freedom to the world's markets, and even the bait for gudgeons thrown out by Republican manipulators might secure returns were it not that the declarations of the Democratic platform provide for what the masses want and what they have made up their minds to have. Reciprocity was a conciliatory move and a virtual admission that the country will not submit to the manifold evils of a high protective tariff.

Big Appropriations.

The people do not realize the growth of extravagance under thirty years of Republican misgovernment. It is easy to increase expenditures and almost impossible to reduce them. Our Republican friends are trying to shirk responsibility for their extravagance by publishing the following table comparing the appropriations of the first session of Reed's Congress with the first session of Crisp's Congress:

	Fifty-first Congress.	Fifty-second Congress.
Agricultural	$1,799,100.00	$3,232,975.50
Army	24,206,471.79	24,308,499.82
Diplomatic and consular	1,710,815.00	1,604,045.00
Dist. of Columbia	5,769,544.15	5,323,414.27
Fortifications	4,232,930.00	2,734,276.00
Indian	7,262,016.02	7,664,047.84
Legislative, etc	21,330,752.75	21,899,252.97
Military Academy	435,296.11	428,917.33
Navy	24,136,035.53	23,543,385.00
Pensions	98,457,461.00	146,637,350.00
Postoffice	72,226,698.99	80,331,876.73
River and harbor	25,136,295.00	21,153,618.00
Sundry civil	29,738,282.22	28,000,000.00
Deficiency	38,617,448.96	15,880,593.18
Miscellaneous	7,010,905.27	500,000.00
World's Fair bill	....	2,500,000.00
Permanent annual appropriations	101,628,433.00	121,863,880.00
Totals	$463,398,510.75	$507,711,131.64

Here is a fair exhibit of the difference, and it shows an increase in two years of $44,300,000.

How is this to be accounted for? The best answer comes from Mr. Dockery, who furnishes a list of appropriations which legislation under Reed makes necessary:

Appropriations made at this session of Congress or charged under permanent appropriations under requirements of laws passed during the last Congress:

Foreign mails, $390,290.
Indian depredation claims, $478,252.62.
Collecting sugar bounty, $230,890.
Increase of judicial salaries, $88,000.
Additional clerks under new pension law, $695,420.
Mint at Philadelphia, $620,500.
Pensions, estimated, $48,000,000.
Diplomatic and consular officers' salaries, $25,000.
Redemption of national bank notes, $9,500,000.
Expenses, Treasury notes, $125,000.
Refund direct tax, $225,000.
Customs, $500,000.
Bounty on sugar, $10,000,000.
Snag boats, Ohio River, $25,000.
Colleges for agriculture and mechanic arts, $833,000.
World's Fair, $3,291,253.
Total, $79,527,602.62.

In this way the Republicans force appropriations up and keep them up. The shipping subsidy, the sugar subsidy, claims, etc., are in the form of bills which cannot be repealed or diminished until the Democrats have the Presidency and the control of both houses.

If the party will stand together this fall; if every Democrat, North, South, East and West, will do his duty, we will elect Cleveland, have a majority in the Senate and retain control of the House. With this organization, Democrats will be able to reduce expenses as well as to reduce the taxes.—Memphis Appeal-Avalanche.

McKinley Mortgages in Illinois.

In census bulletin No. 1[illegible] the total real estate mortgage debt of Illinois (exclusive of corporation indebtedness) in force Jan. 1, 1890, is put at $384,299,000. The total of this debt recorded during the ten years was $870,699,940. Putting the number of acres of land in the State at 35,000,000 (34,640,560) and the average value at $20 an acre, the total value of Illinois real estate would be $700,000,000, so that we would have this showing:

Total of Illinois real estate mortgages in less than ten years of high tariff (1880-1889)	$870,699,942
Total value of all Illinois land (improved and unimproved) at $20 an acre	700,000,000
Excess of mortgages over total value	$170,699,940

Perhaps some Republican may object to the estimate of $20 an acre as the average for improved and unimproved lands. Such may prefer the official figures of the Illinois State Board of Equalization, a Republican body. As used in the table below, they are from the thirty-seventh page of its official report for 1892:

Total of Illinois real estate mortgages for less than ten years of high tariff	$870,699,940
Total value of all land (improved and unimproved) in Illinois in 1892 at average assessed value of $9.82 an acre	339,043,920
Excess of mortgages over total assessed value	$531,656,020

This, it must be recollected, is exclusive of all debt on land of railroads, telegraphs, and other corporations.

So here, from Republican official figures; we have the astounding fact that only a part of the real estate mortgage debt of Illinois has in ten years been largely more than double the total assessed value of all land, improved and unimproved, in the State, including all city lots.

This is a most astonishing fact, and in connection with it we must protest against the suppression by the Harrison administration of all statistics of foreclosure. This suppression is absolute. The Harrison administration enters all foreclosures as releases under settlement. So that, though we may see that in ten years Illinois has had home and farm mortgages aggregating nearly three times the total assessed value of all land in 1892, there is no means of learning how much of this debt has been "settled" by foreclosure and eviction. This is one of the many frauds of the the Harrison census. But it cannot help showing that the number of Illinois mortgages is increasing year by year. The total number of new mortgages filed in Illinois in 1880 was 42,783; in 1889, the last year shown by the census, 86,161—more than double.—St. Louis Republic.

Campaign Committee Industries.

The McKinley Republicans of Indiana are not discouraged by the sale of the great Republican tin plate mill at Anderson for a debt of $181. The operation of the McKinley bill in thus promoting the industry of the Sheriff has not cast them down. The old thresher boiler that operated the works at Anderson is on the market and they are now going to start another great McKinley mill at Elwood, to be opened on September 15 under the auspices of the Republican State Central Committee.

"It will be an all-day meeting," says the Indianapolis Journal (Harrison's Home organ) "Provision will be made to feed all who do not come prepared. Arrangements are in charge of a committe chosen by the Republican State Central Committee, consisting of Messrs. Gowdy, Millikan, W. T. Durbin of Anderson, C. C. Shirley of Kokomo and D. H. Tripp of North Vernon. These will be assisted by another committee composed of men from various cities in the gas belt—George Osborn and Jasper A. Gaunt of Marion, Geo. W. Cromer of Muncie, J. T. Neal of Noblesville, J. F. McClure and John H. Terhune of Anderson and W. B. Leeds of Richmond, the last named gentleman being heavily interested in the works. It is expected to make this one of the greatest occasions ever known in Indiana."

In some counties it is not a part of the regular business of the Campaign Committee to open new mills. It would be regarded as suspicious by investors, and would have a tendency to alarm the fears of capital. But in Indiana in a campaign year everything goes. The Campaign Committee will bring in the orators in blocks of five, and if the mill is to be a windmill there will be power enough supplied to keep it going indefinitely. The Sheriff will not be invited. Since his conduct at Anderson he is in bad odor with tin-plated Republicans.—St. Louis Republic.

The Age of Cuts.

Henry Irving, the famous actor, whose face has, through advertisement and illustration, become familiar to many people, was one day at a seaside resort, when he noticed a little girl looking at him fixedly.

"Well, my dear," said he, "do you know who I am?"

"Yes, sir," was the shy answer.

"Well, who am I, then?"

"You are one of Beecham's pills."

And, indeed, his face had figured in an advertisement of the nostrum.

BEWARE equally of a sudden friend and a slow enemy.

KIRK'S
DUSKY
DIAMOND
TAR SOAP
Healthful, Agreeable, Cleansing.
Cures
Chapped Hands, Wounds, Burns, Etc.
Removes and Prevents Dandruff.
AMERICAN FAMILY SOAP.
Best for General Household Use.

A Piano SENT on trial
WE PAY FREIGHT
If you do not keep it.
We think you will keep it.
It pleases everybody.
It is an honest piano.
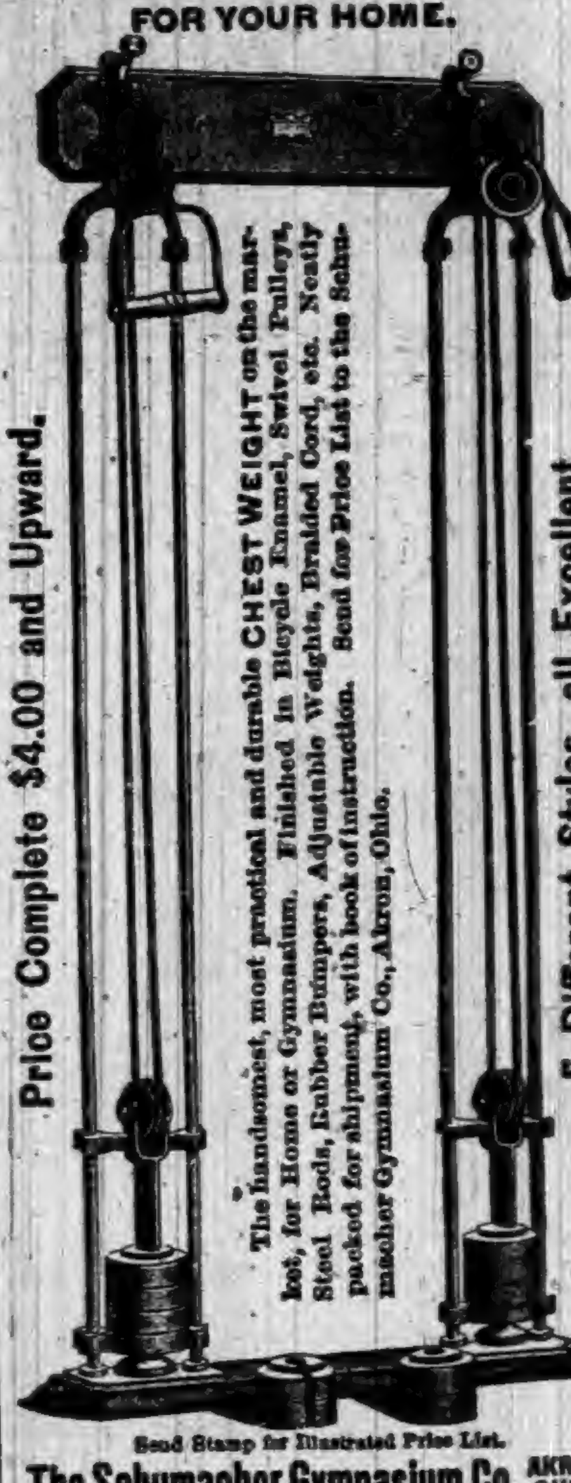
It is the WING Piano.

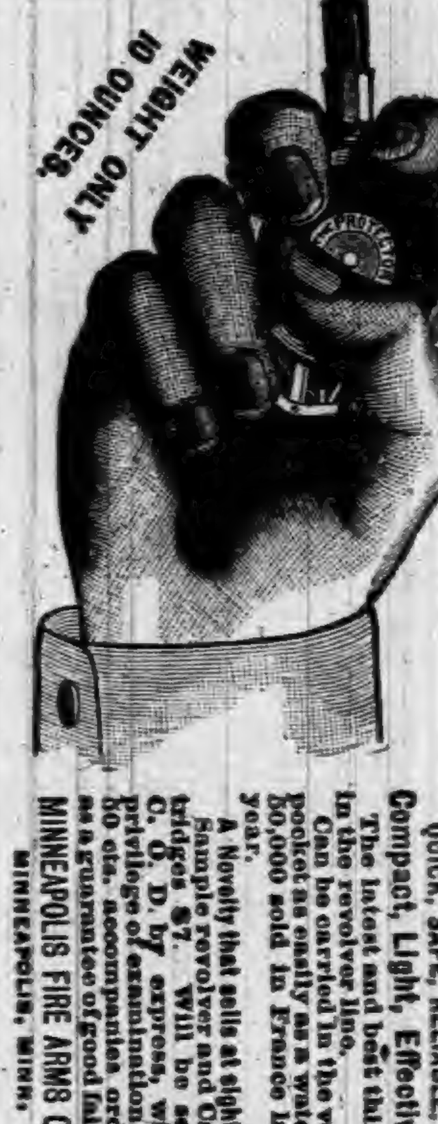
You may have a preference for some other make. Still you are a reasoning creature, and open to conviction, no doubt.

The question is too important to be settled without due thought. Years of satisfaction or of regret come with a piano. Does it wear well? The WING Piano does. "Look before you leap."

Whatever piano you buy, there are piano secrets you ought to know. Our free book tells them. Send a postal card for it. It may help you to buy a different piano. We take that risk. We also tell you the nearest dealer where you can see a WING Piano. It is worth looking at. So is the price. WING & SON, 245 Broadway, New York.



BOSTON
CHEST WEIGHT
FOR YOUR HOME.
Price Complete $4.00 and Upward.
The handsomest, most practical and durable CHEST WEIGHT on the market, for Home or Gymnasium. Finished in Bicycle Enamel, Swivel Pulleys, Steel Rods, Rubber Bumpers, Adjustable Weights, Braided Cord, etc. Neatly packed for shipment, with book of instruction. Send for Price List to the Schumacher Gymnasium Co., Akron, Ohio.
5 Different Styles. all Excellent.
Send Stamp for Illustrated Price List.
The Schumacher Gymnasium Co. AKRON, OHIO.



WEIGHT ONLY 10 OUNCES.

A NEW 7-SHOT, .32-CAL. REVOLVER.
THE "PROTECTOR,"
QUICK, SAFE, RELIABLE.
Compact, Light, Effective.
The latest and best thing in the revolver line. Can be carried in the vest pocket as easily as a watch. 50,000 sold in France last year.
A Novelty that sells at sight. Sample revolver and Cartridges $7. Will be sent C. O. D. by express, with privilege of examination, if 50 cts. accompanies order as a guarantee of good faith.
MINNEAPOLIS FIRE ARMS CO.,
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

PATENTS
Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.
OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.
Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.
A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U. S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,
C. A. SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

PURE STEEL
ROOFING.
Metallic Weather Boarding,
Complete Ceilings,
Corrugated Sheeting,
Roofing Paints,
Iron Roofing,
Eave Troughs, Gutters and Spouting.
All forms of Sheet Metal for Building
(COMPLETE AND READY TO APPLY WHEN SHIPPED.)
WE WANT
—AN—
AGENT
In this town—an energetic workman to take orders and APPLY our materials in this vicinity.
Correspondence solicited; write for prices and terms.
SCOTT & CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.
ESTABLISHED 1872.

RUPTURES CURED!
25 years experience in treating all varieties of Rupture enables us to guarantee a positive Cure. Send 4 cents in stamps for particulars and treatment on Hernia.
Volta-Medico Appliance Co.,
115 N. 8th St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

DOES YOUR HEAD ACHE
IT WILL NOT IF YOU TAKE KRAUSE'S
Headache Capsules
$500 Reward for any injurious substance found in these Capsules
Perfectly harmless.
Will Cure any kind of Headache.
Money refunded if not as we say. Sent postpaid on receipt of price,
Twenty-Five Cents.
NORMAN LICHTY MFG. CO.,
DES MOINES, IOWA.
For Sale by____________

THE OLD DOCTOR'S
Cotton Root Pills
LADIES' FAVORITE.
ALWAYS RELIABLE and perfectly SAFE. The same as used by thousands of women all over the United States, in the OLD DOCTORS private mail practice, for 38 years, and not a single bad result. Money returned if not as represented. Send 4 cents (stamps) for sealed particulars.
Dr. WARD & CO., 117 N. 8th St., St. Louis, Mo.

44 IN A ROW!
HUMBERS AND ROVERS
Have taken 44 First Awards at International Exhibits, including Grand Prize at Paris Exposition. 24 years on the market, and by far the largest cycle makers in the world.
Buy bicycles with a reputation to lose.
Send for latest art catalogue. Agencies in all the principal cities of the world, and in 400 American towns. 400 more agents wanted. Write for proposition.
THE HUMBER-ROVER CYCLE CO.,
285 Wabash Ave., CHICAGO.
WE SELL DIRECT WHERE THERE IS NO AGENT, FOR CASH OR ON TIME.

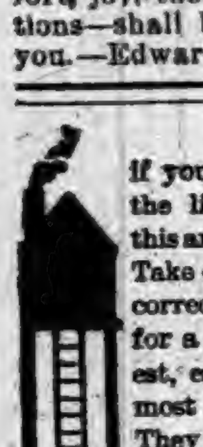
FREE TO BOYS AND GIRLS
UNDER 18 YEARS OF AGE, without one cent of money
READ AND WRITE.
ANY boy or girl under 18 wanting an elegant High Grade Safety Bicycle can obtain it FREE without one cent of money. Shall give away, on easy conditions, 1,000 or more.
DESCRIPTION OF BICYCLE. The wheels are 26 inches with crescent steel rims and molded rubber tires and run on hardened steel cone bearings, adjustable to wear; geared to 46 inches; detachable cranks; four to five inches throw; frame finely enameled, with nickel trimmings. Each machine is supplied with tool bag, wrench and oiler. Equal to those sold in the market for $45. We have both boys' and girls' styles. We deliver the bicycle FREE of all charges anywhere in the United States.
READ THE TESTIMONY.
IF YOU WANT A BICYCLE WRITE AT ONCE.
WESTERN PEARL CO., 328 to 334 Dearborn Street, CHICAGO, ILL.

No Flowers in Greenland.

The theory that the interior of Greenland contained scenery which would justify the singular name of the country has at last been exploded by Baron Nordenskjold's exploration. He found none of the grass, or trees, or flowers, for which he looked—nothing but ice in every direction, and no variety in the landscape except what was caused by crevasses. The reason why there is no open country to be found is, he says, that there is a steady rise from the coast to a high table land in the mountains, with a medial depression such as he looked for. In short, the grassy, flowery Greenland is certainly as fabulous as "the open polar sea," where the water is kept reasonably warm for the accommodation of explorers who make their way through the hundreds of miles of surrounding ice, probably is.—Chicago Tribune.

Seek First the Kingdom of God.

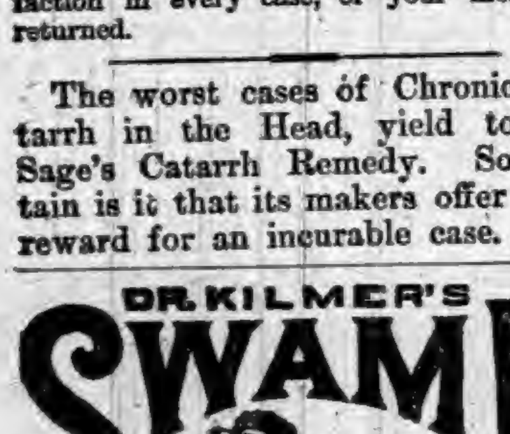
God bids us, by past mercies, by present grace, by fears of coming ill, by hopes in His goodness, earnestly, with our whole hearts to seek Him and His righteousness; and all these things, all ye need for soul and body—peace, comfort, joy, the overflowing of His consolations—shall be added over and above to you.—Edward A. Pusey, D. D.



HIGH LIVING, if you keep at it, is apt to tell upon the liver. The things to prevent this are Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Take one of these little Pellets for a corrective or gentle laxative—three for a cathartic. They're the smallest, easiest to take, pleasantest and most natural in the way they act. They do permanent good. Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick or Bilious Headache, and all derangements of the liver, stomach, and bowels are prevented, relieved, and cured.

They're guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or your money is returned.

The worst cases of Chronic Catarrh in the Head, yield to Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. So certain is it that its makers offer $500 reward for an incurable case.



DR. KILMER'S
SWAMP-ROOT
Kidney, Liver and Bladder Cure.
Rheumatism,
Lumbago, pain in joints or back, brick dust in urine, frequent calls, irritation, inflamation, gravel, ulceration or catarrh of bladder.
Disordered Liver,
Impaired digestion, gout, billious-headache, SWAMP-ROOT cures kidney difficulties, La Grippe, urinary trouble, bright's disease.
Impure Blood,
Scrofula, malaria, gen'l weakness or debility.
Guarantee—Use contents of One Bottle, if not benefited, Druggists will refund to you the price paid.
At Druggists, 50c. Size, $1.00 Size.
"Invalids' Guide to Health" free—Consultation free.
DR. KILMER & CO., BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

The Change of Life.

The sole aim of women nearing this critical period should be to keep well, strong, and cheerful. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is peculiarly adapted to this condition. Girls about to enter womanhood find its assistance invaluable.

It cures the worst forms of Female Complaints, Bearing-down Feeling, Weak Back, Leucorrhœa, Falling and Displacement of the Womb, Inflammation, Ovarian Troubles, and all Organic diseases of the Uterus or Womb, Bloating, etc.

Subdues Faintness, Excitability, Nervous Prostration, Exhaustion, Kidney Complaints, and tones the Stomach.

All Druggists sell it, or sent by mail, in form of Pills or Lozenges, on receipt of $1.00. Liver Pills, 25c. Correspondence freely answered. Address in confidence, LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. CO., LYNN, MASS.

AT BEDTIME I TAKE A PLEASANT HERB DRINK

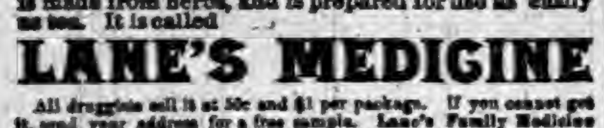
THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c and $1 per package. If you cannot get it, send your address for a free sample. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary. Address ORATOR F. WOODWARD, LeRoy, N. Y.

45+55=80.



A prize worth $5, receivable by us as cash, sent to any one furnishing solution of either of the above problems. Any young person desiring a thorough business education, and sending request, will receive printed matter affording means of working out true solution. W. E. McDermut, Fort Wayne Business College, Fort Wayne, Ind.

GARFIELD TEA Overcomes results of bad eating; cures Sick Headache; restores Complexion; cures Constipation. Send for Free Sample to 319 West 45th Street, New York City.

DOUBLE Breech-Loader $7.99. RIFLES $2.00 WATCHES GUNS BICYCLES $15 All kinds cheaper than elsewhere. Before you buy, send stamp for catalogue to THE POWELL & CLEMENT CO. 166 Main St., Cincinnati, O.

BEST POLISH IN THE WORLD.
RISING SUN STOVE POLISH
DO NOT BE DECEIVED with Pastes, Enamels, and Paints which stain the hands, injure the iron, and burn off. The Rising Sun Stove Polish is Brilliant, Odorless, Durable, and the consumer pays for no tin or glass package with every purchase.
HAS AN ANNUAL SALE OF 3,000 TONS.

A M'KINLEY INDUSTRY.

CAMPAIGN MATERIAL FROM WHOLE CLOTH.

A Carefully Compiled List of Wage Reductions Since the McKinley Tariff Act Began to Boom Business and Raise Wages.

Facts About Wages.

The Tariff Reform Club has compiled a list of about 500 wage reductions which have occurred in protected industries since the McKinley tariff act began to boom business and raise wages. The protectionists, last spring, thought it time to begin to demonstrate the good effect upon wages of their panacea for all ills, and they published what purported to be a list of twenty-seven protected firms which have raised wages since October, 1830. The American Economist has published this same list several times, and refers to it nearly every week with pride. It has been copied and recopied in thousands of Republican papers. After Senator Aldrich and the American Economist had criticised the list of 500 wage reductions, because there appeared to be several repetitions of items, and because some of the reductions had occurred in industries and States where statistics indicated that on the whole average wages had not declined since 1890, the Reform Club concluded to see if the protectionist list was all genuine.

Kings County Knitting Co.

It sent a man over into Brooklyn to inquire into the general advance of 5 per cent. credited to the "Kings County Knitting Co." After a long hunt the firm was located on the top floor of a building in a remote part of the city. The employes consisted of three men and from ten to fifteen girls. The first person met was the employer, who failed to remember anything about the said "general advance" until reminded of the American Economist article. But even this stimulus to the memory could not make the three factory girls who were interviewed recall a time when their wages had been advanced; they could, however, easily remember times when they were earning more than now.

Langley & Davis.

The club has since continued its investigation. It sent another man to Oriskany Falls, N. Y., where Langley & Davis had advanced wages 25 and 50 cents a day, so it was alleged. It was learned that this firm made skirts for ladies' dresses, and that they employ fifteen hands: 7 weavers, 4 carders, 2 spinners, 1 dyer and 1 finisher. The boss weaver's wages were advanced last spring from $2 to $2.25 a day, to keep him from going to other mills. The others in his department (5 women and 1 man) were reduced last June from 4½ to 4 cents per cut for weaving. They were then earning about $1 per day, though their average for last winter did not exceed 60 cents.

The boss carder was also advanced from $2 to $2.25 for the same reason. One of the young men in his department had his wages raised last May from $4.50 to $5 per week; because he was thought likely to get the "spring-fever" and leave, the company thought it better to retain a man who had been with them through the winter at $5 rather than break in a new man. The finishers' wages were reduced last spring from $1.50 to $1.25 per day. The wages of the other employes have not suffered from "McKinley" advances, but remained stationary, from 50 cents to $1 or more per day.

The employes smiled an anti-McKinley smile when they were informed of the Republican material which was being supplied at their expense. Some of them suggested that it might be a scheme of Langley & Davis to attract laborers to Oriskany Falls so that cheap labor could be obtained when the firm starts its new mill in a few weeks. Other interesting information was obtained in regard to this firm and the materials used by it, but it would be out of place here, even if there were space for it.

Wilkins & Close.

Two other firms visited were those of Wilkins & Close and Close & Christie, glove manufacturers at Mayfield, N. Y. Mr. Wilkins said that he had read the report that wages had been advanced from 15 to 25 per cent. in his factory, but that he did not know how such a statement had gotten into print, as there was really no basis for it. He said that they employed about 100 men and 25 girls in their glove and leather-dressing factories, and that wages were no higher than for several years previous. They take on 30 or 40 new hands a year from the farms round about. These hands are paid 75 cents a day for the first month; then $1 for some time; and if they become proficient their wages are advanced to $1.25. Mr. Wilkins said: "There has been no more advance this year with us, or anywhere in the county (Fulton County, N. Y., which produces two-thirds of our glove product) than has been customary for seven or eight years. The McKinley bill has had no material effect on business. Five-sixths of our gloves go West, and the demand for them depends on the crops and the weather. A warm winter and short crops will lower wages, and a cold winter and good crops will raise them slightly."

Close & Cristie.

The situation at the factory of Close & Cristie, just across the street, was the same. The gloves made by both these firms are mostly heavy, cheap, unlined gloves sold largely in the West to harvesters, drivers, etc. No similar gloves are made or used to any extent in any other country, and there is absolutely no competition from abroad, and therefore no protection to this industry from any tariff. Close & Cristie employ forty or fifty hands. They both admitted that there was no foreign competition in their line of goods, but they were enjoying the notoriety they were getting through the report of the alleged wage advances of from 15 to 25 per cent., and, being Republicans, did not feel called upon to deny it. They laughingly said that they thought wages had been increased more than usual in their factory this year and that the McKinley bill might have had something to do with it. They said that there was foreign competion on some kinds of gloves made at Gloversville and Johnstown, N. Y., but that they had heard of no wage advances in any factory there. It may be observed that no paper printed in Fulton County had published these reports.

Alfred Dolge.

The factory of Alfred Dolge, of Dolgeville, N. Y., was also visited. The report said that wages had been advanced 20 per cent. here. Dolge manufactures piano felts, sounding-boards, cases, and other piano supplies. He also makes felt shoes and slippers. He employs altogether nearly 300 persons. It is the custom at Dolgeville to hold an annual reunion. At such times Mr. Dolge, the paternal proprietor of the place, makes an address and announces the promotions and advances in wages to be made for the ensuing year. The new employes who have been earning what may be regarded as apprenticeship wages, and some of the older employes who have served their employer most faithfully, expect to have their wages advanced at this time. It is Dolge's boast that in this way he stimulates his employes to do their best. Twenty or twenty-five, who have worked hard and overearned their old wages of perhaps $1.25 or $1.37½ per day, usually get an advance of about one shilling. Many others are disappointed, but Dolge gives them hope by telling them that if they do their duty fully their turn will come next.

At the reunion in February, 1891, between forty and fifty had their wages advanced a shilling each, and the hours of labor were reduced from ten to nine and a half, with the promise (the supply of promises is never short) that if the employes accomplished as much in nine and a half hours as they formerly did in ten, the hours would be further reduced to nine at the next annual reunion. This advance in wages was slightly more than usual. It may be accounted for by knowing that Dolge, by a gross misrepresentation of facts, had been successful in 1890 in having the duty on piano felts increased from between 60 and 70 to an average of about 100 per cent. Dolge already had a monopoly of American-made felt, and this would cut off much of the foreign competition. Besides, he had, from a free-trader in 1882-3, become a most ardent protectionist, and had told his employes in his speeches that higher duties meant higher wages, and the men intended to take him at his word. In the next place, Dolge had been figuring to get the Republican nomination for Congress in his district, and knew the value of such a move in politics. Then, also, he appreciated the advertising that his business would get through Republican editors, who were scouring the political and industrial horizon to find a case of higher duties followed by higher wages. It is also said by the very best judges both in and out of his factory that he is making at least 100 per cent. clear profit on his felts, which he sells for about $4 per pound. If he had not made advances in wages, his own employes might have exposed his greed and the falsity of his promises. He has gotten thousands of dollars' worth of advertising, and has had his vanity tickled by having his personality and his business described in nearly every Republican paper in the land; but up to date he has not captured the nomination for Congress. He is, however, on the New York Tribune's list of millionaires, and as he has made his money during the last twenty years his prospects are good. His standing with the Republican party is now so good that from ten to twenty girls are kept busy addressing wrappers for the New York State Republican Committee, in which to mail copies of the Dolgeville Herald. This paper keeps the public posted about Dolgeville, and tells of the American terne-plate roofs being put on by Dolge. Competent judges say that he could get as good imported roofing terne for $10.50 per box as he now gets for $16.50.

But there is another side to this case. No wage advances occurred at Dolgeville this year. Some of those who expected advances have been greatly disappointed and have asked for them. Moreover, the hours of labor have not been reduced to nine, though Dolge admitted in his speech that as much or even more work had been done per hand than in former years.

Nor have the changes in wages during the last few years always been advances. Four years ago common laborers in Dolge's employ received $1.50 per day; they now get but $1.25. The price for hauling lumber to Little Falls has been reduced from $1.50 per thousand to $1, and for coal from 10 to 3 cents per 100 pounds. These reductions affect at least fifty or sixty employes in and out of the factory. During the last year the price for covering and trimming piano-hammers has been reduced from 26 and 9 cents respectively to 18 and 3 cents per set. Three years ago the felt shoemakers got 35 cents per pair; they get 30 cents now. The girls in the shoe department and many others throughout the mill have also had their wages reduced.

Two-thirds of the employes are foreign born (mostly German), and it is said that only Republicans and foreigners have much chance of promotion or advancement under Dolge. Certain it is that nearly every foreman and subboss is a foreigner.

Hawthorn Mills Company.

Reports said that wages had been advanced 15 per cent. at the Hawthorn mills at Glenville, Conn. These mills employ 210 or 215—about 175 in the woolen department, where suitings, cheviots, etc., are made, and 30 or 40 in the felt department, where polishing felts are produced. Some of the employes interviewed had not heard of the campaign wage-advance report. When shown it they were quick to denounce it as a lie, and began to tell of the numerous reductions of the last year. One employe said: "If I had known you were going to be here I could have prepared a list of reductions a yard long."

In the woolen department about eighty men, all Hungarians, Poles, Russian Jews, Swedes and Danes, except six or eight Germans, had their wages reduced in June, 1892, from $1 to $1.15 per day to 90 cents to $1. In the dye-room ten men—all Poles—were reduced from $1 to 90 cents, and Manager Hunt has since told the boss dyer not to pay over 80 cents per day. The men at first refused to accept these wages, but are now back at work. In the felt department all are men and foreigners (same class as above). During Cleveland's administration they got $1.15 a day; they have for over three years been receiving but $1 per day.

In the weave room thirty-five weavers (mostly women) make about $1.50 a day when they do not have to wait for filling, warp, etc., but their average for the year is only about $1. Last fall, when nearly half of the looms (67 in all) were running on a certain class of goods, the manager announced that he would have to reduce the price of weaving from 5.2 cents per yard to 4½ cents or he could not compete with another mill making this same class of goods. The reduction was made.

In the finishing room about fifteen women and girls "burl" and "speck" cloth for 50 cents a day of ten hours. In the weave room there were five loom repairers last fall; now four do the work and have received no advance in wages. A boss gigger left the factory August 10, 1892, when told that his wages would be reduced from $1.50 to $1. He came from Broadbrook a short time before, where he had once earned $3.50 a day.

Hunt told the employes in 1888 that if Cleveland was elected wages would have to come down. The men think he intended this for an excuse for a contemplated reduction. But Harrison's election did not interfere with Hunt's plans, for the reductions began at once after the election. Herman Lieb, a carder, voted for Harrison, and had his wages cut from $1.50 to $1.25 the next week. It may be mentioned here that there are only twenty voters in the whole factory.

This company violates the weekly payment law by paying only once in two weeks, after withholding two weeks' pay; it has a "company store;" it owns and rents houses to its employes; its treatment of employes and tenants is said to be particularly harsh; and it exhibits many other symptoms of a well-protected industry.

These reports embrace six of the twenty-seven cases of "wage advances" attributed to McKinleyism. It is now the intention of the Reform Club to investigate and report on all. If there has been a case in a protected industry where wages have been advanced, and the advance is not due to the demands of a strong labor union, or where the members of the firm are not in politics and are not writing articles for Republican magazines or papers, the club will not hesitate to give full credit to the firm that does business upon such philanthropic principles, and the protectionists will then have some genuine campaign material, which apparently is very scarce at present, or they would not be compelled to establish the "McKinley industry" of manufacturing "wage advances" out of wage reductions.

Who Pays the Tariff Tax?

There is a street car driver in Washington named Mike Doran, says the Washington correspondent of the Republic. He is a native of Ireland and has been in this country about six years. He is a pretty bright fellow, is a close reader of the newspapers, and a careful observer of everything that is going on. During the past year Mike has been led away by the theories of the Republicans that protection was a good thing for the poor man and helped to keep up wages.

An incident occured within the past week or ten days that has made Mike somewhat skeptical. He had been told, by the Republicans, of course, and by McKinley in particular, that the foreigners paid our taxes. McKinley said so in his Minneapolis speech and, Mike believed him at the time. About ten days ago a cousin of Mike's arrived in this country. He brought a present from Mike's mother to her son, consisting of twelve pairs of woolen socks, which she herself knit him. It is safe to say that the value of the socks was about 20 cents a pair, but when Mike's cousin arrived at the Custom House he was assessed 25 cents a pair tariff duty on socks. When he came to Mike he showed his receipt from the Custom House officers for the $3 that he had paid for the dozen socks, and Mike, of course, had to refund the money to him. This set Mike thinking, and on the suggestion of a friend, with whom he conferred, he addressed the following letter to Governor McKinley on the subject:

DEAR SIR—I read your speeches in the House of Representatives during the Fifty-first Congress when the tariff bill was under discussion, in which you asserted and made me believe that the foreigners paid our taxes. I also read your speech as presiding officer of the Republican National Convention at Minneapolis, in which you asserted again that the foreigner paid our taxes. My mother sent me a dozen pair of socks from Ireland a few days ago, each pair being worth about 20 cents. My cousin who brought them to me had to pay 25 cents a pair tariff duties on the socks at the New York custom-house. Will you please be kind enough to tell me to what foreign government I shall apply to have that $3 refunded to me? If the foreigner pays the tax, as you say he does, I am entitled to get my money back, but I do not know just exactly to what foreign government to apply, and I hope you will be kind enough to inform me by return mail. Yours truly,

MICHAEL DORAN.

Hon. William McKinley.

This is a very pretty little object lesson and should not be lost sight of by people who are laboring to understand the tariff question.

A Millennium Overdue.

It has been nearly two years since our present tariff act went into effect. It was to encourage industries and provide work for all at higher wages. An era of peace and plenty was to follow. There was no doubt about it. But what has been our experience? Besides thousands of strikes, over 500 wage reductions in protected industries have been reported. At the present time there are labor riots in Pennsylvania, New York, Tennessee, and Wyoming, and the militia is on guard in three States. At no other time in our history have there been so many ready to fill any vacancies that may occur in the ranks of labor. If it were not for sentiment and fear 100,000 men would be begging for the places of the 3,000 strikers at Homestead. And this is the condition of labor in spite of our big crops and high prices for them. It would not be fair to blame McKinley for all this—the excessive heat of this summer, or the Democratic House, or a thousand other things, may have temporarily unsettled business and workingmen's minds. Such unforeseen events would upset the best laid plans. But how many years do you think it will take, Major, before your pet measure will begin to usher in the wage-earner's promised millennum?

Our Miracle Worker.

Right here in the United States, in the year 1830, was wrought one of the greatest miracles on record. By a sort of jugglery of economic conditions a great statesman, Wm. McKinley Jr. by name, has enabled us to make manufactured goods cheaper by taxing them: to make farm products dearer by taxing them; to increase foreign commerce by placing barriers to stop it; to kill trusts by restricting competition; to encourage industry by advancing wages and reducing prices and profits; to find markets for our farm products in the farming countries south of us; to reduce the cost of making goods by increasing wages and the cost of raw materials; to collect our revenues by levying duties upon foreigners who seek our markets for their goods, except when out of pity we excuse them by means of our reciprocity clause; and to raise big crops when there are famines in foreign countries. And yet there are some who would have us go back to the old-fashioned hum-drum life when people paid their own taxes, made goods cheaper by removing the restrictions to competition, and in general always expected that water run would down hill. But then no new invention or discovery was ever fully appreciated at first.

Shopping in Europe.

Mr. McKinley, will you please explain how it is, if your protective tariff is making manufactured goods so cheap here, that the thousands of Americans now returning from Europe are all coming back loaded with every article on your tariff list that they can, by hook or crook, get into this country without paying the duty? These tourists go to great trouble to purchase and carry these articles, and take great risks in concealing them and the facts concerning them, which would necessitate the payment of duties at the custom house. They all do it. Republicans and Democrats, Presbyterians and infidels, with one accord agree to buy all they can abroad and to beat the custom-house officials as much as possible here, and then they boast of their unpatriotic and shameful proceedings. It is noticeable that they seldom bring back articles on the free list, or on which the duty is light, but mostly those on which the duty is from 50 to 100 per cent. and above. How do you assimilate these facts with your theories? It is common to hear these tourists say that they have saved enough on the four or five suits purchased abroad to pay for their trip. Is this because suits are cheaper here than there?

BY a judicious mixture of shoddy, woolen goods are made cheaper than before the McKinley law. "A cheap coat makes a cheap man," indeed, when adulteration is the first requisite to a covered back. The foreigner, poor as he is, has at least woolen clothing. His rags we can use, ours he can not.—St. Louis Courier.

GOVERNMENTS make hostile tariffs, and suffering from the effects, the palliative reciprocity is suggested; and with a wild hurrah the American statesman enters the field as the discoverer of what to do, after we've followed his advice and put our "feet in it."—St. Louis Courier.

The Cathedral of Chihuahua.

The Cathedral City, as this State Capital is named, has very little of conspicuous interest unassociated with yonder great piece of architecture, which has no equal in architectural view on the Western Hemisphere. It has its history. That history is associated with the Santa Eulalia mine, which up to 1829, or the date of the expulsion of the Spaniards from Mexico, has yielded $275,000,000. The grand cathedral was constructed by a tax forced on the mine of one real, or twelve and one-half cents, out of each marc, or every $8, by order of the Royal Government of Spain. The edifice cost $1,000,000. Doubtless another $250,000 was contributed by the people in labor and material. It would require $3,500,000 to erect it in our time. The corner stone was laid in 1725.

Architecturally, the grand cathedral stands peerless, as far as magnificently symmetrical proportions are regarded in America. The great cathedral of the City of Mexico covers more ground. Still, in design, attractions of harmonious blending of these schools of architecture, it is a blunt and bungling and unsightly piece of work compared with this masterpiece of Cristoval de Villa. He passed more than half his business life constructing this great church. The design is the tripartite schools of Borinthian, Doric and Ionic. The rear or great dome end, which faces the west, has a width of 133½ feet. The front on the grand plaza, crowned by the twin towers, has a width of eighty-five feet. The audience capacity of the large auditorium is 6,000 people. The principal or front facade is elaborate in the Doric school of architecture. It is faced with elaborately carved columns, interspersed among which are the statues of the twelve apostles and San Francisco de Azis, patron of the structure.—Chihuahua Correspondence.

Seward's "Nerves of Steel."

The following letter, dated Washington January 2, 1862, is taken from Thurlow Weed's biography:

MY DEAR WEED—If I had not nerves of steel I should give up my place and let some less offending man take it up.

They say I sent John Brown to Virginia to raise a slave insurrection. Everybody waits for me to prove that I did not. They charge me with "compromising." The press call upon me to prove that I am not guilty. They charge me with gross vices. Friends ask, can it be so bad? and call upon me for refutations. They say I want war with England. Immediately I must prove that I love England better than our own country. The Duke of Newcastle, forgetful of the amenities of a dinner, gives the press a story about insulting the Prince of Wales and his whole party, and I must immediately go into a defense.

Now, either I have character enough for sense and decency to live through silly falsehoods like these, caused by hatred of our country and her cause, or I have not. If I have not, I ought to be compelled at once to relinquish a place which some other can fill better.

I had prepared a note to the Duke of Newcastle, but have thrown it into the fire. Before this silly canard of his could be exposed some new one would be started.

With love to Harriett, I am ever your unfortunate friend, who has faith in everybody and enjoys the confidence of nobody. WILLIAM H. SEWARD.

A Broken Reed, Indeed.

This, and no mistake, is the individual whose stamina has waned to such a low ebb, for want of an efficient tonic, that he would certainly topple over and fracture something if a bulky subject, such as a fat wife, for instance, were to lean upon him. Build up, ye lean, pithless and strengthless, with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will enable you to eat and digest heartily, and thus acquire flesh and vigor. The fortress of life will speedily capitulate to the grim scythe-wielder, death, if you don't. Nervousness, sleeplessness, biliousness, constipation, malaria, rheumatic and kidney trouble are all conquerable by this superb restorative of health and vigor. In connection with the use of the Bitters, it would be well for the debilitated invalid to study the wants of his enfeebled stomach with a view to the selection of the most digestible articles of diet.

How a Town Was Named.

That thriving settlement, Tipperusalem City, Ok., has a curious name and an even more curious history. Tipperusalem was founded last year by Timothy P. Grady and Col. H. M. Kaufmann, upon whose holdings it was built. Now Mr. "Tim" Grady is a steadfast Irishman, while Col. Kaufmann is proud of an ancestry which followed Moses to the Promised Land. Mr. Grady wanted to call the new city after his old home—Tipperary. Col. Kaufman was equally anxious to name it Jerusalem. A squabble resulted, and for a time it seemed as though the town was going to be divided into two distinct municipalities. Finally, however, a settlement was effected. Young Pat Grady fell in love with Rebecca Kaufmann, and through their interference the old men shook hands and agreed to compromise matters by calling the place "Tipperusalem." Thus it will remain until some fool-ordinance people come along and change it. — Brandon Bucksaw.

HALL'S CATARRH CURE is a liquid and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free. Sold by Druggists, 75c. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

Fashion's Stern Decree.

Lady—Ah, doctor, I'm glad to see you.

Doctor—What is the matter with you, madame?

"Oh, there is nothing the matter with me except that I'd like to know what is going to be the fashionable sickness this spring. I want to keep with the procession, you know."

SAVE YOURSELVES, COUGHS! HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR prevent bronchitis and consumption.

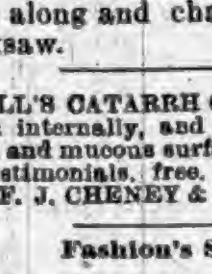
PIKE'S TOOTHACHE DROPS Cure in one Minute.

YOU seldom like a man after you have employed a servant who has worked at his house.

THIS hot weather is making every one look like the pictures of Mr. Before Taking.

DYSPEPSIA, impaired digestion, weak stomach, and constipation will be instantly relieved by Beecham's Pills. 25 cents a box.

PEOPLE don't believe in giving a boy anything except a whipping.



Mr. G. W. Doner.

Scrofula

Afflicted me four years—blotches all over my body, swelling in my neck, and in less than a year had lost 40 lbs. I was induced by H. L. Tubbs, our druggist, to try HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and the blotches and lump in my neck disappeared, and I soon began to gain in flesh. In four months there was none of the disease left in my system, and I was as well and strong as ever." G. W. DONER, Osceola, South Dakota.

HOOD'S PILLS are the best family cathartic, gentle and effective. Try a box. Only 25 cents.

THE TRUE LAXATIVE PRINCIPLE

Of the plants used in manufacturing the pleasant remedy, Syrup of Figs, has a permanently beneficial effect on the human system, while the cheap vegetable extracts and mineral solutions, usually sold as medicines, are permanently injurious. Being well-informed, you will use the true remedy only. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

The Cat in Art.

Until the present century the peculiar difficulties offered by the structure and texture of cats had hardly been surmounted. When the old masters drew a cat they made it solid and hard—it is probable that the varieties they knew were less beautiful than those which we now delight in—but also there was a conventional neglect of the furry character of the surface. In painting a cat now the danger is in avoiding a false solidity, to lose all sense of the osseous forms in securing softness and lightness.

LOW RATE HARVEST EXCURSIONS.

The announcement that the North-Western Line, comprising over 8,000 miles of thoroughly equipped railway, has arranged to run two low rate Harvest Excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by those who are interested in the development of the great West and Northwest, as well as by those who desire to visit this wonderfully productive region at a season of the year when exact demonstration can be made of the merits and advantages it offers to home-seekers and those in search of safe and profitable investments.

These excursions will leave Chicago on August 30th and Sept. 27th, and tickets can be purchased at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip to points in Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, and Montana. They will be strictly first-class in every particular and will be good for return passage at any time within twenty days from date of purchase. Full information concerning rates and arrangements for these excursions can be obtained upon application to any coupon ticket agent, or to W. A. Thrall, G. P. T. A., Chicago & North-Western R'y, Chicago.

Just the Opposite.

Cabbage (meeting Lejjer on the Montreal train)—You are going to Canada for a rest, I suppose?

Lejjer—No to avoid arrest.—Exchange.

A Prominent G. A. R. Man.

Ever since I came out of the Army in '63 I had been in poor health, suffering from Kidney and Liver Complaint. Swamp-Root did me more good than all the medicines I had ever taken. At present am feeling better than for years.

It is the best medicine on earth.

W. SPENCER, 30th Ind. Inf., Elkhart, Ind.

Heavy Bereavement.

"Black is very becoming to you," remarked a Harlem gentleman to a newly made widow.

"Yes, if my dear deceased husband had had any idea how well I would look in mourning I really don't believe he would have died," was the candid reply. —Texas Siftings.

$12.50 MONTREAL AND RETURN.

Via C., H. & D. and Canadian Pacific, Thursday, September 8th.

The Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton R. R. announce grand and cheap excursions, leaving Cincinnati and Indianapolis, Thursday, September 8th, via Detroit and Ottawa, to picturesque Montreal and historic Quebec. The rate from Cincinnati or Indianapolis will be $12.50 to Montreal and return, and $15.00 to Quebec and return. Correspondingly cheap rates are announced from all points on the C., H. & D., its branches and connections. Tickets will be good to return until September 28th, and will allow stop-overs returning at all points east of and including Toronto. Secure your sleeping-car berths, tickets, etc., early. Call on or address any C., H. & D. agent, or E. O. McCormick, G. P. and T. A., Cincinnati, O.

The Thought is the Life.

We can not be heavenly minded without thinking much of Heaven. To mind earthly things is the characteristic of those who are not God's children. As we think so we are. Set your affections on things above, and not on things on the earth, is the law of spiritual affinities, and also the test of spiritual character. —Nashville Christian Advocate.

LADIES, ladies, think of the engagements you have broken and the disappointments consequent to others and perhaps also to yourselves, all on account of headache. Bradycrotine will cure you in fifteen minutes. Of all Druggists. Fifty cents.

IF a man apparently behaves himself, people say it is simply an evidence that he is sly.

FITS.—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

GIVE any one authority over you, and he will impose on you.

ALL THE SAME, ALWAYS.

SPRAINS.
MT. PLEASANT, TEXAS,
June 20, 1888.
Suffered 8 months with strain of back; could not walk straight; used two bottles of
St. Jacobs Oil,
was cured. No pain in 18 months.
M. J. WALLACE.

SAINT JACOBS OIL TRY IT

BRUISES.
PITTSBURG, PA.
302 Wylie Ave., Jan. 29, '87
One of my workmen fell from a ladder, he sprained and bruised his arm very badly. He used
St. Jacobs Oil
and was cured in four days.
FRANZ X. GOELZ.

A PROMPT AND PERMANENT CURE.

Burlington Route

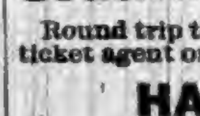
Harvest Excursions

August 30th and Sept. 27th,
FROM
Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis
to the Cities and Farm Districts throughout the
WEST
Southwest and Northwest

Round trip tickets will be sold by your local ticket agent on these dates at

HALF RATES!

See that they read over the Burlington Route from Chicago, Peoria or St. Louis. It is the direct line to the territory in question. Send for pamphlet with map and complete information to P. S. EUSTIS, G. P. A., CHICAGO, ILL.



FAT FOLKS REDUCED

Mrs. Alice Maple, Oregon, Mo., writes: "My weight was 320 pounds, now it is 195, a reduction of 125 lbs." For circulars address, with 6c., Dr. O. W. F. SNYDER, McVicker's Theatre, Chicago, Ill.

Best Oldest and Largest Spencerian Business College and Shorthand School. Cleveland, Ohio. Founded in 1848. 32,000 former pupils. Elegant catalogue free.

HEMORDIA FOR PILES.
THE ONLY SURE CURE. Price $1.00 by mail. HEMORDIA CO., 110 Fulton St., New York.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE.
The Family Wash Blue, for sale by Grocers.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.
CATARRH
Sold by druggists or sent by mail, 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren, Pa.

"August Flower"

"I am ready to testify under oath that if it had not been for August Flower I should have died before this. Eight years ago I was taken sick, and suffered as no one but a dyspeptic can. I employed three of our best doctors and received no benefit. They told me that I had heart, kidney, and liver trouble. Everything I ate distressed me so that I had to throw it up. August Flower cured me. There is no medicine equal to it." LORENZO F. SLEEPER, Appleton, Maine. ⊚

ULCERS,
CANCERS,
SCROFULA,
SALT RHEUM,
RHEUMATISM,
BLOOD POISON.

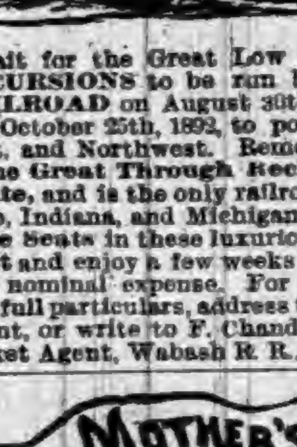
these and every kindred disease arising from impure blood successfully treated by that never-failing and best of all tonics and medicines,

SWIFT'S SPECIFIC SSS

Books on Blood and Skin Diseases free.
Printed testimonials sent on application. Address
The Swift Specific Co.,
ATLANTA, GA.

The Wabash R. R. Co.
SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

Wait for the Great Low Rate HARVEST EXCURSIONS to be run by the WABASH RAILROAD on August 30th, September 27th, and October 25th, 1892, to points West, Southwest, and Northwest. Remember the Wabash is the Great Through Reclining Chair Car Route, and is the only railroad in the States of Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan giving its patrons Free Seats in these luxurious palace cars. Go West and enjoy a few weeks rest and recreation at a nominal expense. For maps, time tables and full particulars, address the nearest Wabash Agent, or write to F. Chandler, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Wabash R. R., St. Louis, Mo.



MOTHER'S FRIEND

A remedy which, if used by Wives about to experience the painful ordeal attendant upon Child-birth, proves an infallible specific for, and obviates the tortures of confinement, lessening the dangers thereof to both mother and child. Sold by all druggists. Sent by express on receipt of price, $1.50 per bottle, charges prepaid.
BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.

TOWER'S FISH BRAND
The Best Waterproof Coat in the WORLD!
SLICKER
The FISH BRAND SLICKER is warranted waterproof, and will keep you dry in the hardest storm. The new POMMEL SLICKER is a perfect riding coat, and covers the entire saddle. Beware of imitations. Don't buy a coat if the "Fish Brand" is not on it. Illustrated Catalogue free. A. J. TOWER, Boston, Mass.

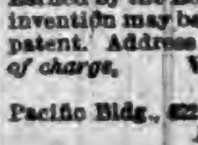
LEWIS' 98 % LYE
Powdered and Perfumed.
(PATENTED.)
The strongest and purest Lye made. Unlike other Lye, it being a fine powder and packed in a can with removable lid, the contents are always ready for use. Will make the best perfumed Hard Soap in 20 minutes without boiling. It is the best for cleansing waste-pipes, disinfecting sinks, closets, washing bottles, paints, trees, etc.
PENNA. SALT M'F'G CO.
Gen. Agts., Phila., Pa.

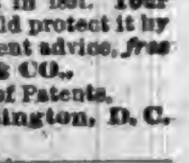
WE PAY POST-AGE. All you have guessed about life insurance may be wrong. If you wish to know the truth, send for "How and Why," issued by the PENN MUTUAL LIFE, 921-3-5 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

RIPANS TABULES regulate the stomach, liver and bowels, purify the blood, are safe and effectual; the best medicine known for biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia, foul breath, headache, mental depression, painful digestion, bad complexion, and all diseases caused by failure of the stomach, liver or bowels to perform their proper functions. Persons given to over-eating are benefited by taking one after each meal. Price, $2; sample, 15c. At Druggists, or sent by mail. RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

$40,000,000
Earned by the Bell Telephone Patent in 1891. Your invention may be valuable. You should protect it by patent. Address for full and intelligent advice, free of charge, W. W. DUDLEY & CO., Solicitors of Patents, Pacific Bldg., 622 F St. N. W., Washington, D. C. Mention this paper.

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS! GUESS. Who will get it? Send one dollar for Elegant Steel Engraving of Cleveland or Harrison, size 14x18. Each purchaser entitled to one guess as to the number of votes either will poll. Three hundred and five donations, one each of $5,000, $500, $800, $200, $100; three hundred of $10 each. Cleveland and Harrison each polled over 5 000 000 votes in 1888. SCHENECTADY CAMPAIGN CO., Box 615, Schenectady, N. Y.





LYON & HEALY, 53 Monroe St., Chicago. Will Mail Free their newly enlarged Catalogue of Band Instruments, Uniforms and Equipments, 400 Fine Illustrations, describing every article required by Bands or Drum Corps. Contains Instructions for Amateur Bands, Exercises and Drum Major's Tactics, By-Laws and a Selected List of Band Music.

PATENTS! PENSIONS!
Send for Inventor's Guide, or How to Obtain a Patent. Send for Digest of Pension and Bounty Laws. PATRICK O'FARRELL, Washington, D. C.

When Writing to Advertisers, say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

This is a Picture From Real Life,

showing, as it were, how anxiously the mother seeks to afford her child the innocent and harmless amusements so necessary to its growth and development; which, if impossible to secure at home, would be sought elsewhere.

So it is With Us!

We are anxiously and earnestly endeavoring to make it possible for our customers to get the comforts and necessaries of life at the

FAMILY GROCERY,

where is to be found a complete stock of groceries, general produce, notions, confectionery, tobacco and cigars.

Mason Fruit Jars $1.05 per Doz.

IRA BRANDON.

YOUNG, OLD and MIDDLE AGED MEN CURED. ATHLETES, BICYCLISTS, HORSEMEN, R. R. MEN. A protection to the Generative Organs. For sale by druggists. TAKE NO OTHER.

A BOON TO MEN

Suffering from the follies of youth. A positive cure for Varicocele (enlarged veins), Lost Manhood, Impotency and Nocturnal Emissions without the aid of drugs. Our Suspensory is endorsed by physicians and fully protected by U. S. patents, dated Dec. 8th, 1891. The best, surest, cleanest, cheapest and most comfortable remedy on the market. Affords absolute relief; easily applied; no inconvenience to the wearer; prevents chafing in hot weather; prevents injury from sudden jar or strain. Price, $3.00 by mail, or by express C. O. D., with privilege of examination. Circulars and information free. Send orders and communications to wholesale department.

V. R. S. CO. 25 Buhl Block, DETROIT, MICH.

SHAKE V. R. S. "We use the Vulcanized Suspensory." "Nothing like it."

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of an execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, in a cause wherein Elizabeth Frick is execution plaintiff, and Samuel Frick is defendant, requiring me to make the sum of Two Hundred Twenty nine dollars and Thirty-five cents, with interest on said judgment and costs, I will expose at Public Sale, to the highest bidder, on Saturday, September 17th, 1892.

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m., and 4 o'clock p. m., of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb county, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

Commencing at the northwest of tract of land heretofore conveyed by Nancy Willard in the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section three (3) in township thirty-four (34) north of range thirteen (13) east, and running from thence in an easterly direction parallel with the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad two and twenty-five one-hundredths chains to stake, thence south two chains and four and one-half links to a stake, thence in a westerly direction two and twenty-five one-hundredths chains to the line of land owned by Charles Kelley, thence north two chains and four and one-half links, to the place of beginning, containing forty-six one-hundredths of an acre, more or less, except a stript twenty-five (25) links wide off of the north end, which has been reserved for street purposes.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said judgment, interest and costs, I will at the same time and place expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficent to discharge said judgment, interest and costs. The above real estate will not be sold for less than two-thirds of its appraised value.

PHIL PLUM, Sheriff of DeKalb county, Indiana.

WM. H. LEAS, Att'y for Defendant.

Auburn, August 23rd, 1892.

Notice to Non-Residents

STATE OF INDIANA,
DEKALB COUNTY, } ss.

In the DeKalb circuit court, October term, 1892, William W. Gary is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said court, for foreclosure of mortgage by Robert T. Duncan, and that the same will be heard and determined on the 13th juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3rd, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 24th day of August, 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk.

WILLIAM H. LEAS, Att'y.

Notice to Non-Residents.

STATE OF INDIANA,
DEKALB COUNTY, } ss

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, October term, 1892, Schuyler E. Hurd is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said court for cancelation of mortgage and to quiet title to real estate by Jonathan Wilhelm, and that the same will be heard and determined on the eighth juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3d, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 15th day of August, 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk,

W. H. LEAS, Att'y

Notice to Non-Residents.

STATE OF INDIANA,
DEKALB COUNTY, } ss.

In the DeKalb circuit court, October term 1892, William H Hubbell, Orson J. Hubbell, Harris B. Hubbell, Corintha C. Hubbell, Inez Herendeen and Harriet F. Spencer are hereby notified that an action has been commenced against them in said court, by William H. Leas, administrator with the will annexed of the estate of Lydia M. Hubbell, deceased, to sell real estate belonging to the estate of said decedent, to make assets for the payment of debts, legacies, and liabilities of said estate, and that the same will be heard and determined on the 8th juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3d, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 11th day of August, 1892,

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk.

W. H. LEAS, Att'y.

Administrator's Sale.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned, administrator of the estate of John L. Shirey, deceased by order of the DeKalb Circuit Court, on Thursday October 13, 1892,

will sell the following real estate of said decedent, at public auction, on the premises, to wit:

Sixty acres off of the South side of the southwest quarter of section thirty-two (32) in township number thirty three (33) north of range fifteen (15) east in DeKalb County, in the State of Indiana. Sale to commence at 1 o'clock p. m.

TERMS: One-third cash, one-third in nine months, and one-third in eighteen months from day of sale. The deferred payments to be evidenced by the purchaser's notes, at interest, waiving relief from appraisement laws and secured by a mortgage on the premises.

SEBASTIAN TUSTESAN, Administrator.

J. E. & J. H. ROSE, Att'ys. for Estate.

August 29, 1892.

Notice of Sale of Personal Property.

Notice is hereby given, that I, John L. Wildeson administrator of the estate of Anson Hall, deceased, will offer at Public auction, to the highest bidder, on Friday, September 9th, 1892.

at the late residence of said deceased in Butler Township, DeKalb county, Indiana, about one mile south of St. Johns, the following described personal property, belonging to the estate of said decedent, to-wit:

Two head of work horses, two two-horse wagons, one buggy, one pair of bobsleds, one Esterly binder, one Fremont corn plow, one spring-tooth hay rake, one Buckeye mower, lot of carpenter tools, household goods and furniture, hay in mow, about 350 bushels in granary, corn in crib, oats in the granary, clove seed and numerous other articles.

TERMS OF SALE: For all amounts not exceeding five dollars, cash in hand. For amounts of five dollars and upwards, a credit of twelve months will be given. Note, bearing six per cent interest after maturity, with approved security, and waiving valuation and appraisement laws will be required

JOHN L. WILDESON, Administrator.

Aug. 17, 1892. E. D. Hartman Att'y.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THE OLD MILL OF MYSTERY,

is now in operation and grinding out Summer Goods, at

REDUCED PRICES.

Challies, ginghams, satteens and tissues, all must go

THIS HARVEST!

Come and bring Grain Sacks. If you haven't got as many as you need, we can furnish the America at 20 cents, Stark A., 22 cents.

Come One, Come All To THE HEADQUARTERS,

at the popular store of

MRS. M. JONES & SON.

Stand and Hanging Lamps.

AT

OLDS BROS,

SEBRING B'ld'g, AUBURN.

The first book printed in the English language was a "History of Troy," which appeared in the latter part of the year 1474.

MERIT WINS. We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Robbins & McCord, Druggists. 1

The Italians invented the term influenza, in the seventeenth century, and attributed the disease to the influence of certain planets.

The Commander-in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic Major George S. Merril. Few remedies are better known in this vicinity than, Sulphur Bitters; their sale has been very general throughout this section, and the number of reliable and well-attested cases of beneficial results and recovery by their use, is large and beyond dispute. 1

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

CORRESPONDENCE

WATERLOO.

H. D. Boozer went to Ft. Wayne Monday.

Jacob Brown is home again to visit his family.

Dr. Harry Chamberlain went Thursday to Ft. Wayne.

W. A. Fisher is improving his home by painting the outside.

Sunday last some of our citizens went on an excursion to Toledo and Presque Isle.

Wednesday of last week Mrs. J. A. Denison and her daughter Edna, visited friends in Angola.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Leas entertained a large company of friends from Angola Sunday to dinner.

Rev. J. B. Fowler of Winchester, Ind., and who formerly preached here in the Presbyterian church, spent Sunday here. He preached in that church in the evening.

Quite a number of ladies and some gentlemen attended the reception at Auburn Tuesday evening, given by the L. L. C. in honor of Dr. Lida Leasure, who shortly moves to Angola.

The windmill pump, or whatever was out of order, has been put in good condition within a week, when Monday night it was again broken. This act is believed to have been intentional and purely malicious.

The L. S. R. R. company have improved around the station very much by bringing in earth, and grading preparatory to setting out flowering and decorative plants. Now, if they will give us good walks instead of the cinders abomination, many of our citizens will be pleased and they will have reason to be.

The lecture Sunday morning in the M. E. church, by Rev. Richards, was listened to closely by all present, and was exceedingly interesting. The gentleman is a pleasing speaker, and does not fill up his time with dry statistics, that few care to hear, but he talked about Africa, the people, habits, mode of life, food, etc., of which we know so little. He also told of the readiness to believe in and accept a Savior when approached in the right way. How people from other lands should live, and what eat, to keep their health. It was decidedly the best missionary lecture the writer ever listened to. Dr. Richards, also, spoke Sunday evening in the same place; at Barker's Chapel Monday evening, and on Tuesday evening on the fair grounds.

CONCORD.

C. Keller and wife were in Waterloo Sunday.

Ira Ricketts came home from Garrett Thursday.

Jack Johnson has traded off his reversible pony.

Brent Phillips lost one of his fine colts Thursday.

Grandma Tarney of Butler is visiting her many relatives.

Mrs. Josie Morr visited relatives in Waterloo last week.

Mrs. C. H. Brown and baby spent last week in Spencerville.

Rev. J. D. Jones delivered his sermon Sabbath at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. J. B. Gibford and son Roy drove over to St. Joe Friday.

D. W. Baker and wife drove over to Spencerville Saturday.

Will Smith of St. Joe did the slating on Rich Ervin's new house.

Thursday last Angelina White was married to George Milliman of Coburntown.

Doc Stafford and family of near Auburn were guests of Wayne Scott last Sunday.

Henry Jenkins and wife of St. Joe visited in the family of J. B. Johnson Sunday.

Mrs. Clyde Woodcox and children of Auburn Junction are spending a few days here.

Mrs. Mansfield has fully recovered from her injuries received from leading one of her colts.

Charlie Freeses' visited their daughter Mrs. Jos. Stafford of Rehoboth, Wednesday last.

Mrs. T. H. Murray and daughter Goldie, of Spencerville, spent Monday with Mrs. C. H. Brown.

Mrs. Del Phillips accompanied her invalid sister Mrs. May Addison to her home in Jackson, Mich., Friday.

Rumor has it that Dr. Showalter is married but we do not believe it for he did not have on a bran new suit.

Mrs. Phil Kennedy of Spencerville, Mrs. Will Sheldon of Garrett, visited their sister Anna Rickets Friday.

Mrs. Jennie Morr of Union Chapel and Mrs. Ella Williams of Garrett, visited their sister Mrs. Fred Morr Tuesday.

Mr. Hollister of Auburn, and little granddaughter, Vera Cobb were driving through here enroute for Hicksville Friday.

G. W. Draggoo, wife and daughter Alice, Jos. Koch, wife and daughter Ida, attended the yearly meeting Sunday at Newville.

SUMMIT.

Lillie Green of Hudson, was in town one day last week.

Duncan & Baxter shipped a car load of hogs from here Monday.

Quite a number from here attended the institute at Auburn last week.

Mrs. Lusing and daughter of Montgomery, Mich., were in town Tuesday.

Lottie and Hattie Heckathorn of Hudson, made our town a short call last Friday.

Mrs. James Bower and son Elmer, of Fairfield, Center, made our town a call Saturday.

L. Colton and wife and Henry Lawson and family were the guests of H. D. Snowberger's Sunday.

Cora Elliot visited her sister, Mrs. Joseph Ruffner, at Pleasant Lake last Thursday and Friday.

We wondered what made Mat Hale look so pleasant last Tuesday and found out that a little boy had come to his house to call him papa.

A sad accident occurred at this place Thursday noon. A man by the name of Frank Horn of Buffalo, N. Y., went to get on a freight train and slipped and fell under the train smashing one foot and breaking the other limb above and below the knee. He was taken up to Angola to Dr. Wood, but nothing could be done for him. He lived till four o'clock when death relieved him.

Obituary.

Little Barbara Chloe, daughter of John and Ettie Elson of Pearl street was born Sept. 11, 1891, and died Aug. 24, 1892 aged 11 months and 13 days.

As a bright star that shines for a night, then is made invisible because of the greater light, so this beautiful little child gladdened the home for a short time, then passed to that "Great Light" who said, "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

The funeral services were held at the Baptist church at 2:30 p. m., Friday conducted by Rev. Fred of Spencerville, of the M. E church and Rev. Eagy of the Baptist church of this city. The grief stricken parents have the sympathy of the entire community in this their first bereavement.

Canals in the United States.

(Harper's Weekly.)

To-day there are, according to official statistics, some 4,000 miles of artificial water-ways in the United States, and through these and the natural inland waterways pass, in a single year, 172,000,000 tons of freight. In the older portion of the country the canals have ceased to have their relative importance, and some of them are in a way to be abandoned. The Erie and Champlain canals in our own state, which a score of years ago were the subject matter of the most excited political struggles, now attract little attention, and so acute a business man as Gov. Flower, has announced that he is not sure that they repay the expenditure made upon them. But in the west the St. Mary's Falls Canal, the famous "Soo," and the waterways connecting the Great Lakes in this country and in Canada, are of the highest importance and the scheme for securing not less than twenty feet of water between Duluth and Buffalo or New York is one that is being steadily pressed by men who never own that they are beaten, and seldom have been. That, with the Nicaragua Canal, would cause the current of the world's commerce to flow from the heart of the far west to the remotest shores of the Orient more safely and swiftly than the ships of the Phoenicians reached the Ultima Thule.

CEDAR APPLES AND WHEAT RUST.

Most people have seen the yellow, jelly like balls that appear on cedar-trees in early spring, and are called "cedar apples." They are covered with soft, clear thorns. After the first warm day these thorns swell, and embedded in them are innumerable spores. If the cedar-apple is put into a saucer with a little water, and covered with a tumbler, the spores will soon float up and cover the surface of the water, like a yellow dust. They will not grow on a cedar-tree as their parent plant did They have other views in life, and will not grow at all, unless they can make their way to an apple tree or wild crab-apple tree. There they will settle down and become "rust." When the rust is full grown, it appears on the upper side of the leaf as yellow patches, surrounding black spots which look like little craters. These are cups filled with spores, which are quite different in form to the spores of the cedar-apple. They in their turn, are carried back to a cedar tree, and develope into cedar-apples, which live over winter, and recommence the cycle of growth in spring, da capo.

Wheat-rust has a still more involved family history, for it bears three sorts of spores. One generation is the red rust, the second is the black rust, and the third does not grow on wheat at all, but on barberry-bushes. According to the old popular creed, barberry-bushes near wheat-fields produced mildewed grain; but this is disputed by some of the latest authorities. It was thought that spores from the barberry cluster-cups found their way to the wheat, and germinated into red rust, and thus the strange round of life began again.—From "The Mushroom's Family Connections," in Demorest's Family Magazine for September.

Prosperous B. & O. Relief Department.

The Baltimore and Ohio Relief Department has ordered a dividend of one per cent. per annum to all depositors having accounts drawing interest at the close of the fiscal year ended June 30 last. This is the third consecutive year this dividend has been declared. This dividend is in addition to the four per cent. interest guaranteed under the regulations and, taken with that, is equivalent to five per cent. interest per annum upon deposits. The total amount of deposits to date is $1,666,440.16; total loans $1,065,362.18. The loans to employes have been expended in building 568 houses, buying 532 houses, and improving 118 houses, already owned. Liens released, 274.

WORK OF CONGRESS.

REVIEW OF THE SESSION BY CONGRESSMAN WILSON.

Attempts to Amend the McKinley Law. Economy in Appropriations Wherever Possible—Conservatism on Silver—What Congress Did Not Do.

The work of the recent session of congress has been ably summarized by Hon. William L. Wilson, of West Virginia, as follows:

The fundamental creed of the Democratic party is that we are to work out our prosperity more by individual effort than by laws of congress. It is not a believer in high government or in plentiful legislation. It seeks to confine federal legislation in the field prescribed for it by the constitution, and it seeks to confine all legislation in limits where it cannot invade the individual freedom of the citizen. To judge a Democratic house, therefore, we must consider not the quantity but the quality of the work it has done.

With an adverse senate and an unfriendly executive, it would have been mere bravado for the Democratic house to enter upon any thorough course of reformatory legislation. It sought to relieve the burdens of the taxpayer and to stimulate American industry and commerce by repealing the most oppressive taxes of the McKinley bill, Having decided through its committee to attack that bill in detail rather than by a general revision, it passed in turn six tariff bills as follows: Putting wool on the free list and reducing the duties on woolen goods; putting binding twine, cotton ties and cotton bagging, as also machinery for making cotton bagging, on the free list; repealing duties on silver-lead ore and tin plate, and limiting the amount of wearing apparel that can be brought into the country free of duty. These six bills make up a substantial measure of relief, and they carry the benefits of tariff reform home to the working people of the country. They would have been followed by other bills had not the senate shown its determination to ignore all of them. They led to a debate, especially the woolen and tin plate bills, that evoked a large number of very good tariff reform speeches, excellent contributions to the campaign of education. Any attempt to throw ridicule on them as not being a substantial fulfillment of Democratic promises to the people is met by an assertion of a prominent Republican member of the ways and means committe that they amount to a virtual repeal of the McKinley bill.

In the amount of its expenditures this house has not been able to reduce as much as it expected the appropriations of the Fifty-first congress, because it could not repeal the laws of that congress that added so enormously to our annual budget. To be frank, the dependent pension bill of Mr. Reed's congress added many millions to our yearly appropriations, and, as all men know, pension legislation never goes backward. So with the subsidy and bounty bills of that congress, which this house was powerless to repeal.

But while it has met honestly the requirements of these laws the house has been in the main careful of its own expenditures. It has passed no new public building bills. It has passed fewer private bills carrying appropriations than any recent congress, and its private pension bills have been more carefully scrutinized to separate the good from the bad.

On the silver question the house declined to pass the Bland bill and refused to take up the Stewart bill. Even those who believed that there was in these bills some potential benefit to the people must admit that the Democratic party could not have committed itself to free coinage at the ratio proposed in those bills without throwing away every prospect of success in the presidential campaign and becoming for the time being almost a southern and sectional party. It was the highest political sagacity, whatever might have been the merits of the proposed legislation, to avoid a step certain to disrupt the party, and with that disruption firmly and permanently to seat in power the protected plutocracy, with full opportunity to plunder the people with new tariff bills and to subjugate them with force bills. The present house does not suffer in any point in comparison with the last. It has had a code of rules and an administration of its rules that did not become autocratic or partisan, and the rights of its small minority of Republican and third party members have been uniformly respected.

It has been notably free from acrimonious debates, and its records nowhere show the passionate and indignant protests of a wronged minority which marred the proceedings of the last house.

I have never known a house in which there has been less buncombe partisan debating or one in which there was less effort to manufacture campaign material on the eve of a national election.

If the house has been thwarted by the senate in its general work and in its efforts to lessen the burdens of the people, it has given proof of its desire to do both, and has been always tender in adding new charges upon the treasury.

It did not increase taxes. It passed no subsidy bill. It voted no bounties. It passed no bills to overthrow elections in the states. It vacated no Republican seats for Democratic contestants, except in one case, and that upon a practically unanimous committee report. It did not rob the minority of their rights or servilely surrender its own rights into the hands of its speaker and its committee on rules. If under firm discipline and recognized leadership it might have done all that it did more expeditiously and have added other and even wiser measures of relief and reform, it still kept its work fairly abreast with the progress of the senate, and it showed once again how much safer for the country and how much nearer to the people is a Democratic house than one which represents the great special interests of the country. Those interests demand legislation for their own benefit, and demand it so imperiously that parliamentary law, traditional usage, all the safeguards of free legislation and of free elections must go down before them. The people of the country cannot again safely trust the house of representatives to the Republican party.

What Fixes Wages?

Republican protection is justified by its authors and promoters solely upon the assumed ground that it benefits the workingman. The platform adopted at Minneapolis demands the continuance of high protection in order that capitalists may pay to workingmen higher wages than are paid in the foreign manufacturing concerns with which native manufacturers are called upon to compete. Here is a simple issue, and if it can be shown that the effect of Republican protection is not to improve the wages of American workingmen, the fallacy of the Republican pretense is exposed.

If Republican protection really helps the

A Safe Investment.

Is one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or in case of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised Druggist a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used for any affection of throat, lungs or chest, such as consumption, inflammation of lungs, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough, croup, etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe, and can always be depended upon. Trial bottles free at Robbins & McCord's. 1 that you can secure almost immediate relief from Indigestion, and that uncomfortable fullness after meals, by simply taking a dose of Simmons Liver Regulator? Some people think that because it is called Liver Regulator it has nothing to do with Indigestion and the like. It is the inaction of the Liver that causes Indigestion, and that fullness; also Constipation, and those Bilious Headaches. Millions have been made to understand this and have been cured from these troubles by Simmons Liver Regulator—a medicine unfailing and purely vegetable.

Don't You Know

From Rev. M. B. Wharton, Baltimore, Md

"It affords me pleasure to add my testimony to the great virtues of Simmons Liver Regulator. I have had experience with it, as occasion demanded, for many years, and regard it as the greatest medicine of the times. So good a medicine deserves universal commendation.

SULPHUR BITTERS

Ladies:—
The Secret
Of a Fair Face
Is a Beautiful
Skin.
Sulphur Bitters
Will give you
A lovely Complexion.

Send 3 2-cent stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., for best medical work published

During the reign of Henry VIII of England, 71,400 persons were executed. The like has never been known in the history of the world, before or since.

Read Carefully.

Messrs. Dullam Bros.—Gentlemen:—For over 4 years I have been afflicted with an eruption of the skin, which became very troublesome, and I could get no relief. I was also troubled very badly with constipation, which nothing I tried gave any permanent relief, until I took Dullam's Great German Blood, Liver Stomach and Kidney Remedy, and since taking I have been entirely cured. For a tonic, blood purifier and general health restorer I can heartily recommend it. $1 a bottle.

MRS. WM. COPERLAND, Flint, Mich.

In the Old Testament, although great numbers of women are mentioned, the age of but one is given. That is Sarah, Abraham's wife.

What Makes a Beautiful Woman.

Elkhart, Ind., July 1, 1891.

Dullam's Great German Medicine Co:

My daughter has been afflicted with female trouble for over six years, and I have paid out over $750 in vain trying to find relief for her. A lady friend advised her to secure a bottle of Dullam's Great Female Uterine Tonic, and she has been completely cured by it. We gave it a fair trial and the results were wonderful. We cannot recommend it too highly to all ladies who are afflicted.

BENJAMIN GRANGER.

For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

The states in the Lower Mississippi valley are said to have spent $75,000,000 in building levees since this means of protection was resorted to.

Only One Bottle.

Mr. Arthur Fisher, a reliable stock dealer, of Decatur, Ind., says: One dollar bottle of Dr. Marshal's Lung Syrup completely cured me of a very annoying cough and pains in the chest, bordering on lung fever. I think it is the best cough Syrup in the world, and would not do without it. Resp. Yours,

A. M. FISHER.

In fifty years the consumption of wool in the United States has grown from four pounds per capita to 8.3 pounds.

The New Great South American Kidney Cure.

The acknowledged superior cure and immediate relief for all derangements, painfulness and decay of the kidneys or bladder, Bright's disease, diabetes or any complaint that hurts or despoils either of these delicate organs. This new remedy has been thoroughly tested by learned physicians and found far superior to any medicine yet discovered for quickly relieving all weaknesses, aches, pains and distresses arising from disease of any part of the urinary passages. It is a great relief for the old, middle aged and children, male or female. It relieves at once retention and pain in passing water, and it is very effective in relieving prostatic troubles in the old, and for nightly incontinence of water in children, or others, caused by weakness of the bladder. It may be worth to many a hundred times its cost. This is a remedy of great value to ladies, because they are very liable to weakness and pain peculiar to their sex. Sold by Robbins & McCord, druggists, Auburn, Ind.

"Would you know why with pleasure
Our faces so beam?
Our Servants ne'er grumble,
Our life is a dream.

AND SANTA CLAUS SOAP
Is the cause of our bliss;
For all sorts of cleaning
It never comes amiss.

MADE ONLY BY
N.K.FAIRBANK & Co. CHICAGO.

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.

ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

VOLUME XXII. AUBURN, DE KALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 8, 1892. NUMBER 36.

EVERYBODY

Should know that we have just received the largest and finest selection of cooking and heating stoves ever brought to Auburn. They were bought for less money than ever before; therefore we

CAN

and will save you a handsome margin on every stove you buy. A fine variety of stove boards and an endless variety of patterns of oil cloth rugs and floor oil cloth. A fine line of sporting goods, consisting of guns, revolvers and all kinds of ammunition. If you need a Sewing Machine, you should see the STANDARD before buying. Builders' hardware of all kinds, paints, oils, etc. A fine assortment of table and pocket cutlery, granite ware, blue ware, tin and copper ware in all kinds, sizes and shapes. We are headquarters for lamps,—and in fact everything to be found in a first-class hardware store. Remember you can

SAVE MONEY

by trading with us.

W. H. KIBLINGER,

AUBURN, IND.

AUBURN DISTRICT FAIR

BALLOON ASCENSION EACH DAY.

DESCENT OF T.H. GRINLEY

SEPTEMBER 12-16.

SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 13.

RACES:—Class No. 1. Pacing, two year olds. Stake.
Class No. 2. Trotting, yearlings. Stake.

Balloon Ascension and Parachute Leap with Dog in separate Parachute.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14.

SOLDIERS' DAY.

RACES:—Class No. 3. Trotting, 3 minute class. Purse $150.
Class No. 4. Pacing, three-year olds. Purse $150.
Class No. 5. Trotting, two-year-olds.

BICYCLE RACES.

Running Races. Crandall and Barker. Two Double Teams. Balloon Ascension and double Parachute Leap.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 15.

RACES:—Class No. 6. Pacing, free for all. Purse $300.
Class No. 7. Trotting, 2:33 class. Purse $250.
Class No. 8. Running, free for all. Half-mile. Purse $150.
Balloon Ascension and Parachute Leap. Public Wedding and awarding prize of $35 Range to Contracting Parties.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 16.

Grand Parade of Premium Stock at 10:30 A. M.

RACES:—Class No. 9. Trotting, 2:20 class. $400
Class No. 10. Trotting, 2:27 class. $200.
Class No. 11. Trotting, 2:40 class. $150.

BICYLE RACES.

Balloon Ascension and Parachute Leaps by Man and Dog. Running Race, Fifth Heat, Double Teams.

Excursion Rates on All Railroads!

Good Music Will be Furnished Each and Every Day.

For full Particulars, send to Secretary.

JOHN L. DAVIS, Pres. CAL. HUSSELMAN, Sec'y.

NEW GOODS,
NEW GOODS,
NEW GOODS!

More than ever before!

Dry Goods, Clothing, Carpets, FURNITURE.

All new styles and sure to please you.

DRESS GOODS

perfectly beautiful.

LADIES' WRAPS

the same.

CLOTHING

for young and old. Nothing but the best of workmanship, and goods that are honest and give the best of satisfaction.

Trade with us, it will pay you.

SCHAAB & BRO.

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—In Effect May 15 1892

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations—	Mail.	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne....dp	11 50 am	4 40 pm	6 40 am
New Era	12 18 pm	5 15	7 27
Auburn June	12 28	5 27	7 58
Auburn	12 32	5 36	8 32
Waterloo	12 43	5 41	9 24
Summit	12 56	5 53	9 45
Pleasant Lake	1 05	6 06	10 12
Angola	1 14	6 16	10 50
Jackson	3 30	8 40	5 00

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations—	Freight	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson.........dp	6 45 am	11 15 am	6 30 am
Angola	12 25 pm	2 08 pm	8 51
Pleasant Lake	1 04	2 20	9 01
Summit	1 25	2 32	9 11
Waterloo	2 30	2 56	9 24
Auburn	3 07	3 07	9 34
Auburn Junc	3 38	3 11	9 38
New Era	4 05	3 22	9 50
Fort Wayne	5 25	3 55	10 25

For rates on tickets or freight to all points, call on or address E. T. DELAPP, Agent at Auburn

WALTER'S METALLIC SHINGLES are made from the best grades of roofing Tin plate, and steel sheets galvanized. You can buy them painted or not. Our Galvanized Shingles are rain and rust proof, without the necessity of painting. Our painted Tin Shingles are more durable and ornamental than it is possible to make a tin roof, put on in the old-fashioned style. Write for price list R.
THE NATIONAL SHEET METAL ROOFING Co
9 Cliff St., New York.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS—HALF RATES

August 30th and Sept. 27th.

The Burlington Route will sell round trip tickets at half rates, good to the cities and farming regions of the West, Northwest and Southwest. Eastern, Ticket Agents will sell through tickets on the same plan. See that hey read over the Burlington Route, the best line from Chicago, Peoria, Quincy and St. Louis. For further information write P. S. EUSTIS, General Passenger Agent Chicago.

Low Rate Harvest Excursion.

The anouncement that the North-Western Line, comprising over 8,000 miles of thoroughly equipped railways, has arranged to run two low rate Harvest Excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by those who are interested in the development of the great West and Northwest, as by those who desire to visit this wonderfull productive region at a season of the year when exact demonstration can be made of the merits and advantages it offers to home-seekers and those in search of safe and profitable investments. These excursions will leave Chicago on August 30th and Sept. 27th, and tickets can be purchased at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip to points in Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho and Montana. They will be strickly first-class in every particular and will be good for return passage at any time within twenty days from date of purchase. Full information concerning rates and arrangments for these excursions can be obtained upon application to any coupon ticket agent, or to W. A. Thrall, G. P. T. A. Chicago & North Western R'y, Chicago. 38

The Mountains of Colorado.

Denver, Estes Park, Colorado Springs, Manitou and Glenwood Springs, may be reached from Chicago or St. Louis via the Burlington Route fast vestibuled express trains, handsomely equipped with every modern improvement. Write P. S. Eustis, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, for particulars.

GET THE BEST!

EXCEL IN QUALITY, BEAUTY, TONE AND FINISH.

THE CROWN PIANOS & ORGANS
GEO. P. BENT
MANUFACTURER
CHICAGO.

FOR SALE ON EASY TERMS BY
WES. H. HUSSELMAN,
Waterloo. - - - Ind.

It is estimated that nearly 20,000 lbs. of bread are daily eaten in the sultan of Turkey's household.

Every Christian Mother

should be careful with her children. This damp atmosphere of our climate often bring on coughs, colds, etc., which if not attended to in time lead to that dreaded disease, consumption. To prevent this it is the duty of all mothers to have a remedy near, to check these coughs that your children may contract; and you cannot get a safer and more reliable remedy than Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup, the children's friend. You can buy this for 25 cts. of all druggists.

A man in Bavaria, only needs to see a play twice in order to be able to repeat it scene for scene.

A Thoughtful Person

consults his best interests by having a box of Krause's Headache Capsules at hand; taken as directed will prevent, or stops any kind of a headache, no matter what the cause,—in fact if your skull was cracked it would prevent pain. The frequency of the attacks will diminish, and by taking the capsules at the approach of a headache, you will never have another.—For sale by Davenport.

A single plant of Turkey corn bears 3,000 seeds; the sunflower, 4,000; the popy 32,000, and tobacco, 70,320.

Newspapers Endorse.

"Educators are certainly the greatest benefactors of the race, and after reading Dr. Franklin Miles' most popular works, cannot help declaring him to be among the most entertaining and educating authors."—New York Daily. He is not a stranger to our readers, as his advertisements appear in our columns in every issue, calling attention to the fact that his elegant work on nervous and heart disease is distributed free by our enterprising druggist F. E. Davenport. Trial bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine are given away, also book of testimonials showing that it is unequaled for nervous prostration, headache, poor memory, dizziness, sleeplessness, neuralgia, hysteria, fits, epilepsy. 2

It is generally agreed among naturalists, that the tortoise is the longest-lived of all animals.

I Am Proud

to say from personal experience that Sulphur Bitters, which advertisement will be seen in another column, is the best spring and blood medicine to be found. It is prepared by an honest firm, who scorn to use cheap and worthless medicines, but use the best that money can buy.

Obituary.

The many friends of Will Hornberger, in this county, will be pained to hear of the loss of their little girl, as seen by the following, which we clip from the Elkhart Review of Aug. 29:

"Little Gracie, the 11-month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Hornberger, was relieved from her sufferings, yesterday at one. She had been ill just five weeks with congestion of the brain, and for a week had been entirely unconscious of her surroundings and of pain. She was unusually bright and forward in development for one so young, and her loss is thus rendered doubly hard. It is a strange coincidence in the little ones life that she was born Sunday, taken ill Sunday and died on that day of rest. The funeral will take place at 3 this afternoon, Rev. Bell officiating. The bereaved parents have the heartfelt sympathy of all who have loved and lost their little ones, and of all others whose hearts are soft at the sight of sorrow."

Obituary.

Mabel Etrula, daughter of Jerry and Nora Cramer, departed this life August 31, 1892, at the early age of 8 months and 10 days. She was a bright and pretty child and of a happy temperament. Her cheerfulness and prattle were the real life of the household. But now, how dreadfully sad and gloomy is that once happy home! How our hearts ache for parents and friends thus deeply afflicted, with wounded, aching hearts, which in this life, can never be healed! For lack of sufficient room, the funeral services were held, principally at the residence of A. J. Cramer, Rev. W. L. Meese officiating. Interment in the Woodlawn cemetery.

There's a pair of little hands,
Laid to rest forever more;
There's two pearly, dimpled cheeks,
Whose rich blossoming is o'er;
Death has sealed two little eyes.
That will no more smile or weep;
Tiny windows of the soul;
Little Mabel's gone to sleep.

She will wake in fairer lands,
Where the angel voices sing;
There the flowerets shall expand,
There shall love, perfection bring.
She has reached the golden shore,
Through the river cold and deep.
Angels bore her safely there;
Little Mabel's gone to sleep.

Card of Thanks.

John Shugers and family take this means to thank their kind neighbors and friends for assistance and neighborly kindness and sympathy extended to them on the occasion of sickness and death of Mr. Shugers' aged mother.

Card of Thanks.

The family of John Shugers wish to thank the friends and neighbors for kindness and sympathy shown during the last sickness of the beloved mother, Mrs. Catherine Shugers.

At Rest.

Catherine Howman, was born in Wayne county, O., Aug. 4, 1816. Feb. 4, 1836 she was united in marriage to Jacob Shugers and in 1842 they moved to DeKalb county, Ind., and settled on the farm 1¼ miles south of Auburn. For many years they struggled with all the difficulties and hardships of pioneer life, and here they reared their family. Mr. Shugers died Feb. 12, 1872. Of the two children born to them, John still survives. The other, Fanny, wife of Wm. Carr, died Sept. 9, 1872, surviving her father but a few months. She, with her husband had united with the Lutheran church at Congress, Wayne county, O., in May, 1837. After many years of suffering, which she endured with patience and fortitude, Mrs. Shugers passed away, Aug. 31, 1892, aged 76 years and 27 days. Besides the son, seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren and a large circle of friends mourn for her. But she has passed to her rest.

Obituary.

Ralph Slater died Sept. 2, 1892, aged 1 year, 5 months and 10 days.

We sit beside the bed,
And our tears were streaming fast,
For we see the present only,
While we thought of all the past:
Of the days so full of gladness,
When our first born's answering kiss
Thrilled our soul with such a rapture
That it knew no other bliss.
Oh those happy, happy moments!
They but deepen our despair.
For we bend above the bed,
And our baby is not there!

We sit besid the bed,
But our tears no longer flow,
For we see a blessed vision,
And forget all our earthly woe,
Saintly eyes look down upon us.
And the voice that hushed the sea,
Stilled our spirit with the whisper,
"Suffer them to come unto me."
And while our soul is lifted
On the soaring wings of prayer,
Heaven's crystal gates swing inward,
And we see our darling Ralph is there.

District Schools.

As announced, after the May meeting of the County Board of Education, the district schools of the county will begin uniformly on Monday Sept., 12. At the meeting last Thursday the board decided to have a holiday vacation of two weeks school closing Friday, December 23, 1892 and opening again January 9, 1893.

Garrett Steam Laundry.

Peter Young has the agency for the Model Steam Laundry at Garrett, an establishment that has a reputation equal to the best, and has been in operation for the past two years with marked success. Parties should call on Mr. Young when they want any work in this line. Fine work and prompt delivery a specialty. Laundry will be sent over by Mr. Young Tuesday and be returned Saturday.

The Institute.

Among the many good things we had to omit last week was a friendly notice of the institute. Circumstances had prevented our attendance, to the extent we would have preferred, and we feel that we have not done justice to the good work of that week. Mr. Merica deserves great praise for the success of the meetings and we should not forget the hundred or so of faithful teachers who came up to spend the week in more complete preparation for the work of the coming school year. The work done at this institute was of a high order, and the lectures have never been excelled, if equaled. It would be difficult to say too much in praise of Mr. Nourse or Col. Sanford. Both are masters in the art of platform speaking, each in his own especial sphere. It was a treat to hear them. We feel sure that every teacher went away feeling better and stronger for the week spent at the institute. And Mr. Merica surely had reason to be proud of that week's work and encouraged by it.

GOES STRAIGHT TO TOLEDO.

Changes in the Wabash Branch Projected With Fast Time Contemplated.

TOLEDO, OHIO, AUG. 29.—Wabash officials, in this city today, announced that, instead of extending their new Chicago-Ashley line to Napoleon or some town on the Toledo division, they would build straight to Toledo, and that the right of way was already secured. The distance is 115 miles, and is the right of way secured by the Canadian Pacific and Wabash last spring. The route was called as the Toledo and Chicago Beeline. It is six miles shorter than the Lake Shore air line, and the Wabash people say it will be built with especial reference to fast time. The equipment will be first-class. Ashley will be made the center of four divisions. In Toledo the company has entered a deal with the C. H. and D., the T., and O. C. and the T., A. A. and N. M. to erect a big union depot in the heart of the city, for which the site was quietly purchased recently. Another long bridge will be built across the Maumee to accommodate the T. and O. C.—Chicago Herald.

A New Kind of Diamond.

Jas. S. Kirk & Co., of Chicago, have put upon the market lately, as a result of their half century's experience, their Dusky Diamond Soap, a soap adapted to all household uses. By a happy but peculiar combination they are enabled to use tar in this soap, and there is no one that needs to be told that tar is recognized as the greatest of the healing agents. It also is recognized for its softening qualities, anyone troubled with hard hands, cracked hands or sore hands, will become enthusiastic over the "Dusky Diamond" Soap after once using it. Your grocer keeps it.

RICKEL

— AND —

SPROTT

Real Estate Agents.

Loan Agents.

Rail Road Agents.

Steamship Agents.

Western Land Ag'ts.

Emigration Agents.

FARMS.

80 acres unimproved land in Keyser township, within one mile of Garrett. This is a rare chance. Long time and easy terms. No better land in the county, and not a foot that cannot be tilled.

Farms in Kansas Nebraska, Arkansas, Dakotas and Minnesota, to sell on the grain plan. No cash payments required. No mortgage. Payments made by products of farms. Write for full particulars.

20 acres of land in Richland township. Land all cleared and fenced. Price $45 per acre. Part on time.

70-acre farm within 2½ miles of Auburn Good log house, two good wells, 7 acres timber; balance cleared and in good state of cultivation. Price $45 per acre in small payments.

81 acres good land near St. Joe, Ind., in the St. Joe River valley. Good 5-room house, 2 good barns, orchard, well, etc. 50 acres cleared, balance in timber. Will be sold cheap and on long time.

6 acres land in Alexandria County, Virginia, unimproved. Lies within 4 miles of the Capitol Buildings at Washington, D. C. Elegant site for fruit farm. Long time, easy terms.

80-acre farm in Jackson township. 2-story, 7-room brick dwelling, barn 32 x 64, orchard of 80 trees, and small fruits of all kinds. 65 acres cleared, balance in timber. Excellent productive soil. Easy price and long time.

40 acres of good land lying 6 miles east of Auburn. Good log house, barn, orchard of 18 bearing apple trees, good fences, and well. 31 acres under cultivation, balance in timber.

Farm of 103 acres of land east of Auburn, 4 miles, Large 2-story frame dwelling house, two barns, large orchard and small fruits, wells, and farm well tiled. Farm in good state of cultivation. Price $55 per acre. Long time and easy payments.

Farm of 80 acres within ½ mile of Auburn. Well adapted to gardening and growing small fruits. Will be sold on long time with good cash payments.

80 acre farm in Jackson township, under fine state of cultivation, good buildings, good fences, plenty of fruit of the choicest varieties. 10,000 tile laid. This is an easy mark and can be bought cheap.

TOWN PROPERTIES.

No. 351. 1½-story frame house of 6 rooms, 15 fruit trees, in good thrifty condition, good well, chicken park, etc. In McIntyre's addition, Price $600.

Vacant lot in Shaffer, Boland & Robbins addition. Price $85.00.

1½-story frame dwelling and frame barn in southeast part of town. Cheap for all cash.

1½ frame dwelling house 16x26 and wing 16x26 and 1½ lots in St. Joe, Ind. Some fruit, good cistern. Price $800, on long time.

Good residence property, located on South Jackson street, 1½ story frame dwelling, barn, wood house, well and cistern. Price $300 cash, balance in yearly payments,

Two very desirable building lots in Baxter & McClellan's addition. Easy price and terms.

An elegant residence property in the Natural Gas addition. For full descriptionof this property call at our office.

We have lands in the Western States for sale on the GRAIN PLAN. You give a share of crop each year, until the land is paid for. No cash needed! No mortgage given! No crops, no payment, therefore no foreclosure.

Write or call on us for full particulars of this plan, and instead of renting and giving your crop away, buy land on the

GRAIN PLAN,

and so make a payment on your own farm.

Land is good in quality and as productive as any land in Indiana. Well located, near good markets in good neighborhoods, and near schools.

Office Under.

Farmers Bank,

AUBURN, IND.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

1892			SEPTEMBER.			1892
Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
●	●	●	●	1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30	●
●	●	●	●	●	●	●

PLEASURE AND PROFIT

WILL BE FOUND IN READING OUR NEWS SUMMARY.

Police Raids Cause Bloodshed at Garfield Driving Park, Chicago—Dixon Knocks Skelly Out—The Stars and Stripes Insulted at Montreal—Killed by Lightning.

IT CAUSES MURDER.

Tragic Result of the Garfield Park Trouble at Chicago.

A Chicago special, dated the 8th inst., says: Since the close of Washington park races and since Garfield race club was refused admittance there has been war between the sporting people and the city. Raid after raid has been made and the race program sadly interfered with. Yesterday afternoon another race had been planned. It was the intention to arrest the officials, jockeys and such of spectators as were disorderly, in accordance with the same policy pursued the day before. The raid proceeded without any particular feature of sensational interest until officer Powell, one of the policemen, attempted to arrest J. M. Brown, a Texas horseman having a stable on the ground.

Brown had said that he would kill any policeman who attempted to arrest him. When Powell tried to place Brown under arrest the latter drew a revolver and fired. The officer fell dead in his tracks. Officer McDowell, of Maxwell street station, rushed up at this juncture and started to arrest the murderer, when quick as a flash Brown whirled on the second bluecoat and again fired. His aim was true and the bullet found lodgement in the policeman's abdomen; before he dropped to the ground, however, Officer McDowell whipped out his gun and fired at the now maddened horseman. A second later Brown's corpse was stretched on the ground a few feet from the form of his dead victim. The racing man had expired instantly. Officer McDowell is probably fatally wounded. Brown was one of the best known horse owners at Garfield Park track. He had been racing here for the last ten or twelve years and was well liked. He was about 40 years old. Officers Powell and McDowell were about 30 years old and had good records.

Fearing that the crowd might attempt violence Chief McClaughry immediately ordered all the available force from each police station to the track.

INSULTED BY CANADIANS.

The American Flag Pulled Down and Trailed in the Dust.

Montreal special: A thrilling and exciting scene that was not on the program took place at the performance of the "White Squadron," in this city, the other night. The play is a highly patriotic American drama, by J. W. Parkins, and brought out in this city by the A. V. Pearson's company of New York. The company commenced a week's engagement at the Queen's Theater before a large audience. All went smoothly until the third act which represents a congress of the navies at Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, when the various admirals composing the congress come on the stage escorted by a squad of thirteen men, who carry the flag of their country. The English, French, German and Italian flags were enthusiastically cheered, but when the American admiral, accompanied by his squad, carrying the stars and stripes, appeared, there were loud hisses from the galleries. At the end of the act the players were called before the curtain, and when Mr. Hillyard, representing the American admiral, appeared, there were renewed hisses and somebody in the gallery threw a missle at him. This was followed by a crowd proceeding to the front entrance of the theater, where the different flags were confusedly displayed, and tearing down the stars and stripes, which they dragged down the street.

A Race War.

A race war prevails at Bunki, La., which thus far has resulted in the killing of one white man by shooting, and the hanging of Edward Laurant and Gabreil, negroes, who had made threats against the whites. Five men implicated in the hanging have been arrested.

Sir John Abbott to Resign.

Ottowa (Ont.) special: The Government organs have announced that Sir John Abbott, premier of the domain, will resign shortly owing to ill health. They indicate Sir John Tompson, Minister of Justice, as his successor. Mr. Abbott's condition is said to be serious.

Skelly Wasn't In It.

George Dixon, the wonderful little "colored whirlwind," took another cinch on the feather-weight championship of the world at the Olympic Club, New Orleans, knocking Skelly out after eight rounds of terrific fighting.

Eight Soldiers Killed by Lightning.

Vienna special: During maneouvres at Amzenika, eight soldiers of the Fifty-Sixth regiment were killed by lightning while marching, and several others injured.

Another Trust.

The fire engine manufacturers of the United States have combined and formed a trust to be known as the American Fire Engine Company. The trust represents the out-put of all the companies in the United States and Canada.

Killed by Falling Down a Well.

Annie Iliff, 18 years old, while drawing water from an open well at Abiline, Kan., fell to the bottom, a distance of sixty feet, and was killed.

Millions and a Title.

H. B. McClelland, a poor school teacher of Encinal County, Texas, has received word from some English attorneys that he is the only heir of his uncle, the late Lord William Moore, of England, and is therefore the possessor of that title as well as an estate of $2,000,000.

Struck at a Crossing and Killed.

The Boston and Albany express train struck a vehicle containing Albert Sedgwich and Philip Bonnilie at a private crossing near Dalton Station, Mass. Bonnilie was killed instantly and Sedgwick had both arms and legs cut off and lived but a few hours.

FOUND THE LOST CABIN MINE.

The Famous and Long-Sought Storehouse of Treasure Discovered.

William S. Dany came into Deadwood, S. D., bringing with him several thousand dollars' worth of gold nuggets and a number of specimens of ore fairly bristling with gold. Dany claims to have found the "Lost Cabin" mine, of which so much that is romantic has been written and printed in every modern language. His story is that while hunting in the western part of the Black Hills, he stumbled into what he at it first supposed was a small cave, but which up n subsequent investigation proved to be a room 30 by 20 feet, and of an average height of 7 feet, rudely hewn out of solid rock by human hands. This room he first discovered to contain the skeleton of a human being, which, exciting his curiosity, induced a search that was rewarded by finding gold nuggets of an aggregate value of $25,000. The place was many miles from a settlement and he remained a week searching for the mine from which the nuggets came. He claims to have found it, and states the ore he has was taken from it. The fact that Dany has so much gold with him lends plausibility to the story, which is creating a great deal of excitement and will cause numerous prospecting parties to start out.

CANAL TOLLS IN EFFECT.

No Trouble Reported in Enforcing the President's Proclamation.

The President's proclamation imposing a retaliatory toll of twenty cents a ton on Canadian produce passing through St. Mary's Falls Canal was put into effect smoothly and without friction, and the Treasury officials have received no advices leading them to anticipate trouble. Advance sheets of the report of the Bureau of Statistics on the internal commerce of the United States for the past fiscal year devote considerable attention to the remarkable increase of commerce through St. Mary's Canal, which becomes the subject of the President's proclamation with respect to Canadian tolls. The value of that commerce has increased from $29,000,000 in 1881 to over $128,000,000 in 1891. During the season of 225 days during which the canal remained open in 1891 over 10,000 vessels passed through, of which number 7,300 were steamers. The precise number of Canadian vessels is not clearly shown. The shipments of wheat, including the crop of Manitoba, for 1891 amounted to 38,816,000 bushels, against 16,217,000 bushels in the preceding year.

ALL ON BOARD PERISH.

Loss of the City of Toledo and Seven Souls—Life Savers Blamed.

Captain John McMillan's rashness in sailing the schooner City of Toledo out of Manistee, Mich., at the height of the most furious gale of the year has resulted in the loss of the entire crew and the wrecking of his boat, which lies on the beach some sixteen miles north of Manistee. The dead number seven. Captain McMillan leaves a wife and five children in Manistee. The schooner was owned by the Manistee Lumber Company and was loaded with 35,000 feet of lumber. The boat is very old, having been built in 1865, and once before the hull had been waterlogged. Manistee citizens are indignant at the action of the life-saving crew and the tugs. The charge is made that cowardice prevented them from going to the rescue. This occurrence is but the repetition of their action during the storm which drove the schooner Estelle on the pier. Capt. T. W. Miller, of the schooner Jura, says the Toledo was not out of sight of the life-saving station until dark.

FAST MAIL WRECKED.

Engineer, Fireman, and a Mail Clerk Killed Near Newburgh, N. Y.

The fast mail train on the Hudson River Railroad met with an accident at the New Hamburg draw bridge. The train was going as the rate of a mile a minute and the bridge was just being closed after letting a steamer go through. Several feet had yet to be closed just as the train reached the bridge. The engine jumped the gap, but the rear end of the tender dropped enough to check the momentum of the train. Then the mail car, crashing into the tender, pushed it against the locomotive. The rear end of the locomotive and the mail car were splintered. The engineer, Joseph Owens, of Albany, and the fireman, Edward Best, of Albany, were crushed under the fore end of the cab and instantly killed. J. H. Kane, of Cohoes, N. Y., a clerk in the mail car, was also killed. Much of the mail matter was destroyed.

SHIP AND CREW SINK.

Twenty-six Persons, Including the Owner and His Family, Perish.

The steamer Western Reserve, of Cleveland, with twenty-seven persons on board, broke in two in Tuesday night's gale and sank twenty miles off Sable Point, Lake Superior. Harry Stewart, the wheelman, is the only survivor. The dead include Peter Minch, the owner, his wife, son, and daughter. The steamer was out on a pleasure trip for the owner's family and had no cargo. The Western Reserve was the largest freight carrier on the lakes, 300 feet long, 41 feet beam, and was considered a triumph of modern ship-building. She was built at Cleveland in 1890 and supposed to be able to withstand any storm.

WANTS ANNEXATION.

A Newspaper to Advocate the Union of Canada and the United States.

Ex-Alderman E. A. MacDonald, of Toronto, Ont., who has been before the Canadian public in various ways for some years and particularly lately as the advocate of strong annexation doctrines, is arranging for a series of annexation lectures in New York, Boston, Buffalo, and other American cities. One object of the lectures is to raise money to start an annexation paper in Toronto. It is stated that prominent Canadians in several places are arranging the local details.

CLEANED OUT THE OFFICE.

A Woman Entertains a Broker's Clerk While Her Pals Secure the Cash.

A well-dressed woman drove up to the door of Nichols & Marter, brokers, in Notre Dame street, Montreal, and summoning the clerk to the wagon asked him about exchange and percentages and other business matters, and then drove rapidly away. When the clerk returned to the office he found that thieves had practically cleaned it out, securing between $3,000 and $4,000 in money and bonds. The robbers are believed to be Americans.

Cholera Almost Stops Foreign Travel.

As a result of the dread of cholera, Eastern railroad lines are losing a large amount of revenue which is annually paid them by passengers bound for Europe. This source of revenue has been counted on heretofore with as much certainty as increased travel for any important occasion. In comparison with former years, European travel has practically ceased. The loss also falls heavily on steamship agents.

Sued for Back Taxes.

The town of New Philadelphia, Ohio, the old home of Beriah Wilkins, is greatly interested in a suit for delinquent taxes which has just been brought against the part owner of the Washington Post. The amount claimed is $65,000. Mr. Wilkins declares that he will never pay a cent of it, and that it is a conspiracy to ruin him in his old home. If successful, the county officers instituting the suit will make about $20,000 out of it.

Western Reserve Wreck Victims Found.

The tug Andrew J. Smith arrived at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., from Deer Park, having on board Philip Minch and C. F. Palmer, with the bodies of Mr. Minch, Mrs. Engleby and one fireman. Contrary to the report received from the steamer City of Green Bay, no other bodies have been found. The body of First Mate Egglesby, which the Nimick picked up on the lake, was found lashed to a ladder with a life preserver on. He apparently died from exhaustion and not from drowning.

WHITTIER IS DYING.

His Doctors Say There Is Little, if Any, Hope of Prolonging His Life.

The beloved Quaker poet, John G. Whittier, is dying at Hampton Falls, N. H. His doctors say there is hardly any hope for his recovery, and think he will live but a few hours longer. The slight illness which attacked him early last week has developed serious complications. He sank rapidly Sunday, and at night he was so weak that he cannot use his right arm and cannot swallow or articulate except with great difficulty. He is unable to take any nourishment, and this fact, together with the bowel trouble which does not yield to treatment, has caused the gravest apprehensions as to his ability to rally. Mr. Whittier has spent the last seven weeks in Hampton Falls and has very often remarked on his improved health and how very much enjoyment he had received from all the pleasant surroundings amid which he had found himself. He has been free from all labors and received but few callers, that he might derive all the benefit possible during his stay. His last extensive literary effort was the poem for the Atlantic to Dr. Holmes, and the last verse he wrote was for the Boston Journal, published on the birthday of Dr. Holmes.

CHOLERA HURTS TRADE.

General Feeling of Uneasiness in All Branches of Business.

R. G. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade says:

While industry and business were improving daily, and prospects were brighter than ever, the sudden alarm about cholera came to cause some hesitation. It is even said that buyers from the South who had started for New York turned back because they were afraid of detention by quarantine there. There is reason for the utmost precaution against importation of the disease, which national and city authorities are taking with creditable energy. But there is yet no ground for supposing that the pestilence will obtain a foothold here this season. In all other respects business prospects are better than a year ago, and nearly all accounts showed actual increase in business. Crop prospects are better, money is in greater demand but ample supply everywhere, and industries are producing more than ever before. Fear that exports may be curtailed by pestilence in Europe, with causes previously strong, has depressed the markets.

FUNERAL OF GEORGE W. CURTIS.

The Remains of the Late Editor at Rest in New Dorp Cemetery.

As simply and unostentatiously as he had lived, George William Curtis was laid at rest Friday in the Moravian Cemetery at New Dorp, S. I. At 2:50 o'clock a hearse and three carriages drove through the gates and wound their way up the steep green, overlooking the bay hill. In the Curtis plot half a dozen laborers waited the coming of the hearse. There were no pallbearers. The laborers lifted the coffin to their shoulders and carried it to the open grave. At its head stood Mrs. Curtis, with her children grouped about her. Dr. Chadwick offered a short prayer, a little earth was thrown on the coffin and the ceremonies were over.

SUGAR HIGH AND GOING UP.

The Cholera Proclamation Sends the Price Above Two Years' Record.

The circular issued by President Harrison requiring vessels from infected cholera ports to remain in quarantine at least twenty days had a pronounced effect on the New York sugar market. Nearly all of the raw sugar at this season of the year comes from Hamburg, one of the worst infected cholera ports, and the quarantining of vessels for twenty days will partially prevent the refiners working. There is a heavy demand for all grades of sugar by jobbers, who seem to expect still further advances and are buying ahead. The Spreckels company refused to accept orders except on condition of delay in deliveries.

Lizzie Borden Deemed Guilty.

At Fall River, Mass., the hearing in the case of Lizzie Borden was closed. Judge Blaisdell said that sympathy should be laid aside, and duty required upon evidence but one thing to be done. Supposing that a man was seen in the chamber of Mrs. Borden, the chamber of death, and that he was in the room of the father when death came; suppose that a man should tell as many different stories as Lizzie has done. The way would be plain. "I find that she is probably guilty," he said. Lizzie was ordered remanded to the county jail at Taunton for trial at the November term.

Crushed by a Railroad Train.

The second section of a south-bound train on the Cincinnati Southern, carrying Pittsburg sporting men to New Orleans, ran over a buggy at the Nicholasville (Ky.) crossing, killing one child, fatally injuring another, and breaking both legs of the mother, Mrs. J. T. Farra. The train stopped only long enough to get the wrecked carriage out of the way.

Robbed the Postoffice.

During the temorary absence of Postmaster Tice, the postoffice at Perth Amboy N. J., was entered by thieves who got away with $175 in cash and $1,600 worth of stamps. There is no clue.

Two Thousand Killed.

A dispatch from Vienna says it is reported from Merv that 2,000 Afghans were killed in the last battle with the revolting Hazaras.

MARKET QUOTATIONS.

CHICAGO.
CATTLE—Common to Prime	$5.50	@	5.75
HOGS—Shipping Grades	3.50	@	5.50
SHEEP—Fair to Choice	4.00	@	5.50
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.73½	@	.74
CORN—No. 2	.46½	@	.47½
OATS—No. 2	.33	@	.34
RYE—No. 2	.55	@	.57
BUTTER—Choice Creamery	.23	@	.25
EGGS—Fresh	.17	@	.18
POTATOES—New, per bu	.65	@	.75
INDIANAPOLIS.
CATTLE—Shipping	3.25	@	5.25
HOGS—Choice Light	3.50	@	5.50
SHEEP—Common to Prime	3.00	@	5.00
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.70	@	.70½
CORN—No. 1 White	.50	@	.50½
OATS—No. 2 White, new	.36	@	.37
ST. LOUIS.
CATTLE	3.00	@	5.00
HOGS	3.50	@	5.25
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.68½	@	.69½
CORN—No. 2	.43	@	.44
OATS—No. 2	.29	@	.30
RYE—No. 2	.58	@	.59
CINCINNATI.
CATTLE	3.00	@	4.75
HOGS	3.00	@	5.50
SHEEP	3.00	@	5.00
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.74	@	.75
CORN—No. 2	.50	@	.52
OATS—No. 2 Mixed	.34	@	.35
RYE—No. 2	.62	@	.64
DETROIT.
CATTLE	3.00	@	4.50
HOGS	3.00	@	5.50
SHEEP	3.00	@	4.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.76	@	.77
CORN—No. 2 Yellow	.52	@	.53
OATS—No. 2 White	.35	@	.36
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—No. 2	.75½	@	.76½
CORN—No. 2 White	.48	@	.49
OATS—No. 2 White	.32½	@	.33½
RYE	.59	@	.61
BUFFALO.
CATTLE—Common to Prime	3.00	@	4.50
HOGS—Best Grades	4.00	@	6.00
WHEAT—No. 1 Hard	.85	@	.86
CORN—No. 2	.54	@	.56
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.68½	@	.69½
CORN—No. 3	.46	@	.47
OATS—No. 2 White	.35	@	.36
RYE—No. 1	.58	@	.60
BARLEY—No. 2	.60	@	.61
PORK—Mess	10.00	@	10.50
NEW YORK.
CATTLE	3.50	@	5.00
HOGS	3.00	@	6.50
SHEEP	3.50	@	5.25
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.79	@	.81
CORN—No. 2	.58	@	.59
OATS—Mixed Western	.37	@	.39
BUTTER—Creamery	.17	@	.25
PORK—Old Mess	11.25	@	11.75

ADVANCE OF CHOLERA.

THE SCOURGE SPREADING IN GREAT BRITAIN.

Sailors Spread the Disease in Dundee and Aberdeen—Cases in Swansea and Glasgow—Measures Adopted by American Cities.

England Will Stop Traffic.

London advices say: If all the deaths that are being reported from Asiatic cholera are true there is no doubt of Great Britain's having a visitation of the dreadful scourge. From Gravesend, Swansea, Glasgow and Dundee, towns in England, Scotland and Wales, reports come of deaths from the disease showing that the efforts of the health officials to keep it out of the country have proven fruitless. And now comes the report that a person has died from Asiatic cholera at Bolton, the large manufacturing town which lies twelve miles northwest of Manchester. The place is one of the principal seats of the English cotton manufacture and thousands of mill operatives live there.

The permission given by the health officials at Middlesborough for the landing of the crew of the steamer Gerona from Hamburg promises to have most serious results. The vessel was placed in quarantine after one of the crew had been attacked by cholera, but in the meantime a number of the ship's company had departed for their homes. Six of them went to Dundee, where they reside, while another of the crew went to Aberdeen. Among those who went to Dundee was Mr. Walker, the engineer of the Gerona. Shortly after his arrival there he was taken sick and died in a few hours. The physician who attended him says there is no doubt that his death was due to cholera.

When it became known that Mr. Walker was dead the greatest excitement prevailed in Dundee and also in Aberdeen, where the seventh member of the crew ashore had gone. Steps were at once taken by the health officers to isolate the remaining members of the crew in Dundee and the one in Aberdeen until all danger of their spreading the contagion is past. The residents of both places, however, believe that the men have been allowed to go about the towns long enough to spread the disease, if they carried the infection, and there is widespread anxiety prevailing in every quarter of the towns. An extraordinary watch will be kept in both places for the first appearance of choleraic disorders.

A sailor arrived at Swansea from Cork. He was found to be suffering with cholera, and was immediately removed to the cholera hospital. The appearance of the disease in Swansea awakened the port authorities to the responsibilities of their position, and a meeting was summoned to decide upon measures for the prevention of any further invasion.

The London local government board has issued regulations requiring shipowners, under heavy penalties, to retain aboard ship all foreign immigrants who are unable to inform the port medical officer of their destination and address to enable the local authorities to watch them until all danger of cholera is passed. No immigrant in a dirty condition will be allowed to land until all the sanitary regulations regarding bathing, etc., are complied with. The order will be rigidly executed. It will be the cause of considerable expense and annoyance to ship-owners, and will probably result in the cessation of the immigration of destitute aliens, at whom the order is evidently aimed. It will not interfere with immigrants in transit across England en route for America.

The schooner Helene, said to be destined for America, and which had been detained at Dover, is now being towed to Gravesend with a yellow flag flying from her mast.

The correspondent at Odessa says: "The cholera mortality begins to show marked fluctuations, contrasting with the previous steady increase. The official returns ignore Therson, Nicolaieff, Kishneff and many other places where the outbreak is not wide-spread. Therefore, the mortality is much above the official figures.

Federal Authorities Crippled.

The Federal authorities at Washington are doing all that can be done, so far as they have authority, to prevent the introduction of cholera into this country. The United States Government, however, has not unlimited jurisdiction over the quarantine of seaports, for this is largely a matter depending upon the action of the State and other local authorities. Efforts made from time to time in Congress to extend the Federal jurisdiction in this direction have encountered the opposition of those statesmen who are sticklers for State rights, and measures for the prevention and suppression of epidemic diseases have been defeated by such opposition. There is an appropriation made annually for the use of the marine hospital service for expenditure for sanitary purposes, but if the United States authorities had jurisdiction the ounce of prevention would be more efficacious than a ton of cure.

It avails nothing if the authorities of New York and other large seaports enforce a strict quarantine if the disease is permitted to gain an entrance through the remissness of the local authorities at New Orleans, Galveston or some other port of entry. The only way by which a general and stringent quarantine can be established and successfully maintained, authorities say, is by an act of Congress and through the agency of the federal authority. General attention having been aroused by the prevalence of the cholera in Europe, it is believed that a public sentiment will be created that will induce Congress, at the coming session, to pass a measure that will place the question of establishing quarantine in charge of the federal authorities.

Expected in a Week.

New York special: The sanitary authorities, after a conference with Mayor Grant and Health Officer Jenkins, have decided that it would be foolhardy not to expect the Asiatic scourge to appear here and they have acted as if they counted on its breaking out within the next week. As a result of the quarantine conference all immigrants from infected ports will, after individual examinations and the fumigation and steaming of baggage, be subjected to a rigid quarantine of from two to five days. Of course the steamship companies, which will be taxed for this detention, will not be slow to act, and the result of the order will be a practical cessation of immigration from points that menace the United States with contagion.

Here and There

IT appears that there are now 250 lepers in Louisiana.

ENGLAND buys $10,000,000 worth of toys of Germany annually.

TO FRESHEN salt fish, lay it skin side up, always in an earthen vessel.

IN South America there is a race of cats to which "meowing" is an unlearned accomplishment.

A PHILADELPHIA saloon-keeper has had to suppress his parrot because it asked all the customers if it was hot enough for them.

ONE of the most successful negro farmers of Terrell, Ga., weighs 335 pounds. He wears a No. 14 shoe and is about 65 years old.

THE PEST-LADEN FLEET

DEATH BUSY AMONG THE PASSENGERS.

Six Die on Sunday—All Victims to Be Cremated—Confusion and Panic Succeed Mirth and Gaiety on the Normannia When the News of Quarantine Comes.

Frantic for Liberty.

Six deaths from cholera occurred on the quarantined pest-laden fleet off New York harbor Sunday among the steerage passengers.

Whether there had been any deaths among the cabin passengers has not been reported. Confusion and panic reign supreme on the Normannia. The 1,000 odd passengers were kept in densest ignorance of the true state of affairs during the entire voyage. They were told that the deaths which had occurred were from natural causes. Saturday and early Sunday morning they were laughing and joking at the mischance which detained them in quarantine and sure of being shortly released.

At noon they learned better. Newspapers and letters were brought on board. They discovered that they were prisoners for an indefinite length of time, cheek by jowl with the terrible scourge. The scene that transpired is indescribable. Women were crying and wailing, men were cursing, and all were terror-stricken. One passenger offered the health officers $2,000 in cash to take him ashore. Others frantically laid their entire fortunes at the feet of the visitors, and begged that they be allowed to hide in the boat on the return trip. The health officers were overcome by the pitiable scene, and made haste to depart.

The panic on board the Normannia was somewhat quelled when the steerage passengers and the sick had been removed. The steerage passengers were transferred to Hoffman Island, which had been made ready for them, and the six patients were sent to the hospital pavilions on Swinburne Island. On board the Rugia and Moravia the imprisoned emigrants were given very little knowledge as to what was going on, and they made correspondingly little trouble. But the air of gayety which formerly prevailed on the Moravia, the original pest ship, had departed. Sullenly the emigrants were massed against the sails, watching the pleasant panorama which is always unfolding at this busy gateway of the sea, and wondering how long their banishment would last.

The crematory retort on Swinburne Island has been kept at a white heat night and day since the first pest ship, the Moravia, arrived. At midnight Saturday it received its first dead, the three who died during the day. The bodies of all who die in quarantine will be cremated, unless friends are prompt in making other arrangements. It is possible to embalm the bodies in such a way as to kill all cholera germs, and conveniencies for this process are at hand.

The four black hulls of the cholera fleet swung lazily at anchor with the tide Sunday. Nearest the city was the Rugia. A few hundred yards away lay the Moravia. Alongside it was the Stubbenhuk, and nearest the Jersey shore rode the big express steamer Normannia. When tugs carrying newspaper men approached the latter steamer a curious crowd was seen aft. This was before the passengers had learned of the danger they were in. Lottie Collins, of "Ta-ra-ra, Boom-de-ay" fame, restless and irritated, stood tapping her toe on the polished deck. Beside her was the venerable John R. McPherson, United States Senator from New Jersey; on the other side, A. M. Palmer, the theatrical manager. Clustered around the Senator were a half-dozen soubrettes, gay, careless, flippant, frivolous. Beside them was an Episcopal clergyman—white tie, round collar on, waistcoat buttoned close to the chin, and blue glasses on nose.

One of the reporters hailed Senator McPherson and asked him if he would like to say anything to the country. Bidding the reporter wait a few minutes, he retired to the cabin, reappearing again with the following message:

> We are here in the lower bay quarantined, with 500 cabin passengers and 500 steerage. We have had five deaths on the ship since leaving Hamburg, but none from cholera or anything like it, so the surgeon informs me. We are much in fear, however, that with 1,500 passengers and crew confined in narrow space in a hot climate disease may show itself. It would seem to me that it would be infinitely safer and better if the passengers were allowed to go on shore, not as a remedy for any existing ills, but rather as a preventive. I send this short note to correct an impression that we have had cholera on board the Normannia during the trip.

Then some one suggested sending telegrams ashore. There was a scramble for the cabin. Pens and ink, paper and pencils were hurriedly used. Not only the first cabin, but the second cabin passengers as well, hastened to send remembrances to their loved ones and assurances that everything was well with them. Fluttering in the air like a wounded bird came the first letter from a fair prisoner. It was a large, square envelope and it fell in the water away back near the stern. One, two, three, and ten more followed—a whirlwind of letters and unsealed notes, twisted, to give them weight for propulsion. The small boat that the tug carried astern was manned by two oarsmen and all that had been thrown overboard were soon safe aboard the tug, and the pilot-house of the tug soon had a large collection of pfennigs, marks and silver quarters thrown to pay for the sending of the missives. The mail was all fumigated and sent to its destination.

Timely Advice.

In view of the threatened cholera invasion the New York Board of Health has issued a circular which, among other things, contains the following recommendations: Don't eat raw, uncooked articles of any kind, not even milk. Don't eat or drink to excess. Don't drink unboiled water. Don't eat or drink any articles unless they have been thoroughly and recently cooked and boiled, and the more recent and hotter the better. Don't eat or handle food with unwashed hands, or receive it from the unwashed hands of others. Don't use the hands for any purpose when soiled with cholera discharges; thoroughly cleanse them at once. Don't doctor yourself for bowel complaint, but go to bed and send for the nearest physician at once. Send for your family physician; send to a dispensary or hospital; send to the health department; send to the nearest police station, for medical aid. Don't permit vomit or diarrhœ discharge to come in contact with food, drink or clothing. These discharges should be received in proper vessels and kept covered until removed under competent directions. Pour boiling water on them, put a strong solution of carbolic acid in them (not less than one part of acid to twenty of hot soap suds or water). Don't be frightened, but do be cautious and avoid excess and unnecessary exposures of every kind.

THE Princess of Egypt is the only native woman of Cairo who dares to go about unveiled, to give dinner parties and entertainments admitting male foreigners, and at which she appears arrayed in magnificent decollete dresses of Parisian make. Having an independent fortune of her own, she enjoys herself in her own way.

QUARANTINE CIRCULAR.

Public Health Is Much More Important Than Commerce.

The following circular has been issued by the direction of the President after a conference with Secretary Foster, Attorney General Miller, Postmaster General Wanamaker, Assistant Secretary Spaulding and Dr. Wyman, Surgeon General of the Marine Hospital service:

Quarantine Restrictions upon Immigration to Aid in the Prevention of the Introduction of Cholera into the United States.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE SUPERVISING SURGEON GEN'L,
U. S. MARINE HOSPITAL SERVICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

To Collectors of Customs, Medical Officers of the Marine Hospital Service, Foreign Steamship Companies, State and Local Boards of Health:

It having been officially declared that cholera is prevailing in various portions of Russia, Germany and France, and at certain ports in Great Britain as well as in Asia; and it having been made to appear that immigrants in large numbers are coming into the United States from the infected districts aforesaid, and that they and their personal effects are liable to introduce cholera into the United States, and that vessels conveying them are thereby a direct menace to the public health; and it having been further shown that under the laws of the several States quarantine detention may be impossible upon these vessels a sufficient length of time to insure against the introduction of contagious diseases, it is hereby ordered that no vessel from any quarantine port carrying immigrants shall be admitted to enter at any port of the United States until such vessel shall have undergone quarantine detention of twenty days (unless such detention is forbidden by the laws of the State or the regulations made thereunder), and of such greater number of days as may be fixed in each special case by the State authorities.

This circular to take immediate effect except in cases of vessels afloat at this date, which will be made the subject of special consideration upon application to the department.

WALTER WYMAN,
Supervising Surgeon-General,
United States Marine Hospital Service.
CHARLES FOSTER,
Secretary of the Treasury.

Approved:
BENJAMIN HARRISON.

FOR THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Money to Be Spent by Nations, Colonies and States.

The foreign nations and colonies which have thus far expressed their intention to participate in the Columbian Exposition are given below, with the amount of their respective appropriations, either made or officially proposed, as far as information concerning them has been received at headquarters:

Argentine Republic, $100,000; Austria, $102,000; Belgium, $57,900; Bolivia; $30,700; Brazil, $600,000; China, $500,000; Colombia, $150,000; Costa Rica, $150,000; Denmark, $67,000; Danish West Indies, $1,200; Ecuador; $125,000; France, $733,400; Germany, $690,200; Great Britain, $291,990; Barbadoes, $5,840; Bermuda, $2,920; British Guiana, $25,000; British Honduras, $7,500; Canada, $100,000; Cape Colony, $50,000; Ceylon, $63,000; Jamaica, $24,333; Leeward Islands, $6,000; New South Wales, $243,325; Tasmania, $10,000; Trinidad, $15,000; Victoria, $97,330; Greece, $57,900; Guatemala, $200,000; Hayti, $25,000; Honduras, $20,000; Japan, $630,765; Mexico, $50,000; Morocco, $150,000; Dutch Guiana, $10,000; West Indies, $5,000; Nicaragua, $30,000; Norway, $57,200; Orange Free State, $7,500; Paraguay, $100,000; Peru, $140,000; Russia, $46,320; Salvador, $12,500; San Domingo, $25,000; Spain, $14,000; Cuba, $25,000; Switzerland, $23,160; Sweden, $53,600; Uruguay, $24,000. Total, $5,936,063.

The United States Federal Government has appropriated from its treasury for the building of the government structure $1,500,000, and lately $2,500,000 for the general expenses.

The States and Territories of the United States in the Columbian Exposition and their respective appropriations are as follows:

Arizona, $30,000; California, $300,000; Colorado, $100,000; Delaware, $10,000; Idaho, $20,000; Illinois, $800,000; Indiana, $75,000; Iowa, $130,000; Kentucky, $100,000; Louisiana, $35,000; Maine, $40,000; Maryland, $60,000; Massachusetts, $150,000; Michigan, $100,000; Minnesota, $50,000; Missouri, $150,000; Montana, $50,000; Nebraska, $30,000; New Hampshire, $25,000; New Jersey, $70,000; New Mexico, $25,000; New York, $300,000; North Carolina, $25,000; North Dakota, $25,000; Ohio, $125,000; Pennsylvania, $300,000; Rhode Island, $50,000; Vermont, $15,000; Washington, $100,000; West Virginia, $40,000; Wisconsin, $56,000; Wyoming, $30,000. Total, $3,441,000.

TRAIN ROBBERS DISAPPOINTED.

Daring Deed Planned but Not Executed by Missouri Desperadoes.

An attempt, which by the merest chance proved unsuccessful, was made at Kansas City, Mo., to hold up the Missouri Pacific east-bound passenger train. The train was late in leaving the Union depot, and a freight was sent out ahead of it on the passenger train's time. When they reached Dead Man's curve, near Lee's Summit, it was flagged and several masked men approached the engine. When they saw the train was a freight they turned and took to the woods. Officers are scouring the locality for the would-be bandits.

No Speeches by Blaine.

Senator Hale has stated to a newspaper man that Mr. Blaine will make no speeches during the campaign, but is now engaged in writing a letter that was likely to appear at any day, which letter he devoted to some of the issues that are being discussed and in which he takes a deep interest.

Exposition Points.

THE World's Fair buildings will be dedicated on the 21st of October instead of the 12th.

WILLIAM M. SINGERLY, of Philadelphia, will bring his big steer, the largest in the world, to the Columbian Exposition.

INFORMATION has been received that arrangements are being made in Paris to have the celebrated band of the Republican Guard and the Comedie Francaise actors attend the Fair.

THE old whaling bark "Progress," with its extensive museum of marine curios and relics of whaling voyages, is now in the harbor at Chicago, and is being visited by hundreds of people.

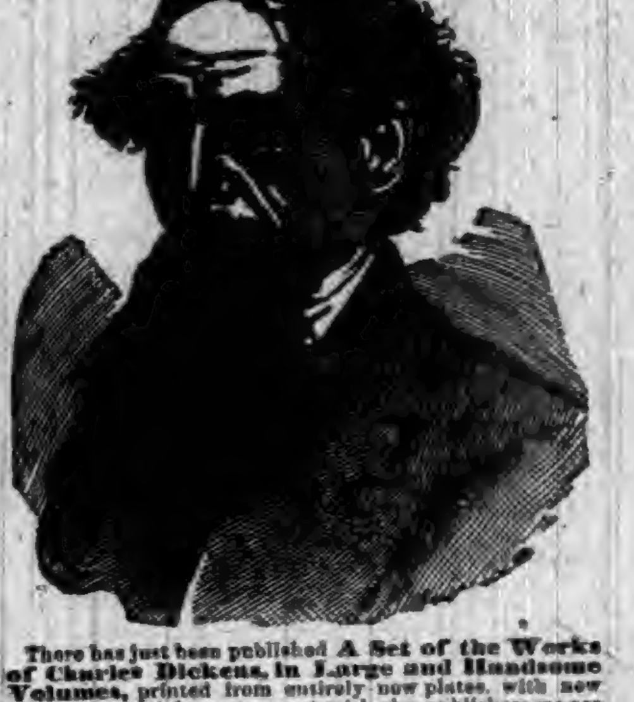
IT is announced that the Postmaster General of the United States has decided to issue a new series of postage stamps, with designs appropriate to the commemoration of the discovery of America.

THE Chicago Schuetzen-Verein has issued an invitation to the sharpshooters of the world to participate in a great international sharpshooters' contest in Chicago in connection with the Exposition next year.

AN interesting exhibit is to come from the Black Hills, S. D., which will display in novel form the minerals found in the Hills. The exhibit when arranged will be in the form of a two story and a half cottage.

A HUGE octopus or devilfish has been captured outside of the Golden Gate, California, by some fishermen. It measured fourteen feet from the end of the body to the end of the longest tentacle, and has eight arms, and, as is usual with the fish, there are over 800 suckers on the arms. The body is nothing but a huge sack, and is soft and flabby; it is about two feet long. There are two eyes about an inch in diameter, and a faint resemblance to a beak and mouth. This specimen is one of the best in the country, and will be preserved and sent to Chicago for exhibition at the Exposition.

A COMPLETE SET OF THE WORKS OF
CHARLES DICKENS
FREE!
The Most Valuable and Remarkable Premium Ever Offered Free with any Periodical.
A MARVEL IN BOOK-MAKING.
A Set of the Works of Charles Dickens, IN 12 LARGE VOLUMES, FREE.



There has just been published A Set of the Works of Charles Dickens, in Large and Handsome Volumes, printed from entirely new plates, with new type. By special arrangement with the publishers we are enabled to offer to our patrons this splendid set of Dickens' Works, postpaid, free. Charles Dickens was the greatest novelist who ever lived. No author before or since his time has won the fame that he achieved, and his works are even more popular to-day than during his lifetime. They abound in wit, humor, pathos, masterly delineation of character, vivid descriptions of places and incidents, thrilling and skillfully wrought plots. Each book is intensely interesting. No home should be without a set of these great and remarkable works. Not to have read them is to be far behind the age in which we live. The twelve volumes in this set contain the following world-famous works, each one of which is published complete, unchanged and absolutely unabridged:

DAVID COPPERFIELD,
MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT,
NICHOLAS NICKLEBY,
DOMBEY AND SON,
BLEAK HOUSE,
LITTLE DORRIT,
OUR MUTUAL FRIEND,
PICKWICK PAPERS,
BARNABY RUDGE AND CHRISTMAS STORIES,
OLIVER TWIST AND GREAT EXPECTATIONS,
THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP AND THE UNCOMMERCIAL TRAVELER,
A TALE OF TWO CITIES, HARD TIMES, AND THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD.

THE PLAN.

We will send a complete set of these books FREE by mail, postage paid, guaranteeing safe delivery, as follows: To any old subscriber, who sends one dollar, and renews their subscription to either of the following publications for one year:

THE PEOPLE'S LITERARY COMPANION,
—OR—
The National Farmer and Home Magazine

To any new subscriber, who sends one dollar for either of the above periodicals for one year.

This is the grandest offer ever made, and the greatest bargain ever offered. Up to this time the price of a complete set of Dickens' Works has been ten dollars or more. The use of modern, improved printing, folding and stitching machinery, the present extremely low price of white paper, and the great competition in the book trade are the factors which made this wonderful offer possible. Bear in mind that we offer, not a single volume, but the entire set of twelve volumes all free to subscribers. All may now afford the luxury of owning a handsome set of Dickens' works. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Do not neglect or put off this wonderful opportunity. Send at once; you will be delighted with the charming books, and, as long as you live, never cease to regard it as the best investment of a dollar you ever made. Address all communications to

E. C. ALLEN & CO., Augusta, Maine.

IF YOU CAN READ

and write, and are possessed of fair intelligence, you are fully qualified to make a grand success of what we offer you. We have lately published at great expense and labor a perfect wonder in the way of an illustrated Gift Book, suitable to all classes, an ornament to any home, and at a price that brings it within the reach of all, even those of moderate means. Heretofore only those who indulged in luxuries have felt that they could afford a book of this class, as they are sold in book stores at $5.00 and upwards. The book which we offer is not in any way inferior to those above referred to, but is far superior to hundreds of books of this nature that are sold at prices exceeding ours by an enormous per cent. It is selling with a rush wherever shown. Agents have only to show the book and mention the price, and it sells on its merits without further talking. No better Christmas, New Year's or Birthday present can be selected. It will sell, not only for holiday trade, but at all seasons of the year, for the reason that all will want it in their homes, and will have it as soon as they know the low price at which our agents can furnish them. Reader, if you need profitable employment, and a business in which you can and will take pride, as well as make money rapidly, do not fail to send for circulars containing private terms to agents, and full information which will be sent FREE upon application. Old and new agents alike are making handsome salaries—yes, fortunes. Many of those who are making the best records are new at the agency business, having had no previous experience. Make a start—the field is entirely new. No such terms have been offered agents as we now offer on this wonderful book. Special qualifications not necessary, for it sells everywhere at sight. Perhaps you have at some time been unsuccessful at the agency business. If so, there is every reason why you should try this, the PRINCE of gift books, as failure is impossible if you make A START. Write us to-day, study our circulars and directions, then order an outfit and go to work with push and energy. You may make the greatest mistake of your life, if you allow this GOLDEN opportunity to pass unimproved.

E. C. Allen & Co., Box 202, Augusta, Maine.

SHALL WE START YOU

in a pleasant and successful business, that will bring you money rapidly and honorably? A grand opportunity for one person in each locality, young or old, of either sex, wherever you live. Reader, it is a royal chance for you, and such a one as may never again come to your attention in a lifetime. Beginners easily secure an income of $30 to $50 per week from the very start, and much more as the business becomes established. YOU can earn as much as any one. There is not the slightest risk on your part. No capital required. We start you FREE, and furnish everything needed to carry on the business successfully. Hundreds just starting report wonderful success and great profits. Will you write us, and take advantage of this grand offer, or will you delay and allow others to profit by it. We leave it for you to decide, but we tell you frankly that you will lose the golden opportunity of your life if you fail to test the business now. Act quickly and your reward is sure. Address E. C. ALLEN & CO., Box 204, AUGUSTA, MAINE.

The Old Reliable
DR WARD
OFFICE, ST. LOUIS, MO. Special attention given to all diseases or troubles in male or female, married or single, brought about by exposure, abuses, excesses or improprieties.
THE OLD DOCTOR, Of 30 years' successful experience, may be consulted by mail, or at the office, free of charge.
Reliable, Skillful Treatment Guaranteed.
Board and apartments furnished to those who desire personal care. Send P. O. stamp for circulars, etc.
FREE TRIAL {In Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality, Weakness and Decay, sent free for 12 cts. postage. Address letters,
Dr. Ward Office, 117 N. 8th Street, St. Louis, Mo.

ANY LADY can get a valuable secret that cost me $5.00, and a rubber shield for 30 cents.
Mrs. V. M. APP. CO.
115 N. 8th STREET, ST. LOUIS, MO.

NEVER MELTS. FREEZES. GUMS.
CONTAINS NO PETROLEUM OR ACIDS TO DESTROY AXLES.

AXLE GREASE WISE CHICAGO, ILL. WISE AXLE GREASE NEVER GUMS

Tested by the public for 20 years.

"WISE" AXLE GREASE.

A PURE VEGETABLE GREASE. EVERY BOX GUARANTEED.

Try "Wise" on one side of your wagon and castor oil or any other kind of grease on the other side, and you will find the "Wise" will wear the longest.

It keeps machinery from rusting and cures scratches on horses.

Try a box and you will use no other.

Ask Your Dealer For It, Or—

CLARK & WISE CO., CHICAGO.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE

Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., New York.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

HARTLEY'S
PERUVIAN BARK —BITTERS

FOR MALARIA, AGUE, AND GENERAL DEBILITY

◆ ◆ ◆

It will be found of great benefit both as a preventive and cure of sickness.

Excites the appetite, invigorates the digestion, imparts an agreeable warming and cordial operation upon the stomach, exhilerates the spirits, relieves pain, and is highly efficacious in all cases of debility.

PRICE $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

◆ ◆ ◆

Prepared only by
W. D. SOUDERS & CO.
MANUFACTURING CHEMISTS,
MUNCIE, INDIANA.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.
Beauty, Health and Grace Combined—
What More can Woman Desire.
Volta-Medico Spinal Appliance,
COMBINED WITH AN
ABDOMINAL AND HOSE SUPPORTER.

They are electrical as well as medicated and are recommended for all Female Weaknesses, General and Nervous Debility, Liver and Kidney Troubles, Headaches, Malaria, Rheumatism, Spinal Diseases, Heart Diseases, Cold Extremities, all Bilious Disorders, Impoverished Blood, Impaired Circulation—in fact all Diseases of the Blood, Stomach or Liver, or where there is a lack of vigor and failing health.

They are not only comforting and strengthening to the wearer, but bring about beauty of form. Shapeless figures made symmetrical in form in from three to six months. Appliances guaranteed. Send stamp for circulars and full information. Address,

VOLTA-MEDICO APPLIANCE CO.,
115 N. 8th St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

FREE-TO MEN.

When you get tired of the "doctors" with their big prices and quack remedies, write to me and I will send (sealed) FREE a prescription that will quickly and certainly cure lost power, wasting weakness, lack of development, impotency, varicocele, etc., from excesses or other causes. A New Positive Remedy which cures when everything else fails. Address J. D. HOUSE, Box 625, ALBION, MICH.

ROYAL SEWING MACHINE

WARRANTED 5 YEARS

Has a Large High Arm.
Has a Self-setting Needle.
Has a Self-threading Shuttle.
Has No Equal in Construction.
Has a Mechanical Appearance.
Has an Elegant Finish.
Has a Perfect Adjustment.
Has a Positive Take-up.
Has Stylish Furniture.
Has More Good Sewing Qualities and does a Larger Range of General Work than any Sewing Machine in the World.

Examine THE ROYAL for points of excellence, and you will buy no other.

ROYAL S. M. CO., Rockford, Ill.

HER SISTER'S HONOR.

A Tale of English Life.

By Walter Besant.

CHAPTER VI.

OUT AGAIN.

"Hush?" Naomi held up her finger. "I think she is in a sleep."

"At last you have her again," said the librarian.

"Yes—at last. They let her go because she was ill, and the time was so close at hand when she would have her ticket-of-leave. I brought her home yesterday. She was a good deal excited, poor child, but at night she grew composed and told me more than I knew. He was her husband—her husband—think of that! The man went into the witness box and sent his own wife to penal servitude. She did not stab him in her misery because he had deserted her—she wanted to kill herself. I will tell you all presently. He knew that, too. Oh, villain!—villain!"

"Villain! villain!" echoed the librarian.

"You shall see her directly. But she frightened me this morning. She does not know me. She thinks she has got her baby in her lap—it was born in the prison, and died in the prison. But she is a married woman, remember. She thinks her husband—oh, her husband—is with her. Tell me what I should do. Come in. Her eyes are closed. I think she is sleeping."

It was a Sunday morning in midwinter. Outside, the church bells rang, but it was not a quarter where the call to prayer is heeded, and the feet of the people were not set churchwards. Within, a bright fire, a clean room, and in an easy chair the prisoner set free. She had put off her prison dress; they had suffered her hair to grow, her beautiful light hair curling about her forehead; her face, refined by long suffering, seemed in its delicacy and pale beauty to be the face of some Christian saint who spent her days in holy meditation; her eyes were closed, but at the sound of the voices and the shutting of the door she awoke and looked around.

"Naomi, dear," she said, smiling. Thank God! She was once more in her right mind again.

"I have been asleep, I think. I forgot that I was released, and I thought I was in my cell again."

"Dear," said Naomi. "Forget the cell. Oh! Try to forget it. See, I have brought you my friend—my best friend. Oh! my dear, he knows all; he will advise us and help us. He has been very good and kind to me, dear—while we were parted. Because it was lonely without you—and when one thought—no, no, it is all over. Oh! my dear—my dear—it is all over and we are together, and I can bear anything now—anything."

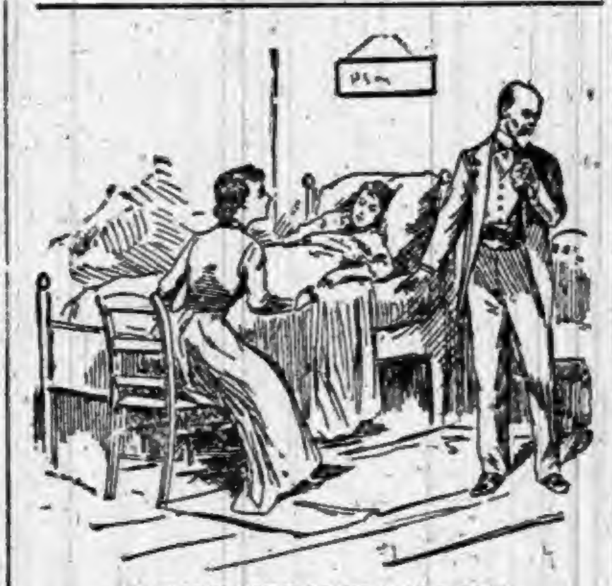
The librarian tried to speak. But he turned away his face, and the tears rolled down his cheeks even to his great gray beard. 'Twas a soft-hearted librarian.

"You have got to grow quite strong and well again, my dear," he said, taking her hand and holding it while he sat down beside her. "Quite strong and well before you think about anything. Poor child!"

"I shall never get strong or well again," she replied. "I heard the doctor in the infirmary say so. That matters nothing, except that I shall be such a trouble to everybody. Oh! Naomi, dear, what a trouble I have been to you! What a dreadful trouble. I have spoiled your whole life, my dear."

"Not you—not you, Ruth," Naomi answered, hoarsely. "But that villain—oh! that villain!"

"Don't, dear. It hurts me that anybody should call him names. At first I was hard upon him for the sake of my baby. It is very terrible for a child to be born in prison, isn't it—and for its mother to be a convict. No child can ever get over that disgrace. But God took the child, and then I was happier. There was only myself to think about, and I began to feel that it was worse for him than for me. Nothing can undo the past. I came to forgive him, dear, and would forget him if I could. But you can't forget your husband. Women are made so——"



"I THINK SHE IS IN A SLEEP."

"They are," said the librarian. "God knows they are."

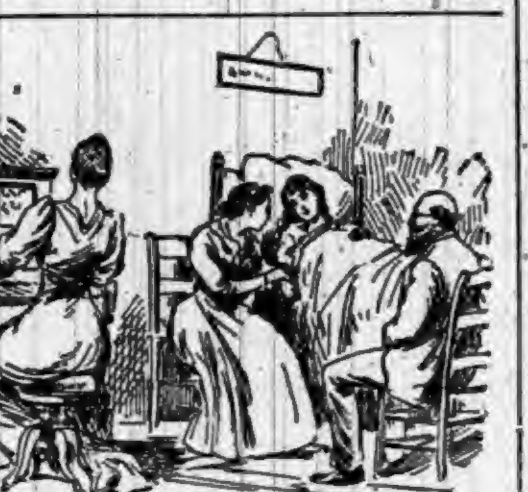
"Naomi, dear, you thought I was overwhelmed with the disgrace and shame of it. No, dear. I never could feel any disgrace—not even in the court. The convict dress was nothing to me, nor the prison rules. I obeyed the rules, and I did not mind them. You see, dear, I was innocent. But I had a sentence at first far more terrible to bear. It was the sentence of my child's disgrace. It was only when I thought of you, dear, that I felt the disgrace to me—and this only—for your sake. For my own I felt nothing. When I told the doctor—it was only the other day—he cried about it. He is a kind man though he is a prison doctor."

"Will you have some breakfast now, dear? You would not eat any an hour ago."

"I thought we had breakfast at 7. Half a pint of cocoa and—and——" She looked about her with troubled eyes; her brain was wandering again. "I must clean the cell and roll up the blankets before work begins. The matron lets me do her room; they are all kind to me. Of course they know I never did it." She shut her eyes as if trying to collect herself. "Give me my baby." She started up and opened her eyes and held out her arms. "Give me my baby. Oh! my precious baby. Hush! He is asleep." She thought the child was in her lap. "He is asleep. Sir, Naomi. You didn't know I had such a lovely baby, did you? He has got his father's eyes exactly, hasn't he? Come and look at your son, Harry. Kiss him, dear. He shall grow up as handsome and as good as his father."

"Oh! my friend," said Naomi. "What shall I do? What shall I do? It tears my heart to hear her and to look at her."

Well, there was very little to be done. The librarian, who now showed himself a person of infinite resource, went away that very morning and brought back with him a medical man of wonderful skill—quite a magical medical man—to see the girl, and told him pieces of the story. The medical man said that, considering everything, it was fortunate she had not died in prison, and that she would certainly die before many weeks; that to such an organization as this woman seemed to have, love and happiness were the food of life; then he added, "What a murderer!" He recommended something or other and went away. But he did more. For this medical magical person had a daughter, one of those who spend their lives in good works. And she, moved deeply by the sadness of the thing, came to nurse the girl, and instead of reading to the patients in the hospitals, sat all day long with Ruth while her sister was at work, and talked to her and prayed over her continually with the sunshine of sympathy and friendship. She also sent in a piano and played to the sick girl. In the evening Naomi came home, and when the librarian could get away, he, too, came and read or talked of grave things, thoughts concerning men and women and the conduct of life and the teaching which is read aloud in the churches without ceasing, and remains as much neglected as ever. So they talked her poor wearied brain into rest. But ever and anon the dying girl's eyes would wander troubled round the room, and she would go back to her prison cell, and she would call again for her baby and dandle the pretty child before his father—the father so handsome and so good.



SHE ALSO SENT IN A PIANO AND PLAYED.

One evening, when she felt a little stronger than usual, she told her sister about her marriage.

"Harry wouldn't marry me openly and take me to his own people," she said, "because he was dependent on his father. But he wouldn't give me up, and one day he told me that he had everything ready and would marry me secretly in a registrar's office. But I was to tell nobody—not even you, dear; and I promised. He took me in a cab, I don't know where. One of his friends, Mr. Middlemist, who was a clerk in his father's office, came with us. We got out of the cab at the office, and went within. So that his father should not find out, he signed a false name. He took his mother's name, and signed himself 'Henry Hendricksen.'"

"And you remember the place, dear?"

"No, I do not know where it was, because I never thought of looking. Afterwards he told me that it was a sham registry, but I know now that it was not, because people who have sham offices do not put up brass plates and print the name of the office in the pillars of the door. Besides, we had to wait while another couple were married. I am his wife, dear, as much as the law can make me."

When Naomi told this to the librarian, he said that now they knew the particulars nothing would be easier than to find out where the marriage took place, because a register is kept, and can be consulted. And he took certain steps unknown to the two sisters.

After this they talked no more about the past. As the bodily frame grew weaker her mind became more restful. During the day she seemed to forget the past. She listened, her hollow eyes looking far away, while her nurse—the physician's daugeter—played to her; on the wings of the music she was borne away to the land of holy thought. When she talked it was of the future—now so near—when her child should be restored to her. The past, as she truly told her sister, had left upon her soul no touch of shame—not the least touch. That it had killed her was nothing, because life had nothing left for her. Only in the night she would awake and stretch out her hands, feeling for the walls of her cell, and moan and weep in thinking of the child, born in the prison and dead in the prison. Then Naomi would weep with her and soothe her, until the dying girl, in her turn, soothed and consoled the girl who had to live.

One evening, towards the end of April, when there was a soft breath of early spring, Ruth began to talk of the old days, when the swifts flew about the tower of the cathedral, and the leaves began to come out upon the trees; and she spoke of the sweet service on the Sunday morning, and of the quiet shop, with its shelves of books, round which the canons of the cathedral would slowly walk, reading the titles; and of the dean, who always came to shake hands with her father, and patted her cheek—all the old life—so long ago, so long ago. She talked about this all the evening; it seemed as if she could think of nothing else. When she laid her head upon the pillow she murmured, "Naomi, dear, there is nothing worth remembering but the old days—and you, dear, and you—unless it is my baby. Oh! he is waiting for me. I can see his pretty face; he holds out his pretty hands." Then, with no more words, her eyes closed and she fell asleep. Naomi watched her; she was breathing freely and lightly; she went to bed herself. An hour afterwards she awoke in alarm, and listened. Ruth was breathing lightly and regularly. Naomi fell asleep again. When she awoke again it was morning, and Ruth lay dead.

CHAPTER VII.

LORD PERIVALE.

Mr. Harry Stoke had finished breakfast, and was waiting his wife in order to go to church with her as a respectable and God-fearing gentleman should on Sunday morning. His wife—for he had married with his father's sanction and approval—was none other than Lady Beatrice, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Thordisa. He was himself the Honorable Harry, eldest son of Lord Perivale, the newest creation. No one could grudge elevation of a man who had achieved, single-handed, what all the men in the City are perpetually trying to do with the aid of partners, ancestral connections, inherited capital, and the brains of paid servants; he had amassed an enormous fortune; all governments love to honor the City and the successful children of the City; therefore there was but one murmur of approval when Mr. John Stoke, of Threadneedle street, was elevated to a peerage. And the fact that he had so much money was a sufficient reason for making his children and his children's children, so long as the stock should last, a caste apart, and hereditary legislators.

The honorable gentleman looked perfectly healthy, happy, and contented with himself. Why not? His partnership enabled him to occupy a good house in a good square; his marriage opened a great many good houses to him; he had a brace of fine, strong children, one of whom, the heir to the peerage, a little boy of 2, had been brought down to play with him, and was now rolling on the hearth rug. The choicest gifts in store had been poured into his lap, which was like a sack for capacity, and was ready to receive more choice gifts—the more and the choicer the better. Heaven certainly seems very good indeed to the ircher creatures.

A footman brought him a card.

"Who is it?" he asked; "I don't know the name. What does he mean by coming on Sunday morning?"

"Gentleman says he has to speak to you on most important private business."

"Oh!" He thought it must be some message from the city, or from his father. "Show him into the study. No, let him come here."

The visitor was an elderly gentleman, dressed plainly, who entered, bowed, and waited to be asked his business.

"Well, sir," asked the Honorable Henry Stoke, "what do you want with me? You said you had important private business with me?"

"Yes. I have brought you some news."

"What news?"

"You gave evidence in a trial about three years and a half ago."

"What about that trial?" The Honorble Harry turned very red and then pale. "Who are you?"

"I am librarian of a free public library. It really does not matter who I am. You gave evidence in a case of alleged stabbing and wounding. Your evidence sent your own wife to penal servitude for seven years."

"My wife? It's a lie—a lie, I say." He said more, but the terror in his eyes greatly detracted from the strength of his words.

"It is true," said the librarian, calmly. "Your own wife."

"Prove it, if you can."

"I can. It can be proved very easily. You took lodgings in a certain parish under the name of Hendricksen. Under that name you were married at the registrar's of that district to Ruth Heron. You continued in your lodgings, and your wife, who lived with her sister, visited you there. One of your friends, a man named Middlemist, then a clerk in your father's office, was in your confidence, and was present at your marriage."

"Middlemist is dead."

"Not at all. He lost his place in your office and had to go abroad. He has now come back again and has made an affidavit of the facts. We have also obtained an affidavit from the landlady of the lodgings. There is no doubt possible."

"What are you going—going to do?" The man caught the back of the chair and showed a ghastly face. "Man, it is ruin—absolute ruin—to me. You don't know what mischief you may be doing. I will pay anything—anything."

"At the trial your wife would say nothing; a word from her would have ruined you. A word from you would have saved her. What forgiveness—what consideration can you hope?"

"I will buy silence at any price. Look here, there are only you and I present; it doesn't matter what I say. It's all true; I did marry her. I told her it was a false marriage because I was driven nearly mad. I suffered terribly at the time, she ought to think of that; I suffered terribly. I thought it was all over."

"In her lifetime nothing was said. But your wife is dead."

"Dead? Is Ruth dead?" His face brightened again. "Dead! Then it is all right! It doesn't matter to anybody."

"It matters to her memory and to her friends. She is dead, and now the story shall be told. Yes, Mr. Stoke, you will face the whole truth."

Just then the door was thrown open, and Lord Perivale himself walked in; he bore in his hand a little bundle of papers, which he threw upon the table.

"What is the meaning of this announcement, sir?" he asked his son; "and this, and this. In the St. James' Gazette—in the Pall Mall—and in the Observer this morning. What does it mean, I say? 'On Friday, April 29, Ruth, wife of the Honorable Henry Hendricksen Stoke, of Chester Square and Threadneedle Street, daughter of the late Nathaniel Heron, J. P., of Barchester, aged 25.' What is this, I ask?"

His son looked at the announcement, but made no reply.

"What is it?" roared his lordship.

"It means," said the librarian, "what it says. Your son's wife is dead."

"Who put in this announcement?"

"I did."

"Then, sir, you shall smart for it if there is law in the land."

"It is true," the librarian said, quietly. "Your son's wife is dead."

"Who is dead?"

It was Lady Beatrice who stood at the door, dressed ready for church, and asked this question.

"Who is dead?" she repeated.

"This man's wife is dead," said the librarian, pointing to her own husband.

"His wife? What do you mean?"

"His wife died on Friday. She will be buried the day after to-morrow."

"Harry! what is the meaning of this?" She caught her husband by the arm. "Speak! what does this mean?"

"It means—it means——" but he could not finish the sentence.

"It means that his lawful wife is dead," the librarian continued. "This man was married five years ago, at a registrar's office, to Ruth Heron, under the name of Henry Hendricksen, which was his mother's name. She died yesterday at her sister's lodgings."

"Harry! speak."

"It's a lie," he repeated, but feebly.

"By——," said Lord Perivale, "I believe it is true."

"It is true," said the librarian. "His wife's sister sends me to inform him of this news. All the papers and proofs are in a lawyer's hands. There is no doubt possible."

"Then what am I?" asked Lady Beatrice, looking around helplessly.

The librarian was silent.

"And what are my children?"

"Madam," said Lord Perivale, "if this story is true, you are almost as ill-used a woman as the other, Ruth Heron! You, sir, it was your own wife—your own wife—your own wife—that you sent to a convict prison!"

* * * * * *

The reason why Lady Beatrice separated from her husband is not known. Nor is it generally known why the Honorable Harry Stoke left his father's firm and went abroad. His brother knows, however, that he is forbidden on any pretext whatever ever to return to his native country. And what will be done when he dies, and the question of the succession to the title will arise, is doubtful. The second son, the Honorable Joe, is determined that it shall proceed in the legitimate line—that is to say, to himself. And as for Naomi, she is married to the librarian. At sixty, you see, one begins to feel the want of a wife.

[THE END.]

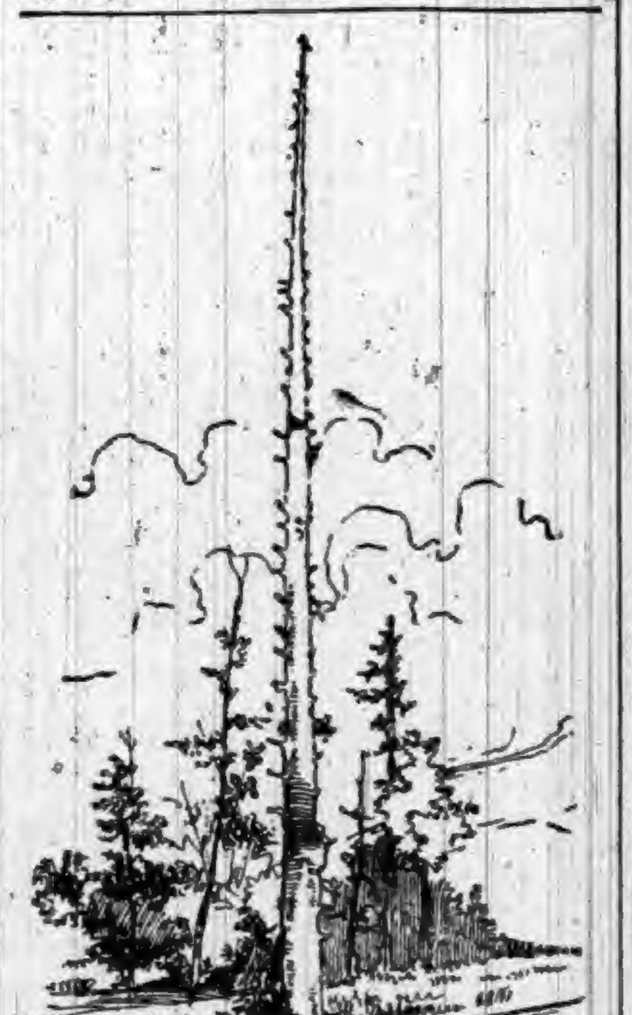
Copyright, by the Authors' Alliance. All rights reserved.

WRITERS who speak of Stockholm as the wickedest of cities never visited Deadwood in its prime and probably never heard of East St. Louis.

WONDERFUL FEAT.

Jacob Myers Stands Upon One Foot on a Tree 178 Feet High.

Jacob Myers, of near Fortuna, Cal., was photographed recently while he stood upon one foot on the top of a limbless tree, 178 feet high and 14 inches in diameter at the top. Mr. Myers, it is claimed, performed the wonderful feat of dancing a jig on the top of the tree. "Few people," says Mr. Myers, "like to go up so high, but I have never yet seen a place too high for me. It is no trick at all for me in these great red woods to climb a tree, cut off the top, and stand on it. I have stood on the extreme top of an electric tower in Tipton, Iowa. The tower was 159 feet high, and I stood on a one-inch rod with one foot. Of this you can get proof from Tipton. I was a stranger there, but you can find that I did so by asking the people of Tipton."



TREE TRIMMED BY JAKE MYERS, FORTUNA, CAL.

Maria's Breach of Etiquette.

"Lightning plays some queer pranks," said William Cathcart, to the writer. "I was traveling through Coles County, Ill., some years ago, and sought refuge from a thunder storm in a farm house. The farmer undertook to build a fire in the kitchen stove to dry my damp garments. He was down on his knees blowing the coals vigorously, when there was a terrific clap of thunder, and a bolt of blue fire shot out of the stove into his face. He fell back as limp as a wet newspaper. The lightning tore all his clothing off with the exception of one boot and trousers leg. There was a streak down through his beard, across his breast and down his leg as though made by a red-hot poker. I supposed he was as dead as a door nail. His wife picked up a large crock of milk that stood on the table and dashed it over him, and in less than three minutes he sat up, surveyed himself and mournfully remarked: "Maria, you oughten to treat me that erway afore strangers."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Enormous Wealth of the Country.

When Mr. Porter of the eleventh census gets around to it he may be able to show that the capital invested in commercial enterprises in this country is not far from $60,000,000,000. In 1880 it was something over $40,000,000,000. It has been estimated that Mr. Porter's figures would show the present amount to be $50,000,000,000, but some estimates indicate that it will be $10,000,000,000 above these figures. England can show nothing like it. This is an enormous increase in ten years and shows the earning power of the money which is invested in business enterprises in the United States.—Cleveland Plaindealer.

No More Blanket, No More Hallelujah.

Mashoupa, in Kaffirland, was once the residence of a missionary, but the church is now abandoned and falling into ruins, because when asked to repair the edifice at their own expense the men of Mashoupa waxed wroth and replied irreverently that God might repair his own house; and one old man who received a blanket for his reward for attending divine service is reported to have remarked, when the dole was stopped: "No more blanket, no more hallelujah." I fear me the men of Mashoupa are wedded to heathendom.—Fortnightly Review.

Slot Telephone Machine.

Two California inventors have devised a toll-collecting apparatus for telephones. It consists of the usual coin-in-the-slot device, with the addition of a clockwork apparatus that automatically cuts out the telephone when the time for talk has expired.

THE popular demonstrations of esteem and affection which greet Prince Bismarck wherever he goes must be peculiarly acceptable to the retired statesman. Even when official etiquette forbids any court attention to the retired statesman, the students and the plain people come forward to attest their admiration. The most soothing effect of all this lies in the fact that he was thrust forth from a share in the unified Germany which his statesmanship had created, at a time of life when the expression of gratitude is most acceptable to all men. His dignity and his pride were more severely shocked than was his ambition. His genius guided Germany through all the dangers of war and statecraft to her present greatness. The father and the grandfather of the stripling who removed Bismarck had recognized him as their master in the art of politics. That the imperial rebuke should come from the youthful prince must lessen the blow, for the contrast between the two men is one of Bismarck's chiefest vindications should he need one. The loss of power was not so hard to bear as the thought that the Emperor was about to imperil the safety of Germany. Be the result what it may, the proofs of contemporary regard and admiration give the Crown Prince a foretaste of the judgment which history will bestow, and in that should be a balm for the wounds of the proudest spirit.

GANTER'S MAGIC —CHICKEN— CHOLERA CURE!

Thousands of dollars worth of chickens are destroyed by Cholera every year. It is more fatal to them than all other diseases combined. But the discovery of a liquid remedy that positively destroys the Microbes has been made. Half of the young chickens are killed by Microbes before they are fryers. A 50-cent bottle is enough for 100 chickens. It is guaranteed. If, after using two thirds of a bottle, you are not satisfied with it as a cure for Cholera, return it to the druggist from whom you purchased it, and he will refund your money.

For Sale by ROBBINS & McCORD, Druggists, Auburn, Ind.

TO WEAK MEN

Suffering from the effects of youthful errors, early decay, wasting weakness, lost manhood, etc., I will send a valuable treatise (sealed) containing full particulars for home cure, FREE of charge. A splendid medical work; should be read by every man who is nervous and debilitated. Address Prof. F. C. FOWLER, Moodus, Conn.

MARYLAND ROASTER AND BAKER

IMPROVED

FOR MEATS, FOWL, FISH, ETC., AND FOR BAKING BREAD, CAKES AND PUDDINGS.

ROASTER & BAKER

BEST SIMPLEST AND CHEAPEST

THE STEAM produced by the process of cooking cannot escape, is absorbed by the article in the roaster, and acts as a basting. There is no evaporation, no drying up or burning, hence no shrinkage or loss of weight, and all the flavor and nutritious qualities of the food are retained. Tough meats are made tender, and any article roasted or baked will be sweeter, healthier and more digestible. Put the food in the roaster, place the roaster in a well heated oven; the roaster will do the cooking. It requires no attention. Can only be bought from dealers, the trade supplied by:

MATTHAI, INGRAM & CO.,
120 HANOVER ST., BALTIMORE, MD.
84 READE ST., NEW YORK.

None Such CONDENSED Mince Meat

Makes an every-day convenience of an old-time luxury. Pure and wholesome. Prepared with scrupulous care. Highest award at all Pure Food Expositions. Each package makes two large pies. Avoid imitations—and insist on having the NONE SUCH brand.

MERRELL & SOULE, Syracuse, N. Y.

CHASE'S
3 HORSE HEAD
HORSE BLANKETS

TRADE C & Co. MARK.

are the strongest and best.

Chase's Plush Lap Robes

are the standard. The plush will not shed. All robes have the name Chase either woven in the binding or sewed on the corner.

FIRST-CLASS DEALERS WILL SELL NO OTHERS.

L. C. CHASE & CO., Boston, Mass.

LOVELY COMPLEXION
BEAUTIFUL FORM.

Blemishes, such as FRECKLES, MOTH PATCHES, LIVER SPOTS, BLOTCHES, TAN, PIMPLES, BLACK HEADS, ROUGHNESS, or any discoloration removed, rendering the skin soft, velvety & beautiful.

The form developed — made PLUMP AND BEAUTIFUL.

Send six cents in stamps and get descriptive circulars and testimonials in a sealed envelope.

H. BENJAMIN & CO.
115 N. 8th Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

CANCER and other Malignant Diseases CURED without the use of knife. Consultation Free. Call or write—
DR. RUSH
Office, 800 Pine St. ST. LOUIS, MO.

CORNETT PIANOS. STYLE A.

HAVE PERFECT TONE, ACTION, FRAME WORK, AND FINISH

AND MODERATE PRICES.

GUARANTEED 5 YEARS.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR AND PRICES.

The Cornett Piano Co., 525-531 W. 24 St., NEW YORK.

THE GREATEST REFRIGERATOR IMPROVEMENT OF THE AGE.
THE
GURNEY PATENT REFRIGERATOR.

No. 3. Front sectional view showing position of removable galvanized ice compartment, mineral wool packing, etc.

THE ONLY CLEANABLE REFRIGERATOR.

The greatest economy of ice. The lowest average temperature.

If your dealer does not sell the "Gurney," send for Catalogue and Prices.

GURNEY REFRIGERATOR CO., Fond du Lac, Wis.

FREE FOR 30 DAYS 30 DAYS

In order to introduce our CRAYON PORTRAITS and make new customers, we have decided to make this Special Offer: Send us a Cabinet Picture, Photograph, Tintype, Ambrotype or Daguerotype of yourself or any member of your family, living or dead, and we will make you a Crayon Portrait Free of Charge, provided you exhibit it to your friends as a sample of our work, and use your influence in securing us future orders. Place name and address on back of picture and it will be returned in perfect order. We make any change in picture you wish, not interfering with likeness. Refer to any Bank in Chicago. Address all mail to ECLIPSE PORTRAIT CO., 110 East Randolph St., CHICAGO, Ill.

(P. S.—We will forfeit $100 to any one sending us photo and not receiving crayon picture FREE as per this offer. THIS OFFER IS STRICTLY BONA FIDE.)

BUCKEYE
HOG CHOLERA CURE

BUCKEYE CURE

MAKES HOG RAISING PROFITABLE.
AN ABSOLUTE
PREVENTION AND CURE
OF HOG CHOLERA.

IT WILL

Put your Hogs in first-class condition.
Stop cough and regulate the bowels.
Arrest disease in every instance.
Destroy worms.
Repay its cost many times over in the extra pounds of pork it will make without extra feed.

If your local dealers do not have it, we will send to any address on receipt of price, 50 cents a package. Write for prices on larger quantities.

AGENTS WANTED.

W. T. PHILIPPS & CO.,
Nos. 115 AND 117 ST. CLAIR STREET, TOLEDO, OHIO.

GRAND OPENING!

OF G. H. YESBERA'S

NEW CLOTHING HOUSE.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1892.

On the above date I will place on sale a full and complete line of Clothing of all the latest styles and fabrics, in Men's Boys' and Youths' suits; selected from the best manufactures in the Country. My aim is to be Headquarters for everything in the way of Ready-Made Clothing. I cordially invite everyone to call and look through the stock, get the prices and be convinced that this is the place to trade.

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

G. H. YESBERA'S New Clothing House.

DO YOU WANT A BARGAIN?

Then go to

THE FAIR STORE.

Pants, Pants, Pants.

Shirts, Shirts, Shirts.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's

UNDERWEAR,

Cheaper than the Cheapest.

2 JOHNS 2

AT THE FAIR.

J. C. HENRY, Prop'r,

To Chattanooga, Tenn.

On Sept. 13 and 14 the B. & O. Ry. will sell excursion tickets to Chattanooga, Tenn., at a rate of one fare for the round trip, on account of the Reunion of the Army of the Cumberland, to be held Sept. 15 and 16, 1892. Tickets will be good for return passage to and including Sept. 19, 1892.

Take Notice.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me, will confer a great favor and at the same time cancel an honest obligation, by calling and settling at once. Please make a note of this, so when you are in town you will drop in and balance accounts.

Yours Resp'y.
J. BEURET, Auburn.

DO YOU KNOW

THAT IF YOU USE ONE BOTTLE OF

Chapman's Celebrated Flux Syrup

NO ONE CAN PERSUADE YOU TO DO WITHOUT IT?

If you are attacked with Cholera Morbus it will relieve all pain and leave your stomach and bowels in good shape. If you are attacked with Diarrhœa, it will cure you and leave you feeling as good as new. If you have had Chronic Diarrhœa for many years, you will be happily surprised before you have used one bottle. If you have pain in the Stomach, Bowels, or Side, it will give relief. If you have a cough, it will give you sweet rest and cure your cough. It is a sweet syrup. Children love it, and nothing can excel it for children Cutting Teeth, as it will relieve the pain and regulate their bowels. It is for sale by Druggists, and has a Printed Guarantee on each bottle. If, after a thorough trial, you are not satisfied with the result, you can return the bottle to the druggist and your money will be refunded. Don't ruin your stomach with burning remedies when this pleasant syrup is guaranteed to cure.

G. W. CHAPMAN,

MANUFACTURER, BOX 207, HICKSVILLE, OHIO.

THE AUBURN COURIER

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY.

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....SEPTEMBER 8, 1892.

To Open The Campaign.

The democrats of DeKalb county will open the campaign, formally, by a grand rally at Garrett on Friday, September 9.

The Opening Speech will be made by

HON. G. W. Bell,

of Washington, D. C., the ablest speaker on the tariff question, in the United States. The speech will be in the afternoon, and he will be followed by other able speakers. There may be also an evening meeting.

Judicial Convention.

The Judicial convention for the purpose of nominating a prosecutor for the circuit composed of DeKalb and Steuben, will be held in Waterloo on Saturday, Sept. 10, at 10:30 a. m. Delegates should bear this in mind, so as to be present.

BEEKS ERIC, Chairman for DeKalb.

GEORGE WILLIAM CURTIS, the editor of Harper's Weekly is dead.

DR. TEAL was nominated for representative for Noble county, this week.

A FEW cases of cholera on board ships in New York harbor. But will not likely spread.

DEMOCRATS talk of nominating L. J. Gengler of Garrett, for prosecutor, at the meeting at Waterloo, Saturday.

ARKANSAS went democratic Monday by an increased majority, and on Tuesday Vermont went republican by about the usual figures.

SHOCKNEY, republican candidate for lieutenant-govenor worked for and voted for the new tax law. Now he is trying to make people believe he opposed it. The record exposes him. The Dispatch also favored a raise in state taxes.

Early Closing.

We, the undersigned merchants of Auburn, Ind., considering 15 working hours a day as being too long hours, do hereby desire to state that after Monday, Sept. 19, we shall close our respective places of business at 7:30 standard time excepting on Monday and Saturday evenings. Feeling confident the public will sanction, we are your obedient servants: Schaab & Bro., W. P. Harter & Co., Cowan Sisters, Mrs. Jones & Son, M. E. Garrett, Olds Bros., Hebel Bros., J. C. Henry, A. J. & G. M. Ralston, Snell & Weeks, Ed. Baker, Frank A. Hoff, Robbins & McCord, D. A. Hodge, F. E. Davenport, Casebeer & Matheny, H. J. Mossey, Wm. A. Thomas, Ada A. Myers.

Lecture.

Miss H. Titus, a blind lady, will deliver an address at the M. E. church, on Sabbath evening, Sept. 11, 1892. Subject, "The Immortality of Memory." Miss Titus is a graduate of Baldwin University, Pecea, Ohio, and comes very highly recommended, and will read the Bible in raised letters. A collection will taken at the close for her benefit. All are invited to attend.

AT BEDTIME
I TAKE A PLEASANT
HERB
DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1.00 per package. Buy one to-day. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary.

The Auburn Flouring Mills.

John W. Cavins, the gentleman who now owns the Ensley Block, has with Mr. Hale, the well known Hudson miller, purchased the Auburn Flouring Mills, at the foot of Main street. They have put out all the old machinery, and put in entirely new and of the latest and best kinds. The mill be run to produce the best quality of work and the greatest possible yield, and a specialty will be made of custom work. Farmers will do well to call on them, for they guarantee satisfaction. They already have orders from abroad for work enough to keep them busy two weeks. We look to see the new managers have a big run of business.

Meet Me by Moonlight, Alone!

This is old and poetical, but it comes handy. Not many moons ago, a well known and highly respected lady here received a note through the postoffice, through the similarity between her name and that of someone else, especially when dimly written. She opened it and with astonishment, read:

"Meet me at the corner of Van Buren and Fourth streets, to-night at 7:30 sharp.

UNKNOWN."

The lady did not go of course, but consulted as to what ought to be done. She could not return the letter of course, even if she knew the person who should have received it. And so she could do nothing. It is hinted, though, that the "man in the case," was prompt to get to that corner. And there he waited, and and waited.

"He stood awhile on one foot fust,
Then stood awhile on 'tother;
And on which one he felt the wust,
He couldn't 'a told you, nuther."

Sad and disappointed, at last he moved away. But they do say that every evening at "7:30 sharp," his ghost comes wailing by, stops a moment—then vanishes into thin air.

Will Cost Him Two Dollars.

Jolly, good-natured, always happy and forever in a hustle, Will Kessler, of the firm of Kessler Bros., cigar manufacturers, seems to possess those rare qualities that enable him to take a good joke with that degree of complacent resignation which makes those around him feel that a hearty laugh at his expense is all right. He is occasionally made the subject of a great deal of harmless fun at the hands of his large corps of employes. The last joke the boys have on him, however, is the richest, most peculiar and most expensive one he has encountered for some time. It came about in this way:

Having made and shipped large orders for cigars, the supply of the ever in style and indispensable cigar boxes began to run low. So Will ordered a new supply from the cigar box factory in Ft. Wayne. The goods came on all right in due time, but from the peculiar manner in which they were packed, seemed to excite the manager's fear (?) and apprehension as of some dread disease, and when Billy opened the package he found the boxes neatly encased in a sheet of cleansed wool. Of course, this was an unusually strange occurrence, and very naturally he could not understand it. So after prying and squinting around it for awhile, he figuratively exclaimed:

"I'll be— I'll—sw—an I—, I— ca—— can't see———!!?!"

At once all eyes were turned wonderingly in in that direction as he continued:

"I won— wonder ef— ef they ain't some kind a disease here (?) like cholera infantum, cholera, morbus, jim jams, grip, fever and ague, mumps, measles, cholera, yellow fever or rheumatism? Ugh! Zo zimlich wor nix gume ouse!!"

Thereupon he waltzed die wool out in the back yard. Soon the ringlets of unfragrant smoke arose above the tiny flames to tell the sad story of "life being burned out of existence at the stake." As the last shred lost its embodiment in the consuming blaze, and seemed to shrink in grateful timidity from every breath of air as from some vile thing, he viewed the job with that remorseless complacence so befitting as a prelude to that tranquil consciousness of an act well done at an opportune moment. The cool twinkle of his eye betrayed his calm determination to act as a member of a "board of health."

EXPLANATION:—A letter followed in a day or so, which explained to Mr. Kessler, that the sender Mr. Davis, intended that Billy should take said wool to the Auburn Woolen Mills and have it carded. So the eliminated pestilence that bothered him so, will cost him anyhow about two dollars. "He's in de soup suah."

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

The commissioners are having a busy week.

Long's breakfast flour for breakfast for sale at Brandon's.

The creamery at Columbia City has not proven a success.

The St. Joe News has changed hands, Mr. Olds having sold out.

Do your want hardware? Then go to Beuret, where you can get it at cost.

Try Dullman's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Rentable houses are at a premium in town now. Won't somebody build a few.

The Baptist ladies have the dining hall at the fair this year and will give good meals.

Frank Kircher of Garrett, will use a sulky with pneumatic tires, at the fair. Come and see it.

A son of Commissioner Lockwood fell off of a load of stone last week, and broke his arm badly.

The way book agent shied clear of the ruffled tempered farmer just now, It isn't healthy you know.

The Baptist brethren are having a district Sunday school convention here. with a large attendance.

The rush for fair notices, etc, has compelled us to leave out much matter. We hope all be patient.

The Kendallville fair is still at the front, and will hold its tenth annual meeting, Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

HOUSE FOR SALE. A good dwelling on West Ninth street. For particulars call at Geo. Grund's barber shop.

Parties who borrowed the stove lifters from Brown, Culbertson & Boland's hardware store, will please return them.

The excessive amount of dust in the country towns, has destroyed the coloring of many of the richly painted residences.

Do not be deceived with cheap pictures called $3 cabinets. Rice will give you finer work than can be had in this vicinity for half price.

Angola fair begins Sept. 20, the next week after the Auburn fair. They are working up a nice display, in fact they always have a good fair.

Jacob Husselman, an old DeKalb citizen, can recite some interesting things about his experience and expenses, from war times up to the present.

Rev. T. C. Smith formerly pastor of the Baptist church here, was here this week, together with his son Jay Smith. The latter graduated at Franklin College in June.

Walter Hartman and Lyman Ashelman have been off on a bicycle trip to Niagara Falls. The former broke his chain at Cleveland and has returned. Ashelman went on.

Geo. Wittmer will remove to Indianapolis, where he will continue the lumber business. He and his wife have many warm friends here, who will regret to see them go.

There is no use talking, neither Harrison or Cleveland will be elected unless they take DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They have a "get there" quality possessed by no other pill.—Robbins & McCord.

There was another wild runaway here Tuesday. The big team of Augustus Bartels ran down Main street, and of course gave Mr. McIntosh a call, striking squarely into one of his maples, and running against his iron fence.

STRAYED OR STOLEN:—On Tuesday evening, Aug. 30, a beagle hound, black and white spotted except ears, which were brown. Last seen was on premises. The person returning same to my residence at Richland Center. will be suitably rewarded. JOHN WISEMAN.

RHEUMATISM CURED IN A DAY.—"Mystic Cure" for rheumatism and neuralgia radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause and the disease immdiately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits. 75 cents. Sold and guaranteed by Robbins & McCord druggists, Auburn.

The Hicksville Fair

has always done as it promised, and the people have shown their appreciation by a yearly increasing attendance. Don't forget the fair, Sept 20, 21, 22 and 23, 1892.

Week After Next, Sept. 20 to 23, comes the Hicksville fair. The prospects are flattering for a fine exhibition in all departments, and good races are assured. Children from all over the world admitted free on Wednesday.

HAVE YOU

SEEN OUR

FINE SHOES,

BOOTS,

HEAVY SHOES?

If not, Come at Once and look them over.

No extra charge for a

Good, Square Look,

And we charge no more for a GOOD. SOLID SHOE, than some dealers do for an

INFERIOR ARTICLE.

We never were in better shape to please our customers in

Selections,

Quality,

Price!

WE OWN

BOOTS

CHEAPER

Than any firm in the county. Good, reliable footwear at

LOW PRICES!

We ask a share of your patronage.

WILSON,

Waterloo and Auburn.

FALL MILLINERY.

New Designs and Pretty Styles

IN

Pattern Hats, Bonnets and Children's Millinery.

Our stock is complete, including many of the Latest and Most Desirable Novelties. Our Styles and Low Prices cannot fail to please you. We have secured

Miss Jennie Beehe,

A City trimmer of long experience and we are pleased to say to the Ladies that if they will take a glance at our Pretty Trimmed Goods in stock, it will satisfy them with what she can do.

We Solicit Inspection.

HARTER,

AUBURN.

Main Street, North of Farmers Bank,

I. O. BUCHTEL,
Homœopathic
Physician and Surgeon.

Special attention given to chronic and obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.

Office and residence over Smith & Madden's marble works, Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, night or day.

H. DARLING, D. D. S.,
Surgeon Dentist.

Graduate of CHICAGO COLLEGE OF DENTAL SURGERY.
Member of Royal College of Dental Surgeons of ONTARIO.
☞ Gas administered for Painless Extraction.

Dr. James Adams,
VETERINARY SURGEON.

Will treat all Diseases of Domestic Animals. He has had THIRTY YEARS successful PRACTICE. Call on him at his residence No. 34, North Main street, or at ROBBINS & McCORD'S Drug Store.

Dr. K. K. Wheelock,
—Diseases of the—
EYE AND EAR
A Specialty. Office 26, W. Wayne St., Fort Wayne, Ind.

McBRIDE and McBRIDE,
COPYISTS,

Manuscript Speeches, Briefs and Depositions, Business and Personal Type-Writing Generally,

WATERLOO, IND.

☞ Write for terms, stating what kind of WORK.

Dr. F. M. Hines, Physician and SURGEON.
Office over J. C. HENRY'S Grocery, in the Ford Block,
AUBURN, IND.

☞ RESIDENCE, at the Samuel Swihart residence on South Jackson St. near the Church Furniture factory, and just across west from the German Methodist church. All calls attended to promptly, night or day.

—AUBURN WOOLEN MILLS—
........DOES........
All kinds of CUSTOM WORK, such as Carding, Spinning, Etc.
ALSO
MANUFACTURE for the TRADE, Yarns Flannels, Skirtings, Blankets and Wool Bats.
These goods are absolutely PURE and warranted to give SATISFACTION to the Consumer.
—ENSLEY & FORKNER, Proprietors.—
Call at FACTORY North End of Main street
AUBURN, IND.

AUBURN IRON WORKS,
Will repair steam engines, boilers and all kinds of machinery, grind plow points, etc.
Brass, pipes and all pipe fittings
FURNISHED.

DIED,—In this city, of consumption A familiar headline isn't it? It's pretty risky to neglect a cold or cough. One Minute Cough Syrup is pleasant, safe and sure. Robbins & McCord.

LOCAL NEWS.

☞ BLACK-DRAUGHT tea cures Constipation.

TUTT'S PILLS cure Sick Headache.

CUBEB COUGH CURE—One Minute. Sold by F. E. Davenport. tf

KRAUSE'S HEADACHE CAPSULES—Warranted. Sold by F. E. Davenport. tf

Coughing leads to consumption. Kemp's Balsam will stop that cough at once.

Try Dullam's Great German 15-cent liver pills, 40 in each package, at Casebeer & Matheny's.

MY GIRL, is one of the most popular brands of cigars on the market.

If you want to enjoy your meals, strengthen your digestion with Simmons Liver Regulator.

The greatest worm destroyer on earth is Dullam's Great German Worm Lozengers, only 25 cents per box. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Smoke the Little Salesman, the nobbiest brand out.

A thing of beauty is a joy forever. If so, get 1 doz. cabinets at Rice's studio. No chromos, no air burnish pictures. Only 12 cabinets and a paris pannel for 1 doz. on ticket rates. 33tf

Voice culture, piano, organ, thorough base and harmony, I will give lessons in any of these branches. Over fourteen years experience.
tf J. I. Chany, Auburn.

Have tried almost every known remedy for Itching Piles without success, finally bought a box of DeWittt's Witch Hazel Salve, and it has cured me. C. D. Haskins, Peoria, Ill.—Robbins & McCord.

Omaha, Neb., May 5, 1891.
To whom it may concern:
I have suffered for years with neuralgic headache, and Krause's Headache Capsules is the only remedy that has done me any good. Would recommend them to all similarly affected. CHARLES PASSOT, 716 N. 16th Street.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by Robbins & McCord, druggist, Auburn, Ind. tf

MILES' NERVE & LIVER PILLS. Act on a new principle—regulating the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new discovery. Dr. Miles' Pills speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles, constipation. Unequaled for men, women, and children. Smallest, mildest, surest! 50 doses, 25 cts. Samples free at F. E. Davenport's.

VERY MUCH SURPRISED: I have been afflicted with neuralgia for nearly two years, have tried physicians and all known remedies, but found no permanent relief until I tried a bottle of Dullman's Great German Liniment and it gave me instant and permanent relief. 25 cents per bottle. Signed, A. B. Snell, Hamilton, Mich. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Grover Cleveland's Grand March Ben. Harrison's Grand March, either of these two marches will be sent to any address on receipt of 20 cents each, or the two for 35 cts. These marches are new. Every player should have them. Postage stamps acceptable. Address all orders J. I. Chaney, Auburn, Ind.

BUCKLEN'S ARNICA SALVE.—The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Robbins & McCord. tf

McElree's WINE OF CARDUI for female diseases.

Spangle is the jeweler. 39

All aboard for the fair ground.

Kendallville fair Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

Large attendance at school this year.

H. J. Mossey is hustling the bread business.

Auburn has entertained several strangers lately.

The big bicycle races are at the fair next week.

See the new advertisement of Kiblinger, the hardware dealer.

Big rally for the democrats at Garrett to-morrow. Let us all go.

Don't fail to get something ready for the Auburn fair, Sept. 12.

The Riley Comedy Co., at the Opera House all next week through the fair.

Try Dullam's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Mathens's.

B. C. Robbins' new house presents a picture of architectural beauty in embryo.

Dr. S. B. Johnston, dentist, will be in his office at Waterloo on Thursday of each week.

H. R. Culbertson went to Detroit Saturday morning on business, returning the same evening.

There was a little frost Friday morning, the 2nd, and a few farmers had low ground corn nipped.

Mrs. Will May went to Moores Station over Sunday, to visit her father, J. R. Lanning, and family.

Geo. Shugers and wife were back here last week, attending the funeral of his grandmother, we suppose.

Tablets, tablets, tablets, the biggest, the cheapest and the best at Casebeer & Matheny's opposite Swineford House. 37

The Kendallville fair will be bigger and better than ever this year, but the price of admission still remains at only 25 cents.

Notice the grand bicycle races shown on the big bills. This will be a grand feature of the Auburn fair at this place next week.

E. D. Beadle has returned after a week's visit with his brother in Kansas, and is at his old post again in Kiblinger's hardware.

The political poles with a "broom-on-top," are not quite so numerous as they were in the happy days gone by. Wonder what's the reason?

The nickel social of the Methodist church will meet with Mrs Daily Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. You are very cordially invited to attend.

MARRIED: At the residence and by Rev. W. O. Butler, Sept. 4, Delbert W. McBride of near Mooresville to Carrie Baughman residing near Waterloo.

Mrs. McMichael, of Manton, Mich. is here visiting her sister, Mrs. G. H. Yesbera. She will be remembered as Miss May Bell.

The Rileys are presenting all new plays this season and will open their engagement Monday night presenting the new comedy drama, Alberta—the son of Monte Cristo.

Dr. Martin and daughter have been here a week or two, visiting the family of E. L. Casebeer. He is Mrs. Casebeer's brother. They go to day to Paxton, Ill., to visit other relatives.

It is related by an old time democrat, that a certain republican tried to inflate him with the idea that the McKinley tariff made eggs fifteen cents a dozen. Quite logical, isn't it?

Ernest Sheets and wife will again make Auburn their home, as we are pleased to know, for both have many warm friends here. He takes his old place in G. H. Yesbera's tailoring department.

A gentleman of this country, who has excellent judgment, remarked to us the other day, that he knew of no pill so good for constipation, dyspepsia and liver complaint, as DeWitt's Little Early Risers.—Robbins & McCord.

Perry Long and Isaac Jones are among those who have built comfortable homes in the Gas Addition. They and the others who have built in that vicinity have made that a most attractive part of town.

Hot Springs Skin Soap acts directly upon the delicate pores of the body, sweetens and purifies the skin, thereby rendering it free from bad odors, pimples, rashes and other disagreeable and repugnant manifestations.—For sale by Davenport.

Uncle Henry Shull has been plastering and improving the basement or cellar of his residence in the country. That reminds us that a big find of silver is reported at Phillipsburg, Mont., where Josiah and Rebecca reside—a big chunk that weighed several thousand.

Among the new cement walks along South Main street, we notice that of W. L. Penfield, W. H. McIntyre, John W. Shaffer and Mr. Brinkerhoff. Strangers coming into Auburn from that point, or from the Lake Shore station, will be favorably impressed with the uniform excellence of the walks.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. would desire your patronage during the Auburn fair. Look for the W. C. T. U. headquarters and get a lunch for 15 cts. You will find bill of fare at W. C. T. U. booth, in Floral hall. Lunch baskets cared for and fresh water furnished the public to drink at lunch stand.

A party of about sixty near relatives and friends gave Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Walker a pleasant surprise last Sunday, the occasion being the forty-ninth anniversary of Mrs. Walker's birth. Mrs. W., was presented a fine plush platform rocker, and Mr. W., a fine, gold headed walking staff, besides such as queensware, etc. A grand time was enjoyed by all, and the day will long be remembered by those present.

Harry Weamer and daughter, Maud, of Bristol, were here to attend G. Weamer's funeral Tuesday. Mr. Weamer in company with L. E. Gregg, of this place, and W. R. Gregg, of Chicago, called on the COURIER that day. The last named is the inventor of the celebrated electric clock that is used to regulate the time of the railway trains, several thousand being now in use. Both the Greggs are brothers to Mrs. G. W. Weamer, Mrs. Frank Zimmerman and Mrs. Harry Weamer.

The public of today seeks stability, regularity and reliability—in a business form. It does not want a lot of trash, sold cheap, with a big profit put upon everything good. The demand.—and it is a sensible one,—is for a good article at the lowest possible cost at which it can be afforded. The trading public doesn't want bargains twice or thrice a year for a week, but it wants the full value of its money from the first day of January to the thirty-first day of December. That is the kind of a furniture and carpet house that is conducted by the Foster Furniture and Carpet Co., at Fort Wayne, Ind. They will deliver your goods free, in Auburn, provided your bill amounts to $10 or upwards.

☞ WINE OF CARDUI, a Tonic for Women.

Kendallville fair Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

Nice display of fall wraps and coats at Harter's.

Kessler Bros., are shipping quantities of cigars now.

Many farmers quit plowing last week on account of the drouth.

Chas. Pierce has a new barn. Ville May is doping on the colors.

Not going out of business, but selling hardward at cost, J. Beuret.

Patent medicine men and street fakirs are having a good run this summer.

Now don't forget the place when wanting work done, Spangle will do it for you. 39

The town has put down a new cement crossing from Mr. Penfield's north to Mrs. Ralston's.

Mrs. J. C. Sommers of Pueblo, Colo., is visiting her sisters, Mrs. G. C. Ralston and Mrs. I. N. Cool.

C. H. Jackson and wife were down from Angola Tuesday, to attend the funeral of G. W. Weamer.

Dry weather has affected the crops in this locality, beyond what was anticipated earlier in the season.

The Rileys will be at the Opera House the entire week of the fair, presenting a new lot of popular plays.

Recorder Williams is looking for a residence in Auburn. He takes his office in about seven weeks.

No 53, on the Wabash, has become used to being from one to three hours late, for some time past.

Smoke a genuine Bill Head cigar made by Kessler Bros.

WANTED:—Active, reliable agents for the Columbian Accident Company, 84 and 86, La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

Mr. Moody is building still more additions to his residence. It will be one of the largest in town, if he keeps on.

W. E. Rose, formerly of this place, but now of New Carlisle, is advertising the Brazillian piano polish, in a small way.

W. L. Penfield's new residence presents an appearance equal to a palace, fashioned after the metropolitan style.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. McIntosh were made happy Saturday, by the birth of a little daughter, and we heartily congratulate them.

Opera House Monday and all week, during the fair. When you come to the fair make arrangements to stay for the play in the evening.

A table cloth belonging to the Presbyterian church, is missing. The one who has it, will confer a favor by returning it to Mrs. Emily Dills.

Wes. Showers, with the help of several democratic neighbors, put up a nice hickory pole last week, from which the old flag floats in the breeze.

J. H. Walter and wife, who have been residing in Concord township for two or three years, have moved back to town. We welcome them back.

See the immense advt. of G. H. Yesbera. He starts in with a big stock of the best of ready made clothing, in addition to the merchant tailoring department.

New stock of boots and shoes at Potter's and at lowest living prices. He is always ready to give you the most for your money. Call on him, opposite the Swineford.

H. J. Treutman is making some improvements on the old hub factory. The old blacksmith shop, to what was once the Snyder Wagon Works, is being converted into a dry kiln.

The Foster Furniture and Carpet Co., at Ft. Wayne, are the largest dealers in the state of Indiana in baby carriages. They can save you from $3 to $10 on any carriage you may desire to purchase.

Mr. Healy preached two strong sermons Sunday. The evening sermons will for a time, be on some of the prominent characters of the Old Testament. It was Joshua Sunday evening. Communion next Sunday.

Milo Thomas, the hustling hardware man of Corunna, was here Tuesday, on a flying trip. Business is first rate with him he reports, except that burglars went through his store Friday night. They got nothing.

Geo. W. Weamer, who has been sick about six months, died Saturday afternoon. The funeral was Tuesday at 2 p. m., and was largely attended. The lateness as well as our crowded state, compels us to wait till next week for a full obituary.

Gen'l Franz Sigel, the great German and American soldier, will possitively be at the Kendallville fair on Soldier's day, Wednesday, Sept. 28. Every old soldier will be admitted free. It will be an immense gathering of soldiers. It will be the biggest day of the fair.

Only one republican pole put up in the county so far, at least we have heard of but one. That one is in front of Wm. Derthick's residence on South VanBuren. We have not learned which of our local high tax advocates delivered the oration when his pole went up at that place.

The large tent on Fourth street stands prominently forth as an open announcement that religious services are being held there. It seems rather ancient and novelistic to attend church in a tent, but nevertheless it is very pleasant and impresses one with the picturesque grandeur of mundane's verdant carpeting.

The new paper at Hudson, the World, has reached us. It is the same size as the Ashley Times, which flourishes on the other side of the section, and is in every way a creditable paper. They may not make a paper pay there, probably would not, if put in the field as an ordinary business venture, but the citizens, we are told, contributed the necessary means to start it, and also cash enough for 1,000 subscriptions. Between Hudson booms and Ashley booms, we think they will have lively times in that section for a year or two.

John Leasure and family removed, last week, to their new home at Angola. We are sorry to lose them, for they are excellent people. Mr. Leasure has been identified with Auburn's business interests for many years, and a familiar figure will be missed. His wife has long been a leader in social and literary circles, having been first a prominent teacher in our schools, and afterwards principal and superintendent, which last, difficult position she filled with signal ability and success. More recently she has taken a full course in medicine and received a diploma as M. D. It is for the purpose of practising in her chosen profession, that they have removed to Angola, and we have no doubt her future will be one of brilliant success. We commend her to the good people of Angola, feeling certain that she will not disappoint them, and hoping to hear that she enters at once into an extensive practice.

McELREE'S WINE OF CARDUI for Weak Nerves.

Hardware at cost at Bueret's.

Kendallville fair Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

Old Mrs. Hebel is re-roofing her residence.

Spangle, the jeweler, carries a full line of spectacles. 39

Hardware! hardware!! All hardware at cost. J. Beuret.

A. Lewis & Co., will get a new shipment of lumber, soon.

B. L. Williams, the South Side butcher, goes out of business soon.

G. H. Yesbera and brother Frank, of Bryan, Sundayed in Chicago.

The Watson House is a good place for the traveling public to stop at.

Try Dullman's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Safe blowers are making their usual fall raids, and have not forgotten Auburn.

The Rileys and their great company of players at the Opera House all next week.

A good place to get your eyes fitted with spectacles at Spangle's, at Reading Room 39

Here is a big bonanza for someone! All gasolene stoves at half-price at J. Beuret's.

Kidney affections of years standing, cured by Simmons Lives Regulatsr. J. W. Poynts.

The Wabash is advertising the great St. Louis Exposition. Does anybody want to go?

Try Dullam's Great German 15-cent liver pills 40 in each package. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Potter, the shoe dealer, for good quality boots and shoes, at hard time prices. Opposite the Swineford.

Young America is the cigar to smoke now-a-days.

The purses at the Kendallville fair this year have been increased to nearly $3,000, and the races will be first-class.

Nellie Barns visited relatives in Butler over Sunday, the family of Samuel Jones, night agent of the Wabash there.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church have their nickel social at the residence of Ed. Baker on Friday 2 to 5 oclock. All come.

The cheapest and best place for all school supplies, tablets, slates, etc., at Casebeer & Matheny's opposite Swineford House. 37

Remember the popular Riley Comedy Co., at Opera House all next week. They always draw well in Auburn, for they give good shows.

Ezekiel Jones is in the lumber business on a small scale. He buys the timber and "Uncle Jake Mitchell" saws it into lumber for him.

D. A. Hodge has opened up a jewelry and watch repairing shop in the drugstore of Robbins & McCord. He is a skillful and competent man, and will get his share of work.

Oscar Hoffman and Charlie Hague started back to Lafayette Monday, to resume their studies at Purdue University. Both are steady, worthy young men, and will make a good record.

Dyspepsia, distress after eating, sour stomach, poor appetite, bad taste, coated tongue and heartburn are cured by DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pill.—Robbins & McCord.

Schnell & Weeks are hustlers in the grocery trade. They have a well stocked room and can offer unlimited inducements to customers. Remember their place of business south of the jail-Auburn.

Hip! Hip!! Hurrah!!! The campaign of 1892, has opened up with a boom, and we are not going to be behind the times in the "boom business." For the next period, indefinite, we will "boom" our gasolene stoves at half-price. J. Beuret.

Smith began the work on his and Shull's job last week. They put down the stone gutter along the public square and though they have till Nov. 1 to finish, they expect to complete it by Oct. 1. Mr. Treesh, who puts down the cement walk, is also at work. He is to have his done by Oct. 1.

Big attraction at the Auburn fair, will be Prof. Grinley, the balloonist. He makes ascensions in his balloon accompanied by a dog, and when they get high enough, each comes down in his own parachute, the dog in one and the man in the other. It will be a new thing and a great attraction.

The Ligonier fair for 1892 promises to outstrip all the previous exhibitions of this most excellent fair. Many new attractions have been added to the program. The races will be better this year than ever before on account of increased purses and the other displays will doubtless equal if not excel last year's splendid record. If any of our readers wish to attend an interesting meeting they should arrange to visit the Ligonier fair at least one day. The dates Sept. 19, 20 21, 22 and 23.

Editor Strayer, of Ashley, went through here Saturday on his way to his old home, Montpelier. He says an accomodation train will be run on the new line, but regular trains will not be run till about Febuary 1. He has his commission as postmaster, and the postoffice will be ready for business in a week or two. He says that while Ashley will have the full division shops, Montpelier will have a roundhouse and other needed means to handle the St. Louis business that will go from that point over the old line.

At this time of year it is quite essential that those who wish to retain their good health, and at the same time fortify against the ravages of disease, to look well to the quality and kinds of food they eat from day to-day. Hygienic rules for eating are such as prescribe a change of diet frequently. Simple, healthful and nutritious foods are the most desired, and great care should be exercised in the selection of foods calculated to gratify the natural appetite for something to sustain the physical nature. Breakfast should not be composed of heavy, indigestable foods. The lighter the food the easier it will be to digest it. Dinner should consist of something good and substantial, the kinds of food that sustain the brain and muscular powers, while supper should be more like breakfast. Grocers have discerned this, as one of the peculiar characteristics of trade, and have sought to handle many of the prepared goods for breakfast and supper meals. The different brands of oat meal, rolled avenas and cocoas have been placed on the market and followed by pleasing results. However, manufacturers have not been fully satisfied with that quality of goods, altogether, and have placed upon the market that very palatable and genuine preparation for fritters called Long's Breakfast Flour. This excellent preparation is for sale at Ira Brandon's.

Try BLACK-DRAUGHT tea for Dyspepsia.

The Auburn fair is Sept. 12.

Kendallville fair Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

All hardward will be closed out at cost at Beuret's.

George Chapman has a good run at his barber shop.

The Ligonier fair will be a hummer, this year, so we are told.

Spangle, the jeweler, is permanently located at the Reading Room. 39

Smoke the L. AND M. cigar, if you want some- good.

Go to Potter's, opposite the Swineford House, for good bargains in shoes.

The King-Girardot building, on South Main street, is nearing completion.

Take Simmons Liver Regulator for dyspepsia, biliousness or headache.

J. A. Landis is having a good run in photographs, notwithstanding the dull season.

Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. Most people need to use it.

Go to the Kendallville fair and see Gen'l Franz Sigel, on Wednesday, Sept. 28, '92.

For the present, until my stock of gasolene stoves is lowered, I will sell at half-price. J. Beuret.

Very nearly a big fire at the Monitor Wind Mill factory Sunday; cause, coal against boiler, near the firebox.

A. L. Kuhlman, our honored "Captain," is keeping "office" at Kuhlman's lumber yard, in the absence of E. Kuhlman.

Piles of people have piles, but DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve will cure them. Robbins & McCord

Slates, tablets and all school supplies the cheapest and best at Casebeer & Matheny, opposite Swineford House. 37

Chas. H. Ling, so well known as a former business man in Auburn, is putting up a building and oven for a bakery, in Ashley.

Dell Purdy's livery barn is being largely patronized by farmers who come to town and want their teams fed and taken care of.

If you are a close buyer and want to save a per cent on the investment, you should call at J. Beuret's and get one of those matchless gasolene stoves at half-price.

What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world, and then have the dyspepsia so bad that he can't enjoy any of the good thing it contains? He won't have dyspepsia if he takes DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Robbins & McCord

George W. Morell, a former Waterloo boy, but for some years located in Elkhart becomes a citizen of Auburn this week. He takes a position with G. H. Yesbera, in the large ready made clothing department that Mr. Yesbera has established and of which Mr. Morell will be in immediate charge. He is a young man of good business ability, wholesouled, genial and affable, and will be a welcome addition to our business circles. His family will not be here for about a month.

Brandon has a new ad this week.

Cedar Creek is at low water mark.

Kendallville fair Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

Gasolene stoves at half-price at J Beuret's.

The dry season has cost the farmers a good deal for plow points.

Gugerli's building shows up in fine style with its artistic front.

Spangle, the jeweler, will save you money when buying in his line.

H. E. Richey is doing a flourishing repair business on Cedar street.

Try Dullman's Great German 15-cent liver pills at Casebeer & Matheny's.

A stitch in time. Take Simmons Liver Regulator and prevent sickness.

The Auburn Mills have changed hands. Cavins & Hale are the new proprietors.

Take Simmons Liver Regulator to keep the bowels regular. One dose is worth 100 dollars.

The Church Furniture Company have put up an elevated addition on the east side of the factory.

Henry Shoemaker, successor to John Kruger in the grocery business, is making things hum at the old stand.

The Rileys, at Opera House, Monday and all week. New plays and popular prices and a great company of players.

Special trains will be run to the Kendallville fair on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 28, 29 and 30, at half fare.

The north bound train on the Lake Shore will be held 30 minutes each evening of the fair, so as to leave here at 6 p. m.

Etna Kuhlman is in Elkhart a good deal of the time just at present. He expects to dispose of his lumber business here, soon.

The premiums and purses at the Kendallville fair have been radically increased this year. Send to J. S. Conlogue, Sec'y, for premium list and full particulars.

When you are in town and at a loss to know just where to deal and what to buy, go to J. Beuret on North Main St., and see what he has to offer in the line of stoves and hardware.

It's not very pleasant to cough and hack,
To suffer pain in chest and back,
Many people could stop it for sure.
By simply using One Minute Cough Cure.
Robbins & McCord.

Ta ra ra boom de ay! The most melodious song of gladdest praise dies away in the distance and its sweetest notes sound faintly o'er the vale of an empty stomach. Its charms are no longer enchanting when hunger gnaws at human vitality. Man seeks after something more lasting than the sweet strains of music, though it be not so thrilling, and the place to find bread, pies, cakes, confectionery, general produce, butter, eggs, tropical fruits, etc., in an abundance and display that will both please and prove beneficial is at H. J. Mossey's on South Main street. He has one of the best cake bakers in northeastern Indiana. Call on him, and convince yourself that what is said above is true.

FALL MILLINERY.

We Are Now Ready With

An extensive and complete stock of Fall and Winter Millinery including the many new features in

FANCY FEATHERS,

quills, plumes, jets and

FRENCH NOVELTIES,

straw and felt hats, for Fall, and a most extensive and varied assortment of Children's School Hats,

caps and hoods.

Come and see us, and you will find our goods and prices right.

Yours Respectfully,

Cowan Sisters.

On The Threshold

OF OUR

FALL BUSINESS

We wish to say that the highest notch we ever reached for variety, durability, style and value, will be surpassed by this season's stock of Fall Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, and Caps, which stock is now arriving daily. Our school clothing is as near perfection as it is possible to make them. These suits are as stylish and nobby as those for dress, and our prices are

FOR THE BOYS,

Below All Competition.

Do not fail to see our Short Pants Suits from $1.50 to $6. Long Pants Suits from $4 to $12.

OUR HAT

Department always in front. We beg to announce the arrival of our Fall Style Hats. The Celebrated is acknowledged to be the leader when it comes to a stylish stiff and soft hat. A cute line of children's hats and caps.

EXCELSIOR

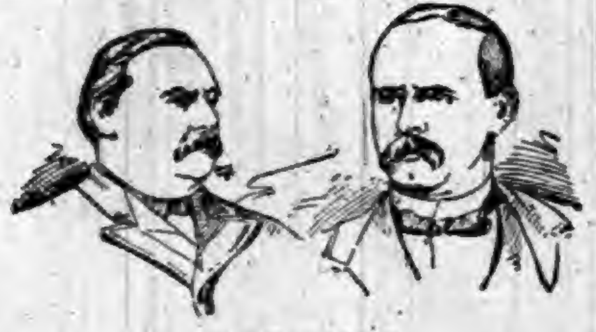
The Boston ONE-PRICE CLOTHING STORE

Auburn Courier.
AUBURN, INDIANA.
JAMES A. BARNS, - - - PUBLISHER.



For President.
GROVER CLEVELAND,
OF NEW YORK.
For Vice President.
ADLAI E. STEVENSON,
OF ILLINOIS.

THE Republican campaign will be run on the installment plan.

FAT manufacturers will please call at Mr. Wanamaker's bargain counter.

IT is rumored that Quay and Platt are both making a sneak for the breastworks.

THE formation of a Cleveland Republican club at Homestead shows which way the wind is blowing.

HARRISON'S campaign is wholly in the hands of Federal office-holders, with Harrison himself to boss them.

THE Republican claim that the McKinley bill would raise wages is suffering from a severe case of dislocation.

THE Globe-Democrat says almost every anarchist is a Democrat. Gen. Grant was a Democrat when the war broke out.

WHEN the protectionists begin to hire speakers at the rate of $350 per speech it looks as if "patriotism" was at a low ebb.

UNDER the four years of Cleveland the governmental expenditures were $330,000,000 less than under the four years of Harrison.

THE Republican platform of New York is somewhat different from the national platform, but Mr. Harrison is gradually coming to it.

THERE can be no question that Tom Reed's Congress was the greatest Congress this country has ever seen. Tom admits it himself.

IT is said that Harrison was the choice of all the respectable element of the Republican party. What a minority nominee he must have been!

THE cost of running the Government under Harrison is $7.01 per capita; under Garfield and Arthur it was $6.43 per capita, and under Cleveland only $6.12 per capita.

THE Republicans are hunting up "devices" for the heads of their tickets. In connection with Harrison, Carnegie and Whitelaw Reid, how would a rat-trap do?

IF "the foreigner pays the tariff tax" for Kansas and Nebraska, why doesn't he send Western farmers money enough to catch up with the interest of their McKinley mortgages?

SECRETARY FOSTER is a great financier. Only a Napoleon of Finance would hold back the Government workman's pay in order to make a false showing for a depleted Treasury.

WE do not recollect having seen Mr. Blaine's name in a single Republican newspaper during the whole of last week. It seems to be considered treasonable for a Republican paper to mention him.

THE difference in Major McKinley's assertions regarding the tariff may be accounted for by the fact that he was the hired attorney of protection, and served it up to suit his clients. Thus he gave them high-priced iron in Pennsylvania, and cheap iron in Nebraska.

THE President is still using his officeholders for all they are worth, paying them out of the public treasury while they are whooping it up for him in politics. The sending of Steve Elkins, Secretary of War, to manage the West Virginia convention is only one of many instances of tax-consuming bossism.

DURING the ten years of high tariff taxes from 1880 to 1890, when the taxes were made higher still, the number of farm mortgages filed in Nebraska exceeded by thousands the total number of inhabited houses in the State as shown by the census of 1890, and this is true of Kansas also. So here is one Western industry that has been promoted by McKinley Republicanism.

ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC: The Iowa Democrats are in the field for business again this year. The platform adopted by the convention at Davenport and the speeches made therein indicate not only that Iowa is good fighting ground but that the Democrats are going to fight on it aggressively. Iowa has already voted Democratic in three elections, and this isn't the year for the revolution to revolve backward.

THE Republicans studiously avoid comparing the appropriations of the late session of Congress with the preceding session under Republican rule. According to Reed the late session appropriated $510,000,000, as against $462,000,000 by the first session of Reed's Congress, but he neglects to mention that the intervening session appropriated $541,000,000.

THE Chicago Tribune, which has been ridiculing the idea of reviving the force bill, lets the cat out of the bag when it says, "The breath of life cannot be blown into the force bill unless the Republicans can carry a majority of the House, hold the Senate, and re-elect Harrison." As the New York Evening Post shows, then "the only way to keep the force bill dead is to elect the Democratic ticket."

THE Indianapolis Journal says there is more joy in the Democratic camp over one failure of one manufacturing enterprise than over the establishment of twenty. Very often the failure of a manufacturing establishment is a greater benefit than the establishment of twenty. Manufacturing establishments are divided into two classes, those that are self-supporting, and those that require enormous subsidies. Self-supporting establishments do not fail, but blood suckers—like tin-plate mills, for instance—demand much and give little.

CHICAGO HERALD: In their efforts to return that distinguished corporation attorney and "political" greaser, John C. Spooner, to the United States Senate, the Republicans of Wisconsin are apparently determined to Mexicanize that hitherto peaceful and orderly commonwealth. Ever since Spooner's involuntary retirement to private life, a little more than a year ago, the earth has been, in the opinion of the average Wisconsin Republican, out of its orbit. The wind has blown steadily from the wrong direction, and the sun has failed to rise at the right point.

IT is not unusual to hear it asserted that protection means higher prices to the farmer, to the mechanic and to the manufacturer. In the same breath it is asserted that the cost of living is not increased. How can this be? If protection increases the price of the farmer's products and of the manufacturer's products, why is it that the cost of living is not increased? If "protection causes wheat, potatoes, butter and eggs to bring higher prices, does it not cost more for the laboring man to live? Possibly the high-tariff prophets assume that the cost of living is not increased because he and his family eat less when prices advance. This may be the explanation, but it is not a satisfactory one.

FROM the beginning of the world until the present day no Government ever raised the wages of the people, and no Government ever will. It is something no Government can do, but in the campaign made by Messrs. Harrison and Carnegie in 1888 the most ignorant among the people were encouraged to believe that by voting for high-tariff taxes they could get their houses furnished with Brussels carpets and pianos. Such speeches were made throughout Indiana, and Harrison himself did all he could to encourage this belief. It appeared that there were people ignorant enough to listen to such arguments and to be convinced by them that the Government owes them high wages; that it is the duty of Government to make their wages high, and it is their right to have their wages increased by Government.

IT is said, in aggravation of Chairman Carter's conduct as a book agent, that he proposed to show the farmers how they might escape from financial difficulties that oppressed them. He represented, it is said, that if they would put second mortgages on their farms to acquire an interest in the "Footprints of Time" they would soon earn money enough to pay off the first mortgages. The advice proved delusive, and the homes of the victims were sold to satisfy the mortgages. We take no stock in these scandals. If the statements are true they show that Mr. Carter is a marvelously proper man to stand at the head of the Republican party organization and to conduct its canvass. What he is charged with doing on a small scale the Republican party has done for a quarter of a century on a large scale. It has represented to the farmers of the country, and particularly of the Northwest, that their only chance for prosperity was in supporting the protection system of the Republican party. Those who have been deluded by these statements have been persistently robbed by that policy, and many of them have lost their homes in consequence. If Mr. Carter, therefore, has done acts imputed to him, his party has done well to select him as its representative. He is a true Republican, and thoroughly in accord with Republican policy.

TENNESSEE HOMESTEAD
BUFFALO
THE DEMOCRATS DECLARE THE McKINLEY BILL NOT ONLY UNCONSTITUTIONAL BUT 'THE CULMINATING ATROCITY OF CLASS LEGISLATION'. "WELL, YOU HAVE SEEN HOW IT WORKS" (WHITELAW REID AT SPRINGFIELD)
HANDLE WITH CARE EXPLOSIVES

HOW IT WORKS.

THE WORK OF CONGRESS

IT'S A BAD SHOWING FOR REPUBLICANS.

All of the Bills Which the Democratic House Passed for the Benefit of the People Were Killed by the Republican Senate.

Congress and Its Work.

The work of the first session of the Fifty-second Congress will be the subject of much controversy, and necessarily an issue of no small importance in a national campaign which involves the election of a new House of Representatives as well as that of a President and a Vice President. For this reason judgment of its acts will be influenced more strongly than in intermediate years by partisan inclinations. It is obvious, however, that no better or fairer method of judging its performances from a political standpoint than by comparison with its Republican predecessor can be devised. This is a test which Democrats will welcome, and to which Republicans must submit.

The Democrats of the House did their best to lighten the burdens of taxation on the people and industries of the country. Under the lead of the Ways and Means Committee a bill was passed making wool free, in the hope of reviving the drooping woolen manufacturing interests and encouraging the wool-grower. The same bill abolished the compensatory duty on woolen goods. The result of this would have been the cheapening of clothes which had been made much more costly by the McKinley law. Another bill made free the binding twine used by the wheat growers and the cotton ties used by the planters of the South. Another made ore containing both silver and lead free, the purpose being to cheapen one of the most common articles of domestic and industrial use. The bill to reduce the enormous McKinley tax on tin plates would have put an end to a contemptible fraud, and would have saved the people of this country from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 a year.

When these tax-relief bills reached the Senate the Republican majority promptly pigeon-holed them. In the interest of certain manufacturers of cheap plushes, shoddy and certain kinds of woolens, they denied the people cheap clothes. In the interest of the cordage trust they refused cheap binding-twine to the wheat growers. In behalf of the hoop-iron makers of Pittsburg they insisted upon dear cotton ties for the Southern planters. To help the makers of plate they refused to put an end to the robbery of the people who buy dinner-pails, pots, pans and roofing-tin, and retained the tax that increases the price of canned goods and has already closed up a score of canning factories, depriving labor of its work as well as making food dearer.

In brief, all of the bills which the Democratic House passed for the benefit of the people were killed by the Senate.

The material results of the session will not be of great advantage to the country, for the simple reason that Republican legislation in the billion dollar Congress, a Republican Senate and a Republican President prevented the Democratic House from carrying out the reforms desired by the people.

The New York World is satisfied that the political situation is unchanged by the session. It remains what it was in the campaign of 1890. The Democrats have tried to reduce expenditures, but they could not. They have tried to drive the administration to reform the abuses in the pension bureau, but they have been met and overcome by the President's obstinate adherence to a scandalous administration. Above all, the Democrats have tried to abolish some of the evils and to lighten some of the burdens of the McKinley tariff law. The have attacked some of its most flagrant abuses and some of the worst trusts it has engendered, but the friends of trusts and monopoly controlled the Senate and sat in the White House, and the efforts of Democratic tariff reformers were lost except as they show to the country that the party is still bent upon accomplishing the task which the people assigned to it in 1890.

Cleveland's Pension Policy.

Mr. Cleveland has always advocated a pension for every veteran who received a wound or incurred a disability in the service. He believed that pensions to such veterans were a debt incurred by the country in their enlistment in its service. But he did not believe in pauper pensions; in a pension theory which holds every veteran to be an outdoor pauper, and that all such must be supported at public expense without discriminating between merit and demerit. He did not believe in "reinstating" deserters to enable them to receive pensions. He did believe that a dishonorable discharge should be a bar to pension. He did not believe that the crippled veteran of a dozen battles should be put on the same level with three months' men who never were under fire in their lives. He believed in pensioning the honorable widows of veterans who had died from wounds or disability incurred in service, but he did not believe in putting such honorable women on a level with drunken strumpets from the District of Columbia workhouse.

His profession and his practice were perfectly consistent. Compare his record with General Black in the Pension Office with the record made by Harrison with Raum's assistance. Honest veterans and honest people of all classes will have no difficulty in determining which is the honest, conscientious and patriotic record; which the record of the unscrupulous demagogue.

Let Mr. Cleveland be judged by this record. Let no man vote for him who expects to obtain public money by fraud and false pretense, for it is not from Cleveland that such can hope to obtain aid and comfort, however confidently they may expect it from the Harrisons and the Raums.—St. Louis Republic.

Cleveland Against Bureaucracy.

Do the people of this country wish to go on with no more control over their officeholders than they have now?

If they do they will support Harrison, who stands for less control over officeholders by the people; for more control over the people by the officeholders.

His supporters will not deny that he represents this. After his record, culminating in the packing of the Minneapolis convention with his officeholders, it is undeniable.

The Democratic party has always striven to make officeholders servants, not masters, of the people. And for this Mr. Cleveland has striven in his work for civil-service reform, which, however various the methods employed, always had the same object—that of bringing the enormous and rapidly increasing body of officeholders in subjection to the people.

These officers in the Federal civil service alone are now numbered by the hundred thousand, and every year adds to their number. Under the Harrison system they became trained politicians, and the whole object of their training is to enable them to get the better of the people; to prevent a free expression of the will of the people; to substitute for it an expression of the will of the officeholders.

No evil of our politics is more crying than this. Unless we can reform this we can hope for no permanent reform elsewhere. Popular government and bossism by Federal bureaucrats are not compatible, and one or the other must cease to exist.

Cleveland, Ninety-two.

[Air—"Bonnie Blue Flag."]

The Democrats are coming, boys, with
Grover at their head,
The freemen of America advance with solid tread;
We come to cast our ballots for retrenchment and reform,
And we will sweep the spendthrifts out in next November's storm.

CHORUS.

Hurrah! Hurrah! To Cleveland we are true,
And we'll elect him President,
November, ninety-two.

And we will send the force bill down, with Mister Lodge in tow,
To keep McKinley comp'ny, in November,
don't you know;
And Grandpa's Hat and Benjamin will follow in their track,
And they can hold a "caucus" there with Johnny Wanamak!

And we'll reform the tariff, boys, that makes our living high,
And fight the big monopolies that turn
men out to die;
And we'll resent the insult then flung out by little Ben—
"Cheap clothing" for Americans can only
"make cheap men."

* * * * *

With Cleveland and Stevenson, with honest hearts and true, We'll rally round their standard, boys, and we will dare and do;
We'll pile up such majorities on "Hat and Rat," you see,
That they will never rise again to fight
Democracy!

The Democrats are coming, boys, with steady step and free,
From every nook and corner of this land of liberty;
The South will join the Northern host, the East will join the West,
With "victory" emblazoned on the Democratic crest!

An Aggressive Campaign.

Our Republican friends make a great mistake in assuming that this is to be a defensive campaign on the part of the Democrats. It is to be aggressive in the last degree. We have nothing to excuse or to apologize for. There are just three issues:

First, the tariff.

Second, the force bill.

Third, Republican extravagance.

These the Democrats mean to press home, neither asking nor giving quarter.

Republican protection is robbery. The tariff is a gigantic job. Forced tribute to the tune of a thousand millions a year is wrung from the people to enrich a favored class. Everybody is fleeced—the farmer, the doctor, the lawyer, the laborer—in order that the Carnegies may pile up fabulous wealth. The system is rotten to the core, and it will have to go.

The Force Bill is a scheme to centralize all power in a self-perpetuating election machine. If it is enacted, nothing short of a revolution can set it aside. It will raise anarchy in the South and ruin in the North. The Republicans are committed to it, and if they elect their ticket, we shall have a new era of reconstruction more terrible than the old. It must not be. The people North and South must unite to defeat it.

The Republicans found an overflowing Treasury. They proceeded at once to loot it. If they are continued in power they will squander all the money of the people and take out a post-obit on the national credit.

Down with the robber Tariff! Down with the despotic Force Bill! Down with reckless waste of the resources of the country!—Courier-Journal.

About Gerrymanders.

While rejoicing over the decision of the Supreme Court of Michigan, which overthrew the Democratic apportionment of 1891, many of our Republican friends failed to note that the gerrymander of 188, which shared the same fate, was the work of the Republicans.

There are a good many other Republican gerrymanders that need the services of a court like the Supreme Court of Michigan. Here is a specimen of the Pennsylvania gerrymander, supplied by the Pittsburg Post:

County.	Population.	Senators.
DEMOCRATIC DISTRICTS.
Berks	137,327	1
Luzerne	201,203	1
Lackawanna	142,088	1
Totals	480,618	3
REPUBLICAN DISTRICTS.
Lebanon	48,131	1
Delaware	74,683	1
Lancaster	149,095	2
Totals	271,909	4

Less than fifty thousand people in the county of Lebanon are represented by a Republican in the State Senate, while more than two hundred thousand in Luzerne have only one Senator, who is a Democrat. The county of Lancaster, with less than one hundred and fifty thousand population, chooses two Senators, while Luzerne, with over two hundred thousand, chooses only one.

The Constitutions of different States have different provisions with reference to the principles that shall govern an apportionment. Hence a gerrymander which appears to have stood the judicial test in Pennsylvania would probably be unconstitutional in Michigan. At all events the gerrymander in Michigan could hardly have been so bad as that in Pennsylvania.

Harrison's Western Trip.

As Harrison is going to Chicago to make a speech at the dedication of the World's Fair grounds he proposes to adopt his usual tactics and make a stumping tour of his trip. He has done this repeatedly. He stumped his way across the continent, and on his return he stumped New England for renomination on pretense that he was merely visiting it to help dedicate a monument.

He is now making preparations to orate in Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and as many other Western States as he can get an excuse for invading with his campaign ice wagon.

While in Chicago Mr. Harrison will be there as President of the United States, but when he starts upon his campaigning tour he becomes Mr. Harrison, the candidate, a political aspirant working for his individual advancement. There he the active partisan and open to the opposition which his position invites. In this connection it is naturally recalled that one Andrew Johnson visited Chicago some years ago and assisted at laying the corner-stone of a monument erected to the memory of the late Stephen A. Douglas. From that point he began his famous "swing around the circle." Mr. Harrison will also swing around the circle, and it is conceded on every hand that he has a discouraging contract before him.

There was a time when the entire Northwest could be counted upon with perfect confidence by the g. o. p. It was in line year in and year out, always reliable and never estimated as even debatable ground. Since then, says the Detroit Free Press, there has been a marked change, and the situation which confronts Candidate Harrison is not an inviting one. Should he visit Wisconsin he will find there a Democratic Governor and a pronounced Democratic sentiment. In Minnesota he will encounter a condition of affairs which induced the Republicans to nominate an out-and-out tariff-reform man because they did not dare take chances with one indorsing the McKinley iniquity as upheld in the national platform of the party. In Iowa is a Democratic Governor with a following that disheartens an opposition which once boasted of an overwhelming majority. In Kansas there is a deplorable state of affairs, and should Candidate Harrison reach South Dakota, admitted to the sisterhood of States with a view of strengthening his party, he will realize how fallible is man's judgement in dealing with an unknown Western quantity. Let the candidate visit Michigan. Here he will strike a Democratic administration, a hopeless division of his own party and a confidence among the Cleveland following that will still further chill the austere statesman from Hoosierdom. It is a desperate situation that induces Candidate Harrison to attempt the proposed swing; and should he fail to make it there will be a disappointment among the Democrats of the land.

One of London's Old Ceremonies.

The annual ceremony of the trial of the pyx has just been observed at the British mint. The pyx is strictly a box, and the term is technically applied to the chest at the mint in which specimens of the coinage are preserved. The trial by weight and assay of the gold and silver coin of the United Kingdom prior to its issue is made by a jury of goldsmiths nominated for the purpose by the Lord Chancellor. On this occasion the test included 4,297 sample sovereigns and £420 in silver, representing a total coinage of $25,000,000.—New York World.

WHEN your neighbor comes home in a hack at 3 in the morning, and you suggest to your wife that perhaps he has been out of town, she merely remarks that it is but natural for you men to stand up for one another.

CATERPILLARS from six inches to a foot long are common in the vicinity of the Darling River, Australia. The natives twist them together and boil them in kangaroo grease, which is said to make a palatable dish.

MAJOR MCKINLEY is always ready to defend the McKinley bill for $350 and traveling expenses.

KIRK'S DUSKY DIAMOND TAR SOAP
Healthful, Agreeable, Cleansing.
Cures Chapped Hands, Wounds, Burns, Etc.
Removes and Prevents Dandruff.
AMERICAN FAMILY SOAP.
Best for General Household Use.

A Piano SENT on trial
WE PAY FREIGHT
If you do not keep it.
We think you will keep it.
It pleases everybody.
It is an honest piano.
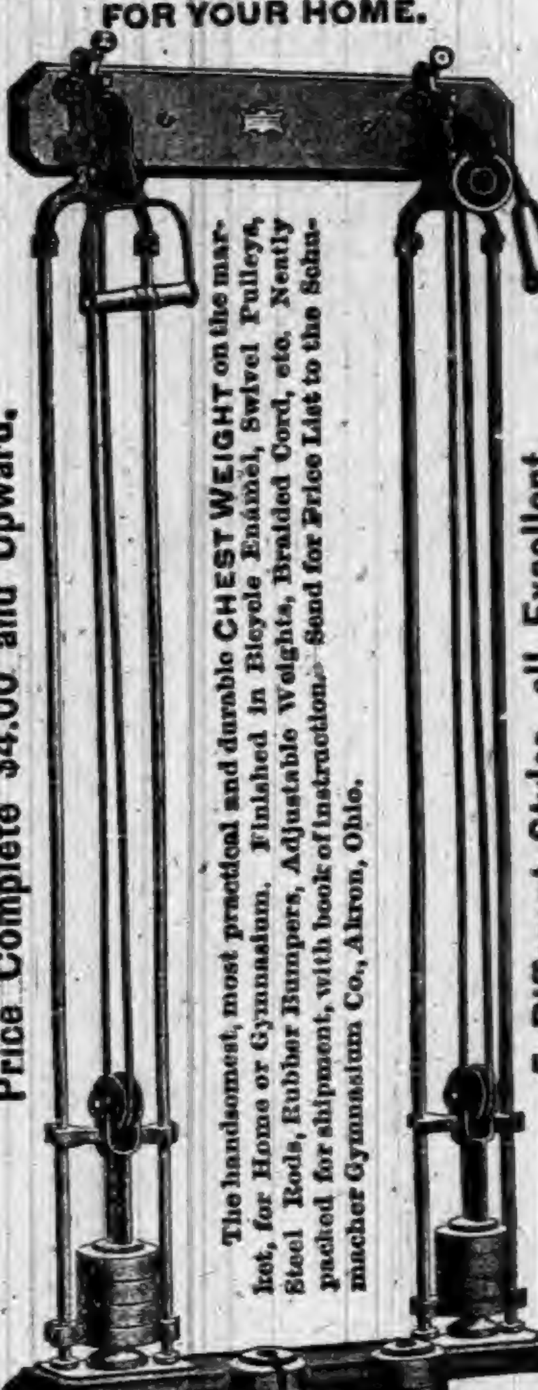
It is the WING Piano.

You may have a preference for some other make. Still you are a reasoning creature, and open to conviction, no doubt.

The question is too important to be settled without due thought. Years of satisfaction or of regret come with a piano. Does it wear well? The WING Piano does. "Look before you leap."

Whatever piano you buy, there are piano secrets you ought to know. Our free book tells them. Send a postal card for it. It may help you to buy a different piano. We take that risk. We also tell you the nearest dealer where you can see a WING Piano. It is worth looking at. So is the price. WING & SON, 245 Broadway, New York.

BOSTON CHEST WEIGHT FOR YOUR HOME.



Price Complete $4.00 and Upward.
The handsomest, most practical and durable CHEST WEIGHT on the market, for Home or Gymnasium. Finished in Bicycle Enamel, Swivel Pulleys, Steel Rods, Rubber Bumpers, Adjustable Weights, Braided Cord, etc. Neatly packed for shipment, with book of instruction. Send for Price List to the Schumacher Gymnasium Co., Akron, Ohio.
5 Different Styles, all Excellent.
Send Stamp for Illustrated Price List.
The Schumacher Gymnasium Co. AKRON, OHIO.

WEIGHT ONLY 10 OUNCES.
PROTECTOR

A NEW 7-SHOT, .32-CAL. REVOLVER.
THE "PROTECTOR,"
QUICK, SAFE, RELIABLE.
Compact, Light, Effective.
The latest and best thing in the revolver line.
Can be carried in the vest pocket as easily as a watch. 50,000 sold in France last year.
A Novelty that sells at sight. Sample revolver and Cartridges $7. Will be sent C. O. D. by express, with privilege of examination, if 50 cts. accompanies order as a guarantee of good faith.
MINNEAPOLIS FIRE ARMS CO.,
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

A BOON TO MEN.
THE MOST PRACTICAL NOVELTY EVER INVENTED.
PATENTED.
Why have your pants baggy, when this stretcher will make them last twice as long and look like new?
NICKEL PLATED! NO SCREWS!
SIMPLE AND PERFECT.
FOLDS UP.
Every man should send for one, and always look well dressed. Send $1.00 for the perfect working Trouser Stretcher, which will be sent to you prepaid. Agents can coin money. Write for illustrated circular.
THE TROUSER STRETCHER CO.,
DETROIT, MICH.

PURE STEEL
ROOFING.
Metallic Weather Boarding,
Complete Ceilings,
Corrugated Sheeting,
Roofing Paints,
Iron Roofing,
Eave Troughs, Gutters and Spouting.
All forms of Sheet Metal for Building
(COMPLETE AND READY TO APPLY WHEN SHIPPED.)
WE WANT —AN— AGENT
In this town—an energetic workman to take orders and APPLY our materials in this vicinity.
Correspondence solicited; write for prices and terms.
SCOTT & CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.
ESTABLISHED 1872.

DOES YOUR HEAD ACHE
IT WILL NOT IF YOU TAKE KRAUSE'S HeadacheCapsules
$500 Reward for any injurious substance found in these Capsules
Perfectly harmless.
Will Cure any kind of Headache.
Money refunded if not as we say. Sent postpaid on receipt of price,
Twenty-Five Cents.
NORMAN LICHTY MFG. CO.,
DES MOINES, IOWA.
For Sale by________

THE OLD DOCTOR'S Cotton Root Pills
LADIES' FAVORITE.
ALWAYS RELIABLE and perfectly SAFE. The same as used by thousands of woman all over the United States, in the OLD DOCTORS private mail practice, for 38 years, and not a single bad result. Money returned if not as represented. Send 4 cents (stamps) for sealed particulars.
Dr. WARD & CO., 117 N. 9th St., St. Louis, Mo.

44 IN A ROW!
HUMBERS AND ROVERS
Have taken 44 First Awards at International Exhibits, including Grand Prize at Paris Exposition. 24 years on the market, and by far the largest cycle makers in the world.
Buy bicycles with a reputation to lose.
Send for latest art catalogue. Agencies in all the principal cities of the world, and in 400 American towns. 400 more agents wanted. Write for proposition.

THE HUMBER-ROVER CYCLE CO.,
285 Wabash Ave., CHICAGO.
WE SELL DIRECT WHERE THERE IS NO AGENT, FOR CASH OR ON TIME.

FREE TO BOYS AND GIRLS
UNDER 18 YEARS OF AGE, without one cent of money
READ AND WRITE.

ANY boy or girl under 18 wanting an elegant High Grade Safety Bicycle can obtain it FREE without one cent of money. Shall give away, on easy conditions, 1,000 or more.
DESCRIPTION OF BICYCLE. The wheels are 26 inches with crescent steel rims and molded rubber tires and run on hardened steel cone bearings, adjustable to wear; geared to 46 inches; detachable cranks; four to five inches throw; frame finely enameled, with nickel trimmings. Each machine is supplied with tool bag, wrench and oiler. Equal to those sold in the market for $45. We have both boys' and girls' styles. We deliver the bicycle FREE of all charges anywhere in the United States.
READ THE TESTIMONY.
413 N. 38th St., PHILADELPHIA, PA., Feb. 22, 1892.
WESTERN PEARL CO., Chicago, Ill.
DEAR GENTLEMEN:—I received the Safety Bicycle last Saturday about 5 p. m. I was very much surprised at seeing such an ELEGANT, HANDSOME Safety. It is really NICER than I expected. By trials and testimonials I find your firm is reliable in its dealings and promises. I really cannot express my thanks for the nice Safety. Yours truly, EMIL DAHLMAN.
BRIGHTON, MICH., March 1st, 1892.
WESTERN PEARL CO., Chicago, Ill.
DEAR SIRS:—The Bicycle came promptly. The boy is overjoyed. He acted like a crazy child for awhile. Over and over he repeated, "It seems as if I were dreaming, but no, there it is"; and then he would go to it and pat it and talk to it. We have found you men of your word. Thanking you for your faithfulness to your word, I remain, Yours respectfully, H. A. DAY, for Lee Day.
IF YOU WANT A BICYCLE WRITE AT ONCE.
WESTERN PEARL CO., 328 to 334 Dearborn Street, CHICAGO, ILL.

How Great Cities Grow.

[Chicago Daily News-Record.]

Unthinking people suppose that big cities grow like jelly fishes, gradually expanding from a single center. But they don't. They cover the ground just as a crop of parsley spreads over a newly-hoed garden. Shoots spring up here and there from a great number of central roots. From these various centers it gradually extends until the ground is completely covered.

The various root centers are plainly discernible about Chicago, and the vacant spaces between them are just as plain. Leave the city and you run through a rapidly filling blank spot before you strike Englewood; a blank, then Auburn Park; another blank, then Pullman to the west, South Chicago to the east, and just beyond you Hammond, with vacant spaces between each of them. Another blank and then you come to Griffith—a rapidly growing new center.

This leads one to inquire what is necessary to make a root-center? What determines where they will grow? Evidently railroads. The junction of two or three railroads in the vicinity of any large city is sure to develop into a suburb. Therefore land near to a junction which is twenty miles from the center of a city is often worth more than land nearer the city but remote from any railroad or only on one.

Griffith is at the junction of four great railroads and two fuel oil pipe lines. One of its railroads is a complete belt line encircling Chicago and bringing twenty-four more railroads into immediate switch connection. It is strange such an important point was overlooked for so long. When a few months ago Jay B. Dwiggins & Co., of Chicago, laid out a town there, four factories immediately located, and houses and stores are springing up like magic.

Indian Idol.

The images of the gods in India are not made by a separate caste, but the carpenters and masons respectively make the large wooden and stone idols set up in the temples, the potters the clay idols consumed in daily worship, and the braziers, coppersmiths and goldsmiths little images in brass, copper, mixed metal and gold and silver that are always kept in private homes. The East Indians regard an alloy of brass, with six other metals, gold, silver, iron, tin, lead, making with copper and zinc of the brass, a mixture of light metals, as a very perfect alloy, and this is highly prized as a material for sacred images.

ON TRIAL. That's a good way to buy a medicine, but it's a pretty hard condition under which to sell it. Perhaps you've noticed that the ordinary, hit or miss medicine doesn't attempt it.

The only remedy of its kind so remarkable in its effects that it can be sold on this plan is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. As a blood-cleanser, strength-restorer, and flesh-builder, there's nothing like it known to medical science. In every disease where the fault is in the liver or the blood, as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, and the most stubborn Skin, Scalp, and Scrofulous affections, it is guaranteed in every case to benefit or cure, or you have your money back.

To every sufferer from Catarrh, no matter how bad the case or of how long standing, the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy say this: "If we can't cure it, perfectly and permanently, we'll pay you $500 in cash." Sold by all druggists.

DR. KILMER'S

SWAMP

ROOT

Kidney, Liver and Bladder Cure.

Rheumatism,

Lumbago, pain in joints or back, brick dust in urine, frequent calls, irritation, inflamation, gravel, ulceration or catarrh of bladder.

Disordered Liver,

Impaired digestion, gout, billious-headache. SWAMP-ROOT cures kidney difficulties, La Grippe, urinary trouble, bright's disease.

Impure Blood,

Scrofula, malaria, gen'l weakness or debility.

Guarantee—Use contents of One Bottle, if not benefited, Druggists will refund to you the price paid.

At Druggists, 50c. Size, $1.00 Size.

"Invalids' Guide to Health" free—Consultation free.

DR. KILMER & Co., BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

TOWER'S

FISH BRAND

This Trade Mark is on the best

WATERPROOF COAT

in the World!

Illustrated Catalogue Free. A. J. TOWER, BOSTON, MASS.

"I am not Well Enough to Work."

This is a daily event in mills, shops, factories, etc. It is the point where nature can endure no more. Then the poor sufferer, worn with toil and broken in health, stands aside to make room for another. "Quick Consumption" they call it. To this class of women and girls we proffer both sympathy and aid. When these distressing weaknesses and derangements assail you, remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will relieve them. We have on record thousands of such cases that have been restored to vigorous health.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

All Druggists sell it, or sent by mail, in form of Pills or Lozenges, on receipt of $1.00. Liver Pills, 25c. Correspondence freely answered. Address in confidence, LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. Co., LYNN, MASS.

BEST POLISH IN THE WORLD.

RISING SUN STOVE POLISH

DO NOT BE DECEIVED with Pastes, Enamels, and Paints which stain the hands, injure the iron, and burn off. The Rising Sun Stove Polish is Brilliant, Odorless, Durable, and the consumer pays for no tin or glass package with every purchase.

HAS AN ANNUAL SALE OF 3,000 TONS.

MYSTERIOUS OLD MARS.

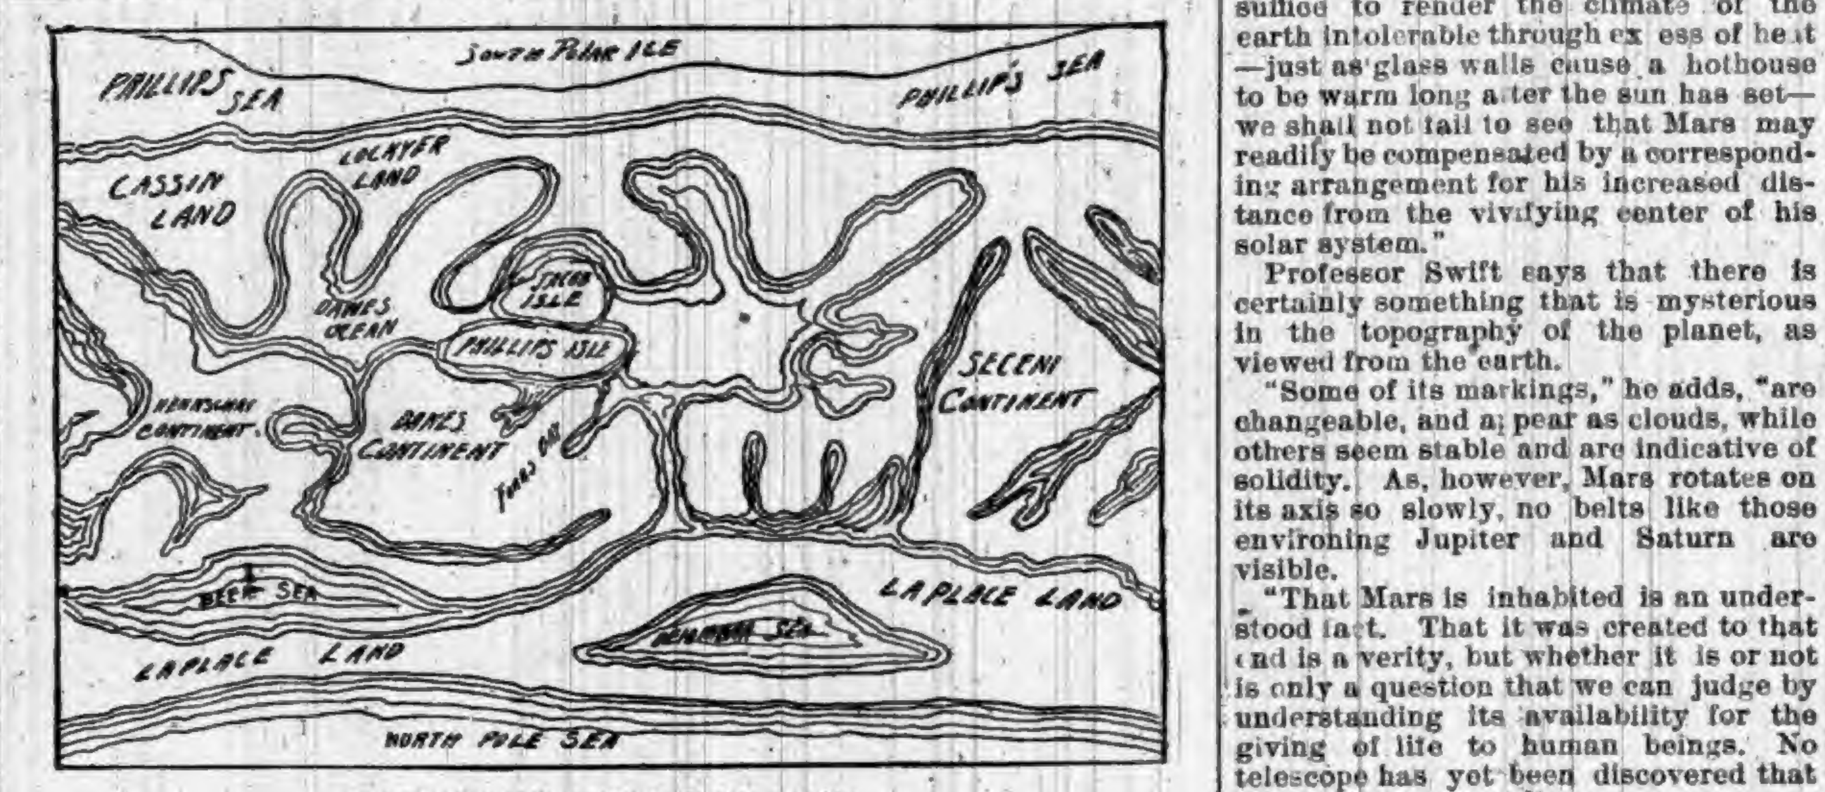
THE PLANET MAY BE THE HOME OF MEN.

There Are Signs on Its Surface of Work that Could Have Been Done Only by Human Hands—Problems Astronomers Attempt to Solve.

Facts and Theories.

Up to within a short time ago very few people had anything but an indistinct idea of this planet. Everybody that knew anything about astronomy knew, of course, all about Mars, but when a man is harvesting his grain crop, watching the course of the stock market, or trying to pick the winners at a horse race, he isn't paying much attention to astronomy. All the view that the average man has of the planet is gained by looking at the heavens through the bottom of a soda-water glass.

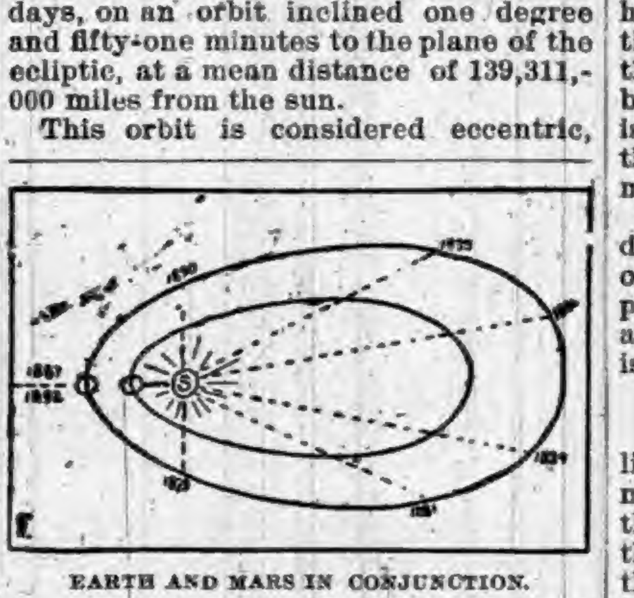
But recently this planet has been in what the astronomers call apposition. That is very like saying to the average mind that peas and beans multiplied by cabbage make roast beef. So to find out exactly what the meaning of apposition is one must first learn something about the history of the planet Mars. After that you can put on an easy air of knowledge.



MAP OF THE SURFACE OF MARS.

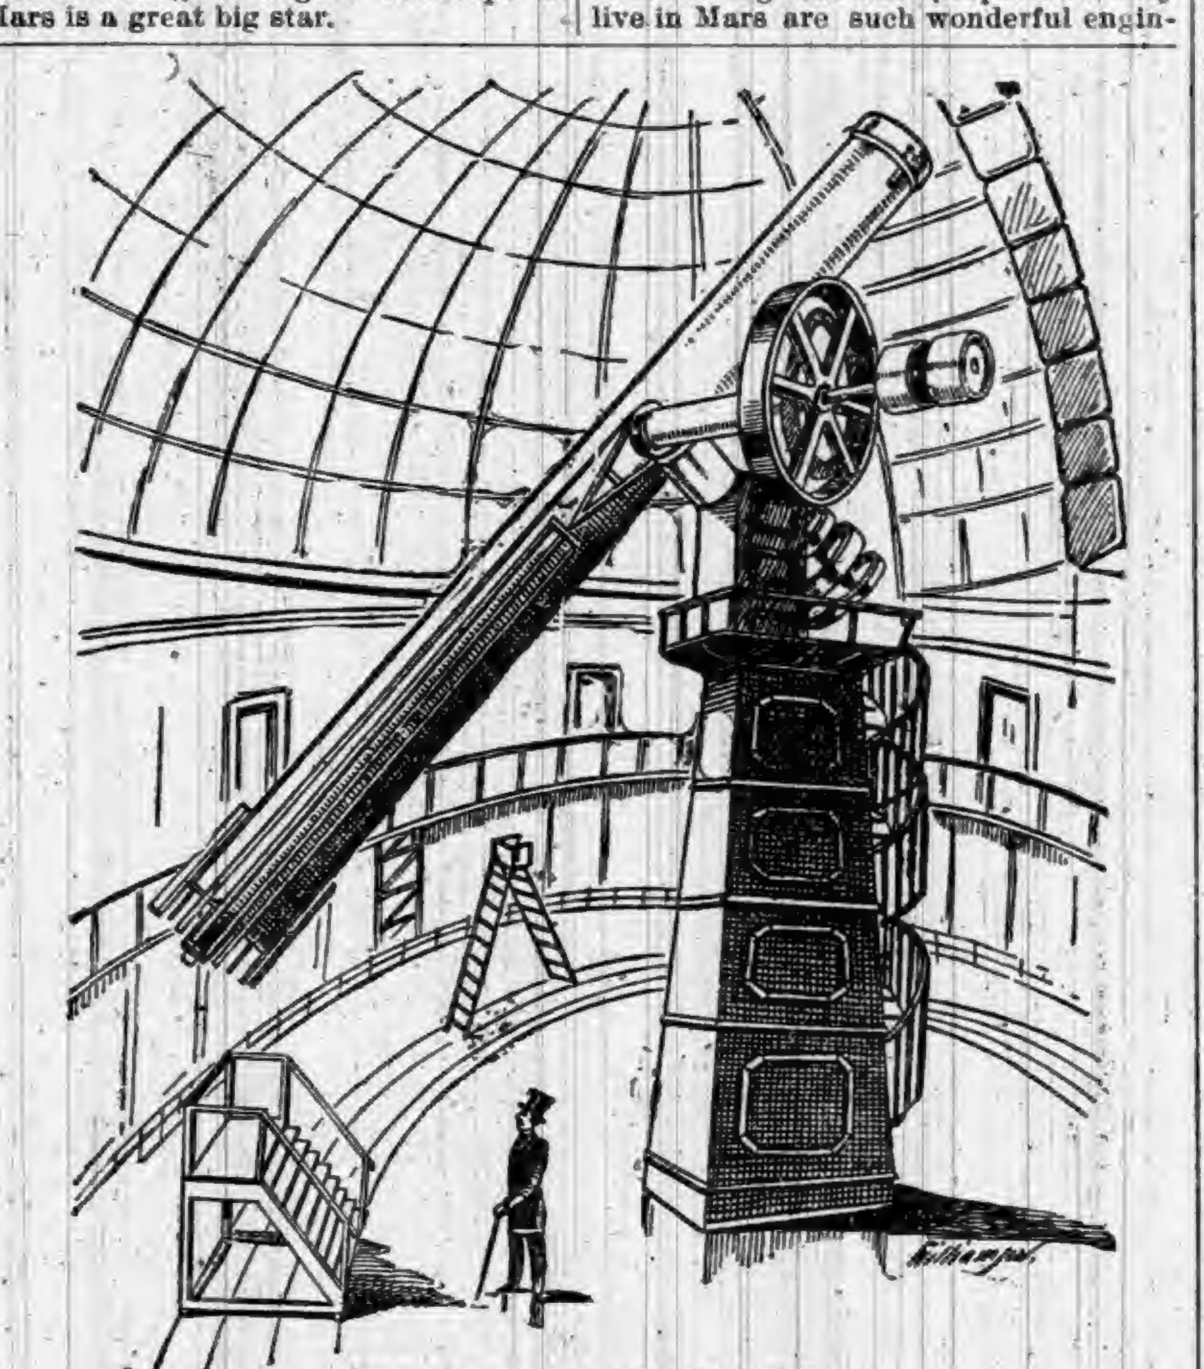
Mars is the fourth planet in order of distance from the sun. It is nearest to the world on which we live of all the great superior planets that make the solar system. Mars travels around the sun in a mean sidereal period of 686.9767 days, on an orbit inclined one degree and fifty-one minutes to the plane of the ecliptic, at a mean distance of 139,311,000 miles from the sun.

This orbit is considered eccentric, insomuch that its greatest distance, 152,304,000 miles, exceeds its least, 126,318,000, by more than 26,000,000 miles. When it is nearest to the earth it is in apposition.



EARTH AND MARS IN CONJUNCTION.

Now the foregoing statement is technical, and to the layman's mind tells little. What the average man can see when looking through a telescope at Mars is a great big star.



THE GREAT LICK TELESCOPE.

What Mars Is.

It doesn't seem to be anything else, but it is. People who have made a study of the planet believe that it is a good deal like the world, and while they do not go so far as to actually say so, they think it possible that it is inhabited. It was some fifteen years ago that Mars first became a planet that had any earthly interest to the people who live on this globe.

A very wise man that used to sit up nights and look at the sky through a telescope first made known the fact that Mars was a good deal like the earth in its shape, and also uttered the startling theory that he thought it possible that the planet was inhabited.

People laughed at him just then, and he faded into the oblivion that comes to people who are in the habit of discovering facts ahead of time.

But after him came a man who told the same thing again in a new way, and who now has got to a point where the world is beginning to believe that he is right.

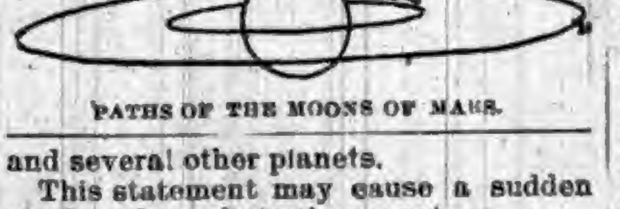
Professor Schiaparelli the Man.

The man is Professor Schiaparelli, of Milan, Italy. He says that in his opinion the planet Mars is not simply a nebulous quantity of vapor, but it is a solid substance on which animals and men exist.

He found that the planet has a diameter of about 4,000 miles. By careful calculation he is confident that its year consisted of 687 days, and that each day in time was forty minutes longer than our day. He also found that the planet was made up of water and land, just like our world. It has, he says, seas and continents and rivers.

As to its density, it differs very little from that of the earth. Gravitation at its surface must be much less than it is in this world. A man who weighs 150 pounds upon this mundane sphere would weigh about 60 pounds on Mars. The most obese of American stout people would, if he lived on Mars, become so light that he could dance as easily as one of the young ladies at Eldorado.

In fact, all substances would be reduced in weight by transfer from our world to Mars. Upon that planet our oak would become as light as cork. Our gold would be as light as tin. A glass of wine that wouldn't affect the smallest child in this world, would make a man in Mars feel that he owned that and several other planets.



PATHS OF THE MOONS OF MARS.

This statement may cause a sudden exodus of people to the planet.

Is Mars Inhabited?

The question just now is: Is Mars inhabited?

No one knows, of course, whether it is or not. The only thing to judge by is in the character of the planet gathered by careful inspection through telescopes. Astronomers are confident that they have seen the eternal snows of the two polar regions of our neighbor world. They are confident that its continents are red, and that its seas are green, and they are equally sure that its seas do not cover more than one-fourth of its surface. The seas on our planet cover three-fourths of the world, which points the comparison.

The scarcity of water in Mars is its most remarkable feature.

The theory that people really do inhabit the planet is borne out by the fact that Professor Schiarparelli is confident that he has discovered that Mars has been traversed by gigantic canals. It is easy to see that if there are canals on the planet it is a surety that people must have built them.

The idea, too, is strengthened by the discovered fact that there is a scarcity of water in the planet. Necessarily the planet must be irrigated in that manner, and as there are canals, the conclusion is that there must be people there.

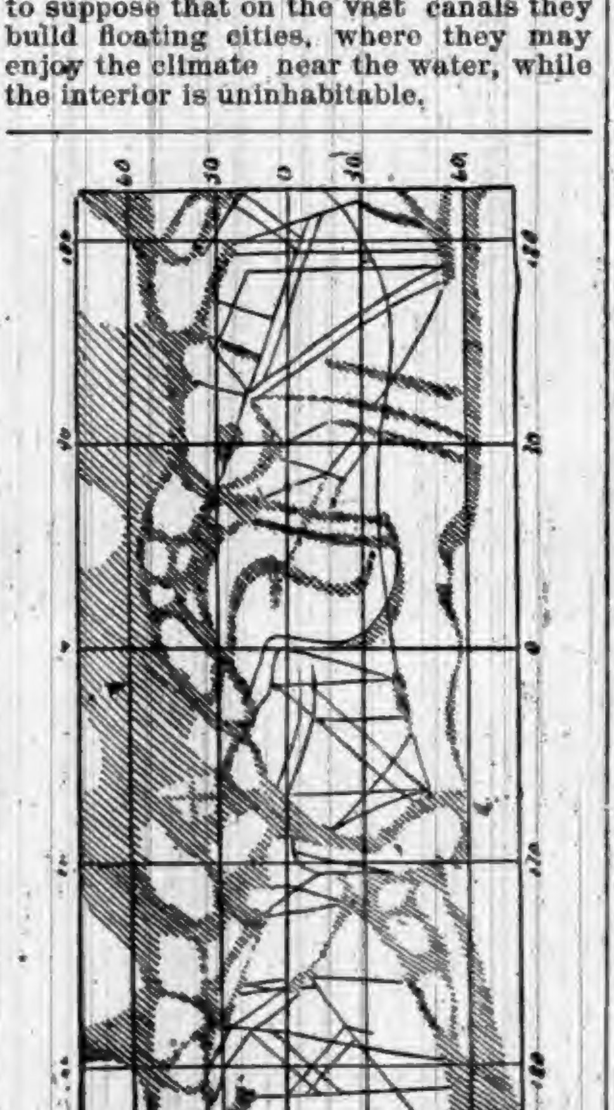
How the Canals Look.

The canals of the planet Mars are believed to have been cut for thousands of miles across the land to connect with the seas. They are green in color, like the water, and, in order to be visible through our telescopes, they must be from 100 to 400 miles in length. They must also be about 200 miles wide.

They mostly run from north to south, for the seas divide the land from east to west.

It is difficult to conceive of such enormous public works, but nothing else will answer. Our little canals would dry up in crossing a thousand miles of desert.

Conceding that the people who may live in Mars are such wonderful engineers and scientists, it is easy to allow them any amount of skill, and it is easy to suppose that on the vast canals they build floating cities, where they may enjoy the climate near the water, while the interior is uninhabitable.



SCHIAPARELLI'S CHART, SHOWING DOUBLE CANALS.

Wonderful Cities.

A city built on steel or iron hulls—for iron is the metal of Mars—chained closely together and built upon wood and metal, would be practicable anywhere, but would be necessary in a world where the land is dry and arid.

If there are people in Mars, they must possess much skill and intelligence. So they would probably have wit enough to tow their floating cities to northern latitudes in summer. As the winter season approaches they would obviously float them southward, following up the climate, as the American Indians do with their skin lodges and women and children.

If a people can construct such enormous works as canals of the dimensions told in the foregoing, it would be impossible to tell where the limit of their skill would reach. They must be far ahead of Americans as engineers and mechanics. What other astonishing triumphs as mechanical originators they have achieved must be left to the future to discover.

What Astronomers Think.

"One circumstance," says Professor Proctor, "that may at first excite surprise is the fact that in a planet so much farther from the sun than the world there should exist so close a resemblance to the earth in respect to climatic relations.

"But if we consider the results of Tyndale's researches on the radiation of heat, and remember that a very moderate increase in the quantity of certain vapors present in our atmosphere would suffice to render the climate of the earth intolerable through excess of heat—just as glass walls cause a hothouse to be warm long after the sun has set—we shall not fail to see that Mars may readily be compensated by a corresponding arrangement for his increased distance from the vivifying center of his solar system."

Professor Swift says that there is certainly something that is mysterious in the topography of the planet, as viewed from the earth.

"Some of its markings," he adds, "are changeable, and appear as clouds, while others seem stable and are indicative of solidity. As, however, Mars rotates on its axis so slowly, no belts like those environing Jupiter and Saturn are visible.

"That Mars is inhabited is an understood fact. That it was created to that end is a verity, but whether it is or not is only a question that we can judge by understanding its availability for the giving of life to human beings. No telescope has yet been discovered that truly tells that fact."

Prof. Schiaparelli is the only astronomer that has managed to draw a chart of Mars that as a planet exists only in the minds of other not quite so famous astronomers.

Aside from the discoveries of the Italian professor, the credit of finding that Prof. Schiaparelli is correct must be awarded to the famous Lick Observatory at San Francisco. The money to build this magnificent observatory was furnished by Mr. Lick, and it has well demonstrated his faith that it was needed by the fact that it has told the world that Mars is probably another planet like ours.

The Dun Done For.

A gentleman has just died in Paris who owed most of his celebrity to the quaint manner in which he managed to disembarrass himself of his creditors. No sooner did a dun present himself than he was ushered into a room hung round with a variety of mirrors, some convex, others concave, etc. In one the unfortunate creditor beheld himself with a head as flat as a flounder; in another his features were nearly as sharp as a knife; in a third he had several heads; in a fourth he was upside down. Here he had the broad grin of a clown, there the long-drawn visage of an undertaker. On one side of the room he saw himself all head and no body, on the other side it seemed as if a dwarf had put on the boots of a giant. No applicant, however pressing, was known to resist this chamber of horrors for more than a quarter of an hour.

The Discovery of Tea.

By whom or when the virtues of tea as a beverage were discovered is "lost in the wide revolving shades of centuries passed." The famous herb is spoken of in Chinese annals as far back as 2,500 years B. C., at which time its cultivation and classification was as much of an art as it is today.

Tradition says that its virtues were discovered by accident. King Shen Nung She, "The Divine Husbandman," who flourished forty centuries ago, was boiling water over a fire one evening when some tea leaves hanging over the vessel were loosened by the heat and fell into the steaming fluid. Nung She partook of the decoction while it was hot "and felt himself renewed in limb and sight for seven days thereafter." Then and there he consecrated tea as the sacred beverage of China.

Noble Spelling.

Many a man has been sorry that he ever put himself into the power of a dealer in patent medicine. A recent example is furnished by a member of the British nobility.

The Duke of ——, out of feelings of gratitude, we may assume, gave a testimonial to the proprietors of a patent cure for snoring, and they, naturally enough, circulated a lithographed copy of the letter by way of advertisement. The result is that everybody is asking where the duke went to school. And the duke, we are told, recognizing the fact that the word "effcaccious" has a strange look in print, has vowed never to pen another testimonial without a dictionary at his elbow.

How to Care for Boots.

Much damage is done by brushing off dried mud from thin calf and kid boots with hard bristle brushes, and still more by the use of common blacking. In the case of ladies' boots, made of fine and soft leather, both treatments are ruinous. When boots are very muddy remove the dirt with a damp sponge or a painter's sash tool and a little water. Glace kid boots, etc., should be sponged, allowed to dry and then thoroughly polished with a soft rag or handkerchief which is slightly oiled occasionally.—New York World.

GOULD never offered his palatial yacht for sale until Vanderbilt came near being drowned and Kaiser Wilhelm's Meteor was left trailing by the English cracks. Gould knows when to get from under.

DICKY PROUDFIT—Huh; I can't see why you never put on your Sunday clothes! Bobby Poore—But I does. I wears 'em seven days in the week.—Puck.

MOSQUITOES don't know very much about law, but they always try to bleed a man as soon as they are admitted to the bar.

The First Casting.

Cast iron was not in commercial use before the year 1700, when Abraham Darby, an intelligent mechanic, who had brought some Dutch workmen to establish a brass foundry at Bristol, conceived the idea that iron might be substituted for brass. This his workmen did not succeed in effecting, being probably to much prejudiced in favor of the metal with which they were best acquainted. A Welsh shepherd boy named John Thomas had, some time previous to this, been received by Abraham Darby into his workshop on recommendation of a distant relative. While looking on during the experiments of the Dutch workmen, he said to Abraham Darby that he thought he saw where they had missed it. He begged to be allowed to try. So he and Abraham Darby remained in the workshop all night, struggling with the refractory metal and imperfect molds. The hours passed on, and daylight appeared; but neither would leave his task, and, just as morning dawned, they succeeded in casting an iron pot complete. The boy entered into an agreement with Abraham Darby to serve him, and keep the secret. He was enticed by the offer of double wages to leave his master, but he continued faithful; and, from 1700 to 1828, the family of Thomas were confidential and much valued agents to the descendants of Abraham Darby. For more than one hundred years after the night in which Thomas and his master succeeded in making an iron casting in a mold of fine sand contained in frames and with air holes, the same process was practiced, and kept secret at Colebrook Dale, with plugged key-holes and barred doors.—English Paper.

When the Trap Is Sprung

Upon us, as it sometimes is, in a most unexpected manner by disease, we appreciate the fact that it is a most insidious foe, and that not only is it necessary to combat it by the most potent medicinal agencies, but to prevent its manifestation at all by counteracting the causes that produce it. Thus, exposure in wet weather, the enforced wearing of damp clothes during a storm, a thorough draught, unaccustomed diet and water, bodily or mental overwork are breeders of disease, but Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will prevent their inducing it. This medicine fortifies the system against the assured effects such causes would otherwise produce. To the mariner, miner, the outdoor laborer, the slave of the desk and pen, and the overworked generally, it is of the utmost advantage. Dyspepsia, kidney trouble, malaria, biliousness, all yield to it.

Did He Drink?

"Mister, could you give me a dime?"

"Now look here" said Scrabblins, "you want a drink, don't you?"

"Mister, I——"

"Don't protest. I know you people."

"Well, sir, as long as you show yer a thoroughbred, I don't mind ownin' up. A drink's what I want."

"Hum! I'll help you get it."

"Thank ye, sir. I'll never furgit ye, sir."

"You go right around the corner."

"Yes, sir."

"And there you'll find a pump with a tin cup on top of it. Everything you need right there handy."

And Scrabblins walked away with the air of a man who feels himself a benefactor.—Washington Star.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O., Props. of Hall's Catarrh Cure, offer $100 reward for any case of catarrh that can not be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for testimonials, free. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Mohave Superstitions.

The Mohaves believe that all who die and are not cremated are turned into owls, and when they hear an owl hooting at night they think it is the spirit of some dead Mohave returned. After any one dies they do not eat salt or wash themselves for four days. They had formerly an annual burning of property, and all would contribute something to the flames in expectation of its going up to their departed friends in Heaven, or "White Mountain," as they call it.

LOW RATE HARVEST EXCURSIONS.

The announcement that the North-Western Line, comprising over 8,000 miles of thoroughly equipped railway, has arranged to run two low rate Harvest Excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by those who are interested in the development of the great West and Northwest, as well as by those who desire to visit this wonderfully productive region at a season of the year when exact demonstration can be made of the merits and advantages it offers to home-seekers and those in search of safe and profitable investments.

These excursions will leave Chicago on August 30th and Sept. 27th, and tickets can be purchased at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip to points in Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, and Montana. They will be strictly first-class in every particular and will be good for return passage at any time within twenty days from date of purchase. Full information concerning rates and arrangements for these excursions can be obtained upon application to any coupon ticket agent, or to W. A. Thrall, G. P. T. A., Chicago & North-Western R'y, Chicago.

A Horse Lover.

"Hawkins is very fond of his horse, isn't he?"

"Why, no, he hates him."

"That's queer. I saw him riding in the park the other day and he had his arms about the animal's neck.—Harper's Bazar.

MY wife has used Bradycrotine for headache with the best imaginable results. I state this without solicitation. J. W. Mashburn, Abbeville, Ga. Of all Druggists. 50c.

Why Are We Not Kinder?

I wonder why it is we are not all kinder than we are? How much the world needs it! How easily it is done! How infallibly it is remembered! How superabundantly it pays itself back! For there is no debtor in the world so honorable, so superbly honorable, as love. "Love never faileth."—Drummond.

Revealed Healing Wonder, discovered through a dream by a miner in Arizona. Sample free. Address with stamp, CRYSTAL CAVE SUPPLY CO., 3602 State, Chicago, Ill.

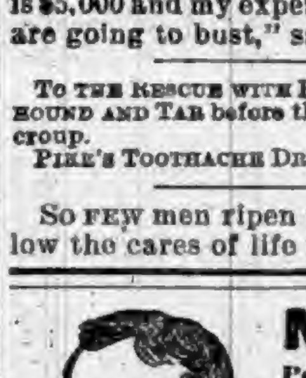
What He Was Going to Do.

"I don't know what on earth I'm going to do," said Harkins. "My income is $5,000 and my expenses $10,000." "You are going to bust," said Hicks.—Echoes.

TO THE RESCUE WITH HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR before the baby strangles with croup.

PIKE'S TOOTHACHE DROPS Cure in one Minute.

SO FEW men ripen well. Too many allow the cares of life to sour them.



Mr. R. J. Brundage.

No Wonder

People Speak Well of HOOD'S. "For a long time I was troubled with weak stomach, Indigestion and Dyspepsia. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and have not felt so well all over for years. My food seldom troubles me now. My sister also took Hood's Sarsaparilla with very pleasing results. I don't wonder people speak well of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Don't see how they can help it." R. J. BRUNDAGE, Norwalk, Ct.

N. B. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

HOOD'S PILLS act easily, yet promptly and efficiently, on the liver and bowels.

To Subscribers of This Paper.

After twenty-five years constant use of various Pile Remedies I never found anything to do me any good until I tried Dr. Kilmer's U & O Anointment. I used it in connection with the Swamp-Root, and I tell you it made a new man out of me.

J. P. BROWN, Osgood, Ind.

About the Size of It.

Gossipby—Good morning, Crosman; what makes you look so glum?

Crosman—Nothing much, only I have a check suit on my hands.

"A misfit?"

"Very near it—breach of promise."—Judge.

MEDICAL science has achieved a great triumph in the production of Beecham's Pills, which, at 25 cents a box replace a medicine chest.

Economy.

Parke Rowe—I don't see why you editorial writers don't come right out and sign your articles.

Fullerton—My dear fellow, space on that page is worth $2 a line.—Puck.

FITS.—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila, Pa.

WHEN a man is afraid of a woman, he cannot be in love with her.

SYRUP of FIGS

ONE ENJOYS

Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

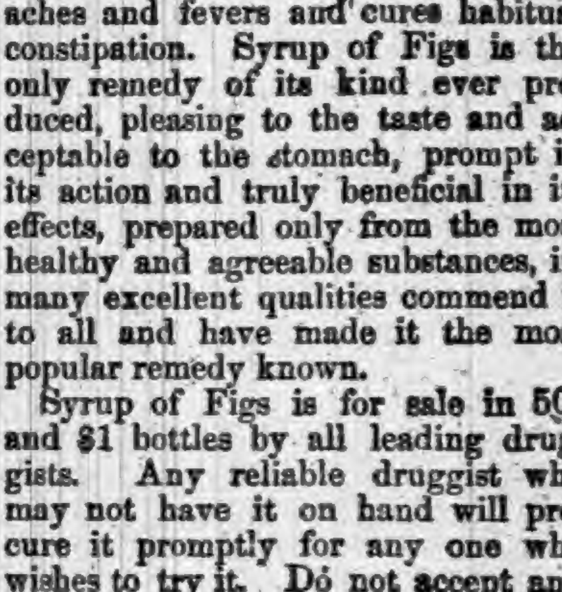
Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y.

Going to Buy A Dictionary?

GET THE BEST.



Fully Abreast of the Times.
A Choice Gift.
A Grand Family Educator.
The Standard Authority.

Successor of the authentic "Unabridged." Ten years spent in revising, 100 editors employed, over $300,000 expended.

SOLD BY ALL BOOKSELLERS.

Do not buy reprints of obsolete editions. Send for free pamphlet containing specimen pages and FULL PARTICULARS.

G. & C. MERRIAM CO., Publishers, Springfield, Mass., U. S. A.

The Wabash R. R. Co.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

Wait for the Great Low Rate HARVEST EXCURSIONS to be run by the WABASH RAILROAD on August 30th, September 27th, and October 25th, 1892, to points West, Southwest, and Northwest. Remember the Wabash is the Great Through Reclining Chair Car Route, and is the only railroad in the States of Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan giving its patrons Free Seats in these luxurious palace cars. Go West and enjoy a few weeks rest and recreation at a nominal expense. For maps, time tables and full particulars, address the nearest Wabash Agent, or write to F. Chandler, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Wabash R. R., St. Louis, Mo.

WE SELL

COTTRELL CYLINDER PRESSES

At reasonable rates and upon easy terms. Write for particulars.

FORT WAYNE NEWSPAPER UNION, Fort Wayne, Ind.

—ELY'S CREAM BALM—Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores Taste and Smell, and Cures

CATARRH

THE CURE FOR CATARRH COLD IN HEAD HAY-FEVER ELY'S CREAM BALM

Gives Relief at once for Cold in Head. Apply into the Nostrils. It is Quickly Absorbed. 50c. Druggists or by mail. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y.

FREE Illustrated Publications, WITH MAPS, describing Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon, the FREE GOVERNMENT AND LOW PRICE NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R. LANDS

The best Agricultural, Grazing and Timber Lands now open to settlers. Mailed FREE. Address CHAS. B. LAMBORN, Land Com., N. P. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

PISO'S CURE FOR

Consumptives and people who have weak lungs or Asthma, should use Piso's Cure for Consumption. It has cured thousands. It has not injured one. It is not bad to take. It is the best cough syrup. Sold everywhere. 25c.

CONSUMPTION.

"German Syrup"

Justice of the Peace, George Wilkinson, of Lowville, Murray Co., Minn., makes a deposition concerning a severe cold. Listen to it. "In the Spring of 1888, through exposure I contracted a very severe cold that settled on my lungs. This was accompanied by excessive night sweats. One bottle of Boschee's German Syrup broke up the cold, night sweats, and all and left me in a good, healthy condition. I can give German Syrup my most earnest commendation." ®

DO YOU COUGH DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

Burlington Route

Harvest Excursions

August 30th and Sept. 27th,

FROM

Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis

to the Cities and Farm Districts throughout the

WEST

Southwest and Northwest

Round trip tickets will be sold by your local ticket agent on these dates at

HALF RATES!

See that they read over the Burlington Route from Chicago, Peoria or St. Louis. It is the direct line to the territory in question. Send for pamphlet with map and complete information to P. S. EUSTIS, G. P. A., CHICAGO, ILL.

Unlike the Dutch Process

No Alkalies

—OR—

Other Chemicals

are used in the preparation of

W. BAKER & CO.'S

BreakfastCocoa

which is absolutely pure and soluble.

It has more than three times the strength of Cocoa mixed with Starch, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is far more economical, costing less than one cent a cup. It is delicious, nourishing, and EASILY DIGESTED.

Sold by Grocers everywhere.

W. BAKER & CO., Dorchester, Mass.

DR. T. FELIX GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM, OR MAGICAL BEAUTIFIER.

PURIFIES AS WELL AS Beautifies the Skin. No other cosmetic will do it.

Removes Tan, Pimples, Freckles, Moth Patches, Rash and Skin diseases, and every blemish on beauty, and defies detection. It has stood the test of 40 years, and is so harmless we taste it to be sure it is properly made. Accept no counterfeit of similar name. Dr. L. A. Sayer said to a lady of the haut-ton (a patient): "As you ladies will use them, I recommend 'GOURAUD'S CREAM' as the least harmful of all the Skin preparations." One bottle will last six months, using it every day. Also Poudre Subtile removes superfluous hair without injury to the skin. FERD. T. HOPKINS, Prop., 37 Great Jones St., N. Y. Beware of Base imitations. $1,000 Reward for arrest and proof of any one selling the same.

Established 1836.

Nature's Summer Remedies.

"The Lord created medicines out of the earth, And he that is wise will not abhor them."

Dr. O. P. Brown's BLOOD PURIFIER AND LIVER INVIGORATOR. Old Reliable Remedies—Standard as flour in all markets,—composed of best blood herbs, 8; 3 of herbs which act on the Liver and bowels; cures Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Jaundice; 8 Druggists, or 47 Grand st., Jersey City, N. J.

The Oldest Medicine in the World is probably DR. ISAAC THOMPSON'S CELEBRATED EYE-WATER.

This article is a carefully prepared physician's prescription, and has been in constant use for nearly a century. There are few diseases to which mankind are subject more distressing than sore eyes, and none, perhaps, for which more remedies have been tried without success. For all external inflammation of the eyes it is an infallible remedy. If the directions are followed it will never fail. We particularly invite the attention of physicians to its merits. For sale by all druggists. JOHN L. THOMPSON, SONS & CO., TROY, N. Y. Established 1797.

RIPANS TABULES regulate the stomach, liver and bowels, purify the blood, are safe and effectual, the best medicine known for biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia, foul breath, headache, mental depression, painful digestion, bad complexion, and all diseases caused by failure of the stomach, liver or bowels to perform their proper functions. Persons given to over-eating are benefited by taking one after each meal. Price, by mail, 1 gross $2; sample, 15c. At Druggists, or sent by mail. RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

FAT FOLKS REDUCED

Mrs. Alice Maple, Oregon, Mo., writes: "My weight was 320 pounds, now it is 195, a reduction of 125 lbs." For circulars address, with 6c., Dr. O. W. F. SNYDER, McVicker's Theatre, Chicago, Ill.

GUITARS AND MANDOLINS

Guitars from $5.50 upwards. Mandolins from $15.00 upwards.

THE MARQUETTE, Quarter-sawed Sycamore. THE ARION, Mahogany, fine finish.

THE LAKESIDE, Quarter-sawed Oak, Antique. THE CONSERVATORY, High Grade, Rose finish.

All the above sold under our own guarantee; 100,000 of our instruments now in use. Your local dealer will order for you. Name burned on inside. Send for illustrated catalogue. LYON & HEALY, 53 Monroe Street, Chicago.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE.

The Family Wash Blue, for sale by Grocers.

When Writing to Advertisers, say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

A Safe Was Blown Open
THE OTHER MORNING,
AND THE CONTENTS SCATTERED!

But that did not effect the quality of

Long's Breakfast Flour,

the finest thing on the market for a morning meal.

Mason Fruit Jars $1.05 per Doz.

IRA BRANDON.

YOUNG, OLD and MIDDLE AGED MEN CURED. ATHLETES, BICYCLISTS, HORSEMEN, R. R. MEN.

A protection to the Generative Organs. For sale by druggists. TAKE NO OTHER.

A BOON TO MEN

Suffering from the follies of youth. A positive cure for Varicocele [enlarged veins], Lost Manhood, Impotency and Nocturnal Emissions without the aid of drugs. Our Suspensory is endorsed by physicians and fully protected by U. S. patents, dated Dec. 8th, 1891. The best, surest, cleanest, cheapest and most comfortable remedy on the market. Affords absolute relief; easily applied; no inconvenience to the wearer; prevents chafing in hot weather; prevents injury from sudden jar or strain. Price, $3.00 by mail, or by express C. O. D., with privilege of examination. Circulars and information free. Send orders and communications to wholesale department.

V. R. S. CO. 25 Buhl Block, DETROIT, MICH.

SHAKE V. R. S.

"We use the Vulcanized Suspensory." "Nothing like it."

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of an execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, in a cause wherein Elizabeth Frick is execution plaintiff, and Samuel Frick is defendant, requiring me to make the sum of Two Hundred Twenty nine dollars and Thirty-five cents, with interest on said judgment and costs, I will expose at Public Sale, to the highest bidder, on Saturday, September 17th, 1892.

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m., and 4 o'clock p. m., of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb county, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

Commencing at the northwest of tract of land heretofore conveyed by Nancy Willard in the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section three (3) in township thirty-four (34) north of range thirteen (13) east, and running from thence in an easterly direction parallel with the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad two and twenty-five one-hundredths chains to stake, thence south two chains and four and one-half links to a stake, thence in a westerly direction two and twenty-five one-hundredths chains to the line of land owned by Charles Kelley, thence north two chains and four and one-half links, to the place of beginning, containing forty-six one-hundredths of an acre, more, more or less, except a stript twenty-five (25) links wide off of the north end, which has been reserved for street purposes.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said judgment, interest and costs, I will at the same time and place expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficent to discharge said judgment, interest and costs. The above real estate will not be sold for less than two-thirds of its appraised value.

PHIL PLUM, Sheriff of DeKalb county, Indiana.

WM. H. LEAS, Att'y for Defendant.

Auburn, August 23rd, 1892.

Notice to Non-Residents

STATE OF INDIANA,
DEKALB COUNTY, } ss.

In the DeKalb circuit court, October term, 1892, William W. Gary is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said court, for foreclosure of mortgage by Robert T. Duncan, and that the same will be heard and determined on the 13th juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3rd, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 24th day of August, 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk.

WILLIAM H. LEAS, Att'y.

Administrator's Sale.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned, administrator of the estate of John L. Shirey, deceased by order of the DeKalb Circuit Court, on Thursday October 13, 1892.

will sell the following real estate of said decedent, at public auction, on the premises, to wit:

Sixty acres off of the South side of the southwest quarter of section thirty-two (32) in township number thirty three (33) north of range fifteen (15) east in DeKalb County, in the State of Indiana. Sale to commence at 1 o'clock p. m.

TERMS: One-third cash, one-third in nine months, and one-third in eighteen months from day of sale. The deferred payments to be evidenced by the purchaser's notes, at interest, waiving relief from appraisement laws and secured by a mortgage on the premises.

SEBASTIAN TUSTESAN, Administrator.

J. E. & J. H. ROSE, Att'ys. for Estate.

August 29, 1892.

WANTED, FOR THE UNITED STATES ARMY, able-bodied unmarried men, between the ages of 21 and 30 years. Good pay, rations, clothing, and medical attendance. Applicants must be prepared to furnish satisfactory evidences as to age, character and habits. Apply at 4th floor, Bass Block, Calhoun street, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Reunion of Sailors and Soldiers.

Two coming important events of interest to sailors and soldiers of the late war will be the Reunion of the Naval Veterans at Baltimore, September 16th to 19th, and the encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Washington, commencing September 20, immediately after the Sailors' Reunion. Interest in the reunion will be heightened by the presence of the White Squadron in the harbor of Baltimore. The G. A. R. encampment will be the occasion of the greatest military assemblage in Washington since the Grand Review of 1865, following the fall of Richmond. For both of these events the Baltimore & Ohio railroad will sell tickets at greatly reduced rates, and will grant most liberal concessions in the way of stop over privileges. Tickets will be sold from September 13th to 20th inclusive, valid for return journey until October 20th, and will be good to stop off, going or returning, at all stations between Cumberland and Baltimore—a region rendered familiar to all veterans by the constant warfare along the Potomac.

For more detailed information as to time of trains, rates and sleeping car accommodations, apply to nearest B. & O. Agent. 36

Low Rates to Washington, D. C.

The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry. will sell excursion tickets to Washington, D. C., Sept. 13 to 20 inclusive good to return until Oct. 10, 1892. For rates and time of special train of Sept. 17, see notice in another part of this paper.

G. A. R. and W. R. C. "Git on Board"

The special train to be run over the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry. on Sept. 17, for the National encampment at Washington, D. C.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Wars, during the last thirty-three years have cost 2,500,000 men and $3,000,000,000.

THE OLD MILL OF MYSTERY,

is now in operation and grinding out Summer Goods, at

REDUCED PRICES.

Challies, ginghams, satteens and tissues, all must go

THIS HARVEST!

Come and bring Grain Sacks. If you haven't got as many as you need, we can furnish the America at 20 cents, Stark A., 22 cents.

Come One, Come All

To THE

HEADQUARTERS,

at the popular store of

MRS. M. JONES & SON.

Stand and Hanging Lamps.

AT

OLDS BROS,

SEBRING B'l'd'g, AUBURN.

McElree's Wine of Cardui

and THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT are for sale by the following merchants in

DeKalb Co.:

Robbins & McCord,	Auburn,
F. E. Davenport,	"
J. D. Campbell,	Waterloo,
Willis & Co.,	"
Geo. Kebrer,	Butler,
S. G. Stone,	"
O. P. Raber,	Corunna,
W. M. Mercer,	"
J. M. Lefern,	Garrett,
Patterson Bros.,	St. Joe,
J. W. Wyatt,	Concord.

JAPANESE PILE CURE

A new and Complete Treatment, consisting of Suppositories, Ointment in Capsules, also in Box and Pills; a Positive Cure for External, Internal, Blind or Bleeding, Itching, Chronic, Recent or Hereditary Piles. This Remedy has never been known to fail. $1 per box, 6 for $5; sent by mail. Why suffer from this terrible disease when a written guarantee is positively given with 6 boxes, to refund the money if not cured. Send stamp for free sample. Guarantee issued by F. E. DAVENPORT.

AUBURN AND VICINITY.

Some Reminiscences of its Early Days and Pioneer Citizens.

1865—Continued.

As indication of professional spirit in 1865, we note the formation of a Medical society embracing in its membership all physicians in the county, in good standing and we regret inability to place their names on record.

Stiefel & Wolf had been a prosperous firm in Auburn for a long time and seeing a decadence of trade with no present prospect of its revival, Aaron Wolf, the senior partner contemplated removing to Philadelphia, Pa. He offered Samuel Lauferty, then resident of Three Rivers, Mich., an equal interest in the store at Auburn, saw the new firm of Stiefel & Lauferty established, when he departed leaving them to make the way to public favor. The business languished and Mr. Stiefel turning over his interest to his partner, removed and Lauferty carried on a ready-made clothing business alone and for a while, with reasonable success. Then sickness and reverses came and he, too, went elsewhere to be seen as a casual visitor at rare intervals since.

Frederick Rant was this year proprietor of a harness shop, and other tradesmen quietly pursued the even tenor of business ways.

In the fall, Albert Robbins purchased the stock of groceries owned by Emanuel Leopold and conducted from this stand a first-class grocery store, leaving to those who were inclined that way, the disposition of the previously existing auxiliary stock of choice liquors. The day in this community has gone by when the tavern bar and the grocery counter divided traffic in stimulants with the grog shop, and only the drug stores now share in the opprobrium that rests lightly on the conscience of the saloon keepers of the Auburn of to day.

Later, Mr. Robbins was invaluable to John L. Davis of the Pioneer Hardware store as his book keeper; served with credit and popular satisfaction a term as county auditor and for some years has been a part owner and the cashier of the Farmers Bank, whose fine building occupies the northwest corner of Main and Seventh streets. He is a representative townsman, active in religious and business enterprises, polite and approachable in manner and enjoys the respect of community and the confidence of the public in a marked degree.

The principal sale of the year was of the building that stood on the corner of Main and Fourth streets by Thomas Baldock to Messrs. Harney & Baker for $1,000. The property was in use by Messrs. Elson & Jennings, grocers and the purchasers intended to start in it a bakery and confectionery, but evidently thought better of it and abandoned the project.

In the line of improvements, Alpheus Wheelock built for Thomas D. Gross, from brick remaining after construction of the court house, the residence next south of the First National bank block, now owned by John C. Henry, a versatile business man, a partner in the Farmers Bank and proprietor of a fine and popular store; and J. C. Ellison & Brother erected a two story frame on the lot north of Ralston's dry goods store, to be used in the drug and grocery trade.

James W. Case, from a carpenter and builder, had become a postmaster in the little front room of the Rhodes block and supplemented his light official duties by selling or trading a miscellaneous assortment of schoolbooks, patent medicines and a medley of odds and ends kept up on his shelves, for homemade products of the farms including soap, sugar, cloth and carpets.

To Miss Cornelia Strickland, his wife's sister, Mr. Case was greatly indebted for efficient administration of the postoffice, whose labors and compensation, then light, have kept growth with increased efficacy and greater population under S. L. Yandes, Joseph Rainier, Michael Boland and George Gordon. There was no registry of letters, no sales of postal notes, no postal cards and no lock boxes, as office routine existed in 1865. Letter postage was still three cents and a letter to the Pacific coast required a ten cent stamp. A change of postmaster was accompanied by a change of location and $25, was a fairly good price for the plain rude letter boxes frame and all.

J. D. Davis died this year and John L. Davis succeeded to the control of the hardware store, which following a disastrous fire was rebuilt in brick and has been enlarged, improved and kept well stocked with the latest modern belongings to such a store, increased proportionately to the necessities of a growing town.

Lack of banks combined with public exigencies made Auburn a rich field for note and warrant scalpers and buyers at tax sales of delinquent town lots and farm land and the legalized usurious per centage paid for redeeming them formed the ample foundation upon which were built the fortunes of well known moneyed men.

As an instance of the extent of delinquency, the amount of unpaid taxes of Jan. 1st 1865 as returned by the county auditor aggregated $29,000 which was nearly one-third of the entire levy.

From this time the condition of the town treasury continually changed for the worse till the time came when orders drawn upon the municipal fund of Auburn were unsalable, and so badly were its finances managed, and so much involved, that few knew the extent of indebtedness or cared to invest in its paper. Payment was not made in order of date, and orders were held three or four years without a chance of realizing on them. The indebtedness of the town has been a fruitful source of disquietude for many years and it was with a sigh of relief that it was announced in 1885 that at last municipal orders of Auburn were good for their face value.

(To be continued next week.)

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Dispatch Takes it Hard.

The unanswerable letter of Mr. Hoffelder on the bridge question, published week before last in the COURIER makes the Dispatch squirm. So he "comes back" in a column and a quarter of "answer." But all he says does not break the truth of Mr. Hoffelder's statement, that the democratic commissioners saved the county several thousand dollars on one bridge, and that too, over the opposition of Commissioner Lockwood, the Dispatch and several other republicans who were trying to put the two democratic commisioners in a hole. This is too old a game. They have practiced this right along. They urged the democrats to raise the state levy on taxes, and then cried out against it. They urged the commissioners into the most expensive things they could, and then cry out about the debt. If the democratic commissioners were let alone they would save the county many thousands. We have often called attention to the fact that republican officers are the most extravagant. And now in face of the fact, which we have often stated, that the last republican board ran the county $11,000 in debt in one year, the Dispatch is trying to have the people elect another such board of republicans. That is the whole secret of the Dispatch's fight on the board. It is laughable to have them say that "Hoffelder could reach any desired conclusion by taking the right figures," etc., and then the Dispatch goes on and does the same thing. It "assumes" a smaller bridge, and thus reduces the cost, so as to make Mr. Hoffelder's estimate of the cost, of the bridge at Probst's seem too high. By thus taking a bridge small enough, the Dispatch says it could be built for $2,800. It might have supposed a still smaller bridge, say two feet high, ten feet wide and fifteen feet long. This could have been made at a still smaller cost. He then proceeds to argue that "the iron bridge on piles would cost about $300 more than the combination bridge on piles, and the same difference would hold if both were placed on stone abutments." We might add, that the same difference would hold good if both were put on rockers, or wheels, or even flat on the ground. The fact still remains that the democratic commissioners saved the the county a large sum of money, large enough to build several new bridges during the life of the present bridge. Even by the Dispatch's patched up figures, the combination bridge saves $1,400, which would build another bridge; or, in other words, the Dispatch and Mr. Lockwood, desire to pay out on one bridge, money enough to build two. That is the very best showing they can make, and to make that we have taken their own figures. But this $1,400 put on interest, would rebuild the same bridge by the time it decayed, in interest alone, and at compound interest, it would do still more. He adds: "Talk about saving the county $3,398 is not saving it." Possibly not if talk was all there was of it. But this was not all talk. The contract was actually let, Mr. Hoffelder and Mr. Henderson voting for a $1,100 bridge, and Mr. Lockwood and the Dispatch man, for a $4,458. That is a matter of fact that cannot be gainsaid. He further says "the whole seventy answers to that letter favored iron bridges." But he does not deny that the men making the answer did not have the matter properly before them. Mr. Lockwood's letter did not state all the facts they ought to know, or no doubt some of them would have been of a different opinion. It did not state, what Mr. Lockwood and the Dispatch well know, that this bridge would be on a new road, at a place where there never will be much travel, or if there is to be, it will not be for some years, and in fact, the road is not made, and will not be used till next year, and all this while the county would not only be paying in advance over $4,000, but the money like the bridge would be lying idle till next year. If the Dispatch and Mr. Lockwood cannot manage any better than that the people ought to know it.

If it be denied that the Probst bridge would not be used till next year, let us see. An iron bridge could not be completed this fall, in time to be used, for the bridge must be completed first, so they can afterwards haul the dirt across it for the fill of the road from the bridge to the west bank. So the road would not be completed till next year. But the bridge would have to be paid for as soon as nearly done.

As to what the Dispatch claims that "Hoffelder failed to discover errors in the county printing." Well where was Mr. Lockwood all this time. Why did he not discover it? The facts are, these contracts are let at a designated price for each article. The county officers order such things as they need. Then once in three months, the bills are sent in, and these officers pick out the articles they ordered, and if it shows correctly what they got, and that the quality, size, price, etc., are same as in the contract, they mark it "O. K." The commissioners then look over the bills, and all that have the "O. K." are allowed, for the board, must take it for granted that it is right. The board, in many cases, has no other course, for it often happens they have not seen the articles, and now and then, the articles are used and gone before the bill is brought before the board. So the board has done all it could do, and the fault, if any, rests with the officer who put his "O. K." to the bill. Now in every case for these years the Dispatch has been complaining, these errors in the stationery bills have been in the office of the county clerk, a republican officer. Does the Dispatch claim that Mr. Bishop is dishonest? If so, why does not the Dispatch attack Mr. Bishop or at least give him some of his valuable advice? The COURIER does not believe Mr. Bishop to be either dishonest or incompetent. An oversight may have occurred, or from many causes, a bill might get through that was not correct. But to charge incompetency or dishonesty on the officer or on the board is a serious matter, though with the Dispatch it is his only stock in trade.

The 70 letters which the Dispatch claims Lockwood received advising that triple-cost bridges be erected, proves to be but 27, and we have heard, of one of the most intelligent republicans in this section, who refused to write a reply for the very good reason that he wanted to know where the bridges were to be located, before answering. Mr. Hoffelder and Mr. Henderson, very properly assert that it would be silly to stop work on all questions until they could get the opinion of every man in the county for the season would pass by and no work be done. And if they must consult the people at all, why pick out 100 selected friends? The letters should have been sent, if at all, to over 7,000 taxpayers, for one has as good a right to be consulted as another.

Finally, the expense of an iron bridge as Mr. Hoffelder figured it, is as nearly correct as could be had in advance. He took the estimate on the Plum bridge at Waterloo, and the Probst bridge must provided for a vast amount more of water than the other. The Plum bridge is likely to cost several hundred dollars more than the estimate for in nearly every case, these stone abutments have gone greatly beyond the estimate.

One more word. The Dispatch says Mr. Hoffelder in his estimates of stone work "counts the corners twice." This is the correct way. All stone work is measured around the outside and the corners counted twice. The editor shows his ignorance. A few months ago, he informed the editor of the Butler Record, that he knew more of public questions than the Record man did, because "the great state of Indiana has educated us," that is the Dispatch editor. Now how did the great state, etc., get past the elementary arithmetic, which plainly teaches, in fact compels, these elementary pupils to measure the corners twice in all stone work? No further comment on this, is needed.

Then, we resent the Dispatch's ill-mannered fling about "Mr. Hoffelder looking about to get someone to write his bridge articles for him." Mr Hoffelder wrote his own article and furnished his own facts. The article, in his handwriting is in our possession. So is also, the letter, from Commissioner Lockwood, that we published for him last week. And we are not afraid to compare them as to ability, scholarship or any other point. The Dispatch's articles may serve one good purpose, that they don't look for. They will call attention of taxpayers to the merits of the two men who are trying to save the county's money, as well as to those who would, by needless extravagance, waste it.

Burgled by Wholesale.

Sunday night was dark with a drizzling rain, just such a night as burglars take for business. Last week one night a car standing on the Lake Shore sidetrack was opened, a case of shoes for ladies torn open, but none taken. There were probably no ladies in the gang. Sunday night however, they did better. They broke into the new Lake Shore passenger house again, but got nothing. They entered the freight office and freight house, too, but got no money. Here they broke open a box of clothing which Schaab Brothers were shipping away, and helped themselves to about $20 worth. Then they opened a case of shoes just arrived for Wilson & Son, and took four pairs out. This gives a clue to the number in the gang. They also entered the bottling works of Vet. Rogers, carried his safe into the cooler vault and blew it to pieces. They got nothing, as he keeps no money there. They could have opened the safe by pulling the door knob, as he leaves it unlocked on purpose to save it from being spoiled by burglars, as he keeps nothing in it, but his books. But they probably went to turning the handle, and so locked it themselves. They had broken into Cool's buggy factory and taken some tools, and it is believed they used these to break into the other places. About three o'clock, Mr. Tanberg, who resides on the next block east was awakened by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Hotelling, who is there at present. She told him she had heard some one raise a window in the room below. He got up but likely the chaps heard the talking, for they let the window fall and left. Probably the same gang broke into Mr. Hidy's restaurant. They got in the back window by prying it up, broke open his money drawer though it was not locked. They got nothing, though another drawer had money in it. Nothing taken, as far as could be found. They entered Refner's saloon, by getting in through the back door; then at the middle door, they tore off the screen over the transom, and got over and opened the door. One of them must have been a small one to get in at such a place. Here they took about $20 in small change, and Mr. Refner thinks there was about $5 lying on the back bar making his money loss about $25. They also took a few bottle of whisky, which as it was a poor brand, Mr. Refner says will be apt to give him ample revenge, for it is warranted to kill. He hopes to find his burglars out in the woods with their little pink toes turned up. As a team was heard to drive into town and about an hour later to drive hurriedly out again, some think the work done by parties from the country.

Afraid of the British.

Some things are sillier than others, and the silliest thing we have seen lately is the "British" talk in the Dispatch of Aug. 25. To put such drivel before the reading public is an insult to their intelligence. The article would make people believe that the success of the democratic party would give all our interests over into the hands of the English, and so on, to the nauseating point. It is unworthy any extended notice. But it reminds us that about every four years, the republicans get "afraid of the British." In 1888 they became so terribly frightened, that they expected to hear the lion roar, almost any still evening. And to make friends with the demon, they had about a million of British flags printed and hired ignorant republicans, usually foreigners, to peddle them over the country. And there are people who claim there is a man living right here in Auburn, who helped to do it. It was certainly done, as one at least, was saved by a democrat, under whose door this emblem of republican loyality was shoved in the still hours of the night, "when good men slept." The editor of the Dispatch has published a similar, silly article before. He will earn the title "Young-man-afraid-of-the-British." It was clipped from some other paper, as usual, but we commend him to a careful perusal of the following:

Oh, he thought he saw the whisking
  Of the British lion's tail,
An' it made his stomach seasick,
  An' it turned his visage pale,
An' he felt his heart a sinkin'
  An' his legs got far from stout
For the Britishers will get him,
  Ef
    he don't watch
          out.

An' he thought he heard the roarin'
  Of the British lion's roar,
An' it set his nerves a racin',
  For he knew it wasn't his game.
An' he thought he saw the British flag,
  An' he gave a warnin shout,
An' the light he had been [illegible] n'
  Was sudden ly snuffed
          out.

Then they searched him in the office,
  An' they seeked him in the hall,
They seeked him in the hades box
  But he wasn't there at all,
An' they felt they'd seen the last of him,
  Of that there was no doubt,
For the Britishers had got him,
  [illegible]
    he didn't watch
          out

So they putted up a little stone
  Where his grave had [illegible] him,
An' they putted on some feelin' words
  All nicely chiseled in.
An' they all read these warnin' words
  As they weepin' stood about,
"The Britishers will get you!
  Ef
    you don't watch
          out."

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

YOU DON'T KNOW

what a comfort it is to have ready at hand a remedy that never fails to relieve Constipation, and that, without pain or discomfort; and almost immediately cures headaches, and dispels every symptom of Dyspepsia. Such a remedy is found in Simmons Liver Regulator—not a sweetened compound to nauseate, or an intoxicating beverage to cultivate an alcoholic appetite, but a medicine pleasant to the taste, and perfectly harmless when given to the smallest child. S. L. R. never disappoints. It possesses the virtues and perfections of a reliable remedy of the kind endorsed by eminent physicians.

"It affords me pleasure to add my testimony to those you receive annually in reference to your valuable medicine. I consider Simmons Liver Regulator the best family medicine on the market. I have prescribed it with excellent results." —W. F. PARK, M. D., Tracy City, Tenn.

SULPHUR BITTERS

IT WILL drive the humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Those Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by IMPURE BLOOD. They can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier, Sulphur Bitters.

TRY A BOTTLE TO-DAY.

Why suffer with Boils? Why rave with that terrible Headache? Why lay and toss on that bed of pain with RHEUMATISM? Use Sulphur Bitters. They will cure you where all others fail. The dose is small—only a teaspoonful. TRY IT and you will be satisfied. The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has SAVED HUNDREDS.

If you are suffering from Kidney Disease, and wish to live to old age, use Sulphur Bitters. They never fail to cure. Get it of your Druggist.

DON'T WAIT. GET IT AT ONCE.

Sulphur Bitters will cure Liver Complaint. Don't be discouraged; IT WILL CURE YOU.

Send 3 2-cent stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., for best medical work published

Tutt's Pills

will save the dyspeptic from many days of misery, and enable him to eat whatever he wishes. They prevent

Sick Headache,

cause the food to assimilate and nourish the body, give keen appetite, and

Develop Flesh

and solid muscle. Elegantly sugar coated. Price, 25cts. per box.

SOLD EVERYWHERE.

Special Train to the Fair.

On Thursday, Sept 15, the B. & O. will run an excursion train from the west, leaving Cromwell, at 8:10 a. m. Returning, will leave here, after the races.

Albion 8:38; Avilla 9:05; Garrett 9:15; Auburn Junct, 9:30; Auburn, Lake Shore Depot, at 9:45.

THE ALBION MILITARY BAND, will accompany the train, and play at the fair, that day.

OLD SOLDIERS' DAY,

Is on Wednesday, Sept. 14, when all ex-soldiers will be admitted free.

GRAND PRIZE GIVEN.

The Auburn Stove Works will give a splendid new cooking stove of their own make, to the couple getting married on the grounds.

SPECIAL BICYCLE RACE,

will be given on Friday, early in the afternoon. Time will be given on program. The society donates $25 to this race, and the Auburn Bicycle Club, $25 more, to be expended in medals or premiums in the contest. There will be a large number of entries from various points. Best two in three.

Low Rates to Toledo Exposition

For this occasion the L. S. & M. S. R. will sell excursion tickets at greatly reduced rates, Sept. 5 to 10 inclusive, good returning until Sept. 12 inclusive. For particulars see local ticket agents.

G. A. R. and W. R. C. Attention!

The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry. will sell excursion tickets to Washington, D. C., and return, from Sept. 13 to 20 inclusive, good to return until Oct. 10, 1892, and on Sept. 17, will run a special train, leaving Waterloo at 8 40 p. m., giving a daylight run through the mountains of Pennsylvania, arriving at Washington on the evening of the 18th. Fare for the round trip, $13 00. Stop overs may be made between Harrisburg and Washington in either direction, giving ample time to visit the battle field of Gettysburg, etc. Arrangements have been made for low rate side trips from Washington, giving those who desire, an opportunity to visit the battlefields of Virginia, and other points of interest. 37

Good Lands, Cheap Homes.

[illegible] Missouri [illegible] own your own home. Ripley county, on the southern border, a garden spot. Good market, big crops, unsurpassed fruit, fine lands, abundance of the purest sparkling water, most hospitable, sociable, neighborly people in the world; only one colored person in the county; cool summers warm winters; population of Ripley county, 9,000, Doniphan, 1,000. Paradise for men of moderate means. Best farms $5 to $10 per acre, best wild lands $1 to $3, large bodies [illegible] colonies cheap. For full particulars and lists call on or address

T. W. & R. L. MABREY, Doniphan Mo. 38

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

It is said that the shortest street in the world is Mansion street, in London, which extends for a distance of only a few yards.

Read Carefully.

Messrs. Dullam Bros.—Gentlemen:—For over 4 years I have been afflicted with an eruption of the skin, which became very troublesome, and I could get no relief. I was also troubled very badly with constipation, which nothing I tried gave any permanent relief, until I took Dullam's Great German Blood, Liver Stomach and Kidney Remedy, and since taking I have been entirely cured. For a tonic, blood purifier and general health restorer I can heartily recommend it. $1 a bottle.

MRS. WM. COPERLAND, Flint, Mich.

Numbers of bears have been slaughtered in the region about Moosehead lake, and the local markets are glutted with bearskins.

What Makes a Beautiful Woman.

Elkhart, Ind., July 1, 1891.

Dullam's Great German Medicine Co:

My daughter has been afflicted with female trouble for over six years, and I have paid out over $750 in vain trying to find relief for her. A lady friend advised her to secure a bottle of Dullam's Great Female Uterine Tonic, and she has been completely cured by it. We gave it a fair trial and the results were wonderful. We cannot recommend it too highly to all ladies who are afflicted.

BENJAMIN GRANGER.

For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

French florists are cultivating a plant which bears a flower that is white in the morning, red at noon and blue at night.

Only One Bottle.

Mr. Arthur Fisher, a reliable stock dealer, of Decatur, Ind., says: One dollar bottle of Dr. Marshal's Lung Syrup completely cured me of a very annoying cough and pains in the chest, bordering on lung fever. I think it is the best cough Syrup in the world, and would not do without it. Resp. Yours,

A. M. FISHER.

For every 4 shillings spent in England on drink, only a half-penny is expended on education.

The New Great South American Kidney Cure.

The acknowledged superior cure and immediate relief for all derangements, painfulness and decay of the kidneys or bladder, Bright's disease, diabetes or any complaint that hurts or despoils either of these delicate organs. This new remedy has been thoroughly tested by learned physicians and found far superior to any medicine yet discovered for quickly relieving all weaknesses, aches, pains and distresses arising from disease of any part of the urinary passages. It is a great relief for the old, middle aged and children, male or female. It relieves at once retention and pain in passing water, and it is very effective in relieving prostatic troubles in the old, and for nightly incontinence of water in children, or others, caused by weakness of the bladder. It may be worth to many a hundred times its cost. This is a remedy of great value to ladies, because they are very liable to weakness and pain peculiar to their sex. Sold by Robbins & McCord, druggists, Auburn, Ind. tf

A dress made of spiders' webs was presented to Queen Victoria by the Empress of Brazil in 1837.

Strong Witnesses.

Among the thousands of testimonials of cures by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, is that of Nathan Allisons, a well-known citizen of Glen Rock, Pa., who for years had shortness of breath, sleeplessness, pain in left side, shoulders, smothering spells, etc., one bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and one box of Nerve and Liver Pills, cured him. Peter Jaquet, Salem, N. J., is another witness, who for twenty years suffered with heart disease, was pronounced incurable by physicians, death stared him in the face, could not lie down for fear of smothering to death. Immediately after using the New Cure he felt better and could lie down and sleep all night, and is now a well man. The New Cure is sold, also free book, by F. E. Davenport. 2

There have been 350,000 headstones placed by the government over the graves of veterans.

Worth Ten Dollars

to any family, is Dr. Kaufmann's book on deseases; finely illustrated plates from life; don't be humbugged, but cure yourself. Send 3 2-cent stamps for postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy free.

Perhaps the most happily named man in England is Thankful Joy, a Hamshire cricketer.

Guaranteed Cure.

We authorize our advertised druggist to sell Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, upon this condition. If you are afflicted with a cough, cold or any lung, throat or chest trouble, and will use this remedy as directed, giving it a fair trial, and experience no benefit, you may return the bottle and have your money refunded. We could not make this offer did we not know that Dr. King's New Discovery could be relied on. It never disappoints. Trial bottles free at Robbins & McCord's drug store. Large size 50c. and $1.00. 2

A raft containing 81,000 logs has been brought to Saginaw from the Georgian bay country.

HAPPY HOOSIERS. Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from kidney and liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best kidney and liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle, at Robbins & McCords drug store. 2

The Ohio river is said to have a mean descent of only 5½ inches to the mile.

B. & O. EXCURSIONS.

To Chicago.

On September 2 and 3, 9 and 10, 16 and 17 and 23 and 24 the Baltimore & Ohio railroad will sell round trip excursion tickets to Chicago at very low rates. Tickets will include admission to the World's Fair Grounds, and will be good for return until the Monday following date of sale. 37.

To Portland, Ore.

On September 9 to 14, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will sell excursion tickets to Portland, Ore., at a rate of one fare for the round trip, on account of the I. O. O. F. Tickets will be good for return passage to and including Nov. 12, 1892.

Reporter's Office

THE AUBURN COURIER.

VOLUME XXII. AUBURN, DE KALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 15, 1892. NUMBER 37.

EVERYBODY

Should know that we have just received the largest and finest selection of cooking and heating stoves ever brought to Auburn. They were bought for less money than ever before; therefore we

CAN

and will save you a handsome margin on every stove you buy. A fine variety of stove boards and an endless variety of patterns of oil cloth rugs and floor oil cloth. A fine line of sporting goods, consisting of guns, revolvers and all kinds of ammunition. If you need a Sewing Machine, you should see the STANDARD before buying. Builders' hardware of all kinds, paints, oils, etc. A fine assortment of table and pocket cutlery, granite ware, blue ware, tin and copper ware in all kinds, sizes and shapes. We are headquarters for lamps,—and in fact everything to be found in a first-class hardware store. Remember you can

SAVE MONEY

by trading with us.

W. H. KIBLINGER,

AUBURN, IND.

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—In Effect May 15 1892

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations—	Mail.	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne,....dp	11 50 am	4 40 pm	6 40 am
New Era	12 18 pm	5 15	7 27
Auburn June.	12 28	5 27	7 18
Auburn	12 32	5 36	8 32
Waterloo	12 43	5 41	9 24
Summit	12 56	5 53	9 45
Pleasant Lake	1 05	6 06	10 12
Angola	1 14	6 16	10 50
Jackson	3 30	8 40	5 00

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations—	Freight	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson.......dp	6 45 am	11 15 am	6 30 am
Angola	12 25 pm	2 08 pm	8 51
Pleasant Lake	1 04	2 20	9 01
Summit	1 25	2 32	9 11
Waterloo	2 30	2 56	9 24
Auburn	3 07	3 07	9 34
Auburn Junc.	3 38	3 11	9 38
New Era	4 05	3 22	9 50
Fort Wayne	5 25	3 55	10 25

For rates on tickets or freight to all points, call on or address E. T. DELAPP, Agent at Auburn

WALTER'S METALLIC SHINGLES are made from the best grades of roofing Tin plate, and steel sheets galvanized. You can buy them painted or not. Our Galvanized Shingles are rain and rust proof, without the necessity of painting. Our painted Tin Shingles are more durable and ornamental than it is possible to make a tin roof, put on in the old-fashioned style. Write for price list R.

THE NATIONAL SHEET METAL ROOFING Co

9 Cliff St., New York.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS—HALF RATES

August 30th and Sept. 27th.

The Burlington Route will sell round trip tickets at half rates, good to the cities and farming regions of the West, Northwest and Southwest. Eastern Ticket Agents will sell through tickets on the same plan. See that they read over the Burlington Route, the best line from Chicago, Peoria, Quincy and St. Louis. For further information write P. S. EUSTIS, General Passenger Agent Chicago.

Low Rate Harvest Excursion.

The announcement that the North-Western Line, comprising over 8,000 miles of thoroughly equipped railways, has arranged to run two low rate Harvest Excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by those who are interested in the development of the great West and Northwest, as by those who desire to visit this wonderfull productive region at a season of the year when exact demonstration can be made of the merits and advantages it offers to home-seekers and those in search of safe and profitable investments. These excursions will leave Chicago on August 30th and Sept. 27th, and tickets can be purchased at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip to points in Iowa, Minnesote, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho and Montana. They will be strickly first-class in every particular and will be good for return passage at any time within twenty days from date of purchase. Full information concerning rates and arrangments for these excursions can be obtained upon application to any coupon ticket agent, or to W. A. Thrall, G. P. T. A. Chicago & North Western R'y, Chicago. 38

The Mountains of Colorado.

Denver, Estes Park, Colorado Springs, Manitou and Glenwood Springs, may be reached from Chicago or St. Louis via the Burlington Route fast vestibuled express trains, handsomely equipped with every modern improvement. Write P. S. Eustis, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, for particulars.

GET THE BEST!

EXCEL IN QUALITY, BEAUTY, TONE AND FINISH.

THE CROWN PIANOS & ORGANS

GEO. P. BENT MANUFACTURER CHICAGO.

FOR SALE ON EASY TERMS BY

WES. H. HUSSELMAN,

Waterloo, - - - Ind.

Three men in France competed to see who could drink the most water. One swallowed twelve quarts, the second nine and the third seven. All three died from the effects.

Every Christian Mother

should be careful with her children. This damp atmosphere of our climate often bring on coughs, colds, etc., which if not attended to in time lead to that dreaded disease, consumption. To prevent this it is the duty of all mothers to have a remedy near, to check these coughs that your children may contract, and you cannot get a safer and more reliable remedy than Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup, the children's friend. You can buy this for 25 cts. of all druggists.

The Boston postmaster was called on the other day to deal with a letter addressed Charles Smith, K. Pan. He sent it at once to Cape Ann.

A Thoughtful Person

consults his best interests by having a box of Krause's Headache Capsules at hand; taken as directed will prevent, or stops any kind of a headache, no matter what the cause,—in fact if your skull was cracked it would prevent pain. The frequency of the attacks will diminish, and by taking the capsules at the approach of a headache, you will never have another.—For sale by Davenport.

M. Garvin, Camden, claims to have the tallest sunflower stalk in New Jersey. It is more than eleven feet in height.

Admitted the Facts.

Newspaper editors have to be very careful in opening their columns for statements. But aware that the Dr. Miles Medical Co., are responsible, we make room for the following testimonial from R. McDougall, Auburn, Ind., who for two years noticed a stoppage or skipping of the pulse, his left side got so tender he could not lie on it, his heart fluttered, he was alarmed, went to different doctors, found no relief, but one bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure cured him. The elegant book, "New and Startling Facts," free at F. E. Davenport. It tells all about heart and nervous diseases and many wonderful cures. 3

Artesian wells were known at Thebes as long ago as Timerion, 2,000 years before the beginning of the Christian era.

I Am Proud

to say from personal experience that Sulphur Bitters, which advertisement will be seen in another column, is the best spring and blood medicine to be found. It is prepared by an honest firm, who scorn to use cheap and worthless medicines, but use the best that money can buy.

GEORGE W. WEAMER.

There were few of the younger business men of this place better known than George W. Weamer, and his death leaves a gap in our business and social circles, and has created a deeper impression than any death that has occurred for some time. Mr. Weamer was a man, friendly by instinct, of an open hearted and frank nature, and who at all times and all places, "carried his heart in his hand." He was no hypocrite, for he could not be; he was no flatterer, for he did not make friends that way. He went about his business, as a business man, and in his merely social relations he had an abundance of that friendship that makes friends and leaves behind it pleasant memories. He was one of those who believed in "doing what the hands have to do," and if that employment failed, then do something else just as cheerfully and as intelligently. This will be remembered by those who like the writer, knew him first as a printer, then as a publisher, then as an inventor, and so on to his latest connection with the Zimmerman Manufactory, in which he had considerable interests, and of which he had long been one of the leading spirits. That he was by nature, resolute, calm and self controlled, those who met him during the few months of his fatal illness must testify. For six months he must have known and felt what others could not but see, that a short limit had been fixed to the days of his life, and that within this brief limit, sometime soon, just how soon, was not certain, but that it would be in a brief interval was certain—he would be called on to leave not only a world that had been dear to him, but an amiable and lovable family that was vastly dearer, than all beside. Yet facing this so long and so continuously, did not as far as known, draw from him a complaint or raise in his heart a fear. It was but human that he should feel all this keenly, but it was not to have an outward sign to pain those he loved, or to weaken his own strong resolution. Nearer and yet nearer, he came to the dread moment, but no sign of quailing. With his faculties all bright, clear and strong to the end, he met the great change at last, as he had evidently determined, without a fear of death, or a doubt as to the future—only the pang of parting to be dreaded.

Thus, not in the fullness of years, but of promise, with all that makes life worth the living still binding him to this life, on Sept. 3, 1892, he passed from the scenes that had been full of earthly happiness for him, to a better and happier Beyond.

Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.

George W. Weamer was born at Napoleon, Henry county, Ohio, Aug. 17, 1858. He was the son of George and and Mary Weamer, the father, being then, the publisher of a paper at Napoleon. When the 44th Ind. Volunteers, were organized at Ft. Wayne, Mr. Weamer joined them and in the first day of their fearful experience at Pittsburg landing he gave up his life for his country. He was mortally wounded, the dying before the close of that memorable 6th of April 1862. The mother was thus left to battle with the world alone, and to rear her two children, the subject of this sketch, and a sister (now, Mrs. Minnie Morgan,) a task of love and duty in which she proved faithful and competent.

From Columbia City, where they resided at the time the father went into the service, he being at that time publishing a paper there, Mrs. Weamer went to Mansfield, Ohio, where some years later she was married to Rev. J. B. Walker, a distinguished minister, and a man of great literary ability. They removed to Benzonia, Michigan, where Mr. Walker established Benzonia College which he conducted several years. From there they moved to Wheaton, Ill., where Mr. Walker died. In 1875 Mr. Weamer, then a young man of 17, came to Auburn and took an interest with his uncle, R. H. Weamer, in the Republican, now the Dispatch. In March 1878 he bought the other half of the paper, and continued its publication till 1881, when he sold to Houser & Rainier. Mr. Weamer was married to Sallie Gregg Oct. 4, 1877, and here with his little family about him, he has since made his home. His death makes a sad vacancy at the once happy hearthstone, where a fond wife and three young daughters now mourn his loss.

The funeral was at the M. E. church Monday, Sept. 5, in charge of the Knights of Pythias, of which order he was a member, about 130 of these from all parts of the county, following him to the grave at Woodlawn, where he was laid to rest. The services by Mr. Wooton were very appropriate and impressive, and no such profusion of lovely flowers has ever been seen at a funeral here before. It would be impossible to mention all these, but we feel we should not omit the box of choice flowers, brought by Mrs. Kemery of Angola, or that by Mr. and Mrs. Wooton, Mr. and Mrs. John Robbins, Mr. and Mrs Harter, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Stevens and Albert Robbins. All the rest were lovely, and were fragrant, though silent witnesses of the respect in which these mourning friends held the memory of the deceased friend and brother.

HONDURAS LETTER.

From Honduras to My Native Land.

Our food on board the little schooner did not consist of such delicacies as tickle your northern palate, but a mess that would be scarcely attractive to a hog was set before us. Our cook was never known to wash his dirty hands. His filthy shirt did not half cover his back, and pants he scarcely had. The cooking was done in a large black pot. The pot was quilt in a brick arch and could not be removed for cleaning. Some vegetables and a small piece of salt pork were put in the pot to boil, then our cook would mix up some dough balls with his dirty hands and boil all in the same big pot. This same mess was set up before us three times a day during all of that long, long voyage. We stopped at many small islands. The vessel was trading with the island people, buying cocoanuts and giving flour and sugar in return. We stopped at some islands, where no stranger had visited for ten years. These island people are entirely ignorant of geography and my presence excited great curiosity. Some of the island people came four miles to see me. They would come up to me and look me in the face and ask, "Are you the American?" Answering in the affirmative they would ask me all kinds of absurd questions about my country and my family. They had heard of our wonderful country and now they could see a living specimen of the great Yankee nation. On one fine evening some twelve of the natives had gathered around me to hear from this far away land. I begun by telling them that in our country we traveled on great iron wagons drawn by a large iron horse and that we fed the horse coal and water; and that the wagons run on iron tracks and traveled one mile per minute. When I had finished telling, an old woman raised her hands and exclaimed "My Lord God what a wonderful people." Then I told them of how our people talked over wires for hundreds of miles, and of all our many great improvements, the old woman always exclaiming as at first, until I told them that in our country people could walk on the water in the winter time and that we could cut the water in chunks (ice). But this the old woman did not applaud and it was plain that the crowd did not believe such an unlikely story. They said that no one but Jesus ever walked on water and of course I had lied. These people would not allow a cat on their island believing that pussy would bring them bad luck. They kept plenty of dogs. They are kind and polite but densely ignorant.

J. A. SHADE.

(To be continued next week.)

Obituary.

Mary A. Gushwa, nee Mohr, was born in Berks county Pa, July 1806. When about 11 years old she removed to Holmes county, Ohio, where she grew to womanhood, and in 1825 was married to Philip Gushwa, with whom she lived in wedlock 59 years, and who preceded her to the spirit world, not quite 8 years ago. She removed with her husband and family to Fairfield township, DeKalb county, Ind., in 1845, where she spent the remainder of her life, and finally ended her career on the 7th of Sept. 1892 at the advanced age of 86 yrs. 1 month and 19 days. She was converted when quite young and united with the Evangelical Lutheran church of which she remained a faithful member until death. Some over two years ago she was stricken with paralysis and from thence was a constant sufferer. A few days before her death she was taken with an attack dysentery, which caused her death. Her final dissolution was remakably calm and peaceful. She often longed for her release and to be present with the Lord. Thus another of the few remaining first settlers and landmarks of pioneer days is gone. She leaves 9 children with a goodly number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. The funeral was conducted by Rev. P. S. Oaks assisted by Rev. Walker, of Fairfield church.

Wonderful Gains.

Dr. Miles' Nervine not only cures all nervous diseases, headache, blues, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, fits and hysteria, but also builds up the body. "I am pleased to say that after years of intense suffering with nervous disease, headache and prostration, I tried Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and in two weeks gained eight pounds in weight. I could not lie down to sleep, but now sleep perfectly easy, and am still impoving wonderfully. Cannot say enough for the Nervine. Mr. L. B. Millard, Dunkirk, N. Y." "One customer used Nervine and gained fifteen pounds in flesh. Brown & Maybury, Courtland, N. Y. Trial bottles and elegant book free at F. E. Davenport. 3

Ice cream is served at seaside resorts in the shape, size and color of billiard balls. It is an idea borrowed from Geneva.

DR PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder.

Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

Garrett's Grand Rally.

It was a grand meeting in all that goes to make up a political gathering though in point of numbers, it might have been larger. Still there were more present than one might expect, when we consider the amount of work now on the people's hands. The crowd was made up not only from Auburn and Garrett but the country all around sent representatives. They were present from St Joe, Spencerville, Butler, Auburn, Corunna and Waterloo. Then there were three bands. The Garrett Juniors, who showed up in great shape with nearly twenty pieces; the Garrett Oddfellows band and the Auburn band. All were in good trim and among them, they furnished an abundance of good music. We have not seen a rally for many a day, where there was as much of this welcome element, as we had at Garrett. They made a splendid "starter" in the long procession that went to the grove or public square on the west side of town. As announced in the COURIER, chief speaker was G. W. Wells, of Washington. He is the best informed man we have ever heard speak on the tariff and for one hour and a half he held his great audience in silent attention, while he fired shot after shot against this corrupt bulwark of monopoly. There were many republicans present, and they winced visibly under his scathing arraignment of their favorite doctrine, but they could not deny his facts or oppose reasoning. He abused no one; he assailed no party, but he tore the flimsy arguments of the protectionists into a thousand fragments and scattered the pieces to the winds of heaven. Then the meeting of the afternoon was adjourned to 7 o'clock in the evening, when he was to continue his masterly argument in Wagner's Opera House. The crowd that listened in the grove, was variously estimated at 3,000 to 5,000 and many remained down town, so that it would be safe to say that 5,000 were in attendance. The meeting in the evening brought out hundreds of new faces to take the place of those who lived at a distance and must return to their homes. The thread of the speaker's argument was taken up at the point where he had stopped, and carried out to a fullness that swept his hearers along with him like a tidal wave. It was nine o'clock when he closed. All through both meetings he was enthuseastically cheered. He was followed by Hon. W. F. McNagny, our candidate for congress, who spoke but a few minutes as the hour had grown late. But his remarks were almost continually cheered, showing not only his ability as a speaker, but the hold he has on the people's hearts.

NOTES.

Hon. D. D. Moody presided at the meeting in the grove, and introduced the speaker, and at its close, he proposed three cheers for the speaker, and also for Mr. McNagny, and for the state and national tickets, which were given heartily. On the stand were many well known faces, that of Gen. Blair, of Waterloo, B. F. Moody, of Keyser, Chairman Erick, Mr. McNagny and a host of old democratic wheel horses whose names have escaped us in the great mass of interesting things that were seen and heard.

At the meeting in the opera house, Dr. Wood presided, introducing the speaker. The stage was full of well known democrats, mostly from Garrett, but including also, that of Dr. Shook, of Spencerville, who is county secretary and L. J. Gengler and Mr. McNabb and other well known Garrett leaders. At the end of the two speeches, the same series of cheers, were as heartily given as at the grove.

L. J. Gengler and Mr. Wagner did excellent work as marshals of the day, and added greatly to the success of the meeting.

The little cannon made by the Garrett boys for their celebration on the Fourth two years ago, did grand service in the cause of democracy. It is small, but dear, how she can yelp.

Chairman Erick and vice chairman Cool, were among the active men there, and should have credit for much of the success of this first great meeting.

Ab. Kelley, of Waterloo, made the best display, with his family in his carriage, the carriage gaily decorated with the national colors, with a big picture of Grover Cleveland on one side and one of Mrs. Cleveland on the other. Then there were hundreds of such leaders as Stoy, Dan. Tomlinson and others of Butler, W. H. Leas, Ab. Kelley and O. P. Smith, of Waterloo, Dan Thomas, Jonathan Swander, T. Franks, J. L. Smith, Marion Franks and others from Richland, Curie of St. Joe, and hosts of other earnest democrats, whose names we cannot recall. Altogether to meeting was a flattering success for much of which we should thank Mr. Wagner, Mr. Beehler, Mr. Frederick and the other workers in Garrett.

Paid in August.

David Martz, Wm. B. Williams, Ernest C. Sheets, Frank Holman, Phillip Fluke, J. F. Wile, David Crider, Cosper Altenberg, T. G. Matheny, T. F. Franks, J. D. Essig, J. A. Sawyer, J. D. Likens, James W. Clark, Rebecca Dickinson, Samuel Stafford, Alex Culbertson, S. Bensinger, A. B. Imus, John Lumm, Philander Smith, Wm. Likens, J. H. Hornberger, W. H. Palmer, Louis Hosler, M. E. Krontz, John Bohler, C. H. Casebeer, Wm. Ensley, N. C. Glazier, John Kruger, Geo. W. Lewis, C. H. Jackson.

A number of Hammond people are penned up in Europe by the cholera.

NEW GOODS,

NEW GOODS,

NEW GOODS!

More than ever before!

Dry Goods, Clothing, Carpets,

FURNITURE.

All new styles and sure to please you.

DRESS GOODS

perfectly beautiful.

LADIES' WRAPS

the same.

CLOTHING

for young and old. Nothing but the best of workmanship, and goods that are honest and give the best of satisfaction.

Trade with us, it will pay you.

SCHAAB & BRO.

RICKEL

— AND —

SPROTT

Real Estate Agents.

Loan Agents.

Rail Road Agents.

Steamship Agents.

Western Land Ag'ts.

Emigration Agents.

FARMS.

80 acres unimproved land in Keyser township, within one mile of Garrett. This is a rare chance. Long time and easy terms. No better land in the county, and not a foot that cannot be tilled.

Farms in Kansas Nebraska, Arkansas, Dakotas and Minnesota, to sell on the grain plan. No cash payments required. No mortgage. Payments made by products of farms. Write for full particulars.

20 acres of land in Richland township. Land all cleared and fenced. Price $45 per acre. Part on time.

70-acre farm within 2½ miles of Auburn Good log house, two good wells, 7 acres timber; balance cleared and in good state of cultivation. Price $45 per acre in small payments.

31 acres good land near St. Joe, Ind., in the St. Joe River valley. Good 5-room house, 2 good barns, orchard, well, etc. 50 acres cleared, balance in timber. Will be sold cheap and on long time.

6 acres land in Alexandria County, Virginia, unimproved. Lies within 4 miles of the Capitol Buildings at Washington, D. C. Elegant site for fruit farm. Long time, easy terms.

80-acre farm in Jackson township. 2-story, 7-room brick dwelling, barn 32 x 64, orchard of 80 trees, and small fruits of all kinds. 65 acres cleared, balance in timber. Excellent productive soil. Easy price and long time.

40 acres of good land lying 6 miles east of Auburn. Good log house, barn, orchard of 18 bearing apple trees, good fences, and well. 34 acres under cultivation, balance in timber.

Farm of 103 acres of land east of Auburn, 4 miles. Large 2-story frame dwelling house, two barns, large orchard and small fruits, wells, and farm well tiled. Farm in good state of cultivation. Price $55 per acre. Long time and easy payments.

Farm of 80 acres within ½ mile of Auburn. Well adapted to gardening and growing small fruits. Will be sold on long time with good cash payments.

80 acre farm in Jackson township, under fine state of cultivation, good buildings, good fences, plenty of fruit of the choicest varieties. 10,000 tile laid. This is an easy mark and can be bought cheap.

TOWN PROPERTIES.

No. 351. 1½-story frame house of 5 rooms, 15 fruit trees, in good thrifty condition, good well, chicken park, etc. In McIntyre's addition, Price $600.

Vacant lot in Shaffer, Boland & Robbins addition. Price $85.00.

1½-story frame dwelling and frame barn in southeast part of town. Cheap for all cash.

1½ frame dwelling house 16x26 and wing 16x26 and 1½ lots in St. Joe, Ind. Some fruit, good cistern. Price $800, on long time.

Good residence property, located on South Jackson street, 1½ story frame dwelling, barn, wood house, well and cistern. Price $800 cash, balance in yearly payments.

Two very desirable building lots in Baxter & McClellan's addition. Easy price and terms.

An elegant residence property in the Natural Gas addition. For full description of this property call at our office.

We have lands in the Western States for sale on the GRAIN PLAN. You give a share of crop each year, until the land is paid for. No cash needed! No mortgage given! No crops, no payment, therefore no foreclosure.

Write or call on us for full particulars of this plan, and instead of renting and giving your crop away, buy land on the

GRAIN PLAN,

and so make a payment on your own farm.

Land is good in quality and as productive as any land in Indiana. Well located, near good markets in good neighborhoods, and near schools.

Office Under

Farmers Bank,

AUBURN, IND.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

1892 SEPTEMBER. 1892

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
●	●	●	●	1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30	●
●	●	●	●	●	●	●

PLEASURE AND PROFIT

WILL BE FOUND IN READING OUR NEWS SUMMARY.

The Normannia's Passengers Landed at Fire Island—An Illinois Central Train Wrecked—Pittsburgh Anarchists Indicted—Many Injured by a Gallery Giving Way.

LANDED AT LAST.

The Normannia Passengers at Fire Island Guarded and Protected from the Jeering Populace.

A New York special, dated the 14th inst., says: The cabin passengers of the Hamburg-American steamer Normannia whose unenviable experience for the past few days has attracted to them widespread attention and sympathy, have at length reached a haven of rest and safety. Late this evening, for the first time in many weeks, their feet touched mother earth, and they are quartered in the Surf Hotel on Fire Island, surrounded by all the comforts of home and by a cordon of soldiers, who will protect them from the attacks, the hoots and the jeers of the brutal residents of the bay shore. The landing was not effected without a great deal of trouble on the part of Governor Flower, Dr. Jenkins and those others who have jumped into the breach at this time of peril and anxiety. The Governor was awake at all hours of the night devising plans for the relief of the unfortunate passengers of the Normannia from their hazardous position. The best of legal advice was sought by him, and the conclusion was reached that the injunction would not stand. Acting on this theory the Governor ordered the naval reserve of several companies of the Sixty-ninth and Seventieth regiments to go to Fire Island and quiet the turbulent spirit, which existed among the people on shore, whose heartless action regarding the unfortunate passengers had caused the people throughout the entire country to shudder. This action was taken and the troops dispatched.

The Supreme Court, general term Kings County, was appealed to dissolve the injunction obtained yesterday restraining the landing of the passengers and after argument, pro and con, the court promptly acceded to the appeal.

The news was at once telegraphed to Fire Island and to those on board the Cepheus. It caused great joy to the anxious ones on the steamboat and corresponding consternation among the brutal residents of Islip, Babylon and other towns along the shore. The persons who had been "protecting their rights" changed their minds upon this subject in very short order and began leaving Fire Island in small boats for their homes on the shore. The piteous appeals of the unfortunate passengers could not move these sturdy clam diggers last night, but when they heard that troops would soon be on the scene, they moved from the island in a hurry, and so the place was comparatively deserted.

Utah Commissioners.

The Utah Commission, a body which has a great deal to say in the governmental affairs of Utah as regards the Mormons, is in session behind closed doors, at the Grand Pacific, Chicago. The members of the Commission are G. L. Godfrey, Des Moines; ex-Gov. Alvin Saunders, of Omaha; Gen. J. A. McClernand, Springfield, Ill.; A. B. Williams, Washington, Ark., and R. S. Robertson, Fort Wayne, Ind. The Commission ended a lengthy inquiry at Salt Lake, Aug. 23, and the meeting at this time is to prepare the general report to be submitted to the Secretary of the Interior.

An Illinois Central Train Wrecked.

A south-bound suburban train on the Illinois Central road was derailed near the city of Chicago. The rails spread under the locomotive and hurled it into an embankment. Engineer John Finn was caught in the cab and was instantly killed. James Terris, an Italian laborer, who was standing in the embankment, was struck by the engine and also killed. The fireman leaped from the cab and escaped injury. A number of passengers in the second coach were injured, but none seriously.

Arkansas Election.

Little Rock special: With seventeen counties to hear from, but which will give the usual Democratic majorities, Fishback's majority for Governor over Whipple and Carnahan is 23,040, and when remaining counties are heard from his official figures will show a majority of about 28,000.

Sir John Abbott Abdicates.

Ottawa (Ont.) special: It is thought that Sir John Abbott has virtually abdicated the Premiership. His rooms at the Victoria chambers have been given up and all his personal effects have been sent to Montreal, indicating that he does not intend to return to this city as Premier.

A Sunken Steamer.

The steamer Josephine reports that when about twenty miles abreast of Port Colborne, Mich., steering southwest by west, bound up, a mast, painted white and sticking above the water about twenty feet, was passed. The captain is certain that it is some steamer.

The Russian Evacuate Pamir.

A dispatch from India conveys the important intelligence that the Russians have evacuated the Pamir region and thus removed the danger of war with China, and also with Great Britian and Afghanistan.

Failure at Evansville.

The Roelker Stove and Plow Works at Evansville, one of the largest foundries in Indiana, has assigned for the benefit of their creditors.

The Poet Passes Away.

At Hampton Falls, N. H., John G. Whittier, the famous poet, died at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. Mr. Whittier passed away peacefully. His nearest relatives and Dr. Douglas were at his beside when death came and he seemed to be conscious of his surroundings at the last moment.

Poisoned by London Purple.

A Mexican on a plantation in Lavaca County, Texas, met death in an extraordinary manner. He was picking in a field where London purple had been applied to kill worms and got some on his hands. He ate a watermelon without washing his hands and in a short time was a corpse.

GOOD WORDS FOR WHITTIER.

London Press Comment on the Death of the American Quaker Poet.

The London Times says regarding the death of Whittier: "It may almost be said that what Scott did for Scotland Whittier did for New England. The most salient features of his verse were those also observable in his personal character—sincerity, simplicity, earnestness and manliness." The News says: "Whittier sang of a distinctive New England life as no one ever sang it before and, since it is going the way of all things, as no one will ever sing it again." The Chronicle says: "Whittier was the nearest approach to our conception of an American Robert Burns that the new world has given. The world has lost one of the sweetest lyrists of its saddest wrongs." The Telegraph says: "Whittier possessed no small portion of Wordsworth's genius. Although inferior to the best work of Bryant and Poe it is probable that his 'Mogg Megone' and 'Maud Muller' will live as long as 'Thanatopsis' and 'The Raven.'" The Standard suggests that it was good fortune rather than pre-eminent merit that secured Whittier an attentive and sympathetic hearing on that side of the Atlantic, and adds that in America itself his claims to distinction will be more energetically questioned than in England.

TWO LIVES WIPED OUT.

Dole Judah Kills His Father-in-Law at Payne, Ind.

A double tragedy was enacted at Payne, ten miles east of Bloomington, Ind., on Wednesday morning, in which two men were killed. Shortly after midnight Richard Wright and his daughter were awakened by a shout a short distance from the house, and the old gentleman recognized the voice as that of his son-in-law, Dole Judah. He went to the door and started for the fence, when a shot was fired by Judah. Wright ran back into the house, secured an ax and again started toward Judah. The men came together and there was a scuffle in which the old man was shot three times. During the struggle, and while Judah was on top of Wright, the old man called to his daughter to knock Judah off with the ax. Just as Judah shot the last time she struck Judah on the back of the head, killing him instantly. Both men lay dead on the ground. Judah had had trouble with wife, and it is supposed he went to his father-in-law's house determined upon killing the old man and also his wife. Mrs. Judah was not there, however, having gone to neighbor's to remain for the night. Wright was about 60 years old and his son-in-law was 35. Judah's reputation was bad.

CAPTURED BY BANDITS.

A Cuban Planter Kidnaped and Sent Home to Secure $1,000 Ransom.

Dispatches from Matanzas say that on Aug. 30, Senor Vega, colonist of the "Nena" estate, was kidnapped by five mounted and armed men, who led him to the woods and demanded that he should pay $1,000 for his liberty. The prisoner under threats of vengeance in the event of his playing them false, was released on his promise to procure the sum demanded and to return with it to the bandits. Vega informed the authorities of his adventure, and he was instructed to go back where the bandits were waiting and to allay their suspicions so that a force of soldiers who would be secretly dispatched to the scene could surprise and capture the outlaws. He provided himself with the money required, and arriving at the bandits' rendezvous was engaged in counting out the ransom when the outlaws discovered the approaching guards and fled. The guards fired on them and pursued them for some distance, but all succeeded in making their escape.

MORE PEST SHIPS.

The Wieland and Scandia with Cholera Aboard, Arrive from Hamburg.

At New York three more cholera-afflicted steamships are held in quarantine. The Wieland, of the Hamburg Line, arrived at daybreak Friday with the dreaded yellow and black signal flying at her peak, and the steamship Wyoming, from Liverpool, which has been anchored at quarantine since Tuesday, sent up the plague flag at 7 o'clock. There were two deaths on the Wyoming, both children, and four or five other persons are sick with the cholera. The Scandia arrived later, literily full of the plague, having had 32 deaths. All parts of the ship are affected. Yellow flags also fluttered from the peaks of the Normannia and Rugia, showing that there were either deaths or new cases, or both, on board those vessels during night. The death flag also floated over Swinburne Island.

KILLED BY A SHOCK.

Light Tender at Pittsburg Electrocuted and Thrown from a Pole.

At Pittsburg Police Officer Bowly found the lifeless body of John Hoxwinter lying against the base of an electric light pole at the corner of Fifth avenue and Stevenson street. Hoxwinter was a light tender in the employ of the Allegheny County Light Company. He had ascended the pole to trim the light and had evidently been electrocuted. His father, who was also a light inspector, was electrocuted about a year ago.

Sends a Capitalist to Jail.

At St. Paul, the criminal libel suit of Attorney Moritz Heim against Capitalist S. J. Ahern had a sensational termination. Ahern published a pamphlet in which he bitterly attacked Archbishop Ireland as a swindler and accused Heim of certifying to acknowledgments fraudulently. Heim caused Ahern's arrest, and the trial resulted in a conviction. Ahern was convicted, and the court sent him to the workhouse for sixty days without the option of a fine. Ahern is a wealthy capitalist, and the sentence created a great deal of discussion. Ahern will appeal the case.

White Caps Murder a Woman.

The white caps have moved their basis of operations from Sevier and Jefferson Counties, Tenn., to Jellico. A band of masked men at that place took two women and three men from a house and severely beat them. A woman named Honaker, from Knoxville, was so badly injured that she will die.

Yankee Seiner Seized.

A United States seiner, the Hattie Maude, has been seized by the Canadian cruiser Curlew for infraction of the fishery laws. She was caught within the three-mile limit in the Bay of Fundy, near St. Andrews. She will be libeled, with a view to her condemnation and confiscation.

Suicide of a Rector.

Rev. J. E. Julien, rector of the Protestant Church at Leesburg, Florida, commited suicide. No cause is assigned for the act. Julien was an Englishman.

Cleveland Not Coming West.

A special from Buzzard's Bay says that Mr. Cleveland will not attend the rally at Bloomington, Ill., on Oct. 10, as reported a day or two ago.

Failed for $200,000.

Alexander Fraser & Son, Quebec, steamboat owners and general merchants, have suspended. Their liabilities amount to $200,000.

Quebec Firm Embarrassed.

Beaudet, Garneau & Lefaivre, hardware merchants of Quebec, are in financial difficulties. Their liabilities are placed at $60,000.

Cincinnati Capitalists Fail.

The Carlisles, for many years prominent and wealthy Cincinnati capitalists, have failed. Their affairs are in a bad tangle.

Killed on a Toboggan Slide.

Near Lincoln, Neb., an accident resulting fatally occurred at the Burlington Beach bathing resort. A number of woman were using the toboggan slide, while workmen were putting up a wire from the slide to the pavilion for a walking performance. The wire was allowed to hang slack and lay across the toboggan slide. Mrs. Bina Croy, unaware of its presence, started on the descent. The wire caught her under the neck and threw her down with great force, fracturing her skull. She was removed to Lincoln and died two hours afterward.

GIGANTIC FIRE AT ALBANY.

All State Documents in Printers' Hands Believed to Be Lost.

At Albany, N. Y., at two o'clock on Monday morning, fire broke out in the rear of the large building owned by R. V. Dewitt. The building was occupied by Russell Lyman, manufacturer of shirts; W. C. Geel, umbrella manufacturer; J. H. Igmire, paper manufacturer; C. T. William Company, Mack & Co., manufacturers of shirts; H. L. Walsh and James B. Lyon, state printers. The structure, which is about 90 by 200 feet, was a seething furnace before water was put on. When the fire reached the powder in a gunshop there were several sharp explosions, and then the walls, loosened by the shock, came down. The old Reformed Church, now the State printing plant, followed and was soon ablaze. The Hotel Germania and the C. T. Williams Printing Company plant were the next to go, and the firemen then turned their attention to saving the great dry-goods house of Mann, Waldman & Co. and a wholesale house. The loss is estimated at $750,000. The State printing house is a total wreck.

STOCK TAKES A BRACE.

Industries and Trade All Over the Country Show Steady Improvement.

R. G. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade says:

Last week's semi-panic in stocks and grain has been followed by a more confident feeling about cholera, as it is seen that the pestilence is thus far confined to incoming ships by national regulations, which all officials are now respecting. Stocks have advanced 75 cents a share on the whole, though in other markets the alarm discloses weakness, which still continues. Meanwhile the general condition of industries and trade throughout the country is not remarkably good, but improving from week to week, although the exports of merchandise are not yet large enough to prevent some exports of gold.

MASS FOR THE DROWNED.

Commemorative Services for Those Who Went Down with the Lady Elgin.

The annual commemorative mass for the victims of the Lady Elgin disaster was celebrated in St. John's cathedral at Milwaukee, Friday morning. The church was crowded, and nearly all the survivors of the wreck were present, some of them coming from distant parts of the country to attend the meeting of the association of survivors. There are only about twenty survivors now living. The Lady Elgin was sunk off Winnetka early on the morning of Sept. 8, 1860, in a collision with the schooner Augusta. Between five and six hundred persons lost their lives.

IS UNABLE TO KILL HERSELF.

A Woman for the Twenty-seventh Time Tries to Commit Suicide.

For the twenty-seventh time in five years Pearl Russell, a St. Louis woman, took poison with suicidal intent. This time she took carbolic acid, and although she is said to be out of danger she wished she had not taken it. As she lay on a cot at 602 Carr street groaning she said to a companion: "Oh, I will never take that stuff again." She has tried morphine a dozen times, arsenic two or three times, and rough on rats almost a dozen time. She tried once to hang herself and another time to die by the knife.

GROWS IN QUARANTINE.

Patients on Swinburne Island Succumb to the Dread Malady.

The death record from cholera at the New York lower quarantine was increased by four Thursday. All these deaths occurred on Swinburne Island, where the sick from the cholera-infected ships are taken as soon as they show the first symtoms of the plague. In addition to the deaths, ten new cases were reported among the crew of the Normannia and the steerage passengers on her and on the Rugia.

MANGLED IN A TRAIN.

Seven Persons Are Dead and at Least Twenty Receive Injuries.

Just before 11 o'clock Saturday night the rear coach of an outward bound and heavily loaded local passenger train on the Fitchburg Railroad was struck by a freight engine at the North Cambridge (Mass.) station. Seven bodies were taken from the wreck and twenty persons have been sent to the Cambridge Hospital.

Threw Herself From a Moving Train.

Mrs. Millie Bailey, wife of Attorney W. B. Bailey, of Wichita, Kan., threw herself from the platform of a Missouri Pacific train near Eldorado, and her injuries are considered fatal. The woman was suffering from melancholy. She has three children.

Two Boys Drowned.

Two brothers, William and James Peer, aged 10 and 12 respectively, were drowned while bathing in the Monongahela River at Pittsburg.

Victim Died and Murderer Arrested.

At Buffalo Gennaro Neibo, the Italian laborer who was shot by T. Barbuto, died at the hospital. Barbuto was captured and is in jail.

MARKET QUOTATIONS.

CHICAGO.
CATTLE—Common to Prime	$3.50	@ 5.75
HOGS—Shipping Grades	3.50	@ 5.75
SHEEP—Fair to Choice	4.00	@ 5.50
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.73	@ .74
CORN—No. 2	.46½	@ .47½
OATS—No. 2	.33½	@ .34½
RYE—No. 2	.56	@ .57
BUTTER—Choice Creamery	.23	@ .26
EGGS—FRESH	.18	@ .19
POTATOES—New, per bu	.55	@ .60
INDIANAPOLIS.
CATTLE—Shipping	3.25	@ 5.25
HOGS—Choice Light	3.50	@ 5.50
SHEEP—Common to Prime	3.00	@ 4.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.70	@ .71
CORN—No. 1 White	.49	@ .51
OATS—No. 2 White, new	.25	@ .36
ST. LOUIS.
CATTLE	3.00	@ 4.75
HOGS	3.50	@ 5.50
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.68	@ .69
CORN—No. 2	.43	@ .44
OATS—No. 2	.29	@ .30
RYE—No. 2	.51	@ .53
CINCINNATI.
CATTLE	3.00	@ 4.75
HOGS	3.00	@ 5.50
SHEEP	3.00	@ 5.25
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.72½	@ .73½
CORN—No. 2	.50	@ .51
OATS—No. 2 Mixed	.34½	@ .35½
RYE—No. 2	.55	@ .55½
DETROIT.
CATTLE	3.00	@ 4.50
HOGS	3.00	@ 5.25
SHEEP	3.00	@ 4.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.75	@ .76
CORN—No. 2 Yellow	.48½	@ .49½
OATS—No. 2 White	.35	@ .36
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—No. 2	.76	@ .77
CORN—No. 2 White	.47½	@ .48½
OATS—No. 2 White	.32½	@ .33½
RYE	.60	@ .61
BUFFALO.
CATTLE—Common to Prime	3.00	@ 4.50
HOGS—Best Grades	4.00	@ 5.75
WHEAT—No. 1 Hard	.85	@ .86
CORN—No. 2	.51½	@ .52½
MILWAUKEE
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.69	@ .71
CORN—No. 3	.46	@ .47
OATS—No. 2 White	.35	@ .36
RYE—No. 1	.59	@ .60
BARLEY—No. 2	.63	@ .64
PORK—Mess	9.75	@10.25
NEW YORK.
CATTLE	3.50	@ 5.25
HOGS	3.00	@ 6.00
SHEEP	3.50	@ 5.25
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.80	@ .81
CORN—No. 2	.57	@ .58
OATS—Mixed Western	.38	@ .40
BUTTER—Creamery	.19	@ .25
PORK—New Mess	11.75	@12.25

BOGUS WAGE ADVANCE

M'KINLEYISM IS COMPLETELY BROKEN DOWN.

History of the Small List of Alleged Wage Advances That Now Supplies Two Parties with Campaign Material—Facts in Regard to Each Case.

Facts That Are Facts.

The Hon. John DeWitt Warner, of the Reform Club, has completed his investigation of the twenty-eight cases where, according to the American Economist and other high tariff authorities, wages have been advanced in protected industries since October, 1890. Trustworthy examiners were sent to each place to get the facts. Their reports were of such a nature that the Reform Club has published them as a number of Tariff Reform, and the New York Weekly World of August 25 gave them a full page.

It will be remembered that the Reform Club had prepared and published in the World and in Tariff Reform a list of nearly 500 wage-reductions and lockouts in protected industries since the McKinley act took effect. The protectionists who had promised higher wages with the McKinley bill and had been shouting higher wages ever since, began to get uneasy because they could not tell anxious inquirers exactly where wage advances had occurred. They began to search, feeling confident that wages must have advanced in many of the thousands of protected mills in this country. They sent out circulars to manufacturers asking them to report the per cent. that wages had been advanced in their mills since October, 1890. In this way and in other ways they got together what purported to be a list of wage advances. Apparently it did not occur to the American Economist editor (or if he did he was so anxious to publish the list that he did not consider the consequence of an exposure) that the manufacturers might misstate facts—perhaps to get free advertising, or, it may be, to attract laborers to their mills. The twenty-eight cases of "wage advances" were published with a flourish in the American Economist. Republican papers were not slow in copying the list. At last McKinley had been vindicated, and the "free-trade liars" silenced. But the one great fault with the list was that it was short; indeed, it was its brevity that betrayed it in more ways than one. It not only exposed the meager results of great promises, but it offered inducements to investigation which a formidable list would have precluded. If the protectionists were attempting a game of bluff they should have made a list of several hundred advances—so many that it would be a very big and very expensive piece of work to make inquiry in regard to all. But twenty-eight cases were just enough to challenge investigation. If a few of them could be shown to be incorrect the already small list would be diminished so that even Republican editors would be ashamed to publish it. It was not expected by Mr. Warner, when he began the investigation, that the whole list was a fraud and that he would in the majority of cases get wage reductions for his already long list. The following are the briefest possible summaries of the list, the quotations being from the American Economist's list of "examples of wages advanced under the McKinley tariff, showing increased per cent:"

"Haskell & Baker Car Company, Michigan City, Ind., 5 per cent."

Wages were reduced from 12½ to 25 cents per day in 1889 and restored 12½ cents in May, 1890. No change since the McKinley act took effect.

"2. Wooster & Stoddard, Walden, N. Y., 5 per cent."

Strike in May, 1892, caused a readjustment of wages by which some got more and others got less—total effect not certain.

"3. Camden Woolen Company, Camden, Me., 10 per cent."

Four looms got a raise because they changed to heavier work—weavers' earnings were not increased.

"4. Rider Engine Company, Walden, N. Y., 5 per cent."

No advances in ten years—but reductions of 10 and 12½ per cent. since 1884.

"Hawthorne Mills Company, Glennville, Conn., 15 per cent."

One man advanced from $1.15 to $1.25 in July, 1892, and nearly all of the 200 employes reduced from 10 to 20 per cent. since 1890.

"6. Alfred Dolge, Dolgeville, N. Y., 20 per cent."

Alfred Dolge has for years had a system of encouraging employes to work for little and expect more, by advancing the wages of twenty or twenty-five of his more industrious workmen a shilling at the end of the year. In February, 1891, forty or fifty received this advance, but in February, 1892, no advance whatever occurred, and many employes were disappointed. Numerous reductions each year fully offset these bunched and widely heralded advances.

"7. Lake Superior Lumber Company, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., 15 per cent."

No advance at all was made in this planing mill—report was purely for political reasons.

"8. J. C. Bass, Roxboro, N. C., 25 per cent."

The two or three employes of this grist and saw mill never got less wages than now. The report furnished amusement for neighbors.

"9. H. L. Chapman, White Pigeon, Mich., 15 per cent."

One of the two employes here is an apprentice and had his wages advanced to 50 cents per day from 25 cents.

"10. Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, Grafton, W. Va., 20 per cent."

No advances here, but the few that have not been discharged by closing of foundries, etc., have had their wages reduced in the last year from $2.25 to $1.57.

"11. Wilkins & Close, Mayfield, N. Y., 15 to 25 per cent."

Mr. Wilkins says the report is false, as only the usual advances to new hands have occurred.

"12. Close & Christie, Mayfield, N. Y., 15 to 25 per cent."

Same situation as No. 11.

"13. Canastota Knife Company, Canastota, N. Y., 10 per cent.

In 1891, by threatening to strike the employes got back about 10 per cent. of the 20 per cent. reduction made four or five years ago.

"14. New York Knife Company, Walden, N. Y., 10 per cent."

In April and in June, 1892, about two-thirds of the workers, by having a union and by threatening to strike, received advances of from 7 to 10 per cent. A general reduction of 10 per cent. occurred in 1885, which the company promised to replace if Harrison was elected.

"15. Thomaston Knife Company, Thomaston, Conn., 10 per cent."

Same situation as at No. 13.

16. W. F. Epperson, Ladoga, Ind., 10 per cent."

Mr. Epperson's reply to the Republican letter sent him is being widely circulated by Demorats. Instead of advancing wages, he has had to shut down his heading factory part of the time.

"17. Pittsburg Reduction Company, Pittsburg, Pa., 10 per cent."

The proprietor knew of no advances, and was surprised that such a report was made.

"18. Sultan Buggy and Carriage Company, White Pigeon, Mich., 10 per cent."

No advances, but more work for the same pay.

"19. B. Howitzer, Chaseburg, Wis., 10 per cent."

Chaseburg has 50 inhabitants. No Howitzer there.

"20. Enterprise Manufacturing Company, Manheim, Pa., 30 per cent."

The girls making socks and overalls at $2.50 to $3 a week became dissatisfied and were irregular at work. The firm advanded prices from 35 to 45 cents and from 11 to 15 cents per dozen.

"21. Shaw Stocking Company, Lowell, Mass., 10 per cent."

The reduction by law of working hours from sixty to fifty-eight caused no reduction of wages of day laborers but piece workers may earn less.

"22. King's County Knitting Company, Brooklyn, N. Y., 5 per cent."

The ten or fifteen employes knew of no advance.

"23. Western Knitting Mills, Rochester, Mich., 15 per cent."

Four apprentices were advanced. Many others of the 100 employes received reductions of from 15 to 12½ cents per dozen.

"24. Western Knitting Mills, Detroit, Mich., 15 per cent."

Wages have not changed for eight years.

"25. Langley & David, Oriskany Falls, N. Y., 25 to 50 cents a day."

Two foremen and one apprentice advanced slightly; six weavers and one finisher reduced from 11 to 16 per cent.; wages of other five employes unchanged.

"26. William Carter & Co., Highlandsville, Mass., 15 to 50 cents a day."

Five of ninety employes were advanced to prevent them from returning to England. A few other changes in the mills were made because new machines were introduced.

"27. McCormick & Co., Harrisburg, Pa., 15 to 50 cents a day."

Forty laborers whose wages were reduced from $1.20 to $1.10 last fall had the ten cents restored in June. Forty puddlers on Feb. 15, 1892, were reduced from $4 to $3.50 per ton. Eighty-five were thrown out in March, 1892, by the closing of one furnace.

"28. He (John DeWitt Warner) should not forget the 25,000 employes in the Fall River cotton mills who had their wages increased on July 11."

The legal change of hours from 60 to 58 per week caused no reduction of wages, because the employes were contemplating a strike to get back a reduction of 10 per cent. in 1884.

The Tin Plate Infant.

According to the report of Special Agent Ira Ayer for the fiscal year ending June 30 last, just published by the Treasury Department, the number of works in operation and the production by quarters have been as follows:

	Works.	Production, pounds.
First quarter	5	826,922
Second quarter	11	1,409,821
Third quarter	20	3,209,225
Fourth quarter	26	8,200,751
Total		13,646,719

Of these twenty-six works nine produce their own black plates, while seventeen do the tinning only. The nine produced 5,197,028 pounds of tin and terne plates during the last quarter, and the seventeen produced 3,003,723 pounds.

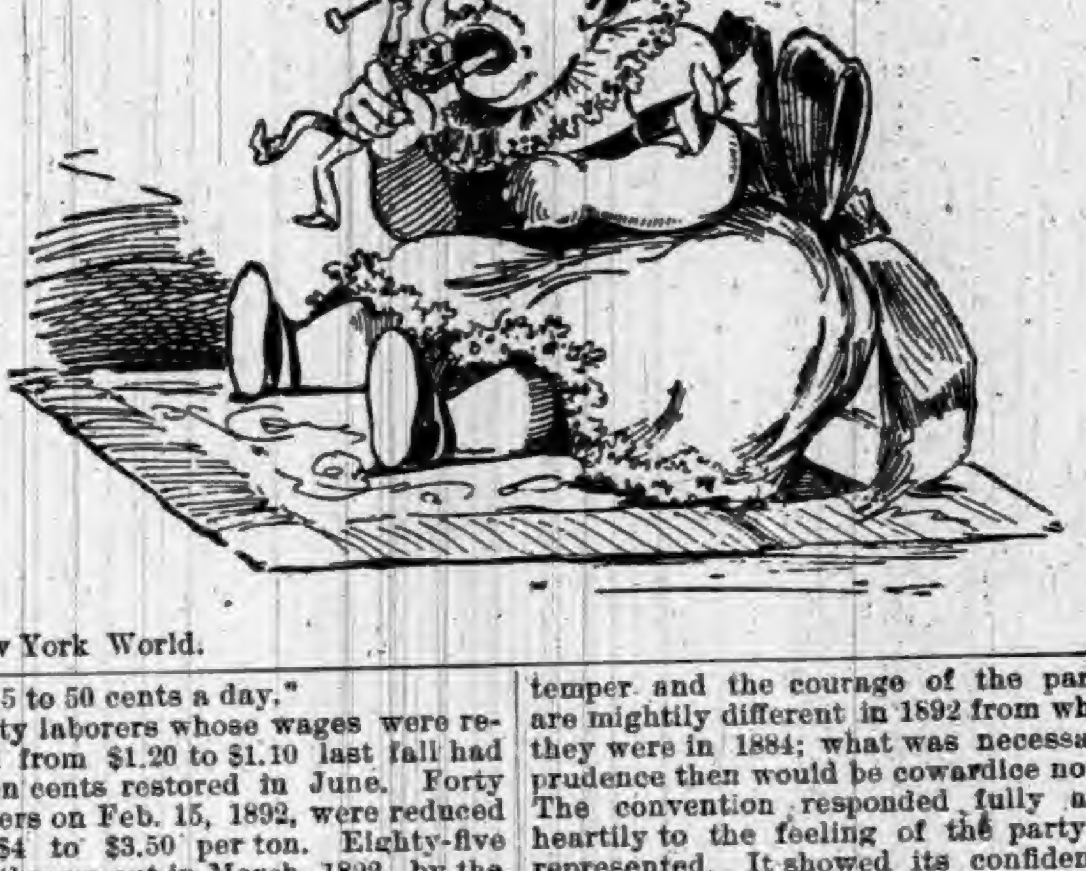
Protectionists everywhere are crowing loudly and think this the brightest infant yet born by the aid of protection; and some are making almost as glowing promises for its future as did McKinley and Allison, who prophesied in 1890 that it would be born in six months and that in a year or two it would have its growth and be producing all of our tin plate. It is to be expected that the Republicans will crow about something during a Presidential campaign, but if there is nothing better for them to crow over than this tin-plate industry in its present condition, the party is indeed lacking for campaign material.

Not only is the infant, as yet, very small but it is feeble. At present we are manufacturing only about five per cent. of our total consumption, and the New York Daily Commercial Bulletin, which has made an analysis of the establishments making tin plate, comes to the conclusion that "As long as prices remain high, such works as do the tinning, merely buying the black plates ready for this process, may get along, but the industry can never be firmly established here on this basis. The large manufacturers of sheet iron and steel, whose works are situated and who are in the best position to make the tin plate industry a success, have not yet shown any inclination to take up the new industry. The tin plate industry can be established only when work shall be established on a large scale which will make a specialty of tin plates and carry on the production from the steel and iron in the form of billets or bars. As yet but few such works are in operation or are projected."

Grant that in a few years we shall be making all of our own tin and terne plates. What then? The industry would probably be more of a curse than a blessing to us. Saying nothing about expecting or hoping to get back the $30,000,000 during the last three years, or the more than $100,000,000 during the last twenty years, which the attempt to establish this industry has cost us, this artificially supported industry, like that of the manufacture of steel rails, of refined sugar, and of hundreds of others, would continue in its old age to take dollars from consumers that it might restore cents to wage earners. If prices of tin should remain about two cents per pound above the foreign price, as it undoubtedly will, as long as the manufacturers of steel sheets, of galvanized iron and steel and of tin plate maintain their combine and are protected by a duty of 2 2-5 cents per pound, this industry will take $10 from the consumer, not $5 of which will be paid to the wage earners and not 50 cents of which will represent a gain to wage earners, over what they could have earned in other industries. By virtue of the duty, which the American Economist says should be retained "forever," the tin-plate trust would continue to rob us of $12,000,000 or $15,000,000 a year, that $6,000,000 or $7,000,000 might go as wages to 10,000 or 12,000 men, who could earn almost as much in a self-supporting industry. This is on the supposition that American laborers will get the benefit of wages paid in this industry. As a matter of fact, a large proportion of the workmen in this, as in most other industries brought here by protection, are foreign-born—brought here to reduce wages by competing with American workmen.

So long as this infant must have protection pap to keep it alive here so long will it be a curse to us—yes, and if it should ever become so hardy that it could live without this pap and it should not be weaned by radical free-traders, it would still curse us as does the 50-year old and still unweaned industries of making steel rails and sugar, which take millions from us every year, though we could make as many tons of steel rails and pounds of sugar and pay just as high wages as if there were no duty at all.

THE INFANT INDUSTRY AND THE WORKINGMAN.



—New York World.

Effects of Tariff Agitation.

There is nothing ambiguous or two-faced in the tariff plank adopted by the Chicago convention. It says:

"We denounce Republican protection as a fraud, a robbery of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of the few. We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the Federal Government has no constitutional power to impose and collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue only, and demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessities of the Government honestly and economically administered."

In commenting upon the adoption of this plank and the rejection of the one reported by the Committee on Platform, in the North American Review for September, the Hon. William L. Wilson says:

"There is need for little comment upon the paragraphs of the report of the committee which were stricken out in convention. They were no longer aids, but incumbrances in the fight. The temper and the courage of the party are mightily different in 1892 from what they were in 1884; what was necessary prudence then would be cowardice now. The convention responded fully and heartily to the feeling of the party it represented. It showed its confidence in tariff reform as the great and winning issue by its nomination of Mr. Cleveland in the face of warnings that would have driven it from a man who did not also stand for a cause. It meant that there should be nothing ambiguous about the party's attitude to that cause, and that the statement of its fundamental principle should not be overlaid with cumulative limitations. And in all this the convention was right. We have passed that stage in the great tariff controversy where it is necessary or proper to cumber party platforms with limitations and promises and protests. After the Mills bill and the special bills passed by the present House, it is superfluous to assure the people that the Democratic party will proceed carefully and conservatively in reducing the tariff. In dealing with this, as with every other long-standing abuse interwoven with our social or industrial system, the statesman will always remember that in the beginning temperate reform is safest, having in it the principle of growth."

Reciprocity.

Reciprocity is Christian. It is a golden rule. But a treaty of reciprocity between nations is a public confession that the people have been deprived of the benefit of practicing the golden rule, and it is now proposed to give some the opportunity, though withholding it from others. Freedom had first to be taken from the colored man to be restored to the slave. Before restoring to man his right to trade, that right has to be first taken from him. A treaty of reciprocity gives to some the right which has been first taken from them, while it leaves others begging for their right. In the abstract, therefore, a treaty of reciprocity must necessarily be an injustice; yet, inasmuch as it does not cause the injury, but relieves some from the injury, we can welcome it until we are able to remove the cause. If, in the year 1840, Maryland had given freedom to all her slaves, Garrison might have rejoiced, but he would not have been satisfied till all other sufferers were freed; and, in like manner, giving some the right to buy and sell wheat, pork, coffee, and hides is a cause of rejoicing, yet we are not satisfied till others can buy and sell potatoes, butter, wool, iron and everything. We love a treaty of reciprocity for the good it does, but we have to first injure everybody before the good can be done.—Frackett's Cobden Pellets.

The Sin of Protection.

"Protection. Is not protection a sin? It involves more sin, and a greater variety of it, that any system I know of except slavery. It would astonish some folks not a little to learn what relation the system (in any form or degree) bears to sin.

"As to the protectionist matter, I need only say that we see more and more plainly that the subject is not understood, which is quite natural among a flourishing new people. I wish they knew how the degradation of our peasantry (who are rising hourly), the crime of our cities, the brigandage of our coasts, the deprivation of our poor-law system, and the demoralization of our whole classes have been occasioned by the protective system, which they seem to consider an optional matter, with only some considerations of expediency, pro and con. Protection has ruined more of our people, body and soul, than drink."—Harriet Martineau's Letters.

Protecting Metal Workers.

Mr. Henry G. Marquand imported from England, not long ago, a bronze statue of Eros, eleven inches high, for which he paid $1,100. The collector imposed a duty of 45 per cent. on it, classing it as a manufacture of metal. Mr. Marquand appealed to the Board of Appraisers, and they decided to admit the statue free as an antiqity, as it was made about 250 B. B. The collector appealed from this ruling to the United States Circuit Court, and Judge Lacombe has decided that the object is dutiable at 15 per cent., as a piece of metal statuary. So Mr. Marquand must pay $165 for the protection of American metal-workers against competition from rivals dead 2,000 years.—Exchange.

To BUY what you need in a dear market and sell your labor in the cheap world's market is indorsed every time a ballot is cast for the tariff. Stop voting that way and grumble less.—St. Louis Courier.

A COMPLETE SET OF THE WORKS OF

CHARLES DICKENS

FREE!

The Most Valuable and Remarkable Premium Ever Offered Free with any Periodical.

A MARVEL IN BOOK-MAKING.

A Set of the Works of Charles Dickens, IN 12 LARGE VOLUMES, FREE.

There has just been published A Set of the Works of Charles Dickens, in Large and Handsome Volumes, printed from entirely new plates, with new type. By special arrangement with the publishers we are enabled to offer to our patrons this splendid set of Dickens' Works, postpaid, free. Charles Dickens was the greatest novelist who ever lived. No author before or since his time has won the fame that he achieved, and his works are even more popular to-day than during his lifetime. They abound in wit, humor, pathos, masterly delineation of character, vivid descriptions of places and incidents, thrilling and skilfully wrought plots. Each book is intensely interesting. No home should be without a set of these great and remarkable works. Not to have read them is to be far behind the age in which we live. The twelve volumes in this set contain the following world-famous works, each one of which is published complete, unchanged and absolutely unabridged:

DAVID COPPERFIELD,
MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT,
NICHOLAS NICKLEBY,
DOMBEY AND SON,
BLEAK HOUSE,
LITTLE DORRIT,
OUR MUTUAL FRIEND,
PICKWICK PAPERS,
BARNABY RUDGE AND CHRISTMAS STORIES,
OLIVER TWIST AND GREAT EXPECTATIONS,
THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP AND THE UNCOMMERCIAL TRAVELER,
A TALE OF TWO CITIES, HARD TIMES, AND THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD.

THE PLAN.

We will send a complete set of these books FREE, by mail, postage paid, guaranteeing safe delivery, as follows: To any old subscriber, who sends one dollar, and renews their subscription to either of the following publications for one year:

THE PEOPLE'S LITERARY COMPANION,

—OR—

The National Farmer and Home Magazine

To any new subscriber, who sends one dollar for either of the above periodicals for one year.

This is the grandest offer ever made, and the greatest bargain ever offered. Up to this time the price of a complete set of Dickens' Works has been ten dollars or more. The use of modern, improved printing, folding and stitching machinery, the present extremely low price of white paper, and the great competition in the book trade are the factors which made this wonderful offer possible. Bear in mind that we offer, not a single volume, but the entire set of twelve volumes all free to subscribers. All may now afford the luxury of owning a handsome set of Dickens' works. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Do not neglect or put off this wonderful opportunity. Send at once; you will be delighted with the charming books, and, as long as you live, never cease to regard it as the best investment of a dollar you ever made. Address all communications to

E. C. ALLEN & CO., Augusta, Maine.

IF YOU CAN READ

and write, and are possessed of fair intelligence, you are fully qualified to make a grand success of what we offer you. We have lately published at great expense and labor a perfect wonder in the way of an illustrated Gift Book, suitable to all classes, an ornament to any home, and at a price that brings it within the reach of all, even those of moderate means. Heretofore only those who indulged in luxuries have felt that they could afford a book of this class, as they are sold in book stores at $5.00 and upwards. The book which we offer is not in any way inferior to those above referred to, but is far superior to hundreds of books of this nature that are sold at prices exceeding ours by an enormous per cent. It is selling with a rush wherever shown. Agents have only to show the book and mention the price, and it sells on its merits without further talking. No better Christmas, New Year's or Birthday present can be selected. It will sell, not only for holiday trade, but at all seasons of the year, for the reason that all will want it in their homes, and will have it as soon as they know the low price at which our agents can furnish them. Reader if you need profitable employment, and a business in which you can and will take pride, as well as make money rapidly, do not fail to send for circulars containing private terms to agents and full information which will be sent FREE upon application. Old and new agents alike are making handsome salaries—yes, fortunes. Many of those who are making the best records are new at the agency business, having had no previous experience. ☞ Make a start—the field is entirely new. No such terms have been offered agents as we now offer on this wonderful book. Special qualifications not necessary, for it sells everywhere at sight. Perhaps you have at some time been unsuccessful at the agency business. If so, there is every reason why you should try this, the PRINCE of gift books, as failure is impossible if you make A START. Write us to-day, study our circulars and directions, then order an outfit and go to work with push and energy. You may make the greatest mistake of your life, if you allow this GOLDEN opportunity to pass unimproved.

E. C. Allen & Co., Box 202, Augusta, Maine.

SHALL WE START YOU

in a pleasant and successful business, that will bring you money rapidly and honorably? A grand opportunity for one person in each locality, young or old, of either sex, wherever you live. Reader, it is a royal chance for you, and such a one as may never again come to your attention in a lifetime. Beginners easily secure an income of $30 to $50 per week from the very start, and much more as the business becomes established. YOU can earn as much as any one. There is not the slightest risk on your part. No capital required. We start you FREE, and furnish everything needed to carry on the business successfully. Hundreds just starting report wonderful success and great profits. Will you write us, and take advantage of this grand offer, or will you delay and allow others to profit by it. We leave it for you to decide, but we tell you frankly that you will lose the golden opportunity of your life if you fail to test the business now. Act quickly and your reward is sure. Address E. C. ALLEN & CO., Box 204, AUGUSTA, MAINE.

The Old Reliable

DR. WARD

OFFICE, ST. LOUIS, MO. Special attention given to all diseases or troubles in male or female, married or single, brought about by exposure, abuses, excesses or improprieties.

THE OLD DOCTOR, Of 38 years' successful experience, may be consulted by mail, or at the office, free of charge.

☞ Reliable, Skillful Treatment Guaranteed.

Board and apartments furnished to those who desire personal care. Send P. O. stamp for circulars, etc.

FREE TRIAL {In Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality, Weakness and Decay, sent free for 12 cts. postage. Address letters,

Dr. Ward Office, 117 N. 8th Street, St. Louis, Mo.

☞ ANY LADY can get a valuable secret that cost me $5.00, and a rubber shield for 30 cents.

Mrs. V. M. APP. CO.

115 N. 8th STREET, ST. LOUIS, MO.

NEVER MELTS. FREEZES. GUMS.

CONTAINS NO PETROLEUM OR ACIDS TO DESTROY AXLES.

AXLE GREASE WISE CHICAGO, ILL. WISE AXLE GREASE NEVER GUMS.

Tested by the public for 20 years.

"WISE" AXLE GREASE.

A PURE VEGETABLE GREASE. EVERY BOX GUARANTEED.

Try "Wise" on one side of your wagon and castor oil or any other kind of grease on the other side, and you will find the "Wise" will wear the longest.

It keeps machinery from rusting and cures scratches on horses.

Try a box and you will use no other.

Ask Your Dealer For It, Or

CLARK & WISE CO., CHICAGO.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE

Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., New York.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE

HARTLEY'S PERUVIAN BARK BITTERS

FOR MALARIA, AGUE, AND GENERAL DEBILITY

◆ ◆ ◆

It will be found of great benefit both as a preventive and cure of sickness.

Excites the appetite, invigorates the digestion, imparts an agreeable warming and cordial operation upon the stomach, exhilerates the spirits, relieves pain, and is highly efficacious in all cases of debility.

PRICE $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

◆ ◆ ◆

Prepared only by

W. D. SOUDERS & CO.

MANUFACTURING CHEMISTS,

MUNCIE, INDIANA.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.

Beauty, Health and Grace Combined—What More can Woman Desire.

Volta-Medico Spinal Appliance, COMBINED WITH AN ABDOMINAL AND HOSE SUPPORTER.

They are electrical as well as medicated and are recommended for all Female Weaknesses, General and Nervous Debility, Liver and Kidney Troubles, Headaches, Malaria, Rheumatism, Spinal Diseases, Heart Diseases, Cold Extremities, all Bilious Disorders, Impoverished Blood, Impaired Circulation—in fact all Diseases of the Blood, Stomach or Liver, or where there is a lack of vigor and failing health.

They are not only comforting and strengthening to the wearer, but bring about beauty of form. Shapeless figures made symmetrical in form in from three to six months. Appliances guaranteed. Send stamp for circulars and full information. Address,

VOLTA-MEDICO APPLIANCE CO.,

15 N. 8th St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

FREE-TO MEN.

When you get tired of the "doctors" with their big prices and quack remedies, write to me and I will send (sealed) FREE a prescription that will quickly and certainly cure lost power, wasting weakness, lack of development, impotency, varicocele, etc., from excesses or other causes. A New Positive Remedy which cures when everything else fails. Address

J. D. HOUSE, Box 625, ALBION, MICH.

ROYAL SEWING MACHINE

WARRANTED 5 YEARS

Has a Large High Arm.
Has a Self-setting Needle.
Has a Self-threading Shuttle.
Has No Equal in Construction.
Has a Mechanical Appearance.
Has an Elegant Finish.
Has a Perfect Adjustment.
Has a Positive Take-up.
Has Stylish Furniture.
Has More Good Sewing Qualities and does a Larger Range of General Work than any Sewing Machine in the World.

Examine THE ROYAL for points of excellence, and you will buy no other.

ROYAL S. M. CO., Rockford, Ill.

A TIMID WOMAN'S TRIAL.

Surprising Interruption in a Life of Monotoy.

BY OCTAVE THANET.

CHAPTER I.

Never had there been a September like that in all the autumns of Judith Crest's life. The last day she went out to a little knoll edged by sycamore trees, only to gaze about the farm for the sheer joy of possession. Yet she was not used to love the farm; born a timid and gregarious soul, she was oppressed by solitude. For twenty-two years that long hedge of poplars had looked to her as she fancied a prison stockade might look to a convict. Her eyes wearied of the billowy levels, tossing like an ocean about the trim four-roomed house and huge, unpainted barns; they wearied of the dusty currant bushes and the unfruitful orchard. Most of all they wearied of the one everlasting, relentless face of nature.

Therefore she spent hours daily nursing a pitiful little show of flowers such as had grown in the moist seashore gardens of her youth, and wilted under the fierce Iowa summers. Indoors, she cut out pictures from the illustrated journals that at rare intervals came into her hands, and pasted them on her unplastered walls. She learned to make paper flowers. She hankered after the dazzling but unattainable loveliness of wax flowers in oval glass cases. She subscribed to a weekly household magazine named the Homestead, reading, in her hunger for companionship, the "correspondence column," wherein subscribers exchanged impartially their domestic trials, their spiritual, wrestlings, the puzzles of rural etiquette, and the best fashions of washing blankets or raising a "sponge."

Occasionally, in that oft-studied column, would appear a paragraph like this: "I would like to ask the sister from Marr if she makes her chocolate frosting with the whites of eggs or boils it, and please send a receipt for preventing rabbits gnawing the rosebushes.

"LUCETTA."

Or: "I dearly love to get the Homestead. I enjoy all the sisters say. Erminie writes most beautifully! Please write again, Erminie, and let us know how to bear our crosses in the right spirit. I would be obliged, also, for a remedy how to prevent hair falling out.

"LUCETTA."

When she read these Mrs. Crest would blush with pleasure and feel the intoxicating delights of fame, for she was Lucetta.

But for most of the time there was only work to break the loneliness. To be sure, there was plenty of work and had been all through the twenty-two years. Joshua, her husband, was a good farmer, but for a long while "unmerciful disaster followed fast and followed faster;" once, he had been swept clean of all save hope by a cyclone; once, he had escaped only by a hairsbreadth losing his farm through the fraud of a friend.

Twenty-two years ago he had said: "Never mind, Judy, just let me make a few thousand dollars and you shan't have to work on the farm. I'll sell out and buy a store in town and be postmaster."

All his life Joshua had craved the leisurely honors of office. He, too, was social; he liked to talk, and he had a gift for telling stories. How many times in the years those two simple creatures had stocked that store I will not try to count. At first every Sunday night. They bought a book on bookkeeping and an arithmetic, and it was (but principle would not allow anything so like a game on Sunday) an exciting diversion to practice making change with the numbered counters of pasteboard left by a tramping farm hand. They did not dream that the dingy red and blue and white disks were no less than wicked poker chips. Judith hacked them into the proper sizes and numbered them neatly, so that they represented all the subsidiary coin. By consequence, Mrs. Crest's extraordinary swiftness and accuracy in changing a dollar for, say, three dozen eggs at 17½ cents a dozen, or three pounds of butter at 23 cents a pound, were the marvel of the Delmar shopkeepers. From coin to bank notes the transition is easy—in theory; a scarcity of notes made it less easy in practice, but by dint of years' study the pair came to know the look and feel of a bank note well enough to enable Joshua to detect a very poor counterfeit $2 bill at a county fair. From that day dated a reputation for shrewdness that he no more deserved than he did the gallows.

But the years slowly had dragged hope and dreams away together. The little children came; they died, one after another, and the desolate mother felt, deep down in her heart, that a doctor near enough to come daily might have saved them. Then, when the keeness of their grief was blunted and they went for comfort to their old fancies, time and again their savings had been wrenched from them. The man would have given up the fight in despair, but the woman clung to her shadowy hopes the more tenaciously. Finally, their patience and industry conquered. The great crop of 1891 had increased their savings beyond the amount necessary to pay off the last installment of the mortgage; they would actually have some hundreds in money. Six thousand dollars and over stood to Joshua Crest's credit at the bank.

"Only," said Judith to Myron Dwight, "I cayn't help felling kinder scary till the 3d of October is past and gone."

Myron was considered the cleverest young man in Delmar or in the county. He had been to Iowa City to the university; he went every year to Chicago to buy his goods, which added to his knowledge of the world and improved his toilets; he was talked about for the Legislature. He was to be Joshua's partner. Myron was almost like a son to Judith. She had loved him, petted him, prayed for him, and no one except his mother knew so well what things he liked best to eat. Myron's mother was Judith's best friend—why should I make a secret of it?—she was the admired Erminie of the Homestead. She was a widow with this one child, whom she had educated out of the proceeds of a tiny bake shop and an infinite ingenuity. They lived in Delmar. To live in Delmar may not seem to the world a brilliant lot, Delmar being a flat inland Iowa town, but beside the lonely farm life, a town with two churches, a bank and shops looked like a populous paradise. In Delmar one could see people every day, just by looking out of the window.

"Seems like I couldn't wait to get to Delmar," said Judith, "but I cayn't feel to be quite happy till after the 3d."

Myron looks at her kindly from the height of his six feet two inches. She is such a wee creature in a black frock made (but he does not know it) after a pattern from the Homestead, with her little peaked, wistful, timid face; her mild blue eyes and forehead wrinkled by the constant lifting of her eyebrows, peering out to see distant objects on those wide and lonely plains. Her eyebrows are thin and gray, and so is her hair, which she curls on a slate pencil to resemble the hair of the ladies of Delmar. It would be pretty hair if she would not disfigure it.

"Yes," says Myron, "Lorillard is a hard man to deal with, but you have the money in the Delmar bank all right"

"It ain't in the Delmar bank; it is in the other bank, Mr. Starling's bank at Ranford."

Myron's black brows met. "Why, Uncle Joshua certainly told me he was going to put it in the Delmar bank."

"Well, he did start to put it there, but he happened to hear Mr. Maxwell was a drinking man——"

"Maxwell! Why, he never was drunk in his life. He is as temperate a man as ever lived and as honest."

"Joshua didn't hear anything about his honesty, but—it was this way: Joshua had gone to Delmar with that money and he met Mr. Starling in town. Well, I guess Mr. Starling came up to him and congratulated him on the high price he got for his wheat and its being likely our corn would do well, too; and Joshua told him what he got and how he was on his way to put it in the bank. And, someway, that led them to talking 'bout Mr. Maxwell, and Mr. Starling said he was sorry Maxwell was voting with the liquor party; and it come out that Mr. Maxwell sometimes took a glass of beer himself. Mr. Starling seemed to feel real sorry about it."

Here Myron burst in: "Sorry? Why, he was just telling Uncle Josh that to prejudice him. He sorry, the hypocrite! Then, I dare say, when Uncle Josh wanted to put the money in his bank, he wouldn't take it at first!"

"No, he truly wouldn't, Joshua. But you know your Uncle Joshua feels so strong about the temperance question because his sister, she married a drunkard; he said he wouldn't let his money go to help the breweries, and he fairly made Mr. Starling take it."

Myron was gloomily gnawing his mustache. "Did he get a deposit receipt?" said he.

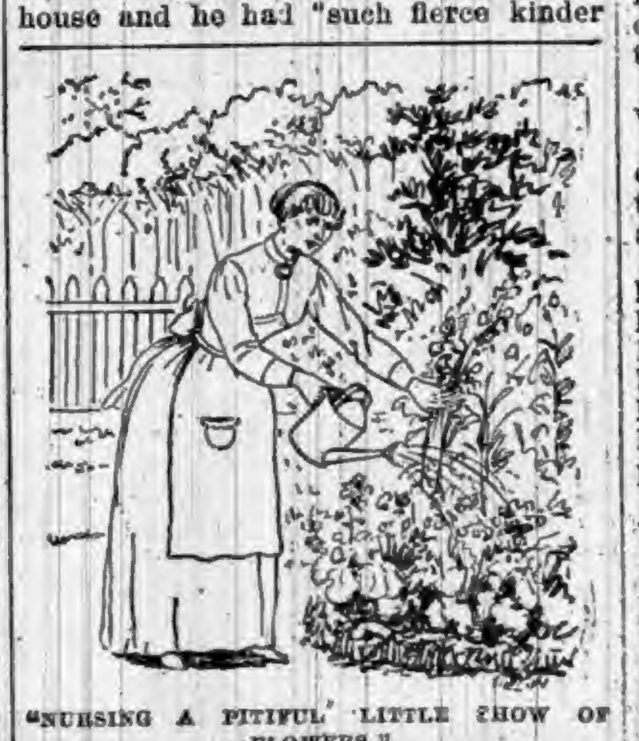
"They went right on back to Ranford and put the money in the bank there." She stole a worried glance at the young man's dark face. For years she had trusted to Myron's knowledge of the great, dim, wicked mystery that she called "the world." Even she suspected that Joshua was simple as a child. "I hope—oh, there ain't anything wrong about doing that way, is there, Myron."

Myron laughed; it was all right he guessed, and he would not stay for parleying, but swung his long legs over the barbed wire fence in a handspring, and was off to seek Joshua. Judith caught her breath because she always expected to see him "catch" on the jagged line of iron. Poor Judith! hers was a soul that inclined to terror as the sparks fly upward. She was afraid of cows, and mice, and June bugs, and horses, and hired men. She went to church behind staid old horses, feeling that she was risking her life for her religion. When they first came to the prairie she had been braver and younger and used to ride; but since the brown colt ran away and threw her on the railway track in front of a train of cars she had never mounted a horse. She told Mrs. Dwight that if she had to choose between being shot and riding Starlight, the colt, she would ask to be shot, "because it is an easier death," said Mrs. Crest. Of course she lived in dread of the "hired men," except Axel Petersen, the latest hired man, who was to be married to a girl in Sweden and had told her about the courtship. Axel was to buy the farm. Most of all she feared tramps at harvest time; she feared them so much that she had secretly bought a second-hand pistol that would not fire, which she locked up in a drawer; and she was on the whole rather more afraid of its exploding than of the tramps.

For a while she watched the tall, light figure bounding between the rows of corn; with the pensive admiration of age for youth's activity; then she walked slowly, a little stiffly, back to the house. It would soon be time for Joshua's supper; perhaps Myron would stop to supper, too, and it would be worth while to make pancakes.

CHAPTER II.

But when half an hour later Joshua's shadow fell across the threshhold there was no tall young fellow behind him. Joshua stood in the doorway to watch her. The kitchen was large and sunny, and Judith had papered it with her own hands. Had the paper not been bought of a peddler to whom Judith had paid tribute because she was alone in the house and he had "such fierce kinder eyes," it probably would not have been a remnant of a pattern used in a country "opera house," nor represented flowers of such startling size and color, nor needed to be eked out by a blue and gold ceiling paper. But Joshua said that the paper was a good quality, and he admired it with a trusting heart. He was a short, rather stout, florid little man whose gray hair was brushed back from a large forehead, and whose blue eyes were as innocent as a child's. He stooped a little because he had bent over a plowhandle so much in his youth. He wore a short gray beard, but his mouth was bare and usually was attractive in its kindly half-humorous smile. To-night he watched his wife gravely. But his first words were cheerful enough. "Mother, Axel's money will be here all right next month, and he can pay $1,200 down and the rest on two, three and four years' time."



"NURSING A PITIFUL LITTLE SHOW OF FLOWERS."

"That's good," said Mrs. Crest; "but why didn't Myron come back with you, father?"

"He said he guessed he'd better hurry home." The old man did not look at her; he walked across the floor to the sink and began pumping; all the while he was conscious of his wife's eyes on his back.

"Father, did Myron tell you anything about that bank?"

Joshua's face was over the tin basin; a great splashing noise came to her, mingled with a grunt that the bank was all right; but Joshua's neck, fair where the sun had not touched it, grew red and redder.

"Father, I jest know he did!" she cried, "he thinks Starling's bank ain't safe; that's why Myron wouldn't stop to supper; he didn't want to be questioned."

"Mother, you're the scariest critter alive! Starling is a good boy; he is the superintendent—no, that's his brother, but he is a professer, and he's a straight temperance man, and I ain't going to believe a word agin him."

Judith was trying to fry her cakes; the grease sputtered and hissed on the griddle and spattered on her bare wrist: she did not even know that it had burned her. Her mild eyes were glowing, she trembled, and her gentle voice was sharpened by pain as she answered:

"Then he did talk to you. Oh, father, don't—don't hide anything from me!"

"I ain't hiding nothing, mother. Myron, he thought you'd worry so, that's all; and tain't much he said. He's young and thinks he knows it all. Jest because some Chicago feller with his boots blacked has been stuffin' Myron, he thinks Steve Starling, we've all known from a boy, is going to bust up."

"Father, for heaven's sake, what did Myron say?"

"Well; if you'll be any wiser for hearin', he heard Steve had been speculating in buckets in Chicago," said the old man, with a visible pride over his fluency with the terms of finance; "he has been going long, or else he has been going short, on wheat, and kiting away with notes and lost money, but I don't believe a word of it myself."

Judith took up the cakes with shaking hands; she laid the plate on the table and put the griddle further back on the stove in order to approach Joshua. Never since their little boy died had he seen his wife's face as it looked then.

"Joshua," she said, "if we lose that money it means we'll have to spend all our days working on a mortgaged farm. If we cayn't pay up the third he can foreclose on us; and you know he's mean enough to do it; and if we borrow money to pay him we shall have to work it out! That's the best can happen to us; the worst is we'll be turned out—on the prairie—noways at all can we go to town, and for how many years—oh, father——"

"Hush, hush, Judy"—he tried to soothe her, stroking her withered hand and patting it—"come now, it will be all right, we'll go fast enough. I didn't know you wanted it so awful much!"

"Wanted it!" she screamed, while the patience of years seemed to break down, and her words rushed as a prairie fire spreads; "wanted it, Father, you ain't got no idea what it means to me to get out of this loneliness and be with God's folks again! I ain't had a peaceful day since the children died, I couldn't work hard enough to stop my thinking! I was scared all the while. I never said nothing 'bout it, for what good would it do? We'd got to live out on the farm; it would only pester you, and you had enough to stand, but all day I'd be thinking, what about the horses? what about the reaper? when it was going, and I'd see you brought home all bloody. If I'd a soul to speak to it wouldn't have been so bad, but I knew we couldn't afford a girl, and how'd we get one if we could? And every time the wind blowed I was expecting a cyclone."

"Why, Judy, and you so brave when we did have a cyclone!"

"I had got to be brave then, but I was awful scared inside; but when I seen it coming and you off, I had to loose the horses, for I knew the barn would go. and I got what I could down cellar, 'cause I knew that was the safest place. But I am always afraid of it coming again. But I won't mind it a bit in town; there's so many people. Oh, I cayn't tell you what it will be to be where I can see the neighbors passing and go to church Sunday without riding! I'll have Myron, that's most like a son to me; he was born the same day of the month as our little Joe, father, and he's got the same sweet disposition and eyes jest like Joe's eyes; don't you remember?"

"Yes, yes, mother," said the old man, sighing. In both their minds was the same vision of the love and joy and grief of their youth.

"Now, father, it seems like I couldn't run no risks. Say Myron and me are foolish; there ain't no risk in taking the money out, and there is to keep it in. Jest to please me, father, won't you take it out?"

He had never denied her anything, and he did not deny her now. He was frightened at her strange excitement, and told her to sit down, and he would finish getting supper. "And I tell you what I'll do, mother," said he. "I'll go to town to-morrow, though before the Lord I don't know how to take the time, and I'll inquire 'round, and if there is any talk 'bout the bank being bad I'll draw the money sharp. But, you see, I hate to make mischief for Starling, who is a good boy, running down his bank, so I jest got to go cautious, ain't I? And it is a sight of money to draw out at a whack, now ain't it? Mebbe we'd better sorter give him warning—do like we'd be done by, you know—so he can git a good ready. What do you think?"

"I think you'd better go and do jest what Myron says."

"Myron don't know everything, mother," answered her husband in a piqued tone. "You don't seem to guess I got any judgment of my own."

She saw she had made a mistake, and hastened to assure him that she knew how good his judgment was and the like things that wives say to their husbands; but there was a little rankle left. Myron had always disliked Starling from a boy, he said. Myron was prejudiced.

Nevertheless, he was as good as his word. In the morning he drove to town. He inquired of the deacon of his church if Starling was sound. He had qualms of conscience lest such inquiry might be an injury to the bank, therefore he chose a known friend of Starling for the interlocution. "Sound?" exclaimed the deacon, whose name was on a note of Starling's at that moment, "sound, of course he is sound; but if you want to make him unsound that is the way to go at it; start a run and you will make plenty of mischief!"

"I didn't mean to make any mischief," said Joshua contritely. "I ain't that kind, but you see my wife got scared about——"

"Does she know anything about business?" asked the deacon, with a caustic accent on the word; and Joshua felt that he cut the sorry figure of a man that was cajoled by his wife into doing unkind as well as unbusinesslike actions.

The deacon left him wretchedly cleaning his boots on the wooden sidewalk to conceal his embarrassment, and hurried after Starling himself.

"I will get that note back to-day," thought the deacon; "he was so liberal loaning without asking security that I couldn't very well refuse, but he has got to see me through."

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

THE dispatches say that the manager and an assistant of a telephone exchange in Nebraska were floodbound in a tree-top and called lustily for help many hours before anybody heard them. The people of Nebraska are but human and revenge is sweet.

CORN BELT EXPOSITION

TO BE HELD AT MITCHELL SOUTH DAKOTA.

The Exposition Will be One of Great Credit to the State—Will Hold From September 28 to October 6—Twenty-one Counties to be Represented.

The Corn Palace.

SOUTH DAKOTA is one of those states in the country which is at the present on the top wave of prosperity and her residents, with the object of calling the attention of her sister states to her unbounded resources and her richness in agricultural way have decided on the holding of a Corn Belt Exposition in Mitchell from September 28 to October 6, 1892. The exposition is to be held in a Corn Palace building which at this time is nearly completed. The building will be a large and expensive one and all the various tasty features of architectural skill are being employed to make the exterior very attractive. The interior is sufficiently large to accommodate several thousand people while seated, besides the various exhibits from the twenty-one counties in the Corn Belt of the state, and all the mineral exhibits of gold, silver, tin, lead, etc., from the Black Hills. While the exposition is expected to benefit the entire state yet only those counties lying within the Corn Belt district will have charge of the exposition. The Corn Belt region is known as the twenty-one counties situated in the south-eastern portion of the state. It is here that corn is successfully raised and of such quality and quantity as to rival that grown in more southerly states. This is the spot in the state where the famers have grown wealthy from the annual sale or turning off of vast quantities of cattle and hogs. Diversified farming here is the rule and the farmers are in consequence successful in their pursuits. The Corn Belt is the oldest settled and most prosperous part of the state. A crop failure has scarcely ever been known and with the pride brought about by success the residents of the Corn Belt are endeavoring by this Exposition to show her resources in an attractive manner, and to rid from the minds of Easterners the idea that South Dakota is a place where only blizzards, drouths, Indians, and destitute people abound. In this land of bright sunshiny weather genuine blizzards are as rare as in the East, drouths have never effected the Corn Belt, Indians are as scarce as on the streets of Chicago, and the farmers are housed in substantial homes, their stock in roomy barns, and the residents of the state will be found to be of an intelligent class. Americans by birth in an overwhelming majority, they are mostly educated. They are proud of their state and they intend that the rest of the world shall know it as they know it. In that part of the state north and west of the Corn Belt region the farmers a few years ago were subjected to the discouragement incident to a new country and to pioneers. The southeastern part of the state was more slowly settled than the rest of the state, and the residents were farming successfully at the time of the great influx of immigration into the rest of the state in the early eighties. The people who then came to secure Dakota land were far different from the present class of residents. Those who came then were brought here with the expectation of securing land without making it their home. The majority of the fertile acres of the broad prairies of the state were taken up by this class. Many never tilled their land at all and of those that did do any farming done it in such a careless hap-hazard way that when any set back was brought about through crop failure they failed to withstand the storm and left the country. The experienced farmers among those who first came stayed, the inexperienced and thriftless class was weeded out, and their places afterward taken by the better element and to-day without exception the farmers of the state are of the right class and are working their way towards a sure enough success. The great crop yields of 1891 have been, take the state as a whole, repeated the present season. Conservative estimates place the wheat crop at 55,000,000 bushels, the corn crop at 25,000,000 bushels, and the oat crop at 60,000,000 bushels. The effects of these magnificent yields has been to install a spirit of enthusiasm into the people of the state and a spirit of enterprise which is showing itself in all directions in increased business activity. From an assessed valuation of $47,701,000, in 1882 the state has prospered to such an extent that the assessed valuation this year is $137,373,761, an increase of 300 per cent. This part of the Northwest which was once considered "away out West," is but 500 miles from the World's Fair City and can be reached by a twelve hour ride from that place. Proximity to large markets is therefore clearly shown. Investments by eastern parties will be made to a large extent in the next few years. Nearly every other section of the country has been boomed by investors, in fact, South Dakota is about the only section of the country where the effect of 'booming' is not shown, and capitalists are bound in a very short time to become convinced that the avenue for rich investments have surely opened in this state.

South Dakota expects in the future to have the only Corn Palaces in the Northwest. The celebrated Corn Palaces of Sioux City attracted the attention of the entire country to that city, and yet Sioux City's prosperity can be attributed to a great extent to the hogs and cattle raised on South Dakota soil and fed on South Dakota corn.

The present Corn Belt Exposition will be one of great credit to the state. It is no small affair but of such magnitude the visitors wonder when they view the building now going up at the size of the undertaking. The Exposition is directly under the management of the citizens of Mitchell who have assumed all the costs of the undertaking, but the prominent residents and real estate men of all the counties in the Corn Belt are at work to make the Exposition a great success. Among the attractions which are offered besides the beautiful palace decorations are the daily concerts of the Iowa State Band, a musical organization of fifty pieces, and the doings of political days when Republican, Democratic and Farmers' Alliance speakers of national repute will deliver addresses, besides others now being arranged for. The interior of the building will be lit by myriads of electric lights and will resemble a palace in every sense of the word. The force of 150 decorators under the charge of Prof. Rohe, who had supervision of the decorations of the New Orleans Exposition for several years has commenced work on the building. The Exposition is a big undertaking and reflects great credit on the city where it is to be held and upon the residents of the Corn Belt as well.

THE extent of the influence a lake may exercise upon climate is illustrated by the statement of M. Forel that the quantity of heat accumulated by Lake Leman during the summer is equivalent to that which would be given out by the burning of 31,000,000 tons of coal. A railroad train carrying this coal would be 18,000 kilometers long, or nearly the length of the earth's meridan from pole to pole.

GANTER'S MAGIC —CHICKEN— CHOLERA CURE!

Thousands of dollars worth of chickens are destroyed by Cholera every year. It is more fatal to them than all other diseases combined. But the discovery of a liquid remedy that positively destroys the Microbes has been made. Half of the young chickens are killed by Microbes before they are fryers. A 50-cent bottle is enough for 100 chickens. It is guaranteed. If, after using two thirds of a bottle, you are not satisfied with it as a cure for Cholera, return it to the druggist from whom you purchased it, and he will refund your money.

For Sale by ROBBINS & McCORD, Druggists, Auburn, Ind.

TO WEAK MEN

Suffering from the effects of youthful errors, early decay, wasting weakness, lost manhood, etc., I will send a valuable treatise (sealed) containing full particulars for home cure, FREE of charge. A splendid medical work; should be read by every man who is nervous and debilitated. Address, Prof. F. C. FOWLER, Moodus, Conn.

MARYLAND ROASTER AND BAKER

IMPROVED

FOR MEATS, FOWL, FISH, ETC., AND FOR BAKING BREAD, CAKES AND PUDDINGS.

ROASTER & BAKER

BEST SIMPLEST AND CHEAPEST

THE STEAM produced by the process of cooking cannot escape, is absorbed by the article in the roaster, and acts as a basting. There is no evaporation, no drying up or burning, hence no shrinkage or loss of weight, and all the flavor and nutritious qualities of the food are retained. Tough meats are made tender, and any article roasted or baked will be sweeter, healthier and more digestible. Put the food in the roaster, place the roaster in a well heated oven; the roaster will do the cooking. It requires no attention. Can only be bought from dealers, the trade supplied by:

MATTHAI, INGRAM & CO., 120 HANOVER ST., BALTIMORE, MD. 64 READE ST., NEW YORK.

None Such CONDENSED Mince Meat

Makes an every-day convenience of an old-time luxury. Pure and wholesome. Prepared with scrupulous care. Highest award at all Pure Food Expositions. Each package makes two large pies. Avoid imitations—and insist on having the NONE SUCH brand.

MERRELL & SOULE, Syracuse, N. Y.

CHASE'S 3 HORSE HEAD HORSE BLANKETS

are the strongest and best.

Chase's Plush Lap Robes

are the standard. The plush will not shed. All robes have the name Chase either woven in the binding or sewed on the corner.

FIRST-CLASS DEALERS WILL SELL NO OTHERS.

L. C. CHASE & CO., Boston, Mass.

LOVELY COMPLEXION BEAUTIFUL FORM.

Blemishes, such as FRECKLES, MOTH PATCHES, LIVER SPOTS, BLOTCHES, TAN, PIMPLES, BLACK HEADS, ROUGHNESS, or any discoloration removed, rendering the skin soft, velvety & beautiful.

The form developed — made PLUMP AND BEAUTIFUL.

Send six cents in stamps and get descriptive circulars and testimonials in a sealed envelope.

H. BENJAMIN & CO., 115 N. 8th Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

CANCER and other Malignant Diseases CURED without the use of knife. Consultation Free. Call or write— DR. RUSH Office, 600 Pine St. ST. LOUIS, MO.

CORNETT PIANOS. STYLE A.

HAVE PERFECT TONE, ACTION, FRAME WORK, AND FINISH

AND MODERATE PRICES.

GUARANTEED 5 YEARS.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR AND PRICES.

The Cornett Piano Co., 525-531 W. 24 St., NEW YORK.

THE GREATEST REFRIGERATOR IMPROVEMENT OF THE AGE, THE GURNEY PATENT REFRIGERATOR.

No. 2. Front sectional view showing position of removable galvanized ice compartment, mineral wool packing, etc.

THE ONLY CLEANABLE REFRIGERATOR.

The greatest economy of ice. The lowest average temperature.

If your dealer does not sell the "Gurney," send for Catalogue and Prices.

GURNEY REFRIGERATOR CO., Fond du Lac, Wis.

FREE FOR 30 DAYS 30 DAYS

In order to introduce our CRAYON PORTRAITS and make new customers, we have decided to make this Special Offer: Send us a Cabinet Picture, Photograph, Tintype, Ambrotype or Daguerotype of yourself or any member of your family, living or dead, and we will make you a Crayon Portrait Free of Charge, provided you exhibit it to your friends as a sample of our work, and use your influence in securing us future orders. Place name and address on back of picture and it will be returned in perfect order. We make any change in picture you wish, not interfering with likeness. Refer to any Bank in Chicago. Address all mail to ECLIPSE PORTRAIT CO., 110 East Randolph St., CHICAGO, Ill.

P. S.—We will forfeit $100 to any one sending us photo and not receiving crayon picture FREE as per this offer. THIS OFFER IS STRICTLY BONA FIDE.

BUCKEYE HOG CHOLERA CURE

MAKES HOG RAISING PROFITABLE.

AN ABSOLUTE PREVENTION AND CURE OF HOG CHOLERA.

IT WILL

Put your Hogs in first-class condition.
Stop cough and regulate the bowels.
Arrest disease in every instance.
Destroy worms.
Repay its cost many times over in the extra pounds of pork it will make without extra feed.

If your local dealers do not have it, we will send to any address on receipt of price, 50 cents a package. Write for prices on larger quantities.

AGENTS WANTED.

W. T. PHILIPPS & CO., NOS. 115 AND 117 ST. CLAIR STREET, TOLEDO, OHIO.

BIG DISPLAY!

AT G. H. YESBERA'S

NEW CLOTHING HOUSE.

Come where you can find on sale a full and complete line of Clothing of all the latest styles and fabrics, in Men's Boys' and Youths' suits; selected from the best manufactures in the Country. My aim is to be Headquarters for everything in the way of Ready-Made Clothing. I cordially invite everyone to call and look through the stock, get the prices and be convinced that this is the place to trade.

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

G. H. YESBERA'S New Clothing House.

DO YOU WANT A BARGAIN?

Then go to

THE FAIR STORE.

Pants,
Pants,
Pants.

Shirts,
Shirts,
Shirts.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's

UNDERWEAR,

Cheaper than the Cheapest.

2 JOHNS 2
AT THE FAIR.

J. C. HENRY, Prop'r,

Notice to Non-Residents.

STATE OF INDIANA, } ss.
DEKALB COUNTY,

In the DeKalb circuit court. October term, 1892, William Droud is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said court, for a divorce, by Harriet Droud, and that the same will be heard and determined on the 37th juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences Oct. 3rd, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 14th day of September, 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk.

MCCLELLAN AND GARWOOD, Att'ys.

Take Notice.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me, will confer a great favor and at the same time cancel an honest obligation, by calling and settling at once. Please make a note of this, so when you are in town you will drop in and balance accounts.

Yours Resp'y.
J. BEURET, Auburn.

DO YOU KNOW

THAT IF YOU USE ONE BOTTLE OF

Chapman's Celebrated Flux Syrup

NO ONE CAN PERSUADE YOU TO DO WITHOUT IT?

If you are attacked with Cholera Morbus it will relieve all pain and leave your stomach and bowels in good shape. If you are attacked with Diarrhœa, it will cure you and leave you feeling as good as new. If you have had Chronic Diarrhœa for many years, you will be happily surprised before you have used one bottle. If you have pain in the Stomach, Bowels, or Side, it will give relief. If you have a cough, it will give you sweet rest and cure your cough. It is a sweet syrup. Children love it, and nothing can excel it for children Cutting Teeth, as it will relieve the pain and regulate their bowels. It is for sale by Druggists, and has a Printed Guarantee on each bottle. If, after a thorough trial, you are not satisfied with the result, you can return the bottle to the druggist and your money will be refunded. Don't ruin your stomach with burning remedies when this pleasant syrup is guaranteed to cure.

G. W. CHAPMAN,
MANUFACTURER, BOX 207, HICKSVILLE, OHIO.

THE AUBURN COURIER

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DEKALB COUNTY.

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, post-office as second-class matter.

THURSDAY....SEPTEMBER 15, 1892.

HAVE you heard from Maine?

JOHN G. WHITTIER, the poet, died Sept. 7, at the age of 84.

IF REPUBLICANS lose in the west, as they have in Vermont and Maine, it will give the democrats, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Michigan, by good majorities.

MAINE went republican Monday by about 12,000. In 1888 and 1890 their majority was over 18,000. Blaine did not vote, and had not even registered. Poor comfort for the G. O. P.

REPUBLICANS still insist that the McKinley law built up tin factories and mines. Will they explain how? The only thing that law did for tin was to put on an extra tax, in such a way as to obstruct the industry.

THE Dispatch is still fighting the two democratic commissioners who tried to save the county some thousands of dollars. In fact, they did save $3,500 on one bridge contract, in spite of the protests of Mr. Lockwood and the Dispatch.

A. J. YOU, the republican candidate for congress, can have the use of the COURIER columns any time, to deny that he was a confederate soldier. Why don't he send to the war department to see whether he was in the confederate service?

A FIFTH moon for Jupiter has just been discovered. An American has credit for the greatest astronomical event of the century. Republican editors should note that this happened as soon as the McKinley bill was fully under way.

THE Butler Record tries to name a case in which Cleveland improperly vetoed a pension bill. If the man, Smith, that he names, was injured in the service, why could he not get a pension under the same general laws that others do? If his case was meritorious, why has not one of the congresses since then, taken up this bill and passed it over again? Or why did not that very congress pass it over the veto?

THE COURIER still claims, as matter of history, that Cleveland signed more pension bills than any other president. And furthermore that the cases he vetoed were vetoed for such good reasons, that Congress never tried to pass one over his veto. The facts were that all the unworthy and doubtful cases that the pension office refused to allow, were gathererd up and fired at Cleveland, for the express purpose of seeing him veto them, for they knew he was an honest man. But they wanted something they could use against him.

REPUBLICAN papers are taking a good deal of comfort from the report of Mr. Peck, the commissioner of statistics for the state of New York, because he shows that wages were raised a trifle, and more money was paid out in the total the past year, under the McKinley law, than the year before. But this proves nothing. The industries that Peck reported were in a large part those not protected. And had they all been protected industries it would have proven nothing. We could prove the same point, as easily by the wages paid out in Auburn factories' if a statement of money paid on wages is proof. Auburn's manufacturers paid out a great deal more money in 1891 than in 1890, but the McKinley law had nothing to with it.

THE Butler Record gets off another of it's wild tariff talks. What the Record don't know on the subject, would fill the congressional library. He says "the democratic party is a failure on financial affairs." Let us see. In democratic administrations, we have managed to get along with many millions less expense, leaving a surplus often that a republican administration swept away. In democratic times people were prosperous and increased their property. Now after many years of republican rule the common people are getting poorer, farms with their added improvements are worth only two-thirds as much as they used to be, and wheat brings only half as much, wool half as much, and so we might go on. As to republican management. Every move they have made since they depreciated greenbacks during the war has cost the people untold millions. The people have lived through it only because our people are hard to kill and difficult to bankrupt. That is the financial story in a nutshell.

THE BUTLER RECORD speaks as one of the foolish, when it says "democratic papers would sooner see all our industries perish, than to have their pet theories overthrown." If the editor believes this, he is more ignorant even than we have given him credit for being. Why should anyone wish our industries to perish? No one can give a reason. The facts are, our industries have never been in danger of perishing. Our industries of all kinds, have always been able to get along without "protection," as able at least as farming and other unprotected industries. Farmers won their way to success over difficulties far greater than have beset any of our manufacturing or mining interests. And they did not stop and sit down and bawl for the government to protect them. No one desires to see any industry ruined, but every man with a spark of honesty in him, detests a law that purposely makes him donate a part of his hard earned wages to swell the already great profits of another man. It is this feature that we object to. Our industries will go right on anyway, but they will not produce as many millionaires, if put on the same footing with the rest of us.

The Judicial Convention.

The convention to nominate a democratic candidate for prosecutor, for this, the 35th Judicial Circuit, met at Waterloo, Sept. 10, 1892. Only a part of the delegates were present. C. A. Yotter, of Angola, was made president and J. A. Barns, secretary. An effort was made to have the meeting adjourn till 1 p. m., and was discussed by Hendry, Fraygang, Blair, Erick, Tanberg and others, and then decided to finish the work at once. Vice Hendry nominated Charles Brown, of Hamilton, and Fraygang named the present prosecutor, Joseph M. Butler. It was decided that the delegates present cast the vote of their county. Three delegates were here from Steuben, and cast 2⅓ votes each. The ballot showed 20⅔ for Butler and 2⅓ for Brown. Meeting then adjourned.

Obituary.

Abigail Barns was born in Plymouth, Chenango Co., N. Y., Nov. 9, 1815, and died Sept. 11, 1892, aged 76 years 10 months and 2 days. She was united in marriage to James Goetschius, May 22, 1839, and came, the same year, with her husband, to DeKalb Co., Ind., which was then a wilderness, where she patiently bore the trials and hardships of a pioneer life. She was the mother of ten children, five girls and five boys. Two boys and two girls preceded her to the Spirit world. She leaves six children, eleven grandchildren, five great-grandchildren and one sister to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate mother and sister. She had been feeble for a number of years, and was patiently waiting the call of the Master. Thus has passed away a good woman and another of the old pioneers. She was laid to rest in Evergreen cemetry, beside her husband, who died about two years ago. The funeral was from the Baptist church, Monday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Eagy conducting the services.

Married.

At the residence of the officiating minister, Rev. W. L. Meese, in this city, Sept. 9, 1892, John B. Swart to Laura Krontz.

Mr Swart is a resident of Muncie, Ind., but has many acquaintances among the readers of the COURIER. They will especially remember Mr. Swart as a casual correspondent to the COURIER, he having written some very interesting letters under the name of "Bam Swart, the Rambler," during his travels in the mountain regions of the west. The bride is the daughter of our friend M. E. Krontz, of Wilmington. They have the COURIER's best wishes for their future.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

The Fair.

The bad weather that has prevailed so far, has been against the fair of course, as it prevented many from attending. But the exhibits are large, nearly everything on the list being competed for. The entries in live stock are especially large. The ladies' department and all the other exhibits in Floral Hall, are grand, and of the finest kinds. The wet weather prevented races, Tuesday, but had the effect of putting the track in good shape. There are plenty of trotters and exciting sport is promised. The balloon was late going up yesterday, but to-day we expect a big crowd. There is talk of holding the fair on Saturday.

Attend Next Week, Sept. 20 to 23.

the Hicksville Fair. Children admitted free on Wednesday. Good water in abundance. Shade and seats for all,

Garrett Steam Laundry.

Peter Young has the agency for the Model Steam Laundry at Garrett, an establishment that has a reputation equal to the best, and has been in operation for the past two years with marked success. Parties should call on Mr. Young when they want any work in this line. Fine work and prompt delivery a specialty. Laundry will be sent over by Mr. Young Tuesday and be returned Saturday.

Attend the Hicksville Fair next week. The comfort of the people is well looked after, and there is alway a good show to look at.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, of the State of Indiana, executor of the estate of Jacob S. Paulmer deceased, late of said county. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

GILBERT I. PATTERSON, Executor.
September 9th, 1892. 39

B. & O. EXCURSIONS.

On September 2 and 3, 9 and 10, 16 and 17 and 23 and 24 the Baltimore & Ohio railroad will sell round trip excursion tickets to Chicago at very low rates. Tickets will include admission to the World's Fair Grounds, and will be good to return until the Monday following date of sale. 37

G. A. R. and W. R. C. Attention!

The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry. will sell excursion tickets to Washington, D. C., and return, from Sept. 13 to 20 inclusive, good to return until Oct. 10, 1892, and on Sept. 17, will run a special train, leaving Waterloo at 3.40 p. m., giving a daylight run through the mountains of Pennsylvania, arriving at Washington on the evening of the 18th. Fare for the round trip, $13.00. Stopovers may be made between Harrisburg and Washington in either direction, giving ample time to visit the battlefield of Gettysburg, etc. Arrangements have been made for low rate side trips from Washington, giving those who desire, an opportunity to visit the battlefields of Virginia, and other points of interest. 37

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

"THAT TERRIBLE DISTRESS."

LIVER TROUBLE, BILIOUSNESS, NERVOUS PROSTRATION, AND KIDNEY DISEASE.

Treated by Eight Physicians Without Benefit.

CURED BY LIVURA.

MR. F. B. ARCHER.

LIVURA M'F'G. CO.,
DEAR SIRS:—"For about 5 years I have been afflicted with Liver trouble, causing me to become very Billious. I had headache continually, my appetite was very poor, and a deathly faintness at the pit of the stomach accompanied by a terrible distress. During the past two years my Kidneys became very weak and pained me so badly I could not rest. Owing to extreme nervousness I was unable to attend to my business, and in January I came down with Nervous Prostration. Eight different Physicians have had me under their care, but I grew worse instead of better.

Learning of PITCHER'S LIVURA I began taking it and my improvement was noticeable from the first. I have taken 3 bottles and am ENTIRELY CURED, able to attend to my work, and have not felt so well for 6 years. I give all the credit to PITCHER'S LIVURA.

Respectfully, F. B. ARCHER,
830 West Concord Street, Dayton, Ohio. 31

LIVURA OINTMENT
The Great Skin Cure.

Cures Eczema, Salt Rheum, Pimples, Ulcers, Itch, and all affections of the skin. Heals Cuts, Bruises, burns, scalds, etc. Sold by all Druggists, or by mail. Price 35 Cents.

THE LIVURA M'F'G. CO., NASHVILLE, TENN.

HAVE YOU SEEN OUR

FINE SHOES,

BOOTS,

HEAVY SHOES?

If not, Come at Once and look them over.

No extra charge for a

Good, Square Look,

And we charge no more for a GOOD. SOLID SHOE, than some dealers do for an

INFERIOR ARTICLE.

We never were in better shape to please our customers in

Selections,

Quality,

Price!

WE OWN

BOOTS

CHEAPER

Than any firm in the county. Good, reliable footwear at

LOW PRICES!

We ask a share of your patronage.

WILSON,

Waterloo and Auburn.

FALL MILLINERY.

New Designs and Pretty Styles

IN

Pattern Hats, Bonnets and Children's Millinery.

Our stock is complete, including many of the Latest and Most Desirable Novelties. Our Styles and Low Prices cannot fail to please you. We have secured

Miss Jennie Beehe,

A City trimmer of long experience and we are pleased to say to the Ladies that if they will take a glance at our Pretty Trimmed Goods in stock, it will satisfy them with what she can do.

We Solicit Inspection.

HARTER,
AUBURN.
Main Street, North of Farmers Bank,

I. O. BUCHTEL,
Homœopathic Physician and Surgeon.
Special attention given to chronic and obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children. Office and residence over Smith & Madden's marble works, Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, night or day.

H. DARLING, D. D. S.,
Surgeon Dentist.
Graduate of CHICAGO COLLEGE OF DENTAL SURGERY.
Member of Royal College of Dental Surgeons of ONTARIO.
Gas administered for Painless Extraction.

Dr. James Adams,
VETERINARY SURGEON.
Will treat all Diseases of Domestic Animals. He has had THIRTY YEARS successful PRACTICE. Call on him at his residence No. 24, North Main street, or at ROBBINS & McCORD'S Drug Store.

Dr. K. K. Wheelock,
—Diseases of the—
EYE AND EAR
A Specialty. Office 28, W. Wayne St., Fort Wayne, Ind.

McBRIDE and McBRIDE,
COPYISTS,
Manuscript Speeches, Briefs and Depositions, Business and Personal Type-Writing Generally,
WATERLOO, IND.
Write for terms, stating what kind of WORK.

Dr. F. M. Hines, Physician and SURGEON.
Office over J. C. HENRY'S Grocery, in the Ford Block,
AUBURN, IND.
RESIDENCE, at the Samuel Swihart residence on South Jackson St. near the Church Furniture factory, and just across west from the German Methodist church. All calls attended to promptly, night or day.

AUBURN WOOLEN MILLS
DOES
All kinds of CUSTOM WORK, such as Carding, Spinning, Etc.
ALSO
MANUFACTURE for the TRADE, Yarns Flannels, Skirtings, Blankets and Wool Bats.
These goods are absolutely PURE and warranted to give SATISFACTION to the Consumer.
—ENSLEY & FORKNER, Proprietors.—
Call at FACTORY North End of Main street
AUBURN, IND.

AUBURN IRON WORKS,
Will repair steam engines, boilers and all kinds of machinery, grind plow points, etc.
Brass, pipes and all pipe fittings
FURNISHED.

DIED,—In this city, of consumption A familiar headline isn't it? It's pretty risky to neglect a cold or cough. One Minute Cough Syrup is pleasant, safe and sure. Robbins & McCord.

LOCAL NEWS.

BLACK-DRAUGHT tea cures Constipation.

Hardware! hardware!! All hardware at cost. J. Beuret.

Cubeb Cough Cure—One Minute. Sold by F. E. Davenport. tf

Krause's Headache Capsules—Warranted. Sold by F. E. Davenport. tf

Coughing leads to consumption. Kemp's Balsam will stop that cough at once.

No pill or nauseating potion, but a pleasant tonic and purgative is Simmons Liver Regulator.

Try Dullam's Great German 15-cent liver pills, 40 in each package, at Casebeer & Matheny's.

MY GIRL, is one of the most popular brands of cigars on the market.

The greatest worm destroyer on earth is Dullam's Great German Worm Lozengers, only 25 cents per box. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Smoke the Little Salesman, the nobbiest brand out.

A thing of beauty is a joy forever. If so, get 1 doz. cabinets at Rice's studio. No chromos, no air burnish pictures. Only 12 cabinets and a paris pannel for 1 doz. on ticket rates. 33tf

Voice culture, piano, organ, thorough base and harmony, I will give lessons in any of these branches. Over fourteen years experience.
tf J. I. Chany, Auburn.

Have tried almost every known remedy for Itching Piles without success, finally bought a box of DeWittt's Witch Hazel Salve, and it has cured me. C. D. Haskins, Peoria, Ill.—Robbins & Mc Cord.

Omaha, Neb., May 5, 1891.

To whom it may concern:

I have suffered for years with neuralgic headache, and Krause's Headache Capsules is the only remedy that has done me any good. Would recommend them to all similarly affected. Charles Passot, 716 N. 16th Street.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by Robbins & McCord, druggist, Auburn, Ind. tf

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills. Act on a new principle—regulating the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new discovery. Dr. Miles' Pills speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles, constipation. Unequaled for men, women, and children. Smallest, mildest, surest! 50 doses, 25 cts. Samples free at F. E. Davenport's.

Very much surprised: I have been afflicted with neuralgia for nearly two years, have tried physicians and all known remedies, but found no permanent relief until I tried a bottle of Dullman's Great German Liniment and it gave me instant and permanent relief. 25 cents per bottle. Signed, A. B. Snell, Hamilton, Mich. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Grover Cleveland's Grand March Ben. Harrison's Grand March, either of these two marches will be sent to any address on receipt of 20 cents each, or the two for 35 cts. These marches are new. Every player should have them. Postage stamps acceptable. Address all orders J. I. Chaney, Auburn, Ind.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.—The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Robbins & McCord. tf

McElree's WINE OF CARDUI for female diseases.

Spangle is the jeweler. 39

Kendallville fair Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

Blind Boone at the Opera House Sept. 22.

Mary Young returned from Chicago Saturday after a two weeks' visit.

Kitty McQuilkin of Chicago, is here visiting her aunt, Mrs. T. P. Scott.

Try Dullam's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Mathens's.

H. K. Scott and wife, of Angola, are visiting the family of A. J. Ralston this week.

Dr. S. B. Johnston, dentist, will be in his office at Waterloo on Thursday of each week.

J. N. Wilson of Fayette, O., came Monday, to remain a few days in the family of his son.

Mrs. Chas. Eckhart and daughter, Mrs. Geo. Shugers, are visiting friends near Philadelphia, Penn.

Metta Heist has returned to Auburn after a prolonged stay with her grandparents near Hicksville.

I. M. Zent and wife are in New York City, where he goes to attend a meeting of railway ticket agents.

Tablets, tablets, tablets, the biggest, the cheapest and the best at Casebeer & Matheny's opposite Swineford House. 37

Frank Hogue after several weeks' absence has returned from his visit to Kearney, Neb., and other places in the far west.

S. U. Tarney is absent nearly all the time now pushing the pile cure that he has handled for several years. He has succeeded finely.

The opening of the campaign and the numerous fairs in the country, will afford entertainment for the masses, during the next two months.

Messrs Chaney and Merica are booming the piano and organ trade this season. They have a unique advertising scheme. See them at the fair grounds.

Several homes in town are are made more bright and joyful by the presence of new pianos, whose rich sonorous tones peal forth merrily to greet the listening ear.

Married:—At the residence of and by James Barton, Sept. 11, 1892, William Metz and Luella Wheeler, both of this county. The Courier sends congratulations to them for their life-long happiness and prosperity.

A gentleman of this country, who has excellent judgment, remarked to us, the other day, that he knew of no pill so good for constipation, dyspepsia and liver complaint, as DeWitt's Little Early Risers.—Robbins & McCord.

Auburn has been lucky so far, this summer. No educated bears, pet monkeys or organ grinders, to any great extent. The umbrella fixers and shear sharpeners have improved the vacancies occasioned by the absence of the former tradesmen.

Hot Springs Skin Soap acts directly upon the delicate pores of the body, sweetens and purifies the skin, thereby rendering it free from bad odors, pimples, rashes and other disagreeable and repugnant manifestations.—For sale by Davenport.

Unvoidable absence this week, from our post of duty, is our excuse for many shortcomings in our paper, and will also to a certain extent account for a part of the delay on work in our job department. We hope by next week to catch up in both departments.

Among the more recent recruits to the Courier list is N. A. Lung, of Butler township, one of our young teachers. He has recently purchased a farm, but is having trouble with his eyes, and may be obliged to change employment, so as not to be in the sun.

T. F. Grinley, the young man who contracted to go up in the balloon each day this week was in to see the editor, Tuesday afternoon. He is a very sociable sort of a fellow and we hope he may continue to meet with the greatest of success in this dangerous calling.

The fair is in full blast this week, and there are plenty of merry-go-rounds, fakirs, etc, to take people's money. But one can go there and enjoy himself fully, see everything and come away happy, without buying everything in sight. The real fair costs but a quarter.

Ex-Auditor Tomlinson moved out onto his farm about a week ago, and will now make that his home. We think this the most sensible thing to do. There is nothing to be gained, and much to be lost, by remaining in town with little or nothing to do. We hope Mr. Tomlinson and his excellent wife may prosper abundantly at the old home.

Mrs. Wm. Schnell has sold the old house that stood on the lot where her present one stands, and it was moved to the Ralston Addition. It is hinted that a certain young man expects to use it for himself and expected bride sometime in the coming future. That's right, young men should make such preparations before so important an event.

Lyman Ashelman got back from his Cleveland bicycle trip Tuesday night all sound. This reminds us, we were a little off in reporting the trip. He did not go on to Buffalo as we reported, but stopped off with relatives a few days. This left Walter Hartman to go on alone, or give up the rest of the trip. As he did not care to go on a bicycle journey all by himself, he came back.

Woodlawn cemetery is blooming into a lovely place. It has lost its look of wildness, and begins to show carefully kept graves, clean walks, lovely shade and has many fine monuments. Mr. Shafer, owner, and Mr. Aber, the superintendant should have high praise for the great change they have made for the better. It has not only cost time and money, but a great deal of patience and thought, But the improvement justifies it.

The Dispatch will not gain in the good opinion of reading people, by the old played out trick of belittling the numbers that attend a meeting of its political opponents. In the report of the Garrett rally it placed the number at the afternoon speech at 150, and in the hall that evening at 200. If it insists on displaying its bad taste, by inserting political items into a "fair daily" which men of all parties are paying to have distributed, it should at least season the articles with truth.

Timely Review: Every order founded upon the idea of human brotherhood, at least in America, should march under the flag. The "stars and stripes" stand for those principles of government which favor equality among the people and the highest form of civil liberty. The sentiment which makes the American banner sacred to every man, woman and child who lives under its protecting folds cannot be too sedulously cultivated or too carefully fostered. And so it has come to be that no decoration which proclaims a public festivity in this country is complete without the red, white and blue.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

WINE OF CARDUI, a Tonic for Women.

Kendallville fair Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

Tutt's Pills cure constipation and piles.

Oysters, the first of the season, at Rainier's.

M. W. Johnston of Garrett, is at home sick at this writing.

Not going out of business, but selling hardward at cost, J. Beuret.

W. H. Kiblinger has a fine display of sewing machine work at the fair.

Hon. Nich. Ensley came up from Indianapolis this week to attend the fair.

Now don't forget the place when wanting work done, Spangle will do it for you. 39

Ed. Morrell was here Friday, and brings word that all is well up at Wolcottville.

Geo. Lanning went up to Reading Monday, and brought home his little daughter, Bertha.

Mrs. Elza Shaffer of Albion, is here, to remain for several weeks with the family of C. C. Shaffer.

Without a doubt this medicine will cure you. It has cured thousands. Take Simmons Liver Regulator.

Smoke a genuine Bill Head cigar made by Kessler Bros.

Dr. Buchtel was called to Elkhart Sunday afternoon, by Dr. Fisher of that place, for consultation in some case.

Invitations are out for a party given by Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Cool, for their daughter Vina, on her 15th birthday.

Mrs. M. Jones spent a part of last week with friends in Elkhart. Her sister, Mrs. Osgood, returned with her and will remain some time.

Ex-Commissioner, Nelson Griffith is suffering greatly from the cancer that began some years ago, in his ear, so we are informed by his son Phillip.

Pretty good rain last Friday night, but did not make the ground wet enough to plow well. Many farmers had to wait for more rain before sowing wheat.

Mrs. John McIntyre is visiting here with the families of Wm. McIntyre, her husband's father, and Henry McIntyre, his brother. Her home is in Memphis, Tenn.

New stock of boots and shoes at Potter's and at lowest living prices. He is always ready to give you the most for your money. Call on him, opposite the Swineford.

These is no use talking, neither Harrison or Cleveland will be elected unless they take DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They have a "get there" quality possessed by no other pill.—Robbins & McCord.

W. N. Hailman, superintendent of the Laporte schools for several years past, and an educator of world-wide reputation, called on Supt. Merica yesterday to talk up the educational exhibit at the world's fair.

Frank Zano, the rapid portrait artist from Rockford, Ohio, who is doing the work at the art hall on the fair grounds, called in to see us Monday evening. He is a young man who has evidently had a good deal of experience in his line.

Mr. and Mrs. Borst entertained a bright little company of lads, at their home Saturday evening from 5 to 7. The occasion was the 12th birthday of their son, Charlie. There were 25 present, and they had a grand time, of course.

A. J. Stevens, of pharmaceutical fame, has accepted a position similar to the one he held here, at Bluffton, Ind. We regret to lose Mr. Stevens as a citizen from Auburn, but will be charitable enough to say that Auburn's loss is Bluffton's gain.

Gen'l Franz Sigel, the great German and American soldier, will possitively be at the Kendallville fair on Soldier's day, Wednesday, Sept. 28. Every old soldier will be admitted free. It will be an immense gathering of soldiers. It will be the biggest day of the fair.

A. D. Gœtschius of Hays City, sends in his $1.50 promptly in advance as usual. The most of our distant patrons have found this the easiest way, and if all would watch the time of expiration it would be much better than to allow it to go delinquent, till it gets to be a larger amount and harder to pay.

Lost:—On Saturday evening, Sept. 10th, somewhere along the sidewalk leading from Thomas' bakery to Rainier's meat market, and then to Garrett's grocery, a ten-dollar bill. Finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving at this office, or with the owner, Dell Crew. He thinks it was lost near the Kiblinger corner, or near Robbin & McCord's.

The editor of this paper and his wife were called to Chicago this week by the death of his brother-in-law, V. F. Smith, who died at his home at Lagrange, near that city, Saturday morning after a brief illness. He was brought to Laporte, Monday, and the interment was in the Foster cemetery north of the city. The high esteem in which he was held, was attested by the attendance at the grave of so many of the friends of his earlier years.

John Sthair of Martinsville, this state, was here this week. He came expecting to have a visit with the brothers here, but found them all away. His mother who has been for a time with her son-in-law, Sam. Beck, at Waterloo, will return with him to Martinsburg. Mr. Sthair is not only a prosperous and substantial citizen of Indiana, but a sound democrat, and brings encouraging words from the rock-ribbed republican county of Morgan.

G. H. Yesbera, perhaps has one of the neatest little business rooms in the city. He has not spared any expense which might be the means of placing him on a standard of excellence superior that of all his fellow tradesmen, and that he has succeeded in fulfilling that idea, is not in doubt. But all of this display shows business energy and enterprise. All should see on the beauties of a well selected stock of goods to supply the demands of his vicinity. Those who are interested about seeing a large stock of goods, will have their curiosity gratified by examining the stock of Mr. Yesbera.

Elkhart Truth:—Cal. E. VanAuken, the surveyor and civil engineer of Auburn, DeKalb county, returned to his home this morning. Mr. VanAuken had been in the city several weeks engaged in the re-grading of the track at the Dowling park. His work is not yet completed but it will be suspended until after the coming races. Mr. VanAuken has made a big change in the track, and corrected several defects, and when entirely finished he will have made the Elkhart track one of the finest. Mr. VanAuken is a pleasant gentleman who understands his business, and while here fully established that fact in the mind of those with whom he dealt.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

McELREE'S WINE OF CARDUI for Weak Nerves.

Hardware at cost at Bueret's.

Big bicycle parade Friday evening.

Kendallville fair Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

Spangle, the jeweler, carries a full line of spectacles. 39

Go to Potter's, opposite the Swineford House, for good bargains in shoes.

Try Dullman's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Matheny's.

So simple yet efficacious in all bilious disorders is Simmons Liver Regulator.

A good place to get your eyes fitted with spectacles at Spangle's, at Reading Room. 39

Here is a big bonanza for someone! All gasolene stoves at half-price at J. Beuret's.

Miss Susie Jennings, one of Butler's popular young ladies, was in town last Friday.

Try Dullam's Great German 15-cent liver pills 40 in each package. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Potter, the shoe dealer, for good quality boots and shoes, at hard time prices. Opposite the Swineford.

Young America is the cigar to smoke now-a-days.

A fine boy was born to Clyde Brandon and wife Tuesday, and the Courier rejoices with the happy household.

The cheapest and best place for all school supplies, tablets, slates, etc., at Casebeer & Matheny's opposite Swineford House. 37

The Rileys every evening at the Opera House, are having good houses in spite of bad weather. They always give good performances.

G. H. Yesbera's bright, new sign stretched across Seventh street is very plain and pretty and speaks in glowing terms of the new clothing house.

Harry Henry is home from Peoria, Ill., where he has been for some time. Harry is an enterprising young fellow, and we are glad to know he is succeeding.

Isaac Speer and daughter Flora, passed through here Saturday on their way home to Waterloo. They had been attending the U. B. conference at Churubusco.

Dyspepsia, distress after eating, sour stomach, poor appetite, bad taste, coated tongue and heartburn are cured by DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pill.—Robbins & McCord.

Schnell & Weeks are hustlers in the grocery trade. They have a well stocked room and can offer unlimited inducements to customers. Remember their place of business south of the jail Auburn.

Hip! Hip!! Hurrah!!! The campaign of 1892, has opened up with a boom, and we are not going to be behind the times in the "boom business." For the next period, indefinite, we will "boom" our gasolene stoves at half-price. J. Beuret.

James W. May, of Concord township, was at the county seat this week. He reports farming not quite so profitable and interesting as usual, on account of the exceeding wet weather in the spring, and the extreme drouth during the summer.

The tent meeting which has been in progress for some time, on Fourth street, will continue next week. The attendance has been good, until the recent bad weather, when people were hindered somewhat in attending. A cordial invitation is extended to all,

D. A. Hodge has fully established himself in Robbins & McCord's drug store. He has not laid in as complete a supply of jewelry as he intends to carry. A large and well selected stock will be on display in a few weeks, and our people will find Mr. Hodge a first-class young man to deal with.

The continuous rains this week have had a deleterious effect upon the roof of the Opera House. The water comes through to such an extent as to make it inconvenient for the Riley Company who are playing there. This matter should be seen to at once, as it is quite essential to be in a dry place when one goes to the theater.

Married:—At the residence of J. G. Johnson, in Waterloo, by Rev. W. O. Butler, Sept. 11, 1892, Mr. Scott Campbell to Miss Nellie E. Newberry, of Lake Geneva, Wis. Miss Nellie has been the popular trimmer for Mr. Johnson for two years: and as a special mark of esteem Mrs. Johnson prepared her an excellent little wedding supper, to which the guests and relatives did ample justice.

Muskmelons have been pretty plenty this year, but they have also been pretty high, yet it is not often that one sees one that would literally be high, if stood on end, like the specimen of a banana muskmelon brought to this office by Joseph Truit. It is a long melon, pointed at the ends, its length being about nineteen inches. It is very fragrant, and of a fine delicate flavor. We shall save the seeds, and "boys permitting," raise a few next year for the "home market."

Wisconsin State Journal, July 27, 1891:—A large audience was charmed last evening at the First M. E. church with the musical abilities of Blind Boone. This ebony hued product of the south is a wonderful performer. Unlike Blind Tom who created a furore years ago, though a simple minded fellow, Boone is an intelligent representative of his race, and quite well educated. He is able to play any musical composition on the piano, demonstrating this fact that last night by giving Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsodie No. 6; the Hungarian Storm, by the same author Gottschalk's Lost Hope, and Beethoven's Sonata Pathetique. His felicity of execution was simply astonishing, and when he played a difficult piece after hearing Prof. Boyd render it, the audience was more than enthusiastic. The program was varied by the singing of plantation songs by Boone and similar weird compositions by Miss Stella May. Her rendition of Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground, and similar melodies were simply irresistable.

DO YOU COUGH
DON'T DELAY
TAKE KEMP'S
BALSAM
THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles, 50 cents and $1.00.

Try BLACK-DRAUGHT tea for Dyspepsia.

Rainier for oysters.

Kendallville fair Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

All hardware will be closed out at cost at Beuret's.

Spangle, the jeweler, is permanently located at the Reading Room. 39

Smoke the L. AND M. cigar, if you want some- good,

Try Dullman's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Simmons Liver Regulator has never been known to fail to cure all liver diseases.

Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. Most people need to use it.

Go to the Kendallville fair and see Gen'l Franz Sigel, on Wednesday, Sept. 28, '92.

For the present, until my stock of gasolene stoves is lowered, I will sell at half-price. J. Beuret.

It is reported that vast amounts of wheat and other grains is to be found in the granaries of the farmers.

The principal topics at the hotels now are concerning new railroads, electric street cars and celebrated actresses.

Piles of people have piles, but DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve will cure them.
Robbins & McCord

Slates, tablets and all school supplies the cheapest and best at Casebeer & Matheny, opposite Swineford House. 37

Parties who borrowed the stove lifters from Brown, Culbertson & Boland's hardware store, will please return them.

Obadiah Brown, who has been doing carpenter work at Ashley, for some time is now at work on the Imhoff residence in Gas Addition.

The rain Monday night and Tuesday, was hailed with delight by those whose success depended upon good weather and a favorable season.

If you are a close buyer and want to save a per cent on the investment, you should call at J. Beuret's and get one of those matchless gasolene stoves at half-price.

The advertising fence strips for the Auburn Fair can be seen on the fences for 35 or 40 miles towards Chicago. Next in importance to the World's Fair, you know.

Farmers are striving with all the energy they possess, to get their wheat ground in shape for sowing. The weather has been against them for some time, but is now more promising.

What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world, and then have the dyspepsia so bad that he can't enjoy any of the good things it contains? He won't have dyspepsia if he takes DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Robbins & McCord

Rheumatism Cured in a Day.—"Mystic Cure" for rheumatism and neuralgia radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause and the disease immdiately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits. 75 cents. Sold and guaranteed by Robbins & McCord druggists, Auburn.

Kendallville fair Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

Egbert Hodge was at home over Sunday.

Gasolene stoves at half-price at J. Beuret's.

Long's breakfast flour for breakfast for sale at Brandon's.

The Dispatch is getting out a very creditable daily for the fair.

Spangle, the jeweler, will save you money when buying in his line.

Try Dullman's Great German 15-cent liver pills at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Do your want hardware? Then go to Beuret, where you can get it at cost.

Who says 1892 is not brilliant? Ain't there goin' to be a new president this year.

The bile is removed, the head cleared and digestion restored by Simmons Liver Regulator.

The Kendallville fair is still at the front, and will hold its tenth annual meeting, Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

Rainier is the first in the field with oysters. You can have the delicious bivalves of him now at any time.

Hudson has an elevator company, incorporated under the laws of the state, with a capital stock of $3,000.

Won't Auburn be a hummin', when she gets the new walk around the public square? Well, I should say so!

Cal. VanAuken was up at Hamilton last week laying out an addition on the DeKalb side of the county line.

A table cloth belonging to the Presbyterian church, is missing. The one who has it, will confer a favor by returning it to Mrs. Emily Dills.

Do not be deceived with cheap pictures called $3 cabinets. Rice will give you finer work than can be had in this vicinity for half price.

A new parsonage is being built at the German Methodist church, on south Jackson street. This speaks highly of the enterprise of those people.

The premiums and purses at the Kendallville fair have been radically increased this year. Send to J. S. Conlogue, Sec'y, for premium list and full particulars.

When you are in town and at a loss to know just where to deal and what to buy, go to J. Beuret on North Main St., and see what he has to offer in the line of stoves and hardware.

It's not very pleasant to cough and hack,
To suffer pain in chest and back,
Many people could stop it for sure
By simply using One Minute Cough Cure.
Robbins & McCord.

New fall and winter millinery. Mrs. Trumbull, nee Miss Husselman, has just returned from the trimming rooms, where she has spent the last week in selecting and taking lessons in trimming and is prepared to show you a fine and well selected stock of everything that is new and fashionable. She invites your inspection of the same, and wishes to show you that prices as well styles are right and reasonable. Please call and see them while the stock is complete.
Mrs. F. A. Trumbull,
Corunna, Ind.

FALL MILLINERY.

We Are Now Ready With

An extensive and complete stock of Fall and Winter Millinery including the many new features in

FANCY FEATHERS,

quills, plumes, jets and

FRENCH NOVELTIES,

straw and felt hats, for Fall, and a most extensive and varied assortment of Children's School Hats,

caps and hoods.

Come and see us, and you will find our goods and prices right.

Yours Respectfully,

Cowan Sisters.

On The Threshold
OF OUR
FALL BUSINESS

We wish to say that the highest notch we ever reached for variety, durability, style and value, will be surpassed by this season's stock of Fall Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, and Caps, which stock is now arriving daily. Our school clothing

FOR THE BOYS,

is as near perfection as it is possible to make them. These suits are as stylish and nobby as those for dress, and our prices are

Below All Competition.

Do not fail to see our Short Pants Suits from $1.50 to $6. Long Pants Suits from $4 to $12.

OUR HAT

Department always in front. We beg to announce the arrival of our Fall Style Hats. The Celebrated is acknowledged to be the leader when it comes to a stylish stiff and soft hat. A cute line of children's hats and caps.

EXCELSIOR

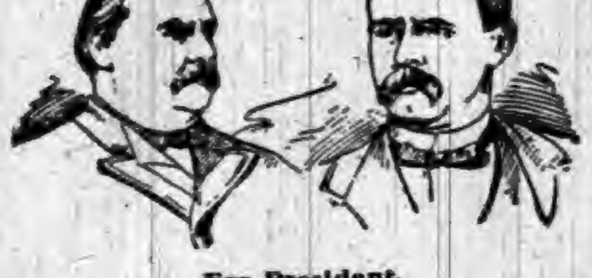
The Boston ONE-PRICE
CLOTHING STORE

NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC TICKET.



For President,
GROVER CLEVELAND,
OF NEW YORK.
For Vice President,
ADLAI E. STEVENSON,
OF ILLINOIS.

CARNEGIE'S four-in-hand—Frick, Pinkerton, Harrison and Reid.

CONTRACTORS for dirty work will please put in their bids with Thomas H. Carter.

GRANNY BLAIR is now a candidate for Congress. Congress has a hard time of it.

MR. TOM PLATT still inclines to organize an expedition to the Harrison pole.

TOM REED'S approval of Tom Reed's personally conducted Congress is without reservation or remorse.

THE passengers in the Republican coach do not seem to be much impressed with Mr. Harrison as a whip.

WHITELAW REID warns the Republicans against over-confidence. This is like warning a man against a moon-stroke.

THERE is one block in New York which houses 3,500 people. And just to think of Dudley wasting his time on blocks of five.

IF the McKinley bill grew the great crops, then it produced the labor riots, floods, cyclones, railroad wrecks, and lake disasters.

SEVERAL years ago Mr. Carnegie wrote a book called "Triumphant Democracy." After the November election he can pose as a prophet.

"DON'T be overconfident," says Mr. Whitelaw Reid. "Who said we were overconfident?" say Messrs. Blaine, Platt, Quay, Dudley, Clarkson, Foraker and Farwell.

THE only increase of wages yet ascribed to the McKinley law is the high pay given to Pinkerton men. The Carnegie company paid the Pinkertonians $5 a day.

ACCORDING to the New York Tribune "Maj. McKinley has consented to make some speeches in Iowa." There must be some error about this, but the Major may have consented to make the same speech several times.

THERE are 13,000,000 of voters in this country. Each man is paying $10 per year pension grab as a tax. Justice and recognition to the old soldier is a national honor—looting the Treasury for political purposes, a national crime.

THE Chicago Inter Ocean always speaks of "Briceville, named after Senator Brice," and evidently intends it to be understood that he employs convict labor. Senator Brice has repeatedly denounced the statement that he owns any mines where convict labor is employed. Mr. Platt now—but that's another story.

THE McKinley tax on carpets and carpeting of all kinds is 45 cents a yard and 30 per cent. ad valorem. Under these circumstances it is no wonder that the large carpet and upholstery dealers of the country have begun a movement to re-establish a combine. First McKinley, then a trust, is the natural order. It is cause and effect. If it goes on much longer it will have to be stated in all the text books as a fact of political economy.

MCKINLEY continues to assert that the foreigner pays the tax. This is how it works: The foreigner makes a coat at a cost of $10, sends it to this country, pays a duty of $10 on it, and sells it for, say, $15. By this transaction he loses $5 on every coat of the kind he sells in this country. It is apparent to any one that the moment he sells it for more than $20, the consumer pays the tax. Now which is the more reasonable inference, that the foreigner sells everything at a loss, or that McKinley is simply telling an untruth?

AN administration organ says that in electing Harrison the American people "declared with all the emphasis at their command that they approved of protection with all their heart." Oh, no! Mr. Harrison did not receive as many votes by nearly 100,000 as were cast for Grover Cleveland, the tariff reformer. And with the emphasis of 1,300,000 majority the people declared at the very next election after the McKinley bill was passed that they did not approve of this sort of high and trust-creating protection. It is better to be accurate.

IT may not be generally remembered, but the Republicans of Pennsylvania have not forgotten it, that in the year 1877, after the great Pittsburg riots, Pennsylvania went Democratic. The officers chosen were of secondary importance, but the result was very suggestive and the lesson has not been lost. Hence their frantic efforts to produce the impression that these labor troubles have no bearing on political questions.

IT is gradually dawning upon the minds of a good many people that the smooth-faced William McKinley is a prize-package fraud. The St. Louis Republic places side by side two recent utterances of his which will bear contrasting. In Pennsylvania McKinley says: "The tariff puts up the price of iron and increases wages correspondingly." In Nebraska he says: "The tariff cheapens iron and gives the farmers cheap plows and other farm machinery."

THE New York Tribune has unearthed the fact that the American Tariff League has been evading the postal laws by disseminating through the mails as second-class matter a campaign pamphlet, "Protection and Reciprocity," which, of course, is not entitled to distribution by mail at newspaper rates. Some of the strict constructionists in Congress who were outraged lately at the idea of Henry George's book, "Protection or Free Trade," being smuggled in installments into the Congressional Record will doubtless be equally zealous to reprehend this new phase of smuggling.

ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC: The private farm and home debt of Illinois, exclusive of debt on open account; exclusive of debt on unsecured note; exclusive of debt secured by the deposit of personal collateral; exclusive of debt secured by chattel mortgage; exclusive of the debt of railroads; exclusive of the debt secured by mortgage on the property of corporations; exclusive of town, county, city and State debts, averages $100 on the head of every man, woman and child in the State. This is $500 a family, and at 10 per cent. it means an average annual interest tax of $50 a family. These are not "Democratic campaign figures." They are the figures of the Porter census, which reduced the total of Illinois farm and home debt as far as it could. And all this has come about in Illinois with the Republican party in control both at Washington and Springfield.

WHITELAW REID has a most remarkable knack of profiting by the misfortunes of others. He picked up the New York Tribune, which had been created by Horace Greeley, and proceeded without compunction to freeze Greeley out of it. After matrimony had made him rich and he needed a fashionable town house in which to maintain the state proper for a Republican millionaire he happily secured at a great bargain the magnificent residence on Madison avenue built by Henry Villard. Mr. Villard had met with adversity before his house was completed, and Mr. Reid was in at the death and took the prize. Casting about him for a country house he noticed the spacious castle of Ophir Farm, owned by poor Ben Halliday, then financially embarrassed. Ophir Farm is now added to Mr. Reid's other trophies of fishing expeditions in bankrupt pools. Now he is in the possession of a Vice Presidential nomination which every consideration of political decency demanded should have been tendered to Vice President Morton. Nevertheless, Morton will appear in the history of his party as the last of its Vice Presidents.

GROVER CLEVELAND, in his speech accepting the Democratic nomination for President, said: "Never has a great party, intent upon the promotion of right and justice, had better incentive for effort than is now presented to us. Turning our eyes to the plain people of the land, we see them burdened as consumers with a tariff system that unjustly and relentlessly demands from them, in the purchase of the necessaries and comforts of life, an amount scarcely met by the wages of hard and steady toil, while the exactions thus wrung from them build up and increase the fortunes of those for whose benefit the injustice is perpetuated. We see the farmer listening to a delusive story that fills his mind with advantage, while his pocket is robbed by the stealthy hand of high protection. Our workingmen are still told the tale, oft repeated, in spite of its demonstrated falsity, that the existing protective tariff is a boon to them, and that, under its beneficent operation, their wages must increase—while, as they listen, scenes are enacted in the very abiding place of high protection that mock the hopes of toil and attest the tender mercy the workingman receives from those made selfish and sordid by unjust governmental favors. We oppose earnestly and stubbornly the theory upon which our opponents seek to justify and uphold tariff laws."

A COSTLY PRESIDENT.

HARRISONISM A VERY EXPENSIVE INSTITUTION.

The Present Administration Has Annually Cost the People Nearly One Dollar per Head More than Did the Administration of Mr. Cleveland.

The Costliest President.

The Harrison administration is the costliest the country has ever had, according to the St. Louis Republic. It has cost the people of the country $7 a head, or $35 a family, annually, as against an average annual cost of only $6.12 for Cleveland and $6.43 for the Garfield-Arthur administration. Even when compared with the Garfield-Arthur administration, which was by no means as economical as it might have been, the cost of Harrison appears in its true light as unprecedented. Here are official figures giving the total average annual expenditure, including sinking fund and postal service, and the average expenditure per capita under two Republican administrations:

	Per Capita.	Per Year.
Garfield-Arthur	$6.43	$349,611,000
Harrison	7.01	449,453,103

Here is an increase for Harrison over the last preceding Republican administration amounting to 58 cents per capita per year, or a round $100,000,000 a year.

We give the figures of increase for every head of population because some Republicans endeavor to evade responsibility for Harrison's extravagance by saying "this is a growing country." The figures per capita show that his expenditures have increased much above the increase in population. He has made an increase of 9 per cent. over the per capita expenditures and of over 30 per cent. over the total expenditures of the Garfield-Arthur administration. That is, he costs the people 9 per cent. a head more than Garfield and Arthur cost them, and in the total per year this increase makes $100,000,000, or nearly a third of the total sum expended annually by Garfield and Arthur.

We have made this comparison of two Republican administrations that Republicans may the better understand how costly are Harrison's incompetency and radicalism. Here is a similar comparison for three administrations:

	Per Capita.	Per Year.
Garfield-Arthur	$6.43	$349,611,000
Cleveland	6.12	363,634,000
Harrison	7.01	449,453,000

The reader will see here a great increase in Harrison's average annual expenditures over those of both the Cleveland and the Garfield-Arthur administrations. He will notice also that while Arthur's per capita expenditure is considerably above Cleveland's, Harrison's is much higher than Arthur's.

The plea that the increase of Harrison's total is due to increase of population being thus disposed of, no defense remains for Harrison. He stands confessed on his record the costliest as well as the smallest President the country ever had.

The Issue Is, Shall Trade Be Free?

John Bidwell, the prohibition candidate for President, in his letter of acceptance, states three objections to protectionism. First, tariffs "do not seem adequately, if at all, to protect labor. * * * There is no tariff on labor." Second, tariffs "bear unequally—that is to say, that under them the rich pay comparatively nothing and the masses nearly all the revenue so derived to support the Government." They are directed at consumption. The poor man with a large family pays more than the rich man with no family. Third, tariffs "are blinding and deceptive. * * There is not a man in the United States who can tell what he pays toward the support of the National Government." Besides people do not know what they pay, and imagine they pay very little; they tolerate reckless and extravagant expenditure, as they would not do if they knew exactly what they were paying."

These are all substantial and very grave objections to the existing tariff, but they do not go down anywhere near the root of the real question now before the American people. The question as to the best mode of raising revenue for the purposes of the Government is now pending. The question is not, Shall we have a tariff to raise needed revenue? but, Shall we have a tariff to take from the people $600,000,000, more or less, for the enrichment of favored classes?

This great question of privilege, as opposed to right and justice, is the first question to be met and settled. The Democratic doctrine is that taxes should be levied for no other purpose than to raise revenue, and that a tariff levied to seize the property of the citizen, and bestow it upon favored individuals to build up their private fortunes, is none the less robbery because it is under the form of law.

The first business in hand is to apply this great doctrine of American law—a doctrine, as Gen. Black says, older than American law and eternally true—to the formation of our revenue system. Once that doctrine is accepted and established as the guide in all our tax legislation, it will be time to consider methods of raising revenue. To talk now as if it were merely a question as to one or another mode of raising revenue, is to ignore and obscure the issue.

The question is whether the tariff for robbery only shall be abolished once for all. The question is, Shall we have free trade—absolutely free—with all parts of the world? The Democratic party says we must. That settled, we can then consider how to raise what revenue is needed without restraining any man of the liberty to buy and sell untaxed in any market in the world. Until then the issue must not be obscured.—Chicago Herald.

The People's Party.

The Democratic party is, above everything else, a people's party. Logically and historically it is the people's party. From the beginning of the Government until now it has fought for the rights of the many and against the aggressions of the few.

Further than this it has always commanded the confidence of the people, and it has deserved this confidence.

Every promise it has made when out of power it has fulfilled when in power. Since the war it has never controlled the Government, but it has been able in the House to check the extravagance of the Republicans and to protect the people from some of the outrages of aggregated wealth.

For twenty years the Democrats have been in a majority in the country, yet in that time it, the Democratic party, has never once been able to pass a law without the consent of the Republicans.

Grant was the last Republican President who was the choice of a majority of the people. At three Presidential elections since 1872 the Democrats have cast more votes than the Republicans, and in the fourth Gen. Garfield's vote exceeded Gen. Hancock's by only 3,834. Here is an interesting table for those who still believe that the President of the United States is named by a majority of the people.

YEAR.	Received the greatest popular vote.	Number votes received.	Received the second greatest popular vote.	Number votes received.	Plurality.	Total vote.
1848	Taylor	1,360,101	Cass	1,220,544	139,557	2,871,103
1852	Pierce	1,601,474	Scott	1,386,978	58,347	3,144,601
1856	Buchanan	1,838,169	Fremont	1,341,264	496,905	4,053,967
1860	Lincoln	1,865,913	Douglas	1,374,664	491,249	4,679,781
1864	Lincoln	2,216,067	McClellan	1,808,725	407,342	4,024,793
1868	Grant	3,015,071	Seymour	2,709,613	305,458	5,724,684
1872	Grant	3,597,070	Greeley	2,834,079	727,975	6,466,165
1876	Tilden	4,284,883	Hayes	4,033,976	157,020	8,412,766
1880	Garfield	4,439,746	Hancock	4,436,911	2,834	9,718,906
1884	Cleveland	4,845,255	Blaine	4,818,671	26,584	10,004,283
1888	Cleveland	5,530,421	Harrison	5,433,877	98,414	11,384,937

To-day the Democrats outnumber the Republicans by half a million votes and again the Republican leaders expect to succeed by dividing their opponents.

Kansas Under the Plutocratic Policy.

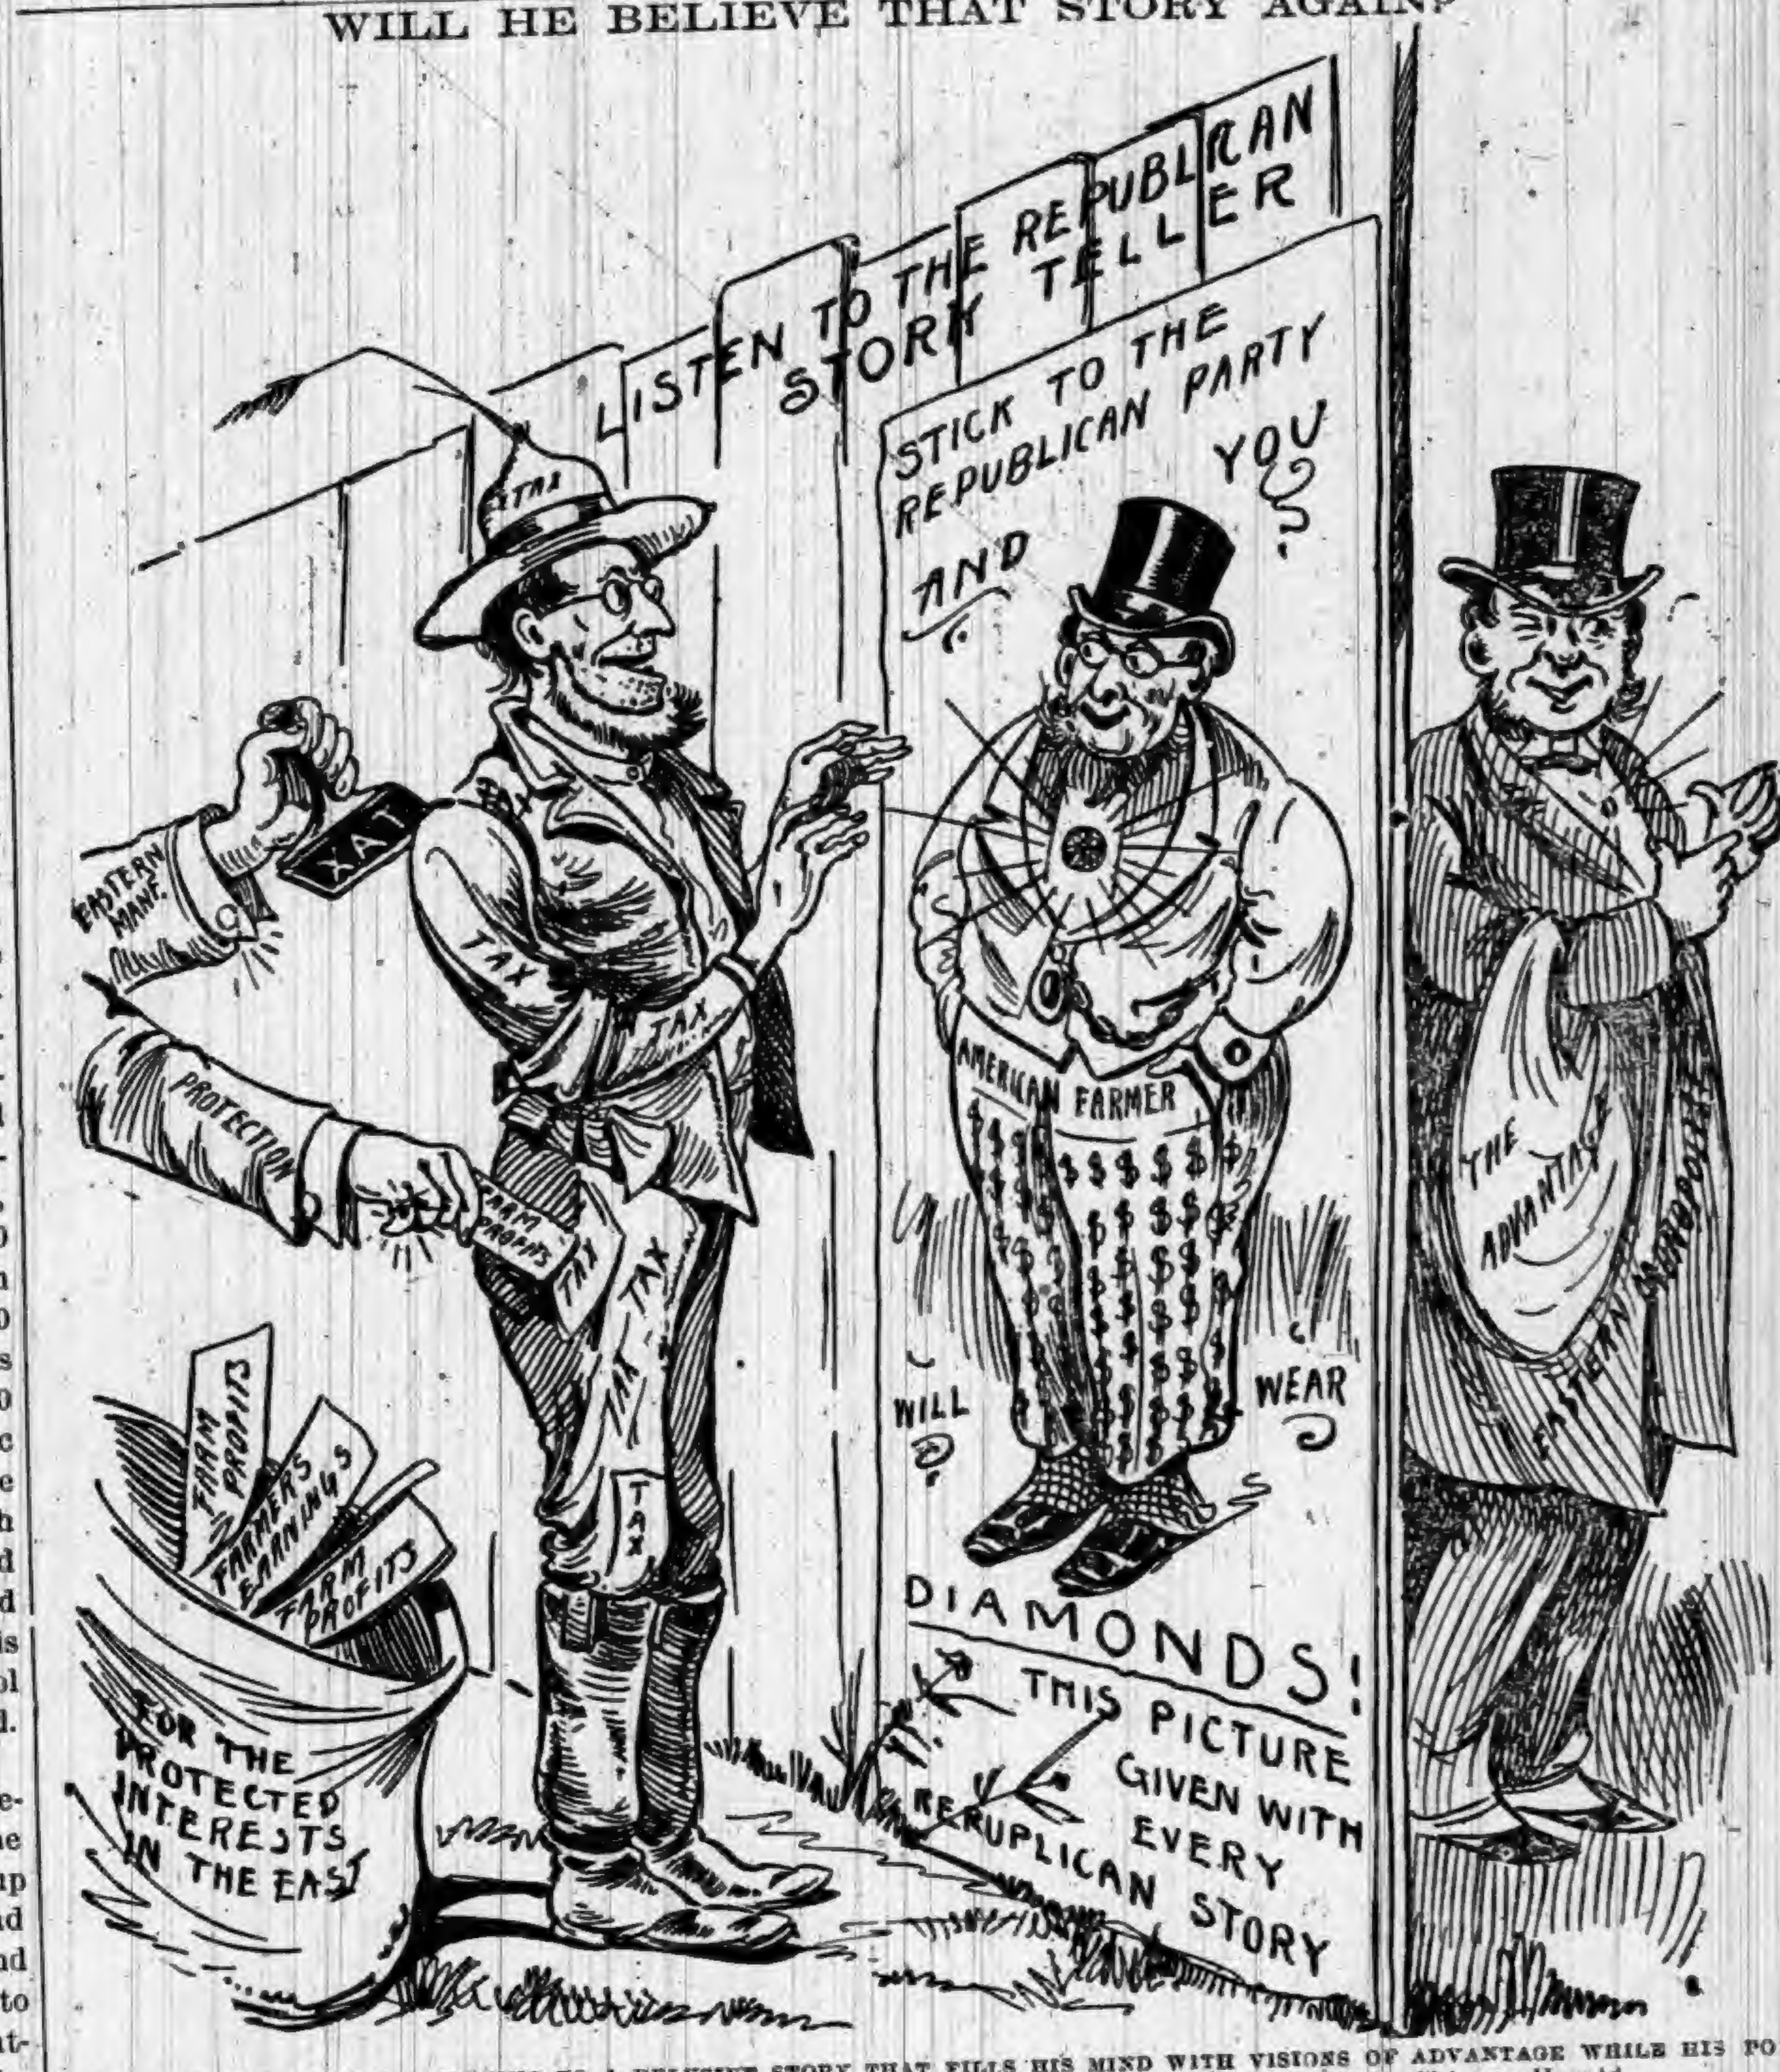
The Porter census shows that the amount of the real estate mortgages filed in Illinois in nine years is nearly three times the total assessed value of all real estate, improved and unimproved, in the State as shown by the report of the State Board of Equalization (Republican) for 1892.

At first glance this would seem to be the worst possible result of the Republican plutocratic policy, but it is not. Kansas shows a worse. The Auditor of Kansas in his current report gives the total assessed value of all lands and lots, improved and unimproved, in Kansas at $241,100,072, while the census gives the amount of mortgages filed in nine years as $402,699,640, with an existing mortgage debt of $235,485,108, or nearly the total assessed value. The census gives no statistics of foreclosure. Every foreclosure is counted in as a settlement and put to the credit of the plutocratic policy as a lowering of the total of existing mortgage indebtedness. But though there have been so many Kansas foreclosures thus credited, the private mortgage debt of Kansas still averages $187 per capita, as shown by the census. This excludes debt in open account, debt secured by chattel mortgages and the debt on the real estate of Kansas corporations. The State Auditor's report gives figures from which, in connection with the census statistics, the following partial summary of Kansas indebtedness has been prepared:

Farm and home mortgage debt	$235,485,103
Kansas railroad indebtedness	358,260,650
County and town debt	37,119,977
State debt proper	810,000
Chattel mortgages (estimated)	75,000,000
Total	$906,675,735
Total assessed value of all property in State, real and personal	348,459,943
Excess of debt over assessed value	$558,215,792

Even taking out the figures of railroad and chattel mortgage indebtedness and omitting all mention of current unsecured debt, this burden is crushing. It is hard for the people of Kansas to see their way out. Indeed, under the plutocratic policy, illustrated by the Harrison administration and the Reed Congress, there is no way out for them. If, however, they could get their right of way to European markets and get the full exchange value of their crop surplus, they might get free of debt in ten or fifteen years; even though if their entire State and all the property in it were now sold at auction it would not bring them in sight of a quittance.

WILL HE BELIEVE THAT STORY AGAIN?



LISTEN TO THE REPUBLICAN STORY TELLER
STICK TO THE REPUBLICAN PARTY AND YOU WILL WEAR DIAMONDS!
THIS PICTURE GIVEN WITH EVERY REPUPLICAN STORY
EASTERN MANF
TAX PROTECTION
FARM PROFITS
AMERICAN FARMER
THE ADVANTAGE
FOR THE PROTECTED INTERESTS IN THE EAST

"WE SEE THE FARMER LISTENING TO A DELUSIVE STORY THAT FILLS HIS MIND WITH VISIONS OF ADVANTAGE WHILE HIS POCKET IS BEING ROBBED BY THE STEALTHY HAND OF HIGH PROTECTION."—Grover Cleveland, July 20, 1892.—Chicago Herald.

Gen. Stevenson's Opening Speech.

THE speech of Adlai E. Stevenson at Bloomington was an admirable presentation of the issues involved in the present campaign. Without resort to the tricks and insincerities that often mark the deliverances of campaign speakers, particularly men of the character of McKinley, Reid, and Burrows, he appealed to the intelligence and common sense of his auditors. He relied upon the justice of the cause that he advocated to confirm the faith of Democrats and to overthrow the sophistries of Republicans.—Rochester Union and Advertiser.

NOW THAT the activities of the political campaign are being entered upon in all parts of the country, the forceful utterances of our standard bearers carry added interest and importance. In Bloomington, the home of our party's candidate for the vice presidency, the campaign was opened on Saturday with much vigor. Mr. Stevenson delivered the main address of the day. The leading topics receiving his careful consideration and forcible treatment were the tariff and the force bill.—Buffalo Times.

THE speech of Adlai E. Stevenson before the mammoth Democratic gathering at his home at Bloomington was a splendid campaign deliverance, and its influence for good will be deep and extensive. It was strong, dignified and convincing. By the attention and vigorous treatment he gave to the tariff he covered with ridicule the Republican allegation that the Democratic party is disposed to evade or minimize this question for the benefit of any other.—Rochester Herald.

A. E. STEVENSON struck the key note of the campaign at Bloomington. He made an unanswerable argument against the ruinous policy of the Republican party, and closely kept to the history of his country to prove his positions. The tariff has been raised from 19 per cent. to 60 per cent. under Republican rule. He showed from Republican authority that this increase was in the nature of a tax.—Burlington Gazette.

THE prompt and effectual way in which the Democratic candidate for Vice President rebuked an auditor who interrupted his reference to Mr. Blaine with a brutal remark regarding this eminent Republican is creditable to our candidate, and it ought to be useful everywhere as an example of the proper amenities of political discussion.—New York World.

"THE man who gave you an honest administration of the Government, who wrested from the grasp of those who had robbed you of your heritage eighty millions of acres and restored it to the public domain, whose principle in act on is 'Public office is a public trust,'" is Mr. Stevenson's superb tribute to his chief.—Boston Globe.

THE issues of the campaign were fully and clearly presented by the able speakers and the march to victory begun by the enlistment of active and persistent workers. A general imitation of this good example is all that is necessary to success.—Harrisburg Patriot.

A CAREFUL microscopic test has not developed anything in Adlai Stevenson's Bloomington speech to justify the Republican claim that the Democrats are seeking to evade the tariff issue.—Kansas City Star.

KIRK'S
DUSKY
DIAMOND
TAR SOAP
Healthful, Agreeable, Cleansing.
Cures
Chapped Hands, Wounds, Burns, Etc.
Removes and Prevents Dandruff.
AMERICAN FAMILY SOAP.
Best for General Household Use.

A Piano
SENT on trial
WE PAY FREIGHT
If you do not keep it.
We think you will keep it.
It pleases everybody.
It is an honest piano.
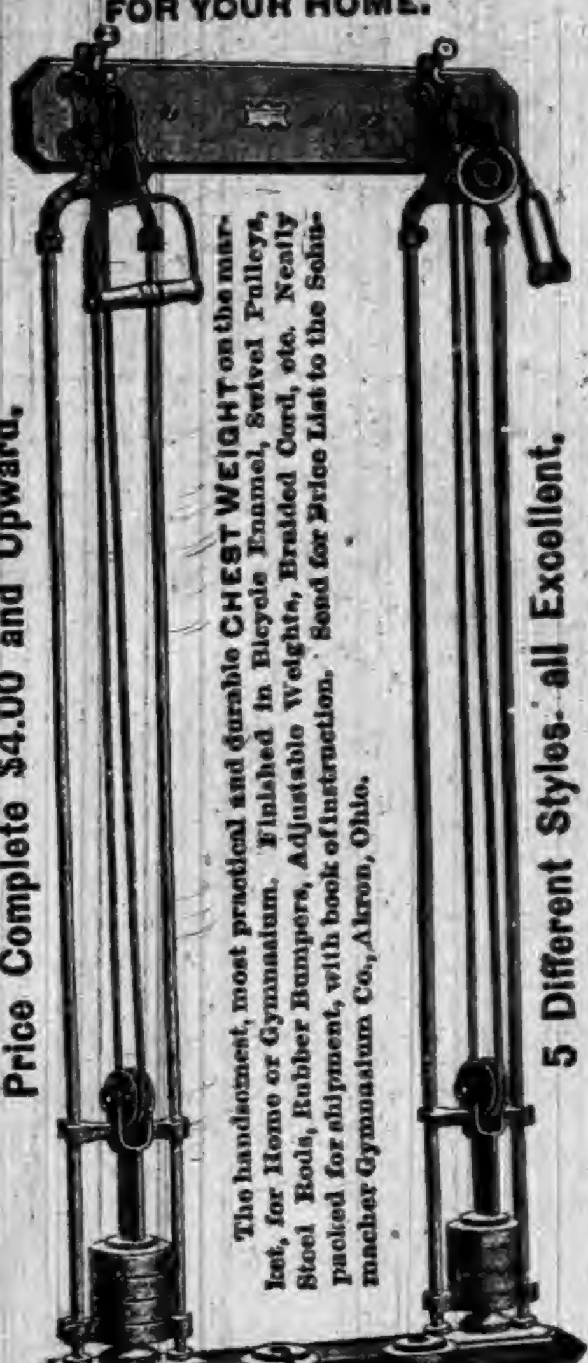
It is the WING Piano.

You may have a preference for some other make. Still you are a reasoning creature, and open to conviction, no doubt.

The question is too important to be settled without due thought. Years of satisfaction or of regret come with a piano. Does it wear well? The WING Piano does. "Look before you leap."

Whatever piano you buy, there are piano secrets you ought to know. Our free book tells them. Send a postal card for it. It may help you to buy a different piano. We take that risk. We also tell you the nearest dealer where you can see a WING Piano. It is worth looking at. So is the price. WING & SON, 245 Broadway, New York.



BOSTON
CHEST WEIGHT
FOR YOUR HOME.
Price Complete $4.00 and Upward.
The handsomest, most practical and durable CHEST WEIGHT on the market, for Home or Gymnasium. Finished in Bicycle Enamel, Swivel Pulleys, Steel Rods, Rubber Bumpers, Adjustable Weights, Braided Cord, etc. Neatly packed for shipment, with book of instruction. Send for Price List to the Schumacher Gymnasium Co., Akron, Ohio.
5 Different Styles, all Excellent.
Send Stamp for Illustrated Price List.
The Schumacher Gymnasium Co. AKRON, OHIO.

A NEW 7-SHOT, .32-CAL. REVOLVER.
THE "PROTECTOR,"
QUICK, SAFE, RELIABLE.
WEIGHT ONLY 10 OUNCES.
Compact, Light, Effective.
The latest and best thing in the revolver line.
Can be carried in the vest pocket as easily as a watch.
50,000 sold in France last year.
A Novelty that sells at sight.
Sample revolver and Cartridges $7. Will be sent C. O. D. by express, with privilege of examination, if 50 cts. accompanies order as guarantee of good faith.
MINNEAPOLIS FIRE ARMS CO.,
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

A BOON TO MEN.
THE MOST PRACTICAL NOVELTY EVER INVENTED.
PATENTED.
Why have your pants baggy, when this stretcher will make them last twice as long and look like new?
NICKEL PLATED! NO SCREWS!
SIMPLE AND PERFECT.
FOLDS UP.
Every man should send for one, and always look well dressed. Send $1.00 for the perfect working Trouser Stretcher, which will be sent to you prepaid. Agents can coin money. Write for illustrated circular.
THE TROUSER STRETCHER CO.,
DETROIT, MICH.

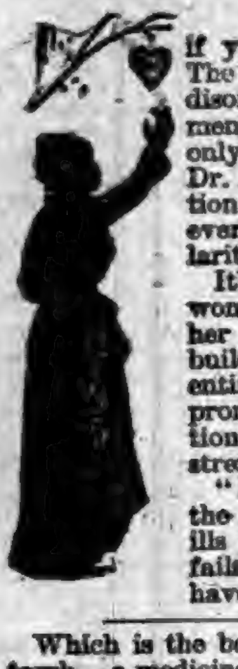
PURE STEEL
ROOFING.
Metallic Weather Boarding,
Complete Ceilings,
Corrugated Sheeting,
Roofing Paints,
Iron Roofing,
Eave Troughs, Gutters and Spouting,
and All forms of Sheet Metal for Building
(COMPLETE AND READY TO APPLY WHEN SHIPPED.)
WE WANT
—AN—
AGENT
In this town—an energetic workman to take orders and APPLY our materials in this vicinity.
Correspondence solicited; write for prices and terms.
SCOTT & CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.
ESTABLISHED 1872.

DOES YOUR HEAD ACHE
IT WILL NOT IF YOU TAKE KRAUSE'S Headache Capsules
$500 Reward for any injurious substance found in these Capsules
Perfectly harmless.
Will Cure any kind of Headache.
Money refunded if not as we say. Sent postpaid on receipt of price,
Twenty-Five Cents.
NORMAN LICHTY MFG. CO.,
DES MOINES, IOWA.
For Sale by

THE OLD DOCTOR'S
Cotton Root Pills
LADIES' FAVORITE.
ALWAYS RELIABLE and perfectly SAFE. The same as used by thousands of women all over the United States, in the OLD DOCTORS private mail practice, for 38 years, and not a single bad result. Money returned if not as represented. Send 4 cents (stamps) for sealed particulars.
Dr. WARD & CO., 1117 N. 8th St., St. Louis, Mo.

44 IN A ROW!
HUMBERS AND ROVERS
Have taken 44 First Awards at International Exhibits, including Grand Prize at Paris Exposition. 24 years on the market, and by far the largest cycle makers in the world.
Buy bicycles with a reputation to lose.
Send for latest art catalogue. Agencies in all the principal cities of the world, and in 400 American towns. 400 more agents wanted. Write for proposition.
THE HUMBER-ROVER CYCLE CO.,
285 Wabash Ave., CHICAGO.
WE SELL DIRECT WHERE THERE IS NO AGENT, FOR CASH OR ON TIME.

FREE TO BOYS AND GIRLS
UNDER 18 YEARS OF AGE, without one cent of money
READ AND WRITE.
ANY boy or girl under 18 wanting an elegant High Grade Safety Bicycle can obtain it FREE without one cent of money. Shall give away, on easy conditions, 1,000 or more.
DESCRIPTION OF BICYCLE. The wheels are 26 inches with crescent steel rims and molded rubber tires and run on hardened steel cone bearings, adjustable to wear; geared to 46 inches; detachable cranks; four to five inches throw; frame finely enameled, with nickel trimmings. Each machine is supplied with tool bag, wrench and oiler. Equal to those sold in the market for $45. We have both boys' and girls' styles. We deliver the bicycle FREE of all charges anywhere in the United States.
READ THE TESTIMONY.
413 N. 20th St., PHILADELPHIA, PA., Feb. 22, 1892.
WESTERN PEARL CO., Chicago, Ill.
DEAR GENTLEMEN:—I received the Safety Bicycle last Saturday about 5 p. m. I was very much surprised at seeing such an ELEGANT, HANDSOME Safety. It is really nicer than I expected. By trials and testimonials I find your firm is reliable in its dealings and promises. I really cannot express my thanks for the nice Safety. Yours truly, EMIL DAHLMAN.
[illegible], MICH., March 1st, 1892.
WESTERN PEARL CO., Chicago, Ill.
DEAR SIRS:—The Bicycle came promptly. The boy is overjoyed. He acted like a crazy child for awhile. Over and over he repeated, "it seems as if I were dreaming, but no, there it is"; and then he would go to it and pat it and talk to it. We have found you men of your word. Thanking you for your faithfulness to your word, I remain, Yours respectfully, H. A. DAY, for Leo Day.
IF YOU WANT A BICYCLE WRITE AT ONCE.
WESTERN PEARL CO., 328 to 334 Dearborn Street, CHICAGO, ILL.



TAKE HEART, if you're a suffering woman. The chronic weaknesses, painful disorders, and delicate derangements that come to woman only have a positive remedy in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. If you'll faithfully use it, every disturbance and irregularity can be permanently cured.

It's a legitimate medicine for woman, carefully adapted to her delicate organization. It builds up and invigorates the entire system, regulates and promotes all the proper functions, and restores health and strength.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only remedy for woman's ills that's guaranteed. If it fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

Which is the best to try, if you have Catarrh—a medicine that claims to have cured others, or a medicine that is backed by money to cure you! The proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy agree to cure your Catarrh, perfectly and permanently, or they'll pay you $500 in cash.

DR. KILMER'S SWAMP-ROOT

TRADE MARK.

Kidney, Liver and Bladder Cure.

Rheumatism,

Lumbago, pain in joints or back, brick dust in urine, frequent calls, irritation, inflamation, gravel, ulceration or catarrh of bladder.

Disordered Liver,

Impaired digestion, gout, billious-headache. SWAMP-ROOT cures kidney difficulties, La Grippe, urinary trouble, bright's disease.

Impure Blood,

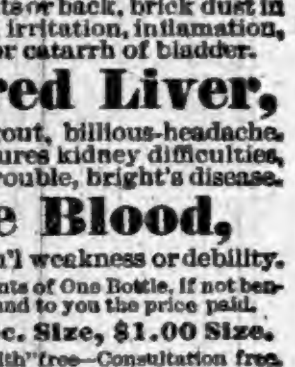
Scrofula, malaria, gen'l weakness or debility.

Guarantee—Use contents of One Bottle, if not benefited, Druggists will refund to you the price paid.

At Druggists, 50c. Size, $1.00 Size.

"Invalids' Guide to Health" free—Consultation free.

DR. KILMER & CO., BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

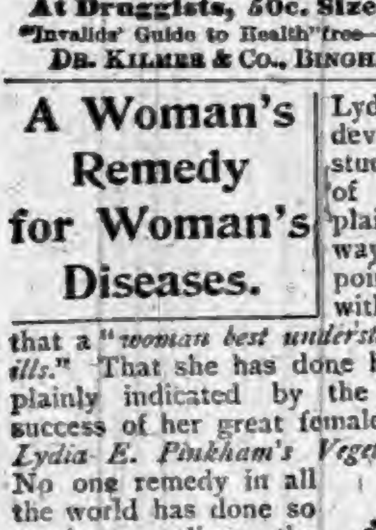


A Woman's Remedy for Woman's Diseases.

Lydia E. Pinkham devoted a life's study to the subject of Female Complaints, working always from the standpoint of reason, with a firm belief that a "woman best understands a woman's ills." That she has done her work well is plainly indicated by the unprecedented success of her great female remedy called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No one remedy in all the world has done so much to relieve the suffering of her sex. Her compound goes to the very root of Female Complaints, drives out disease, and re-invigorates the entire system.

All Druggists sell it, or sent by mail, in form of Pills or Lozenges, on receipt of $1.00. Liver Pills, 25c. Correspondence freely answered. Address in confidence, LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. CO., LYNN, MASS.

Yours for Health Lydia E. Pinkham



AT BEDTIME I TAKE A PLEASANT HERB DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c and $1 per package. If you cannot get it, send your address for a free sample. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary. Address ORATOR F. WOODWARD, LeRoy, N. Y.

Young Wives

Who are for the first time to undergo woman's severest trial we offer

"Mothers Friend"

A remedy which, if used as directed a few weeks before confinement, robs it of its PAIN, HORROR AND RISK TO LIFE of both mother and child, as thousands who have used it testify.

"I used two bottles of MOTHERS FRIEND with marvelous results, and wish every woman who has to pass through the ordeal of child-birth to know if they will use MOTHERS FRIEND for a few weeks it will rob confinement of pain and suffering, and insure safety to life of mother and child."

MRS. SAM HAMILTON, Montgomery City, Mo.

Sent by express, charges pre-aid, on receipt of price, $1.50 per bottle. Sold by all druggists. Book To Mothers mailed free.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

SEVEN SEVENTEEN
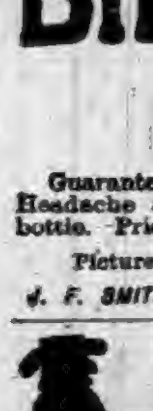
SEVENTY

Bile Beans Small.

Guaranteed to cure Billious Attacks, Sick Headache and Constipation. 40 in each bottle. Price 25c. For sale by druggists.

Picture "7, 17, 70" and sample dose free.

J. F. SMITH & CO., Proprietors, NEW YORK



LEWIS' 98 % LYE

Powdered and Perfumed. (PATENTED.)

The strongest and purest Lye made. Unlike other Lye, it being a fine powder and packed in a can with removable lid, the contents are always ready for use. Will make the best perfumed Hard Soap in 20 minutes without boiling. It is the best for cleansing waste-pipes, disinfecting sinks, closets, washing bottles, paints, trees, etc.

PENNA. SALT M'F'G CO., Gen. Agts., Phila., Pa.

BEST POLISH IN THE WORLD.

RISING SUN STOVE POLISH

DO NOT BE DECEIVED with Pastes, Enamels, and Paints which stain the hands, injure the iron, and burn off. The Rising Sun Stove Polish is Brilliant, Odorless, Durable, and the consumer pays for no tin or glass package with every purchase.

HAS AN ANNUAL SALE OF 3,000 TONS.

TRUTH IS TRIUMPHANT.

CLEVELAND'S PENSION RECORD IS CLEAN.

Vetoes of Special Bills Not So Numerous as Reported—In Many Cases Beneficial to Pensioners—In Others, Fraud Was Defeated.

American Tribune's Misstatements.

Hot-headed Republican editors, and the editors of so-called soldiers' papers, have been very fond of assailing Mr. Cleveland upon his pension record. None can deny that more pensions were granted by the Cleveland administration than by any other before in power, or than will have been granted by Mr. Harrison at the close of his term.

This is persistantly ignored. But Mr. Cleveland's vetoes of special pension bills have furnished frequent and long texts for his assailants—notably the American Tribune.

An old soldier, of Columbia City, Ind., Isaiah B. McDonald, challenged the statement made by the Tribune that Mr. Cleveland had vetoed 524 special bills, and in the next issue the Tribune was obliged to admit that the exact number of such voters was 254. But in the very next issue, and in subsequent ones, the old falsehood was reiterated.

Mr. McDonald then procured a statement from the clerk of the Pension Committee of the House of Representatives at Washington, who made exhaustive search of the records, and compiled a most interesting array of facts.

Here is the letter:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 3, 1892.

Col. I. B. McDonald, Columbia City, Ind.:

DEAR FRIEND.—Your favor of the 28th ult., inclosing an article written by you to the American Tribune, published at Indianapolis, and the lengthy philippic of the editor in reply thereto, has been received.

Your article incorporating the number of special pension bills signed by the several Presidents from Lincoln to Harrison, and the number of special acts vetoed by Grover Cleveland during his term as President, were, as you say, furnished to you by me, and as the editor of the Tribune has denied the truthfulness of the figures, I cheerfully comply with your request to verify the same.

The number of special pension bills signed by the several Presidents from Lincoln to Harrison is substantially correct, as an examination of the records shows, and the statement of the editor of the Tribune is misleading; purposely so, I think, for the reason that he gets his information from a speech delivered by Mr. McKinley in August, 1888, instead of from the record which closed on the 4th of March, 1889.

The record of special bills approved by the Presidents named is as follows:

Lincoln	44
Johnson	431
Grant	536
Hayes	324
Garfield and Arthur	706
Cleveland	1,825
Harrison (approximately)	1,400

From the time Mr. McKinley's speech was made until the close of Mr. Cleveland's administration Congress had been in session nearly five months, and during that time nearly six hundred private pension bills had been passed and signed, making the total signed by Mr. Cleveland during his four years exactly 1,825, as I stated in my letter to you, and as you stated it in your letter to the Tribune.

At present I have no means at hand by which I can say exactly how many special bills President Harrison has signed, but the number I gave you is approximately correct—about fourteen hundred, or about four hundred and twenty-five fewer than were signed by Mr. Cleveland.

The number of special pension bills vetoed, I believe, I gave you as 299. I received the information from a clerk in the department, and supposed it was correct. Since you called my attention to it and as I see by the Tribune article and from various other Republican papers that the number is given all the way from 254, 416, 608 to 800, I have taken the trouble to make a critical examination of the official record and find the number to be as follows:

	Vetoes.
Forty-ninth Congress, first session	100
Forty-ninth Congress, second session	22
Fiftieth Congress, first session	103
Fiftieth Congress, second session	26
Total	251

You can say, therefore, without the fear of successful contradiction, that the number of special pension bills vetoed by Mr. Cleveland during his term as President is exactly two hundred and fifty-one. The error in the increased number given you was on account of vetoes of other measures than pension bills being incorporated in the total, such as the vetoes of trumped-up war and other claims against the government, bills for the removal of charges of desertion, bills for public buildings, etc., amounting in all to about fifty.

A careful examination of the reasons given by Mr. Cleveland for these vetoes will convince any unprejudiced mind that they were just and right in every instance under the laws, not only to the parties concerned but to Uncle Sam, who has to pay the bills, as well. Let me give you just one instance—and there were many very similar.

In his message vetoing the special bill passed for the relief of Rachel A. Pierpont, Feb. 27, 1887, Mr. Cleveland said:

"At the time the bill was introduced and passed an application for pension on behalf of the beneficiary named was pending in the Pension Office. This application was filed in December, 1879. Within the last few days, and on the 17th day of February, 1887, a pension was granted upon the said application and a certificate issued at precisely the same rate which the bill herewith returned authorizes. But the pension under the general laws dates from the time of filing the application in 1879, while under a special act it would date only from the time of its passage. In the interest of the beneficiary and for her advantage, the special bill is therefore disapproved."

By vetoing this bill Mr. Cleveland saved this widow a pension of $12 a month for eight years, or a total of $1,152. Were it necessary I could give you dozens of other cases substantially in the same line. In the editorial in the American Tribune in reply to your article I find the following:

"During Grover Cleveland's term, Gen. John C. Black was Commissioner of Pensions, and Col. Matson, of Indiana, Chairman of the Committee on Invalid Pensions in the House, and both men were earnest friends of the soldiers, especially if it could be shown that the applicant was a Democrat, and Congress passed a large number of bills, principally for widows, but they were for such, contemptibly small sums as $1, $2 and $4 per month, and yet Grover Cleveland vetoed 254 bills of that class, principally to widows who had suddenly been called upon to support a family of fatherless children."

The foregoing extract is absolutely false and without any foundation whatsoever in fact. The Pension Bureau under Gen. Black was conducted solely in the interests of the soldiers, and it cannot be shown in a single instance during his administration where political preference had anything to do with the allowance of a claim.

As you may remember, I was one of the clerks of the Invalid Pension Committee of the House during the Fiftieth Congress, which embraced the last two years of Mr. Cleveland's administration. My duties were then, as now, to examine the papers in the Pension Bureau and other evidence in rejected claims upon which bills for special acts were based, and to write reports on the same. In the discharge of these duties I necessarily became familiar with everything connected with special legislation and had personal knowledge of nearly every case reported, and all the vetoes presented during that session, and I believe my statements ought to have as much weight as those of the editor of the Tribune, who evidently knows nothing about what he is talking, or else he knowingly and deliberately states what he knows to be false.

Bills for special pensions are not introduced into Congress until all remedies under the general pension laws and the very liberal regulations of the several Commissioners of Pensions have been exhausted, and the case has been rejected for want of proof to sustain the claim, or has been found to be entirely without merit. Every opportunity is given these claimants to show that they are entitled to a pension, and in fully nine cases out of ten there is no merit in them. When they have exhausted their remedy in the pension bureau they seek the member of Congress in their district and ask him to introduce a special bill for his or her relief. The member, in order to make himself solid with his constituents, prepares a bill and "fires it into Congress" without knowing anything whatever as to its merits or otherwise, as the case may be. The papers in the Pension Bureau are then sent for, an examination of the veto of the Commissioner of Pensions (for a rejection is simply a veto, and Raum is vetoing hundreds of claims every day) is entered upon, a report made, and through sympathy or the influence of "a friend at court," the action of the bureau is set aside, the worse is made to appear the better, a favorable report is made and adopted, and the case, very often without any evidence to substantiate it, goes on the calendar for the consideration of the House. Without a quorum it has no trouble in getting through both branches of Congress, and is sent to the President for his consideration. Mr. Cleveland was honest enough and courageous enough under his oath of office to carefully examine every one of these cases, and where he found that they were wholly without merit, and that poor old defenseless Uncle Sam was being robbed of money that ought to go to the deserving, he did not hesitate to return the bill without his approval.

And it is a remarkable fact, which has probably not occurred to the editor of the Tribune, that neither branch of Congress, during Mr. Cleveland's entire term, made an effort to pass a single one of these 251 vetoed bills over the President's objections. Why? They knew the President was right and that all these bills were without merit.

The statement of the Tribune that these bills were "principally for widows, but they were for such contemptibly small sums as $1, $2 and $4 per month," is a falsehood out of whole cloth and was made simply to belittle Mr. Cleveland. Since the war no special pension bill for widows, or for anyone else for that matter, has ever passed carrying such "contemptible" amounts as the Tribune states. These bills for widows are all for $12 per month, except in cases arising under the law of June 27, 1890, which usually calls for $8 per month.

The Tribune further says:

"During the first two years of President Harrison's term, Congress was Republican and passed all of the meritorious pension bills that the committee had time to consider.

"During the first years of Mr. Cleveland's administration the House was Democratic and the records show that more pension bills, originating in the House, were passed and became laws than during any four years of Republican administration since the close of the war."

During the present session of Congress the number of special bills introduced has fallen off more than one-half as compared with the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses. This is accounted for by the passage of the dependent pension bill of 1890, providing for the pensioning of all those whose present disabilities are such as to render them unable to earn a living by manual labor. The Tribune attempts to show that on account of Mr. Harrison's great love for the soldier there have been issued during his administration a larger number of certificates than were issued under Mr. Cleveland. This is easily accounted for by the passage of the act of June 27, 1890, authorizing the pensioning of those who are at present unable to earn a living, but are unable to trace their disabilities to army service. From June 27, 1890, to June 30, 1891 (the report for 1892 is not out yet), of this class of claims there were filed in the pension bureau 243,680 invalid claims and 78,270 widows'—a total of 321,950. There were also filed during this year 353,582 applications under said act where pensions had already been allowed or applied for, making in all about 675,532 applications filed under said act the first year after it went into force. So to compare the number of certificates issued under the general law and the provisions of this act with the number of certificates issued before its passage would be extremely unfair.

But this letter is already too long, and I have not time nor is it necessary, to continue it farther. There are a great many other statements in the Tribune's article which are entirely unworthy of any consideration whatever, and especially from an old soldier like you, who fought bravely and courageously during the war, while the writer who criticises you was a feather-bed soldier faring sumptuously every day a safe distance in the rear as the private secretary of Indiana's great war governor. I have no patience with these alleged soldier papers. All of them, as far as my knowledge extends, are simply Republican campaign documents, and the Democratic soldier who puts his trust in any of them is sure to place himself in the hands of the Philistines.

Wishing you plenty, health, peace and prosperity, and that we may both live to celebrate a glorious Democratic victory this fall, I am sincerely yours,

DANIEL MCDONALD.

Artificial Coloration.

Flowers cannot be tinted by immersing them in dye solutions, but they are readily colored if their stalks are placed in aniline solutions. Aniline scarlet dissolved in water to about the transparency of claret has a very rapid action on flowers, coloring them pink and scarlet. Indigo carmine produces beautiful blue tints. The two combined dye various shades of purple, with curious mottled effects, some parts of the flowers becoming pink and other parts blue and purple. Greens are produced by using the blue dye with yellow. In a series of experiments indigo and cochineal were used with partial success. Lily of the valley flowers became beautifully tinged with pink or blue in six hours; narcissi are changed from pure white to deep scarlet in twelve hours, and delicate shades of pink are imparted to them in a very short time. Yellow daffodils are beautifully striped with dark scarlet in twelve hours; the edges of the corona also become deeply tinged, and the veining of the perianth becomes very strongly marked. The way this rapid change is brought about is very interesting. There is a system of veins in plants, the tubes passing through the leaves, petals, and other parts of the flower, and it is by these that the color is conveyed to every portion of the plants. White tulips furnish excellent examples of artificial coloring, as they can be readily tinted either pink, blue, green or purple in a few hours. The vein tubes which are thus displayed in the petals agree with the strongly marked features, known as the "flamed" or "feathered" varieties of the florist. Blue tulips have always been desired, and they can thus be artificially produced for florist purposes. The double white camelia is another pretty illustrations, as it becomes pink. White lilacs take the color perfectly, becoming blue or pink at pleasure. Forced leaves of the Swede turnip, grown in the dark for culinary purposes, are extremely susceptible to coloration. They begin to color in about three hours, are beautifully fringed with red, and suffused with rich orange. Thus tinted, they are beautiful objects for table decoration.

Earache.

There are simple remedies for most common disorders requiring no skilled attention, and even experts are often willing to give away cures that anybody can manage. No doubt many people have thanked the man who published without a patent this easy relief for the earache.

"I am afraid I have greatly interfered with my own practice," said a celebrated aurist, "by giving the following advice to many of my friends:

"At the first symptoms of earache let the patient lie on the bed with the painful ear uppermost. Fold a thick towel and tuck it around the neck; then with a teaspoon fill the ear with warm water.

"Continue doing this for fifteen or twenty minutes; the water will fill the ear orifice, and flow over on the towel. After turning over the head, let the water run out, and plug the the ear with warm glycerine and cotton.

"This may be done every hour until relief is obtained. It is an almost invariable cure, and has saved many cases of acute inflamation. The water should be quite warm, but not too hot."—London Tid-Bits.

What City Folks Want in the Country.

Summer boarders, rightly handled, are about the most profitable thing the York County farmer can cultivate. Don't feed them on beefsteak, for they don't want it. Give them plenty of bannock, berries, baked potatoes, boiled eggs and mush and milk, and they will be much better suited. Keep them away from the house by getting them to go hill-climbing, and then they can't say it was your mosquitoes that bit them. What they wish is something new to eat and something new to see. Give them these, and they pay well for the trouble.—Biddeford (Me.) Journal.

Seeds in a Bushel.

A Mississippi man counted the number of seeds in a bushel of the various grains with the following results: Corn, 72,130; wheat, 830,000; peas, 109,000; cotton-seed, 164,166. His figures would have more value if he had stated the kind of corn, wheat, and peas selected for the experiment.

PAYING THE PENALTY.

Hamburg Desolated by the Scourge—Caused by Her Apathy.

The thriving, prosperous city of Hamburg has paid a fearful penalty for its reckless neglect of ordinary sanitary precautions and its violation of all laws of health when the terrible pest of cholera was right at its gates. Dispatches in the daily press give a vivid and graphic picture of the condition of the plague-stricken city. Its usual gayety is turned to mourning. Its palatial houses are empty and its streets are filled with coffins and hearses. Its vast commerce is at a standstill. Its wharves are lined with idle vessels. Its hotels are empty. Its schools, theaters, opera houses and concert hall are closed. The hospitals are overcrowded. The undertakers are taxed to their utmost to bury the dead. Under this overhanging cloud the people are naturally depressed. Those who could do so have fled elsewhere. Those who remain wait and wonder whose turn it will be next, and meanwhile the poor are suffering from a combination of miseries, in addition to their own poverty. And all this came upon the devoted city in less than a month, for it was Aug. 18 that the first case was reported. In the brief period of twenty-two days probably over 8,000 persons had fallen victims to the disease. The official returns of the Board of Health up to Monday reported 6,124 cases and 2,676 deaths, but on the same day the director of one of the cemeteries stated he had buried 4,032 cholera victims in that period, and this was but one cemetery.

All this suffering and death clearly are the outcome of criminal neglect. The first case brought to the attention of the medical inspector of the Board of Health was on Aug. 18, but he made no report upon it until five days later. Meanwhile nothing was done to ward off the ravages of the pestilence already at work in the city. No effort was made to stop the exportation of immigrants to other countries who were suffering with the disease. Hamburg freely admitted the disease, and as freely sent it broadcast to Paris, Havre, London and New York. No precautions of any kind were taken until it was too late and it had spread from the low river sections of the city to the new and residence quarter. For a week or two it was confined to the lower classes who live in the suburbs of Hamm and Hammersbrook and in Spitaler, Stein, and other streets along the Elbe, reeking with decaying filth, garbage, and cholera-producing material, and adding their stenches to that from the poisonous waters of the river, daily made more so by the refuse from the idle vessels. Then the disease made its way into the better parts of the city, as might have been expected, for no effort was made to clean up and properly disinfect. The impure water, which is utterly unfit for drinking, helped to spread the plague. It was a terrible present which Russia sent to Hamburg and the world never will cease to wonder at the complacency with which Hamburg accepted it.

But Hamburg is now paying the penalty which always follows the violation of sanitary laws in time of danger. If frosts do not set in soon the mortality list must swell to frightful proportions. Its business already is destroyed for the present. It is a city of suffering and death instead of the city of gayety and commercial enterprise it was four weeks ago. It stands as a conspicuous warning to all other cities. Its lesson is to clean up, to do it at once and thoroughly, and then to keep clean. Remove the filth. Purify the water. Burn the garbage. Make the streets and alleys and back yards clean. Destroy the cholera-producing material. That is the lesson of Hamburg, whose cholera victims are now quarantined in the waters of New York Bay and whose pest ships are threatening our own ports.

The Sluggers.

NOT James Corbett, but John Barleycorn, knocked out Sullivan.—Buffalo Express.

AT last Bully Sullivan received a dose of his own medicine—but it must be said to his credit that he always fought fair.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

IT is doubtful if a more unspeakable ruffian than Sullivan ever entered the ring, and as long as he was "champion" it was dominated by toughs.—St. Louis Republic.

IT was a sad blow to the dramatic profession. Tooth is getting old, and who is there left to take the place of the uncrowned John L.?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE glory of Sullivan has departed. The spell which attached to his name so long has been destroyed. Reputation, money, and friends are gone. On this broad planet there is no person or thing so dead and discredited as a defeated pugilist.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

IF, now, we must have prize fights and devotees of the ring, then it is a pleasure to chronicle the final defeat of the brute and bully who has worn his honors brazenly for so many years. When Corbett knocked out Sullivan, it came as near to being a triumph of decency as such an event could be.—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

All Sorts.

THE Gulf stream flows at the rate of four miles an hour.

BANNER COUNTY, Nebraska, boasts of a new born baby who weighs 20¼ pounds.

MICHIGAN has nearly 87,000 Methodists, with church property valued at over $3,750,000.

AN insect in the ear may be drowned out with tepid water, or killed by a few drops of sweet oil.

PERHAPS the most happily named man in England is Thankful Joy, a Hampshire cricketer.

THE first elevated road in Great Britain will be in Liverpool. The road is already in the course of construction.

CATHOLIC congregations in Prussia are increasing in much greater proportion than the increase of the population.

A HUNTING-HORN in Limoges enamel, made in 1530, and believed to have formerly belonged to Horace Walpole, was sold recently for $31,500.

BEGINNING in October Russian will be taught in two of the Paris colleges and perhaps be put on the same footing as German and English.

SMALL electric lamps are being tried by the London police in place of the old-fashioned oil bull's-eyes. The experiments have proved highly satisfactory thus far.

IN speaking of the solidification of a body by cooling, Professor Dewar says that water can be made to become solid by the evaporation of a quarter of its weight.

A BLUE crane, a rare bird in that region, was shot the other day near Manistee, Mich. It measured six feet from tip to tip of wings and five feet from head to feet.

A FLORIDA silver half dollar of 1760 is worth $10, while the Virginia silver half dollar of 1773 is valued at $2. The pewter Continental dollar of 1776 is worth $3.

INVESTIGATIONS of rain drops lead to the conclusion that some of the large drops must be more or less hollow, as they fall when striking to wet the whole surface inclosed within the drop.

Possibilities of the Blind.

John Metcalf was a native of England, born in the year 1717. He lost his sight from the effects of the measles, when four years old, and very shortly became totally blind—utterly unconscious of light! His first efforts towards sustaining himself were made upon the violin. He became an expert performer on the instrument when a mere boy, and for many years attended as a musician at the "Queens Head," in High Harrowgate. At the age of twenty-five he had saved money enough with which to purchase a wheeled carriage and horses, for the conveyance of people to and from places of public amusement.

Soon after he sold his horses, and enlisted as a musician in the Volunteers, and was taken prisoner at the battle of Falkirk. He was soon released, however, and returned to Knaresborough, where he was born, and commenced the business of a common carrier between that town and York, a distance of sixteen miles; and while thus engaged, he served as guide at night through the intricate passes, or when the tracks were covered with snow. As might be expected, strangers often hesitated about placing themselves under the guidance of a man so utterly blind that even the glare of the sunlight upon the snow was not perceptible to him; but he never failed them. Over the trackless waste he would conduct the traveler, where, as far as the eye could reach, only a sheet of unbroken and unmarked snow lay upon the earth, and he never went wrong, never hesitated.

But, more than this; when at the age of forty he could follow the chase as well and as keenly as the rest. He had his own hounds and his own horses, and he could follow these hounds as surely as the keenest sightest man of the country.

Later in life, but in his prime, he was engaged in a business which it would seem impossible that a blind man could follow. But, incredible as in may seem, it was nevertheless so. The business was that of projecting and contracting for the making of high roads; building bridges and houses, and other works of like character.

John Metcalf was on a visit to his native place in the year 1788, being then 71 years of age—healthy, rugged and strong.

Shakspeare Sold the Use of His Name.

Now, William Shakspeare, loved and loving gentleman as he was, is understood to have been very shrewd in money matters. None knew the meaning of poperty better than he. Had he not been so, and rightly so, his father would never have stirred outside the door; the Lambert mortgages would have remained unpaid; nor would the Quineys have swarmed around for their kinsman's crumbs, and nudged each other to look up good things where he could place the wealth they saw him hoarding. Is it not, therefore, impossible to suppose him ignorant of or indifferent as to the cash value of his own name? Is it not quite as impossible, again, to believe that, if printed at his own instance, he allowed the publisher to dedicate the book to a friend; that if dedicated to either of his own patrons, Pembroke or Southampton, he (Shakspeare) was unable to write his own dedication; or, writing it, asked his publisher to sign it? If the escape from these difficulties is not by way of assumption that Shakspeare sold the use of his name to the printers of anonymous poetry precisely as he is known to have sold it to the printers of anonymous plays, then those difficulties are hopeless indeed!—Manhattan Magazine.

Straw as Fuel.

"Yes, I've lived out West for ten year," said a traveler, who was bearded like a forty-niner; "I mean on the prairies of Nebraska. Great country, too."

"What do the folks do for fuel?"

"Well, nowadays we're following after the Rooshuns, the Rooshun Mennonites, you know, in the fuel business. They are right smart ingenious in some things, and this is the way they get over the fuel difficulty. They build their houses of four rooms, all cornering together in the center. Right there they put up a great big brick oven, with thick walls. From the furnace door back to the back yard is a passageway. Every morning, noon, and night they lug a jag of straw in from the stack and burn it in the furnace. The thick walls get red hot, and stay so for hours, warming every room in the house. Even in the coldest weather three fires a day in the furnace will keep the house warm. For the cooking stoves we burn corn stalks to get meals with, and thus our farms raise our fuel as we go along. Pretty good scheme, isn't it?"—Chicago Herald.

A Diabolical Trio.

If there is one more fiendish than the hateful trinity, dyspepsia, biliousness and irregularity of the bowels usually existent together, we are unaware of it. Those co-operative organs, the stomach, the bowels and the liver, are usually thrown out of gear together, and the restoration of regularity to one is usually the signal for the others to fall into line. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters controls all three beneficently and completely, not only regulating but invigorating them. It also exerts a most happy influence upon the kidneys and the blood, giving a healthful impulse and enriching the second. It overcomes malaria and a tendency to chronic rheumatism and neuralgia, and improves appetite and sleep. To the nervous it affords unspeakable relief. A wineglassful three times daily will, if persisted in, achieve results to be expected from no other medium.

The Opal.

There are numbers of foolish people now-a-days who will actually refuse the gift of an opal or sell any they may possess rather than be the owner of so dangerous a source of bad luck and dispelled affection. Yet the opal was the reverse of an inauspicious stone in ancient days. It was classed by Onomacritus among those that insure the efficacy of prayer. According to Berquem, it made its wearer lovable and conciliated affection, it rejoiced the heart, preserved from poison and infection, dissipated melancholy, and strengthened the sight. Could one, then, wish for anything better, either as a gift or possession.

M. L. THOMPSON & CO., Druggists, Coudersport, Pa., say Hall's Catarrh Cure is the best and only sure cure for catarrh they ever sold. Druggists sell it, 75c.

A Wonderful Potato.

Wonderful things happen in Ireland as well as elsewhere, if the following can be vouched for, which is not likely. It is related that a gentleman in Ireland recently, on cutting open a potato at dinner, found in the center a ball sovereign, around which the vegetable had grown. Though discolored, it was in a good state of preservation, and is now a pretty ornament to a watch chain.

FITS.—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

SO MANY young men who start out to follow the band wagon, realize when they are old that they were following a hearse.

He Caught On.

A peasant one day put on a new Paper Collar and greased his Boots with Chicago butterine and hied himself to the Town and to the Office of an Insurance Company, where he Demanded the sum of One Hundred Dollars.

"For what?" asked the President.

"Because I have kept my house insured with you for a Thousand Dollars for these last fourteen years, and it has never burned and caused you loss."

Then the President called him a Wooden-Headed Carrot and other Select Names and ordered him to Cheese the Racket. The Peasant was looking about Town for the aforesaid Cheese when a Lawyer winked him into a stairway and said:

"Foolish man! An Insurance Company pays not for what you save, but for what you lose. Fee, $50."

MORAL—The Insurance Company has settled the Loss at $900.

THE TRUE LAXATIVE PRINCIPLE

Of the plants used in manufacturing the pleasant remedy, Syrup of Figs, has a permanently beneficial effect on the human system, while the cheap vegetable extracts and mineral solutions, usually sold as medicines, are permanently injurious. Being well-informed, you will use the true remedy only. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

Insect Destroyer.

The most cleanly and effective of insect-destroyers is quassia water, made by boiling four ounces of quassia chips in a gallon of soft water for ten minutes and adding to it while hot four ounces of soft soap. This, applied with a brush, will kill all the aphis family, and when syringed on the plants it kills all it touches. For syringing with, there should only be two ounces of soft soap to the gallon of water.

LOW RATE HARVEST EXCURSIONS.

The announcement that the North-Western Line, comprising over 8,000 miles of thoroughly equipped railway, has arranged to run two low rate Harvest Excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by those who are interested in the development of the great West and Northwest, as well as by those who desire to visit this wonderfully productive region at a season of the year when exact demonstration can be made of the merits and advantages it offers to home-seekers and those in search of safe and profitable investments.

These excursions will leave Chicago on August 30th and Sept. 27th, and tickets can be purchased at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip to points in Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, and Montana. They will be strictly first-class in every particular and will be good for return passage at any time within twenty days from date of purchase. Full information concerning rates and arrangements for these excursions can be obtained upon application to any coupon ticket agent, or to W. A. Thrall, G. P. T. A., Chicago & North-Western R'y, Chicago.

A Woman for the Place.

Gaskett (reading)—A woman runs a locomotive on a West Virginia railroad.

Spatts—She wouldn't be afraid of train robbers.

"Why not!"

"Because she is accustomed to holding up her train herself."—Detroit Free Press.

Nothing Like It.

For seven long years I suffered more or less with Kidney and Liver Complaint, and during that time doctored with a number of Physicians, who stated that my case was beyond cure. I found no Remedy like Swamp-Root and to-day, thank God, I am a well woman.

MRS. A. WHELCHEL, Olio, Ind.

At the Seaside.

Heroic Girl—What has become of that handsome man who cheered so loudly when I rescued the little boy from drowning?

Friend—He is over there on the veranda proposing to the girl who screamed and fainted.—New York Weekly.

DON'T TRIFLE WITH AFFECTIONS of the throat and lungs. Take HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR.

PIKE'S TOOTHACHE DROPS Cure in one Minute.

Cause and Effect.

Clubberly—Didn't you call on Miss Pinkerly the other night in your new suit?

Tutter—Yes, why do you ask?

Clubberly—I met her the next morning and she was so deaf she couldn't hear a word I said.—Texas Siftings.

W. J. MCDONALD, superintendent Lanneau Manufacturing Co., Greenville S. C., says: "My wife has used Bradycrotine for headache, and it is the only thing that relieves her sufferings." Of all Druggists. 50c.

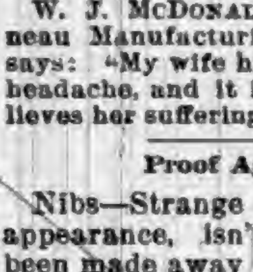
Proof Against Attack.

Nibs—Strange about Whoopem's disappearance, isn't it? Could he have been made away with?

Jibs—Impossible! He had no enemies and always wore a Waterbury watch.

ANYONE would be justified in recommending Beecham's Pills for all affections of the liver and other vital organs.

IN nearly every family there is a black sheep. For this reason there is a good deal of charity for black sheep.



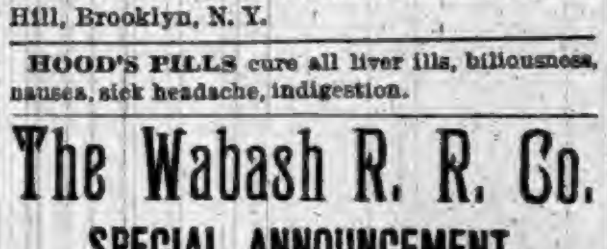
Emma Frederick.

Our Baby

Was a beauty, fair, plump and healthy. But when two years old Scrofula Humor spread over her head, neck and forehead down into her eyes, one great sore, itching and burning. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave her new life and appetite. Then the humor subsided, the itching and burning ceased, and the sores entirely healed up. She is now perfectly well." I. W. FREDERICK, Danforth street, near Crescent avenue, Cypress Hill, Brooklyn, N. Y.

HOOD'S PILLS cure all liver ills, biliousness, nausea, sick headache, indigestion.

The Wabash R. R. Co. SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

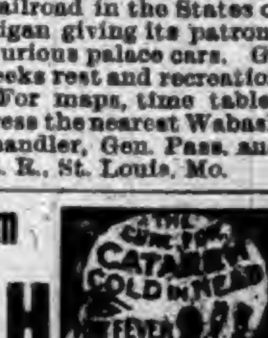


Wait for the Great Low Rate HARVEST EXCURSIONS to be run by the WABASH RAILROAD on August 30th, September 27th, and October 25th, 1892, to points West, Southwest, and Northwest. Remember the Wabash is the Great Through Reclining Chair Car Route, and is the only railroad in the States of Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan giving its patrons Free Seats in these luxurious palace cars. Go West and enjoy a few weeks rest and recreation at a nominal expense. For maps, time tables and full particulars, address the nearest Wabash Agent, or write to F. Chandler, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Wabash R. R., St. Louis, Mo.

Ely's Cream Balm WILL CURE CATARRH

Price 50 Cents.

Apply Balm into each nostril. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y.



THE CURE FOR CATARRH COLD IN HEAD HAY FEVER ELY'S CREAM BALM

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.

CATARRH

Sold by druggists or sent by mail, 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren, Pa.

"August Flower"

I have been troubled with dyspepsia, but after a fair trial of August Flower, am freed from the vexatious trouble—J. B. Young, Daughters College, Harrodsburg, Ky. I had headache one year steady. One bottle of August Flower cured me. It was positively worth one hundred dollars to me—J. W. Smith, P.M. and Gen. Merchant, Townsend, Ont. I have used it myself for constipation and dyspepsia and it cured me, It is the best seller I ever handled—C. Rugh, Druggist, Mechanicsburg, Pa.

SCRATCHED TEN MONTHS.

A troublesome skin disease caused me to scratch for ten months, and has been cured by a few days' use of S.S.S.

M. H. WOLFF, Upper Marlboro, Md.

SWIFT'S SPECIFIC

I was cured several years ago of white swelling in my leg by using S.S.S. and have had no symptoms of return of the disease. Many prominent physicians attended me and all failed, but S. S. S. did the work.

PAUL W. KIRKPATRICK, Johnson City, Tenn.

Treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed free.

SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

Burlington Route

Harvest Excursions

August 30th and Sept. 27th, FROM Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis to the Cities and Farm Districts throughout the WEST Southwest and Northwest

Round trip tickets will be sold by your local ticket agent on these dates at

HALF RATES!

See that they read over the Burlington Route from Chicago, Peoria or St. Louis. It is the direct line to the territory in question. Send for pamphlet with map and complete information to P. S. EUSTIS, C. P. A., CHICAGO, ILL.

WE SELL PRINTING OFFICE OUTFITS

at reasonable rates and upon liberal terms. WRITE FOR PARTICULARS. FORT WAYNE NEWSPAPER UNION, Fort Wayne, Ind.

TOWER'S
TRADE MARK
FISH BRAND

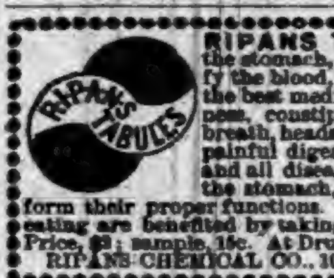
The Best Waterproof Coat in the WORLD!

SLICKER

The FISH BRAND SLICKER is warranted waterproof, and will keep you dry in the hardest storm. The new POMMEL SLICKER is a perfect riding coat, and covers the entire saddle. Beware of imitations. Don't buy a coat if the "Fish Brand" is not on it. Illustrated Catalogue free. A. J. TOWER, Boston, Mass.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION.

Dr. O. P. Brown's HERBAL TISSUE BUILDER beautifies the skin and tissues, preventing the shrinkage which produces wrinkles. Not a cosmetic, but a Natural SKIN TONIC which most skins, hungry for nourishment, absorb like a sponge. Druggists or by mail $1.00. Send 10c for SAMPLE, with Lady's paper illustrating Seven Ages of Woman's Life, and devoted to the care of Face and Body. J. GIBSON BROWN, 47 Grand Street, Jersey City, New Jersey.



$5 to $15 per day, at home, selling LIGHTNING PLATER and plating jewelry, watches tableware, &c. Plates the finest of jewelry good as new, on all kinds of metal with gold, silver or nickel. No experience. No capital. Every house has goods needing plating. Wholesale to agents $5. Write for circulars. H. C. DELNO & Co., Columbus, O.

RIPANS TABULES regulate the stomach, liver and bowels, purify the blood, are safe and effectual; the best medicine known for biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia, foul breath, headache, mental depression, painful digestion, bad complexion, and all diseases caused by failure of the stomach, liver or bowels to perform their proper functions. Persons given to over-eating are benefited by taking one after each meal. Price, $2; sample, 15c. At Druggists, or sent by mail. RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

$40,000,000

Earned by the Bell Telephone Patent in 1891. Your invention may be valuable. You should protect it by patent. Address for full and intelligent advice, free of charge, W. W. DUDLEY & CO., Solicitors of Patents, Pacific Bldg., 622 F St. N. W., Washington, D. C. Mention this paper.

LYON & HEALY, 58 Monroe St., Chicago. Will Mail Free their newly enlarged Catalogue of Band Instruments, Uniforms and Equipments, 400 Fine Illustrations, describing every article required by Bands or Drum Corps. Contains Instructions for Amateur Bands, Exercises and Drum Major's Tactics, By-Laws and a Selected List of Band Music.

GARFIELD TEA Overcomes results of bad eating; cures Sick Headache; restores Complexion; cures Constipation. Send for Free Sample to 319 West 45th Street, New York City.

FAT FOLKS REDUCED

Mrs. Alice Maple, Oregon, Mo., writes "My weight was 320 pounds, now it is 186, a reduction of 125 lbs." For circulars address, with 6c., Dr. O. W. F. SNYDER, McVicker's Theatre, Chicago, Ill.

PATENTS! PENSIONS!

Send for Inventor's Guide, or How to Obtain a Patent. Send for Digest of Pension and Bounty Laws. PATRICK O'FARRELL, Washington, D. C.

DOUBLE Breech-Loader $7.50. RIFLES $2.00 WATCHES GUNS BICYCLES $15 All kinds cheaper than elsewhere. Before you buy, send stamp for catalogue to THE POWELL & CLEMENT CO. 166 Main St., Cincinnati, O.

Best Oldest and Largest Spencerian Business College and Short-hand School. Cleveland, Ohio. Founded in 1848. 35,000 former pupils. Elegant catalogue free.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE. The Family Wash Blue, for sale by Grocers.

F. W. N. U. ....No. 38—92

When Writing to Advertisers, say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

A Safe Was Blown Open
THE OTHER MORNING,
AND THE CONTENTS SCATTERED!

But that did not effect the quality of

Long's Breakfast Flour,

the finest thing on the market for a morning meal.

Mason Fruit Jars $1.05 per Doz.

IRA BRANDON.

YOUNG, OLD and MIDDLE AGED MEN CURED. ATHLETES, BICYCLISTS, HORSEMEN, R. R. MEN.

A protection to the Generative Organs. For sale by druggists. TAKE NO OTHER.

A BOON TO MEN

Suffering from the follies of youth. A positive cure for Varicocele [enlarged veins], Lost Manhood, Impotency and Nocturnal Emissions without the aid of drugs. Our Suspensory is endorsed by physicians and fully protected by U. S. patents, dated Dec. 8th, 1891. The best, surest, cleanest, cheapest and most comfortable remedy on the market. Affords absolute relief; easily applied; no inconvenience to the wearer; prevents chafing in hot weather; prevents injury from sudden jar or strain. Price, $3.00 by mail, or by express C. O. D., with privilege of examination. Circulars and information free. Send orders and communications to wholesale department.

V. R. S. CO. 25 Buhl Block, DETROIT, MICH.

"We use the Vulcanized Suspensory." "Nothing like it."

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of an execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb circuit court, in a cause wherein Elizabeth Frick is execution plaintiff, and Samuel Frick is defendant, requiring me to make the sum of Two Hundred Twenty nine dollars and Thirty-five cents, with interest on said judgment and costs, I will expose at Public Sale, to the highest bidder, on Saturday, September 17th, 1892.

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m., and 4 o'clock p. m., of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb county, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

Commencing at the northwest of tract of land heretofore conveyed by Nancy Willard in the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section three (3) in township thirty-four (34) north of range thirteen (13) east, and running from thence in an easterly direction parallel with the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad two and twenty-five one-hundredths chains to stake, thence south two chains and four and one-half links to a stake, thence in a westerly direction two and twenty-five one-hundredths chains to the line of land owned by Charles Kelley, thence north two chains and four and one-half links, to the place of beginning, containing forty-six one-hundredths of an acre, more, more or less, except a stript twenty-five (25) links wide off of the north end, which has been reserved for street purposes.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said judgment, interest and costs, I will at the same time and place expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficent to discharge said judgment, interest and costs. The above real estate will not be sold for less than two-thirds of its appraised value.

PHIL PLUM, Sheriff of DeKalb county, Indiana.

WM. H. LEAS, Att'y for Defendant.

Auburn, August 23rd, 1892.

Administrator's Sale.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned, administrator of the estate of John L. Shirey, deceased by order of the DeKalb Circuit Court, on Thursday October 13, 1892.

will sell the following real estate of said decedent, at public auction, on the premises, to wit:

Sixty acres off of the South side of the southwest quarter of section thirty-two (32) in township number thirty three (33) north of range fifteen (15) east in DeKalb County, in the State of Indiana. Sale to commence at 1 o'clock p. m.

TERMS: One-third cash, one-third in nine months, and one-third in eighteen months from day of sale. The deferred payments to be evidenced by the purchaser's notes, at interest, waiving relief from appraisement laws and secured by a mortgage on the premises.

SEBASTIAN TUSTESAN, Administrator.

J. E. & J. H. ROSE, Att'ys. for Estate.

August 29, 1892.

WANTED, FOR THE UNITED STATES ARMY, able-bodied unmarried men, between the ages of 21 and 30 years. Good pay, rations, clothing, and medical attendance. Applicants must be prepared to furnish satisfactory evidence as to age, character and habits. Apply at 4th floor, [illegible] Block, Calhoun street, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The carriage in which Napoleon made his famous retreat from Moscow, is still well preserved. It belongs to the Wellington estate.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with neuralgia and rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shephard, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters, and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely, Sold by Robbins & McCord 3

A Newark gentleman advertises for a wife "who is pretty, but entirely ignorant of the fact."

Now Try This.

It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good, if you have a cough, cold, or any trouble with throat, chest or lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be paid back. Sufferers from La Grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottle free at Robbins & McCord's drug store. Large size 50c and $1.00. 3

While slicing a ham, a Pottstown, Pa., woman found a silver thimble imbedded therein.

Worth Ten Dollars

to any family, is Dr. Kaufmann's book on deseases; finely illustrated plates from life; don't be humbugged, but cure yourself. Send 3 2-cent stamps for postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy free.

There are 1,346 millionaires in New York city. In the entire country there are 4,204.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THE OLD MILL OF MYSTERY,

is now in operation and grinding out Summer Goods, at

REDUCED PRICES.

Challies, ginghams, satteens and tissues, all must go

THIS HARVEST!

Come and bring Grain Sacks. If you haven't got as many as you need, we can furnish the America at 20 cents, Stark A., 22 cents.

Come One, Come All

To The

HEADQUARTERS,

at the popular store of

MRS. M. JONES & SON.

Stand and Hanging Lamps.

AT

OLDS BROS,

SEBRING B'ld'g, AUBURN.

McElree's Wine of Cardui

and THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT are for sale by the following merchants in

DeKalb Co.:

Robbins & McCord,	Auburn,
F. E. Davenport,	"
J. D. Campbell,	Waterloo,
Willis & Co.,	"
Geo. Kehrer,	Butler,
S. G. Stone,	"
O. P. Raber,	Corunna,
W. M. Mercer,	"
J. M. Lefern,	Garrett,
Patterson Bros.,	St. Joe,
J. W. Wyatt,	Concord.

JAPANESE PILE CURE

A new and Complete Treatment, consisting of Suppositories, Ointment in Capsules, also in Box and Pills; a Positive Cure for External, Internal, Blind or Bleeding, Itching, Chronic, Recent or Hereditary Piles. This Remedy has never been known to fail. $1 per box, 6 for $5; sent by mail. Why suffer from this terrible disease when a written guarantee is positively given with 6 boxes, to refund the money if not cured. Send stamp for free sample. Guarantee issued by F. E. DAVENPORT.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

CORRESPONDENCE

WATERLOO.

Mrs. Story is in Toledo visiting relatives.

Some of our ladies went over to Auburn Monday.

O. P. Harrington of California, Mich., was in town last week.

W. L. Penfield of Auburn, addressed the republican club Friday evening.

The wires of the new telephone from Boston to Chicago are being put up.

Saturday last, W. E. and J. J. Carpenter of Defiance, O., visited friends here.

Rev. McCloe has been returned here to fill the pulpit of the U. B. church another year.

E. Ettinger and wife went to Angola Monday, where they expect to make their home.

Mrs. H. M. Finch, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Winslow, for nearly two weeks, returned to her home in Chicago.

Mrs. J. M. Hodge of Auburn, drove over here, Wednesday afternoon of last week, to call upon Mrs Winslow and her sister, Mrs. Finch of Chicago.

Scott Campbell and Nellie Newberry were married Sunday evening at the residence of Jesse Johnson. They will commence housekeeping in the rooms of Mr. Rinesmith.

Mr. Faucett has been very ill for two weeks with inflammation of the bowels, and other complications. His friends thought him better Monday, yet he is very sick. The son was sent for from Michigan and will remain for the present.

Rev. Healy preached a very interesting and excellent missionary sermon Sunday afternoon in the Presbyterian church from the text "Thy Kingdom Come." The singing was good and no lack of numbers, although so many popular musicians and singers who have left this place, have been from the Presbyterian church.

John Jackman, wife and sister, Mrs. Williams, and daughter, Madge, also, Dr. Darby and wife went up to Battle Creek, Mich. Mrs. Darby hopes to have her nervous system toned up, and to regain her strength there; Mrs. Williams to undergo an operation, while Mr. J. and wife seek advice and possibly treatment for their daughter.

The well that Giles Abbey had dug on his new property corner of Railroad and Franklin streets, after a time proving deficient, he is having a new one bored by the Showalter Bros. On the second well they were down about 70 feet, when they shot it with dynamite on account of so much rock; this not meeting with their expectations, they have commenced the third well, which is now about 80 feet down, and which has also been blasted. Mr. Abby is determined to persist until he owns a good well.

Ida and Rose Blair gave a reception to the Ladies' Minerva Club, Saturday evening, Sept. 10th, on which occasion the members generally were present, together with a few invited friends. About five o'clock a beautiful silver tea-set was sent to the residence for Miss Blair with compliments of the Minerva Club. The guests commenced arriving about seven o'clock, and after some time spent in pleasant conversation, refreshments, where everything was in perfection, was served, after which Miss Blair in a very touching little speech, thanked the members for their beautiful gift and their kindness to her. Ida Blair expects soon to be married, and go to her new home in the west, and this it was which prompted the gift spoken of above.

WATERLOO.
(LAST WEEK)

Mrs. Gill leaves for Petosky, Mich., some time this week.

Friends from Bryan, Ohio, visited Pliny Roby's family Sunday.

Bernice Rickel is at present in Addison, Mich., visiting friends there.

Mrs. H. M. Finch of Chicago, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. U. Winslow.

Tuesday Lulu Gale of Angola en route for Bryan, Ohio, called on Nellie Carpenter of this place.

Rev. Moot's family who have been visiting friends in Canada, have returned to their home here.

Thursday evening last, at a meeting of the people's party O. H. Ballard of Ft. Wayne, was the speaker of the occasion.

Monday a merry-go round was located on the east side of Wayne street opposite Brand's hotel, easy of access for the number of visitors who generally patronize them.

Work has commenced on Center st., where cement sidewalks are to be made the whole length of the west side. In front of the Evangelical church the walks are to be laid with flagstone.

Monday evening another street fakir visited Waterloo with wonderful goods to sell from his wagon. So many are swindled—yet their experience not only never teaches others, but seldom them selves.

The fine, wide flag-stone walk the length of the high school grounds, is completed, and is a great improvement of course. New cement or flagstone walks are being made from the point where the school walk terminated east to Wayne street.

The Free Methodist camp meeting on the fair grounds held their last meeting Tuesday evening. They were interestingly profitable and orderly, and attended by great numbers of people coming night after night, from long distances from the country in every direction.

Last week Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Waterman, Mrs. Winslow, Mrs. J. Dickinson and the Misses Blair of Waterloo, attended the reception at Auburn, given in honor of Dr. Lida Leasure by the members of the L. L. C. at the home of Mrs. Brown. The evening was bright moonlight, the commodious residence, handsomely decorated, and brightly illuminated, the refreshments dainty, and the entertainers perfect in their duties, the guests set as much at ease, as if at home, in short it was enjoyable in every particular. Dr. Leasure is a highly valued member of the L. L. C., her abilities are of high order, and the club must regret exceedingly her departure to her new home and new field of labor in Angola.

CORUNNA

Some of our people visited Ashley, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shook are the happy parents of a nice, little girl.

The farmers are rejoicing over the long looked-for for rain, which came so abundantly, this week.

Rev. Mr. Lutz preached in the M. E. church, Sunday evening, to a large and very appreciative audience.

The W. C. T. U., will hold a public meeting at the Christian church, Friday afternoon. All are cordially invited.

Miss Mabel Hartman, of Auburn, visited with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Trumbull, Saturday afternoon.

The Y. P. S. C., will give an entertainment at the Christian church, one week from Saturday evening. All are invited to attend.

Wm. Pattee has gone to Hamilton, to do some painting and decorating, and his wife is visiting her parents during his absence.

The merry old school bell is once more to be heard chiming its glad welcome to the restless boys and girls. The gay, guiltless and weary (?) urchins trudge their way to the fountain of learning and culture with that boyish unwillingness, which indicates a decided preference for a day's communion with all nature and the frogs. For them the hated school days have come, the most detested of the year.

BUTLER.
LAST WEEK.

Will Oberlin is said to be among the missing just now.

A daughter of Geo. Tappens, on North Pearl street is quite sick.

The aged mother of Mrs. P. B. Nimmons is dangerously sick.

A few of our people talk of going to the grand reunion at Washington this month.

John Black a railroad employed is also dangerously sick at Mr. Scoville's on Oak street.

Cyrus Handy son of Zebedee and Maria Handy died quite suddenly of typhoid fever last week.

The road between Butler and Ashley is kept moderately warm, by the frequent passage of some of our citizens to or from that rapidly growing village.

Died at her residence in Butler, Sept. 3, 1892, in the 72 year of her age, Elinor Headley. Elinor Carr, was born at Kittening, Armstrong county, Penn. Aug. 30, 1821. She removed with her parents to Stark county, O., in early youth, settling near Canal Fulton. Was married to Isaac Meese near that place Sept. 2, 1839. In 1852 she with her husband removed to DeKalb county, settling in Franklin township. To them was born one daughter, who became the wife of Alfred Kepler. She died soon after marriage. Mr. Meese died Jan. 15, 1864. About the year 1866 she became the wife of Samuel Headley whose death occurred at Butler, July 22, 1881 since which she, twice widowed and childless, has resided in Butler. Aunty Headley as she was familiarly known, was the youngest of thirteen children, all having preceded her in death, save one sister, Mrs. Pattee of Mt. Vernon, O. She was bright and cheerful in her declining years, a worthy christian, a member of the Christian church, and none who knew her had other than kind words about her. Her funeral took place from the Christian church Tuesday, Rev. Tanna officiating. Her remains were laid to rest beside those of her first husband in Hamilton cemetery.

CONCORD.
LAST WEEK.

Mamie and Ethel Keller are in Butler visiting.

Jas. Hennesy is building an addition to his house.

The kid band boys' profit of social Saturday evening was $10.50.

John Geisinger, wife and daughter, Annie, are visiting in Warsaw.

Will Wyatt of Hicksville is spending a few days with his sister, Lida.

B. A. Woodcox, our efficient trustee, and Will Smith were at the Hub Monday.

Fred and G. W. Morr visited their sick brother, Adam, at Auburn Junction Sunday.

J. K. Stafford sold five new buggies last week. One in Maysville, 2 in Garrett and the others in the country.

T. J. Rickets and family, Frank and Kert May drove over to Ashley, Sunday. Frank was looking all day for the boom.

G. W. Draggoo and daughter, drove over to Auburn Sunday, to visit Mrs. G. W. Reed who has been an invalid for several months.

Sunday while Mr. Koch's were absent, thieves entered and rummaged the house throughout. Between $20 and $30 of Ida and Della's money is missing.

Friday Mrs. J. B. Johnson pleasantly entertained Mrs. A. L. Culbertson, Mrs. Bert Robbins of Auburn, Mrs. C. A. Jenkins of St. Joe, Alice Draggoo, Mrs. Ella Baker and daughters, Blanche and Maud.

J. D. Leighty has remodeled, repainted and repapered his store building giving it a tasty appearance. At the rear you ascend a flight of stairs. On first landing is filled by gents' hats and a fine selection of carpets; 2nd floor heavily stocked with ready-made clothing for gents and ladies; back 2nd and 1st floor to the left you swing through the arch into the drug store presided over by Bert Patterson. Mr. Leighty having retired from the mercantile trade owing to pressure of other business, the business is speedily carried on by M. E. Olds, W. D. and C. A. Patterson and J. K. Stafford. O. O. Delong is still retained in the new firm's employ. Charlie Stafford is taking his first lessons in store keeping. M. E. and W. D. are lavish with their smiles and courtesy.

SUMMIT.

Henry Snowberger and wife visited Ashley Sunday.

A. A. Forney and family visited his brother at Hudson Sunday.

Mrs. Shull of Auburn, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. A. Conrad.

Henry Lawson and wife visited the latter's brother's at Pleasant Lake Sunday.

Mrs. Thomas of Hamilton, was the guest of Mrs. P. H. Grambling Thursday.

Adam Greenwood and family of Hamilton, moved in the Mottinger house last week.

Minor Corron and wife and Mrs Elijah Patrick of Ohio, were guests of Henry Lawson's Friday night.

There will be an ice cream social at Mrs. Catherine Kegaries Saturday eve, the 18th, for the benefit of Barker's church. All invited.

SUMMIT.
LAST WEEK.

Bert Penick was home over Sunday.

F. Sailer from west of Hudson, was on our streets Friday.

Ella Melendy from north of Hudson was in our town Monday.

Geo. Shorter from north of Hudson, was on our streets Monday.

R. T. Duncan and wife visited relatives in Pleasant Lake Monday.

Chas and Belle Work from west of Hudson were in our town Monday.

Simeon Hammon and wife visited Mrs. H's. parents, east of this place Sunday.

Mrs. Betsey Yethers and Mrs. Catherine Zimmerman have been on the sick list.

Mrs. Nettie Sharp of Hamilton is visiting her uncle P. H. Grambling's this week.

Mrs. R. T. Duncan and Mrs. Henry Lawson visited at Ashley and Hudson Saturday.

Wm. Penick of Iowa, is visiting his brothers, Joseph and John, in and near this vicinity.

Edward Smith and wife of Ligonier, are visiting relatives in and near this place at this writing.

Mrs. Marshal Lewis who has been visiting her parents near Waterloo returned home Saturday.

Henry Snowberger and Lem Colton with their wives visited Robert Snowberger near Angola Sunday.

Mrs. Kate Hilt went this week up to Cadilac, Mich., to visit her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Howel and three sisters.

The Penick Brothers and sisters all met at Elmer Clingerman's Sunday except one brother in Iowa and a sister in Lagrange.

DEKALB.
BY F. O. B.
LAST WEEK.

Measles in this vicinity.

All of the crops seem short this year.

Considerable sickness this fall, mostly among the little folks.

Emma Reed is married to Elmer Myers and lives in St Johns.

Mrs. Wm. Weygandt has been very sick but is better at present.

The Monitor Wind Mill Co., has put up three engines in sight of the postoffice.

The administrator of Anson Hall who died a few weeks ago, will have a sale of his personal property Sept. 9th.

Hard work to get out much of a wheat crop and the low price paid for it makes the farmers not care whether they sow much or not.

I find our old friend J. F. Housel behind the counter handing out the mail and selling goods almost below Ft. Wayne markets.

List of letters unclaimed in this office: Rev. T. C. Smith, Mrs. C. H. Richard, W. E. Purple, Esq., Geo. W. Woodcox, John Wright, O. B. Robbins; postal, Mrs. B. F. Ray.

The U. B. Conference.

Report of the stationing committee of North Ohio annual conference of the U. B. church held at Churubusco Sept. 7, 1892.

North District, S. P. Klotz, P. E.; Waterloo Circuit, A. F. McCloe; Steuben, D. Tedrow; Branch, J. H. Wagoner; Sugar Grove, J. C. Albright; Mt. Pleasant, L. Durler; Montpelier, S. H. Yager; West Unity, B. F. Thomas; Waldren, J. S. Smith; Pioneer, A. M. Smith; Delta, S. O. Fink; Raisin, W. W. Landis; Monroe, C. C. Manning; Hillsdale to be supplied.

South District:—D. B. Keller, P. E.; Black Creek, John Hight; Hicksville, J. W. Lilly; Newville, D. C. Sheldon; Hopewell Mission to be supplied; Churubusco, C. M. Eberly; Butler, J. S. Tedrow Bryan, C. E. Moorman; Stryker, J. Row; Wauseon, I. W. Lowman; Mt. Carmel, H. H. Bank; Maumee, S. L. Valentine; Sherwood, J. W. Martin.

Strange Corners of our Country.

You all know of the Natural Bridge in Virginia; and perhaps have heard how the first and greatest President of the United States, in the athletic vigor of his youth, climbed up and carved his name high on its cliff. A very beautiful and picturesque spot it is, too; but many of them would not begin to make one of the Natural Bridge of which I am going to tell you—one in the western edge of the Tonto Basin, Arizona, in the same general region as Montezuma's Well and Castle; but it is even less known.

The Natural Bridge of Pine Creek, Arizona, is to the world's natural bridges what the Grand Canon of the Colorado is to the world's chasms—the greatest, the grandest, the most bewildering. It is truly entitled to rank with the great natural wonders of the earth—as the Natural Bridge in Virginia is not. No photograph can give more than a hint of its majesty; no combination of photographs more than hints.

—Charles F. Lummis, in September St. Nicholas.

Good Lands, Cheap Homes.

Come to Missouri and own your own home. Ripley county, on the southern border, a green spot. Good market, big crops, unsurpassed fruit, fine lands, abundance of the purest sparkling water, most hospitable, sociable, neighborly people in the world; only one colored person in the county; cool summers warm winters; population of Ripley county, 9,000, Doniphan, 1,000. Paradise for men of moderate means. Best farms $5 to $10 per acre, best wild lands $1 to $3, large bodies for colonies cheap. For full particulars and lists call on or address,

T. W. & R. L. MABREY, Doniphan, Mo

29

Don't You Know

that you can secure almost immediate relief from Indigestion, and that uncomfortable fullness after meals, by simply taking a dose of Simmons Liver Regulator? Some people think that because it is called Liver Regulator it has nothing to do with Indigestion and the like. It is the inaction of the Liver that causes Indigestion, and that fullness; also Constipation, and those Bilious Headaches. Millions have been made to understand this and have been cured from these troubles by Simmons Liver Regulator—a medicine unfailing and purely vegetable.

From Rev. M. B. Wharton, Baltimore, Md

"It affords me pleasure to add my testimony to the great virtues of Simmons Liver Regulator. I have had experience with it, as occasion demanded, for many years, and regard it as the greatest medicine of the times. So good a medicine deserves universal commendation.

SULPHUR BITTERS

ARE YOU low spirited and suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, Sulphur Bitters will cure you.

Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored? Don't wait! Your KIDNEYS are being ruined. Use Sulphur Bitters. One bottle of Sulphur Bitters will do you more good than all the Latin prescriptions of drugs and mineral poisons which will remain in your system, destroy your bones, and make you a poor, weak, and broken down invalid. No person can remain long sick who uses Sulphur Bitters. If is covered with ugly sores, and festering Pimples, give her Sulphur Bitters. Ladies in delicate health, who are all run down, should use Sulphur Bitters. None better.

YOUR DAUGHTER'S FACE

Try Sulphur Bitters TO-NIGHT, and you will sleep well and feel better for it. Sulphur Bitters will make your blood pure, rich and strong and your flesh hard. Get a bottle now.

ARE YOU nervous and fretty, or in DELICATE health? Sulphur Bitters will make a new person of you.

Send 3 2-cent stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., for best medical work published.

A cannon ball was recently fired nearly seven miles from an eighty-ton gun in Dover England.

Read Carefully.

Messrs. Dullam Bros.—Gentlemen:—For over 4 years I have been afflicted with an eruption of the skin, which became very troublesome, and I could get no relief. I was also troubled very badly with constipation, which nothing I tried gave any permanent relief, until I took Dullam's Great German Blood, Liver Stomach and Kidney Remedy, and since taking I have been entirely cured. For a tonic, blood purifier and general health restorer I can heartily recommend it. $1 a bottle.

MRS. WM. COPELAND, Flint, Mich.

It will be twenty years on Nov. 9 next, since the great fire in Boston destroyed $100,000,000 worth of property.

What Makes a Beautiful Woman.

Elkhart, Ind., July 1, 1891.

Dullam's Great German Medicine Co:

My daugrter has been afflicted with female trouble for over six years, and I have paid out over $750 in vain trying to find relief for her. A lady friend advised her to secure a bottle of Dullam's Great Female Uterine Tonic, and she has been completely cured by it. We gave it a fair trial and the results were wonderful. We cannot recommend it too highly to all ladies who are afflicted.

BENJAMIN GRANGER.

For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

A scheme is now worked in Scotland by which a high grade of brick is being made from chipped granite and clay.

Only One Bottle.

Mr. Arthur Fisher, a reliable stock dealer, of Decatur, Ind., says: One dollar bottle of Dr. Marshal's Lung Syrup completely cured me of a very annoying cough and pains in the chest, bordering on lung fever. I think it is the best cough Syrup in the world, and would not do without it. Resp. Yours,

A. M. FISHER.

Nickel 3-cent pieces of 1877 are worth 75 cents each, while those of 1878, 1882, 1885 and 1886 are worth 5 cents each.

The New Great South American Kidney Cure.

The acknowledged superior cure and immediate relief for all derangements, painfulness and decay of the kidneys or bladder, Bright's disease, diabetes or any complaint that hurts or despoils either of these delicate organs. This new remedy has been thoroughly tested by learned physicians and found far superior to any medicine yet discovered for quickly relieving all weaknesses, aches, pains and distresses arising from disease of any part of the urinary passages. It is a great relief for the old, middle aged and children, male or female. It relieves at once retention and pain in passing water, and it is very effective in relieving prostatic troubles in the old, and for nightly incontinence of water in children, or others, caused by weakness of the bladder. It may be worth to many a hundred times its cost. This is a remedy of great value to ladies, because they are very liable to weakness and pain peculiar to their sex. Sold by Robbins & McCord, druggists, Auburn, Ind. tf

The railway companies of the United Kingdom pay £3,500 a day, as compensation for injuries done to passengers.

SANTA CLAUS
S.C.
SOAP

I am a Trav'ling man! I'll tell you of my plan.
In spite of all temptation
I pursue my old vocation,
I'm still a Trav'ling man! A jolly Fairbank man!

CHORUS:
For he himself has said it,
And it's greatly to his credit,
That he is a Trav'ling man! That he is a Fairbank man!

SANTA CLAUS SOAP

Sold by Traveling men and Grocers Everywhere. Manufactured only by

N. K. FAIRBANK & CO., Chicago, Ill.

What is
CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY, Boston, Mass.

ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

VOLUME XXII. AUBURN, DE KALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 22, 1892. NUMBER 38

EVERYBODY

Should know that we have just received the largest and finest selection of cooking and heating stoves ever brought to Auburn. They were bought for less money than ever before; therefore we

CAN

and will save you a handsome margin on every stove you buy. A fine variety of stove boards and an endless variety of patterns of oil cloth rugs and floor oil cloth. A fine line of sporting goods, consisting of guns, revolvers and all kinds of ammunition. If you need a Sewing Machine, you should see the STANDARD before buying. Builders' hardware of all kinds, paints, oils, etc. A fine assortment of table and pocket cutlery, granite ware, blue ware, tin and copper ware in all kinds, sizes and shapes. We are headquarters for lamps,—and in fact everything to be found in a first-class hardware store. Remember you can

SAVE MONEY

by trading with us.

W. H. KIBLINGER,

AUBURN, IND.

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—In Effect May 15 1892.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations—	Mail.	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne....dp	11 50 am	4 40 pm	6 40 am
New Era	12 18 pm	5 15	7 27
Auburn Junc	12 28	5 27	7 48
Auburn	12 32	5 36	8 32
Waterloo	12 43	5 41	9 24
Summit	12 56	5 53	9 45
Pleasant Lake	1 05	6 06	10 12
Angola	1 14	6 16	10 50
Jackson	3 30	8 40	5 00

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations—	Freight	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson........dp	6 45 am	11 15 am	6 30 am
Angola	12 25 pm	2 08 pm	8 51
Pleasant Lake	1 04	2 20	9 01
Summit	1 25	2 32	9 11
Waterloo	2 30	2 56	9 24
Auburn	3 07	3 07	9 34
Auburn Junc	3 38	3 11	9 38
New Era	4 05	3 22	9 50
Fort Wayne	5 25	3 55	10 25

For rates on tickets or freight to all points, call on or address E. T. DELAPP, Agent at Auburn

GET THE BEST!

EXCEL IN QUALITY, BEAUTY, TONE AND FINISH.

THE CROWN PIANOS & ORGANS GEO. P. BENT MANUFACTURER CHICAGO.

FOR SALE ON EASY TERMS BY

WES. H. HUSSELMAN,

Waterloo. - - - Ind.

Good Lands, Cheap Homes.

Come to Missouri and own your own home. Ripley county, on the southern border, a garden spot. Good market, big crops, unsurpassed fruit, fine lands, abunbance of the purest sparkling water, most hospitable, sociable, neighborly people in the world; only one colored person in the county: cool summers warm winters; population of Ripley county, 9,000, Doniphan, 1,000 Paradise for men of moderate means. Best farms $5 to $10 per acre, best wild lands $1 to $5 large bodies for colonies cheap. For full particulars and lists call on or address,

T. W. & R. L. MABREY, Doniphan, Mo 39

HARVEST EXCURSIONS—HALF RATES

August 30th and Sept. 27th.

The Burlington Route will sell round trip tickets at half rates, good to the cities and farming regions of the West, Northwest and Southwest. Eastern, Ticket Agents will sell through tickets on the same plan. See that hey read over the Burlington Route, the best line from Chicago, Peoria, Quincy and St. Louis. For further information write P. S. EUSTIS, General Passenger Agent Chicago.

Low Rate Harvest Excursion.

The anouncement that the North-Western Line, comprising over 8,000 miles of thoroughly equipped railways, has arranged to run two low rate Harvest Excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by those who are interested in the development of the great West and Northwest, as by those who desire to visit this wonderfull productive region at a season of the year when exact demonstration can be made of the merits and advantages it offers to home-seekers and those in search of safe and profitable investments. These excursions will leave Chicago on August 30th and Sept. 27th, and tickets can be purchased at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip to points in Iowa, Minnesote, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho and Montana. They will be strickly first-class in every particular and will be good for return passage at any time within twenty days from date of purchase. Full information, concerning rates and arrangments for these excursions can be obtained upon application to any coupon ticket agent, or to W. A. Thrall, G. P. T. A., Chicago & North Western R'y, Chicago. 38

The Mountains of Colorado.

Denver, Estes Park, Colorado Springs, Manitou and Glenwood Springs, may be reached from Chicago or St. Louis via the Burlington Route fast vestibuled express trains, handsomely equipped with every modern improvement. Write P. S. Eustis, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, for particulars.

The British building at the World's fair will have among its decorations, flags bearing the arms of the principal cities of the United Kingdom.

Every Christian Mother

should be careful with her children. This damp atmosphere of our climate often bring on coughs, colds, etc., which if not attended to in time lead to that dreaded disease, consumption. To prevent this it is the duty of all mothers to have a remedy near, to check these coughs that your children may contract, and you cannot get a safer and more reliable remedy than Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup, the children's friend. You can buy this for 25 cts. of all druggists.

Seats for 125,000 people are to be provided in the great Manufactures building at the World's fair for the dedication exercises on Oct. 21.

A Thoughtful Person

consults his best interests by having a box of Krause's Headache Capsules at hand; taken as directed will prevent, or stops any kind of a headache, no matter what the cause,—in fact if your skull was cracked it would prevent pain. The frequency of the attacks will diminish, and by taking the capsules at the approach of a headache, you will never have another.—For sale by Davenport.

Aurora is afflicted with Ta-ra-ra-boom-de-ay" and wouldn't mind a dose of cholera if it would drive the song out of town.

Sleep on Left Side.

Many persons are unable to sleep on their left side. The cause has long been a puzzle to physicians. Metropolitan papers speak with great interest of Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent Indiana specialist in nervous and heart diseases, who has proven that this habit arises from a diseased heart. He has examined and kept on record thousands of cases. His New Heart Cure, a wonderful remedy is sold at F. E. Davenport. Thousands testify to its value as a cure for heart diseases. Mrs. Chas. Benoy, Loveland, Col., says its effects on her were marvelous. Elegant book on heart disease free. 4

The foot ball season will soon break out in the Indiana colleges and they're going to have it worse then ever this season.

I Am Proud

to say from personal experience that Sulphur Bitters, which advertisement will be seen in another column, is the best spring and blood medicine to be found. It is prepared by an honest firm, who scorn to use cheap and worthless medicines, but use the best that money can buy.

AUBURN AND VICINITY.

Some Reminiscences of its Early Days and Pioneer Citizens.

1865—Continued.

On December 20, 1864, a number of substantial citizens of Auburn and vicinity formed an association for the purpose of manufacturing woolen goods.

The founders and stockholders of this enterprise were S. W. Sprott, John Brandon, Christian Buss, Thomas D. Gross, Sylvester Kutzner, Lewis Bower, Joseph D. Davis and Christian Sheets.

They perfected their organization under the corporate name of "The Auburn Woolen Manufacturing Company" and placed the amount of capital stock at $20,000 divided into shares of $50 each.

The parties named were equally interested in the sum of their holdings to the extent of $1,500 each. They projected the construction of a large commodious three story brick building suitable for the purposes of wool-carding, spinning and cloth weaving and purchased for their site, a lot situated across the street south from the present county jail.

It was proposed to have the building completed, the machinery in place and ready for operation by the middle of August 1865, and it spoke well for the future that by Feb. 1st most of the brick, stone and timber were on the ground and the machinery had been contracted.

There is always in ambitious small towns a zeal for novel projects which shall enlarge their boundaries, increase their population and enhance their wealth and consequent importance. It usually finds its expression in calls for the location of manufacturies without taking into account their feasibility on which must rest their stability through local advantages. Where these unconsidered ventures have been made in response to such demands, an element of uncertainty invariably results.

Auburn with other towns has seen the starting of these projects, has suffered lightly from their failures which have not deterred sagacious business men from planting here permanent industries.

We can readily recall without naming them, business enterprises in which capitalists lost their investments and employes were thrown out of work through premature action and financial and business mismanagement, while we have seen others from small, safe beginnings, growing with the growth of the town fostered by merited patronage, and aided by favorable avenues of transportation, till they have become fixed features of our prosperity, remunerative to owners and the support of many families of workmen.

Of the latter class, were the men who composed the woolen company; they had long been residents of Auburn and knew its wants and its capacity; they had studied the prospects of such a mill as they designed to operate and had wisely decided that it would add greatly to the business of the town and the convenience of the farming community.

The building three stories high was sixty-two by forty-two feet in dimension and a one story annex was built along the entire east side, eighteen feet wide for engine and furnace. A dye house was erected, tubs were put in place, piping affixed and the looms, twelve in number got in running order.

The brick work was done by Francis Picker, master brick mason, and the woodwork by Thomas Baldock. Successively, the engine was received and placed, then the boiler and the machinery and early in June, the company had begun to advertise for and take in wool.

Joseph W. McKay had been secured as a capable foreman and George Miller employed as spinner, while Henry Kelling was engaged as engineer.

The notable Fourth of July celebration of this year later described, terminated in a grand ball on the floor of the new factory building. It was a sort of opening and a large number of the elite of town and country were present. A gay and happy time was had dancing to music by Messrs. Miller and Hoover, of Waterloo, and the entertainment closed by a supper at the Weaver House.

Everything being ready, on August 2, the furnace fires were lighted, steam was raised in the boiler and the machinery set in motion.

Mr. Sprott one of the founders of the mill and secretary of the company invited patronage and soon large quantities of wool began to come in.

It was a pride and curiosity of townspeople to see the work of carding, weaving, fulling and different processes from the fleece to the excellent cloth made and it was peculiarly, but none the less truthfully stated that "the farmers of DeKalb county could now spin their yarn, pay their taxes, do their courting and get their grists all at the county seat."

For ten years, the woolen factory was an Auburn industry of which its population was proud. From time to time improvements were effected and with its 220 spinnets, its looms and other machinery, its capacity was equal to the manufacture into cloth of 100 lbs of wool per day.

One day in November 1875 the factory was seen to be on fire, set by an incendiary, in the third story. Citizens rallying got out much of the contents of the lower stories and saved the annex containing the engine but without fire apparatus and accelerated by the combustible character of the interior, the flames destroyed the main building.

The property passed into the hands of Joseph. Shilling who was appointed receiver and was by him variously disposed of.

With several looms, Patrick Murphy started up a small factory in the brewery building on North Main street. George Schaab for a time was manager and George A. Porter bought the plant in 1884. Adding machinery and operating the factory till 1887, a half interest was sold to Ezra Ensley and in the spring of 1879, Mr. Porter sold his remaining interest to George H. Forkner, and Messrs. Ensley & Forkner are quietly doing a good business as present successors to to the first woolen factory.

(To be continued next week.)

COMMISSIONERS' ALLOWANCES.

September Term, 1892.

AID TO POOR.

Henry Stomm	$ 12 00
J Simon	6 50
Chas. W Welker	10 00
Moore & Merica	50 00
Murphy & Bowman	106 25
Children's Aid Society	88 40
Fred Schulthess	12 00
Wyatt & Flint	3 82
Fred B Wood	34 00
S Thompson	5 00
J D Leighty	22 50
J A Clevinger	85 00
A J Kimmel	8 75
Speer & Co	12 00
Frank Broughton	35 00
Mary M Sponhouer	3 20
Wm Merica	7 45
Wm Bevier	2 00
S G Stone	25 00
G D Webster	6 24
Jos Rectenwald	8 00
Chas W Camp	31 45
John Kruger	12 00
W F Shumaker	24 50
W P Carpender	2 50
W H Nusbaum	34 75
Jos Rainier	2 50
J D Campbell	1 30
C C Shaffer	32 50
J Beck & Son	12 38
Knisely Dry Goods store	5 01
T J Carpenter	25 78
J A Potter	1 35
Grueter Bros	29 67
S W Otis	17 00
H J Crooks	12 40
M D Ober	5 00
B A Woodcox	4 50
J O Blake	14 00
J M Waterman	12 00
Schaab & Murphy	8 40
F N Beidler	5 00
F E Davenport	9 80
F A Hoff	42 82
Schnell & Weeks	14 70
W P Harter	27 38
W H Kiblinger	9 27
Robbins & McCord	3 60
J R Steves	1 50
W S Purdy	5 00
Jos Rainier	18 97
Schaab & Bro	17 73
J N Wilson & Son	4 00
A J & G M Ralston	9 55
M M Bowen	3 60
Wm McClellan	32 63
M Jones & Son	30 85
John Kruger	15 05
Campbell & Son	6 35
C P Glazier	222 70
Ida Hough	3 00
Frank Boren	48 86
J A Clifton	34 70
J A Potter	1 50
Casebeer & Matheny	4 45
Brown, Culbertson & Boland	167 56
John L Davis	8 32
Wm R Coburn	30 00
Hebel Bros	28 78
D J Sebring	2 50
R S S Reed	16 05
J V Lewis	19 00
George Kehrer	6 60
Kenyon & Thumma	7 90
B S Sheffer	24 75
Miller Bros	6 00
St Joe Valley Bank	9 00
Geo Waggoner	1 50
F G Fried	1 25

ROADS AND BRIDGES.

Scott & Kail	31 23
H N Coffinberry	79 20
W L Penfield	7 50
J H Conrad	2 50
G M Henderson	3 00
B A Woodcox	158 67
Jas Leeson	15 25
Phil Plum	14 10
J M Grube	1 50

FEES AND SALARIES.

H N Coffinberry	674 82
R Sawvel	200 00
C M Merica	256 00
S Kutzner	33 00
H J Shafer	25 00
Geo A Bishop	69 20

MISCELLANEOUS.

H D Chamberlain	5 00
M Jones & Son	40
H E Tront	1 00
A J & G M Ralston	1 25
G M Crane	8 00
V Steffe	2 00

INQUESTS.

L D Miser	64 55
C R Dyer	25 00
Hamilton & Kimmel	30 00

PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

C C Shaffer	75
Brown Culbertson & Boland	16 10
Auburn Mining Co	46 39
A J & G M Ralston	55
Jos Pfefferl	5 00
C Cloy	7 50
W P Harter	1 13
Newton Soule	9 45
J H Baker	17 55
Olds Bros	57

STATIONERY.

Stevens & Campbell	16 40
C M Merica	10 00
M B Willis	10 20
J A Barns	94 06
F E Davenport	25 10
A J Little	21 40
R Sawvel	10 00
J M Hook	97
G M Crane	2 26
Robbins & McCord	37 10
O H Downey	64 75
W B Burford	482 89
F W Willis	14 75
J A Barns	2 50
O H Downey	31 00
A J Little	3 00
O H Downey	14 00

CRIMINALS.

Phil Plum	189 30

DITCHES.

J M Hook	246 00
D N Myers	39 00
L Beckman	5 90
Wm E Ryan	37 50
Byron Rainier	18 00

Commissioners' Court.

The following ditch work was done.

DITCH PETITIONS.

Andrew Baxter ditch, Franklin township: viewers: G. H. Duncan, Daniel Gonser, Daniel Hamman. Meet at source. Oct. 3.

Samuel Hawver, Butler township; (amended petition) viewers: John Yard, John Cattell, O. C. Clark. Meet at source, Oct. 10.

The John Bemenderfer joint ditch in Steuben and DeKalb was viewed Sept. 12.

DITCHES ESTABLISHED.

The A. Kepler in Franklin; E. Case in Concord; Henry Kline, Concord; George Shoner, Smithfield. Final reports to be made Sept. 24.

DITCH REMONSTRANCES.

W. R. Emerson, Troy, remonstrance; reviewers appointed: R. S. S. Reed, R. N. Crooks, A. H. Provines. Meet at source Oct. 17.

Jacob Magginis, Jackson; reviewers: C. Curie, Willis Bisop, John Wilson. Meet at source, Sept. 26.

C. Kelley, Smitfield; reviewers: Samuel Morr, John Yard, W. H. Jackman. Meet at source, Oct. 17.

Isaac Dirrim; reviewers: Samuel Hawver, George May, D. D. Metcalf. Meet at source, Sept. 26.

ROADS.

Anna E. Triplet road, Richland and Grant; the Geo. Noirot road in Union and Wilmington; the John Grambling road in Smithfield were all established.

Remonstrance against the Charles A. Fry road on the Ohio line; reviewers: B. Casey, John Lane, Wm. Oberlin. Meet at D. W. Weitz' office, Nov. 1.

Whetsel roak in Butler township; reviewers: Eli Walker, L. A. Henning, B. F. Cornelius. Meet at auditor's office, Sept. 23.

F. Schlusser Smithfield; reviewers: Henry Hines, John H. Gill, Solomon Shilling. Meet at auditor's office, Sept. 29.

The petition to incorporate the town of Ashley, or at least, that part lying in DeKalb county, came before the board. It recited the bounds of the new town, and stated that 28 souls were represented, 10 being voters. The board granted the petition and set Sept. 27th, for the election to see if the people want to incorporate. We understand that Steuben county, has also granted the same petition from the people on that side of the line.

A Mute Recovers Speech.

Alphonse Hemphling, of Summit township, Butler Co. Penn. made an affidavit that his twelve-year-son, who had had St. Vitus dance for twelve years, lost his speech, was completely cured after using three bottles of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and also recovered his speech. Thousands testify to wonderful cures from using it for nervous diseases, dyspepsia, nervous debility, dullness, confusion of mind, headache, etc. Four doses of this Nervine cured Mrs. W. E. Burns, South Bend, Ind., who had been suffering with constant headache for 3 months. Trial bottle and elegant book free at F. E. Davenport's. 4

Man-Faced Crabs in Japan.

One of the most singular-looking creatures that ever walked the earth, or "swam the waters under the earth," is the world-famous man-faced crab, of Japan. Its body is hardly an inch in length, yet the head is fitted with a face which is the perfect counterpart of a Chinese coolie—a veritable missing link, with eyes, nose and mouth all clearly defined. This curious and uncanny creature, besides the great likeness it bears to a human being in the face, is provided with two legs which seem to grow from the top of its head and hang down over the side of its face.—Chicago Herald.

A Strike.

This has been a great year for strikes of every sort, and people have become accustomed to hearing of them. But the most unique and unexpected strike ever, thought of, was the strike spoken of by the Philadelphia Inquirer, regarding the right of ladies to the honor of gentlemen. It is as follows:

There has been recently a unique ladies' strike in Germany, in one of the garrison towns. The conduct of the men, who neglected the unmarried ladies in order to dance with the wives of their friends and acquaintances, displeased the slighted maidens and their mothers and at the last regimental ball not an unmarried girl was present.

DR PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder.

Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

NEW GOODS,
NEW GOODS.
NEW GOODS!

More than ever before!

Dry Goods, Clothing, Carpets,
FURNITURE.

All new styles and sure to please you.

DRESS GOODS

perfectly beautiful.

LADIES' WRAPS

the same.

CLOTHING

for young and old. Nothing but the best of workmanship, and goods that are honest and give the best of satisfaction.

Trade with us, it will pay you.

SCHAAB & BRO.

RICKEL

— AND —

SPROTT

Real Estate Agents.

Loan Agents.

Rail R ad Agents.

Steamship Agents.

Western Land Ag'ts.

Emigration Agents.

FARMS.

80 acres unimproved land in Keyser township, within one mile of Garrett. This is a fare chance. Long time and easy terms. No better land in the county, and not a foot that cannot be tilled.

Farms in Kansas Nebraska, Arkansas, Dakotas and Minnesota, to sell on the grain plan. No cash payments required. No mortgage. Payments made by products of farms. Write for full particulars,

20 acres of land in Richland township. Land all cleared and fenced. Price $45 per acre. Part on time.

70-acre farm within 2½ miles of Auburn Good log house, two good wells, 7 acres timber; balance cleared and in good state of cultivation. Price $45 per acre in small payments.

81 acres good land near St. Joe, Ind., in the St. Joe River valley. Good 5-room house, 2 good barns, orchard, well, etc. 50 acres cleared, balance in timber. Will be sold cheap and on long time.

6 acres land in Alexandria County, Virginia, unimproved. Lies within 4 miles of the Capitol Buildings at Washington, D. C. Elegant site for fruit farm. Long time, easy terms.

80-acre farm in Jackson township. 2-story, 7-room brick dwelling, barn 32 x 64, orchard of 80 trees, and small fruits of all kinds. 65 acres cleared, balance in timber. Excellent productive soil. Easy price and long time.

40 acres of good land lying 6 miles east of Auburn. Good log house, barn, orchard of 16 bearing apple trees, good fences, and well. 34 acres under cultivation, balance in timber.

Farm of 103 acres of land east of Auburn, 4 miles, Large 2 story frame dwelling house, two barns, large orchard and small fruits, wells, and farm well tiled. Farm in good state of cultivation. Price $75 per acre. Long time and easy payments.

Farm of 80 acres within ½ mile of Auburn. Well adapted to gardening and growing small fruits. Will be sold on long time with good cash payments.

80 acre farm in Jackson township, under fine state of cultivation, good buildings, good fences, plenty of fruit of the choicest varieties. 10,000 tile laid. This is an easy mark and can be bought cheap.

TOWN PROPERTIES.

No. 351. 1½-story frame house of 5 rooms, 15 fruit trees, in good thrifty condition, good well, chicken park, etc, In McIntyre's addition, Price $600.

Vacant lot in Shaffer, Boland & Robbins addition. Price $85.00.

1½ story frame dwelling and frame barn in southeast part of town. Cheap for all cash.

1½ frame dwelling house 16x26 and wing 16x26 and 1½ lots in St. Joe, Ind, Some fruit, good cistern. Price $800, on long time.

Good residence property, located on South Jackson street, 1½ story frame dwelling, barn, wood house, well and cistern. Price $300 cash, balance in yearly payments,

Two very desirable building lots in Baxter & McClellan's addition. Easy price and terms.

An elegant residence property in the Natural Gas addition. For full descriptionof this property call at our office.

We have lands in the Western States for sale on the GRAIN PLAN. You give a share of crop each year, until the land is paid for. No cash needed! No mortgage given! No crops, no payment, therefore no foreclosure.

Write or call on us for full particulars of this plan, and instead of renting and giving your crop away, buy land on the

GRAIN PLAN,

and so make a payment on your own farm.

Land is good in quality and as productive as any land in Indiana. Well located, near good markets in good neighborhoods, and near schools.

Office Under

Farmers Bank,

AUBURN, IND.

Auburn Courier.
AUBURN, INDIANA.
JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

1892		SEPTEMBER.				1892
Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
●	●	●	●	1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30	●
●	●	●	●	●	●	●

NEWS IN BRIEF GUSTS

BLOWN IN FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

A Monster Parade of the G. A. R. at the National Capital — Rockaway Block Swept by Fire—A Fall from Grace—Mrs. Harrison Doing Nicely — Drowned in a Slop Jar.

WITH FLYING FLAGS.

Old Army Veterans Trod the Same Paths of Days Gone By.

A Washington special, dated 21st inst., says: Throughout the entire afternoon Pennsylvania avenue from the Capitol to Twenty-second street, was given over to marching veterans with flying flags, bands of music and elastic step. The old boys of 1861 paraded over the same route that they traversed then.

From the Sixth Massachusetts regiment, which came first to defend the National Capitol, down to the last enlistments, these thousands of men had all experienced the hardships and horrors of war.

To the grizzled and weather-beaten soldiers this annual meeting is a reunion where he can renew the pleasant relations with those who shared his sufferings and dangers. Every available spot along the line of march was occupied by spectators who gave each organization an enthusiastic welcome and generous applause.

Ex-President Hayes, who marched on foot, was greeted with every token of respect and consideration. Gen. Benjamin F. Butler was among those singled out as the recipient of special attention from the spectators.

Each band selected its own music and found popular favor without any discrimination. "Maryland, My Maryland," was greeted with the same applause that was given to "Auld Lang Syne." There was not a dull moment in the day, not a platoon that was uninteresting. The vets knew it too, for they looked their best and stepped out with all the agility they possessed, proud of recognition they were receiving.

The parade, which began at 10:50 a. m., was concluded at 6:30 p. m., almost seven hours being consumed in passing a given point.

A BIG BLAZE.

Rockaway Beach Is Swept by Fire.

A special from Rockaway, N. Y., dated the 21st inst., says: The most disastrous conflagration that has ever visited this seaside resort was finally mastered at about 7 o'clock this evening, after several hours of hard fighting. For a while it seemed as though the fire was beyond all human control and the general belief was that it would burn while there was material to feed it. The local fire department was badly hampered in its efforts by the lack of water. The area burned over is from thirty to fifty acres, and where formerly there was a long line of hotels, bathing houses, carousals, etc., is now a mass of smouldering ruins, with here and there a vigorous sheet of flame shooting up. All the buildings on Henry street to Pier avenue, and those on First and Seaside avenues are a mass of ruins. The Seaside Museum, Falois Hotel, Meissmer's Hotel, William Burgess' Hotel, Murray and Datz's Hotel, and the Grand Ocean Hotel are all burned. The loss is estimated all the way from $500,000 to $1,500,000, but a conservative estimate places the loss at the first named amount. Insurance small.

Premature Discharge of a Cannon.

While Light Battery "F" of the Third Artillery was firing a salute at Washington a large crowd gathered about the cannons. A squad of policemen were sent for to disperse the crowd, and while they were at work getting the people out of danger the cannon was prematurely discharged. Policemen Speer, Brown, Austin, Murphy, and Pearson were painfully injured about the head and face by the powder, and C. V. Billert, David Shindollar of Spencerville, O., J. A. Bradley of Illinois, and Mrs. Mary Liggett were also injured.

Burglar Shot.

Wilbur F. Warner, living at Kirkwood, a suburb of St. Louis, emptied the contents of a shot-gun into the breast of a burglar who had ransacked his dwelling, and who was attempting to re-enter the house. On finding himself mortally wounded the burglar drew his revolver and fired a bullet into his brain, dying almost instantly. He was identified as a man named Hill, living in the neighborhood, and who had hitherto borne a good reputation.

Grand Officers of the I. O. O. F.

The Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows elected the following officers: Grand Sire, C. F. Campbell of London, Ont.; Deputy Grand Sire, J. W. Stebbins of New York; Grand Secretary, Theodore Ross of Newark, N. J.; Grand Treasurer, Isaac A. Shepherd of New York.

A Southern Duel.

Albert Fuller and Henry Casper fought a fatal duel at Gold Ridge, Ala., Casper being killed and Fuller fatally shot. An old quarrel caused the affair.

Drowned in a Slop-Jar.

The young son of John Kopka, a farmer living near Winamac, Ind., while playing outdoors accidentally fell into an earthen jar filled with slop, where he was found an hour afterward, dead.

Mrs. Harrison Doing Nicely.

Mrs. Harrison's condition is so much improved that she has been removed to Washington. She stood the long journey nicely.

Denounce the Governor.

Intense indignation is expressed at Memphis over the pardoning of convicts sent up from that city. The clemency of the Governor is attributed to a revengeful feeling because citizens of Memphis burned him in effigy after he commuted the sentence of H. Clay King.

Fire in New York.

George Meyer's carriage factory, in the rear of 225 and 227 East 36th street, New York, was destroyed by fire. The flames extended to Charles Fit's furniture factory, 222 and 224 East 37th street, and the furniture factory of F. Vogel & Co., both of which were more or less damaged.

TO TAKE NO RISKS.

Every Effort Will Be Made to Keep Cholera Out of the World's Fair City.

If Chicago is going to have the cholera bacilli they are coming in here by very underhand means, for the Health Department is drawing a net around the city, close meshed and specially adapted for the capture of the ring-tailed comma bacillus, otherwise the cholera germ, says a dispatch. Municipal and State authorities have met to keep out the dread destroyer, and the very ample character of their precautions is calculated at all events to prevent any unnecessary alarm on the part of the people of this city. A scare of course arose when the cases from New York were heard of here, but even though they are sporadic it does not follow that the wave, if such it be, is bound westward, and if medical authorities know anything about the eccentricities of the cholera germ it is not coming here. A conference was held, participated in by Health Commissioner Ware, Dr. F. W. Reilly, Secretary of the State Board of Health; Gen. Jos. Torrence, and Comptroller May, at which a dispatch was received from Detroit asking if Chicago would join with sixteen other cities in an attempt to effectually stop immigrants from infected districts coming into the country, and for that purpose petition the President to stop all immigrants from entering the country for ninety days. The Mayor replied that Chicago would join in the petition, not for ninety days, but until all danger of a cholera epidemic is passed.

BATTLED WITH SMUGGLERS.

Texas Cowboys Fight with Mexican Cattle Thieves—Five Men Killed.

A ranchman living near Presidio, Texas, brings news to San Antonio of a sensational conflict between cowboys and a band of Mexican smugglers, which occurred the other night fifteen miles north of Presidio. An organized gang of desperate outlaws have been making war on the stockmen for some time, and owing to the poor protection afforded them the losses of cattle have been heavy. The smugglers are led by Solio Mendoza and their plan of operations has been to make a raid upon some ranch on this side of the border at night and drive the cattle across the river into Mexico, where they would be driven into the mountains and later on find their way into Mexican markets. The other night Mendoza and ten comrades reached the ranch of Michael Lendover, twenty miles north of Presidio. They started to drive off about 500 head of cattle. A Mexican herder gave the alarm and twenty-five cowboys started in pursuit. A running fire with Winchesters was kept up for half an hour, during which Charles Thomas, superintendent of the ranch, and Juan Pelascos, a cowboy, were killed, while the smugglers lost three men. The surviving smugglers retreated across the river and are hiding in the mountains.

FOUR MEN KILLED.

A Train Dispatcher's Error Causes a Fatal Wreck on the Northwestern.

Four men were killed and two injured by a collision on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, near Marshalltown, Iowa. In addition fifteen freight cars were smashed, two locomotives broken into bits, and a score of sheep killed. The wreck was caused by the colliding of a freight and an accommodation train. Following are the names of the dead: Jack Ashton, engineer of the freight; W. T. Carlen, stockman of Powell, Mich.; Thomas Howes, engineer of the accommodation train; —— Linebaugh, fireman of the freight train. The collision, it is said, was due to the carelessness of the dispatcher at Belle Plaine. Freight No. 21 was late and had orders to meet No. 14 at La Moille, the first station west. No. 14 had clearance to proceed to Marshalltown. After No. 21 pulled out of that city her right of way was recalled, but it was too late. The two trains met on a sharp curve, a large hill preventing the engineers seeing their danger until there was not time even to reverse the engines. Many of the trainmen jumped, but both the engineers and Fireman Linebaugh were killed. Conrad Tusing, fireman of No. 14, was hurled thirty feet through a barb-wire fence. Train Dispatcher Titus' wife was on the accommodation train, but was not injured.

ONE-THIRD ARE FOREIGNERS.

Census Figures Regarding Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Some interesting figures are given in a census bulletin just issued showing the distribution of population by color, sex and general nativity for the States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. The number of native and foreign born and colored residents in the six States in 1890 was as follows:

STATES.	Total	Native.	Fo'e'n.	Colored
Ohio	3,672,316	3,213,023	459,293	87,511
Indiana	2,192,404	2,046,199	146,205	45,669
Illinois	3,826,351	2,984,004	842,347	57,818
Michigan	2,093,889	1,550,009	543,880	21,003
Wisconsin	1,686,880	1,167,681	519,199	6,407
Minnesota	1,301,826	834,470	467,353	5,667

Over 42 per cent. of the aliens in Wisconsin, over 35 per cent. of those in Ohio, and over 34 per cent. of those in Minnesota are returned as not speaking the English language. In Minnesota 58 per cent. of the males of voting age are foreign born. In Wisconsin 52 per cent., while in Indiana but 12 per cent. are foreign born. For the six States as a whole 33 per cent. of the males of voting age are foreign born. There are nearly 26,000 colored voters in Ohio, 13,000 in Indiana, 18,000 in Illinois, and 6,000 in Michigan, but comparatively few in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

NIPPED BY JACK FROST.

Iowa and Nebraska Visited, but No Great Harm Is Done.

Reports received by the Iowa weather service from various parts of the State show that frost Wednesday night was very general throughout the State. The greatest damage was done on the Missouri slope. Corn is but little affected, except on the lowlands along creeks and rivers, and there not seriously. In many parts of the State the frost was just heavy enough to help corn ripen well. Frost was general throughout the southeast section of Nebraska. The growth of corn will be retarded. Vegetables suffered but little.

May Have Gone Down.

The docks of the North Atlantic Steamship Company in Boston are crowded with anxious friends and relatives of persons on board the steamship Carroll, of that line, which is seventy-two hours overdue and from which nothing has been heard. The Carroll left Halifax, between which and Boston she plied, with 100 passengers and a crew of forty. From the fact that she is an old and not particularly seaworthy ship fears are entertained that she has gone down with all on board, as incoming vessels give no report of her.

Baron Fava in Disfavor.

According to a dispatch Baron Fava will no longer represent Italy at Washington. The reason given for his recall is the hostile position he recently took against the Italian Consul General at New York in connection with the difference of opinion existing in the Italian colony there.

Richard Mansfield Weds.

Richard Mansfield, the well-known theatrical star, who is now playing the part of Rev. Arthur Dimmesdale in Joseph Hatton's dramatization of Hawthorne's romance, "The Scarlet Letter," at Daly's Theater, New York, was quietly married to Miss Beatrice Cameron, his leading lady.

French Wheat Crop.

An official report shows the wheat crop of France amounts to 104,264,421 hectoliters, and that 6,970,011 hectoliters were sown.

Cut His Throat with a Razor.

State Senator Samuel P. Sparks, the author of the Sparks election law now governing elections in Missouri, committed suicide at his home in Warrensburg, Mo., by cutting his throat with a razor. For several weeks Senator Sparks has seemed to labor under a terrible depression. Two months ago an attack of erysipelas cost him an eye, and financial and political reverses, combined with physical ills, tended to dishearten him. He was a prominent candidate for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General of the State, was Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, and one of the most prominent men in Missouri.

AMERICAN ROGUE IN JAPAN.

A Pious Fugitive Commits Bigamy and Embezzlement and Flees.

Advices from Kobe, Japan, give full details of the divorce granted to an American missionary, Cora Lafferty Harvey, from Conrad Harvey, whom she married two years ago. The ground was bigamy, Harvey having a wife in Iowa. The proceedings show that Harvey fled to Japan four years ago, having embezzled $3,000 in Iowa. His record did not follow him, and he made a good acquaintance. He was very devout, and through his piety he deeply impressed a rich Belgian merchant, Mr. Dernen, of Kobe, who made him manager of his business. When Dernen returned to Europe he left a liberal deposit to Harvey's credit in the bank. Soon after that Harvey married Miss Cora Lafferty, an American missionary, who was an orphan. He set up a fine establishment, but soon abandoned his wife and left with Dernen's money. It is thought he returned to America. Investigation showed he married Della Pierce at Yale, Guthrie County, Iowa, in March, 1885, and that he abandoned her three years later. Harvey came originally from New York and was sent out as a street waif to a Western farm.

TRADE NOT HURT BY CHOLERA.

Business Goes On Without Regard to the Pestilence—Dun's Review.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Cholera has landed, and the business of New York goes on exactly as if it had not. The selling of stocks has been quite heavy, and the decline in prices has averaged about $2 a share for all the active list. Money is in ample supply, and the demand from the interior is less than usual at this season, but large amounts are held out of the loan market by people who are looking for exceptional opportunities to buy cheaply. Money has been steady at 4 per cent., while foreign exchange has fallen so far that exports of gold are unprofitable. The Treasury has added $1,500,000 gold and $600,000 silver to its stock, while putting out $400,000 additional paper. Here, as in all parts of the country, the supply of money is ample for legitimate needs, and the shrinkage of speculation is helpful as regards the possibility of monetary pressure later. The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days number 182, as compared with totals of 179 last week. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 230.

VISIBLE SUPPLY OF WHEAT.

Large Increase in the Available Stocks in the United States and Canada.

The available stocks of wheat in the United States and Canada, east of the Rocky Mountains, as reported to Bradstreet's, last week, were, on Sept. 10, 47,261,677 bushels, as against 29,732,668 bushels during the corresponding week of 1891. In the first total the Northwestern interior elevator stocks are omitted, information being refused by the Northern Pacific, North Dakota, and Vanduser Elevator Companies for the reason, as said: "To gratify farmers, who think the publication depresses prices." West of the Rockies the total stocks were 5,857,000 bushels. Exports of wheat (and of flour as wheat) from New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Newport News, New Orleans, Galveston, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Portland, Maine, Tacoma and Seattle, as reported by mail and wire to Bradstreet's, were 3,384,241 bushels.

KNOWINGLY SPREAD THE PEST.

Hamburg Officials Charged with Falsifying in Bills of Health.

The London Pall Mall Gazette published a fac-simile of a clean bill of health granted on Aug. 23 to a British vessel lying at Hamburg. This vessel was detained until Aug. 27 taking on board some extra cargo. During the interval between the date of her clean bill of health and Aug. 27 two of her crew were attacked with cholera, and one of them died. Thus the owners of the vessel were left to discover that cholera was in port by its actual appearance among the crew. Hamburg correspondence of Aug. 23 announced that there had been 128 cases of cholera in the city. The Gazette asks: "Did the Hamburg authorities allow clean bills of health to be given, knowing that cholera was present in the city?"

WILL CLOSE ALL CANADA.

Exclusion of Persons from the United States in Serious Contemplation.

Quebec special: The Quebec members of the Central Board of Health of this province have left for Montreal, where an important meeting will be held for the purpose, it is said, of proclaiming a Canadian quarantine against the United States. At present Montreal is not quarantined against New York, although there, as elsewhere, great precautions are taken in the matter of inspection, both of immigrants and travelers from the States. The officials at Ottawa have declared against passing immigrants ticketed to United States points from Europe.

No Yellow Fever in Mobile.

In reply to telegraphic inquiry at Mobile, Ala., the health officer and Mayor have answered that there is no yellow fever there and that this summer has been the healthiest in the history of the city.

MARKET QUOTATIONS.

CHICAGO.
CATTLE—Common to Prime	$3.50 @ 5.50
HOGS—Shipping Grades	3.50 @ 5.75
SHEEP—Fair to Choice	4.00 @ 5.25
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.72 @ .73
CORN—No. 2	.47 @ .48
OATS—No. 2	.33 @ .34
RYE—No. 2	.56 @ .57
BUTTER—Choice Creamery	.23 @ .25
EGGS—Fresh	.18½@ .19½
POTATOES—New, per bu.	.55 @ .65
INDIANAPOLIS.
CATTLE—Shipping	3.25 @ 5.25
HOGS—Choice Light	3.50 @ 5.50
SHEEP—Common to Prime	3.00 @ 4.50
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.69 @ .70
CORN—No. 1 White	.48 @ .49
OATS—No. 2 White, new	.35 @ .36
ST. LOUIS.
CATTLE	3.00 @ 5.00
HOGS	3.50 @ 5.50
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.68 @ .69
CORN—No. 2	.43 @ .44
OATS—No. 2	.29 @ .30
RYE—No. 2	.51 @ .52
CINCINNATI.
CATTLE	3.00 @ 4.75
HOGS	3.00 @ 5.50
SHEEP	3.00 @ 4.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.71½@ .72½
CORN—No. 2	.51½@ .52½
OATS—No. 2 Mixed	.33 @ .34
RYE—No. 2	.59 @ .61
DETROIT.
CATTLE	3.00 @ 4.50
HOGS	3.00 @ 5.25
SHEEP	3.00 @ 4.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.74½@ .75½
CORN—No. 2 Yellow	.48½@ .49½
OATS—No. 2 White	.36 @ .37
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—No. 2	.75 @ .76
CORN—No. 2 White	.48½@ .49½
OATS—No. 2 White	.32½@ .33½
RYE	.58 @ .60
BUFFALO.
CATTLE—Common to Prime	3.00 @ 4.50
HOGS—Best Grades	4.00 @ 5.75
WHEAT—No. 1 Hard	.85 @ .86
CORN—No. 2	.52½@ .53½
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.68½@ .69½
CORN—No. 3	.46½@ .47½
OATS—No. 2 White	.35 @ .36
RYE—No. 1	.58 @ .59
BARLEY—No. 2	.68 @ .70
PORK—Mess	10.00 @10.50
NEW YORK.
CATTLE	3.50 @ 5.00
HOGS	3.00 @ 6.00
SHEEP	3.50 @ 4.75
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.78½@ .79½
CORN—No. 2	.56 @ .57
OATS—Mixed Western	.37 @ .39
BUTTER—Creamery	.19 @ .25
PORK—New Mess	11.75 @12.25

PECK PUNCTURED.

HIS BOOMERANG REPORT ON WAGES.

"Preconceived Theories," Grave Misconceptions, Childish Credulity, Fallacious Reasoning and Illogical Conclusions—Protected Manufacturers' Statistics Used to Prove What Democrats Neither Affirm nor Deny.

Absurdities of Peck's Report.

What is this report of Labor Commissioner Charles F. Peck of New York which President Harrison is quoting, and about which the Republicans are making as much fuss as if it were the only really valuable piece of campaign material that they have gotten hold of this year? 1. What did Mr. Peck attempt to show? 2. What did he think would show this? 3. How did he obtain the required information? 4. What figures or facts did he obtain? 5. What do and do not these figures prove?

1. Mr. Peck attempted to show "the effect of the tariff on labor and wages, in order that voters might know whether a "protective tariff" or a "tariff for revenue only" is to be preferred.

2. He evidently assumed and thought that increased production and earnings would show that the effects of the high protective tariff act of 1890 was beneficial to labor. This was a violent assumption on the part of Mr. Peck, and is not creditable to him as a statistician, a logician or a Democrat. There might be a dozen different causes for either high or low production or earnings, the most important of which might have no connection directly or indirectly with tariffs. For example, bountiful rains and favorable weather in 1891 produced good crops here when there was a scarcity abroad. This caused unusual returns for our crops and a boom in business in no way due to any tariff act. The low price of cotton made cotton mills prosperous, and made more hours, days, and nights' work for spinners, weavers, etc. Such causes as these may, and probably do, account for most of the increased production and earnings—which are by no means synonomous with increased wages and may mean more work for more pay, the rate of wages being the same or even lower, but Mr. Peck sees nothing except the tariff in all this. He had a "preconceived theory" which makes the tariff responsible for prosperity or depression in business; and though he pretends to be a Democrat, yet it is evident that he is neither a Democrat nor does he understand Democratic doctrine on the tariff question.

Democrats do not claim (as his report assumes) that "protection" will entirely prevent increased production and earnings or that it will raise or lower nominal wages. They simply claim that it has little or nothing to do with high or low wages, but that it does have much to do with the amount of goods that can be purchased with wages. But, on this most important phase of the subject Mr. Peck is silent—except that he mentions the omission in a manner that would indicate that it is comparatively unimportant. That his "preconceived theories" were in favor of "protection" is obvious from his statement in the New York Tribune of Sept. 3, in which he says: "I see that protection is a good thing for the manufacturers, and I know also that the manufacturers would not pay higher prices for their labor if it were not for the unions. By means of protection labor is able to enforce the demands that it makes upon the manufacturers." Of course there is but little connection—except in the minds of Mr. Peck and other protectionists—between a duty on manufactured goods and wages. This report that has "knocked the Chicago platform silly" and "raised the hopes of the Republicans 10 per cent." is then but the half-fledged and illogical conception of a protectionist. In the name of Democracy it seeks to prove or disprove the Republican claim that prosperity is impossible without "protection," whereas Democrats do not deny that in a country like this—the biggest free trade country in the world when territory is considered—considerable prosperity may accompany even McKinley protection.

3. Notice, now, how Mr. Peck went to work to obtain the data which was to settle this tariff discussion. "Some 8,000 blanks," he says, "were addressed and mailed to as many separate establishments throughout the State." A circular letter informed the manufacturers that "the information received would be used only in a general way, so that the business of any individual firms would not be recognized." Thus guaranteed against detection, 6,000 of these protected manufacturers and zealous Republicans did their duty to their country and themselves by fixing the figures which should leave no doubt as to the effects of McKinleyism, and sent them to Mr. Peck, the gentleman who possesses a medal for his ability to display figures, and who deserves one for his methods of collecting them.

But what of the 2,000 who did not reply to Peck's circular, "How do you do, beneficiaries of McKinley?" Why did they not reply? Could they not make figures expressive of their gratitude to McKinley, or did they not have faith in Peck, and believe that he would keep his promise to shield them from exposure by withholding all names from the public? It would be interesting to learn why they did not reply, and what their replies would have been. But perhaps they would have spoiled the report for Republican purposes, in which case this campaign would have been tame and uninteresting.

Credulous Mr. Peck! He has the same implicit confidence in the unverified figures of these interested manufacturers that the American Economist had when it obtained, by the same methods, its list of twenty-eight McKinley wage advances. But unfortunately for it, the Economist gave names and locations so that an investigation was possible. The Reform Club at once got the facts in each case and proved that there had been far more wage reductions in those mills than advances, and that instead of supplying reliable information the manufacturers had treated the Economist to a collection of falsehoods.

Senator Aldrich is another over-credulous protectionist statistician. When he wished to annihilate Hon. John De-Witt Warner's list of "100 tariff trusts" he sent out blanks to protected manufacturers asking them to state whether or not they were members of trusts. Of course, in the face of criminal statutes and public opinion, the manufacturers strenuously denied that they were in a trust—in many cases where they were dodging from one State to another, under aliases, to escape prosecution, or where the courts had declared that they had a trust. But Aldrich paraded their denials in the Congressional Record, and apparently believes these millionaire monopolists incapable of coloring facts. As the New York World puts it, Mr. Peck's report was made, like the McKinley tariff law, by the manufacturers—by the people who expect to reap the benefits. They first prepared the bill, and are now reporting on its effect in the State of New York. In aid of this pretty scheme Mr. Peck refuses to make public the letters on which he bases his assertion.

4. Mr. Peck's figures show a net increase of production of $31,315,130, and of wages of $6,377,925 in 1891 over 1890—$23.11 to each of the 285,000 employes, or $43.96 to each employe in the 51 trades showing increased wages, there being 89,717 instances of individual increases.

5. Supposing that these statistics are correct, they show that from some cause, or causes, perhaps good crops, or it may be, increased prices for manufactured goods, the value of manufactured products has increased $31,000,000, about one-fifth of which has gone to labor, probably work done, and four-fifths rests snugly in the pockets of protected manufacturers. That Mr. Peck should jump at the conclusion that this increase in earnings meant increased rates of wages, and that these were due to a tariff law, is unbecoming to him as a statistician and inconsistent with his past records. In 1888, 1889, and 1890 he attributed wage increases to labor organizations, strikes, and national prosperity.

These statistics also contradict those of the Senate Committee—obtained with considerable care—which show that wages have advanced somewhat in fifteen unprotected industries, but have fallen slightly in fifteen highly protected industries.

In many industries the statistics appear to be entirely inconsistent with previous and with contemporaneous statistics and to depend largely upon the elasticity of the consciences of the makers. Thus the average yearly wages in the agricultural implements industry for 1890 is $654.30 in New York and $419.10 in Massachusetts—a difference greater than usually exists between wages in this and in European countries—and yet these two States have the same tariff law. In the second industry mentioned (arms and ammunition) the average yearly wages in 1890 were $561.45 in Massachusetts and $492.42 in New York. The third (artificial teeth) shows yearly wages of $554.48 in Massachusetts and $192 in New York, but notwithstanding this tremendous difference the high-priced labor of Massachusetts competes with the pauper labor of New York. But by 1891 wages in this industry had increased to $254.45—that is, from about 65 to 80 cents a day. Analysis of other industries shows the same glaring inconsistencies and demonstrates the utter worthlessness of such statistics, except for Republican campaign purposes.

But there are, as Mr. J. Schoenhof had shown, important and significant omissions in Peck's list of protected industries. Three of these are the highly protected and exceedingly important industries of cotton goods, hats and caps, etc., and iron and steel products. In these, both the number of employes and their annual earnings had declined heavily from 1870 to 1880. Here are the census tables (in thousands):

	1870.		1880.
	Wages.	No. of hands.	Wages.	No. of hands.
Cotton goods	$2,626	9,144	$2,218	9,900
Hats, caps, etc.	2,630	5,570	2,155	5,213
Iron and steel products	9,900	18,684	4,991	13,567
Totals	$15,150	33,689	9,364	28,680

The average per hand employed is as follows:

	1870.	1880.	Dec.
Cotton goods	$287	$224	$ 63
Hats, capts, etc.	446	416	33
Iron and steel products	525	370	155

The increase in the value of the products is no greater, in fact less, than the United States statistics would indicate.

If space would permit, many other surface inconsistencies and incongruities could be pointed out, but the one thing most desired by critics is the names and locations of firms where wage increases have occurred. Let these be given and the falsity of the whole list will soon be exposed, for the alleged advances are contrary to the experience and knowledge of the employes. Mr. Peck invites the closest scrutiny of the figures in his office, but he declares he will permit no one to see the names attached. Hence it is probable that his tables will be quoted by Republicans until the November elections. They may give Republicans something to talk about and to buoy up their hopes, but, as individual experiences are that it is more difficult to earn a living now than before 1890, this crude and garbled report of Mr. Peck is likely to prove a failure as a vote getter for the Republicans.

The Pauper Labor Germ.

If the Republican party—that is, the protected manufacturers—really want to legislate to protect American workmen against the pauper labor of Europe, it will ask its president to continue indefinitely the twenty days' quarantine now placed on passengers from Europe. The immigrants have nothing to sell when they land here, but labor, and the continual stream of this commodity pouring into this country tends to keep wages down to the European level, just as certainly as several connected bodies of water will tend to a common level. Break the connection and it is possible for one body of water to become and remain higher than the others. Stop immigration and it is possible for wages—piece wages—to become and remain higher here than in Europe. There is some doubt, however, if this is the intention of the manufacturers. The last thing they would think of doing would be to put up the barriers between their mills and the cheap labor of Europe. If European labor is cheaper than American they want free access to it, and they have it and use it to displace American labor. "Don't stop immigration," says Andrew Carnegie, "there is room here and work for all immigrants." And the laborers have been thirty years in getting their eyes open so that they could see this farce!

Steel Rails.

The thirty-six steel-rail makers in the United States produced in 1889
1,513,045 tons, on which they had protection to pay the "difference in wages" of $17 to $20.16 per ton. This at $17 was equal to $25,721,765 to pay the "difference in wages." But the actual total wages paid per ton in in 1890 was $5.30, and the total wages for 1889 was less than $8,019,138,
enabling the thirty-six rail-makers to steal from the trust fund for wages $17,702,627,
and get their labor free of cost. The McKinley bill has reduced their protection to $13.44 per ton, reducing their stealings from their workmen, but the wages paid per ton has also been reduced.

What is true of the protected steel-rail maker is true of every other really protected employer. He has absolute pauper labor, supported by public contributions, and his profit comes mainly from what he steals from his workmen. For them to resist the robbery of them is "against the law."—T. E. Wilson.

Harrison's Pettifogging Letter.

Mr. Harrison seems to think that it is at once cunning and fair for want of sufficient argument to make wry faces at the opposing counsel. A couple of instances will suffice to show his temper, and we refer our readers to the letter for the rest. He deliberately talks about "the alliance between the Welsh producers and the Democratic party for the destruction" of tin-plate industry. He knows that such an "alliance" does not exist, that it has never been thought of, and that it would be impracticable. That does not prevent his charging it upon the majority of his fellow-citizens, who by every possible test are as patriotic and as incapable of plotting injury to their country, at least, as he is. In the second place he accuses the Democratic party of advocating the repeal of the tax on State bank notes, "with a view" of causing "a flood of local bank issues" of the kind that we had thirty-five years ago. Mr. Harrison knows very little about banking, as he has sometimes confessed, but he can hardly be so densely ignorant as to think that the bank issues of 1859 can ever be revived in this country, and he knows that their revival was never within the "view" of the Democratic party.—New York Times.

Sugar-Trust Profits.

The American Wool and Cotton Reporter of Sept. 1 says:

"The American Sugar Refining Company is at present making a profit of $50,000 a day. It is working on raw sugar bought at considerably less than the present quotation, and until it gets on to its stock recently acquired its profits will continue at the rate mentioned above. In addition to the low price of the raw which it is now refining, the company is getting the highest price for refined sugar in eighteen months, or since April, 1891. At that time it was getting 4⅝ cents per pound, the quotation to-day. The course pursued by refined sugar since April, 1891, has been interesting. That was the time when the duty went off of raw sugar, and the wholesale grocers throughout the country made it a point to be out of refined sugar March 31. The demand after April 1 therefore was very heavy, and the American Company, by holding the umbrella over its competitors, as it could well afford to do, kept the price of refined at a high figure. When, however, the immediate demand was satisfied, competition began to get in its work, and the price went down to 4 cents, when the outside refineries could stand the strain no longer and sold out to the American Company. Freed from competition, the latter has worked the price up to the old figure. Until new competition springs up, the American Company is likely to have everything its own way."

It then mentions the fact that "the proposed McCahn refinery in Philadelphia has been given up," and that the Mollenhauer refinery, soon to be started up, is the only new competitor. This will have a capacity of 1,500 barrels a day; the Revere refinery, with only 1,000 barrels capacity (less than 2 per cent. of our consumption), is the only refinery now even suspected of being outside the trust.

The sugar trust, by depressing the price of raw and elevating the price of refined sugar, is leaving itself a big margin for profit. The actual cost of refining is less than ⅜ of a cent per pound, and this was about the difference in the prices of raw and refined sugars when the refiners were so foolish as to actually compete with each other before 1887. Now, however, they are selling refined sugar at 4⅝ cents that cost them raw but 3 1-16 cents, leaving a margin of over 1 cent per pound as clear profit. This, instead of being $50,000 a day, is over $100,000 or at the rate of about $40,000,000 a year, fully 150 per cent. on the actual capital invested in plants not held idle. Without the duty of ½ cent on refined sugar, which curses all except the holders of sugar-trust stock, the profits could not for any length of time exceed ⅜ cent per pound. The removal of this inexcusable duty is one of the urgent necessities of the hour.

Wool.

Congress pushes the button; the trust does the rest. When domestic production makes the market price, the duty does not protect and the trust must collect the plunder. The 2,000,000 farmers producing wool cannot form a trust and collect their "protection boodle" of 11 cents per pound from their customers, the manufacturers, but the manufacturers can and do collect from their customers, the people, not only the 11 cents per pound on the wool in their cloth, but 11 cents on each pound of shoddy as well. This is their compensatory protection, and they have 45 per cent. additional to pay "difference in wages." They rob the farmer of every cent. He must sell to them at the foreign value of his wool to save himself the cost of foreign freight. Some send their wool abroad to get a better price. Here are our exports of wool for six years past:

1886	2,138,080
1887	257,940
1888	22,164
1889	141,579
1890	231,042
1891	291,922

Would our American farmers have sent this wool abroad for sale in foreign markets if the price here had not been under the price abroad?

No American farmer ever received 1 cent more per ton for his wool because of a duty on foreign wool, because the price here was made by his own competition, and he had no trust to fix prices and collect boodle; but the woolen-mill owner has collected and pocketed every penny of the farmer's protection, because he had a trust to fix prices and collect the money.—T. E. Wilson.

Great Wreck—285,000 Men Lost!

Immediately upon the appearance of the Report of Labor Commissioner Peck, announcing that 285,000 workingmen in New York State had had their wages increased an average of $23 year by the McKinley bill, the Utica Observer began a search for a Utica man who had fallen heir to $23 worth of McKinley stock. It left plenty of space in its columns and invited workingmen to come forward and announce their good luck. No one came.

The Lockport Union followed the example and issued the same invitation. No answer.

The Rochester Union and Advertiser searched Rochester and found no one of the 285,000 men in that city.

The Oswego Palladium turned the search light on the workingmen in Oswego, and no man with $33 of McKinley tariff money is discovered.

The Albany Argus invited every one of Peck's army of happy workingmen residing in Albany to come forward and tell of it. No one came. Then it sent reporters to the big protected manufacturies in Albany and found no one.

Other papers in New York are prosecuting the search with vigor, but with no better success. It is now feared that Mr. Peck's report is a total wreck and that all of the 285,000 men supposed to have been on board are lost—to the Republican party.

Shooting Both Ways.

Next to the report on production and wages in New York which is compiled from the replies of protected manufacturers in Peck's implied question: "How are you and your employes getting on under McKinleyism?" President Harrison's letter of acceptance is just now attracting more attention from Republicans than any other document. With such ammunition as this the double-barreled "protection and reciprocity" guns —loaded to shoot in opposite directions —will have no trouble in dispersing any free trade mob that can collect on protected American soil.

Of 297 Popes, 4 were strangled in prison, 18 were known to have been poisoned, and 42 met with other forms of violent death.

The disposition to give a cup of cold water to a disciple is a far nobler property than the finest intellect.—Howells.

A COMPLETE SET OF THE WORKS OF
CHARLES DICKENS
FREE!
The Most Valuable and Remarkable Premium Ever Offered Free with any Periodical.
A MARVEL IN BOOK-MAKING.
A Set of the Works of Charles Dickens, IN 12 LARGE VOLUMES, FREE.

There has just been published A Set of the Works of Charles Dickens, in Large and Handsome Volumes, printed from entirely new plates, with new type. By special arrangement with the publishers we are enabled to offer to our patrons this splendid set of Dickens' Works, postpaid, free. Charles Dickens was the greatest novelist who ever lived. No author before or since his time has won the fame that he achieved, and his works are even more popular to-day than during his lifetime. They abound in wit, humor, pathos, masterly delineation of character, vivid descriptions of places and incidents, thrilling and skillfully wrought plots. Each book is intensely interesting. No home should be without a set of these great and remarkable works. Not to have read them is to be far behind the age in which we live. The twelve volumes in this set contain the following world-famous works, each one of which is published complete, unchanged and absolutely unabridged:
DAVID COPPERFIELD,
MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT,
NICHOLAS NICKLEBY,
DOMBEY AND SON,
BLEAK HOUSE,
LITTLE DORRIT,
OUR MUTUAL FRIEND,
PICKWICK PAPERS,
BARNABY RUDGE AND CHRISTMAS STORIES,
OLIVER TWIST AND GREAT EXPECTATIONS,
THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP AND THE UNCOMMERCIAL TRAVELER,
A TALE OF TWO CITIES, HARD TIMES, AND THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD.

THE PLAN.

We will send a complete set of these books FREE, by mail, postage paid, guaranteeing safe delivery, as follows: To any old subscriber, who sends one dollar, and renews their subscription to either of the following publications for one year:
THE PEOPLE'S LITERARY COMPANION,
—OR—
The National Farmer and Home Magazine
To any new subscriber, who sends one dollar for either of the above periodicals for one year.

This is the grandest offer ever made, and the greatest bargain ever offered. Up to this time the price of a complete set of Dickens' Works has been ten dollars or more. The use of modern, improved printing, folding and stitching machinery, the present extremely low price of white paper, and the great competition in the book trade are the factors which made this wonderful offer possible. Bear in mind that we offer, not a single volume, but the entire set of twelve volumes all free to subscribers. All may now afford the luxury of owning a handsome set of Dickens' works. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Do not neglect or put off this wonderful opportunity. Send at once; you will be delighted with the charming books, and, as long as you live, never cease to regard it as the best investment of a dollar you ever made. Address all communications to
E. C. ALLEN & CO., Augusta, Maine.

IF YOU CAN READ

and write, and are possessed of fair intelligence, you are fully qualified to make a grand success of what we offer you. We have lately published at great expense and labor a perfect wonder in the way of an illustrated Gift Book, suitable to all classes, an ornament to any home, and at a price that brings it within the reach of all, even those of moderate means. Heretofore only those who indulged in luxuries have felt that they could afford a book of this class, as they are sold in book stores at $5.00 and upwards. The book which we offer is not in any way inferior to those above referred to, but is far superior to hundreds of books of this nature that are sold at prices exceeding ours by an enormous per cent. It is selling with a rush wherever shown. Agents have only to show the book and mention the price, and it sells on its merits without further talking. No better Christmas, New-Year's or Birthday present can be selected. It will sell, not only for holiday trade, but at all seasons of the year, for the reason that all will want it in their homes, and will have it as soon as they know the low price at which our agents can furnish them. Reader if you need profitable employment, and a business in which you can and will take pride, as well as make money rapidly, do not fail to send for circulars containing private terms to agents, and full information, which will be sent FREE upon application. Old and new agents alike are making handsome salaries—yes, fortunes. Many of those who are making the best records are new at the agency business, having had no previous experience. Make a start—the field is entirely new. No such terms have been offered agents as we now offer on this wonderful book. Special qualifications not necessary, for it sells everywhere at sight. Perhaps you have at some time been unsuccessful at the agency business. If so, there is every reason why you should try this, the PRINCE of gift books, as failure is impossible if you make A START. Write us to-day, study our circulars and directions, then order an outfit and go to work with push and energy. You may make the greatest mistake of your life, if you allow this GOLDEN opportunity to pass unimproved.
E. C. Allen & Co., Box 202, Augusta, Maine.

SHALL WE START YOU

in a pleasant and successful business, that will bring you money rapidly and honorably? A grand opportunity for one person in each locality, young or old, of either sex, wherever you live. Reader, it is a royal chance for you, and such a one as may never again come to your attention in a lifetime. Beginners easily secure an income of $30 to $50 per week from the very start, and much more as the business becomes established. YOU can earn as much as any one. There is not the slightest risk on your part. No capital required. We start you FREE, and furnish everything needed to carry on the business successfully. Hundreds just starting report wonderful success and great profits. Will you write us, and take advantage of this grand offer, or will you delay and allow others to profit by it. We leave it for you to decide, but we tell you frankly that you will lose the golden opportunity of your life if you fail to test the business now. Act quickly and your reward is sure. Address
E. C. ALLEN & Co., Box 204, AUGUSTA, MAINE.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE OF PROF. HARRIS' PASTILLES FOR THE CURE OF WEAK MEN
THE PASTILLE CURE FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY
(VITALLY WEAK), Made so by too close application to business or study; severe mental strain or grief; SEXUAL EXCESSES in middle life, or vicious habits contracted in youth.
WEAK MEN ARE VICTIMS TO NERVOUS DEBILITY or EXHAUSTION, WASTING WEAKNESS, INVOLUNTARY LOSSES WITH EARLY DECAY in YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED; lack of vim, vigor, and strength, with sexual organs impaired and weakened prematurely in approaching old age.
WHEN WE SAY CURE We speak from knowledge of PERMANENT RESULTS in many thousand cases treated and cured in past twelve years.
Free TRIAL As evidence of our faith in Prof. Harris' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLES, we offer eight days trial ABSOLUTELY FREE. All men, young or old, suffering from this prevalent trouble should send their address so we can furnish questions to be answered, that we may know the true condition of each case and prepare medicine to effect a prompt cure. Located in New York (after 12 years at St. Louis), we offer all a chance to be cured by the celebrated Pastille Treatment.
THE HARRIS REMEDY CO., Mfg. Chemists, 30 BEEKMAN STREET, NEW YORK.

NEVER MELTS. FREEZES. GUMS.

CONTAINS NO PETROLEUM OR ACIDS TO DESTROY AXLES.

Tested by the public for 20 years.

"WISE" AXLE GREASE.

A PURE VEGETABLE GREASE. EVERY BOX GUARANTEED.

Try "Wise" on one side of your wagon and castor oil or any other kind of grease on the other side, and you will find the "Wise" will wear the longest.

It keeps machinery from rusting and cures scratches on horses.

Try a box and you will use no other.

Ask Your Dealer For It, Or

CLARK & WISE CO., CHICAGO.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE

Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., New York.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE

HARTLEY'S PERUVIAN BARK BITTERS

FOR MALARIA, AGUE, AND GENERAL DEBILITY

◆ ◆ ◆

It will be found of great benefit both as a preventive and cure of sickness.

Excites the appetite, invigorates the digestion, imparts an agreeable warming and cordial operation upon the stomach, exhilarates the spirits, relieves pain, and is highly efficacious in all cases of debility.

PRICE $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

◆ ◆ ◆

Prepared only by

W. D. SOUDERS & CO.

MANUFACTURING CHEMISTS,

MUNCIE, INDIANA.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.

Beauty, Health and Grace Combined—

What More can Woman Desire.

Volta-Medico Spinal Appliance,

COMBINED WITH AN

ABDOMINAL AND HOSE SUPPORTER.

They are electrical as well as medicated and are recommended for all Female Weaknesses, General and Nervous Debility, Liver and Kidney Troubles, Headaches, Malaria, Rheumatism, Spinal Diseases, Heart Diseases, Cold Extremities, all Bilious Disorders, Impoverished Blood, Impaired Circulation—in fact all Diseases of the Blood, Stomach or Liver, or where there is a lack of vigor and failing health.

They are not only comforting and strengthening to the wearer, but bring about beauty of form. Shapeless figures made symmetrical in form in from three to six months. Appliances guaranteed. Send stamp for circulars and full information. Address,

VOLTA-MEDICO APPLIANCE CO.,

5 N. 8th St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

FREE-TO MEN.

When you get tired of the "doctors" with their big prices and quack remedies, write to me and I will send (sealed) FREE a prescription that will quickly and certainly cure lost power, wasting weakness, lack of development, impotency, varicocele, etc., from excesses or other causes. A New Positive Remedy which cures when everything else fails. Address J. D. HOUSE, Box 685, ALBION, MICH.

ROYAL SEWING MACHINE

WARRANTED 5 YEARS

Has a Large High Arm.
Has a Self-setting Needle.
Has a Self-threading Shuttle.
Has No Equal in Construction.
Has a Mechanical Appearance.
Has an Elegant Finish.
Has a Perfect Adjustment.
Has a Positive Take-up.
Has Stylish Furniture.
Has More Good Sewing Qualities and does a Larger Range of General Work than any Sewing Machine in the World.

Examine THE ROYAL for points of excellence, and you will buy no other.

ROYAL S. M. CO., Rockford, Ill.

A TIMID WOMAN'S TRIAL.

Surprising Interruption in a Life of Monotoy.

BY OCTAVE THANET.

CHAPTER II.—Continued.

Joshua was in two minds about going home; in the event he staid, deciding to run the risk of another mortification in order to have plenty of proof to fetch Judy that she was a fool to be so scared. The next time he applied to a rich lawyer of the town who stared at his question. "Anything the matter with Starling? What makes you think that?"

"I did hear," thus Joshua made a feeble stand, "that he was sorter specklatin' in Chicago opinions."

"Opinions? Do you mean options? I heard so, too, and wrote to Chicago, his name was not known to any one. I'd be a little careful if I was you, talking about bankers' credit these days. You have been fooled by some smart Alick, I guess, Mr. Crest."

Crestfallen and rebuffed, Joshua climbed into his wagon. Had he gone to Myron he would have discovered that it was suspected that it was under the names of other men that all Starling's speculations were made; but Joshua regarded Myron as the cause of his griefs.

He told Judith that he had been laughed at for his pains and that the bank was good as gold. But he did not convince her, and indeed as he repeated the conversations to her they lost something of their potency as approvers of Starling.

The next day she would have walked to Delmar to consult with Myron had she not heard from a passing neighbor that he was gone to Chicago. She said nothing to Joshua, but at night he said to her: "To-morrow I got to go to the Hallers to help them thresh, they're dretful behind with their wheat, and I caynt feel it's Christian to let them two boys that ain't got no father mabbe lose a lot of wheat 'cause they ain't got help enough at the threshing machine; but day ayfter I'm a goin' to see Myron and give him a check to draw out that money. I sent word to Starling by Axel yesterday."

She thanked him warmly, and did not express the fear tormenting her that the notice would in some undiscerned way defeat all their intentions.

That night she slept ill. She rose early and tried to cheer herself by making Joshua's favorite German coffee cake, to be ready against his return at night.

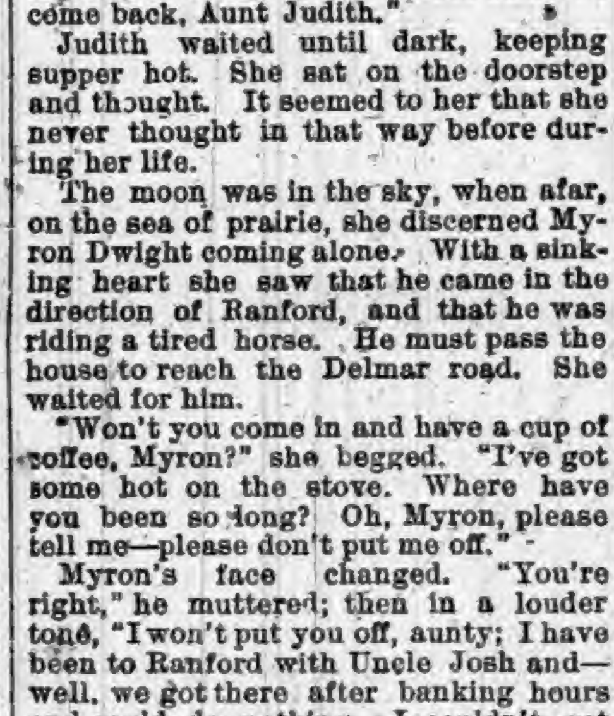
She set her sponge and had arrived at the stage of dough when Myron Dwight rode up on his fast horse. Myron looked cheerful, but the horse shook flecks of foam off his nostrils as he tossed his head. Myron asked for Joshua and rode away on a gallop, singing out: "Tell you all about it when we come back, Aunt Judith."

Judith waited until dark, keeping supper hot. She sat on the doorstep and thought. It seemed to her that she never thought in that way before during her life.

The moon was in the sky, when afar, on the sea of prairie, she discerned Myron Dwight coming alone. With a sinking heart she saw that he came in the direction of Ranford, and that he was riding a tired horse. He must pass the house to reach the Delmar road. She waited for him.

"Won't you come in and have a cup of coffee, Myron?" she begged. "I've got some hot on the stove. Where have you been so long? Oh, Myron, please tell me—please don't put me off."

Myron's face changed. "You're right," he muttered; then in a louder tone, "I won't put you off, aunty; I have been to Ranford with Uncle Josh and—well, we got there after banking hours and could do nothing. I couldn't get Uncle Josh away from that infernal machine. But he is going back to Ranford first thing next morning and so am I. In fact, I shall go and see mother and take the train over there to-night."



"SHE PAUSED TO LOOK AT THE SLEEPER."

"Oh, Myron, is the bank going to bust?"

"I guess not before we get our money out, Aunt Judy. Well, good-by."

As she watched him out of sight, the same tense look was in her face that had been there while she sat on the step—thinking.

Joshua came, no long time after. He began to talk in a rambling way about the Hallers and the day's work and how tired the horses were; and she made no effort to question him; but presently he broke out with a groan: "Judy, I got to tell you. I guess Myron was right about Starling."

"Yes, I guess he was."

"He has been looking him up in Chicago. He does speculate, and he has lost money. And Myron showed me a printed book where they got his name down, and he ain't got good credit at all, mother. And they got Maxwell there real high credit——"

"How do they ever find out?"

"I guess the lawyers tell 'em; they don't mind spying and telling on folks. It is a mighty queer looking book, sorter looks like a algebra. Well, Judy, we went to Ranford and we got there too late, but I am going to be there to-morrow. Don't you bother to git me a hot breakfast, though; a cold bit is all I want."

It was not like Judy to pass this over in silence, yet she made no protest. Presently Joshua said that he would go to bed. "Good night," said Judith. She came over to him and kissed his forehead. "You know, I know you did all you could, Joshua, don't you?" she said.

"I guess we ain't goin' to begin to quarrel now, whatever happens, Judy," said he, "but we are old folks to begin life over again, mother. I kinder wonder at Starling taking that money of me; he must a knowed how things was with him—but I guess he was hopeful. Well, one good thing they all was sayin' at the threshin' to-day, how uncommon strong I was for my years. So if we do have to begin again——"

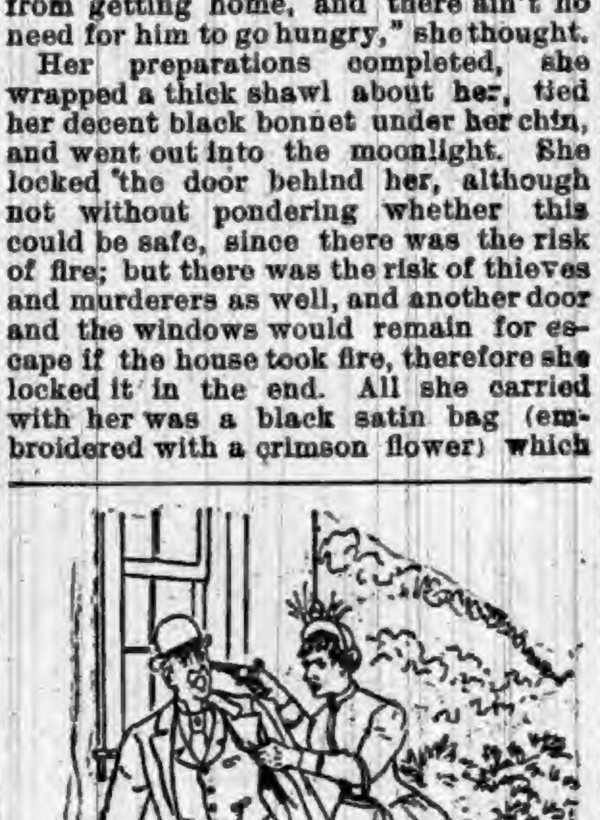
"We ain't going to have to," said Judith.

Thus she cheered the dispirited man, nor did he see the placid look fade from her face as long as he was awake to see.

CHAPTER III.

After he slept, she crept out of bed and dressed herself quietly. She opened a closet and a drawer, taking something out of each. The moonlight filled the room; at the door she paused to look at the sleeper, whose face was pale in that bloodless radiance. Her look was tenderer than a caress. With infinite caution she moved down the uncarpeted, creaking stairs. She stole about the kitchen in her stocking feet until she had placed the simple meal which Joshua desired, on the table. "'Cause maybe I might be prevented from getting home, and there ain't no need for him to go hungry," she thought.

Her preparations completed, she wrapped a thick shawl about her, tied her decent black bonnet under her chin, and went out into the moonlight. She locked the door behind her, although not without pondering whether this could be safe, since there was the risk of fire; but there was the risk of thieves and murderers as well, and another door and the windows would remain for escape if the house took fire, therefore she locked it in the end. All she carried with her was a black satin bag (embroidered with a crimson flower) which had been given her by Mrs. Dwight. Inside she still kept the card bearing the inscription, "From Erminie to Lucetta."



"HE FELT THE ICY RIM OF A REVOLVER."

"I dare say she'll think it's dretful wicked, but I cayn't help it. There ain't no other way," thought the old woman.

She stood for a moment looking about the farm bathed in moonlight. A silver pathway narrowed over the expanse of wheat stubble into the horizon perspective. One could faintly distinguish the color of the leaves on the poplar trees and the yellow sides of the bulging haymows. A dotted line of fire swept across the silver path, the westbound train. "Oh, dearie me, dearie me!" groaned Judith, "I got to stop him before he runs away!"

She had thought it all out, and, while she shivered with fright and anguish, she did not hesitate once.

Huddled in her shawl, she opened the barn door and went to the colt's stall. Her eyes traveled wistfully to the farm horses munching their corn—only her eyes, for she knew they were too tired for a midnight ride. Tremblingly she untied the terrible colt, distracting his attention as much as possible by some corn, and keeping as far from his uneasy feet as her short arms would let her. The colt tossed his head and lashed his tail, and the other horses made ugly noises on the floor. Cold drops stood on Judith's pale face, nevertheless she saddled Starlight and led him to the buggy, where she managed to mount. The saddle was a man's saddle. "Jest as well," thought the rider, "I can stick on better, and I got to stick on, 'cause if I get off on the prairie I never in this world can get on the critter again."

Thus she set forth, a queer little shape, astride her man's saddle, with her shawl blown behind her. The station at Delmar is a small wooden building with a long platform. At night it has a deserted, dreary aspect, with the stove glimmering redly through the open space of window, the locked doors and the lonely telegraph operator dozing at his desk. Behind the station is a fence. To this fence rode Judith just as the town clock struck 10. She climbed laboriously off the horse's back and tied him to the fence by a knot possible only to a woman.

"Oh, Lord be praised, at last I'm off that hoss' back!" cried the rider. "I guv myself up for lost fifty times to-night."

She walked up and down the platform waiting for the banker, Starling. Not until the Chicago train had gone without him would she go. She had determined to see him that night; if he did not come to the train she would go to the house, but she was fully persuaded by some mysterious and feminine intuition that Starling meant to fly.

The half hour struck. "It's getting dretful late and unseemly," groaned the old wife, who had not been out alone at night for twenty years, "but I caynt help it."

The night air was bitterly chilly; she did not think of her own tingling feet and shivering frame, but the horse, the colt Joshua hoped to sell for $100, he might catch cold! Would she better wrap her shawl about him or walk him around the little open plot of ground to exercise his muscles? In one case she should be cold, in the other—she did not dare to undertake the other. So she wrapped the colt's flanks in warm woolen, pinning it about the neck; and an astonishing looking beast he was, thus caparisoned, to be sure. Then Judith solemnly jumped up and down and smote her pipestems of arms together to keep warm. The three-quarters struck.

A lantern flickered at the corner of the village street, the ticket agent was coming to the station. From the opposite direction came some one else. Two strides placed her in front of this man as he mounted the platform, a slight, well-dressed man, with a neat traveling bag in his hand. He had observed Judith's grotesque antics already. "Mad!" was his decision, perhaps, for he started nervously and essayed to edge by her.

"Mr. Starling," spoke the old woman in her quivering, sweet pipe, "Mr. Starling, my husband, tried to get our money from you this afternoon, and you wouldn't give it to him; will you please give it to me?"

"Why, Mrs. Crest, I didn't recognize you," exclaimed the banker smoothing his brow; "yes, Mr. Crest came after the bank was closed. If you will go there to-morrow morning at 9, it will be all right."

"I want it now, I got to have it now!" She had slipped her hand in her little black bag.

"But, my dear madam, I haven't got it with me. I don't carry the bank in my pocket."

"I tell you I got to have my money. You shan't carry it away—oh, for the Lord's sake, be merciful to us, Mr. Starling; it's everything Joshua and me has saved working hard for thirty years! We'll lose our farm if we don't have it!"

Her voice rose shrilly, and there were people back on the platform now.

"You fool! I haven't got it," he snarled, pushing her aside. He could hear the whistle of the approaching train for Chicago; it was stopping at Delmar, five miles away.

Instead of recoiling she flung herself on him and simultaneously he felt the icy rim of a revolver at his ear.

"Then God have mercy on your wicked soul, for you are a dead man," cried Judith Crest. "I give you time for one prayer—unless you move——" He could see her face set in a ghastly fixity of despair and resolve, the pistol was cold as the grave, worse, there was a hideous wriggle about the thing as if the desperate creature's hand trembled—what if her finger slipped!

He rolled his eyes at her; he did not venture to move his head. "Why can't you wait a minute? Where's your check?"

"Never mind my check, I cayn't wait."

"What!" he cried frantically, "suppose I give you the money. How much is it?"

"It's six thousand two hun——"

"Well, take that infernal thing off my head and I will get it for you."

"You got to get it with it on your head. I don't trust you. You got the use of your hands. Take the money out and count it and put it in my bag."

Starling could see the distant headlight of the train. He ground an oath between his teeth, but he pulled out his pocket book.

"Walk along nearer the light or strike a match on your pants. I cayn't see the bills," the relentless, quavering old voice went on. He did light a match, for the desire to get away on that swiftly nearing train overmastered everything else. She hitched her bag further down her wrist, and so held first one then another match, until he had counted out the sum. "Six thousand, one hundred and fifty—silver certificates; yes, they're good. There had ought to be $2 more——"

The buzz and rumble of the train was heard more distinctly. Starling tore a $5 note from a wad of banknotes and threw it at her. "Now, will you let me go?"

"I guess I ain't got no right to keep you. I ain't no change; but I'll send it to Mis' Starling. Hold your hands in front of you and you can run."

Five minutes later, Myron Dwight could not believe his eyes as they showed him Judith weeping on the platform.

"Oh, Myron," she sobbed, "I tied the colt up so tight I can't untie him, and I am so frightened."

* * * * * * *

Joshua did not discover his wife's absence in the morning. He supposed she was out in the garden, and he ate the breakfast that she had made ready, and hurried away through the usual exit of the kitchen door without suspicion. He was one of the first to file into Starling's bank that morning. The young man at the desk looked at him and then retired for consultation with the other young man.

"I ain't going to keep up this farce any longer," said the other young man. "Mr. Crest, we haven't got $600 in the vault."

That was the reason why Starling's bank closed its doors some hours earlier than the fugitive had anticipated.

Joshua did not speak a word. He nodded to some men that he knew and went out, not quite steadily, to his wagon. Myron and his own wife were standing by it.

Joshua did not seem surprised.

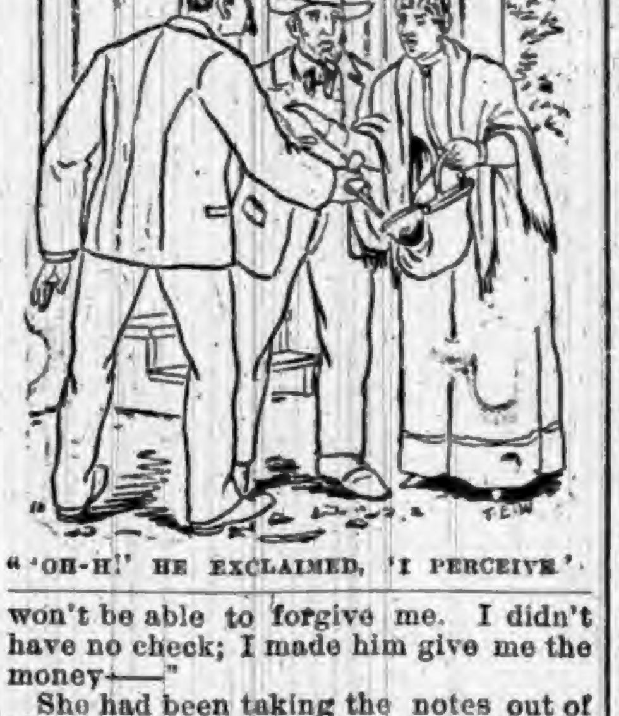
"Mother," said he, in a dry, clear tone, "I've lost all that money."

"No, no, you ain't father," said Judith; "I got it all here."

"She met Starling at the depot and somehow she won't tell me how she got him to give her back the money." This was Myron, who remained bewildered, having considerately put Judith to bed at the hotel without agitating her by question.

"But, mother, you hadn't got no check; how could you get the money?" said Joshua.

Judith was sobbing. "Oh, I guess you won't be able to forgive me. I didn't have no check; I made him give me the money——"



"'OH-H!' HE EXCLAIMED, 'I PERCEIVE.'"

She had been taking the notes out of her bag. Myron put in his fingers and drew out the pistol.

"Ah-h!" he exclaimed; "I perceive. Why, Aunt Judith, you dear little highwayman!"

No one else knows of it, no one else would believe if he did know; Mrs. Crest is such a harmless, timid woman; but Myron Dwight, now prospering and helping Joshua to prosper, keeps the pistol in his drawer as a memento. No one else but he knows another interesting fact—that pistol was not loaded.

[THE END.]

An Eccentric Judgment.

Captain King, at one time Governor in an Australian colony, was noted for his eccentricities. One day he was waited upon by two prisoners suing for pardon. The petition of one was signed by all the leading men of Sydney; that of the other bore but one name.

"How comes it that you have only one name on your petition, while this man has so many?" asked the Governor.

"I have lived with only one master all my time, sir. I didn't know anybody else," answered the man.

The Governor immediately gave him his pardon, but dismissed the other applicant with the remark:

"You know so many rich people that you don't need anything more."

A Peculiar Check.

One of the funniest checks I ever saw was shown to me by a banker yesterday, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. It was drawn on one of the ordinary check forms of the bank and read thus:

"PITTSBURG, June 25, 1892.

"———— National Bank:

"Pay to ———— ———— twenty-three dollars if there is that much to my credit. I think there is sixteen dollars there, and I will make up [illegible] rest on Tuesday of next week. please oblige me. JOHN SMITH."

NEW YORK IS INFECTED

SIX DEATHS FROM CHOLERA IN GOTHAM.

First Case Discovered Two Weeks Ago—Health Officials Profess Surprise and Claim That the Pest Did Not Pass Quarantine—Official Announcement.

No Doubt Now.

It has developed that, despite the stringent quarantine, the heroic efforts of the National and State Governments and the oft repeated declarations of the Board of Health to the contrary, the much-dreaded plague has found a foothold in New York City, and has already many victims. Not only did it develop that the cholera had effected a landing, but that the landing was effected at least two weeks ago, the fact having been kept from the public. That the fact was made public was due to an accident—a slip of the tongue of an attache of the health office, while notifying his superiors of the discovery of a new case.

Daily representatives of the press have asked the officers of the Board of Health if the disease had showed any signs of breaking out in the city, and even up to the morning of the above reported discovery were answered in the negative. When pressed, however, and presented with evidence that their secret was a secret no longer, they reluctantly admitted that they were "investigating the cases of a number of persons who had died under circumstances which led them to fear that choleraic germs might be present." They could give no definite reply to the question, "is there cholera in New York?" however, until they had received the report of the bacteriologists making the test examinations.

Names of the Victims.

The names of the victims, so far as could be learned, are as follows:

CHARLES MCAVOY, plasterers' assistant, 35 years old.

MRS. SOPHIA WIGMAN, died at No. 768 Eleventh avenue.

WILLIAM WIGMAN, husband of Sophia Wigman, died at the same address.

MINNIE LEVINGER, 20 months old, died at No. 411 East Forty-sixth street.

CHARLOTTA BECK, 30 years old, died at No. 1764 Second avenue.

PETER CALLAHAN, an unmarried stableman, who boarded with his sister at No. 318 East Forty-seventh street, died after an illness of four days; 30 years of age.

It was admitted that there were a number of suspected cases now under investigation, but the names or locations of the victims would not be divulged. The reason assigned by the officers for their reticence was that they had no desire whatever to create a panic until they were absolutely certain that Cholera Asiatica really was the cause of death in the cases under investigation.

Whatever doubt may have existed in the minds of the health officers as to the presence of cholera in the city was dispelled when the following reports from the bacteriologists who had made examinations of the cases were handed in.

Bacteriologists' Reports.

CARNEGIE LABORATORY, 338 East 26th street.
To Charles G. Wilson, President of the Board of Health.

SIR—We would respectfully report that very careful biological examinations of the intestinal contents from the body of Charles McAvoy, who died Sept. 6, have been completed. Autopsy showed anatomical lesion of sporadic cholera, but the biological examination proves that the spiritum of Asiatic cholera was present in the intestines. We, therefore, declare the case one of Asiatic cholera. Respectfully submitted,

HERMANN BIGGS,
EDWARD K. DUNHAM.

To Charles G. Wilson, President of the Health Department:

SIR—Mrs. Sophia Wigman, whose body was referred to us to determine the cause of death, died of Cholera Asiatica, as has been shown by the biological examination of the intestinal discharges taken before death. No reliable conclusions could be drawn from the postmortem or biological examination made after death in this case, or of her husband, Wm. Wigman, and both bodies have been embalmed. We have no doubt, however, that the cause of death in both cases was the same. The biological examination in the case of the child, Minnie Levinger, also shows that the cause of death was Cholera Asiatica. Respectfully submitted,

HERRMANN BIGGS
EDWARD K. DUNHAM.

On receipt of these reports bulletins were issued setting forth the facts regarding the presence of the scourge and its work, as given above. The physicians say that they have been unable to account for the presence of cholera germs in the cases mentioned, as none of the dead persons had been infected in any known way. Every precaution had been taken in each instance to prevent the further spread of the disease. The clothing and bedding of each patient had been burned, and the houses in each case placed under strict quarantine. Thus far no secondary cases have been discovered in the premises occupied by the victims. In the official bulletin it was stated that the body of a woman who had died under suspicious circumstances was being investigated, and that but one new case had been reported. The bulletin further said that all suspected cases of cholera reported were being very carefully watched.

Fears Excited Rather Than Allayed.

The fact that the board admits that other cases exist and refuses to publish their location has an effect contrary to that which the secrecy is intended to produce. Instead of allaying, it tends to excite, the fears of the people, and keeps them in a condition bordering on a panic.

The question uppermost in the minds of the people who are alive to the situation is, "How did the disease effect a landing if not through quarantine?" The fact that the victims had in no way been brought in contact with persons or things which might have communicated the germs makes the question hard to answer. Dr. Jenkins was interviewed at quarantine. He betrayed the greatest surprise when told of the ravages of the plague in the city, but expressed the greatest confidence that it had not gone in through the cordon he had established to keep it out. He said, however, that the best authorities in the world had set it down as an axiom that the most stringent and complete quarantine regulations could claim to prevent but 70 per cent. of the possibilities of the introduction of a disease into a country, quarantine having no control over the other 30 per cent. He said it was possible for a person who had been contaminated to infect others without himself feeling any bad effects from his contamination.

Cautioned to Keep Cool.

The health officers are very fearful that the knowledge of the presence of the plague in the city will cause a general exodus of those who can afford to leave the city, and a panic of fear among those who must, perforce, remain, and said that there was very little danger of an epidemic if people would only keep cool and think more of carefully regulating their manner of living and less of the cholera. President Wilson said that there was no occasion for excitement in the city, as the cholera would not become epidemic. There was a possibility that it would exist in sporadic form for sixty days or such a matter, until cool weather sets in and stamps out the disease altogether.

THE New York World breathlessly asks: "Who is the most remarkable woman in this country?" A million husbands out West could answer if they were not too modest.

THEY always talk who never think.—Prior.

GANTER'S MAGIC CHICKEN CHOLERA CURE!

Thousands of dollars worth of chickens are destroyed by Cholera every year. It is more fatal to them than all other diseases combined. But the discovery of a liquid remedy that positively destroys the Microbes has been made. Half of the young chickens are killed by Microbes before they are fryers. A 50-cent bottle is enough for 100 chickens. It is guaranteed. If, after using two thirds of a bottle, you are not satisfied with it as a cure for Cholera, return it to the druggist from whom you purchased it, and he will refund your money.

For Sale by ROBBINS & McCORD, Druggists, Auburn, Ind.

TO WEAK MEN

Suffering from the effects of youthful errors, early decay, wasting weakness, lost manhood, etc., I will send a valuable treatise (sealed) containing full particulars for home cure, FREE of charge. A splendid medical work; should be read by every man who is nervous and debilitated. Address, Prof. F. C. FOWLER, Moodus, Conn.

MARYLAND ROASTER AND BAKER

FOR MEATS, FOWL, FISH, ETC., AND FOR BAKING BREAD, CAKES AND PUDDINGS.

IMPROVED
ROASTER & BAKER

BEST SIMPLEST AND CHEAPEST

THE STEAM produced by the process of cooking cannot escape, is absorbed by the article in the roaster, and acts as a basting. There is no evaporation, no drying up or burning, hence no shrinkage or loss of weight, and all the flavor and nutritious qualities of the food are retained. Tough meats are made tender, and any article roasted or baked will be sweeter, healthier and more digestible. Put the food in the roaster, place the roaster in a well heated oven; the roaster will do the cooking. It requires no attention. Can only be bought from dealers, the trade supplied by:

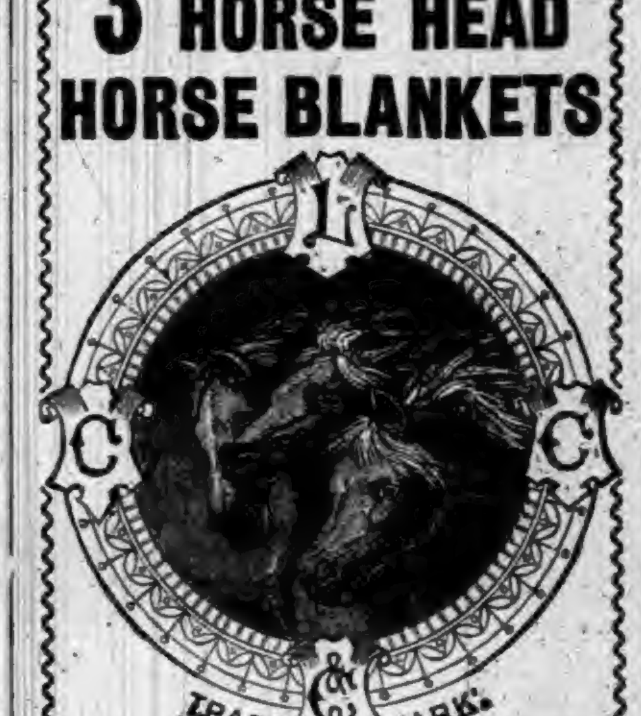
MATTHAI, INGRAM & CO.,
120 HANOVER ST., BALTIMORE, MD.
84 READE ST., NEW YORK.

None Such CONDENSED Mince Meat

Makes an every-day convenience of an old-time luxury. Pure and wholesome. Prepared with scrupulous care. Highest award at all Pure Food Expositions. Each package makes two large pies. Avoid imitations—and insist on having the NONE SUCH brand.

MERRELL & SOULE, Syracuse, N. Y.

CHASE'S 3 HORSE HEAD HORSE BLANKETS



are the strongest and best.

Chase's Plush Lap Robes

are the standard. The plush will not shed. All robes have the name Chase either woven in the binding or sewed on the corner.

FIRST-CLASS DEALERS WILL SELL NO OTHERS.

L. C. CHASE & CO., Boston, Mass.

LOVELY COMPLEXION BEAUTIFUL FORM.

Blemishes, such as FRECKLES, MOTH PATCHES, LIVER SPOTS, BLOTCHES, TAN, PIMPLES, BLACKHEADS, ROUGHNESS, or any discoloration removed, rendering the skin soft, velvety & beautiful.

The form developed — made PLUMP AND BEAUTIFUL.

Send six cents in stamps and get descriptive circulars and testimonials in a sealed envelope.

H. BENJAMIN & CO., 115 N. 8th Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

DON'T USE NOITOL

unless you desire to be cured of Eczema, Salt Rheum, Poison Ivy, Tetter, or other skin diseases.

Spell NOITOL backwards and you ascertain the character of our remedy which has made so many remarkable cures.

SANDGATE, VT.

"I have been a great sufferer from Eczema for nearly three years, the entire surface of my body being covered with scales. Could find nothing to relieve the intense itching until I tried NOITOL. It has done more good in two weeks than all the external applications I have used in two years. I cannot say enough in its praise."

MRS. FLORA COVEY.

Should you wish to try a bottle, mail us fifty cents, if your druggist does not keep it.

WHEELER CHEMICAL WORKS, Chicago, Ill.

CORNETT PIANOS. STYLE A.

HAVE PERFECT TONE, ACTION, FRAME WORK, AND FINISH AND MODERATE PRICES.

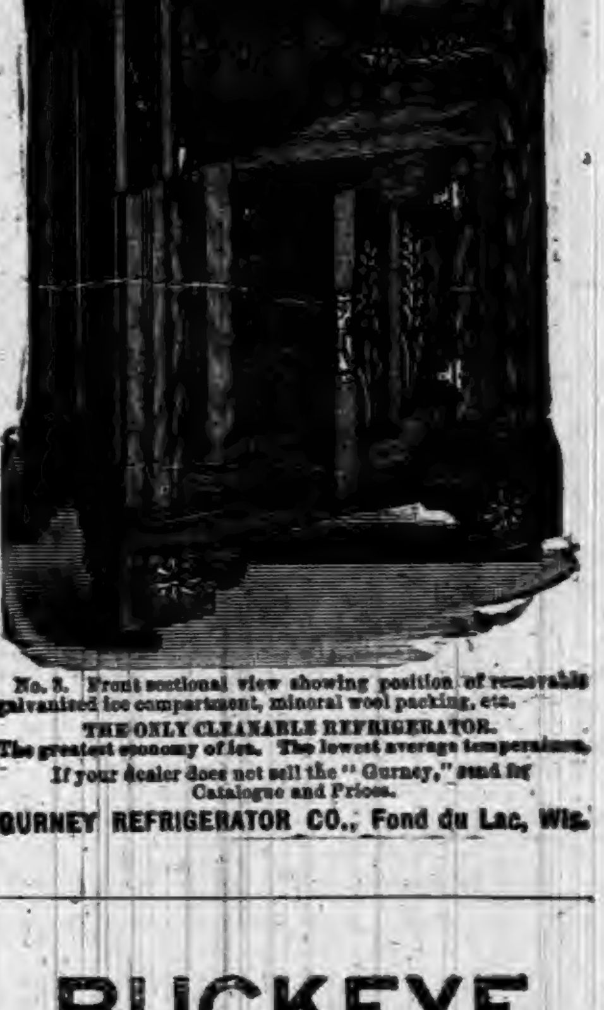
GUARANTEED 5 YEARS.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR AND PRICES.

The Cornett Piano Co., 525-531 W. 24 St., NEW YORK.

THE GREATEST REFRIGERATOR IMPROVEMENT OF THE AGE.

THE GURNEY PATENT REFRIGERATOR.



No. 3. Front sectional view showing position of removable galvanized ice compartment, mineral wool packing, etc.

THE ONLY CLEANABLE REFRIGERATOR.

The greatest economy of ice. The lowest average temperature.

If your dealer does not sell the "Gurney," send for Catalogue and Prices.

GURNEY REFRIGERATOR CO., Fond du Lac, Wis.

BUCKEYE HOG CHOLERA CURE

BUCKEYE CURE

MAKES HOG RAISING PROFITABLE.

AN ABSOLUTE PREVENTION AND CURE OF HOG CHOLERA.

IT WILL

Put your Hogs in first-class condition.
Stop cough and regulate the bowels.
Arrest disease in every instance.
Destroy worms.
Repay its cost many times over in the extra pounds of pork it will make without extra feed.

If your local dealers do not have it, we will send to any address on receipt of price, 50 cents a package. Write for prices on larger quantities.

AGENTS WANTED.

W. T. PHILIPPS & CO.,
NOS. 115 AND 117 ST. CLAIR STREET, TOLEDO, OHIO.

BIG DISPLAY!

AT G. H. YESBERA'S

NEW CLOTHING HOUSE.

Come where you can find on sale a full and complete line of Clothing of all the latest styles and fabrics, in Men's Boys' and Youths' suits; selected from the best manufactures in the Country. My aim is to be Headquarters for everything in the way of Ready-Made Clothing. I cordially invite everyone to call and look through the stock, get the prices and be convinced that this is the place to trade.

DON'T FORGET THE PLACE.

G. H. YESBERA'S New Clothing House.

DO YOU WANT A BARGAIN?

Then go to

THE FAIR STORE.

Pants,
Pants,
Pants.

Shirts,
Shirts,
Shirts.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's
UNDERWEAR,
Cheaper than the Cheapest.

2 JOHNS 2
AT THE FAIR.

J. C. HENRY, Prop'r,

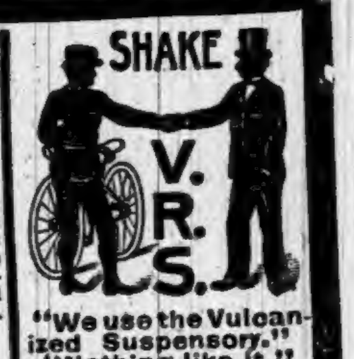
YOUNG, OLD and MIDDLE AGED MEN CURED. ATHLETES, BICYCLISTS, HORSEMEN, R. R. MEN.

A protection to the Generative Organs. For sale by druggists. TAKE NO OTHER.

A BOON TO MEN

Suffering from the follies of youth. A positive cure for Varicocele [enlarged veins], Lost Manhood, Impotency and Nocturnal Emissions without the aid of drugs. Our Suspensory is endorsed by physicians and fully protected by U. S. patents, dated Dec. 8th, 1891. The best, surest, cleanest, cheapest and most comfortable remedy on the market. Affords absolute relief; easily applied; no inconvenience to the wearer; prevents chafing in hot weather; prevents injury from sudden jar or strain. Price, $3.00 by mail, or by express C. O. D., with privilege of examination. Circulars and information free. Send orders and communications to wholesale department.

V. R. S. CO. 25 Buhl Block, DETROIT, MICH.



"We use the Vulcanized Suspensory." "Nothing like it."

Notice to Non-Residents.

STATE OF INDIANA, DEKALB COUNTY, } SS.

In the DeKalb circuit court. October term 1892, William Droud is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said court, for a divorce, by Harriet Droud, and that the same will be heard and determined on the 37th juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences Oct. 3rd, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 14th day of September, 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk.

MCLELLAN AND GARWOOD, Att'ys.

Administrator's Sale.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned administrator of the estate of Jacob Cupp, by order of the DeKalb Circuit court, will sell at private sale, the following premises situate in DeKalb county, in the state of Indiana, viz:

The undivided two-thirds of the northeast fourth of the northeast quarter of section thirty five (35) in township number thirty-four (34) north of range thirteen (13) east. Applications of purchasers will be received until Saturday, October 29, 1892.

at 2 o'clock p. m. at the office of J. E. & J. H. Rose in Auburn, in said county.

TERMS: One-third cash, one-third in nine months and one-third in eighteen months, the deferred payments to be evidenced by the purchaser's notes, at interest waiving relief, and secured by a mortgage on the premises.

MATTHIAS CUPP, Administrator.

J. E. & J. H. Rose, Att'ys for estate.

Sept. 17, 1892.

Notice to Non-Residents.

STATE OF INDIANA, DEKALB COUNTY, } SS

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, October term, 1892, Joseph Mathews, is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against him in said court to declare and enter satisfaction of a mortgage on real estate by Samuel Frederick, and that the same will be heard and determined on the 38th juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences October 3d, 1892.

WITNESS, The Clerk of said court, this 20th day of September 1892.

GEO. A. BISHOP, Clerk,

HENRY J. SHAFER Att'y.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, of the State of Indiana, executor of the estate of Jacob S. Paulmer deceased, late of said county. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

GILBERT I. PATTERSON, Executor.

September 9th, 1892. 39

The smallest Pill in the World!

Tutt's Tiny Pills

are very small, yet possess all the virtues of the larger Tutt's Pills which have been so popular for thirty years. Their size and sugar-coating commend them for the use of children and persons with weak stomachs. For they are invaluable as they cause the food to assimilate, nourish the body and pass off naturally without nausea or griping. Both sizes of Tutt's Pills are sold by all druggists. Dose small. Price, 25c. Office, 140 to 144 Wash'n St., N. Y.

Sick Headache

McElree's Wine of Cardui

and THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT are for sale by the following merchants in

DeKalb Co.:

Robbins & McCord,	Auburn,
F. E. Davenport,	"
J. D. Campbell,	Waterloo,
Willis & Co.,	"
Geo. Kebrer,	Butler,
S. G. Stone,	"
O. P. Raber,	Corunna,
W. M. Mercer,	"
J. M. Lefern,	Garrett,
Patterson Bros.,	St. Joe,
J. W. Wyatt,	Concord.

JAPANESE PILE CURE

A new and Complete Treatment, consisting of Suppositories, Ointment in Capsules, also in Box and Pills; a Positive Cure for External, Internal, Blind or Bleeding, Itching, Chronic, Recent or Hereditary Piles. This Remedy has never been known to fail. $1 per box, 6 for $5; sent by mail. Why suffer from this terrible disease when a written guarantee is positively given with 6 boxes, to refund the money if not cured. Send stamp for free sample. Guarantee issued by F. E. DAVENPORT.

THE AUBURN COURIER

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DEKALB COUNTY.

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, post office as second-class matter.

THURSDAY....SEPTEMBER 22, 1892

Public Speaking.

Hon. G. W. Bell, of Washington State will speak at St. Joe, Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, and at Auburn, the same evening, Sept. 24. All who heard him at Garrett, unite in saying he is the best speaker on tariff questions, we have had. Every democrat, republican, prohibitionist and people's party man should hear him. He deals fairly with all.

Hon. W. F. McNagny, our candidate for Congress, speaks at Spencerville, on the same evening, Sept. 24. Let every one come and hear an able and calm talk on living issues.

CHOLERA, abating at New York.

BOURKE COCHRAN, the great Tammany orator will speak at Ft. Wayne, Sept 30, 1892.

EVERYBODY would like to hear why Cleveland's private pension bill vetoes were not set aside. The next Congress was republican in both branches and Harrison was president. And all old soldiers know that Gen. Black was a better pension commissioner than Gen. Raum.

Took the Casters.

Some time ago some person or persons, with less honor than ingenuity, assumed the liberty of removing from H. J. Mossey's ice cream parlor, a set of casters to one of the tables, without even trying to obtain the permission of the proprietor for so doing. This is a mean low lived trick, the best that can be made of it, and one who is so lost to honesty and manly principles as to stoop so low as to steal a set of casters, ought to be taught by punishment of the law, that such actions are not popular with justice, and will not be tolerated by law-abiding citizens. The parties implicated are known to Mr. Mossey, and unless the articles which have been misplaced are returned, somebody will be made to feel the stringency of the law.

LAKE SHORE EXCURSIONS.

TO WATERLOO.

Account of the N. E. Indiana fair at Waterloo, Oct. 3 to 7 inclusive, the L. S. & M. S. Ry. will sell excursion tickets to Waterloo and return on above dates, at one fare for the round trip. Special trains will be run from Ft. Wayne to Waterloo and return, stopping at intermediate stations, on Oct. 5, 6 and 7, 1892. See posters. 39

TO ANGOLA.

On account of the Steuben Co. fair at Angola, Sept. 20 to 23 inclusive, the Lake Shore Ry. will sell excursion tickets to Angola and return at reduced rates on above dates. Special trains will run be from Auburn to Angola and return on Sept. 22 and 23.

TO HILLSDALE.

Account of the Hillsdale fair to be held Oct. 3 to 7 inclusive, the L. S. & M. S. Ry. will sell excursion tickets to Hillsdale and return on above dates, at one fare for the round trip, with 25 cents added for admission to the grounds. Tickets will be good going on date of sale, and returning not later than Oct. 8 Special trains will be run from Ft. Wayne to Hillsdale and return, stopping at intermediate stations, on Oct. 5, 6 and 7, 1892. See posters. 39

Take Notice

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me, will confer a great favor and at the same time cancel an honest obligation, by calling and settling at once. Please make a note of this, so when you are in town you will drop in and balance accounts.

Yours Resp'y.
J. BEUR T, Auburn.

The Crown Organs and Pianos.

These excellent instruments were a prominent feature at the fair last week. The wideawake manager, Wes. H. Husselman, had secured a large amount of space favorably located on the north of the main aisle in the great Exposition Hall, and had it decorated and arranged to the best advantage. His wide acquaintance and pleasing manner brought many friends about him there, and the "Crown" continued to be a center of attraction to the close. Of these excellent instruments, Mr. Husselman informs us, there are five different styles in organs alone, besides their splendid make of pianos. He has sold many of both within the last year or so, especially of the organs, as a large printed list he has will testify. In this list we find a dozen or so of the churches of the county, and many times that number of individuals. The list contains names of at least a score of representative people, with whom we have a personal acquaintance, and we are gratified to know that so many of their homes have had this added adornment and source of enjoyment. And judging from the make and tone of these instruments, they certainly are sold on their merits. Mr. Husselman is bound to add a "Crown" to a good many more of our homes.

Don't Get Excited Now!

The above exclamation is oftimes made as a caution. In that sense it is generally conceded to be a warning as to some danger which might accompany excitement,—not as yet seen, but understood as lying dimly in the future, and depending entirely for its origin upon the unsettled frame of mind of the unfortunate victim. It is also sometimes used to signify something to the contrary and must be understood according to its application. In the present sense in which the expression is used, it is intended to be the means of conveying the attention of the reader to the fact that stands prominently before a people whose intelligence and long acquaintance with the subject in hand will enable him or her to understand fully what is meant.

DON'T GET EXCITED NOW

is a figure in speech used by A. Lewis & Co. to their customers who flock there to buy lumber and have to wait their turn to be waited upon, and serves the purpose of assuring them that their respective turns will come soon. That A. Lewis & Co have the lumber business of this community in their own hands, so far as leadership, quantity and prices are concerned, is no longer enshrouded in the misty veil of shadow and doubt. Long ago, competition succumbed to the influence of judgment. Long ago—aye in the dim and almost imperceptible forgetfulness of the past, a fairy-like vision appears, holding in her delicate hands, the mystic wand of reverie and mistaken ideas of consistent propriety, which when once adopted, only brings ruin and a vast deal of profitless experience, over which the blinded victim has but little reason to gloat. This company, under the management of Mr. Lewis, through honesty, stick-to-it-iveness and a thorough knowledge of the business have placed themselve upon that stand of success where they can look the patronizing world fairly and squarely in the eyes and say, "We can assist you to build as fine a building as you may wish to construct, at prices and conditions that defy the rigid terms of competition. and we kindly and modestly court your attention while we explain our methods and qualities of stock to you, with the fullest confidence that your judgment and facilities of comparison will be your own solicitation to deal with us." Mr. Lewis is here to stay, and those who need anything in his line will find him the man to satisfy their wants. Office and yard near L. S. & M. S. freight house, Auburn, Ind.

Garrett Steam Laundry.

Peter Young has the agency for the Model Steam Laundry at Garrett, an establishment that has a reputation equal to the best, and has been in operation for the past two years with marked success. Parties should call on Mr. Young when they want any work in this line. Fine work and prompt delivery a specialty. Laundry will be sent over by Mr. Young Tuesday and be returned Saturday.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

THE FAIR.

As noted last week, the weather was somewhat against us. But on Wednesday it came off better, and Thursday and Friday were good days. Then the managers concluded to continue till Saturday, at least with the races. There was a fair attendance, even on Saturday, so that we suppose the receipts were enough to pay expenses. The exhibits were generally good, though not so abundant as other years, especially in agricultural products, all of which was short this season. The races were fair and on the last days good. The running of the double teams proved a fine attraction, and was an eminent success. The balloon ascensions were all that could be expected in that line, especially the novel feature of letting a dog down from the balloon. In the way of displays made by our local business men, it was up to the standard. The Eagle Iron Works had a fine show of stoves of their make including the beautiful range cooking stove they offered to give away to the couple who would get married on the fair ground. No one, however, had the sand to get married there; why, we cannot say, for surely it would have been as proper there as anywhere. This firm also had fine bells, grates, cast iron culverts, etc. J. L. Davis had a lovely show of coal and wood stoves, and other hardware, and a similar fine display was made by Brown, Culbertson & Boland. Flemming had a fine display of plants and flowers, and got a lot of premiums. S. Z. Dickinson of Waterloo also had a good display. Mr. Meese had his favorite washing machines, the Auburn Swing Washer. Wilson & Son had a big lot of boots, shoes and rubber goods, as did also, the Mammoth shoe store. Mr. York for the Kiblinger establishment had a booth in which he showed the lovely work he can do with the Standard sewing machine. He does some wonderful work. The parties from Indianapolis who showed the singer machine had some marvelous work in embroidery. Moore & Merica of Garrett, had a large display of pianos and organs, as did also Wes. Huselman of Waterloo who sells the "Crown" instruments. C. C. Shaffer had fine furniture.

Out on the grounds were the wind mills of the Zimmerman Co., the Auburn, the Monitor, the Diamond and the Favorite. Shaffer & Berg showed splendid farm wagons, and Eckhart, Richie and the Zimmerman Co., had a fine showing of buggies. There was a great deal of fine stock, especially sheep. Amos Walsworth had some of his pure merinos, and there were other valuable exhibits, but not finding the owners, we could not get the names. Altogether exhibits in all classes were creditable.

WANTED, FOR THE UNITED STATES ARMY, able-bodied unmarried men, between the ages of 21 and 30 years. Good pay, rations, clothing, and medical attendance. Applicants must be prepared to furnish satisfactory evidence as to age, character and habits. Apply at 4th floor, Bass Block, Calhoun street, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

"THAT TERRIBLE DISTRESS."

LIVER TROUBLE, BILIOUSNESS, NERVOUS PROSTRATION, AND KIDNEY DISEASE.

Treated by Eight Physicians Without Benefit.

CURED BY LIVURA.

MR. F. B. ARCHER.

LIVURA M'F'G. CO.,
DEAR SIRS:—"For about 5 years I have been afflicted with Liver trouble, causing me to become very Billious. I had headache continually, my appetite was very poor, and a deathly faintness at the pit of the stomach accompanied by a terrible distress. During the past two years my Kidneys became very weak and pained me so badly I could not rest. Owing to extreme nervousness I was unable to attend to my business, and in January I came down with Nervous Prostration. Eight different Physicians have had me under their care, but I grew worse instead of better.

Learning of PITCHER'S LIVURA I began taking it and my improvement was noticeable from the first. I have taken 3 bottles and am ENTIRELY CURED, able to attend to my work, and have not felt so well for 6 years. I give all the credit to

PITCHER'S LIVURA.

Respectfully, F. B. ARCHER,
830 West Concord Street, Dayton, Ohio. 34

LIVURA OINTMENT
The Great Skin Cure.

Cures Eczema, Salt Rheum, Pimples, Ulcers, Itch, and all affections of the skin. Heals Cuts, Bruises, burns, scalds, etc. Sold by all Druggists, or by mail. Price 35 Cents.

THE LIVURA M'F'G. CO., NASHVILLE, TENN.

HAVE YOU SEEN OUR FINE SHOES,
BOOTS,
HEAVY SHOES?

If not, Come at Once and look them over.

No extra charge for a
Good, Square Look,
And we charge no more for a GOOD. SOLID SHOE, than some dealers do for an
INFERIOR ARTICLE.

We never were in better shape to please our customers in

Selections,
Quality,
Price!

WE OWN
BOOTS
CHEAPER
Than any firm in the county. Good, reliable footwear at
LOW PRICES!

We ask a share of your patronage.

WILSON,
Waterloo and Auburn.

Winter Wraps!

FOR

Ladies, Misses and Children.

Our Stock is Larger than ever.
Our Styles New and Novel.
Our Prices will Surely Please.
Don't Fail to See Us before Buying.

MILLINERY!

In This Dep't We Offer Extensive Line of

Trimmed Hats and Bonnets,

INCLUDING

ManY PrettY NoveltieS!

Which we would be pleased to have you see.

HARTER,

AUBURN.

Main Street, North of Farmers Bank,

☞ We close our Store at 7:30 p. m., Standard Time, except Mondays and Saturdays,---Open until 9 p. m.

I. O. BUCHTEL,
Homoeopathic
Physician and Surgeon.

Special attention given to chronic and obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.

Office and residence over Smith & Madden's marble works, Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, night or day.

H. DARLING, D. D. S.,
Surgeon Dentist.

Graduate of CHICAGO COLLEGE OF DENTAL SURGERY.
Member of Royal College of Dental Surgeons of ONTARIO.

☞ Gas administered for Painless Extraction.

Dr. James Adams,
VETERINARY SURGEON.

Will treat all Diseases of Domestic Animals. He has had THIRTY YEARS successful PRACTICE. Call on him at his residence No. 34, North Main street, or at ROBBINS & McCORD'S Drug Store.

Dr. K. K. Wheelock,
—Diseases of the—
EYE AND EAR

A Specialty. Office 26, W. Wayne St., Fort Wayne, Ind.

McBRIDE and McBRIDE,
COPYISTS,

Manuscript Speeches, Briefs and Depositions, Business and Personal Type-Writing Generally,

WATERLOO, IND.

☞ Write for terms, stating what kind of WORK.

Dr. F. M. Hines, Physician and SURGEON.
Office over J. C. HENRY'S Grocery, in the Ford Block,
AUBURN, IND.

☞ RESIDENCE, at the Samuel Swihart residence on South Jackson St. near the Church Furniture factory, and just across west from the German Methodist church. All calls attended to promptly, night or day.

---AUBURN WOOLEN MILLS---
........DOES........

All kinds of CUSTOM WORK, such as Carding, Spinning, Etc.

ALSO

MANUFACTURE for the TRADE, Yarns Flannels, Skirtings, Blankets and Wool Bats.

These goods are absolutely PURE and warranted to give SATISFACTION to the Consumer.

—ENSLEY & FORKNER, Proprietors.—
Call at FACTORY North End of Main street
AUBURN, IND.

AUBURN IRON WORKS,

Will repair steam engines, boilers and all kinds of machinery, grind plow points, etc.

Brass, pipes and all pipe-fittings

FURNISHED.

DIED,—In this city, of consumption A familiar headline isn't it? It's pretty risky to neglect a cold or cough. One Minute Cough Syrup is pleasant, safe and sure. Robbins & McCord.

LOCAL NEWS.

☞ BLACK-DRAUGHT tea cures Constipation.

Hardware! hardware!! All hardware at cost. J. Beuret.

Cubeb Cough Cure—One Minute. Sold by F. E. Davenport. tf

Krause's Headache Capsules—Warranted. Sold by F. E. Davenport. tf

Coughing leads to consumption. Kemp's Balsam will stop that cough at once.

Do not almost kill yourself by violent purgatives. Take Simmons Liver Regulator.

Try Dullam's Great German 15-cent liver pills, 40 in each package, at Casebeer & Matheny's.

MY GIRL, is one of the most popular brands of cigars on the market.

The greatest worm destroyer on earth is Dullam's Great German Worm Lozengers, only 25 cents per box. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Smoke the Little Salesman, the nobbiest brand out.

A thing of beauty is a joy forever. If so, get 1 doz. cabinets at Rice's studio. No chromos, no air burnish pictures. Only 12 cabinets and a paris pannel for 1 doz. on ticket rates. 33tf

Voice culture, piano, organ, thorough base and harmony, I will give lessons in any of these branches. Over fourteen years experience.
tf J. I. Chany, Auburn.

Have tried almost every known remedy for Itching Piles without success, finally bought a box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, and it has cured me. C. D. Haskins, Peoria, Ill.—Robbins & Mc Cord.

Omaha, Neb., May 5, 1891.
To whom it may concern:

I have suffered for years with neuralgic headache, and Krause's Headache Capsules is the only remedy that has done me any good. Would recommend them to all similarly affected. Charles Passot, 716 N. 16th Street.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by Robbins & McCord, druggist, Auburn, Ind. tf

Miles' Nerve & Liver Pills. Act on a new principle—regulating the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new discovery. Dr. Miles' Pills speedily cure biliousness, bad taste, torpid liver, piles, constipation. Unequaled for men, women, and children. Smallest, mildest, surest! 50 doses, 25 cts. Samples free at F. E. Davenport's.

Very much surprised: I have been afflicted with neuralgia for nearly two years, have tried physicians and all known remedies, but found no permanent relief until I tried a bottle of Dullman's Great German Liniment and it gave me instant and permanent relief. 25 cents per bottle. Signed, A. B. Snell, Hamilton, Mich. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Grover Cleveland's Grand March Ben. Harrison's Grand March, either of these two marches will be sent to any address on receipt of 20 cents each, or the two for 35 cts. These marches are new. Every player should have them. Postage stamps acceptable. Address all orders J. I. Chaney, Auburn. Ind.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.—The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Robbins & McCord. tf

McElree's WINE OF CARDUI for female diseases.

Spangle is the jeweler. 39

Fair at Angola this week.

Kendallville fair Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

State fair at Indianapolis this week.

See the big notice of Uncle Tom's Cabin show.

$2 will insure a dozen photographs at J. A. Landis'. 38-39

A new electric light pole to go up soon on 5th street.

Agent DeLapp is off on a visit to the old home at Albion, Mich.

Isn't she lovely, though? Who, what is lovely? Auburn, of course!

Try Dullam's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Mathens's.

Blind Boone to-night at the Opera House. Don't forget this musical wonder.

Dr. Watson was here a few days last week and this. His present home is Chicago.

Dr. S. B. Johnston, dentist, will be in his office at Waterloo on Thursday of each week.

Frank Borst is at Indianapolis this week, on county business, and will also take in the state fair.

Wm. Ruhl, on account of the small crop of apples does not expect to start his cider mill this fall.

My wife cured of malaria by Simmons Liver Regulator. J. N. Thompson, pastor of M. E. church, Leigh, Neb.

The nickel social of the Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. J. L. Davis on Friday afternoon. All invited to attend.

R H. Murch, of Butler, was over here Tuesday on some ditch matters in which he is interested. He is still an engineer on the Wabash road.

The Waterloo fair managers have made special arrangements for the races on Thursday of their fair, and consequently the contest will be exciting.

In the bicycle races at the fair Thursday and Friday, Mr. George of Garrett, got first prize and Will Eckhart of Auburn, second. Both are good riders.

The Y. W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. W. J. Olds Monday eve Sept. 26, to elect officers for the coming year. All members requested to be present.

The Auburn band got new instruments last week of the famous Conn Co., at Elkhart. They are very fine silver horns and the boys say they are the best in the world.

Married:—At the U. B. parsonage, Sep. 4, 1892, by Rev. J. P. Hight, Mr. Day Wyatt and Miss Rebecca Kester, both of Dekalb Co. May many blessings attend this worthy couple.

W. L. Hines has gone to Ft. Wayne, where he will attend medical lectures this winter. He intends to follow the practice of medicine, making a total of three physicians in 'Squire Hines' family.

George Wittmer was back this week from his new home in Indianapolis. His home is corner of College Ave. and 18th st. He continues in the lumber business in which he has had abundant experience.

A gentleman of this country, who has excellent judgment, remarked to us the other day, that he knew of no pill so good for constipation, dyspepsia and liver complaint, as DeWitt's Little Early Risers.—Robbins & McCord.

Lost: In the exposition hall on the fair ground, a white crochet cape; had taken first premium, and was, when last seen on Saturday, among the other articles in its class. Finder will confer a favor by leaving same at this office.

Mrs. Al. Roland, last week, received a box of limes from Mrs. A. B. Huffman, in Florida. They are a small variety of lemons, and used for the same purpose. Mrs. Roland intended taking them to the fair, but thought they were not ripe enough.

Hot Springs Skin Soap acts directly upon the delicate pores of the body, sweetens and purifies the skin, thereby rendering it free from bad odors, pimples, rashes and other disagreeable and repugnant manifestations.—For sale by Davenport.

Richard's three big shows are coming to Auburn, Sept. 28, and judging from the favorable comments of the press where they have been playing, we conclude they are worthy of the patronage of the public. The prices are only 35 cents for adults and 25 for children.

Miss Vina Cool entertained about fifty of her young friends last evening at her home on West Sixth street. The occasion was one to be remembered, both for enjoyment and the good things to eat. She received many nice presents, showing with what esteem she is held among her many young friends.

It is murmured in our town, Miss Lillie, the handsome and highly esteemed milliner, daughter of Wm. Snyder, of St. John, is soon to wed a popular young man of Ft. Wayne. She is well known among our society young people of that place. We join her friends in sending heartiest congratulations.

National day has been made a special feature of the Waterloo fair Wednesday, Oct. 5th, has been set apart for a great political discussion. One speaker from each political party will address the people. A grand auditorium is being prepared for the occasion and the men you will hear discuss the issues of the day are the best the nation has. Southern Michigan and eastern Ohio will participate in this grand feast, thus giving Northern Indiana a grand round up.

It will pay our readers to come to town and see the free sights given by Richard's Triple Shows on Wednesday, Sept. 28, and "take in" the circus. They travel by their own special train, and the company is composed of one hundred first-class circus people, and taking everything into consideration, we can assure our readers that they will be highly entertained if they will only take the opportunity. The prices are cheap, adults 35 cents; children 25. See their large advertisement in this issue, and read it carefully.

Rumor has it that Hank Little has sued Cal. Husselman for $1,000, to pay for that licking. This shows his ingratitude. He ought to pay Husselman $1.000 for curing him of his "liquor habit," for we have not seen him drunk since. Besides it has compelled them to run their paper on a trifle more decent style, a change which at least the people of Auburn and Garrett, appreciate. The last two issues of their paper, have been almost respectable, and contain several "Clipper temperance articles," etc, with a view, we suppose of securing a better public opinion, as the public must furnish a jury. But a public that has been outraged weekly for several years past, is hardly likely to furnish many jurymen, who will misplace so much good money. At all events, we hope he will keep sober till he gets that $1,000.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

☞ WINE OF CARDUI, a Tonic for Women.

Blind Boone is here.

Kendallville fair Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

Tutt's pills require no change of diet.

Landis is giving a dozen photographs for $2. 38-39

Oysters, the first of the season, at Rainier's.

Flemming, the florist has many pretty flowers on hand.

Not going out of business, but selling hardward at cost, J. Beuret.

Willie Campbell is home again after a few weeks' stay at Mendon, Mich.

Mrs. Ehlers goes to Iowa. this week where she will remain several weeks.

Now don't forget the place when wanting work done, Spangle will do it for you. 39

Auburn and vicinity should all go to the Waterloo fair. The dates are Oct. 3 to 7.

The healthy people you meet have healthy livers. They take Simmons Liver Regulator.

Read over the new advertisements this week. Big, new stocks of goods will interest all buyers.

Miss Tidrick, of Jules City Kansas, has been here several weeks visiting her cousin, Mrs. J. M. Hook.

Rev. N. J. Myers has been here a few days. He is located at Circleville, O. He has many friends here.

See the fine stoves in Kiblinger's show window at night, when the incandescent lights are inside. It is pretty.

Smoke a genuine Bill Head cigar made by Kessler Bros.

Miss Amy Plumb, daughter of Guy Plumb of Easton, Md., is here visiting her relatives, of the Brandon families.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard of Bryan, have been visiting with T. P. Scott's a few days. Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Bernard are cousins.

Mrs. Towne and daughter, of Fort Wayne, is here visiting Mrs. F. J. Yesbers. They expect to visit also in Pleasant Lake.

G. W. Lewis and wife of Hicksville, were here last week. the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cook Ford, the latter being their daughter.

Miss Katie Susenhiemer, of Ft. Wayne, and Mrs. L. Crampton, of Indianapolis, were the guests of Miss Valaria Case, during the fair.

The young hopefuls, who were but a time ago, skipping about in the full enjoyment of a short vacation, have again resumed to stern realities of study.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Buchtel, the parents of Dr. Buchtel, and Mrs. Dowel, mother of Mrs. Buchtel visited them a few days last week and took in the fair.

New stock of boots and shoes at Potter's and at lowest living prices. He is always ready to give you the most for your money. Call on him, opposite the Swineford.

J. J. Martin and son Herbie, were here last Thursday, the latter being a member of the Albion military band. They returned to Albion on the 11 p. m., B. & O. train.

These is no use talking, neither Harrison or Cleveland will be elected unless they take DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They have a "get there" quality possessed by no other pill.—Robbins & McCord.

Gugerli, the merchant tailor, is now located in his new room, at the old stand. His new building is fine. The north room will soon be occupied by Richard Shull with a stock of boots and shoes.

Dress making: I wish to say to the ladies of Auburn, that I am cutting and fitting in all the latest styles and patterns at prices accordingly. Establishment on West 9th st.
38-39 Viola McCrory.

Squire Walborn and Rev. J. D. Brosy of the Lutheran church here, and Levi Treesh and Rev. Mr. Walker, of the Fairfield and Richland churches, are at Camden, Ind., this week, attending the synod. They will be gone all the week.

Mrs. Kuhlman's Sunday school class of the Baptist church surprised her Tuesday by bringing eatables for all, and also they all went down to Mr. Rice's gallery and had their pictures taken. Mrs. K. expects to start soon for Denver, Colo., on a visit.

J. W. McCrory, of Angola, called up to see us and renew our ancient friendship, Saturday. John is still a sound democrat, though so reasonable a one that he has been twice elected to the town council in that stronghold of republicans.

Gen'l Franz Sigel, the great German and American soldier, will possitively be at the Kendallville fair on Soldier's day, Wednesday, Sept. 28 Every old soldier will be admitted free. It will be an immense gathering of soldiers. It will be the biggest day of the fair.

In a big heading the Dispatch last week said "Commissioners Hoffelder and Patterson build a useless bridge for $1,100." They should have added "The Dispatch and Commissioner Lockwood fought hard to make the county pay $4,500 for that same bridge." That is just what both are on record for.

The M. E. Sunday school infant class together with Mr. Weaver's class will have a picnic at the fair grounds Saturday. The children will take their dinners along and will meet at the church by 10 o'clock where there will be conveyances to take them to the ground. Any parents wishing to accompany the children will be welcome.

Lost:—On Saturday evening, Sept. 10th, somewhere along the sidewalk leading from Thomas' bakery to Rainier's meat market, and then to Garrett's grocery, a ten-dollar bill. Finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving at this office, or with the owner, Dell Crew. He thinks it was lost near the Kiblinger corner, or near Robbin & McCord's.

The lantern parade by the Auburn bicycle club and others, Friday evening was a novel and beautiful sight. Each rider carried, in some way, a lot of Chinese lanterns, making a brilliant spectacle as they slowly moved in a long procession up town, and around on several streets. The first prize was awarded to George Henderson of this place, while Ora Snyder of Angola, got second.

John Kouse, who was sent to state's prison nearly two years ago, for dangerously wounding P. F. Ryan, in an altercation at the band sawmill, was here this week. He has been at work at Kendallville for a time, as he had saved three months, on his time by good behavior. He speaks well of the present management at Michigan City, and seems to bear ill will to no one. Except for the one bad scrape he got into, we always heard he was a well-dispoded and industrious citizen.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

McELREE'S WINE OF CARDUI for Weak Nerves.

Hardware at cost at Bueret's.

Ira Brandon has a bicycle for sale.

Kendallville fair Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

Spangle, the jeweler, carries a full line of spectacles. 39

J. A. Landis announces a reduction in prices, this week,

Go to Potter's, opposite the Swineford House, for good bargains in shoes.

Try Dullman's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Rev. G. W Healy attended the meeting of the presbytery at Warsaw this week.

A good place to get your eyes fitted with spectacles at Spangle's, at Reading Room. 39

Here is a big bonanza for someone! All gasolene stoves at half-price at J. Beuret's.

To feel bright and cheerful, attend to your stomach. Take Simmons Liver Regulator.

Root & Co. the Ft. Wayne merchants have their advt., again in this issue of the Courier.

Try Dullam's Great German 15-cent liver pills 40 in each package. For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

Potter, the shoe dealer, for good quality boots and shoes, at hard time prices. Opposite the Swineford.

Young America is the cigar to smoke now-a-days.

Mrs. Dr. Siver of Ft. Wayne, was here last week visiting her people, the families of Judge McClellan and D. A. Garwood.

L. T. Rice the artist, and John Abel of Auburn, purchased fine organs of F. Swirgle & Sons of Hicksville, during the Auburn fair.

Stockholders of the Waterloo fair should read the notice we have, carefully, so as to know when and where to get tickets for their stock.

Take the children to the afternoon show, Sept. 28, and let them see the troupe of trained horses, ponies, dogs and goats, and avoid the big rush in the evening.

Dyspepsia, distress after eating, sour stomach, poor appetite, bad taste, coated tongue and heartburn are cured by DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pill.—Robbins & McCord.

Schnell & Weeks are hustlers in the grocery trade. They have a well stocked room and can offer unlimited inducements to customers. Remember their place of business south of the jail Auburn.

Lost: On Friday, Sept. 16, a gold watch, somewhere between my residence on North Jackson street, and our barber shop on West Eighth street. A suitable reward will be paid by calling on McDowell Bros. at their barber shop.

Hip! Hip!! Hurrah!!! The campaign of 1892 has opened up with a boom, and we are not going to be behind the times in the "boom business." For the next period, indefinite, we will "boom" our gasolene stoves at half-price. J. Beuret.

Read the program for the big show, Sept, 28. Big spectacular street parade promptly at 12 o'clock, free tight rope ascension, balloon ascension and parachute drop, a big railroad circus in the afternoon, and at 8 o'clock in the evening; Richard's Monster Double Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. Come to town in time to see it all.

John Stonestreet of Butler township, reports two fine hickory poles raised down there, Tuesday evening, one 75 feet high at Henry L. Houser's, and a week before, they raised one 70 feet high at Fred Smith's. There was no speech in either case, and both were a surprise to the parties where it was done, yet they had a good crowd. Old Butler is solid yet.

"The Rileys" always have good houses in Auburn because our people have learned that they have good plays, and what is better, new ones. They have always brought a good company with them, and this time the talent put on the stage, was even better than at their previous visits. The plays, too, kept getting better and better each evening, to the end of the week. Few companies can maintain themselves a week as well as the Rileys can.

We received last week a copy of the Muncie Daily Times sent no doubt, by our friend, F. C. Waterman, in which was an account of the meeting in that place of the old "Iron Brigade" in which he served so long, he being a member of the 2nd Wisconsin. The Brigade was made up of the 2nd, 6th and 7th Wisconsin, 24th Michigan and 19th Indiana, and near the close of the war, the 95th New York was added. It became famous for its gallant services in many desperate battles.

Dr. Buchtel had a queer accident one day last week. While putting his hand down into the weeds near the marble shop, to pick up something he had dropped, someone called to him to be careful, as he thought he heard a rattlesnake. The Doctor saw nothing, but felt a sort of stinging in his hand, and soon after his arm swelled badly. He applied remedies and took a big dose of whisky, and after a time was all right. He is not sure as to its being a case of snake bite but there was an ugly wound on his hand that looked dangerous at least.

MARRIED.

Under this simple title, we record the marriage of one of the best and most favorably known young ladies in all this part of the country. At two p. m., of yesterday, Sept. 21, 1892, Miss Ida Blair, daughter of Gen. L. J. Blair, was united in marriage to James W. Daniels of Fairmont, Minn. Rev. G. W. Healy, of the Auburn Presbyterian church was the officiating minister. The wedding was a quiet one, only the immediate relatives of the two families and a few invited friends being present. The groom is a son of R. G. Daniels of Waterloo, and has been for many years in business at Fairmont. After the ceremony a splendid dinner was served. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, which will become tokens of the many warm friends she leaves behind. Mr. and Mrs. Daniels left for their distant home on the four o'clock fast train over the Lake Shore. A world of good wishes follow them.

Notice to Stockholders.

Stockholders of the Waterloo fair will be given four admission tickets for each share of stock owned. These tickets can be had at the secretary's office at entrance gate on and after Monday of the fair. No tickets will be sent by mail, but will be ready for stockholders at time and place named. 38-39

Try BLACK-DRAUGHT tea for Dyspepsia.

Rainier for oysters.

Kendallville fair Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

All hardware will be closed out at cost at Beuret's.

The school yard lawn presents a beautiful appearance.

A. L. Kuhlman thinks some of going into the lumber business.

Spangle, the jeweler, is permanently located at the Reading Room. 39

The foundation for the new buggy box factory is nearing completion.

Smoke the L. AND M. cigar, if you want some good.

Try Dullman's Great German 25-cent cough cure at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. Most people need to use it.

Go to the Kendallville fair and see Gen'l Franz Sigel, on Wednesday, Sept. 28, '92.

The tent meetings near the Reformed church will probably continue this week and next.

Handy for travelers is Simmons Liver Regulator in powder. It can be carried in the pocket.

John Otto, the old and familiarly friendly John, still interests the boys, with his humor.

For the present, until my stock of gasolene stoves is lowered, I will sell at half-price. J. Beuret.

National day at the Waterloo fair, Oct. 5. Ablest speakers of the four political parties will address the people.

Piles of people have piles, but DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve will cure them.
Robbins & McCord

Slates, tablets and all school supplies the cheapest and best at Casebeer & Matheny, opposite Swineford House. 37

Do you want the best kind of a photograph for the money? If you do it will pay you to go to J. A. Landis, of the City Gallery. 38-39

If you are a close buyer and want to save a per cent on the investment, you should call at J. Beuret's and get one of those matchless gasolene stoves at half-price.

What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world, and then have the dyspepsia so bad that he can't enjoy any of the good things it contains? He won't have dyspepsia if he takes DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Robbins & McCord

At the Opera House to-night, the musical marvel of the age, Blind Boone, who can reproduce the most difficult tune that anyone can play, though he never heard it before. He also brings several singers to assist. These colored people have few, if any equals in fine music. All should hear them.

Rheumatism Cured in a Day.—"Mystic Cure" for rheumatism and neuralgia radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause and the disease immdiately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits. 75 cents. Sold and guaranteed by Robbins & McCord druggists, Auburn.

AT BEDTIME
I TAKE A PLEASANT
HERB
DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1.00 per package. Buy one to-day. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary.

Lagrange fair Oct. 4 to 7.

Uncle Tom's Cabin Sept. 28.

Kendallville fair Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

Gasolene stoves at half-price at J Beuret's.

Long's breakfast flour for breakfast for sale at Brandon's.

Orva Weeks returned from his trip in the northwest yesterday.

Spangle, the jeweler, will save you money when buying in his line.

Try Dullman's Great German 15-cent liver pills at Casebeer & Matheny's.

Do your want hardware? Then go to Beuret, where you can get it at cost.

The musical wonder, Blind Boone, and a company of the finest singers in the country, Opera House to-night.

The Kendallville fair is still at the front, and will hold its tenth annual meeting, Sept. 26 to 30, '92.

Do not be deceived with cheap pictures called $3 cabinets. Rice will give you finer work than can be had in this vicinity for half price.

Great reduction in prices at the City Gallery. $2 will pay for dozen of good pictures at J. A. Landis', City Gallery.

When you are in town and at a loss to know just where to deal and what to buy, go to J. Beuret on North Main St., and see what he has to offer in the line of stoves and hardware.

It's not very pleasant to cough and hack,
To suffer pain in chest and back,
Many people could stop it for sure
By simply using One Minute Cough Cure.
Robbins & McCord.

New fall and winter millinery. Mrs. Trumbull, nee Miss Husselman, has just returned from the trimming rooms, where she has spent the last week in selecting and taking lessons in trimming and is prepared to show you a fine and well selected stock of everything that is new and fashionable. She invites your inspection of the same, and wishes to show you that prices as well styles are right and reasonable. Please call and see them while the stock is complete.
Mrs. F. A. Trumbull,
Corunna, Ind.

FALL MILLINERY.

We Are Now Ready With

An extensive and complete stock of Fall and Winter Millinery including the many new features in

FANCY FEATHERS,

quills, plumes, jets and

FRENCH NOVELTIES,

straw and felt hats, for Fall, and a most extensive and varied assortment of Children's School Hats,

caps and hoods.

Come and see us, and you will find our goods and prices right.

Yours Respectfully,

Cowan Sisters.

On The Threshold

OF OUR

FALL BUSINESS

We wish to say that the highest notch we ever reached for variety, durability, style and value, will be surpassed by this season's stock of Fall Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, and Caps, which stock is now arriving daily. Our school clothing

FOR THE BOYS,

is as near perfection as it is possible to make them. These suits are as stylish and nobby as those for dress, and our prices are

Below All Competition.

Do not fail to see our Short Pants Suits from $1.50 to $6. Long Pants Suits from $4 to $12.

OUR HAT

Department always in front. We beg to announce the arrival of our Fall Style Hats. The Celebrated is acknowledged to be the leader when it comes to a stylish stiff and soft hat. A cute line of children's hats and caps.

EXCELSIOR

The Boston ONE-PRICE CLOTHING STORE

Auburn Courier.
AUBURN, INDIANA.
JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

For President,
GROVER CLEVELAND,
OF NEW YORK.
For Vice President,
ADLAI E. STEVENSON,
OF ILLINOIS.

PROTECTION is called an American policy because it robs none but Americans.

KEEP this in your mind: The present protective system is Republicanism softened with grand larceny.

THE bayonet at the workshop and the bayonet at the polls will give us a truly republican form of government.

IT is possible that Mr. Blaine is getting ready to tell the Republicans of Maine what he doesn't know about Br'er Harrison.

IT is well for Don Dickinson to be Chairman of the Campaign Committee. Michigan will make the best record this year she has ever made.

THE New York Press scores the State of Tennessee for authorizing the lease of convict labor, and the New York Republican boss, Tom Platt, leases this labor.

CANDIDATE REID wasted a powerful amount of ammunition when he whirled westward and tried his confidence game on a State that is committed to the Democracy.

THE Anderson tin plate works, recently sold by the sheriff for $218, were reported by the special agent of the treasury department as having a working capital of $20,000.

THE Indiana election result is apparently predetermined. There is a tone in the Indianapolis Journal, the Harrison family organ, which is eloquent of fear and exasperation.

IF President Harrison cannot fill his stumping engagements this fall he will do well to substitute Mr. Platt. The latter is having a good rest and should be in good form by early autumn.

MR. CARNEGIE might sell his Pittsburgh library, if he gets it back, and convey the proceeds to the gallant Pennsylvania militia, as a reward for their faithful service on a field where the Pinkertons failed.

THE pleasant and truthful Republican press is already calling Mr. Stevenson a lawyer, a copperhead, and a substitute hirer. Isn't it rather early in the campaign to be putting in the powerful arguments?

THE treasury special report on tin manufactures show that 99 per cent. of the tin consumed in the United States this year was imported. Did the foreigner pay the tariff of 2 cents a pound of the 600,000,000 pounds imported?

EX-CHAIRMAN CLARKSON has given out what the Republican press calls "an official statement" of his position." Upon scrutiny, however, it becomes evident that it is really an official statement of how he happened to be without any position.

MR. CARTER speaks in glowing terms of the work of the General Land Office in his annual report. It is a matter of surprise that he was able to obtain his own consent to relinquish an office for which he evidently regarded himself as being perfectly equipped.

THE St. Louis Post-Dispatch thinks that Mr. Harrison, since the negroes voted the Democratic ticket in Alabama, will take no more interest in the force bill, which is only intended to make Republican votes. Certain it is that Mr. Harrison never spoke against gerrymanders until the Democrats began to profit by them. B. H. is the Joey Bagstock of politics.

ONE of the campaign documents issued by the Republican National Committee consists of a map showing that the rate of wages in Republican States is over $1 a day, while "in all Democratic States except Connecticut and New Jersey wages are less than $1 a day." It would be interesting if the Republican committee would explain what causes the difference between the wages paid in Democratic and Republican States.

THE New York Commercial-Advertiser now shows its thorough conversion to Republicanism by declaring that the negroes are not allowed to vote in the South. We call the attention of that paper to the fact that Mr. Harrison in 1888 received over 138,000 votes in Tennessee, while the Democratic candidates for Congress in 1890 received only 105,000 votes. Where does the suppressing come in here in Tennessee, for instance?

ACCORDING to a recent decision wax angels for Christmas trees must now pay 35 per cent. duty, but no one would object to that if the little angels who gather around the Christmas tree could be clothed in something warmer than American shoddy. The only industries that the tariff on wool encourages are sheep-raising and coffin-making.

ILLINOIS STATE REGISTER: The Illinois Republican committee has been sending out circulars to committee chairmen headed in big letters, "Illinois Is in Danger!" The Republican machine makes a grave mistake of assuming that the Republican party is Illinois. Illinois is all right—it is the Republican party that is doomed.

IN their efforts to placate Tom Platt Republican managers have "slopped over" and succeeded only in putting Platt in a worse humor than ever. He is out in a declaration that he never authorized anybody to say that he would "take an active part in the campaign" or anything like it. He simply told Chairman Brookfield that he "would support the ticket," and he didn't put that in writing, reserving to himself, as did Harrison, the right to repudiate his promises.

THE New York Press says: "Reciprocity is increasing our cotton goods exports to Brazil. During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1892, we exported to Brazil $689,465 of manufactured cotton, as against $538,583 during the fiscal year, 1890-91." The Press does not note the fact printed on page 70 of the Statistical Abstract issued by the Treasury Department, that for 1891 our total imports from Brazil were $83,230,595, and that the balance of trade against us was $69,110,349, the largest in our history, and all under reciprocity.

SECRETARY FOSTER believes that the United States Treasury can furnish all the cash needed for moving the crops. He claims to have $16,000,000 of free gold to exchange for notes of large denominations. The Secretary and his friends fail to observe the absurdity involved in the idea that the United States Treasury should be called upon to regulate the money market when crops are to be moved. But they would be the first ones to sneer at the propsition that "the Government should go into the banking business." There is room for an increase of financial knowledge among Republican financiers.

CHICAGO newspapers have been having lots of fun with the name of the Vice Presidential candidate. When he was at Springfield they called him Outlaw Reid. After he had spent a day in the soot and smoke and grime of Chicago his appearance warranted them in calling him Blacklaw Reid. When he visited the Lake Front they quoted Scripture and declared the people rushed out to see "a Reed Skaken by the Wind." Then they referred to Blue Laws, commented on the folly of depending on a Broken Reed, and finally when he fled from the reporters declared that he who ran might Read the prophecy of defeat without using spectacles.

THE Home Market Club has issued a companion picture tract showing the enormous advantages of McKinley taxation to American citizens. The first shows a desperate-looking man with a disconsolate wife and children, in a wretched hovel, seated before a table on which appear three cuspidors labeled "coffee taxed," "sugar taxed," "jam taxed." In the other picture a large family appears, dressed in silks and satins and wearing diamonds, and seated at a table groaning with a load of delicacies, among which are silver dishes marked "coffee free," "sugar free," "jam free." This will go far toward explaining why it is that our workingmen are constantly being yanked into affluence. The first editions of this valuable work will be distributed at Buffalo and Homestead.

LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL: In his first message to Congress the President said that "the power to take the whole direction and control of the elections of members of the House of Representatives is clearly clearly given to the General Government," and that both the President and Congress would be "highly blamable if all the powers granted are not wisely but firmly used." Mr. Harrison returned to the charge in his second message and did all he could to urge the passage of the bill, which had already passed the House, through the Senate. Having made this record he cannot do much now to break the force of his official declarations and actions. Eyerybody of intelligence knows that he is thoroughly committed to the force bill and that its passage is, next to his wish for re-election, the most earnest desire of his heart.

NEW POLITICAL ERA.

A BENEFICIAL CHANGE SOON TO TAKE PLACE.

Everything Tends to Show that the Country Now Has the Strength, and Is Preparing to Rally Against Its Present Political Disease.

We're to Have a Change.

Beyond all doubt we are close to a great and beneficial change in American politics. Ten years or more of politics on the basis of civil war sectionalism would bring anarchy. In thirty years of such politics, in which the decision has rested with only two States, our political methods have of necessity become corrupt to the last degree, the economy of our business activities has been deplorably disordered, and we have been very close to the line beyond which reformation through evolution is no longer possible, and all forces which react against complete political disorganization are made cumulative for revolution.

Violently disordered as this country is in its politics, everything tends to show that it has in it the health and strength to rally against its diseases, says the St. Louis Republic. Every sign of the present tends to strengthen the belief that the civil war era is at its close; that it will close and the new era begin before the country is past any other remedy than the formidable one of the anarchy which overtakes all societies so politically corrupt that destruction must precede reconstruction. The times are full of hope that America will grow peacefully out of its period of blind passion and will peacefully outgrow all the evils which have come as consequences of the blindness of passion.

Under Hayes, Garfield and Arthur, civil war sectionalism so lost the force of blind radicalism that it became possible for Cleveland to do a work of incalculable benefit to America in bringing all sections closer together. No greater work has been done since the time of Washington, and though it was followed by reaction, though the sectionalism of the civil war showed itself more malignantly than ever, yet the country showed that the good work of restoration and unification had not been lost. The Central West in 1890 shook off the bonds of civil war animosities and rose to assert itself in the Union with the power of a giant; showing that it had the strength and the will to free the generation which will do the opening work of the twentieth century from the worst curse of the greatest crime and blunder of the nineteenth—the war between the States of the American Union.

With the Central West still rests the decision of the country's future. If it again declares that two States shall no longer control the Union; that the policies of the Union shall no longer be determined by corruption funds used in two States, then there will remain in America no problem that cannot be solved by peaceful evolution; then the country will finally turn its back on the era of civil war; then the union of equal States will be really restored; then the power of the people in and over the States and the Union of States will be reasserted and reaffirmed; and then the grayheaded men who have seen America under its blackness of great darkness can go to their last sleep in the certainty that a new day has dawned for their country, and that the sun of its future will shine until the fogs and mists from the night of its past are scattered.

The Tariff and Knit Undershirts.

The duty on cotton knit goods was increased by the McKinley tariff, and the friends of protection point to the fact that knit undershirts, which were selling in 1890 for $3.25 per dozen, can now be bought for $3.12½. This is a reduction of a cent a shirt, and is truly something to be thankful for. But the Indianapolis News, which is an unbeliever in McKinley and protection, points out that cotton is selling for 5 cents a pound less in 1892 than in 1890, and that the people save a cent a shirt, not through the intervention of the tariff, but because a bounteous providence has balked the intention of the good McKinley to put up prices.

Robbing the Government.

Our friends the enemy have much to say about civil service reform and the non-partisan character of the various governmental institutions, from time to time, and especially in campaign years, but it is obvious that they do not let any chance pass to boost themselves and make the general government foot the bill of their campaign expenses. The boldest and most brazen attempt to rob the government in the recent past is the report of the Bureau of Labor and Statistics. Circulars were sent out to manufacturers asking for information relative to the operations of the McKinley bill and its effect upon wages and production. The report says that since the McKinley bill went into operation wages have been increased and production has been increased up into the millions. This will be paid for by the government, and the government will also pay for its distribution throughout the country. It will be used as official data by the Republican spell-binders on the stump during the campaign, and it will go down in history as the impartial findings of impartial investigators. A moment's reflection, however, will be sufficient to throw a pall of doubt over its accuracy, and establish its partisanship. The information was sent in by manufacturers, who contributed liberally to the campaign fund four years ago, and who secured the McKinley bill in return for their bounty. What cost them so much, and what profits them so much, they will not be very likely to decry. If figures can do it, and figures can do anything, they will make it clear that the McKinley bill has been a blessing to the country. They are careful to conceal the amount which they have been enabled to extort from the public through its agency and operation. They confine themselves to the increase in wages and the increase in production, and attempt to show how much richer the laboring man is in wages. Such testimony from interested witnesses, who conceal all that is unfavorable, should be taken with many misgivings and much skepticism. Certainly it will require more disinterested testimony to convince people of its truthfulness. It is a campaign document gotten up by the Republican party, and for which the people must pay.—Appeal-Avalanche.

Machinery and the Pinkerton Plan.

Manufacturing in the United States is done by machinery. A machine does the work of a hundred men, and perhaps only one man is employed to run it. The uses of the McKinley taxes are to enable the owners of these machines to realize the largest possible benefit from invention; to keep the benefit of invention monopolized by a class.

Mr. Andrew Carnegie, who has fat contracts from the Harrison administration for making armor-plate for the navy at the people's expense, hears of a new invention which is warranted to "displace American labor." He expects to realize hundreds of thousands from this invention. He buys it from the inventor for a few thousands and introduces it in his Homestead works. Then he tells his men that as the new machine turns out more work they must take less wages. After which come the Pinkertons, and so on and so forth.

Here we have the whole tariff question—the question of protecting the machinery of our Pinkerton plutocrats from competition with European machinery. That is to say, Americans are to be prohibited by law from buying any products of our plutocratic machinery at Pinkerton prices to the consumer and to the laborer.

This is the end and aim of the system of tariff taxation arranged and enforced by Messrs. Harrison, McKinley, Carnegie and Pinkerton.

Why Farmers Should Vote Against Harrison.

Because the cost of running the Government under Harrison has been about $450,000,000 more than it was under Cleveland, and Mr. Harrison could always have vetoed extravagant legislation. The Republican party is responsiale for this increase. For 1890 a Republican Congress appropriated $494,000,000. For 1891 the same Congress appropriated $541,000,000 and did not include in this sum anything for rivers and harbors. For 1892, $507,000,000 was appropriated, $79,000,000 of which was made obligatory by the preceding Congress. The Democratic House did all that it could to cut down the appropriations in the face of a resisting Senate, and did reduce the appropriations more than $20,000,000 under the Government's estimate. If, however, there was extravagance in the appropriations, they were approved by Mr. Harrison and were much less than his officers asked for to run the Government. Can farmers afford to cast their votes in any manner that will aid in the election of a man who has increased the expenses of government nearly $450,000,000 in four years?

Mr. Cleveland's Letters.

The true animus of the flippant and derogatory allusions to Mr. Cleveland's letters in the Republican press is quite apparent. Under the thin guise of ridicule there is a feeling of disquietude, for which there is abundant cause. In the first place, every letter that Mr. Cleveland writes helps his party. They are all strong and pointed, and none of them are too brief to contain some salient thought, or to convey some valuable and helpful suggestion. They show uniformly the earnest solicitude of their author for the welfare of the people, and thus they strengthen his claim to popular favor.

The fact that Mr. Cleveland is called upon to answer so many letters proves how close he is to the people. The freedom and frequency with which he is addressed by all persons in all walks of life, from the lowliest to the most exalted stations, is indicative of the profound sympathy existing between him and the American masses. Very few demands of this sort are made on the time of the Presidential incumbent. Nobody, apparently, cares to write to Mr. Harrison. He does not invite an approach even by the medium of literary communications. The humble citizen, even though he might be moved to address the President, would be deterred by the doubt of securing recognition, and there is something so perfunctory in the communications of Mr. Harrison that they possess comparatively little value to those who receive them.

It is a significent evidence, differentiating the natures of Mr. Harrison and Mr. Cleveland, that the letters of the latter have become a source of annoyance to the Republicans and have called forth their animadversions. As reflecting the remarkable popularity of the ex-President, and as denoting the value which the common people attach to his opinions, they are the logical objects of criticism at the hands of the Harrison organs, whose comments touching all that Mr. Cleveland says and does are strongly flavored with jealousy.—Kansas City Star.

The Difference Between Them.

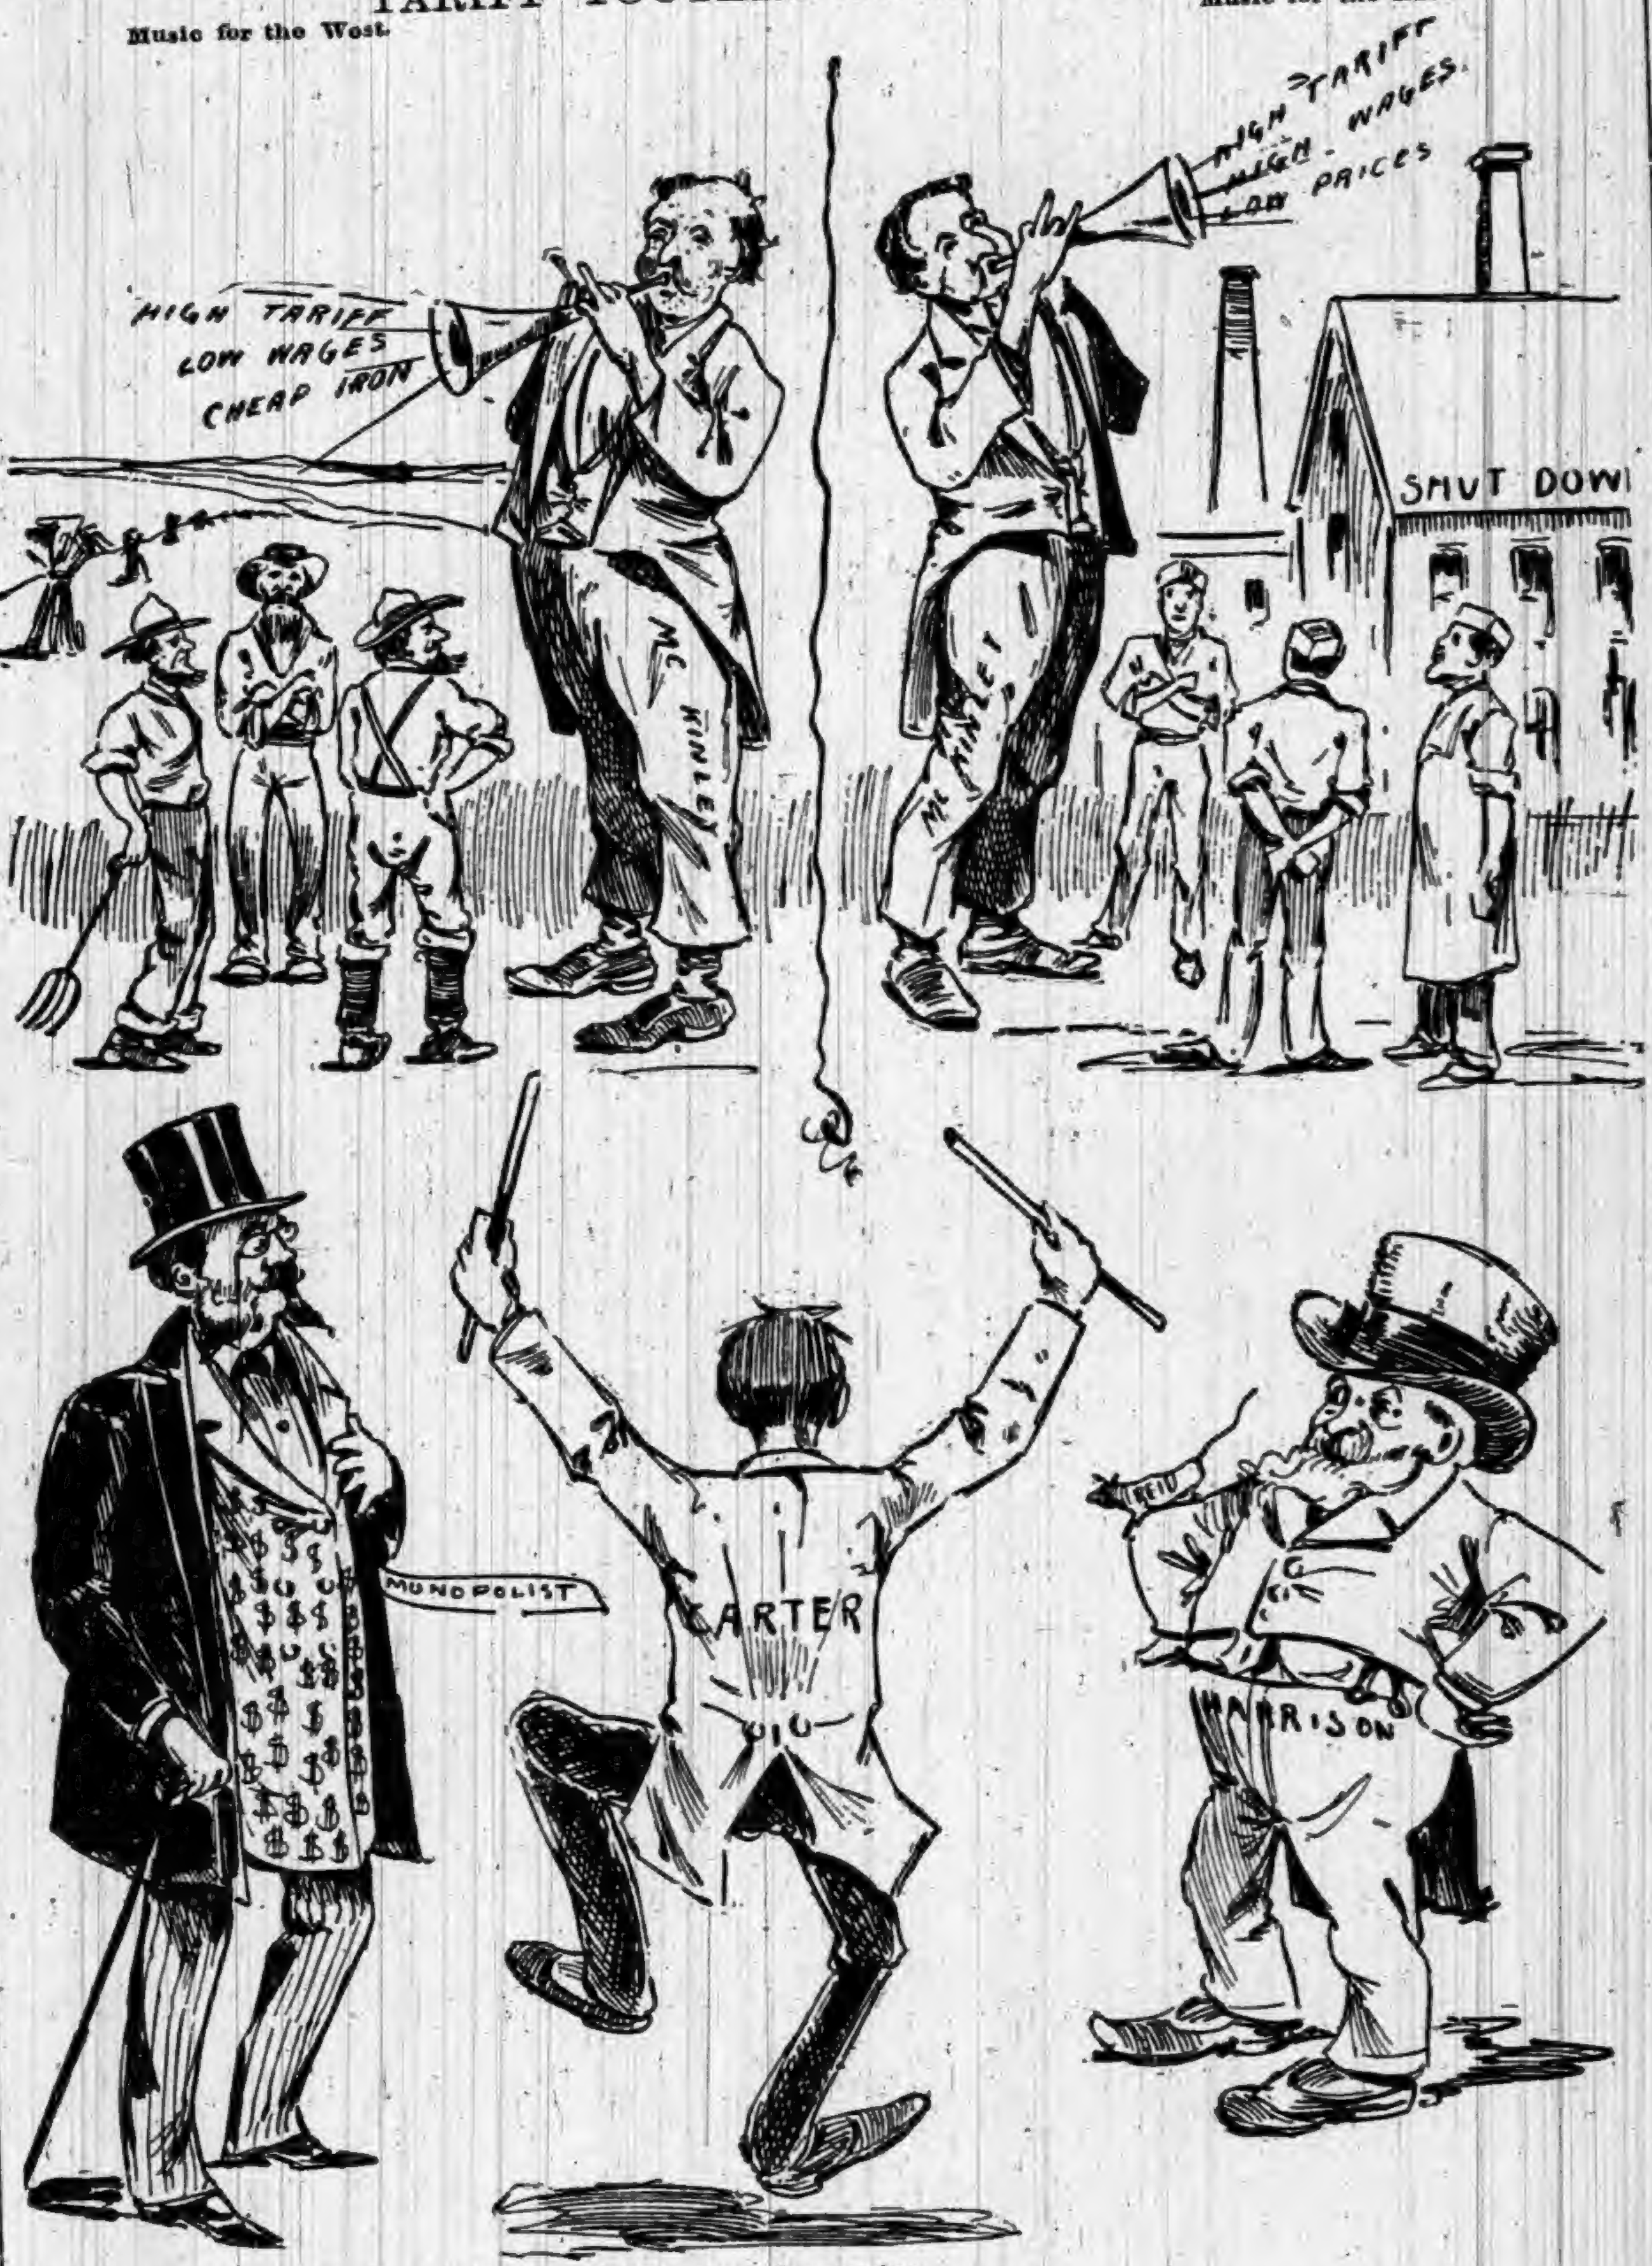
After nearly four years of Cleveland's administration he was made, without the intervention of a solitary officeholder, the unanimous choice of the Democratic party for a second term. The Democratic National Convention met at St. Louis merely to certify and record the popular choice. After nearly four years of Harrison's administration he was obliged to encounter an opposition of unexampled bitterness within the Republican party, and his nomination was secured only by the shameful prostitution of every department of the Government to the purpose of getting him delegates by hook or by crook.

Harrison Using Taffy.

Ben Harrison has evidently been looking over Ohio, and is alarmed at the unsatisfactory condition of the party machinery and the lack of harmony among those who should be his party friends. In a conversation with Hon. W. H. Enochs on the situation in Ohio, he said he "recognized Gov. Foraker as a brilliant, able man, for whom he entertained only feelings of respect and the warmest regard. He made similar remarks in regard to others who had actively opposed his nomination."

This would seem to indicate a change of heart on the part of the President.—Columbus Post.

TARIFF TOOTERS OUT OF TUNE.



Conductor Carter—It's impossible to make this music harmonize.
Harrison—Never mind the harmony; our only hope is to create confusion.
Protected Monopolist—That's it; you keep up the noise, we'll do the rest.—St. Louis Republic.

KIRK'S
DUSKY
DIAMOND
TAR SOAP
Healthful, Agreeable, Cleansing.
Cures
Chapped Hands, Wounds, Burns, Etc.
Removes and Prevents Dandruff.
AMERICAN FAMILY SOAP.
Best for General Household Use.

A Piano
SENT on trial
WE PAY FREIGHT
If you do not keep it.
We think you will keep it.
It pleases everybody.
It is an honest piano.
It is the WING Piano.

You may have a preference for some other make. Still you are a reasoning creature, and open to conviction, no doubt.

The question is too important to be settled without due thought. Years of satisfaction or of regret come with a piano. Does it wear well? The WING Piano does. "Look before you leap."

Whatever piano you buy, there are piano secrets you ought to know. Our free book tells them. Send a postal card for it. It may help you to buy a different piano. We take that risk. We also tell you the nearest dealer where you can see a WING Piano. It is worth looking at. So is the price. WING & SON, 245 Broadway, New York.

A BOON TO MEN.
THE MOST PRACTICAL NOVELTY EVER INVENTED.
PATENTED.
Why have your pants baggy, when this stretcher will make them last twice as long and look like new?
NICKEL PLATED! NO SCREWS!
SIMPLE AND PERFECT.
FOLDS UP.
Every man should send for one, and always look well dressed. Send $1.00 for the perfect working Trouser Stretcher, which will be sent to you prepaid. Agents can coin money. Write for illustrated circular.
THE TROUSER STRETCHER CO.,
DETROIT, MICH.

DOES YOUR HEAD ACHE
IT WILL NOT IF YOU TAKE KRAUSE'S HeadacheCapsules
$500 Reward for any injurious substance found in these Capsules. Perfectly harmless.
Will Cure any kind of Headache.
Money refunded if not as we say. Sent postpaid on receipt of price,
Twenty-Five Cents.
NORMAN LICHTY MFG. CO.,
DES MOINES, IOWA.
For Sale by

BOSTON
CHEST WEIGHT
FOR YOUR HOME.
Price Complete $4.00 and Upward.
The handsomest, most practical and durable CHEST WEIGHT on the market, for Home or Gymnasium. Finished in Bicycle Enamel, Swivel Pulleys, Steel Rods, Rubber Bumpers, Adjustable Weights, Braided Cord, etc. Neatly packed for shipment, with book of instruction. Send for Price List to the Schumacher Gymnasium Co., Akron, Ohio.
5 Different Styles- all Excellent.
Send Stamp for Illustrated Price List.
The Schumacher Gymnasium Co. AKRON, OHIO.

WEIGHT ONLY 10 OUNCES.
A NEW 7-SHOT, .32-CAL. REVOLVER.
THE "PROTECTOR,"
QUICK, SAFE, RELIABLE.
Compact, Light, Effective.
The latest and best thing in the revolver line. Can be carried in the vest pocket as easily as a watch. 50,000 sold in France last year.
A Novelty that sells at sight. Sample revolver and Cartridges $[illegible] Will be sent C. O. D. by express, with privilege of examination. If 50 cts. accompanies order as a guarantee of good faith.
MINNEAPOLIS FIRE ARMS CO.,
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

PURE STEEL
ROOFING.
Metallic Weather Boarding,
Complete Ceilings,
Corrugated Sheeting,
Roofing Paints,
Iron Roofing,
Eave Troughs, Gutters and Spouting.
All forms of Sheet Metal for Building
(COMPLETE AND READY TO APPLY WHEN SHIPPED.)
WE WANT
—AN—
AGENT
In this town—an energetic workman to take orders and APPLY our materials in this vicinity.
Correspondence solicited; write for prices and terms.
SCOTT & CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.
ESTABLISHED 1872.

THE OLD DOCTOR'S
Cotton Root Pills
LADIES' FAVORITE.
ALWAYS RELIABLE and perfectly SAFE. The same as used by thousands of woman all over the United States, in the OLD DOCTORS private mail practice, for 38 years, and not a single bad result. Money returned if not as represented. Send 4 cents (stamps) for sealed particulars. Dr. WARD & CO., 117 N. 8th St., St. Louis, Mo.

44 IN A ROW!
HUMBERS AND ROVERS
Have taken 44 First Awards at International Exhibits, including Grand Prize at Paris Exposition. 24 years on the market, and by far the largest cycle makers in the world.
Buy bicycles with a reputation to lose.
Send for latest art catalogue. Agencies in all the principal cities of the world, and in 400 American towns. 400 more agents wanted. Write for proposition.
THE HUMBER-ROVER CYCLE CO.,
285 Wabash Ave., CHICAGO.
WE SELL DIRECT WHERE THERE IS NO AGENT, FOR CASH OR ON TIME.

FREE TO BOYS AND GIRLS
UNDER 18 YEARS OF AGE, without one cent of money
READ AND WRITE.
ANY boy or girl under 18 wanting an elegant High Grade Safety Bicycle can obtain it FREE without one cent of money. Shall give away, on easy conditions, 1,000 or more.
DESCRIPTION OF BICYCLE. The wheels are 26 inches with crescent steel rims and molded rubber tires and run on hardened steel cone bearings, adjustable to wear; geared to 48 inches; detachable cranks; four to five inches throw; frame finely enameled, with nickel trimmings. Each machine is supplied with tool bag, wrench and oiler. Equal to those sold in the market for $45. We have both boys' and girls' styles. We deliver the bicycle FREE of all charges anywhere in the United States.
READ THE TESTIMONY.
418 N. 20th St., PHILADELPHIA, PA., Feb. 22, 1892.
WESTERN PEARL CO., Chicago, Ill.
DEAR GENTLEMEN:—I received the Safety Bicycle last Saturday about 5 p. m. I was very much surprised at seeing such an ELEGANT, HANDSOME Safety. It is really NICER than I expected. By trials and testimonials I find your firm is reliable in its dealings and promises. I really cannot express my thanks for the nice Safety. Yours truly, EMIL DAHLMAN.
BRIGHTON, MICH., March 1st, 1892.
WESTERN PEARL CO., Chicago, Ill.
DEAR SIRS:—The Bicycle came promptly. The boy is overjoyed. He acted like a crazy child for awhile. Over and over he repeated, "It seems as if I were dreaming, but no, there it is"; and then he would go to it and pat it and talk to it. We have found you men of your word. Thanking you for your faithfulness to your word, I remain, Yours respectfully, H. A. DAY, for Lee Day.
IF YOU WANT A BICYCLE WRITE AT ONCE.
WESTERN PEARL CO., 328 to 334 Dearborn Street, CHICAGO, ILL.

JUST FULL of improvements—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. To begin with, they're the smallest, and the easiest to take. They're tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules, scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Every child is ready for them. Then, after they're taken, instead of disturbing and shocking the system, they act in a mild, easy, and natural way. There's no chance for any reaction afterward. Their help lasts. Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick or Bilious Headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach, and bowels are promptly relieved and permanently cured.

They're put up in glass vials, which keeps them always fresh and reliable, unlike the ordinary pills in wooden or pasteboard boxes.

And they're the cheapest pills you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get.

DR. KILMER'S SWAMP-ROOT

Kidney, Liver and Bladder Cure.

Rheumatism,

Lumbago, pain in joints or back, brick dust in urine, frequent calls, irritation, inflamation, gravel, ulceration or catarrh of bladder.

Disordered Liver,

Impaired digestion, gout, billious-headache. SWAMP-ROOT cures kidney difficulties, La Grippe, urinary trouble, bright's disease.

Impure Blood,

Scrofula, malaria, gen'l weakness or debility.

Guarantee—Use contents of One Bottle, if not benefited, Druggists will refund to you the price paid.

At Druggists, 50c. Size, $1.00 Size.

"Invalids' Guide to Health" free—Consultation free.

DR. KILMER & CO., BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

"I Hate to Ask My Doctor."

Oh, Woman! False modesty and procrastination are responsible for much of your suffering. We can excuse the delicacy of the young, but there is no excuse for a woman who neglects the freely offered assistance of a woman. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the product of a life's practice of a woman among women, and an unfailing cure for woman's ills. It removes at once those pains, aches, and weaknesses, brightens the spirits, and invigorates the entire system. An unexcelled remedy for Kidney Troubles.

All Druggists sell it, or sent by mail, in form of Pills or Lozenges, on receipt of $1.00. Liver Pills, 25c. Correspondence freely answered. Address in confidence, LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. Co., LYNN, MASS.

Yours for Health. Lydia E. Pinkham

SYRUP of FIGS

ONE ENJOYS

Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y.

The Wabash R. R. Co.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

Wait for the Great Low Rate HARVEST EXCURSIONS to be run by the WABASH RAILROAD on August 30th, September 27th, and October 25th, 1892, to points West, Southwest, and Northwest. Remember the Wabash is the Great Through Reclining Chair Car Route, and is the only railroad in the States of Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan giving its patrons Free Seats in these luxurious palace cars. Go West and enjoy a few weeks rest and recreation at a nominal expense. For maps, time tables and full particulars, address the nearest Wabash Agent, or write to F. Chandler, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, Wabash R. R., St. Louis, Mo.

25 USEFUL HOUSEHOLD ARTICLES needed in every house. No family should be without them. Sent prepaid upon receipt of One Dollar. STAR SUPPLY CO., ROOM 20, No. 24 STATE STREET, NEW YORK, N. Y.

WANTED! MEN TO TRAVEL. We pay $50 to $100 a month and expenses. STONE & WELLINGTON, Madison, Wis.

BEST POLISH IN THE WORLD.

RISING SUN STOVE POLISH

DO NOT BE DECEIVED with Pastes, Enamels, and Paints which stain the hands, injure the iron, and burn off. The Rising Sun Stove Polish is Brilliant, Odorless, Durable, and the consumer pays for no tin or glass package with every purchase.

HAS AN ANNUAL SALE OF 3,000 TONS.

THE WAY THINGS RUN

IN THE GREATEST OF GREAT STATES, INDIANA.

Things Which Have Lately Happened Within Its Borders—Some Pleasant and Some Sad Reading.

Population Statistics.

A special bulletin giving the revised and corrected figures which show the population of Indiana by color, sex and general nativity has been issued from the Census Office. It is somewhat different in its character and result from the bulletin on the same subject issued a year ago. It makes the following showing for Indiana: Total population, 2,192,404; male, 1,118,347; female, 1,074,057; native born, 2,046,199; foreign born, 146,205; aggregate white, 2,146,736; colored, 45,668.

The following cities in the State had a population of 8,000 or more in 1890:

	Total Population.	Colored.
Anderson	10,741	206
Elkhart	11,360	37
Evansville	50,756	5,570
Fort Wayne	35,393	224
Indianapolis	105,436	9,154
Jeffersonville	10 666	1,637
Kokomo	8,261	280
Lafayette	16,243	306
Logansport	13,328	142
Madison	8,936	624
Marion	8,769	356
Michigan City	10,776	133
Muncie	11,345	421
New Albany	21,059	1,904
Richmond	16,608	887
South Bend	21,819	283
Terre Haute	30,217	1,147
Vincennes	8,853	423

Minor State Items.

TERRE HAUTE'S new hatchet factory will cost $5,000.

AS A business center Edinburg is improving rapidly.

THE apple crop in Laporte County is a howling failure.

GOSHEN has a new military company with sixty members.

THE building of a new theater is talked of by an Evansville syndicate.

KNIGHTSTOWN has never enjoyed the greatest of luxuries, a daily newspaper.

JAMES STAGS, aged 75, a pioneer of Delaware County, died near Yorktown.

SHERMAN HICKMAN, a Lafayette laborer, was killed by a gravel bank caving in on him.

RICHARD VERTS, a Crawfordsville farmer, was fatally kicked and bitten by a vicious horse.

A LAND TURTLE found in the woods near Salem, the other day, had on its shell "W. B. R., 1871."

THOMAS SESTON, Superintendent of the Washington County Asylum, died at his residence near Norris.

WHILE blasting a well at Borden, Clark County, J. W. Walton was dangerously hurt by an explosion.

THE ninth annual reunion of the Thirty-sixth Indiana Infantry will be held at Farmland, Oct. 4 and 5.

WILLIAM PARAGON, a C. & S. brakeman, was killed by falling from the train at Lebanon, while making his first run.

SARAH WILKINSON, a young girl at Franklin, was disappointed in love and attempted suicide by taking chloroform.

WILLIAM SNYDER stood under a tree during the storm at Lafayette. The tree was blown down, killing Snyder instantly.

A MAN near Michigan City has raised 1,000 bushels of cranberries on fifteen acres of ground this year and sold them for $2,500.

THE fourth well for gas has been sunk at Greencastle, going as deep as two thousand feet without striking the desired article.

J. E. Sullivan, Richmond, was struck by a handcar on the G. R. & I. road some time ago, and is suing the company for $50,000 damages.

AN epidemic is raging at Fortville, somewhat resembling cholera, and many are prostrated. None of the cases have as yet proved fatal.

WILLIAM WILKINS, while "grubbing" stumps near Portland, a few days ago, unearthed forty-five milk snakes. He killed them with a hoe.

JOSEPH WILSON of Huntingburg, a freight conductor between English and Taswell, was kiled by falling from his train as it was passing over a trestle.

THE farm residence of Mrs. Manerva Randall, southwest of Noblesville, was burned, involving a loss of $2,000; insured in the Ohio Farmers' for $800.

Two masked burglars entered the house of Amos Lockenour, near South Boston, beat and choked him and after frightening him nearly to death secured a large amount of money.

A FINE horse at Spencer, belonging to Calvin Fletcher, ran into a yard, became frightened at a dog and plunged into a barbed-wire fence, cutting an artery in the neck and causing death in a few moments.

THE Third Indiana Cavalry Veteran Association will hold its tenth reunion in Greencastle Thursday, Oct. 13. Special rates have been arranged on all the railroads and the veterans of Putnam County will give a picnic dinner.

JOHN UTTERBACK climbed a tree in the woods near Sandborn, Knox County, after a squirrel. When he had reached a point sixty feet from the ground he fell and was killed. Utterback's home was at Indian Springs, this State.

INDIANIANS who desire to attend the dedicatory ceremonies of the World's Fair buildings, at Jackson Park, on Oct. 21, may secure invitations and complimentary cards of admission by making application and sending their postoffice address to either E. B. Martindale of Indianapolis, or Thomas E. Garvin of Evansville, World's Fair Commissioners, or to the member of Congress from their Congressional District. On account of the proximity of Indiana to the fair, the committee will extend invitations as liberally to her citizens as they do to the citizens of Illinois. Any one, therefore, desiring to attend the dedicatory ceremonies may obtain cards of admission if application therefore is made promptly to the persons above named.

CHESTERTON has room for a few more factories and plenty of brick to build them with.

SALOON-KEEPERS of Madison are boycotting the National Branch Bank of Madison because Mrs. D. G. Phillips, wife the cashier, actively befriends the crusade against the saloons by Messrs. Chauncey, Wright and Hill, the spotters.

ED A. KANTLEY of Marion, serving a term in the Prison North for forgery, has made his escape. He was a "trusty," and was utilized by Warden French as a private secretary. Kantley originally hailed from Logansport, where his brother is superintendent of public schools.

WHILE attending the Franklin fair Miss Emma Lang, daughter of Benton Lang of Morgantown, was kicked by a vicious horse and probably fatally injured. Both hind feet struck her in the side, breaking three ribs and causing internal hemorrhage. Miss Lang was to have been married in a few days.

AN extraordinary freak of nature has just been made public in Greencastle in the shape of a child born without a head. Not the least vestige of that most important member of the human anatomy was visible, except the mouth and chin, which were of the natural size, and formed the adjacent part of the neck, as if they had dropped into it. The child lived twenty-four hours.

KILLED AND MANGLED.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT AT WOODLAWN.

Illinois Central Suburban Train Leaves the Track at Woodlawn—The Locomotive Buried in a Sand-Bank—Many Persons Killed and Injured.

Two Are Dead.

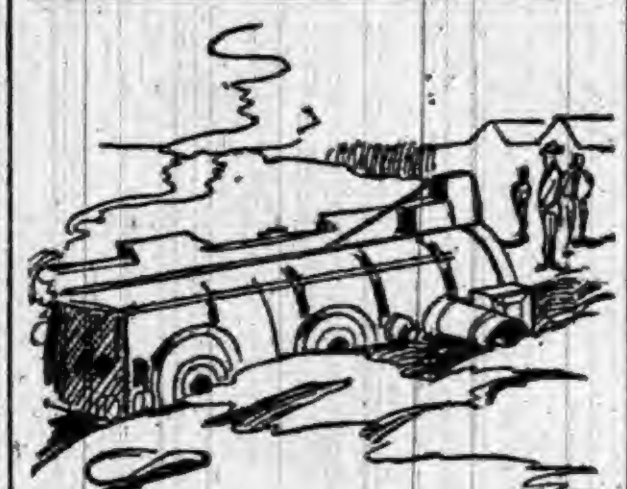
Woodlawn Park, Ill., was the scene of a terrible accident on the Illinois Central Railroad, in which two men were killed, one seriously injured, and a score more or less severely cut and bruised. The following is a list of the victims:

The killed: John Finn, engineer of the train; 40 years old; home, Riverdale; leaves a widow. James Corea, Italian laborer.

Injured: Thomas Leahy, 21 years old, of 4209 Langley avenue; severe scalp wounds and crushed leg; taken to St. Luke's Hospital. Frank Ritz, peddler, of Kensington; slightly bruised about the body. Charles Direch, Pullman. Joseph Direch, Pullman. Mrs. Direch, of 39 Fulton street, Pullman, slightly injured. Miss Helen Aiken, 5 Arcade row, Pullman; several bruises on face and head. C. T. Thomas, colored porter, 221 3d avenue; leg bruised. G. Omsted, Valparaiso; thigh bruised.

A large number of persons received slight injuries from broken glass and flying parcels, which were not reported to the police.

The Harvey fast express left Chicago at 10:40 with four suburban coaches loaded with passengers. The street guards at Woodlawn Park were rung down as usual a few moments after 11 o'clock. The train dashed up at the rate of forty miles an hour, the engineer gayly waved his hand to an acquaintance, and a moment later the train left the track near 63d street, bumped along on the ties for about two hundred feet, and plunged headlong into a sandbank, the engine almost burying itself, snorting and steaming, in the loose earth. Men shouted, women screamed, and for a moment everything was in the wildest confusion. The cries for help from the victims brought the bystanders to their senses, and they rushed to the rescue.



IN THE SAND-BANK.

The engine was almost covered with sand. It had plunged so far into the embankment that a track on top was bent and torn from its place. The smoker had been telescoped by the tender, and over half of it was ground into kindling wood and lay scattered for many rods on either side. The other three coaches did not leave the track.

James Corea, the Italian laborer, was working on the embankment when the accident occurred and was unable to escape. He still breathed when taken from under the engine, but died twenty minutes later. His body was horribly scalded and both arms were broken near the shoulders.

Thomas Leahy was found wedged between the platform of the smoker and the tender, where he had to be cut out.

The exact cause of the accident is not known, but it is thought that the crossing, owing to recent heavy rains, was soft and springy, causing the rails to spread under the heavy, rapidly moving train.

KILLED BY TRAIN ROBBERS.

Four Men Fall Under Deadly Fire from Evans and Sontag's Guns.

Evans and Sontag, the train robbers, were overtaken at Samson Flats, near Fresno, Cal., and a deadly exchange of shots took place. A posse consisting of United States Deputy Marshal McGinnis, "Dick" Wilson, L. Olsen, Constable Warren Hill, George Witty, two Apache scouts and one or two others had tracked the robbers from Dunlap to Samson Flats in a mountain fastness. The posse was coming down the trail by Young's place, and when opposite the house a door was violently thrown open and Evans and Sontag appeared on the sill. Before the officers could recover from their surprise the two robbers opened a deadly fire with shotguns, and then with Winchesters. The posse was so demoralized by the sudden attack that they could make no effectual resistance.

Four men fell under the deadly fire of the robbers. Three were mortally wounded—United States Deputy Marshal McGinnis, "Dick" Wilson and L. Olsen. George Witty, who was so badly wounded in his encounter with the robbers at Visalia, was shot through the neck, though it is not believed he is mortally wounded. The horse ridden by Constable Warren Hill was shot from under him, and two other members of the posse were slightly wounded. The Apache scouts escaped unhurt.

It could not be found out whether the robbers were wounded, but it is likely they were not very badly wounded if at all. They immediately escaped without any interference and went up farther in the mountains.

The dead men and George Witty are in Young's house, where Witty is receiving the best of care. The whole country in the neighborhood of the encounter is aroused, and it is said no further attempt to take the robbers alive will be made. They will be shot on sight if discovered. The news caused great excitement, and Sheriff Hensley immediately got a posse of eight men and left for Samson Flats. The Sheriff of Tulare County has been telegraphed and will leave for the mountains immediately to head off the robbers on the south. The whole mountain country in the neighborhood of Samson Flats is in arms, and it is hardly possible the robbers can escape.

The robbery for which Evans and Sontag were wanted was committed on the night of Aug. 3, near Collis. A south-bound passenger train was stopped by masked men, who crawled over the tank to the engine cab and drove out the engineer and fireman. They then went to the express car and smashed in the side with dynamite bombs. Compelling the messenger to open the safe, they took out sacks of money and carried them off with the assistance of the fireman, whom they pressed into service. They finally galloped away on horseback. The robbers carried double-barreled shotguns. To prevent the train from getting away from them they smashed the piston-rod on the locomotive with a bomb. The passengers were intimidated by a rain of bullets from the robbers' revolvers. A posse soon started in pursuit and overtook the robbers near Visalia two days later. Several shot were exchanged, but though a hundred armed men were in pursuit the robbers escaped. At that time Witty and another man were wounded.

MADE A SMALL FORTUNE

HOW TWO SCHOOL TEACHERS DID IT.

Two Hundred Dollars Grows to Twelve Thousand Within a Year.

[Marion, Indiana, Chronicle.]

There are two sisters teaching in the Marion public schools who have reason to thank the rapid development of one of Chicago's manufacturing suburbs for a small fortune which has grown from a very tiny seed planted less than a year ago. To a representative of the Chronicle these young ladies told the story of their remarkable investment as follows:

"At the close of our school work a year ago we found that we had saved about $100 each, for which we had no immediate use. We were spending our vacation in Chicago, and stepped into the Chamber of Commerce Building to see Jay Dwiggins & Co., whom we had long known. They were just then founding the new town of Griffith, whose fuel oil pipe lines and four great railroads, including a complete belt line encircling Chicago, gave great promise of making this a factory center.

"We were inclined to make an investment in the new town and consented to join them in the purchase of a five-acre block which they wished to subdivide with some other tracts and put immediately on the market. Our $200 sufficed to make the cash payment for one-third interest in this five acres and we expected to meet the deferred payments from our wages the following year.

"After making this investment we went further on our vacation trip, and what was our surprise a few weeks later to receive word that the five acres had been bought, subdivided, and completely sold out. Three parties had taken the entire block at a profit of almost $6,000, one-third of which we learned was at our disposal.

"So far we had not even seen Griffith, but this remarkably quick turn of affairs gave us a great interest in the new town, and we went immediately to look it over. We found, nine miles southeast of Chicago limits, a remarkable railroad junction, but little more than that. There were perhaps a dozen houses scattered about in the oak groves and occupied by railroad employes. There were no stores, no streets, no sidewalks, no nothing—except a bright future. The surveyors were just putting down the lot stakes. We found our block in the very center of the town plat, with frontage on what promised to be the best business street. The lots had been sold out at the ridiculously low average of $130 each.

"We remarked that we would rather buy than sell at these figure. This quick sale, even at a low price, had given us the capital with which to buy. We immediately selected Block 11 in the Original Town of Griffith, and bought it with the profits we had just made. We left Griffith, saying: 'Well, we shall see what a year will bring forth in this promising place.'

"We have just now returned from Griffith after a year's absence. We found four factories completed and many more negotiating to come. Houses are going up on every hand, and streets which had not been cut out when we were there a year ago, are now lined with prosperous stores. Our block, if sold at present prices, would realize about $12,000, but we would not take $25,000 for it. If it were similarly located in Marion, it would bring $50,000.

"We have seen Marion grow up from a country town into a flourishing young city, by the location of factories, and Marion has but three railroads and has not the great city of Chicago to tie to.

"We confidently expect within the next five years to see Griffith a great and flourishing city, and that will be time enough to realize on our beautiful block of lots. Since we bought our relatives have made further purchases and have made money, too. We certainly believe that Griffith lots bought at present prices and on the very easy terms at which they can be had will prove a quickly paying investment."

A Rejected Lover's Timely Revenge.

"That was a very brilliant wedding last evening. By the way, the bride was an old flame of yours, was she not?"

"Yes, the fickle, heartless thing, as soon as that foreign count put in an appearance she jilted me."

"I see by the papers that among the wedding presents were ten magnificent clocks. Rather odd that so many different persons should hit on the same thing for presents. But why are you smiling?"

"Ah! revenge is sweet! Revenge is sweet!"

"What can you mean?"

"Don't breathe a word and I'll tell you. I am acquainted with most of that cruel flirt's friends, and it so happens that nine of them, not knowing of my prveious love, came to me for suggestions about a wedding present. I confidentially advised each of them to send her a clock, and then afterward I added another clock myself. Ha! ha! The villain still pursues her! I am avenged! avenged!"

"Mercy! man, are you mad?"

"Never was more sane in my life."

"Then how in the world can the presentation of ten valuable clocks constitute revenge?"

"Hist! Can't you see! She will, of course, put them in different rooms, and will not have a minutes piece until she gets them to run together. She will begin by trying to regulate them herself. In six weeks she will be a raving maniac."—Philadelphia Call.

How to Transform a Nose.

Given a clean shaven face, the features of which are not specially prominent, and it is comparatively easy for an artist in make-up to transform it into a fair likeness of any type of character he wishes to represent, or even to imitate a particular individual. The face in his hands becomes almost as plastic as the clay under the touch of the sculptor. Of course the actor cannot remold his features, but by putting on different colored paints he can present an effect which, viewed from a little distance, has all the appearance of having been remodled. The great secret underlying all the triumphs of this art is that white brings into prominence and black depresses. For instance, take a nose that is reasonably straight. Suppose it is desired to make it a pug. Put a little dark brown on the bridge and make the end lighter than all the rest of the face. The gradations have to be nicely shaded, and there comes in the art. To reverse the process, and produce a marked aquiline, hook, or Jewish nose, put white on the bridge and darken down the tip a little. This will bring forth an aristocratic nose that would do credit to any duke in the British peerage.—New York Sun.

"My dear," said a wife to her husband, "I shall henceforth call you 'Fire.'" "Why, love, will you apply such a peculiar name to me?" asked her husband. "Because you go out generally every night."

The Original Compass.

Ye lodestone on ye little chippe
Doth serve to guide ye mighty shippe
By ever pointing to ye pole;
Thus conscience serves to guide th' soul.

"Is it true that the original ship's compass was made of lodestone?" was asked of a dealer in compasses and chronometers.

"Yes. Magnetic iron ore on a bit of wood floating in a basin of water is said to have been the original compass. There are old sailors living now who can remember when the needle was attached to a piece of wood floating in a bowl. The first attempt at improvement was to attach the needle to a card on which the thirty-two points of the compass were marked. The card was balanced at its center on a hardened steel point or pivot, the cap that rested on the point being made of agate, garnet or sapphire, to reduce friction. The pivot was erected from the center of the bottom of a bowl that was suspended in what are called gimbals, an arrangement of rings and pivots which kept the top of the bowl, and therefore the compass card, always horizontal, whatever the ship's position. The great point at which the manufacturer hoped to arrive was such an arrangement of the various parts of the compass as would leave the needle in its position undisturbed when the ship swung around. The most perfect construction of the pivot and its cap was found faulty in that the point eventually wore down a collar, so that the card moved with the ship.

The Benefits of Sea Voyages.

The sanitary effects of a sea voyage are very decided. First is the ocean climate. Sea air stimulates the appetite, improves digestion, assimilation, secretion and excretion. The glandular follicles and organs of the alimentary system are awakened to a high state of functional activity. Relaxed muscular tissue becomes firm, the heart is invigorated, the circulation is carried on more actively, respiration is deepened, the pure air inhaled promotes a quickened oxidation and tissue change, the skin grows soft and blooming, the tone of the nervous system is raised and a cheerful state of mind induced. The traveler gains flesh and strength, sleep is sound, lassitude vanishes and irritable nerves become firm.—London Lancet.

Desirable Ignorance.

It is a very good thing to know how to swim, but a bad thing to be reckless as a result of the accomplishment. At a riverside picnic not long ago some young men asked a lady to go with them in a boat.

"Come on!" they called. "There isn't a particle of danger."

"Well," the lady said, "I suppose you all know how to swim?"

The young men were compelled to confess that not one of them could swim.

"Oh well," said the lady, "in that case I will go with you. If none of you can swim, you will be careful."

She entered their boat, quite confident that they would not tip it, nor rock it, nor play any of the jokes which foolish boys sometimes play on the water, "because we can swim, you know."

Phantoms.

The hopes of cure held out in the advertisements of numberless remedies are mere phantoms, without the slightest shadow of reality about them. On the other hand, no statement has ever been made in behalf of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters that is not susceptible of ample substantiation. Care has ever been taken in laying its claims before the public to circumscribe those claims with the bounds of truth. Allegations outside of these form no blot on the record of this sterling, time-honored remedy, proven by the most respectable evidence to be a remedy for and preventive of malarial disease, rheumatism, kidney trouble, chronic indigestion and biliousness. It is an ineffably fine tonic, promotes convalescence and mitigates the infirmities of age. Taken before retiring at night it is a promoter of sleep.

Galileo's Anniversary.

Great preparations are being made by the authorities of the ancient University of Padua for the celebration Dec. 7 of the tercentenary anniversary of Galileo's installment as Professor of Mathematics at that institution. On the occasion to be commemmorated he delivered the discourse which laid the foundation to his fame. An album containing, among other things, documents relating to Galileo's life in Padua, together with the annual report of the institution for 1592, is to be published in connection with the celebration.

Every-Day Life.

Mrs. d'Avnoo (at front window)—Officer!

Policeman — Yes, ma'am. What's wrong, ma'am?

Mrs. d'Avnoo—Nothing's wrong, but I wish you'd step into the kitchen and tell the cook not to burn the meat as she did last night. I'm afraid to.—New York Weekly.

HALL'S CATARRH CURE is a liquid and is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Write for testimonials, free. Manufactured by F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

The Ultimate.

Gotham—I hear that Bostonians have given up using big words.

Backbay—Yes. They had to do it. They reached the point where they couldn't understand one another.—New York Herald.

MRS. E. M. LEWIS, Oxanna, Ala., writes: "For over twenty years I have suffered with headaches without relief from the many remedies and physicians tried during that period. Bradycrotine produces the most satisfactory results." Of all Druggists. Fifty cents.

Openly Closed.

Dipso—How do you know that the corner saloon was closed last Sunday!

Nipsean—Everything was wide open so you could see clear through.—Puck.

Cure for Colds, Fevers, and General Debility. Small Bile Beans. 25c. per bottle.

THE man who wins Heaven is one who is not afraid to lose this world.

A CUCUMBER is not cool; it is only clammy.

IF afflicted with Sore Eyes, use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye Water. Druggists sell it. 25c

NOTHING so vividly reminds us of the brevity of life as a thirty-day note.

Constipation cured by Small Bile Beans.

A MARRIED lady is a miss-no-more.

I Can Walk a Mile

Easily, although for a long time before taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I could not walk a step. I had a terrible running sore on my leg, resulting from milk leg. Nothing did me any good till I began taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. The pain ceased wholly, the dark color disappeared, the sore has healed, and the limb is perfectly healthy." MRS. C. A. ASBELL, Avon, Mass.

Mrs. Chas. Asbell.

HOOD'S PILLS should be in every family medicine chest. Once used, they are preferred.

WHY continue the use of remedies that only relieve, when Ely's Cream Balm, pleasant of application and a sure cure for Catarrh and cold in head, can be had?

I HAD a severe attack of catarrh and became so deaf I could not hear common conversation. I suffered terribly from roaring in my head. I procured a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm, and in three weeks could hear as well as ever, and now I can say to all who are afflicted with the worst of diseases, catarrh, take Ely's Cream Balm and be cured. It is worth $1,000 to any man, woman or child suffering from catarrh.—A. E. Newman, Grayling, Mich.

Apply Balm into each nostril. It is Quickly Absorbed. GIVES RELIEF AT ONCE. Price 50 cents at Druggists or by mail.

ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York.

How He Prepares Them.

Christ fits his ministers through manifold experiences of sorrow and pain for the highest service. He writes their best sermons for them on their own hearts by the sharp stylus of trial. Such as he would make most eminent in his service he takes furthest with him into Gethsemane.—Dr. Wm. M. Taylor.

A Prominent Citizen.

Three years ago I had a severe abscess, and used everything I could hear of without benefit. My blood was in a very bad state, had intense pain in my back, had to give up work and walk on crutches. Was advised to try Swamp-Root, the great Kidney specific. After only using one bottle I feel better than for years.

JNO. SAWYER, Edinburg, Ind.

A Case of Swelled Head.

Col. Yerger—Sam, isn't your head swelled up this morning?

Sam Johnsing—I dare say it is, kurnel. I has just heered de news about Peter Jackson pounding de life outer Slavin over in England, sah.—Texas Siftings.

"LIFE is a battle field on which we fight for fame." To preserve health in this fight use Beecham's Pills, 25 cents a box.

ANY man who mixes music with business, will go wrong some day. The combination never failed to make a wreck of a man.

TACKLE AN OBSTINATE COUGH OR COLD with HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR.
PIKE'S TOOTHACHE DROPS Cure in one Minute.

THE greatest hero is the modest, quiet man who works hard and intelligently, and pays his debts at end of every month.

Sample Package Mailed Free.
Address Small Bile Beans, New York.

IF you want to get a dream out of a wedding cake put it in your stomach instead of under your head.

FITS.—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila. Pa.

A HAIR 'em-scare 'em thing—the tomahawk.

ST. JACOBS OIL TRADE MARK

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR PAIN

CURES PROMPTLY AND PERMANENTLY

RHEUMATISM,

Lumbago, Headache, Toothache,

NEURALGIA,

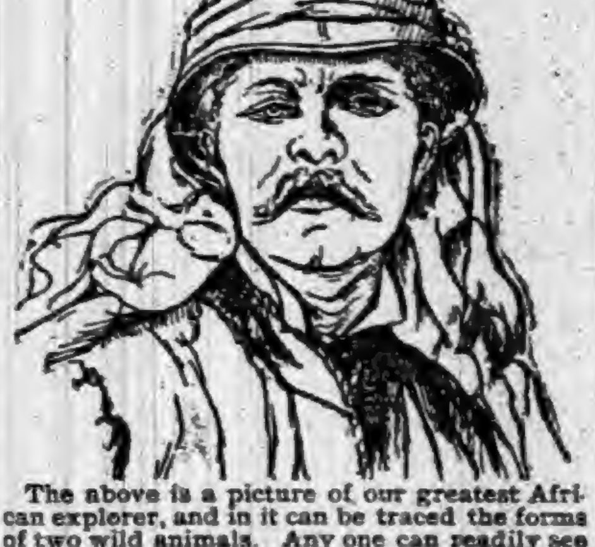
Sore Throat, Swellings, Frost-bites,

SCIATICA,

Sprains, Bruises, Burns, Scalds.

THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., Baltimore, Md.

A FORTUNE IN A PUZZLE.



The above is a picture of our greatest African explorer, and in it can be traced the forms of two wild animals. Any one can readily see the face of the explorer, but it is difficult to distinguish the two animals.

The proprietors of STANLEY'S PRIZE MEDICINES will give an elegant UPRIGHT PIANO, valued at $500, to the first person who can make out the elephant and giraffe; to the second person will be given $100 IN GOLD; to the third an elegant GOLD WATCH; to the fourth a handsome CLOCK; to the fifth a SILVER WATER PITCHER, and to the next fifty $5 in GOLD. Every competitor must cut out the above picture and outline with a led pencil the forms of the two animals, and enclose same with 15 U. S. two-cent stamps or 10 three-cent Canadian stamps for one sample bottle of the following prize remedies: "STANLEY'S PRIZE RHEUMATIC CURE," "STANLEY'S PRIZE CURE FOR CHRONIC and ULCERATED SORE THROAT," "STANLEY'S PRIZE CURE FOR DYSENTERY, DIARRHŒA and CHOLERA-MORBUS," or "STANLEY'S PRIZE CURE FOR CATARRH." Select any one of the above remedies or as many as you desire, by enclosing 30c. for each one.

Address THE STANLEY MEDICINE CO., 308 Brush St., Detroit, Mich.

The person whose envelope is postmarked first will be awarded the first prize, and the others in order of merit. To the person sending the last correct answer will be given an elegant GOLD WATCH; to the next to the last a handsome SILVER WATCH; to the second to the last a handsome CLOCK; to the third to the last $10 IN GOLD; and to the next ten to the last $5 IN GOLD. We shall ALSO GIVE AWAY 100 EXTRA PREMIUMS (should there be so many sending in correct answers). The names of the leading prize winners will be published in the U. S. and Canada. The object in making the foregoing extraordinary offer is to place our Medicines in the hands of the many sufferers. This GREAT AND ONLY POSITIVE RHEUMATIC CURE has cost the proprietors an enormous amount of money, the ingredients of which are imported from Africa, where they are secured with great difficulty and expense. It is purely herbaceous, and put up in two compounds, one to be used externally and the other internally. Our OTHER REMEDIES are equally valuable. As to the reliability of our Company, we refer you to any leading wholesale druggist in Detroit, and will also furnish you with the names and addresses of parties who have been entirely cured by this most wonderful Medicine.

All prizes will be awarded strictly in order of merit and with perfect satisfaction. No charge is made for premiums in any way, they are absolutely given away to introduce and advertise our Medicines, which we are bound to do regardless of expense. Medicine is sent by mail post paid and duty free. When you answer the picture puzzle, please mention this paper. Address

Stanley Prize Medicine Co. Head Office, 308 Brush St. DETROIT, MICH.
Branch Office, Windsor, Ont., Canada.

EPILEPSY OR FITS!

1850. DR. O. PHELPS BROWN. 1892.

The noted Herbalist and EPILEPSY SPECIALIST discovered that Epilepsy arises from a peculiar derangement of the stomach, and prepared his Celebrated Herbal Remedies which remove the above conditions and thus cure the disease. They have cured thousands of cases. Send for Testimonials and his "Treatise on the Cause and Cure of Epilepsy." 47 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J.

BALDHEADEDNESS A DISEASE.

NO CURE, NO HAIR. NO HAIR, NO PAY.

Ask your druggist for Dr. Benner's Anti-Chronic Cause and Effect Remedy. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Descriptive circulars in German and English sent free upon application. Address THE SENECA COUNTY MEDICAL AND COMPOUNDING CO., Tiffin, Ohio.

FAT FOLKS REDUCED

Mrs. Alice Maple, Oregon, Mo., writes "My weight was 320 pounds, now it is 195, reduction of 125 lbs." For circulars address, with 6c., Dr. O. W. F. SNYDER, McVicker's Theatre, Chicago, Ill.

GOING TO BUILD!

Send for Illustrated Catalogues containing 26 handsome designs, FREE. Address Shoppell's Modern Houses, 63 Broadway, New York.

BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE.
The Family Wash Blue, for sale by Grocers.

"German Syrup"

William McKeekan, Druggist at Bloomingdale, Mich. "I have had the Asthma badly ever since I came out of the army and though I have been in the drug business for fifteen years, and have tried nearly everything on the market, nothing has given me the slightest relief until a few months ago, when I used Boschee's German Syrup. I am now glad to acknowledge the great good it has done me. I am greatly relieved during the day and at night go to sleep without the least trouble." ®

DO YOU COUGH DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

Burlington Route

Harvest Excursions

August 30th and Sept. 27th,

FROM

Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis

to the Cities and Farm Districts throughout the

WEST

Southwest and Northwest

Round trip tickets will be sold by your local ticket agent on these dates at

HALF RATES!

See that they read over the Burlington Route from Chicago, Peoria or St. Louis. It is the direct line to the territory in question. Send for pamphlet with map and complete information to P. S. EUSTIS, C. P. A., CHICAGO, ILL.

Unlike the Dutch Process

No Alkalies
—OR—
Other Chemicals
are used in the preparation of

W. BAKER & CO.'S
BreakfastCocoa

which is absolutely pure and soluble.

It has more than three times the strength of Cocoa mixed with Starch, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is far more economical, costing less than one cent a cup. It is delicious, nourishing, and EASILY DIGESTED.

Sold by Grocers everywhere.

W. BAKER & CO., Dorchester, Mass.

WE TRADE

For SECOND-HAND PRINTING MACHINERY and allow liberal prices for the same in exchange for new. Our stock of Cylinder Presses, Job Presses, Paper Cutters and Gas Engines is the largest to be found in the State. If you wish to trade or buy let us hear from you. We have bargains to offer. FORT WAYNE NEWSPAPER UNION, Fort Wayne, Ind.

DR. T. FELIX GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM, OR MAGICAL BEAUTIFIER.

PURIFIES AS WELL AS Beautifies the SKIN. No other cosmetic will do it.

Removes Tan, Pimples, Freckles, Moth Patches, Rash and Skin Diseases and every blemish on beauty, and defies detection. It has stood the test of 40 years, and is so harmless we taste it to be sure it is properly made. Accept no counterfeit of a similar name. Dr. L. A. Sayer said to a lady of the hautton (a patient): "As you ladies will use them, I recommend 'GOURAUD'S CREAM' as the least harmful of all the Skin preparations." One bottle will last six months, using it every day. Also POUDRE SUBTILE removes superfluous hair without injury to the skin.

FERD. T. HOPKINS, Prop., 37 Great Jones St., N. Y.

Beware of base imitations. $1,000 Reward for arrest and proof of any one selling the same.

TOWER'S FISH BRAND TRADE MARK

This Trade Mark is on the best

WATERPROOF COAT

in the World!

Illustrated Catalogue Free. A. J. TOWER, BOSTON, MASS.

RIPANS TABULES regulate the stomach, liver and bowels, purify the blood, are safe and effectual; the best medicine known for biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia, foul breath, headache, mental depression, painful digestion, bad complexion, and all diseases caused by failure of the stomach, liver or bowels to perform their proper functions. Persons given to overeating are benefited by taking one after each meal. Price, $2; sample, 15c. At Druggists, or sent by mail. RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U. S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

When Writing to Advertisers, say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

PISO'S CURE FOR

Consumptives and people who have weak lungs or Asthma, should use Piso's Cure for Consumption. It has cured thousands. It has not injured one. It is not bad to take. It is the best cough syrup. Sold everywhere. 25c.

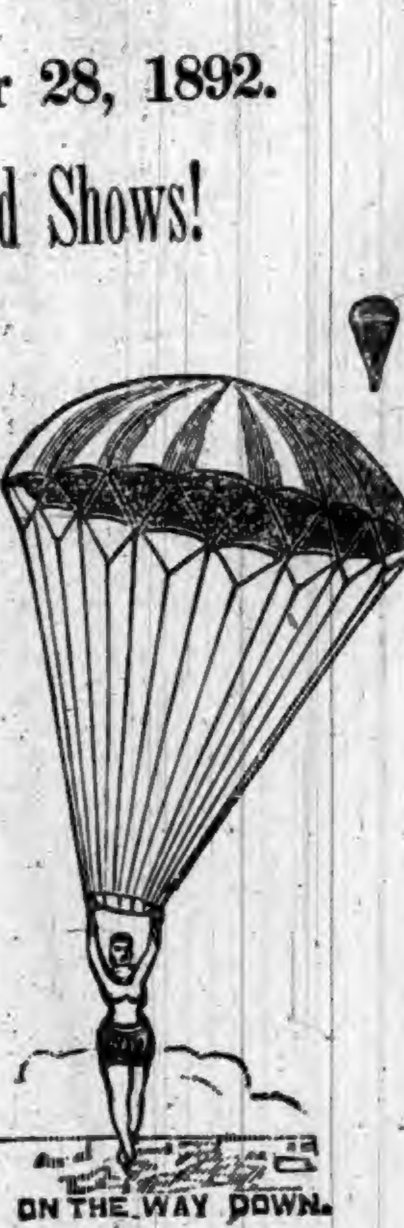
CONSUMPTION

WAIT FOR US!
THE BIG RAILROAD SHOW!
At Auburn, Ind.,
Wednesday, September 28, 1892.
RICHARD'S Great United Shows!

—AND—

Prof. W. W. JONES,
THE DAUNTLESS
KING OF THE AIR!
And Champion Ærirlist of the World·
A Death-Defying Æronaut!

Who jumps from a balloon 4,000 feet from the ground. This feat will be performed daily by Prof. Jones on his mammoth balloon "Uncle Tom" while it is soaring 4,000 feet above the ground with fearful velocity.



ON THE WAY DOWN.

In the Afternoon, at 2 O'clock,

PERRY'S NEW MODEL CIRCUS!

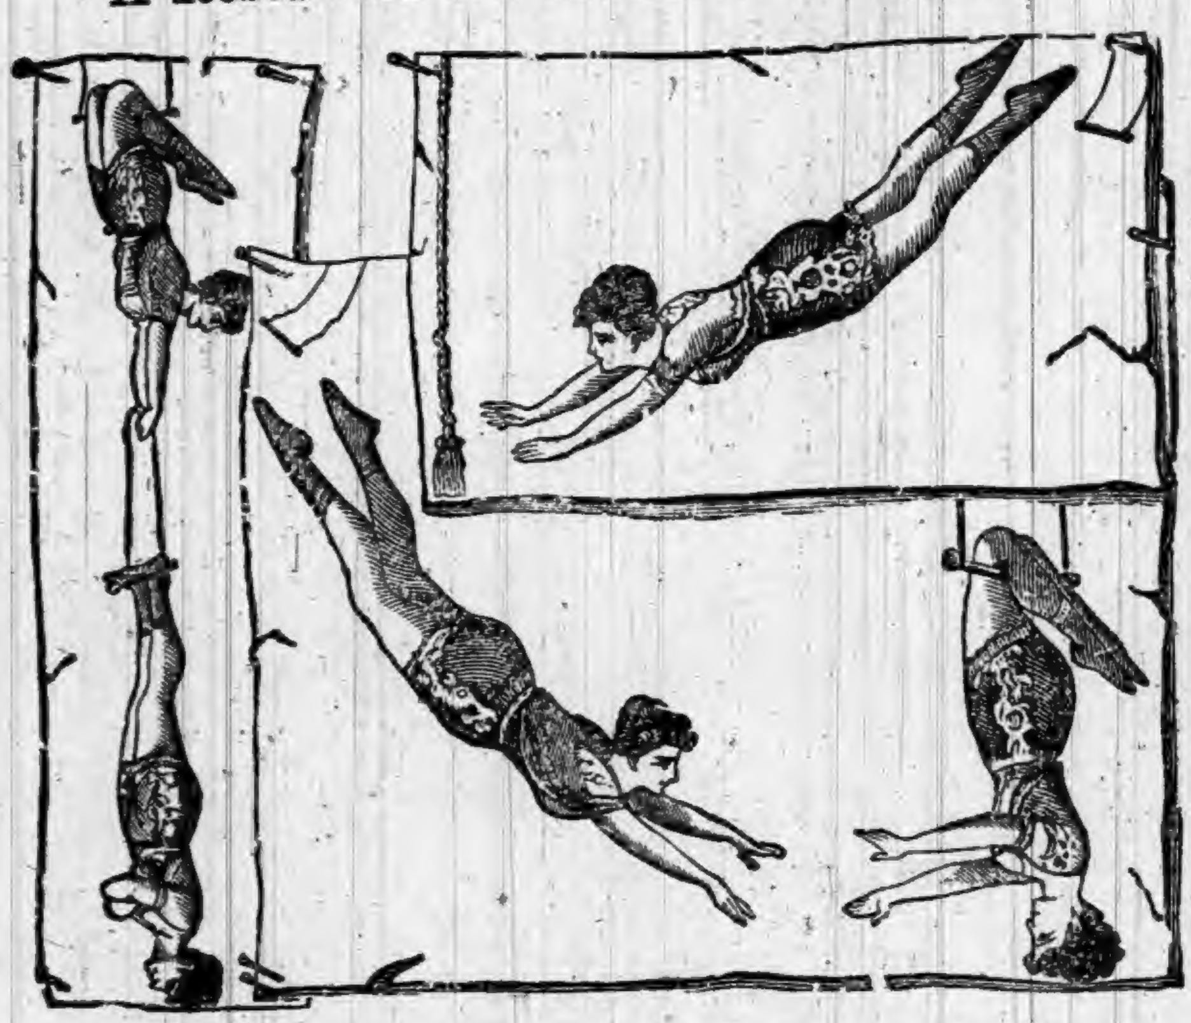
AND CONGRESS OF TRAINED ANIMALS.

The Finest and Costliest appointments, the Handsomest and most Expensive Material ever beheld. As moral as mighty.

Every Feature a Wonder,
Every Artist a Star.

Every Act a Gem, Every Patron Delighted and Enthusiastic in their Praises. A whole year's feast of Wondrous Sight-Seeing and Innocent Recreative Amusement crowded into two hours of Solid Fun. Dead Loads of Fun.

A Resort for the Ladies and Children.



Continuous Carnival of Original Acts!

Superior in Ring Stock, Superior in Rolling Stock, Superior in Seating Capacity' Superior in Performances, Superior in Order and System, Superior in Musical Attractions, Superior in Originality, Superior in Displays, Superior in Actors, Superior in Novelties, Superior in Clowns, Superior in Trained Animals, Superior in Riding, Superior in Everything.

The Prodigies of Every Clime and Race!

Not a Single Objectionable Feature. Pure as the Driven Snow.

To Parents.

People think through the eye, and that is the way to teach a child. Parents will find a world of delightful and lasting instruction for their little ones in the various wonder magazines of our vast alliance.

Out Door Signts.

Having determined to make the occasion a grand gala day, wherever our great shows appear, we shall present more thrilling free exhibitions than any 5 shows ever produced before. The Fourth of July will be no comparison to our out-door fun. Excursions will run on all railroads at low rates.

Every evening at eight, Richard's Monster Uncle Tom's Cabin Co.'s, in Harriet Beecher Stowe's Immortal Drama.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

2 FAMOUS TOPSIES! 2 ECCENTRIC MARKS!

We carry the largest Uncle Tom's Cabin Company ever put upon the road, with our own Special Scenery, and produce some of the Finest Transformation Scenes the eye ever beheld.

See our Wonderful Street Parade!

Remember two shows daily. At 2 p. m., Perry's New Model Shows. At 8, Richard's Monster Uncle Tom's Cabin. Tee Signor Myers in his Perilous High Wire Ascension. One Large Tent. One price.

Children, 25 cents. Adults, 35 cents.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

CORRESPONDENCE

WATERLOO.

Rev. Richard Locke has returned to Boston.

J. T. Carpenter and wife were here Thursday.

Thursday, P. Newel of Defiance, O., was in our town.

Rev. Mr. Albertson with his family returned from Goshen Thursday.

Mrs. Hattie Nolton has returned to her home in Youngstown, Ohio.

J. Harmer is building an addition to his residence on west side of South Wayne St.

A brother of Mrs A. Y. Rosenberry, from Canal Dover, Ohio, is visiting his friends here.

Last Sunday evening Miss Titus a blind lady, from Indianapolis, lectured in the M. E. church.

The county convention of the W. C T. U., will be held Sept. 29 and 30, in the Presbyterian church.

An entertainment will be given at the M. E. church Friday evening, by the Blind Boone concert company.

Mrs. Donza and Mrs. Carter, of Lima, came Saturday to visit relatives here, the Locke families and Ab. Kelley's.

Quite a number of our people who did not belong to the G. A. R. or W. R. C, took in the cheap excursion to Washington, D. C.

John Sinclair and family, have taken their departure for Oregon to make a new home there. It is not pleasant to see old residents go away.

Thursday evening a reunion of the Locke family occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ab. Kelley. Mrs. Kelley had a fine dinner provided, in which nothing was lacking, either in substantials or delicacies to tempt the most fastidious appetite. This was served in a faultless manner, at a fashionable hour in the evening. The reunion was in honor of Rev. Richard Locke and Mrs. Hattie Locke Nolton, who leave their friends here shortly.

Della Shoner died Saturday afternoon, Sept. 17th. Her death seemed sudden, as she was out on the street Friday, conversing with friends, seemingly well. After her return from Toledo, however, where she visited her sister, she was seriously ill for several days, became better, and was out as stated. She has suffered heretofore somewhat from heart affection, and this was probably the cause of her death, hastened no doubt by her intense grief for her recent loss. Her parents, sisters and brothers have the heartfelt sympathy of the community generally, in their great affliction.

CONCORD.

Cormie Gibford is teaching in No. 4.

Frank Draggoo of Auburn, was home over Sunday.

E. J. Boyles of Waldron, Mich., is here on a business trip.

Shilling & Bros. are on the war path for all kind of stock.

Ephraim Strong of Newville, was here Monday on business.

Mrs. Sue Testison of St. Joe, visited her mother, Thursday.

Mrs. A. L. Culbertson returned to her home in Auburn, Saturday.

E. Wilson and wife of Marion is spending a few days with relatives.

Elza and Jay Fetters returned from a visit to their grandma Jones near Bryan.

Mrs. Ida Bates and children of Waldron, Mich., are visiting here and at Auburn.

Sol. Barney, wife and daughter, Violet, of St. Joe, visited the family of J. B. Gibford, Sunday.

Emma Curie is sailing along nicely with her school. She is running the school not the scholars.

Mr. Keller had his hand badly hurt by trying to hold a colt that was frightened at the train Thursday.

Some of the farmers are running three teams in order to get their wheat sown. The ground is in fine condition.

G. W. Draggoo and wife were the guests of W. L. Blair and family and of George Cochran. Little Edna is slowly recovering from her illness.

Mrs. Mansfield, Mrs. N. Johnton and Mrs. W. D. Johnson returned from Jackson, Mich., where they were called by the death of their sister, Mrs. May Addison.

Of recent date several notes have been tied to the screen door or thrown in the in the yard asking to have them published in the paper. But we handle no such work, especially those slang phrases that are generally used and knowing the editor to be a man of too good judgment to permit such work to be published in his paper of so large a circulation. We hope this is sufficient warning.

SUMMIT.

Henry Childs and family were in town Friday.

R. T. Duncan visited at Pleasant Lake Sunday.

Dr. A. M. Kimmel of Hudson, was in our town Friday.

Ulysses Zimmerman and family visited Mrs. Z's parents over Sunday.

M. Lewis and wife visited Mrs. L's parents east of Waterloo Sunday.

Blanche Gramblihg visited her uncle, Robert Snowberger near Angola Sunday.

Mrs. Henry Lawson was the recipient of some nice peaches left at the office by Hattie Grambling. Many thanks.

Wes. McDougle and wife of Pleasant Lake, Mrs. Geo. McDougle of Hudson and Mrs. Eliza Patrick of Putnam Co., O., were guests of Henry Lawson and wife Thursday.

FOUND: Between Barker's church and Pleasant Lake, a pocket book. Anyone identifying property can have same by calling on R. T. Duncan one mile south east of Summit.

DEKALB.

Corn cutting is the business of the day.

Mrs. Emma Lung was on our streets Sunday.

Work has begun on the new bridge at Cedar Creek.

The schools have commenced in this township and all are pleased.

The rain has been a big help to the farmers for plowing and seeding.

James Kemery is the father of a girl and a big boy. That will take a box of cigars.

Chas Baber will auctioneer any sales and give satisfaction. Call on him at New Era.

Mrs. Emma Groves took a flying trip to Garrett Sunday, to see her son-in-law Jake Kemmery.

Mrs. John Rice has gone to stay some time with her mother. The old man will get lonesome.

Mrs. Zirkle and Mrs. Myers saw the new bride Sunday. She was a beauty and acted respectable toward her mother.

Jake Kemery and Phebe Ballentine were married Saturday, after a very practical courtship of one week, at least.

Obituary.

Dora, daughter of Emery and Lydia Schneider, was born April 5, 1891 went to sleep in Jesus, Sept. 17, 1892, aged one year, five months and twelve days. The services were conducted by Rev. A. K. Zartman, of the Grace Reformed church, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

God hath given and God hath taken.

A Milion Friends.

A friend in need is a friend indeed, and not less than one million people have found just such a friend in Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds.—If you never used this great cough medicine, one trial will convince you that it has wonderful curative powers in all diseases of throat, chest and lungs. Each bottle is guaranteed to do all that is claimed or money will be refunded. Trial bottles free at Robbins & McCord's drug store. Large bottles 50c. and $1.

A Chinese sect believes that women, by embracing vegetarianism, will become men on the judgment day.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria

Chinese women are not taught to read or write. They are not considered of enough importance.

FALL OF 1892.

Storm Serge, Plessa Cloth, Henrietta and Cashmeres, Dress Goods, Plain Stripe and Plaid Dress Flannels, Domets, Ginghams, Calico, muslin, Shirtings, Tickings, Table Linen, Towling, Towels, Napkins, Wool and Cotton Flannels, Blankets, Yarns, Batting, Wool and Cotton Underwear, Hosiery, Gloves, Mittens and Handkerchiefs.

Your attention is called to the above line of goods, the prices of which you should get at once.

Mrs. M. Jones & Son.

Flower Pots.

The time of the year has come when when you will want to pot your plants and we want to call your attention to the fact that we have a line of

DECORATED
And Common
FLOWER POTS,

Seg Baskets and Hanging Baskets, which we are selling right out, and want everybody to come and see them, at

OLDS BROS,

SEBRING B'ld'g, AUBURN.

Outing In Michigan.

On the afternoon of September 8, 1892, we left Butler for a few days' visit and recreation in West Michigan. In order to get the most of everything, we furnished our own conveyance—simply a good horse and buggy—with well-filled hand-baskets and plenty of wraps and water-proofs, prepared for sunshine, frost and rain. Passed Hamilton, Pleasant Lake and Angola, and rested the first night in the vicinity of Flint. On Friday morning, while the moon and stars were yet bright, we were on our way over the gravel hills of North Steuben county, passing Orland while the cocks were making a vigorous effort to awaken its sleeping inhabitants, none of whom appeared to greet us in the morning hour. Going on north, without awaking a single sleepy citizen, near the Michigan line we reached Bronson, twenty-four miles from our starting point, as the clock was striking seven. After a half-hour's further drive we camped beneath a large elm tree for breakfast and rest, which consumed about two hours. Then on north over a level stretch of sandy country, dotted here and there with fine farms and country seats. We reached Colon, a small, neat village, eleven miles northwest of Bronson, in St. Joseph county about 10 o'clock. This place is situated on quite a large lake, and from indications is much frequented in summer. From this point our road lay in a northwest direction, across a small garden of Eden known as Notaway Prairie. It contains twenty-five or thirty square miles of as fine farming country as can be found in this state. We reached Mendon, quite a thriving small town, on the Kalamazoo river, at about 2 o'clock, made a brief stop, and accidentally blundered upon A. W. Bishop, from Spencerville, who has just opened a dry goods store here of no mean proportions. His greeting upon recognition was very friendly. He reports a very successful business. From Mendon our course continued in a northwest direction for twelve miles, to the village of Vicksburg, on the Grand Rapids and Grand Trunk railroads, which point we left at about 4:30 p. m. with fourteen miles yet to cover to reach our destination for the day. We made a brief stop for supper and rest on the banks of Austin Lake. Then on over many long miles until the lights of Kalamazoo glimmer in the distance. We halt here for the night having covered fully seventy miles of distance during the day. We stoped over night with a former resident of Butler, Lewis Burget, who is employed here as foreman in a large buggy factory. Saturday morning dawned with theatening skies We left the city about 8 a. m. over a tortuous sandy road, that wound in and out and crossing and recrossing the South Haven branch of the Michigan Central railroad. A heavy rain overtook us near Alamo, but a shelter with a gentlemanly farmer was accorded, and a good dinner thrown in. The rain soon passed over and we resumed our journey across an immense swamp, with no improvements on either side. A half hour's ride brought us to waiting friends, and a day and a half of needed rest and social enjoyment did much to restore us to a normal state of mind and body. Monday morning we resumed our journey toward Lake Michigan, which we reached at about three o'clock, we lost no time in reaching its shores to enjoy its exhilarative breeze and to look upon its white capped billows, as they rolled and dashed upon its bold shore, with a roar that can be heard many miles inland. Tuesday proved an unpleasant day, with cold wind and nearly continuous rain, so we spent the day looking over mail, reading news and answering letters. Wednesday was also cold with gusts of rain, but we visited one of the large peach farms, and had the satisfaction of picking all the nice rosy cheeked peaches from the trees that we could possibly eat and providing an ample store for our consumption on the "home run." A neat labor saving machine has been invented to separate the large and small peaches. It is not unlike a fanning mill, and one person can sort and pack peaches at the rate of nearly a bushel a minute. We stood by and saw about sixty bushels of the nicest peaches prepared for shipment. The crop is a short one this year. yet there are many thousands of bushels being pushed into market, and they demand a good price in Chicago.

The distance from Butler to the point at which we are stopping is about 150 miles. The peach growers encounter considerable trouble in getting their goods to market. They depend upon the lake vessels, but frequently the wind raises the lake in an hour, so that no boat can touch the docks, and it often remains so for several days, when they are compelled to seek another outlet by way of railroad, and the delay sometimes proves fatal and the fruit perishes. Thursday morning found us on our return trip over deep muddy roads. We selected a new route by way of Allegan, and was completely surprised to find a meandering road fully ten miles in length across pine barrens, and hemlock swamps. Fully six miles of this crooked sand road has not a single house upon it, only dead and green pines, small hemlock trees and swamp. The distance to Allegan is about 25 miles. We reached the city at 10 a. m. and found a neat tasty little city—grand business blocks, fine churches and a splendid court house.

Our stay here was brief, we were soon wending our way up the big hills that girt in the city, taking a southwesterly direction over the old PaPaw road. The landscape has completely changed, the lonesome sandy road among pine stumps and scrub hemlocks has changed to a smooth gravel road, and well improved farms with good building and fine orchards lined the way—with some as pretty country streets as are to be found any where, and some as hilly stretches as I have ever passed over. We reached our friends near Kendall at 3 p. m. having traveled nearly fifty miles since morning over some as good roads as I would wish to find, but more than two-thirds of the way was deep sand or mud. Friday morning we continued our homeward trip, passing Kalamazoo, Vicksburg, Mendon, Colon, Bronson and Orland, reaching home without incident, except a tired horse, and a little weary over a ride of more than three hundred miles, yet all in all a very enjoyable trip.

J. A. CAMPBELL.

Butler Ind., Sept. 17, '92.

Deserving Praise.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Dlectric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to return the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Robbins & FcCords druggists.

China has 20 times as much coal as all Europe.

Worth Ten Dollars

to any family, is Dr. Kaufmann's book on deseases; finely illustrated plates from life; don't be humbugged, but cure yourself. Send 3 2-cent stamps for postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy free.

YOU DON'T KNOW

what a comfort it is to have ready at hand a remedy that never fails to relieve Constipation, and that, without pain or discomfort; and almost immediately cures headaches, and dispels every symptom of Dyspepsia. Such a remedy is found in Simmons Liver Regulator—not a sweetened compound to nauseate, or an intoxicating beverage to cultivate an alcoholic appetite, but a medicine pleasant to the taste, and perfectly harmless when given to the smallest child. S. L. R. never disappoints. It possesses the virtues and perfections of a reliable remedy of the kind endorsed by eminent physicians.

"It affords me pleasure to add my testimony to those you receive annually in reference to your valuable medicine. I consider Simmons Liver Regulator the best family medicine on the market. I have prescribed it with excellent results."
—W. F. PARK, M. D., Tracy City, Tenn.

SULPHUR BITTERS

Cleanse
The Vitiated
Blood
When you see
Its impurities
Bursting through
The Skin
In Pimples,
Blotches
And Sores.

Rely on Sulphur Bitters and Health will follow.

Send 3 2-cent stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., for best medical work published Sweden's building at the World's fair has been designed on the lines of the old Norse Stave churches, but with more solidity. The building is being constructed in Sweden and will be sent to Chicago in sections.

Read Carefully.

Messrs. Dullam Bros.—Gentlemen:—For over 4 years I have been afflicted with an eruption of the skin, which became very troublesome, and I could get no relief. I was also troubled very badly with constipation, which nothing I tried gave any permanent relief, until I took Dullam's Great German Blood, Liver Stomach and Kidney Remedy, and since taking I have been entirely cured. For a tonic, blood purifier and general health restorer I can heartily recommend it. $1 a bottle.

MRS. WM. COPERLAND, Flint, Mich.

The golden rod has made its advent rather earlier this year than usual, and its rich bloom has already brightened many meadows.

What Makes a Beautiful Woman.

Elkhart, Ind., July 1, 1891.

Dullam's Great German Medicine Co:

My daugrter has been afflicted with female trouble for over six years, and I have paid out over $750 in vain trying to find relief for her. A lady friend advised her to secure a bottle of Dullam's Great Female Uterine Tonic, and she has been completely cured by it. We gave it a fair trial and the results were wonderful. We cannot recommend it too highly to all ladies who are afflicted.

BENJAMIN GRANGER.

For sale by Casebeer & Matheny.

It is said to be good form to smoke a short white clay pipe in the parlor of your host or hostess.

Only One Bottle.

Mr. Arthur Fisher, a reliable stock dealer, of Decatur, Ind., says: One dollar bottle of Dr. Marshal's Lung Syrup completely cured me of a very annoying cough and pains in the chest, bordering on lung fever. I think it is the best cough Syrup in the world, and would not do without it. Resp. Yours,

A. M. FISHER.

The latest novelty is a cigar smoker which takes your photograph while you are smoking it.

The New Great South American Kidney Cure.

The acknowledged superior cure and immediate relief for all derangements, painfulness and decay of the kidneys or bladder, Bright's disease, diabetes or any complaint that hurts or despoils either of these delicate organs. This new remedy has been thoroughly tested by learned physicians and found far superior to any medicine yet discovered for quickly relieving all weaknesses, aches, pains and distresses arising from disease of any part of the urinary passages. It is a great relief for the old, middle aged and children, male or female. It relieves at once retention and pain in passing water, and it is very effective in relieving prostatic troubles in the old, and for nightly incontinence of water in children, or others, caused by weakness of the bladder. It may be worth to many a hundred times its cost. This is a remedy of great value to ladies, because they are very liable to weakness and pain peculiar to their sex. Sold by Robbins & McCord, druggists, Auburn, Ind. tf

ROOT & COMPANY,
FORT WAYNE, IND.

THREE DEPARTMENTS
FULL OF
NEW FALL NOVELTIES!

IMMENSE VARIETIES

Now in complete readiness for Fall and Winter Trade.

DRESS GOODS.

A great assortment
New Imported Novelties.
The New Fall Shades.
Great Lines of Storm Serges.
Handsome New Black Goods.

CLOAKS, WRAPS,
MANTLES, JACKETS,
CAPES, ULSTERS.

The new Eton Dresses---Jackets to match. A great change in styles---more handsome than ever.

CARPETS.

This stock larger than any Single Carpet Store in Northern Indiana Every Good make shown here.—The very choicest patterns.

We invite inspection.

☞ Careful attention given to MAIL ORDERS. Samples sent upon request.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

VOLUME XXII. AUBURN, DE KALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 29, 1892. NUMBER 39

EVERYBODY

Should know that we have just received the largest and finest selection of cooking and heating stoves ever brought to Auburn. They were bought for less money than ever before; therefore we

CAN

and will save you a handsome margin on every stove you buy. A fine variety of stove boards and an endless variety of patterns of oil cloth rugs and floor oil cloth. A fine line of sporting goods, consisting of guns, revolvers and all kinds of ammunition. If you need a Sewing Machine, you should see the STANDARD before buying. Builders' hardware of all kinds, paints, oils, etc. A fine assortment of table and pocket cutlery, granite ware, blue ware, tin and copper ware in all kinds, sizes and shapes. We are headquarters for lamps,—and in fact everything to be found in a first-class hardware store. Remember you can

SAVE MONEY

by trading with us.

W. H. KIBLINGER,

AUBURN, IND.

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—In Effect May 15 1892

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations—	Mail.	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne....dp	11 50 am	4 40 pm	6 40 am
New Era	12 18 pm	5 15	7 27
Auburn June.	12 28	5 27	7 48
Auburn	12 32	5 36	8 32
Waterloo	12 43	5 41	9 24
Summit	12 56	5 53	9 45
Pleasant Lake	1 05	6 06	10 12
Angola	1 14	6 16	10 50
Jackson	3 30	8 49	5 00

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations—	Freight	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson....dp	6 45 am	11 15 am	6 30 am
Angola	12 25 pm	2 08 pm	8 51
Pleasant Lake	1 04	2 20	9 01
Summit	1 25	2 32	9 11
Waterloo	2 30	2 56	9 24
Auburn	3 07	3 07	9 34
Auburn Junc.	3 38	3 11	9 38
New Era	4 05	3 22	9 50
Fort Wayne	5 25	3 55	10 25

For rates on tickets or freight to all points call on or address E. T. DeLAPP, Agent at Auburn

TIME TABLE

THE WABASH
LINE

TRAINS CARRYING PASSENGERS LEAVE

GOING EAST.

Atlantic Express	4:03 am—Daily
Boston Express	5:41 am—Daily
Detroit Accom'n	2:30 pm—ex Su
New York Limited	8:04 pm—Daily

GOING WEST.

Pacific Express	1:32 am—Daily
Peru Accommodation	6:33 am—ex Sun
Mail and Express	12:38 pm—ex Su
Chicago & St. Louis Lim(83)	5:12 pm—Daily

All these trains stop for passengers.

For rates, Tickets, Time Table, etc., apply to
I. M. ZENT, Agent,
Auburn, Ind.
T. H. SPROTT, City Ticket Agent.
CHAS. M. HAYS, Gen'l Manager.
F. CHANDLER, Gen'l Pass and Ticket Agent

A Real Estate Boom.

Attracts the attention of every property holder in this city. But when Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent Indiana specialist, claims that heart disease is curable and proves it by thousands of testimonials of wonderful cures by his new heart cure; it attracts the attention of the millions suffering with short breath, palpitation irregular pulse, wind in stomach, pain in side or shoulder, smothering spells, fainting, dropsy, etc. A. F. Davis, Silver Creek, Neb., by using four bottles of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, was completely cured after twelve years suffering from heart disease. This new remedy is sold by F. E. Davenport. Books free. 5

The mathematical genius of Purdue university is a Japanese student.

I Am Proud

to say from personal experience that Sulphur Bitters, which advertisement will be seen in another column, is the best spring and blood medicine to be found. It is prepared by an honest firm, who scorn to use cheap and worthless medicines, but use the best that money can buy.

Frederick II, of Prussia, even in old age, never slept later than 4 in the morning.

GET THE BEST!

EXCEL IN QUALITY, BEAUTY, TONE AND FINISH.

CROWN PIANOS & ORGANS. GEO. P. BENT CHICAGO.

FOR SALE ON EASY TERMS BY
WES. H. HUSSELMAN,
Waterloo, - - - Ind.

There is great activity in the Indiana oil field, and 50,000 acres of land are under lease in Jay, Adams and Wells counties.

Guaranteed Cure.

We authorize our advertised druggist to sell Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, upon this condition. If you are afflicted with a cough, cold or any lung, throat or chest trouble, and will use this remedy as directed, giving it a fair trial, and experience no benefit, you may return the bottle and have your money refunded. We could not make this offer did we not know that Dr. King's New Discovery could be relied on. It never disappoints. Trial bottles free at Robbins & McCord's drug store. Large size 50c. and $1 00. 2

The public schools of Brownsburg will not open until Oct. 3, on account of the diphtheria.

A Leader.

Since its first introduction, Electric Bitters has gained rapidly in popular favor, until now it is clearly in the lead among pure medicinal tonics and alteratives—containing nothing which permits its use as a beverage or intoxicant, it is recognized as the best and purest medicine for all ailments of the stomach, liver or kidneys.—It will cure sick headache, indigestion, constipation, and drive malaria from the system. Satisfaction guaranteed with each bottle or the money will be refunded. Price only 50c. per bottle. Sold by Robbins & McCord. 2

Lord Brougham slept but four hours, yet few men accomplished more in the same period of time.

Every Christian Mother

should be careful with her children. This damp atmosphere of our climate often bring on coughs, colds, etc., which if not attended to in time lead to that dreaded disease, consumption. To prevent this it is the duty of all mothers to have a remedy near, to check these coughs that your children may contract, and you cannot get a safer and more reliable remedy than Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup, the children's friend. You can buy this for 25 cts, of all druggists.

A Chinese laundryman in Brooklyn, saves time by using a smoothing iron, heated by electricity.

A Thoughtful Person

consults his best interests by having a box of Krause's Headache Capsules at hand; taken as directed will prevent, or stops any kind of a headache, no matter what the cause,—in fact if your skull was cracked it would prevent pain. The frequency of the attacks will diminish, and by taking the capsules at the approach of a headache, you will never have another.—For sale by Davenport.

AUBURN AND VICINITY.

Some Reminiscences of its Early Days and Pioneer Citizens.

1865—Continued.

We call in connection with the factory, the name of Joseph Penny, an employee, small of stature, scrupulously faithful to his duties. A son, Leonard, was at one time town marshal and is now a well-to-do resident of Kansas City. Mr. Penny died and his widow long lived on the fractional lot now owned by Ella M. Rakestraw and during all those years, no garden spot in Auburn had finer, choicer flowers, herbs and fruits or was cleaner kept than hers. Crippled by a fall, she saw suffering in her solitude, was taken west by her son, but returned to find a home in her age with her granddaughter, Mrs. Millie Brandon.

The annual municipal election at which 108 votes were cast, was closely contested. The republicans cast 55 votes and thereby elected. Messrs. Ford, Griswold, Stahl and Lowrey, trustees. The vote between Mr. Bumpus and Mr. Ralston being a tie, it was decided in favor of the latter. Albert Robbins was chosen clerk, John Otto, treasurer, T. C. Elson, assessor and James Griswold, marshal.

Messrs. Barney, Morrison and Kuhlman had been previously appointed school trustees.

Among the names of new voters, were those of Henry Kelling, C. C. Shaffer, Jacob Walborn and Hezekiah Plummer.

Mr. Kelling was well known for more than a quarter of a century as an honest, hard working man. As the advance of years impaired his strength, it did not detract from his diligence and at time of his death in 1891, he was acting as janitor of our public schools, a position he had long filled and whose punctilious duties he faithfully performed. There have been few men in humble life in Auburn that held higher measure of popular regard or who were better entitled to remembrance.

C. C. Shaffer about this time began the business of supplying the community with furniture and year by year continuing sometimes with short lived and futile competition, at others, holding a monopoly of the trade, but ever with uniform prices and unvarying prosperity, he has come to be regarded as one of Auburn's most successful men. He established a son and son-in-law in branch stores in other towns, erected a fine brick residence, and recently purchasing a part of what was formerly known as the Fluke lots contiguous northward from the Farmers bank, has built thereon the handsome and spacious business block in which W. P. Harter now conducts his extensive trade.

His course indicates what must ever be the reward of patient, persistent, uniform fair dealing in any calling, whose details have been mastered and intelligently applied.

Jacob Walborn has been a constant and disirable citizen of Auburn since 1865. At its organization, he had been interested in and prominently connected with the National bank of which he has been a director and he was at one time, its president. To his efforts is largely owning the possession by the Lutheran society of their beautiful, finely arranged church and to his enterprise, Auburn is much indebted for its growing reputation for excellent cement walks and crossings. He is regarded as safe and conservative in business and, as a justice of the peace, unbiased and just.

Few remember Hezekiah Plummer, who long ago left our town, but in 1865 he was carrying on a cooper shop near or upon property of Hiram Griswold and was well regarded as a social and agreeable person.

The marriage by S. B. Ward on March 10, 1859, of Hugh Watt to Rachel Ann Penny has been published, and in 1865 and long years thereafter they could be found living quietly and happily in the little white-painted cottage that stood on the site of the present Nusbaum dwelling on Main street. Over their humble home a huge willow's wide spreading branches cast protecting shadows and within its doors dwelt peace and comfort, and in it Mr. Watt died at a good old age.

Judge E. B. Mott, of whom special mention has been made in chapters of earlier years of Auburn, died Sept. 30th, 1865, and his widow, Mrs. Mary Mott, now in her 87th year, lived for twenty subsequent years in the old home next north of that of J. W. Baxter on North Cedar street. On January 21st, 1886, she removed to the pleasant farm property of her daughter Mrs, Julia M. Hodge, just north of town on the road to Waterloo and is there passing her remaining years.

It is not generally known that Mrs. Ann S. Stephens, who enjoyed a national reputation until her demise, as the leading contributor to Peterson's Magazine was sister to Mrs. Mott, who is herself a woman of strong character possessing qualities that commend her to the esteem of many friends, and despite age and infirmity, one who takes lively interest in passing events and matters of public and national import.

The ignis fatuus of a railroad to Auburn continued to allure the public whose attention was now drawn to a new quarter, and not unfounded hopes began to be cherished that at a period not far distant, such a road would be constructed from the city of Ft. Wayne via Auburn northward to Michigan and thereby bring the town in touch with the great salt and lumber interests of that state. Preliminary steps toward that end had been taken at Ft. Wayne, early in January 1865, by formation of a company to build a railroad from that city, passing through Auburn to Jonesville.

Already an appropriation had been made by Michigan from a grant by Congress, of six sections per mile for the part of the proposed road within her territory and application had been made to Congress for a like donation for the portion between the state line and Ft. Wayne.

The railroad was to be known as the Fort Wayne & Michigan and was to connect at Jonesville with the Lansing & Traverse Bay road running to Saginaw.

Stockholders met Jan. 17, and chose six directors who in turn met and elected John C. Parker, president, F. P. Randall, treasurer, and W. S. Gilkin, secretary.

The citizens of Ft. Wayne gave them substantial support, and within a short time nearly $100,000 had been subscribed for stock and when spring opened, a corps of engineers starting to locate the line, passed through Auburn and continued their survey north-east ward to the proposed northern terminus.

Previous checks had only served to make Auburn people more desirous and they watched proceedings with solicitude, ready to respond freely to any overture calling for assistance. But the time was not yet come.

(To be continued next week.)

HONDURAS LETTER.

From Honduras to My Native Land.

Slowly the weary weeks dragged on. I began to count the days when the little sail would drop her anchor in the Bay of Montego. I began to detest the little Summer Isles, although clothed with verdant fields bedecked with gorgeous flowers, beautiful vales embowered in green, fruits more plentiful than in the mythic fairyland. The people of those little isles showed to me more than angelic kindness, yet I loathed the sight of these lovely shores for we seemed to be but killing time, and of all things on earth the most important to me was to hurry. After five long weeks of this slow, tormenting voyage we awoke one morning to find the longed for haven in full view. Not many miles away to the north lay the island of Jamaica rising proudly out of the summer seas, with towering mountains crowning the central portion; presenting to us the most beautiful scenery it has ever been my privilege to behold. Even far up on the mountain sides were houses and groves of fruit trees. We could see the white towers of many churches, towering above the stone walled city. Two large steamboats were lying in the harbor at anchor. What a pleasant scene! So happy to look upon! But alas, the breeze died entirely away and left our miserable little floating prison becalmed on the broiling tropic sea. For two days thus we lay rolling with the long heaving swell with not a breath of air to stir the weather beaten sails, and with the molten sun shedding his fiercest rays upon us, his helpless victims. During these last days our larder ran low. The last vestige of pork had long since disappeared, and our store of sweet potatoes, casava, and plantain was entirely depleted, so nothing but the yams and dough balls were left us. I would not eat the dough balls, but went it straight on yams. I spent my nights dreaming of the chicken potpie my wife would feed me on; then sometimes I would be eating in some northern restaurant. How grandly I would enjoy my dreamland meals, but only to awake, and find the yams awaiting my famished stomach. After two days of waiting a welcome breeze sprang up and carried us at last into the harbor of Montegro. Glad indeed was I, as I tramped up the narrow, stone walled streets of the ancient city of the Spaniards. Montegro was built about 200 years ago, and presents a very antique, picturesque appearance. Every street corner was decorated with a cannon used as a hitching post. These cannon were brought to this place by the Spaniards, and the present British occupants could find no better use for the implements of war than to plant them in the ground. The population of this island is 600,000, of whom one sixth is whites, the remainder consisting of negroes, creoles and mixed races. The majority of the people are lazy, indolent and improvident. I saw many of the natives roasting breadfruit between three bricks. They would sit flat upon the ground lazily feeding the tiny flames that baked their midday meal. Stoves are unknown. They have no dishes to wash. They need not work, for nature feeds them. I would describe this town more minutely but I must hurry home. Three days of waiting and I was aboard a large banana laden steamer bound for the port of New York where we arrived seven days later. Forty hours more and I found myself in the bosom of my family and for the present I bid adieu to those who have followed me through my long voyage over the tropic seas.

J A. SHADE.

Three Speeches.

The republicans had a speaking meeting meeting in Ensley's Hall Wednesday evening, when Andrew Jackson You, their nominee for congress was advertised to speak. The audience numbered 68 by actual count, including several democrats. But small as the crowd was, it was too large for the caliber of the speakers. It was a clear case of cruelty to voters, to get them out to be bored as mercilessly as was the audience that evening. The speakers did not know a little bit. There was probably not a man in the audience, who was not better posted than the men who fancied they were making speeches. The first man to bore the audience, was a gentleman now located here, in the law, we cannot recall his name. The only point he even tried to make, was that the railroads and telegraphs of the state had only had their assessment raised 96 millions while all other property was raised over 300 millions And then as the Dispatch had done in case of DeKalb county, he carried the idea that the increase was the highest on common property. But we exploded this for the Dispatch by showing that the increase per cent., on common property was much smaller than on the railroads. The increase on common property is less because the original amount of that property was much greater. The railroads etc., were assessed at only 69 millions under the old law, and the new law increased this by 91 millions. This gives an increase per cent., on railroads. The increase on common property, by taking his own figures of 300 millions is less than 14 per cent. That ends his talk that the people are oppressed more than the corporations. Mr. You spoke next. He is a more polished speaker, but is quite ignorant of the questions before the people. He took great pains to speak of his being a laboring man, as if that were a rare virtue. But every man in his audience was as much a laboring man as he He spoke of his travels in Europe. But not one of the laboring men who heard him, ever had time or leisure to give to European travel. His plea to labor votes was evidently that of a demogogue. He made but little impression on his audience. Both were cheered,—when they quit.

THE SECOND.

Friday evening Hon. Henry B. Saylor of Huntington spoke for the prohibitionists. He is a very able man, a good speaker and a man of high standing wherever known He was our member of congress when this district included Huntington county, and was always a republican till this year. He tried to get a temperance plank into their state platform at Ft Wayne, but was sat down on. Then he realized what the COURIER has taught for many years, that republicans as a party were not temperance men, but claimed to be, merely to catch the votes of prohibitionists. So he left the party, and is now speaking for the temperance cause. No better speech on that subject, was ever delivered in this section.

THE THIRD.

Hon. G. W. Bell, after his speech at St. Joe Saturday afternoon came up to Auburn, and at the Opera House that evening, gave another tariff talk to a large audience of men of all parties. There is much instruction in his lectures, and whether a man agrees with him or not, he makes one feel that he fully understands his subject, and one goes away feeling that his understanding of these important questions is greatly enlarged. Mr. Bell has seen much foreign travel and can tell of the actual working of foreign tariff systems, and of free trade. He is an easy pleasant speaker, and impresses one with his earnestness and the truth of his assertions. He will make one more speech in this county, at the great four-party meeting on the Waterloo fair ground Oct 5. On that day, he speaks for the democrats, Hon. Roswell G. Horr, of Michigan, one of the very ablest of republicans, speaks for the republicans; Hon. Ralph Beaumont, will speak for the people's party, and Hon. Eli F. Ritter for the prohibitionists.

Obituary.

Thomas Weldin was born in Columbiana Co., Ohio, July 23, 1817 and died Sept. 22, 1892, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ray, in Auburn. His youth, and early manhood was passed in Alexander, Ohio, where, in 1836, he was united in marriage to Julia A. Lower, to which union was born seven daughters and two sons, one having died in youth. The rest of the family remain to mourn his loss. In 1850 he with his family removed to Auburn, and he remained a resident of DeKalb county, more or less, until his death. In early life he united with the Bible Christians and later with the M. E. church, of which he was a member at the time of his death. He was a faithful and earnest christian and died in the triumph of a living faith. During his long and severe illneer he bore his sufferings patiently. This great loss to his family is his gain, as he had oftimes expressed his desire to go and be at rest. The funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church by Mr. Healy, Friday Sept. 23, at 2 p. m. and he was laid to rest in the old cemetery in Auburn.

DR. PRICE'S
Cream Baking Powder.
Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

NEW GOODS,
NEW GOODS,
NEW GOODS!

More than ever before!

Dry Goods, Clothing, Carpets,
FURNITURE.

All new styles and sure to please you.

DRESS GOODS

perfectly beautiful.

LADIES' WRAPS

the same.

CLOTHING

for young and old. Nothing but the best of workmanship, and goods that are honest and give the best of satisfaction.

Trade with us, it will pay you.

☞ This store closes at 7:30 each evening, except Mondays and Saturdays.

SCHAAB & BRO.

RICKEL

—AND—

SPROTT

Real Estate Agents.
Loan Agents.
Rail Road Agents.
Steamship Agents.
Western Land Ag'ts.
Emigration Agents.

FARMS.

80 acres unimproved land in Keyser township, within one mile of Garrett. This is a rare chance, Long time and easy terms. No better land in the county, and not a foot that cannot be tilled.

Farms in Kansas Nebraska, Arkansas, Dakotas and Minnesota, to sell on the grain plan. No cash payments required, No mortgage. Payments made by products of farms. Write for full particulars,

20 acres of land in Richland township. Land all cleared and fenced. Price $45 per acre. Part on time.

70-acre farm within 2½ miles of Auburn Good log house, two good wells, 7 acres timber; balance cleared and in good state of cultivation. Price $45 per acre in small payments.

81 acres good land near St. Joe, Ind., in the St. Joe River valley Good 6-room house, 2 good barns, orchard, well, etc. 50 acres cleared, balance in timber. Will be sold cheap and on long time.

6 acres land in Alexandria County, Virginia, unimproved. Lies within 4 miles of the Capitol Buildings at Washington, D. C. Elegant site for fruit farm. Long time, easy terms.

80-acre farm in Jackson township. 2-story, 7-room brick dwelling, barn 32 x 64, orchard of 80 trees, and small fruits of all kinds. 65 acres cleared, balance in timber. Excellent productive soil. Easy price and long time.

40 acres of good land lying 6 miles east of Auburn. Good log house, barn, orchard of 16 bearing apple trees, good fences, and well. 34 acres under cultivation, balance in timber.

Farm of 103 acres of land east of Auburn, 4 miles. Large 2 story frame dwelling house, two barns, large orchard and small fruits, wells, and farm well tiled. Farm in good state of cultivation. Price $55 per acre. Long time and easy payments.

Farm of 80 acres within ½ mile of Auburn. Well adapted to gardening and growing small fruits. Will be sold on long time with good cash payments.

80 acre farm in Jackson township, under fine state of cultivation, good buildings, good fences, plenty of fruit of the choicest varieties. 10,000 tile laid. This is an easy mark and can be bought cheap.

TOWN PROPERTIES.

No. 351. 1½-story frame house of 5 rooms, 15 fruit trees, in good thrifty condition, good well, chicken park, etc. In McIntyre's addition, Price $600.

Vacant lot in Shaffer, Boland & Robbins addition. Price $85.00.

1½-story frame dwelling and frame barn in southeast part of town. Cheap for all cash.

1½ frame dwelling house 16x26 and wing 16x26 and 1½ lots in St. Joe, Ind, Some fruit, good cistern. Price $800, on long time.

Good residence property, located on South Jackson street, 1½ story frame dwelling, barn, wood house, well and cistern. Price $300 cash, balance in yearly payments,

Two very desirable building lots in Baxter & McClellan's addition. Easy price and terms.

An elegant residence property in the Natural Gas addition. For full description of this property call at our office.

We have lands in the Western States for sale on the GRAIN PLAN. You give a share of crop each year, until the land is paid for. No cash needed! No mortgage given! No crops, no payment, therefore no foreclosure.

Write or call on us for full particulars of this plan, and instead of renting and giving your crop away, buy land on the

GRAIN PLAN,

